Postel Receipts Note Economy

If zooming postal receipts are any indication of a solid economy, then the area postal receipts over the past few years can be called a success story. Or, as some postmasters indicate, the increase in gross postal receipts over the past decade can be attributed almost entirely to the rise in postage. Postal receipts, like bank deposits,

Easter and harmony were the reasons for what appears to be a rather light turnout of voters in the nine area school districts election of trustees.

Without exception, election officials reported large numbers of their district voters were out of town for the holidays.

And, according to the count of .cumbents returned to their posts and few numbers of write-in candidates, there was harmony in the districts as a whole. Only one incumbent was defeated.

and eight who were listed on ballots were returned to their posts. Orville Cleavinger was outvoted in the Springlake-Earth district.

WARLY LITTLEFIELD

She Taught The 3 R's

By NILAH RODGERS

Leader-News Staff Write-

Mrs. Flora Best Boone was one of four teachers for all 11 grades of the Littlefield schools in the new red brick building in 1918.

Her first job was teaching reading, riting, and 'rithmetic to grades four, five and six at the same time.

The "new" school building has long been condemned and torn down, but the things taught to her students, and some of the ideals Mrs. Boone helped formulate in the young people she came in contact with, lives on today. To name her students is to take a roll call of pioneer settlers. "I had J. E. Chisholm in the class of '42," she said, "and there was Kenneth Ware and Bill Street. I had some lovely girls, Mrs. Roy Wade, and three of her sisters, Vivian, Pauline and Prudence. "There were the Byrd girls, Jane, Eva, and Babe, the Davis girls, Minnie (Mathews), Bobbie Faye (Mitchell). I taught both of the Emfingers, Norman and Violas (Doss), and a number of the Roy Byers' children. There were several of the Carter boys, Percy, Eugene and Bill; Donald Carr, Billy Lyman, and several Carpenter girls.

"Offhand I can't name all of my students, as much as I'd like to. I even taught my brother, Sid Hopping, He didn't get mad at me but one time.

BIG FRANKLIN coal stoves were used to heat the building. Mrs. Boone's three grades and the auditorium were located on the second floor with the other classrooms on the first floor.

When it was very cold it took a lot of coal to keep the room warm. Mrs. Boone always sent Sid after coal when fuel was running low. One day he had to make a number of trips down for

"On the last trip, he stomped up those stairs, mad as could be," she said. 'Go get coal, go get coal, go get coal,' he muttered. 'Why do you always send me to get coal?' He didn't like it one bit."

Mrs. Boone went to the University of Texas. She stopped to teach during WWI, lacking one year getting her degree. After getting her degree she taught one more year as Miss Flora Best Hopping before marrying Pat

Showcase Farm Attraction

The Littlefield Lands Company established a demonstration farm in its first move to attract buyers to this new land. A water well was put down which produced drinking water that was "delightfully soft and delicious to

A two-room frame office building and a barn were built on the farm that was located where the fair grounds are now. Soon afterward a public windmill was drilled and erected on the square.

The land boom brought so many prospectors to see the new land that before long prospective buyers could not be accomodated at the ranch headquarters. A hotel was needed because the 60-70 mile round-trip from Abernathy, Lubbock and other neighboring towns was more than could be made in one day and leave any time for the prospective buyer to inspect land.

Arthur P. Duggan secured bids for an 18 room hotel and let the contract in December, 1912. Promptly eight carpenters were busy erecting the two-story frame building, using materials from as far away as Roswell, N. M. Work was pushed through the snow, sands and cold of winter.

By the end of February, the hotel was far advanced, and was completed in March, 1913.

On the March 5-6 opening, 40 prospectors filled the bright yellow Casa Amarillo Hotel, two to a bed, and overflowed onto pallets in the company office, the wagon yard, and the lumber company office.

Meantime, W. G. and J. T. Street were in the process of building a hardware store. (While work was being done on the hotel, the men were living in the land office.

A railroad was being built from Lubbock to the New Mexico line.

Now it was time to seriously consider an official opening for the new town of Littlefield. Arthur P. Duggan and Major Littlefield agreed the opening day should be in the summer when the high winds had ceased. Hopefully there would be several more farm houses scattered around town, much of the ground would be broken, if there was sufficient rain, and the railroad would have arrived. Why not choose the Fourth of July for the grand opening?

On the still, cloudless morning of July 4, 1913, over 1,400 people gathered to watch the official opening of Littlefield. Duggan had worked since April to make this a memorable

A land auction, Littlefield's first passenger train, a big noon meal of barbecued beef, beans, and chuck-wagon dishes, a 15-piece band, a speech, rodeo, and a big dance was enough to bring everyone from miles around to town.

Cotton bagging was strung on poles to ward off the beaming sun. Edward R. Kone, the state commissioner of agriculture and a distant relative of Duggan's, came to make the speech. A 15-piece band from Lubbock was hired for the day. And the cowboys of the Yellow House Ranch and adjoining ranches had the "pleasure" of demonstrating the "how" of a genuine round-up of 2,000 cattle, plus branding and a realistic bronch-busting exhibition.

A dance ended the festive day. The Casa Amarillo Hotel was filled that night. Every building and home had overnight guests, and many slept under wagons and out under the stars.

All youngsters who will play in this summer's Little League Baseball program in Littlefield will sign up Tuesday night

Signing will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Littlefield Junior High auditorium, according to league president Bob Bromlow

The boys must have with them when they register their birth certificate and at least one parent.

Bromlow said he would have pre-registration forms distributed to all interested boys in Littlefield schools Tuesday. These can be filled out at home with the boys' parents, and turned in that evening to hasten registration of all players.

Boys who played last year must register, as well as new players.

Tryouts for new players and Minor League players will be held April 15

Boys ages 10 and 11 will make their appearance for tryouts April 15. The 10-year-olds will perform between 5. and 6 p.m., and the 11-year-olds from

Who Hold Record For LHS Trackmen

Who hold the track records for Littlefield High School? The Leader-News, working with LHS track coach Jimmy Bartley is attempting to identify the athletes who have the best performances in track, while representing the school.

Readers with documented evidence of the athlete's performance. where and when the event was held, are asked to get the information to the Leader-News office, or contact Coach Bartlett.

Bartlett says he wants to make a record board at the school, both to give credit to those who established them, and to add interest in the sport of the athletes now competing.

The athletes and their performances listed below are not necessarily the record holders, but only what can be found in researching some of the files in the office.

TEXT: And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said unto them 'why seek ye the living among the dead?"

"WHY SEEK YE the living among the dead"" were the words of the angel that first Easter morn.

His friends, expecting to find Jesus dead, found instead an empty tomb, "He is not here-but is risen," the angel continued. These words that brought such hope to Christ's disciples, cause our hearts to rejoice today. Because Jesus triumphed over the grave, we, as Christians need not

IF THE FATHER deigns to touch with divine power the cold and pulseless heart of the buried acorn and causes it to shoot forth from its prison walls, will He refuse hope to the sons of men? Will He leave, neglected in the earth, the soul of man created in his own image? A thousand times NO!

DEATH IS NOT the end of life. It is only an episode in life's story - a pause in life's chant; the curtain between two main acts. Life and death are intertwined. Life runs to death-but out of death, life forever springs.

The grave is not a blind alley, but a thoroughfare. It closes with the night, but opens to the dawn. So, why seek ye the living among the dead? Rejoice! Our Savior lives!

GREAT MEN have come and gone, yet He lives on Herod could not kill Him. death could not destroy Him, and the grave could not hold Him.

He died and was buried; but on the third day, HE AROSE, ascended to the right hand of the Father and is now interceding for all mankind.

The required inspection procedure requires that mechanics check a vehicle's brakes, lights, rims and wheels, horns and warning devices, windshield wipers, mirrors, steering, and front seat belts in vehicles where seat belt anchorages were part of the manufacturer's original equipment.

There are 5,466 licensed inspection stations, located throughout the state.
