Willie Bell Filed On For Assaulting Policeman

Bond was set at $5,000 on Willie Bell here Tuesday, on a charge of aggravated assault on a Littlefield city policeman, Johnny Arroyos.

The charges were filed on the 28-year-old black man following an incident on Griffin Street early Sunday morning which resulted in Arroyos shooting Bell in the leg.

According to officer Arroyos' report, he was alone on routine patrol driving west on Griffin Street at 12:10 a.m. when he saw a car in the middle of the street in the 200 block of Griffin in front of McCarty's Cafe. Arroyos said he got out to see why the car was blocking traffic. When he got out of the patrol car, the officer said Bell came out of the cafe yelling curse words and started swinging at him with his fists.

Arroyos said he took two swings at him with his flashlight, but Bell pushed the light away with his fists. The officer tried to put an arrest hold on Bell, but couldn't and pulled his gun from his holster and told Bell he was under arrest and to get in the patrol car.

Arroyos said he fired a warning shot between Bell's legs when the man came at him again. Arroyos said the man hesitated after he fired and he put his gun back in its holster and told Bell again to get in the car. Arroyos said the subject came at him again, saying he was going to finish him off.

The two scuffled and Arroyos said Bell shoved him against the parked car, and as he hit him he tried to get his gun out of his holster. The officer said they both hit the ground and Bell was still trying to get Arroyos' gun out of his holster.

Arroyos said when he got a chance he pulled his gun again and told the man to get in the patrol car. Arroyos said the man came at him again, and when he did he shot at his legs and hit him in the leg.

The officer radioed for an ambulance and Bell was taken to Medical Arts Hospital.

Bond was set Tuesday, but at press time Bell had not made bail.

Commissioners' Court Holds Lengthy County Business Planning Session

A lengthy session Monday, the County Commissioners' Court held a long list of business matters ranging from personnel matters to reports.

District Attorney Jack Young visited the court and introduced Dick Pylant as a special investigator for the court and formerly served as a probation officer.

Young requested that Lamb County pay a pro-rata share of $150 per month for travel expenses for Pylant on his $7,000 salary paid by the Criminal Justice Council. The Court granted an additional $24.16 per month for a $50 per month raise for Pylant's secretary.

County Patrolman Joel Miles requested that the court allow him to trade in their present CB radio on another CB radio with a microphone. For a time, the court was prohibited the use of CB radios, but some studies showed that citizens will turn in drivers when they can talk to them. The Court granted the request for a new radio with transmissioner James Holland of Amherst was elected to the court membership by the County Library Advisory Board. Holland replaces Mrs. Brownlow of Amherst who resigned Oct. 6.

Monthly reports were accepted from the county clerk's office, the county treasurer, the district clerk, and justices of peace officers Ted Borum, Stanley Doss and W. T. Vereen.

The Court granted the county clerk's office a request for a new desk at the approximate cost of $600.

Four sealed bids were turned in for a car for the sheriff's department. Bids were submitted by Marion Williams Ford in Sudan, Carlisle Oldham Ford in Littlefield, Baccus Chevrolet in Sudan, and Armes Chevrolet in Littlefield. Williams Ford gave a price of $6158.45 less $500 trade in for a net bid of $4,285. Baccus Chevrolet made a net bid of $4090, and Armes made a net bid of $3744.52.

Carlisle Oldham's net bid of $2,704.21 was accepted for a 1976 LTD 4-door sedan.

Three bids were turned in for a 1971 salvage pickup from Hubert Dykes precinct. A high bid of $555 was accepted from Doty's Garage in Sudan. L. O. Wiseman bid $545, and Williams Body Shop bid $410.

After lunch, Billy Gunther with the Texas A&M Research and Extension Service appeared to request that presentation of a prospective new county agent be scheduled on the next commissioners' court agenda.

Commissioners agreed that Hubert Dykes and Jack Peel will attend a revenue sharing seminar in Washington, D. C. Nov. 17 and 18.

Judge Angel read a letter and directives from a representative from the Environmental Protection Association regarding laws and usages of the county dump ground. The representative advised that a permit was needed to operate the county dump ground, and recommended that illegal burning of refuse be eliminated, that an attendant be on duty during week day hours and that a gate be installed and locked when an attendant was not on duty.

In two other matters the Court took action on, an order was passed approving election returns as canvassed by the Court, and election expenses and payment of election officials were approved.

The Court authorized placing advertising for bids for two motor graders for precinct 1.

The offices of the acting veteran's service officer and the secretary for the county judge and commissioners court were combined, and Jean Streety was named to fill this position.

Before the Court adjourned, Pete Peterman from the Lamb County Historical Committee asked the court if it would be permissible to place framed photos of various aspects of Lamb County on the walls of the new Com-

CLIPS & Tips

By JOELLA LOVVORN

AVOID LAST-MINUTE rush for the Thanksgiving party—freeze appetizers ahead of time, advises County Extension Agent, Dorothy Powell.

"Prepare as usual such appetizers as small open-face sandwiches, rolled canapes, puff shells, stuffed nuts and olives, cheese rolls, and bacon-wrapped tidbits. Dips and spreads of cheese, deviled ham, fish and avocado mixtures freeze well also.

"But before packing in freezer containers, spread appetizers in single layers on metal pans and freeze them," she advised.

Toast or crisp-base appetizers need different care, she noted. Package them separately from other appetizers.

"Use shallow containers that hold no more than two or three layers. Separate layers with pieces of moisture-vapor resistant paper. Overwrap the entire container with this paper.

"Thaw toast and crisp-base appetizers two to three hours without unwrapping. Other appetizers can be arranged on serving trays and thawed at room temperature for one hour. Store up to two or three weeks," she said.

A BERRY for all seasons— that's what the cranberry is. It wasn't always that way. When discovered by the Pilgrim ladies, the cranberry cooking repertoire grew, but its seasonal character still was quite short and limited to the fall and winter months.

If you're planning a party, the following canapes and hors d'oeuvres may serve you well.

CHICKEN BERRY STUFFED MUSHROOMS

2 cups finely chopped, cooked chicken
1/3 cup minced celery
1/3 cup well drained, canned crushed pineapple mayonnaise
1/4 cup cranberry-orange relish
12 large mushroom caps
12 half slices thin bacon

In a bowl mix chicken, celery and pineapple. Stir in enough mayonnaise until mixture is moistened. Spoon some of the relish into each mushroom cap. Top with chicken mixture. Top each cap with half slice of bacon. Place under broiler until bacon is crisp, about 2 to 3 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 12 large mushroom caps.

CRANBERRY HAM ROLL-UPS

1 lb. cream cheese (two 8 oz. packages)
1/3 cup cranberry-orange relish
2Tbs. drained sweet pickle relish
1/4 cup chopped pitted black olives
1/3 cup minced prosciutto ham (Italian style)
Salt and pepper to taste
10 large oblong slices boiled or baked ham

Toothpicks

Mash cream cheese until soft and fluffy. Stir in cranberry-orange relish, pickle relish, olives and prosciutto. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Spread mixture evenly on ham slices. Roll up ham tightly starting at one of the shorter sides. Chill rolls for 1 hour seam side down. Cut each roll into 5 crosswise slices. Spear rolls on toothpicks and chill, covered, until ready to serve. Makes 50 pinwheels.

CRANBERRY ASPIC CUCUMBER CANAPES

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 cup cranberry juice cocktail
1/2 cup dry white wine

1 tsp. whole pickling spice
24 slices cucumber (use 3 large cucumbers, peeled in stripes, cut horizontally) 1 inch thick, hollowed out to a shape a cup
Red caviar or fresh dill

Stir gelatin into 1/2 cup of the cranberry juice. Stir constantly over low heat until gelatin is completely dissolved. Stir in remaining cranberry juice, white wine and pickling spice. Let stand at room temperature for 1 hour. Strain mixture into small, flat pan and chill until firm. Cut gelatin into small cubes and pile them into the cucumber cups. Top with red caviar or fresh dill. Makes 24.

CRANBERRY MEATBALLS

1 lb. ground round
1/2 lb. Italian sweet sausage meat, removed from casing
1 small onion minced
1 egg
1 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. pepper
Oil
2 Tbsps. butter or margarine
2 large onions chopped
1 cup heavy cream
1 cup (8 oz. can) jellied cranberry sauce

In a bowl place round, sausage meat, minced onion, egg, salt and pepper. Mix well and shape meat mixture into 1 inch balls. In large skillet heat oil 1/8 in. deep and fry meatballs, half at a time, on all sides. With slotted spoon remove meatballs and set aside. Drain excess fat from skillet. Wipe skillet clean with a paper towel. Add butter to skillet and cook chopped onions for 15 to 20 minutes over very low heat until very soft, stirring occasionally. Pour onions into a blender container and add cream and cranberry sauce. Whirl until smooth and pour back into skillet. Replace meatballs in skillet and simmer, stirring occasionally until they are cooked about 15 minutes. Season to taste, if necessary, with salt and pepper. Serve hot, speared on toothpicks. Serves 6.

MINI CRANBERRY QUICHE

Pastry for 12 2-inch tart pans (package pie crust for 2 crust pie)
1/4 cup whole berry cranberry sauce
3/4 cup (3 oz.) grated Swiss cheese
2 tsp. all purpose flour
2 eggs
1 cup heavy cream
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper

Finely chopped, toasted almonds

Use pastry to line tart pans. Spoon cranberry sauce into bottom of pans. Mix cheese and flour; sprinkle over cranberry sauce. In a bowl mix eggs, heavy cream, salt and pepper, and beat until smooth. Pour mixture into pans. Place tart pans on large cookie sheet. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 20 to 25 minutes. Serve hot sprinkled with almonds and topped with a small spoon of additional whole berry cranberry sauce. Makes 12 quiches.

Turn Row COMMENTS

By EMIL MA...

HAD SEVERAL COMMENTS over the past few weeks about me needing to get on the lighter side of life with this column, instead of being serious. I agree, but with all the turmoil around it is hard not to be a bit on the serious side, nevertheless, starting with the next column, I'm going to try to take a new side in writing.

But in answer to several requests, I feel like I should take a shot at the high price of the cost of eating.

It seems that the American farmer has gained very little from the rise in retail prices of farm-grown foods the past year.

Instead, according to official government figures, the extra money has gone to those who handle the produce once it leaves the farms and before it reaches the shopping carts of the consumers.

Involved are a myriad of middlemen—packers, bakers, canners, bottlers, truckers and other transporters, wholesalers and retail grocers among them.

Out of every dollar Americans spent on food last year, 37.6 cents went to the farmer.

A market basket of food produced on U.S. farms-sufficient to feed and average urban household for a year, would cost $1,832 at prices prevailing during the first half of 1975. That was $105 more than a year earlier.

Of this increase, says the government, only $1 went to the farmer; other $104 went to the middlemen.

The division is one-sided, for example, from 1964 through 1970, cost of the market basket increased by $741. Of this, farmers got $374 while $374 passed to the middlemen.

Government officials predict prices will rise nine per cent this year. Most of this has already occurred.

According to a survey conducted by eight major cities on the first of each month, found that September cost of a grocery basket 17 items including meat, canned goods, bakery items and produce averaged $18.14, up 11 per cent from August. The rise was the highest in five months.

In dividing up the food dollar, the farmer gets 37.6 cents, the processor gets 18.3 cents, seven cents goes to the wholesaler and the transportation firm gets four and nine tenths cents while the retailer gets 31.2 cents. This information is based on a report by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Dr. Lee Hemphill Honored At Dinner

Dr. Lee Hemphill who was pastor of the First Baptist Church of Littlefield for more than 16 years was honored by Hardin-Simmons University boards, faculty, staff and administration Friday. State Baptist leaders joined in the tribute to Dr. Hemphill who retired Sept. 1 as vice president for deferred giving at H-SU in Abilene.

Special tribute was paid to Dr. Hemphill, his wife, and his family, who have all been staunch H-SU supporters.

Another honored guest at the luncheon was David W. Guion of Dallas and a famous composer. Friends of Dr. Guion and members of the H-SU School of Music faculty joined him at the luncheon.

The luncheon followed morning meetings of the board of trustees, the university's official body, and the board of development, a larger board of supporters from throughout the United States. The boards will convene in a joint session at 9 a.m., then will meet separately until noon.

New members of the board will be on campus Thursday afternoon for an orientation session and a dinner at 6 p.m. Joining the board for the first time will be Glen Burroughs of Dallas, president of Sun Oil Company of Delaware and a former member of the Board of Development; Frank Wood of Abilene, president of Pride Oil Company and also a former member of the board of development; A. L. Lockett of Vernon; and Mrs. Fuy I. Warren of Corpus Christi.

Members of Dr. and Mrs. Hemphill's families and special friends were invited to the luncheon.

Speaking was Dr. James Landes of Dallas, executive director of the Baptist General Convention of Texas and a former president of H-SU; Dr. James Cantrell of Dallas, president of the Baptist Foundation of Texas; Dr. O. W. English of Lubbock, a longtime friend of the Hemphills and an H-SU trustee; and Dr. Elwin L. Skiles, president of H-SU.

The H-SU Singing Men, directed by Tom Pack of the music faculty, presented a special program which included numbers written by Guion and special favorites of the Hemphills.

Dr. Hemphill was a member of the board of trustees before joining the university administration as vice president for development in 1959. Under his leadership the school's financial status improved each year, and he was credited by the current board chairman, Bill Tippen, as having more to do with the University's sustained progress during the past 16 years than anyone.

He organized the board of development and the Board of Young Associates and helped establish the H-SU Academic Foundation.

He relinquished the development vice presidency to Dr. Clyde Childress in 1968 and became vice president for deferred giving.

He and Mrs. Hemphill are both graduates in the Simmons University Class of 1929.

Machinist Trades Course Slated At South Plains

If you enjoy working with hand tools, the machinist trades program at South Plains College in Levelland may be for you.

SPC offers an 1,800-clock hour occupational training program in machinist trades, designed to train the student in operation of precision machine tools, such as lathes, grinders, drill presses and drilling machines.

"The students are trained for experience on all machines found in a machine shop," said Bill Richards, director of the machinist trades program and an associate professor of machine shop. "And the students are given general background to prepare them for work in a job shop," he added. Richards has served as the program's instructor since it was begun about seven years ago.

Job opportunities are good in the machinist trades field. "There are about 25 jobs in the South Plains area for each graduate of our program," Richards estimated. "And there are around 50 jobs per graduate for students working in areas such as Dallas or Houston."

The pay is good, too. "The starting salary is usually $3 or $4 an hour," Richards explained. "After one or two years of experience on the job, the average graduate earns in excess of $5 an hour in the Levelland area," he noted.

If you have no experience in shop classes, that's no problem. "Beginners are phased into the four-semester training program as if they had no shop experience at all," explained Richards. "Those who have had previous experience move along at their own pace. The course is taught on an individual basis, with advancement based on the student's own abilities."

Students attend classes from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. five days a week, with one or two hours of classroom work related to machinist trades each day and four or five hours of actual shop experience. Shop math is the only academic subject required in the program.

Half-time courses which meet 15 clock hours a week also are offered for students who cannot attend school full-time during the day. A certificate of proficiency for both full and half-time programs is issued upon completion of the program.

A myriad of machines meet the eye in the machine shop laboratory, located in the SPC Technical Arts Building. There are high precision horizontal and vertical milling machines, used for shaping metal into a variety of shapes; engine lathes for general shop work; turret lathes for mass production; grinders, drill presses and a heat treating forge for heat treating tool steel.

A tool room is stocked with tools and other equipment the students will need during the program, such as micrometers measuring to the thousands of an inch, milling cutters and ordinary tools like pliers, wrenches, screw drivers, drills, hammers, hack saws and files.

The National Tool, Die and Precision Machining Association, with headquarters in Washington, D.C., publishes many training materials which are used in the SPC machinist trades program. Pamphlets are available on the tooling and machining industry, Richards said.

Students in the machinist trades program get experience by doing jobs for firms and businesses in the area. The type of job, however, must fit into the students' learning experience at that time, Richards said.

Richards holds both bachelor and master's degrees in industrial education and has worked as an assistant machinist for Natural Gas Pipeline Co. at Fritch and in an ordnance maintenance shop while serving with the U.S. Army. He taught drafting classes at SPC for a year while the machinist trades program was being established.

Persons needing further information on the program should contact Richards at (806) 894-4921, ext. 257.

Study Agricultural Industry To Study Food Shortages

University's College of Agricultural Sciences, the Texas Department of Agriculture, Planned Parenthood Association, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Some of the topics to be covered in the morning are progress in controlling world population, world land resources, and the potential of meeting world food needs through genetics.

The afternoon session will include an appraisal of the possibilities of transferring water to arid regions and improved methods of using present water supplies.

This is one of a series of food conferences the Texas Department of Agriculture will participate in during 1975. Several are planned for other regions of the state.

"Because Texas is a large producer of basic food supplies for the export market, our producers need to get through the rhetoric and discover the realities of world conditions. Such conferences will help Texas farmers and ranchers plan for the future," Agriculture Commissioner John C. White stated.

Key speakers include Dr. John Timmons of Iowa State University, Dr. Glenn Burton of the USDA and the Georgia Agricultural Experiment Station, Dr. Frank G. Viets, Jr. For Collins, Colorado, and persons yet to be named for population control discussions.

Other participants on the program include Dr. Bertrand; Bob Scott, West Texas Chamber of Commerce; Commissioner White; George W. McCleskey, Water, Inc.; Dr. Charles Smallwood, West Texas State University; K. Bert "Tex" Watson, Pioneer Corporation; Russell Bean, West Texas Water Institute, and Dr. Jack Musick, USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center.

Dr. I.T. Shotwell Receives Fellowship Of Physicians

Dr. Ira T. Shotwell of the Littlefield area has been named a Fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians. Fellowship candidates wore academic robes and mortarboard caps. They were recognized according to state chapter groups and the oath of fellowship was recited en masse.

The Academy, representing more than 37,000 family doctors, pioneered among national medical groups requiring members to take continuing study, a minimum of 150 accredited hours every three years. The AAFP, headquartered in Kansas City, is the largest of medicine's specialty groups.

SOCIAL POSITIONS
 Research studies indicate that both middle class and working class parents are concerned about social position for their children. But middle class parents are more likely to value internal standards, or social regulators, such as honesty, obedience, self-control and consideration of others.

The degree of fellowship may be attained in either of two ways: successful completion of 600 or more hours of accredited continuing medical study, or achievement of diplomate status in the speciality of family practice as a result of passing a certifying examination administered by the American Board of Family Practice. Fellowship entitles the conferee to use the title "Fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians," or "FAAFP." The degree was conferred October 7 upon more than 1,000 members of the Academy in conjunction with the AAFP's annual convention and scientific assembly in Chicago. Ceremonies were held in McCormick Place's Arie Crown Theatre in Chicago before more than 2,500 persons.

PUPPET SHOW

Someone else is pulling the strings. Someone else is speaking behind the scenes. Someone else is making the audience laugh, or even cry a little.

By any chance, does that remind you of yourself? Do you sometimes feel that you are a puppet, not a person? That someone else is putting words in your mouth, calling your plays?

Well, the Church won't stand you on your own two feet and cut the strings. But it will help you find the right kind of scissors... to get a new perspective, to reassess life, and yourself... to be your own person.

Who, after all, wants to be the star of a Punch and Judy show?
