CITY ELECTIONS

Contested Races At Earth, Olton

City elections in Littlefield, Earth and Olton have drawn 14 candidates vying to win nine places.

Littlefield's city incumbents are expected for balloting scheduled Tuesday, April 1.

Mayor J. E. Chisholm, and City Councilmen Paul McCormick and Lester Harvey filed for re-election before the filing deadline February 28.

City elections at Earth and Olton have drawn opposition candidates.

Olton's mayor, Parley P. Myers, is expected in his bid for re-election.

Four persons are seeking two seats on the city council, however. Terms of the councilmen, Percy Parsons and Betty Daugherty, are expiring.

Daugherty is the only incumbent to appear on the ballot are Claude Smith, Walter Struve and K. Y. Sims.

The deadline for filing for city elections at Olton was 5 p.m., March 7.

Before the Thursday, March 6 midnight deadline, seven persons had filed for the three aldermen's position at Earth. Clarence Kelly withdrew his name, leaving six vying for the three city posts.

Aldermen incumbents who terms are expiring are Doug Parish, Bill Bryant and Eldon Parish. Eldon Parish is the only incumbent not seeking re-election.

New names on the ballot opposing Doug Parish and Bill Bryant are Grover W. (Bud) Matlock, Lynn Glasscock, L. H. (Slim) Galloway, and Neil Pounds.

Only two incumbents had filed for the three positions before the Earth city council met this week and went on record as being in favor of maintaining the Earth-Springlake Hospital District.

Five more persons filed, including Clarence Kelly who later withdrew, after the council announced its stand. The term of Earth's mayor, E. C. Kelly, expires next year.

School board races in the Littlefield trade area range from the hotly contested one in Littlefield with eight running for three places, to the lukewarm Pep school board race which has three vacancies with only one name on the ballot.

Thirty-three persons are competing for 22 places in the 10 area schools. Voters will make their choices at the polls Saturday, April 5.

Before the Thursday deadline, two more men filed in the Littlefield tax assessor-collector's office, bringing the total number of those seeking the three places on the Littlefield board to eight.

FILING THURSDAY were Wayne Streety, a Littlefield farmer, and Bob Roden, Littlefield druggist.

The first two to put their names on the ballot here were Paul Yarbrough and John Clayton III. David Hampton and Glenn Burk placed their names on the ballot Tuesday and early Wednesday morning. Incumbents Calvin Price and Werner W. Birkebach filed late Wednesday.

Dr. W. C. Nowlin, president of the school board, is the only incumbent not seeking re-election.

WAYNE STREETY and his wife, Kathryn, have lived in Littlefield 25 years. Streety farms 3 1/2 miles southwest of town. The Streetys have one son, Wayne Jr., an LHS sophomore. They attend the Central Park Church of Christ.

"I am interested in our public school system," Streety said. "I want our children to have the best school possible with the most competent teachers available. This must be done with a responsible thought of our taxpayers, a careful budgeting of our tax dollars.

"I believe that a good school must necessarily be well disciplined, orderly and a good recommendation for our community."

"I believe we should resist all efforts of the state to take over the government of our local schools. I don't think the state education board can produce a formula that will work equally well in Houston, Dallas, and in Littlefield. I believe the government and administration of our local school should remain with duly elected representatives of our local school district," Streety concluded.

BOB RODEN HAS owned and operated Roden Drug here the past 16 years, moving here from Friona where he was born and attended school.

Roden is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma.

He and his wife Betty have three children, David, a senior; Dana, a sophomore; and Mark, a third grader.

"I feel it is the duty of responsible citizens to help make our school the best it can be," Roden said. "It is a privilege and obligation to see that our children get a good education. I think it is a healthy situation when we have eight candidates running for the school board at this time. It shows concerned interest in the future of our schools. I'm glad to see this," Roden said.

AT PEP, THREE incumbents' terms are expiring and only one of these three filed for re-election, leaving the two other vacancies to be filled with write-in votes.

James Glumpler is seeking re-election, with incumbents J. D. Vick and N. C. Demel not putting their names on the ballot.

"This is a common occurrence at Pep," Coy I. Keahey, superintendent, said. "A couple of times we've had to hold another election because the write-ins tied. Once or twice we flipped coins to see who would be on," Keahey said. "But they make

A JAPANESE SAKI bottle shipped to the U. S. in the guise of being filled with cologne is one of the many interesting bottles in Mrs. Elton Hauk's collection of 3,000. The saki bottle is flanked by two Japanese gods, Joan and Darby, mother and father of the home. The historical significance of the bottles makes bottle collecting Mrs. Hauk's most interesting pastime.

COLLECTOR HAS 3,000

A Story Behind Every Bottle...

By NILAH RODGERS
Leader-News Staff Writer

"I can go into an old dump and pick up bottles and tell you what kind of people lived there," Mrs. Elton (Tom Alta) Hauk said. It's the history behind the bottles that makes bottle collecting so fascinating, Mrs. Hauk declares.

Mrs. Hauk started collecting bottles about three years ago and now she has about 3,000.

"Two are very outlandish," she said. "If the history is true," she added. "Experts are now checking on the authenticity of the history."

One of these is a Japanese saki bottle she keeps on the living room mantle. Long ago, before the importation of saki was banned, Japan shipped their liquor to the U. S. in plain, rough, clay-like bottles.

When the importation of Japanese saki was banned, the Japanese hired skilled artists to decorate ceramic bottles, painting these with rising suns, their bird and scenes with raised enamel and gold.

The name of a cologne was put on these bottles and they were filled with saki and shipped to the U. S.

Those receiving the illegal liquor, shipped here as cologne, emptied the saki out and smashed the bottles to bits to keep from getting caught.

Very few of these lavish bottles survived this destruction. Mrs. Hauk's gallon-sized saki-cologne jug is one of these rare exceptions.

Another collector's item is an Indian water bottle now on loan to the Canyon Museum. The museum curator is tracing the history of this earthen bottle.

The water bottle is delicately carved with two Indian chief heads and a row of Indian language. It is painted with blood. The handle is a serpent—sign of water to the Indians.

This antique bottle came out of a

The "Land of Coronado" tourism program was developed last year and proved successful in the upper Panhandle area. Billboards, city post cards, table tent cards and service station and motel-hotel placards will be utilized to "advertise and sell" Littlefield and the entire area.

The placards will contain a map of the area, and will list things of interest "to do and see" in Littlefield and other cities placed on the map.

The four-month program will begin May 1 and is to continue through Labor Day.

The Board of City Development decided to erect a four map of Littlefield at the free camp site on Hall Avenue. The sign, 8' wide by 4' high, now being built and painted, will be placed on a conspicuous place so that tourists may know what is in Littlefield.

George Davis, Chamber member, suggested the sign to the Tourist Development Commission, which proposed the project to the Board of City Development. Cost of the sign will be approximately $120.

City To Mow Baseball Parks

By JOELLA LOVVORN
News Editor, Leader-News

Littlefield city councilmen voted to water and mow youth baseball parks this summer, decided to enforce an ordinance on keeping lids on refuse cans, and re-hired Alvin Webb, CPA, as city auditor when they met Thursday night in regular session.

Councilmen discussed the fact that, since the city would have mowing machinery near the ball parks anyway, it would not be much trouble to mow the playing areas.

City tenants who own uncovered garbage cans will be notified to place lids on these cans, and after a 30-day period has passed, cans are still uncovered, they will be notified again. If the cans still are not covered in two weeks, the owner will be fined $100—each separate offense.

Councilmen noted that this is not a new law, but that they will begin enforcing an old one.

Alvin Webb appeared before the council to discuss the 1967-68 audit. In commenting on the audit he said, "The records are in the best shape they've ever been in."

In other matters of business, the council:

1. Authorized advertisement for bids for one garbage packer unit, to be put on a truck chassis the city already owns.

Present packer units are side loaded 14-cubic-yard units and the council would like to purchase a 16-cubic-yard unit which loads from the rear.

2. Authorized three corrections on the city tax roll.

3. Voted to go into contract with L. H. Hammock of Littlefield, who offered to do seven blocks of seal coating work in exchange for an asphalt tank.

4. Voted to authorize Mayor J. E. Chisholm to accept and sign a contract with Ray Daniels of Lubbock to become airport operator. Guy Smith of Plainview will move his trailer house to Littlefield to operate the airport, and will move his family here when school is out. Daniels came Thursday to sign the three-year contract, which will begin Monday, March 10.

5. Encouraged Pickett Ray and City

LAMB COUNTY SCRAPBOOK

Lums Chapel Baptist Church Started As A Half Dugout

By NILAH RODGERS

(Editor's note: This week the scrapbook is being moved up to the early 1920's. Hershel Barker, who helped build the Lums Chapel Baptist Church half dugout, and Curtis Strange, who moved there with his family in 1925, provided information for this week's scrapbook.)

THIS HALF DUGOUT was the first Lums Chapel Baptist Church.

What is now U. S. Highway 385 that runs past the Lums Chapel Baptist Church, was a rutted path cut into the grasslands by wagons and model T Fords.

In 1924 a number of persons living south of Littlefield met in a half dugout across the road and east of the present Lums Chapel Baptist Church to organize the first church of that community.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Lum, who had moved to this community in 1923, donated the land for the church building on the southeast corner of their labor. For this gift the church was named Lums Chapel.

Times were hard for the residents then, and economy was a must. The most for the least money construction then, was a half dugout. Even then, cross ties or similar support was needed to brace the roof and L. B. Pierce Sr. donated these.

Charter members of the church and those helping with the digging and toting of the lumber and materials were Adlee Ramsey and his three sisters, Jack Alexander's family, the C. O. Robbins, Ollie, Olene and J. Lee, the Wallace Ramsey families and the Will Lums.

A. L. Morris, a lay preacher, was in charge of the first services.

An Amherst man, A. O. Dixon, was the first pastor and he drove to Lums Chapel each Sunday for services.

In 1925 the Lums sold their land to the John Humphries and moved back to Red River County.

New families making the Lums Chapel community their home and attending church in 1925 were the Doss Manners, Bruce Wrens, the John Bryants, A. L. Strains, Lullie, Mae, Kermit and Curtis, the J. L. Moores, the McCanlis family, the Tyrones and Blackwells.

In 1927 the Hilliard Carters moved to the Lums Chapel community. The Capers, the L. V. Pierce and the C. P. Anderson families moved into the community about this time, too.

Those coming here in the early 1930s were the Roy Hutsons, Glen Youngs, Emzy Hobbs, Alfa McCarty, the Millers, John Nance and family, the Pierce Malone and Thedford families (Harvey, Welty, and Nathan.)

Other early settlers were the Lightseys, an Arnold family, the John Hodges, the Gaddy family, the Walravens, Cochrans, Malone and Nance families.

Miss Audrey Lum married Abe Barber of this community.

The Jackson family lived east of the half-dugout church. John D. Jackson and Valerie Humphrey married.

Jackson has operated a barber shop in Littlefield for years.

Miss Florence Burnett, daughter of L. M. Burnetts, married McCarty. He was killed when a car was working on, fell on him. Later married Alvis Tubbs. The Tubbs own and operate Pioneer Grocery in Littlefield.

Another early year family was Crows-Inez, Moena, Coez and The J. W. James were also pioneers.

The half-dugout church was dedicated in June, 1929. Rev. C. F. Booth served the permanent church building four years. Rev. C. F. Booth served the remaining time the church was in the half-dugout.

Heavy rains would flood the dugout and people of the community would gather up their buckets and carry the water out so services could resume.

The first "above ground" church was dedicated in June, 1929. Rev. A. Kemp preached the dedication sermon.

From the time the church established through the late many dinners on the ground Sunday evening singings were Early day members still have memories of these socials.

LUNCH VOTE, c/o Bill Turner, Box 72, Littlefield.

OWNER'S REPORT

An Alternative

By BILL TURNER

The lunch period issue, which in itself probably is not one of Littlefield schools' major problems, has provoked more interest in schools here than any one thing in a long time.

Everywhere I go, people are commenting on it, and wondering how the straw vote is going.

I haven't stopped to count the number of votes for either side of the issue, but I have counted the number of ballots.

The total now is almost 200, in itself an indication that there is major interest in the length of time given students to eat lunch.

WE'RE RUNNING the ballot for the last time today, in an effort to give everyone who desires a chance to vote.

The returns which reach the newspaper office by 5 p.m. Monday will be counted, and the results will be given to the school board Monday night at its regular meeting.

After that, of course, it's up to the school board and the administration to do as they see fit.

They can take the results and decide for themselves whether the issue has any merit, whether the lunch period needs more investigation or whether the whole thing should be completely disregarded.

I'll be on hand at the board meeting to let you know the reaction.

And, of course, we'll print the final results of the straw poll in Thursday's paper, along with the report of the board meeting.

I'VE TALKED with several people while spot checking the ballots to be certain no one votes more than one time. I haven't run across any ballot box stuffing, which indicates, to me anyway, that the people who are voting are giving an honest, sincere opinion.

And I've had a chance to talk briefly with Paul I. Jones, who explained some of the problems involved with allowing a longer time for lunch periods.

Littlefield, the superintendent explained, is on a seven-period schedule—in high school, and each class must have a 55-minute minimum in order for the school to maintain accreditation standards.

That pretty well rules out any possibility of knocking off a couple of minutes from each class, as some people have suggested.

Many schools, perhaps a majority, are on a six-period schedule (Lubbock, for instance), but if Littlefield High School were cut back to six periods, the result would be a cutback in the number of courses offered students here, Supt. Jones said.

So... maintaining a seven-period day at the high school along with 55-minute periods, five minutes between classes, and an hour for lunch would result in an 8-hour day.

That means school would have to start at 8 a.m. and let out at 4 p.m., or start at 8:30 a.m. and let out at 4:30 p.m., the superintendent said.

Either schedule would create some problems in bus transportation, he added, with some students in fringe areas starting to school before daylight, or on the other hand, getting home after dark.

ALL OF THIS, in my opinion, adds up to a choice between six and seven periods.

This wouldn't be a very good choice, because no one advocates cutting down on curriculum, certainly not me.

But there is another choice, on which I believe students and teachers could live with, and one which would give students more time to eat lunch.

Frankly if this choice were adopted, I don't believe there would be much problem on the lunch period left to talk about.

Why couldn't everyone go to school 10 minutes earlier, and later have 10 minutes longer on the lunch hour?

This would result in a 45-minute lunch period.

I think this would be acceptable to most people, and I'm sure it would be welcomed if it cut down on ulcers, nerve pills and such.

DEAR EDITOR

What Our Readers Think

Lunch Period Should Be Longer

Dear Bill,

The school lunch hour should definitely be longer.

For those last 15 or so having to stand in line before getting their plate lunch, it is really hard for them to finish at a normal eating pace.

True, some will take advantage; but, the majority tend to be penalized because of the few.

Try standing near the doorway leading to the cafeteria some day. Better watch out or you will get run over—they are wanting to get there first so they can eat and then have some free time on their hands.

I have been the last in line many times and it was quite difficult to finish the meal without rushing through, stuffing it down, and no time to sit back and relax!

Sincerely,
Ronnie Vaughn

P. S. I hope your survey proves of value. I think the student should have something to "kick" about.

Dear Bill:

The number of young patients we see in the clinic indicates the need for a more relaxed school meal time.

An extra ten or fifteen minutes would be very helpful and I am in favor of a longer lunch period.

THE FARMER'S VIEW

My Church Poll

By LIBBY MUDGE

IN THE LAST ISSUE of The Ladies' Home Journal is a very interesting article entitled "You Can't Find God in Church Anymore!"

The Journal had polled 1,000 women and correlated the results.

The part that intrigued me the most was the reasons different women gave that they no longer attended church.

I decided to conduct my own survey and, as usual, women in rural West Texas gave answers almost entirely different from the nationwide poll.

I INCLUDE HERE answers only from the women who attend church very seldom or not at all.

"My husband and I are compromising. He belongs to one denomination and I belong to another, so we don't go to any."

"Listen, sister, if you stood on your feet all week long like I do, you wouldn't wanna go stand on 'em again on your one day off. Especially not in dress shoes—they make my dogs SCREAM!"

"I'M COMPLETELY out of the habit. I went when my children were little and couldn't go by themselves, but I don't anymore. I think churchgoing is three-fourths habit, don't you?"

"I'll tell you exactly why I don't go anymore. It's (man's name). I know enough on him to put him in jail and when I saw him passing the collection plate Sunday after Sunday, I near threw up. So I quit going."

"It's the only day I have sleep late. I know that's right, but that's the reason. I just get so behind with my sleep, I HAVE to catch up."

"I DON'T HAVE nice enough clothes. That shouldn't keep me from going, but nevertheless, I feel downright dowdy. Even other lady dresses up so much better than I'm able to."

"I don't enjoy it, that's why I shouldn't go, I'd enjoy it?"

"I listen to the sermons on t.v. They best any preacher around here. No, I don't miss fellowship of others."

"Oh, I keep intending to stop back. I am, too, someday soon."

"I GOT SICK and tired being told 'Don't do this' and 'Don't do that'. Seldom did I ever hear the words 'Do this and that'."

"I got tired of going to myself. My husband wouldn't go with me, so I finally quit going too. If he'd go, I'd go."

"I work on Sunday. I nearly die laughing when all the church members that talk about businesses staying open on Sunday come into this cafe to served their Sunday dinner!"

"I GOT TIRED of having money talked about constantly. I got to where everytime I went there was some special drive of some kind or other on that I was expected to give to."

Church? You can have it!"
"Habit. Pure habit. I'm going, but not enough to stay back in the habit. I make a New Year's resolution to start back each year, and I really intend to keep it, but I never do."

"I DON'T LIKE the preacher we've got right now. Whenever we get another one, I'll stay back—if I like him, that is."
"It's unfriendly. I can walk to that church, stay until the service is over, and leave without one single soul having even spoken to me."
"Frankly, the whole thing bores me. It's just a bunch of folderol."

"I REALLY COULDN'T tell you why I no longer go to church. I'd have to think about it. I really just don't know."

"It's too noisy. Kids cry and the people talk. I can stay home and worship just as well anyway."

"OUR SERVICES were too formal. Everything was done the same way each Sunday. Sometimes I wanted to scream for just one little part in the whole ritual to be changed, even just slightly."

"Oh, those people won't leave you alone! They're not satisfied for you to just come and enjoy the services, no. They keep after you to take part in this or the other activity."

Sometimes I think all they do is eat!"

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Girl Scout Week

GIRL SCOUTS of the U. S. A. will celebrate their 57th birthday on March 12, 1969 during National Girl Scout Week—March 9-15.

Founded in 1912 in Savannah, Ga., American Girl Scouting has grown up with the nation.

Theme of the organization for the years 1966-69, "Values to Hold, Worlds to Explore," represents values held constant for almost 60 years—but expressed each day, month, and year in a modern and timely way.

TODAY'S GIRL SCOUTS

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Won't Give Up

By BOB WEAR

THE LIVING EXPERIENCE is a constant testing process. Sometimes the testing is very strong and even traumatic, but most of it is rather ordinary.

Some people face the testing experiences with courage, dignity, nobility and wisdom—some in a more resigned and submissive manner—doing reasonably well in most instances.

Others are always fearful and disturbed, some give up, and some try to run away.

EACH PERSON has the privilege choose the posture he wishes assume. The choice, however, makes a big difference in the manner of life. Many fail just because they give up, and many succeed because they refuse to give up.

We have no basis for thinking that we can do everything, but we can do some things. Among the things we can do, we will find all of those which are essential to satisfactory living.

We must, however, maintain the resolution that we will not give up.

Bruyere said, "No road is too long to the man who advances deliberately and without undue haste; and no honors are too distant for the man who prepares himself for them with patience." In a frame of reference made up of reason and our basic potential, this observation is certainly true.

PERSEVERANCE IS ONE OF the most necessary and rewarding characteristics of a human being. We would be unjustifiably naive if we failed to recognize the many possible causes of discouragement and defeatism.

We must never, however, join the people who are giving up. It is better to be just as resolute as we can.

It is better to keep on keeping on than it is to give up.

WE MUST NOT GIVE UP. S. G. Goodrich said, "Perseverance gives power to weakness, and opens to poverty the world's wealth."

It spreads fertility over the barren landscape, and bids the choicest fruits and flowers spring up and flourish in the desert abode of thorns and briars."

MUCH IS BEING DONE today that is designed to kill the spirit of mankind.

If not kill it, then to corrupt it so that it no longer moves in work against poverty and inequality; last year the organization's National Board of Directors voted to support the major goal objectives of the Report of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.

The 3.5 million members express their beliefs—their values—through service in their own and neighboring communities, in schools, libraries, centers, hospitals, parks, or wherever goodwill and dedication can be useful.

LET'S WISH THEM a heartfelt "Happy Birthday" during their week.

constructive and wholesome channels of human action.

This constant bombardment must be resisted intelligently and courageously. We must make it clear to all who may be watching that "we won't give up."

THE HUMAN SPIRIT is unconquerable unless we want it to be otherwise. We have great capacity and potential for courageous living.

Of course, it must be developed by right activation and guidance.

The greatest and most useful courage comes from strong faith. Addison said, "Courage that grows from constitution, often forsakes a man when he has occasion for it. Courage which arises from a sense of duty acts in a uniform manner."

This proper courage means that we won't give up.

LIFE ENRICHMENT and meaningful accomplishment are supported by courageous perseverance when wisdom is the guiding light.

In order to make our "never-give-up spirit" most effective, it must be closely allied with wisdom.

We won't give up in holding to, following after and living by the well-known, time-tested and God-inspired principles and ideals of victorious living.

HOWDY NEIGHBOR!

A sign in a barber shop window carried these words: Home haircuts repaired $2.00.

Sign in a beauty shop: We can give you a new look, providing you still have the old parts.

Husbands no longer fear the Wolf at the door. Now it's the mink in the window.

More people have died from stepping on the gas than from inhaling it.

If praising ourselves to the skies would get us to heaven, a lot of us would already be there.

Two good ways to protect your teeth is to see your dentist twice a year and mind your own business.

Customer: "Could I try on that suit in the window?"
Clerk: "We'd rather you would use the dressing room."

A note left on the windshield of a parked car with a dented fender and door carried these words: "I have just run into your car. People have seen me and are watching me write this. They think I am giving you my name and address but they are wrong."

TESTIMONY TIME:

A few years ago in a small country church, members were giving their testimonies one Sunday night. After several had witnessed to their personal experiences and rejoiced in their blessings, one woman stood to her feet and said, "These are wicked times and our country has come to see evil days. Sin tempts us on every hand. In fact, I have been battling with the ole devil all week." All at once, her husband sitting beside her thought she was referring to him, jumped up and said, "Well, it's not ALL my fault. She's pretty hard to get along with, herself!"

61st Legislature Has Busy Week

The 61st Legislature has now completed its seventh week and there have been areas of real progress made toward legislation that will have lasting effect on Texas, and especially the West Texas area.

Representative Bill Clayton was successful this week, in passing through the House of Representatives a Constitutional Amendment that, if passed by the State Senate and voted for by the people, would be the first step in implementing the overall proposed water development program for Texas.

This amendment provides constitutional authorization for 3 1/2 billion dollars of bonds to be issued over the next fifty years, and would start a program to bring surplus water into the deficient areas of Texas.

This amendment proposed as the result of intensive study that made by the House Water Study Commission during the last two years. Clayton was Chairman of Water Study Commission made these recommendations.

HOUSE BILL 300—package bill that came from the Governor's Public School Education Study Commission has been set for a public hearing on March 25, at 1 p.m., at the Press Table in the House of Representatives.

This is the bill that contains, among other recommendations, a proposal that the schools with less than 2600 pupils be consolidated and that the tax structure be drastically changed.

Representative Clayton has publicly stated that he will oppose the consolidation of the schools and also will oppose the proposed change in the structure.

Guidance For Daily Living

Christain And Government

WE ARE A PEOPLE who is subjected first to God, and then to human rulers. We have certain obligations. "Render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's" (Matthew 22:21).

EVEN IN THE MIDST of social and political turmoil, we are enjoined to be "in subjection to the higher powers." That is, we are to place ourselves under a line of authority.

But why is this? If a Christian is a citizen of Heaven, why does he have earthly obligations?

It is for the reason that God has ordained earthly authority. There is no authority or power of any government which exists apart from the fact of God's appointment of such authority. He has established law and order.

It seems that some times we overlook this matter and feel that we have the right to break those laws which bring a conflict with our personal desires or wishes. In doing so, we violate the laws of God.

HUMAN AUTHORITY is even called "the minister of God" (Romans 13:4). This means for us simply that human authority in government is God's agent in carrying out His will today in our world.

The "ruler" is given the right to execute judgment in our society. The courts in our land have the right under God to yield the death blow to the criminal. For the rulers "beareth not the sword in vain" (Romans 13:4).

NOW JUST HOW DOES this involve the Christian? Because God has established the order and authority. We are subject to pay "tribute" and "custom," both forms of taxation. Also, we are to "fear" and "honor" (Romans 13:7) the authority of our government.

Did not Jesus set such a pattern? He paid the Temple tax so as not to offend any man. He also paid the Roman tax (the civil tax), for He felt that it was Caesar's due.

This, too, should be our pattern of conduct. The Bible holds two reasons before us for our being in subjection: 1st, for the ruler's due; 2nd, for the sake of our conscience (Romans 13:5).

Does not the government hold many forms of protection for her citizens? What protection does any one hold in a state of anarchy? Yes, because God has established law and order, the Christian and government should not be in conflict.

NOW THEN, some one pulls a thorny one out of the bag. What if the ruler is an evil person or a tyrant? What if the government has gone corrupt? What is the Christian to do in such a case?

It must first be established that anarchy has no place in God's order of things. This means simply that we are not to forsake law and order and proper authority in our society.

There should be no exceptions to the rule of obedience in this matter. The Bible also states that we are to be "subject to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake" (1 Peter 2:13).

There is only one instance in which an exception appears. The Christian must always live as a witness for the Lord Jesus Christ (Acts 4:19, 20).

It is only when a choice such as this is to be made that the Christian "must obey God rather than men" (Acts 5:29). In other cases, the Christian is subject to his government and its authority over the land.

SUCH A STAND may cost the Christian something. It may cost you everything. The significant thing is that the will of God be done in and through our lives as Christian citizens.

We may be involved with many difficulties, but we need to apply this principle to our earthly situation.

In times of trial, James tells us, "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God" (James 1:5). Yes, we are a people who is subjected first to God, and then to human rulers.

THE CHRISTIAN has a dual obligation to both God and his government. "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God. Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation (in the sense of judgment by the rulers)" (Romans 13:1-2.)

IN REGIONAL TOURNEY

Spade Falls To Klondike

Tall and talented Klondike knocked Spade's chances for a chance at the Class B state championship by knocking off the Lamb County delegation in the regional tournament at Levelland Saturday morning, 60-37.

The loss put Spade into a battle for tournament third place last night, and advanced Klondike into the finals.

Spade, in absorbing its seventh loss against 30 victories for the season, just was not able to cope with the height and strength of the larger Klondike players. Their guards intimidated the Spade girls, repeatedly, blocking both their shots and attempts to drive under the basket.

Klondike, 65-60 victor over the Springlake-Earth Wolverettes a couple of weeks ago, stood at 33-2 for the season before last night's finals.

Joella Myers was high for the game with 13 points. Belinda Thompson, who entered the tournament with a 25.5-point season average, was held to 12, on four field goals and only four free shots.

There were surprisingly few personal fouls called in the contest, only 24 for the two teams, with only Christi Adams from either team fouling out. In Spade's game Friday against Lakeview, which they won 71-59, there was a total of 43 called.

After scoring the first goal in the game, Klondike was never behind. Only once, with 4:42 remaining in the first quarter, did Spade ever near pressing the victors in scoring. That's when they pulled to within four points, 8-4, of the eventual winners.

Klondike led 20-7 after the first quarter, 35-18 at halftime and 48-25 at the third official rest stop.

After a hectic first quarter against Lakeview, when Spade saw its early 4-1 lead blown to a 5-11 deficit and then fight back to a 17-16 period lead, Spade exploded with a 21-9 second quarter lead that carried the victors through the victory.

Lakeview took advantage of Spade turnovers and held a six-point lead with 4:01 remaining in the first quarter. But little forward Belinda Thompson, who finished the game with 33 points, got a hot hand and poured in 12 of her points to give the victors their 17-16 rest period lead.

The Spade bombardment of the nets continued until they zoomed to a 34-19 lead with 3:03 remaining in the opening half. Then three straight turnovers allowed Lakeview to edge to within 34-23. The half ended 38-25.

Spade collected 11 of its 23 personal fouls in the first half. But only guard Gloria Johnson was in any real trouble, with three. However, before the game ended, three, Gloria, Bonnie Thompson and Carole Stubblefield, had left the floor on penalties.

Lakeview threatened with rallies throughout the second quarter, getting to within nine points, 59-50, with 4:05 remaining in the game. But Coach Morris' crew fought back furiously for their victory.

Spade had excellent results in shooting, hitting 77 per cent from the foul line (21 of 27), and 55 percent from the floor (25 of 45).

Lakeview's percentages were not as good, with only 17 of 29 free shots for 58 percent, and 21 of 43 field goals made for 49 percent.

Spade's scoring was well-balanced, with Belinda and Christi each sinking nine field goals and Joella seven.

Fast Track Here

The first official track meet ever held on the newly-completed facility at Wildcat Stadium produced one of the fastest times thus far for the year for a school boy in the state.

Levelland sophomore David Goightly's outstanding 21.6 is equaled only by a similar time by Joe Pouncey of Dallas Lincoln in the 220-yard dash.

The Lobo sprinter set the outstanding time in the first Wildcat Relays, held here last weekend.

CHRISTI ADAMS, 52, Spade sophomore forward, draws a personal foul while attempting to steal the ball from Lakeview's Jan Gregory. Belinda Thompson watches. Spade won the regional tourney first round, 71-59.

DEAR EDITOR

Wolverette Fan Knocks Coaching

March 5, 1969

Dear Sir:

Many residents of this area, after hearing of the defeat of the Springlake-Earth Wolverettes (spelling is correct) last night in bi-district, will be wanting to know how such a great team could lose. In the following article, I have given the how and why of this loss and I think your readers deserve this knowledge concerning the "Rise and Fall of the Mighty Wolverettes" (sic). Therefore, in the essence of speaking the public mind, I respectfully submit the enclosed article for publication. Thank you.

Sincerely,
An Interested Observer

Enclosure:

I request that my name be withheld.

THE RISE AND FALL OF THE MIGHTY WOVERTETTES (sic)

The Springlake-Earth Wolverettes (sic) was a name which in 1963 was hardly known out of district 3-A. This was the year Dean Foshee took this squad and began to build a team later known all over the state of Texas. Under his leadership, the Wolverettes (sic) won district for the first time in history in 1964-65. This team fell in bi-district to Roosevelt, the team destined to become Class A State Champs. The following year, good coaching and smart game tactics brought the Wolverettes (sic) to the State tournament. They became the 1965-66 State runner-ups, losing a hard-fought game to the Jourdanon Squaws by a score of 79-75. The next year the Wolverettes (sic) potential reached its peak. With an unbeatable offensive combination, sparked by All-State player Susan Britton and a brilliantly planned and executed defense, the Wolverettes (sic) were unbeatable. They became renown in all corners of the state as they took the State Championship with an all-time high score, 105-56, breaking and setting many State records.

A boat with a hole in it does not sink immediately, but it will eventually. This is analogous with the next two years in the basketball history of the Springlake-Earth Wolverettes (sic). With a change of coaches, several holes were knocked in the boat in the form of loss of game strategy and tactics. When these holes were not filled with new strategy, the team, like the boat, began to sink. This sinking was gradual, and to the average person, it was not apparent in the '67-68 season because the tremendous leadership and basketball ability of Susan Britton was enough to keep them afloat. Yet, to the person with true knowledge of basketball, it was evident that the mighty Wolverettes were going down. They became the State Champs but the championship game in itself was evidence of the fall. The only thing that kept them from disaster was the skill and training of the veterans of the '66-67 Wolverette (sic) team.

The Springlake-Earth Wolverettes (sic) 1968-69—a 6'1" forward, a 5'9" forward, a freshman with great potential, and three guards with speed and experience—potentially State Champions. Yet, several times this season they were defeated by teams of lesser ability. Why? Because good coaching beats no coaching and "toothpick chewing" any day. The ship sunk last night as the Wolverettes (sic) were defeated in bi-district play at the hands of Ralls. What lies ahead in the basketball future of the Wolverettes (sic)? Unless coaching technique, tactics, and strategy improve greatly, don't look for the Springlake-Earth Wolverettes (sic) at the State tournament in the near future.

BIG BASS TOAB

A lucky largemouth bass, which may be a record because he is big and still alive, is now a resident of the Hermann Park Zoo in Houston. Attendants have affectionately dubbed the 10-pound, two-ounce fish, "Big Toab".

DRIVING against Lakeview's Jan Gregory is Spade's senior forward, Joella Myers, 42.

Important Baseball Meeting Set Monday

Two major decisions, whether Little League will remain in the Littlefield Baseball Association and whether Babe Ruth League will replace the Colt and Pony Leagues, expected to be reached at a public meeting Monday night.

The meeting is slated for 7:30 p.m. in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Building.

Two meetings were held last week without solutions. Officials of all the leagues playing in the Littlefield Association are urging that interested members and parents attend Monday's meeting so that the problems might be solved.

Concerning the Little League withdrawal from the Association officials state that they and the workers do most of the work which raises funds for the Little League Association's financing. They say that if the situation continues, they might not be able to finance their own program, much less that of the other two leagues.

Reasons given for the possible formation of a Babe Ruth League are the fewer numbers of boys wanting to play in Colt and Pony Leagues, and finances.

Babe Ruth players are ages 13, 14 and 15. The 16-year-olds would go into the American Legion League.

Officials hope to reach solutions to the questions posed at Monday meetings, but say they would like cross section representation of league officials and parents before making definite decisions.

house at Quannah. It is supposed that Quannah Parker gave the bottle to one of the white men there at the time the Indians made peace. The bottle probably belonged to one of the founders of the town.

Intricate decoration on the bottle was not a trademark of Quannah's tribe, however, and research shows that it was probably made by a tribe in Old Mexico.

Mrs. Hauk's bottles include many antiques and commemorative items. Her oldest include historical flasks dating into the early 1800's and possibly earlier.

These honored generals, early presidents, and the first railroads. They were the first bottles to be saved to preserve history.

Bottle collecting is fairly new. "People started collecting bottles when they saw that bottles were going out," Mrs. Hauk said. "Just think how many things come in plastic now."

Mrs. Hauk's collection includes wine decanters and two ladies' cut glass perfume flasks.

Oldest bottles in her collection are round-bottomed pop bottles and torpedo pop and sarsaparilla. When carbonated drinks were first made, they had to lay on their sides to keep the corks wet or they would blow their tops. The bottoms were round so that they couldn't be stood on end.

Early soda bottles had caps of hard composition with wire bails to hold them down. The stopper was whacked down into the neck of the bottle, causing a loud pop. "And that's where we got the term 'soda pop,'" Mrs. Hauk said, displaying one of these vintage bottles.

Mrs. Hauk buys, trades, and sells her bottles. "Well, I buy and trade," she amended, "when I get hold of old bottles, I hate to let them go."

"Bottle collecting is the most wonderful hobby in the world. It's so quiet and peaceful out. And so exciting when you find a really good bottle."

"After a day out looking for bottles, you really sleep at night. You don't need tranquilizers," Mrs. Hauk said.

One of the saddest things to Mrs. Hauk is for people to grow old and have no interests. "I do so many things, I don't do any of them well," she laughed, "but I sure have fun."

Two Hurt In Wreck At Anton

Mrs. Chloe Lambeth, 54, of Anton remains on the critical list in the intensive care ward of Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, and Lucy Jane Stoker, 21, of Wilson, "is doing fine" in Littlefield Hospital according to spokesmen from both hospitals.

Both are hospitalized as a result of injuries they received Thursday morning in a two-car wreck near the west edge of Anton.

Both were brought to Littlefield Hospital. Mrs. Lambeth was later transferred to Lubbock with lacerations and a head injury, according to Methodist Hospital officials.

Littlefield Hospital would not reveal the extent of injuries Miss Stoker received in the accident, but stated that "she is doing fine".

Miss Stoker was traveling toward Lubbock on U. S. 84 and Mrs. Lambeth was driving west across the intersection from FM597 when the accident occurred, according to investigating patrolman, Don Kuykendall of Levelland.

Both cars were heavily damaged.

Journey To The Past

BY EVALYN PARROTT SCOTT

THE BAKER STORE and filling station, and one gin, were the only businesses in Springlake when Bill and Myrtle Clayton moved there from Olney, Sept. 6, 1924.

Myrtle still resides on the home place one mile east of Springlake and has kept a diary of each year since her marriage, including those since moving to the Plains.

Although there were few people here when they arrived, what they lacked in numbers, they made up for in friendliness.

ACCORDING TO Mrs. Clayton, these days of hustle and bustle and beautiful landscaped homes, are quite different from the wide-open spaces and the howling of the coyotes of yesteryears.

States Mrs. Clayton, "The grandchildren now raid the refrigerator instead of coyotes raiding the chicken house".

W. T. (Bill) Clayton was born at Chico and was reared to the occupation of a farmer.

HE WAS SON of William Calvin Clayton, who was born June 17, 1867 in Anderson County. His mother was Rosie Angelina Williams Clayton. Bill attended school at Clara and enjoyed hunting and fishing.

Myrtle Chitwood Clayton was daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Chitwood. She was born in the Indian Territory, near Frederick, Okla.

Her father was superintendent of the Olney Division of the Texas Oil Company. HER FATHER, William Dallas Chitwood, was born April 7, 1875. Her mother, the former Carrie Ann Carter, was born in Champagne, Ill., and married Chitwood Sept. 17, 1899 at Ada, Okla. The Chitwoods lived on a land claim two and one-half miles south of Frederick in the County of Tillman. The Indian Territory became the Oklahoma state in 1907; a year after Myrtle Flora Chitwood (Mrs. Bill Clayton) was born.

William T. Clayton and Myrtle Chitwood were married Sept. 6, 1924, at Clara. W. T. Clayton died Sept. 15, 1960.

THE CLAYTON children were reared at Springlake and are Billy Wayne Clayton, born Sept. 11, 1928 at Olney; Ann Marie Clayton, born Nov. 11, 1931 at Olney; Donald Keith Clayton, born May 17, 1937 at Lubbock.

Billy Wayne, now a state representative, has received several honors and was named in the 1968 reference publications of Leaders in Texas, and in "Community Leaders in America".

Billy Wayne (Bill) married Delma Jean Dennis, March 10, 1950 at Temple. Their children are Brenda Jean and Thomas Wayne.

ANN MARIE CLAYTON married Donald Clarence Kelley, April 29, 1950 at Springlake. Their children are Anita Carol, Donita Sharral, and Connie Jo. The Kelleys reside at Earth.

Donald Keith Clayton, an outstanding civic worker at Springlake, married Mary Lee Drake, June 20, 1959 at Donna. Their children are Susan Marie, William Keith, and Sheryl Lynn. The Don Claytons reside at Springlake.

THE DIARY BILL CLAYTON assumed the responsibility of caring for his family at the age of 16. He and his family lived on the old Speck Ranch Headquarters and his father was a semi-invalid and was a victim of rheumatism.

He (Bill) accepted an offer from the Swastika Oil Syndicate to rough-neck on an oil rig on the Richardson Ranch in Archer County. Each employee was to receive shares if the well developed.

After long hard weeks the Swastika Discovery Well came in flowing. Bill Clayton took a cash settlement and went west Aug. 24, 1924 and bought a quarter section of land of the Ewing Halsell Ranch in Lamb County. The land was originally a division of the old XIT Ranch, where mavericks would ride over into the XIT pastures, find large unbranded calves, cut them off from their mothers and run them over to their homestead.

THERE EXISTED, up to a later date, in the region around Springlake pasture of the Halsell Ranch, traces of an old road leading to the springs (The origin of the name Springlake); and also the remains of an old rock house which was built by buffalo hunters.

The first school in the not yet organized county was in 1903 and was located three and one-half miles north of Olton, called Burro College.

The name Burro College stemmed from the fact more burros attended school than children, and the burros went regularly for 12 months a year, while the children only attended three months.

WHILE LIVING at Olney, before coming to the Plains, Bill Clayton, and brother, Floyd, went to Scotland in 1929 and bought eleven Jersey calves. The Clayton brothers branding iron, the Circle C, was made at an Olney Blacksmith shop and duly recorded.

Bill Clayton worked in the oil fields in different capacities during the first years of their married life.

Due to lay-offs in the oil field, Bill and Myrtle headed west to their 160 acres of sod. Their first home was five rooms with a bath, which had no fixtures. The lumber to build the house was hauled from Dimmitt.

THE YARD FENCE was of pipe brought from Olney and served a double purpose, as water was pumped through the pipe to fill the earthen tank to water the family garden.

The Claytons assisted in the organizing of the Eastern Star at Earth as well as the First Baptist Church of Springlake. On July 27, 1948, representatives of several churches of the West Plains, met in the Clayton home for the organizational meeting.

Rev. C.T. Jordan was called as the first pastor.

CHARTER MEMBERS

IN AUGUST of 1948 the Lamb County Pioneer organization was formed in Littlefield and Mrs. Clayton served a number of years as scrap book chairman.

PLUM TOWN

IN HER DIARY of 1949, Mrs. Clayton calls Springlake Poke and Plum town. Poke your head out the window and you were plum out of town.

In 1952-53 Bill Clayton served as a director of the Payne Shotwell Foundation and was a member of the school board of trustees.

W. T. Tanner was first mayor of Earth after the town was incorporated in 1955.

THE SPRINGLAKE and Earth Telephone Exchange was installed in 1956. This was the first in the area of its kind to be hooked on the National Intertoll Network, using the numerical system. The first three digits of the Springlake exchange are 968.

Bill W. Clayton was chairman of the committee that worked to secure the telephone service. J. J. Coker was another one who worked hard alongside of Clayton on this committee.

The first telephone call over the new network was made by Ralph Rudd, Springlake mayor, who called Marcus Messer at Earth. The Springlake Lions Club backed the movement for the telephone.

THE CITY WATER works were installed in Springlake in 1956.

Mrs. Clayton makes note that on Feb. 4, 1957 Sheriff Dick Dyer, served her with a warrant to serve on the jury duty.

The new Springlake Post Office was dedicated July 21, 1962.

The year 1960 was a very important one for Billy Wayne (Bill) Clayton, when he was appointed chairman of Lamb County Democratic Executive Committee, by Pat Boone, Sr.

REPRESENTATIVE Clayton seems to have been bitten by the political bug as a result of this and on Feb. 1, 1962, Bill Clayton announced he would be a candidate for State Representative of the 91st District. Clayton won the election over his Republican candidate, Mr. Ford. Clayton still holds this position.

Mrs. Clayton writes in her diary, that this is the first political office ever held in the Clayton family, as far as she knows.

Jan. 8, 1962, Bill Clayton took office and answered roll call.

TO FURTHER SECRECY In Use, Out Of Order Telephone Check Change

To further the secrecy of communications, changes have been made in handling requests to determine if a local telephone is in use or out of order.

The announcement of the change was made recently by G. F. Kehoe, District Manager for General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

"Extreme caution has always been taken by the telephone industry in honoring the secrecy of communications; however, as communications equipment and customers become more and more sophisticated, it becomes necessary to close any loopholes which come to our attention," Kehoe said.

"In the past, when a customer found a telephone number busy, he often requested an operator to determine if there conversation on the line have honored the request to be sure the telephone not unknowingly service," Kehoe explained.

"Under the procedure," Kehoe "the number can be determined if the conversation on the line indicates (1) that the urgent, or (2) an emergency and (3) wants a conversation interrupted. The name and telephone number of the person for the interrupted requested before an operator proceeds to interrupt conversation," Kehoe explained.

"Of course, if the some reason to believe the number is out of order, customer is still asked to notify the operator who have the number checked," Kehoe explained. "If trouble, it will be repaired service by operator."

Historically, up to 50 percent of all "assisted" calls to the operator—than placing a long distance call—are to determine if telephone is in use or out of order.

Kehoe emphasized the telephone company on every occasion, determine whether a line is in use or not. However, no information will be reported to repair service initiated by the customer.

Church Slates Lenten Service

The message of Lent is to Christianity, what a spring is to a watch, what a motor is to a car.

"Take the message of Christ's life, death and resurrection out of the Christian religion, and you have only a shell," said Rev. Philip Berry, pastor of St. Martin Lutheran Church.

During this season, St. Martin Lutheran Church is conducting Wednesday evening services at 7:30 p.m. The sermons have as a central theme, "We see Jesus..."

This Wednesday evening, March 12, at 7:30 p.m., the fourth in the series of Lenten Services will be held. Rev. Berry will speak about "We See Jesus... Seeking and Salvaging," based on Luke 19:10. "All are welcome to attend any of these services," Rev. Berry concluded.
