Reds Pour Across River; Allies Gain In The South

Yank Offensive Moves 10 Miles

By The Associated Press
TOKYO, Wednesday, Aug. 9.—North Korean troops poured across the allied Nakdong River defense barrier in Korea and bulged out two miles eastward on a 2,000-yard front Tuesday.

Gen. MacArthur's war summary, released at 11:30 p. m. Tuesday (7:30 a. m. CST) said the "possible threat from the small bridgeheads" across the river "has neither increased nor decreased."

Upwards of 9,000 Reds were reported over in two river crossings.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters in Korea said the two Communist bridgeheads were of "primary concern at present."

The two-day old American Marine and infantry offensive in the extreme south made small and bloody gains in day-long attacks.

Earlier it was bogged by Communist flanking that pocketed one Army unit for a while. U. S. Marines broke that up and freed Army men from the trap.

The offensive had gained 10 miles and was 10 to 12 miles east of Ch'nju, Red-held rubble city in the south.

The Red bridgeheads posed threats to allied forces at two places.

One was five miles north of Waegun, 15 miles northwest of Taegu, the provisional South Korean capital. The other was six miles south of Changyung, which is southwest of Taegu.

At least three Red regiments—9,000 men with probably more slipping across behind them in darkness—were over the river in the two spots. Frontline reports said one of eight tanks sighted had been ferried across the river by the Communists.

The front had exploded into three major battles.

The big one was northwest of Taegu.

Another flamed in the extreme south.

The third was at a Red bridgehead across the Nakdong near Changyung where fresh U. S. troops were ordered to destroy the river-crossers by Tuesday nightfall.

But after fighting part of the way up a ridge, the fresh counter-attacking U. S. 24th Infantry Division troops were stopped by stiff Red resistance.

At 8:45 p. m. Tuesday (4:45 a. m. CST) Maj. Gen. John E. Church told O. H. P. King of the AP the bridgehead could not be cleaned out that night. The general insisted the North Koreans there would be wiped out Wednesday, however.

He said close watch would be kept on the Changyung area to prevent further Communist crossings of the river.

One of Gen. MacArthur's intelligence officers estimated North Korean losses in six weeks were 44,500 men—an average of more than 1,000 a day in the six-week-old war.

When the fresh Army troops were thrown at the remnants of two regiments near Changyung two American Mustangs joined the attack and strafed the U. S. doughboys hitting 19 of them.

Col. Charles E. Beauchamp, commanding the 34th Infantry Regiment, ordered the Reds cleaned out and said their destruction would mean the "end of the Fourth Division as an enemy force."

The Changyung move had been against the war continuing oil operations on the tidelands.

Texas, Louisiana and California are the states most concerned.

The proposal would have the Interior Department take over state oil leases on the tidelands and impose the revenues in the treasury, pending the settlement of the state-federal dispute over the ownership of the offshore lands.

Colombia Taking Steps Against Any Cattle Disease

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 8 (AP)—The Colombian charge d'affaires, Guillermo Garabito Duran, said yesterday that Mexico plans to aid his country in taking precautions against the foot and mouth livestock disease.

U. S. OFFENSIVE DRIVE—U. S. troops in the first offensive drive in South Korea launched a three-pronged attack at the south end of their defense perimeter. Covering a 20-mile front and aimed at Ch'nju, the troops, mostly American, were making gains in excess of two miles toward their goal. At the central sector, U. S. 1st Cavalry Division was astride the Kumchon-Taegu road and rail corridor to Pusan. South of Yechon, at the north, South Korean units were meeting heavy Red pressure. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Expect 44th Soviet Veto At UN Meeting

By MAX HARRELSON
Associated Press Staff
LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 8.—Russia faced another United Nations rebuff on Korea today, but she was expected to strike back with her 44th veto.

Delegates were generally agreed on this as they prepared to open the second week of the Korean diplomatic battle at a session this afternoon of the 11-nation Security Council.

Whether the council would vote today or later in the week remained to be seen. If Russia followed last week's pattern, however, a lot more procedural wrangling appeared to be in prospect.

France Will Get First US Warships

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—France will get its first two U. S. warships under the foreign military aid program Aug. 12 at Philadelphia.

The two vessels are the 1,240-ton Destroyer Escorts Samuel F. Mills and Riddle, both in service in World War II.

French Ambassador Henri Bonnet will accept the ships from Rear Adm. R. E. Schulmann, commander of the Fourth Naval District.

In announcing the transfer today the Defense Department said the ships will be renamed the Arab and Kasyle.

France is the second country to get warships from the United States under the assistance program. Two destroyer escorts were transferred to The Netherlands on June 1. Eight more ships of the same class are now being loaded in American shipyards for early delivery to western European allies.

Congress May Get Sabotage Message

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—Speaker Rayburn said today President Truman may send an anti-sabotage message to Congress later in the day.

Rayburn made his announcement shortly after he and Vice President Barkley conferred with President Truman along with Senate Majority Leader Lucas and House Majority Leader McCormack.

Rayburn made his announcement after the President's message. "It deals with security, sabotage and Communists," the speaker told reporters.

He said the President probably will ask for additional legislation. "Will it look like the Mundt-Nixon bill?" a reporter asked. "I wouldn't think so," Rayburn replied, adding: "Not in its entirety."

The Mundt-Nixon bill, among other things, would require Communists and Communist fronts to register with the Justice Department. Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.) a member of the un-American Activities Committee, is sponsoring it in the house.

The measure is similar to the Mundt-Ferguson-Johnston bill pending in the Senate.

The Truman message apparently was to follow through on steps already taken to guard against sabotage.

The President on July 24 asked the American public to turn over to the FBI any information on spying, sabotage or other subversive activities.

House Delays Further Talk On Economy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—The House today postponed until at least tomorrow further debate on an economic controls bill while its banking committee worked on a compromise.

Speaker Rayburn told newsmen he hoped that the House would be in a position to resume consideration of the bill tomorrow. It already has spent almost a week on controls legislation without making any substantial progress.

Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) said the banking committee would meet again this afternoon to seek a common ground on which opposing factions could agree. He expressed hope that an agreement would be reached shortly.

Aid Is Rushed To Stricken Freighter

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (AP)—A U. S. Army transport today reached a stricken Norwegian freighter which is in danger of breaking up in a North Atlantic gale.

Coast Guard headquarters here said the Transport General J. H. McCrae would stand by the seaward S. S. Beltri until the Coast Guard Cutter Dextra arrived later today.

The crew, estimated at 30, attempted emergency repairs with wire and concrete. But the pumps of the vessel—a former American Liberty ship loaded with a cargo of heavy China clay—were at a disadvantage because the clay kept clogging her pump strainers.

Her radioed distress signal was picked up here last night by the Coast Guard.

The message said the ship had sprung a leak, needed help immediately, was going slowly, rolling heavily and shipping water. It said more cracks were feared and "everything depends on weather."

The messages were signed by her master, Capt. Avra Hansen.

The Coast Guard immediately ordered its own weather cutter, the Dexter, to race to the Beltri's position about 900 miles east and slightly north of St. Johns, Newfoundland.

It also put out a general alarm that sent at least three other ships speeding to the Beltri.

San Diego Girl Sets Swim Mark Across Channel

By The Associated Press
DOVER, Eng., Aug. 8.—Florence Chadwick, San Diego swimmer, conquered the English Channel today in record time but Shirley May France was forced to give up eight miles off shore.

Miss Chadwick, 31 and a professional swimmer, cut the women's record set by Gertrude Ederle in 1926. She made it in 13 hours 28 minutes, one hour and three minutes under the Ederle mark.

She swam to Dover from Cap Gris Nez, France, on a course of at least 22 miles and scrambled ashore through sea weed.

Thousands of persons lined the White Cliffs of Dover. Reporters asked Miss Chadwick if she was all right. "Yes," she said, "but these slippery, jagged rocks are not so good to scramble over after a long swim."

She actually did not touch dry land, at the end.

"A few feet from the shore line, under the 250-foot cliffs, she clambered into one of her rowboats. But no one doubted that she had finished her swim and made it one of the greatest in the history of channel attempts."

She was not far short—by channel swim standards—of the renowned men's record of 11:05 set by France's Georges Michel in 1926.

Miss Chadwick was the third American woman to make this crossing.

The others were Miss Ederle and Mrs. Milie Gade Carson, who crossed in 1925.

Shirley May France, the 17-year-old girl from Somerset, Mass., had been swimming 13 hours 46 minutes when she gave up. She was sobbing as she was pulled from the water, within sight of the white cliffs.

24 To Leave For Physical Exams Tomorrow

96 More Draftees To Follow Later On This Month

The first group of 24 men called for pre-induction physicals by Selective Service Board No. 71 will leave Wednesday morning for Amarillo, and 96 others will go to Amarillo and to Abilene in rapid-fire order later in the month.

The group leaving Wednesday represents the first call for pre-induction examinations received here in over a year and a half.

Thirty-six more men will go to Amarillo on Aug. 16, with two groups of 30 men each will go to Abilene on Aug. 21 and Aug. 29, respectively.

A new station for physical examinations is now being established in Abilene, and it will be ready for operation when the Aug. 21 group leaves.

The local board, which serves Howard, Martin, and Mitchell counties, expects to receive another call for 80 men to report for pre-induction examinations in September. Calls for actual induction have not been received, but they are expected between Sept. 18-22, and between Sept. 26-30.

Selective Service board officials cautioned that men called for pre-induction examinations should report when called can be declared delinquent, they warned. Delinquents can be inducted into the service without any further examination of any kind.

Traffic Control, Communications To Be Consolidated

Airport traffic control operations and airways communications at the Big Spring Municipal airport are to be consolidated by order of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, it was announced today.

Heretofore, the control tower and communications station have been operated as separate units. The order to consolidate is designed to reduce expenditures.

A similar order for consolidation was announced for the Brownsville airport and presumably others will be ordered in the future.

Down to Bottom Now

Marines May Ask More Men As All 80,000 Reserves Due Call

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—The fighting Marines are digging deep into their existing manpower resources and may call soon for authority to expand.

The corps announced plans yesterday to call up all their 80,000 volunteer reserves. This will give them an active strength of 200,000—and mobilization down to just about as far as they can go now.

However, Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee said Sunday he expects a request from the Defense Department in January for another military appropriation including $500 million to increase Marine Corps strength.

And Rep. Mansfield (D-Mont.) told the House yesterday that the corps should be kept permanently at a minimum of 300,000 men.

"The attempts which have been made to whittle the corps down to a guard outfit, though appropriations, must be stopped once and for all," Mansfield said.

The first 50,000 of the Marine volunteer reserves are to be ordered to active duty between Aug. 15 and Oct. 31. No mobilization date has been set for the remaining 30,000 organized ground reserve units already have been summoned to active duty. Some air reserve units went on active duty about three weeks ago and additional units are to be called up.

Some women reserves also are to be called but the Marines aren't sure how many.

There are 72,000 Marine regulars, 44,000 in the organized ground reserve, 7,000 organized reserve air units and 80,000 volunteer reserves. The volunteer reservist is not trained nor paid until called to active duty. The organized reservist trains regularly and is paid.

There were these other military developments:

1. The Coast Guard said it is trying to re-enlist former guardsmen and reservists, between the ages of 17 and 45, in the volunteer reserves. These can not be called to active duty without their consent, the Coast Guard said.

2. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, gave a House military subcommittee a progress report on the Army's tank program. The subcommittee chairman, Rep. Philip (D-Mass.) refused to comment on what Collins said.

3. President Truman got a 30-minute briefing from the joint chiefs of staff on the military situation. Normally Mr. Truman calls only on Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs, for his full-in on developments.

4. Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said he understands that "staggering" increase in defense spending has been planned. He called on Mr. Truman to let Congress in on what he has in mind.

NEW VA HOSPITAL

Formal Dedication Set For Sept. 10

Events were shaped up Monday evening for the program which is to mark the formal dedication of the Veterans Administration hospital here on September 10.

Gen. Carl R. Gray, Jr., administrator of veterans affairs, will be honor guest and principal speaker for the occasion. The program will be at 2 p. m. on Sept. 10, at the main entrance to the hospital building, and will be followed by an "open house" at the station for public inspection.

General Gray, accompanied by Mrs. Gray and members of his staff, is to arrive in Big Spring on the 9th, and will be guest of honor that evening at a dinner to be given by the chamber of commerce.

He will make an inspection of the hospital at 8 a. m. the 10th, then will speak at the dedicatory ceremonies after he attends church services.

The 2 p. m. program will be brief, and will be climaxed by flag raising ceremonies, to be handled by a color guard under command of Jack Cook. Music preceding the program will be by the Big Spring high school band.

Details for the affair are being arranged by Dr. L. B. Andrew, manager of the hospital, and members of his staff. Various organizations of the city are assisting, and include representatives as follows:

Mayor G. W. Dabney, County Judge John L. Dillreth, Jr., Police Chief Pete Green, A. Swartz, and J. H. Greene of the chamber of commerce, Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, pastors association; Mrs. Moree Sawtelle, Red Cross, Roger Miller, American Legion; Bill Griese, DAV, Glen Brown, VFW; T. C. Thomas, Spanish-American war veterans; J. W. 'Seoul City Sue' Is Tokyo Rose Of Korea War

U. S. 8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN KOREA, Aug. 8. (AP)—A Red Korean "Tokyo Rose" began propaganda broadcasts in wood American English last night from Seoul, Communist-held capital of South Korea.

Like the Tokyo Rose broadcasts of the Second World War, the aim is to undermine soldier morale.

Seoul's woman propagandist chided U. S. airmen for what she called "promiscuous bombing of schools and strafing of farmers." In honeyed tones she urged American soldiers to "return to your corner ice cream stores in the States."

A 58th Military Police Co. radio picked up the broadcast. Enlisted men immediately nicknamed her "Seoul City Sue."

The identity of the woman was not known here. She spoke with a slight accent that MP listeners could not identify.

Tokyo Rose—Iva Toguri d'Aquino—was one of six English-speaking Japanese women who broadcast over Radio Tokyo between 1943 and 1945. She was born in Los Angeles July 4, 1918. Last fall in San Francisco she was convicted of treason and sentenced to 10 years in prison and fined $10,000. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas signed an order Feb. 7 permitting Tokyo Rose's release on $50,000 bail pending appeal action.

Probe B-29 Plane Wreck For Clues To Explosion

FAIRFIELD-SUISUN AIR BASE, CALIF., Aug. 8. (AP)—Bits of B-29 wreckage were examined closely today for clues to a crash and explosion which cost 17 lives and injured 90 persons.

"If we can find in this debris some clue to the trouble, it may save future fliers from the same fate," said a high officer at this strategic base.

Any possibility of sabotage was discounted.

The bomb-laden superfort crashed Saturday midnight when the in-board No. 2 and 3 engines failed on the takeoff.

Flames burst out immediately as fire fighting crews poured water and chemicals; a monstrous explosion scattered blazing gasoline and plane debris over a wide area.

Most Arkansas Races Decided

LITTLE ROCK, Aug. 8. (AP)—Arkansas will renominate U. S. Sen. J. W. Fulbright, six congressmen and several state officials in today's second Democratic primary.

They are without opposition for the nominations which virtually assure election in heavily Democratic Arkansas.

Only two statewide races are on today's ballot, both for unexpired supreme court terms. They were sent to the second primary when one candidate received a majority vote in the July 25 preferential primary.

Gov. Sid McMath, Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon and State Treasurer J. Vance Clayton and Congressman Oren Harris won renominations by majority votes in the first primary.

Unopposed candidates for nomination include Congressmen E. C. Gathings, Wilbur Mills, Jim Trimble, Boyd Tackett, Brooks Hays and W. F. Norrell, Secretary of State C. G. Hall, Atty. Gen. J. E. Murry, and Supreme Court Justices Ed F. McFaddin and Minor Milwee.

Paul Ward of Batesville and R. B. McCulloch of Forrest City, are opponents for one unexpired supreme court term, Sam Robinson and Lefel Gentry, both of Little Rock, seek the other.

Also to be decided will be at least 53 seats in the Arkansas House of Representatives, eight state senate seats, and several other state offices and judgeships.

Sunny Skies Dot Most of The Nation

CHICAGO, Aug. 8. (AP)—Sunny skies and pleasant temperatures were promised wide areas of the country today.

The early morning forecast predicted near seasonal temperatures and fair weather from the southern Great Lakes to the New England states and southward to the eastern Gulf states. Fair weather also was forecast for the Far West. The Southwest and the Rio Grande Valley were the country's hot spots.

There were light showers early today over parts of Iowa, Missouri and Central Illinois. Thunderstorms were reported in the Lake Superior region and southern Rocky Mountain states. The heaviest rainfall was 1.60 inches in three hours last night at Kansas City.

Brother-Sister Dance Act Gives Spectators Thrill

CHICAGO, Aug. 8. (AP)—A brother and sister dancing act thrilled and chilled spectators at the Chicago fair last night at a free performance.

Betty and Benny Fox danced on an 18-inch platform 110 feet in the air. They performed alone and together. First Betty jumped rope. Benny then joined his sister in dances—the rhumba, waltz, and the Charleston—on the tiny spot in the sky.

There were cries of "don't do it" from the crowd as they went through a series of acrobatics.

The act, said by veteran showmen to be one of the most daring ever performed without safety devices, is scheduled four times daily in front of the grandstand of Frontiers of Freedom, the Fair's pageant.

The 1948-49 basketball season was the first in which Navy's opponents scored more than 1,000 points; the Middies made 1,064 to 1,054.

IDAHO PRIMARY

Voting Marked By Local Bitterness

By The Associated Press

Idaho voters are choosing nominees for two U. S. Senate seats today in primaries marked by local bitterness and national interest.

National attention was drawn to the race Sen. Glen Taylor, running mate on Henry Wallace's Progressive ticket in the 1948 presidential election, is making for Democratic renomination.

Interest was heightened, too, by the fact that both national political parties are hoping to pick up strength in the Senate when Idaho chooses between Republican and Democratic nominees next November.

There were also primaries today in Arkansas and Nebraska, but they drew comparatively little out-of-state interest.

The two Senate seats involved in the Idaho voting are those held by Taylor and by Republican Sen. Henry Dworshak. The race for the latter is for four years, as Dworshak is now serving by appointment following a vacancy caused by death.

Taylor's Democratic opponents for the six-year term are former Sen. D. Worth Clark and Rep. Compton I. White.

Running in the Republican primary for the six-year term nomination are Gov. C. A. Robins, Rep. John Sanborn and State Sen. Herman Walker.

Republicans, as well as former Sen. Clark, have accused Taylor of hobnobbing with Communist front organizations. Taylor, a former cowboy and tent-show actor, denied it. He declared himself back in the Democratic Party after his 1948 outing with Wallace's Progressives.

For the four-year term Dworshak is opposed for Republican nomination by former Rep. Abe McGreggor Goff and Fentress H. Kuhn. Democrats running for their party's nomination are F. M. Bistline, Claude J. Burtenshaw, Edwin M. Holden, Robert L. Summerfield, and Mrs. La Vera Swepe.

Idaho voters also are nominating candidates for two U. S. House seats and all state offices, including the governorship.

In Nebraska, there is no Senate contest this year. Val Peterson, Republican governor, is trying for a third-term nomination. Running for the Democratic governorship nomination in a wide open race are no fewer than five candidates. There are also primary contests for four House seats.

Cities' Growing Pains Bring Pain Over Additional Costs

As happens, sooner or later, to all growing cities, the good neighbor San Angelo has been having an outbreak of trouble over municipal tax rates and property valuations. Seems recent annexation of border areas (which gave San Angelo a big boost in the 1950 census) calls for extension of various facilities, which costs money.

Thousands of people, and then over-extend the city in providing water, sewer, fire and police protection that the new city residents deserve? Another lesson is that, regardless of annexation, growing municipalities like San Angelo everywhere are confronted with tremendous money outlays to keep pace with populations' need in municipal services.

Working With Strange Allies Part Of U. S. Soldier's Task

It was a minor battle, but in a United States mortar detachment and a force of South Korean infantry together turned back a North Korean assault. The fact that these two bodies of troops proved they could work together effectively may be much more important, as the field correspondent remarked, than the engagement itself.

Fighting proceeds, military men declare themselves impressed with the staying qualities of the South Korean when he has weapons. If Americans are to play worthily the role they have in world leadership, they must learn to understand, respect, and appreciate people whose backgrounds and equipment are not just the same as their own. These are values not apparent to the naked eye.

Soldier Pay And Allowances Vary Above Rank Of Private

WASHINGTON, (AP)—THIS IS AN EXPLANATION of the pay and allowances men in the armed services get. The Army will be used as an example. Comparable grades in the other branches get the same.

Corporal—at this time—is considered to have no dependents. In almost all cases the government feeds, clothes and houses him. But, if lodging isn't provided for him, he gets $45 to pay for his housing. The same is true for any corporal with less than seven years' service.

TAKE THE MONTHLY PAY OF THE non-commissioned men first— Recruit, $75; recruit after four months, $80; private, $82.50 to $120; private first class, $95.55 to $147; corporal, $117.60 to $191; sergeant, $139.65 to $227; sergeant first class, $169.05 to $249; master sergeant, $198.45 to $294.

THE WARRANT OFFICERS AND COMMISSIONED OFFICERS of all ranks get a flat government allowance of $21 a month for food, if single, and $42 if married. All warrant and commissioned officers get a government allowance for lodgings, whether married or single. The amount varies by rank.

Group Probing War Effort Fulfills Conditions Truman Laid Down In '42

WASHINGTON.—Congressional policing of the new war effort began with the appearance of defense Secretary Louis Johnson before the Senate Armed Services investigating subcommittee, the chairman of which is Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

is notably nonpartisan on vital questions like defense and incidentally is one of the best-liked men in the Senate. Senator Morse is famously independent. The three Democrats can be counted upon for full cooperation. The Johnson committee thus fulfills the conditions Senator Truman laid down when he approached Majority Leader Barkley in 1942 in behalf of the Truman resolution. Mr. Truman said the investigation ought to be made while the war was going on and made by people friendly to what the administration was trying to accomplish.

Atom Energy Is Not The Only New Power Being Developed

Despite all the interest in atomic energy in recent years and innumerable conjectures as to its potential use, other sources of power haven't gone unnoticed and undeveloped. On the contrary, a couple of completely new sources of energy are now being tapped. This was revealed when scientists from some 30 nations set down their iron curtains for discussions at the Fourth World Power conference held in London recently.

Britain seems to be taking the lead in harnessing the power of the wind. Reverting to the almost-forgotten windmill principle, English researchers are working on an unorthodox machine. As a three-bladed wheel is turned in the wind, air is drawn from suction tubes extended to the ground. As it passes through the tubes, the air spins a turbine which is coupled to a generator.

Red China Shows Ambition To Extend Dominion, Influence

SHOULD WASHINGTON DECIDE TO reverse the policy of no arms aid to the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa, that would fit a widespread western belief that Red China must be restrained from aggressive adventures. Ives Gives Up Attempt To Get Dewey To Run For Third Term

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8. — Sen. Ives (R-NY) said today he has given up attempts to convince Thomas E. Dewey that Dewey ought to run for a third term as governor of New York.

"I think the governor has made up his mind to retire to private life and I'm afraid nobody can change his decision," Ives told a reporter.

Ives said he thinks Joseph Hanley, 74-year-old lieutenant governor, is almost certain to be the Republican nominee for governor. The New York senator added that the senatorial race seems to be "completely up in the air."

Dewey's action in turning over his August speaking engagements to Hanley and in lending the lieutenant governor the services of his secretary and campaign publicity director, James Hagerty, has been interpreted as a sign he will quit.

A reported scramble among eligible Republicans for the lieutenant governor nomination, to run on the ticket with Hanley, apparently will delay any decision on the senatorial race until shortly before the GOP state convention in September.

Several Republicans considered eligible for the senatorial nomination also are on the available list for the lieutenant governor race and some apparently are more interested in the state than the national office.

New York is one of the states singled out by Republicans in their drive to pick up the seven seats they need to wrest control of the Senate from the Democrats in the November election.

Some New York Republicans apparently think they would have a better chance of carrying the state and putting a senatorial nominee across if Dewey ran again. They have been sponsoring a draft-Dewey drive.

Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY) is assured of Democratic and Liberal Party nomination in the senatorial race. The Democratic choice for governor still is up in the air.

Republicans gave some signs, meanwhile, of adding Oklahoma to the list of states where they will put on big scale efforts to knock off Democratic senators.

GOP leaders have announced they will bring the Rev. Bill Alexander, their senatorial nominee, to Washington later this month for conferences with party officials.

Alexander, pastor of an Oklahoma City church, quit the campaign for the Democratic senatorial nomination to switch to the Republican race and win it.

The 1st Republican senator elected from Oklahoma, Ed Moore, made the same sort of party switch before he won in 1942.

Alexander will be opposing Rep. Mike Monroney, who whipped Sen. Elmer Thomas in two primary battles to win the Democratic nomination.

Harriman Gets Optimistic Talk From MacArthur

TOKYO, Aug. 8. (AP) — W. Averell Harriman is flying to Washington with an optimistic report to President Truman on the Korean war.

The President's special assistant and adviser on foreign affairs carried this last-minute message from Gen. MacArthur:

"Tell the President not to worry. We are confident."

MacArthur gave his reasoning words as Harriman and his party boarded a military transport plane. On a three-day visit, Harriman conferred at length with MacArthur and visited the Korean war front. He also talked with President Syngman Rhee of South Korea and Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, U. S. Eighth Army commander in Korea.

Behind Lines Thrust Is Not Likely Now

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Reporter
WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Lack of manpower and, to some degree, transportation apparently precludes any early, large-scale effort to upset the Korean Red army by amphibious or airborne invasion behind the lines.

Nevertheless, military men here are not disposed to rule out the possibility that the (new) tactics for use in Korea of the sea-air invasion technique that helped win World War II campaigns in both Europe and the Pacific islands.

Nor does it mean there won't be more forays by small groups landing from ships for demolition and scouting purposes along the enemy-held coastlines of Korea.

The departure from American West Coast ports of units of the 1st Marine Division led to a widespread expectation on the home front that a spectacular landing was imminent. The Marine's reputation as amphibious landing specialists presumably gave rise to the expectation. Instead, the brigade landed quietly at a South Korean port, then moved to the front to take up positions with troops already in battle.

Whatever the military or psychological value of putting a big force behind the enemy now — to divert some of his attack force to beachhead defenses — the odds are weighted heavily against it. Every man with a gun in the Far East zone seems to be needed badly to hold the defense line. There are no troops to spare or withdraw from the front.

Because the Pacific war was waged almost entirely by a series of amphibious landings, there are presumed to be a fair supply of landing ships and craft in Gen. MacArthur's command. But it is doubtful that numbers and specialized types needed for a substantial effort — a division or more — are immediately at hand and ready for service.

On the other hand, the amount of available naval and air units needed to provide gunfire and air cover for a landing already is comparatively large.

The U. S. Navy, together with ships of the British fleet assigned to the Korean war, daily dump huge tonnages of shellfish on enemy targets, in addition to bombs dropped by carrier aviation. The American naval force alone now evidently numbers several score ships ranging from carriers through cruisers to destroyers and submarines.

Some speculation over the possible use of airborne invasion has arisen out of the fact the United States has two airborne divisions in this country, the 82nd and the 11th. The 82nd was described before the outbreak of the Korean war as far-nearer wartime strength and general readiness for action than any of the five Army divisions then in the United States.

However, here there is the problem of transportation. It takes a great fleet of planes to move an airborne division of 12,000 to 18,000 men.

For the assault phase alone (the business of getting combat troops to the area where they will drop) it is estimated that about 800 C-52 "flying boxcars" or their equivalent are needed. For the resupply phase and the continuing requirement for resupplying the "airhead" with food, ammunition and replacements more than 2,000 planes are required. The number of planes especially built for airborne operations now in use by the Air Force is considerably smaller than that total.

In addition to menacing an enemy from the rear of his attacking force, one of the major values of an amphibious or airborne invasion is to stop the flow of supplies to the enemy front (the military calls it "interdiction.") At this stage, the United Nations forces are relying on tactical and strategic air attacks by both land and carrier based planes to carry out the effort to cut supply lines.

Amphibious experts look upon Korea as neither too good, nor too bad for landings.

The West Coast has several logical areas for landings, with flat country and fair beaches or harbors. However, Yellow Sea tides have wide ranges, adding difficulties in timing and selection of beach areas for going ashore.

The east coast tidal range is much more moderate. But there the beaches and reefs would be more of a problem than on west. There is another disadvantage in an east coast landing: The north-south ridge of mountains rises sharply from the sea, meaning that an amphibious invasion force would be confronted with natural enemy fortifications and would have to work its way westward, laterally, across the ridge lines.

F-80 Jets Hit Railroad Yards In Seoul Area

TOKYO, Aug. 8 (AP)—American F-80 jets roared down over Seoul today and shot up rail yards at the key transportation hub.

One squadron scored several hits on a pontoon bridge across the Han River, the Far East Air Forces summary said. It also strafed anti-aircraft positions.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said the Red Korean flak was the heaviest and most accurate of the war.

Seoul was hit yesterday by B-29s. Fighter planes smashed Red Korean battle lines and communications on the southern front in support of the American offensive.

The biggest B-29 strike was a 450-ton bomb load dumped on the arsenal and rail yards at Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

A smaller B-29 force punished Wonsan, east coast industrial area, with 80 tons of bombs.

A Far East Air Forces summary said a total of 550 sorties were made by all types of planes, including cargo carriers. The Fifth Air Force said its pilots contributed 419 of the sorties, 366 of them combat missions.

Navy Corsairs, Panthers and Skyraiders flew 203 sorties. Supporting ground troops, they rocketed and machinegunned enemy communications and other targets.

Marine fighter pilots operated in the Chinju area on the southern front. They reported destroying 40 vehicles and a tank near Pansong, a road junction east of Chinju. The Leatherneck fliers also strafed troop concentrations in nearby villages.

Bombers from two Essex-class carriers reported four direct hits on the vital West Seoul bridge.

Around Kimpo airfield, northwest of Seoul, the Navy pilots said they ran into "professional anti-aircraft fire."

In the past three days, the Fifth Air Force said, five F-51 Mustang pilots were lost. One was lost Monday in an attack on a North Korean position.

Diving For Balls, Boy Finds Bicycle

CHICAGO, Aug. 8 (AP)—Carl Baldwin, 15, who gets his spending money by diving into Montrose Harbor and recovering lost golf balls, hit the jackpot yesterday. He found a bicycle.

On his second dive into 10 feet of water, Carl sighted a red and white bike at the bottom of the harbor. His brother, Charles, Jr., helped him get it to the surface.

Police Capt. Thomas Kelly told Carl he can have the bike in a few days—if no one claims it at the town hall police station.

Other volunteer firemen helped Russel extinguish the flames.

Fire Chief Frank Morgan estimated the loss at $2,500.

Marooned Cowboy Rides Atop House

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff
The lighter side of Texas news: During the flood at Wichita Falls, Red Cross volunteer workers spotted a barefoot man marooned atop a house and quickly hustled out to rescue him. As they approached the house, however, he waved a bottle at them and shouted: "I'm going to ride it out right here." The rescue team tried to argue but finally gave up and left him—and the bottle—in peace.

Robert Lee Fain, 21, of Houston, got out of the Marines—and then back in again, so he could get into the Korean fight. A Fin was stationed at Corpus Christi as a paymaster sergeant. When his enlistment ran out the other day, he decided not to re-enlist at Corpus Christi, feeling he would go on being a paymaster sergeant there. So he calmly took a discharge went home to Houston, and re-enlisted for six years. Now he's headed for a California camp, and—he hopes—points west.

A Denton merchant, Six Maples, went out to a man's home to see him about a forged check the fellow had passed at the merchant's store. Even as Maples rang the doorbell, the culprit was down at the store, trying to cash another forged check. A deputy sheriff jailed him. And at Wichita Falls City Detective O. B. Mullins was taking a deeply personal interest in a case. He was after a guy who slammed him with a chair at a wrestling match — inflicting scalp lacerations.

Post office workers at Sunny Valde announced that they like for post office box holders to come get their mail these hot days. Opening of the boxes creates a cooling draft between the outer lobby of the post office and the rear of the building, where the postal clerks labor.

At Waco William Kirks of Brownwood was hit by a car as he ran to catch a bus. Despite a leg injury, he went on and caught the bus.

In the city clink at Denton, a prisoner named Eugene Manasco tore out the plumbing in his cell on the second floor of the city hall. In 30 minutes water was an inch deep on the second floor and was cascading down to the first floor. The mayor's office, directly below the jail, was badly damaged. City officials, firemen and policemen battled water for two and one-half hours. After the cleanup, Manasco was placed in another cell. Promptly, he tore out the plumbing.

Judge Must Pay For Laughing

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8 (AP)—The judge who had the mechanic jailed for laughing is going to have to pay for the privilege.

Superior Judge Samuel Blake ruled that Justice of the Peace Stanley Moffatt of Huntington Park must pay John G. Frazier, who laughed and chuckled a waitress under the chin while Moffatt was eating his lunch.

Frazier was acquitted of disturbing the peace and Moffatt was defeated for re-election afterward.

Frazier sued for false arrest and asked for $100,000 damages. Judge Blake ruled Friday that Frazier is entitled to damages but that he'll have to consider how much.

"Judicial immunity was never intended to extend to a judge eating his lunch in a public restaurant," Judge Blake ruled.

Judge Moffatt, testifying about Frazier's laugh, said: "It was like a war whoop or the braying of a jackass."

Texan Is Pilot Of Plane That Sank 10,000 Ton Ship

TOKYO, Aug. 8 (AP)—A light American bomber piloted by a Texan scored a direct hit on a 10,000-ton North Korean transport in Inchon harbor Friday, General MacArthur's headquarters reported today.

The pilot of the B-26 was First Lt. Billy M. Jones of Eastland, Texas. The Air Force said First Lt. Kenneth J. Appel, of Milwaukee, made the successful strike.

In the flight were four B-26s. Pilots told of several small boats around the transport, loading cargo for North Korean forces ashore.

Capt. Francis B. Clark, a jet pilot from Grand Rapids, Mich., said he saw the transport lying on its side as he left the area.

Most of New York City's water comes from the Catskill Mountains.

Are you getting paid on payday?

IF YOU'RE LIKE MOST OF US when payday rolls around, you're just the middleman between the paymaster and a stack of bills.

What's left over on the second of the month wouldn't buy a ticket in the penny arcade.

And when you come right down to it, it's only what's left over that you can call your own.

That's the folding green that buys the kind of life you're really working for. A home, a car, financial security when you turn in the key to the office... all these things you have to provide.

Millions are providing for this kind of worry-free life by regular purchases of United States Savings Bonds. (For every $3 you put in, you get back $4 at the end of ten years or when Bonds mature.)

It's automatic, painless and safe. Sign up for a Bond a month today on the automatic Payroll Savings Plan. You'll never miss it on payday. You'll have it when the paydays stop. If you're not on a payroll, buy a Bond a month at your local bank.

Start now—getting paid on payday!

What a wonderful bargain!

For five days Mrs. J. E. Brasco kept an accurate record of all the telephone calls she made and received - and here's just a sample of the shopping she did and the steps she saved. Altogether, she carried on 44 telephone conversations, figures they cost her less than 2¢ each and covered a total of 183 miles.

"I don't know where you'd get a bigger 2¢ worth," she comments. "My telephone keeps me in touch with my family and friends, helps me run my household, and it's always there to call for help in an emergency. Thanks for a wonderful bargain!"

Thank you, Mrs. Brasco, for your kind words. We are working constantly on technical improvements so you can hear better, get your calls through quicker, enjoy more trouble-free service. Every year we're adding new telephones so that you can call more people, more people can call you. Our aim is to give you the best possible bargain today... and to keep it growing in value every year. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Friday—Felicia called. Some good buys advertised in morning paper.

Saturday—Evening paper wasn't delivered. Complained to circulation department. 3 miles to their office.

Giants' Surge Talk Of NL; Phillies Win

By JOE REICHER
BP Sports Writer

Remember the date — July 20, 1950. It may go down in baseball history as the day the New York Giants began their amazing uphill climb that brought them a pennant.

A fantastic pipe dream? Maybe. Stranger things have happened, though. Remember the Boston Braves in 1914. They dug themselves out of a deeper rut to win the flag and the World Series.

Win or lose, the Giants' sensational run of 16 victories in 17 games since that momentous day is one of the high spots of the season.

How and why the streak got underway is one of the top sports stories of the year. It developed from a brainchild of Manager Leo Durocher.

On July 19, the Giants had absorbed a couple of unmerciful drubbings at the hands of the St. Louis Cardinals. After taking an 18-4 thumping in the afternoon, they came back to suffer a 10-3 loss at night to sink deeper into sixth place. That made it 13 defeats in their last 14 games.

The weary and groggy Giants dragged their feet into the clubhouse fully prepared for a typical Durocher tongue-lashing. It never came.

"Go out," he said, "and have fun. I don't care what you do or when you get back. The curfew is lifted. Just make sure you show up at the ball park tomorrow."

The result? Sixteen victories in the next 17 games.

It looked like the Giants might drop one last night. They spotted the Braves a 3-1 lead in the first inning but roared back with a 14-hit attack to whip Boston, 9-3.

The triumph boosted the high-flying Giants to within two and a half games of the fourth place Cards, who were buried under a 9-0 score by the pace-setting Philadelphia Phils. They were the only games played in the majors yesterday.

The results left the National League pennant picture looking like this: The Phils lead the field by four games. The Braves are in second place, a half game in front of the Dodgers. The Cards are five and a half games out. The Giants, a new contender, trail by eight games.

Monte Kennedy started for the Giants but it was Jack Kramer who picked up the victory. The veteran righthander did a splendid relief job, holding the Braves scoreless after relieving Kennedy in the first.

Ken Johnson, a Cardinal discard, hung the shutout over his former mates. Making his first start since July 4, the lefthander throttled the Redbirds with two hits. He walked six and fanned the same number.

Gonzales Blanks Roswell Rockets By 3 To 0 Count

ROS WELL, N. M., Aug. 8. — Luis Gonzales hurled his finest game of the season as he blanked the Roswell Rockets, 3-0, here Monday night.

In achieving his 11th mound success of the campaign, the dapper righthander set the hard hitting Rockets down with four safeties. Only in the first inning was he in trouble.

In that round, the Rockets loaded the sacks with two out but Gonzales forced Ed Kenna to roll out, ending the threat.

The Hosses combed the offerings of Fred Parker, newly acquired righthander, for eight blows. Ray Vasquez and Jorge Lopez leading the offensive with two each.

Big Spring scored all its runs in the fourth. Vasquez and Danny Concepcion singled to put runners on first and third. Lopez hit a one-baser after Pat Stacey forced Concepcion at second base and Vasquez raced across. Stacey immediately came home when Johnny Jones, Rocket center fielder, let the ball get through him. Gabe Castaneda followed with a single that plated Lopez.

Gonzales struck out eight and walked but four. After the first round, Luis faced only 27 batters. His mates helped him along by turning in three double plays.

The two teams wind up their series here tonight, after which the Cayuses head for home to tangle with the Vernon Dusters Wednesday night.

Big Spring has now won three of its six road games and maintains a 3 1/2 game bulge over San Angelo in the battle for fourth place in the standings.

Red Cross-Herald's Life Saving Course Gets Underway At Pool

Today is the last day for enrollment in life saving courses to be sponsored jointly by the Red Cross and the Herald. Olen Puckett, director, reminded.

First instructions will begin at 6 p.m. today at the City park swimming pool. It will be possible to enroll after the opening date, but late registrants probably will be handicapped.

Simultaneous courses in both junior and senior life saving will be offered. Puckett said the courses are practical for everyone, and they fit especially well into the Boy Scout program. Scouts who successfully complete the junior course automatically qualify for their life saving merit badges.

Puckett, who has conducted previous courses here, is well experienced in swimming and life-saving work. He has taught such courses in public schools of Fort Worth, at Texas Wesleyan college and at several summer camps in the state.

Registrations for the course here will be accepted at the Herald, or registrants may report to Puckett personally.

Ten days of instruction will be given. The courses are scheduled to close on Aug. 18.

ROSSON TAMES PAMPA OILERS By 12-2 Count

LAMESA, Aug. 8. —Eulis Rosson pitched the Lamesa Lobos to a 12-2 triumph over the WT-NM pace-setters, the Pampa Oilers, in the first of a four-game series played here Monday night.

In posting his 18th win of the season, Rosson bested Roy Parker, Pampa's ace leftie, the WT-NM circuit's only 20-game winner to date. The loss was his ninth.

Jodie Beeler paced the Lamesa attack by driving out his 20th homer of the season. In addition, he had two singles and a double in four official trips.

The Oilers escaped a shutout when Deck Woldt hit a round tripper in the third and Joe Fortin and Virgil Richardson put together singles in the sixth. Fortin eventually scored on a passed ball.

The two teams play a double header starting at 7 o'clock this evening.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

The Big Spring Broncs' inability to sacrifice has at no time been so glaring as it has the past week or two.

There was a time the Steeds could afford to throw all caution to the winds and play for the big inning. However, the locals don't boast the booming guns they have had in the past and there has been all too many occasions in recent games a run or two might have made the difference between victory and defeat.

Laying the ball down properly is an art but it can be mastered by practice.

TEXAS ATHLETES FAVORED BY CLIMATE

A George W. Gove of DePaul university and an organization called the Biography Research Service have brought forward a report to show that what a person amounts to is all a matter of geography.

And what does that have to do with sports, you ask? Well, climate, Gove says, gives the southern states a far longer sports season and has made the South and Southwest a reliable source of baseball, golf, and swimming talent.

Texas, according to the survey, is the most versatile sports state of all. It has produced baseball's Rogers Hornsby, golf's Byron Nelson, tennis' Wilmer Allison, track's Charlie Paddock, and golf's Babe Didrikson.

Some 21 percent of great Texans are great in sports (quoting the survey), compared to only 4 1/2 percent in literature, 2 1/2 percent in industry and 8 percent in politics.

To the West, the area around Los Angeles and Long Beach produces great tennis players. North of Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma have produced a big crop of baseball pitchers.

Further north, Minnesota turns out top college football coaches. New York is the cradle of prize fighters.

The service implies it just didn't happen that way, that weather was the contributing factor.

ROS WELL WILL PROBABLY HOST ALL-STARS

From all indications, Roswell will stage the 1951 Longhorn league all-star game.

The classic was conducted at San Angelo last month, and with great success. Angelo also hosted the show in 1949 and did right well by the league treasury. However, it is said President Bill Guinn and his Angelo cohorts favor giving some other club a chance to stage the event, for the game does entail a lot of work and the Angelo crowd of course, has been saddled with most of the chores surrounding the game's promotion for the past two years.

Big Spring is eligible to stage the show, but hasn't the facilities to handle it. Neither has Midland. Odessa did it three years ago and Ballinger before that. Roswell appears to be the logical choice. Sweetwater and Vernon have expressed no interest in the venture.

Big Spring hurlers have been walking all too many batters of late but they're not in a class by themselves in that respect.

Too many Annie Oakleys are being issued by pitchers everywhere. Longhorn league hurlers had issued nearly 4,000 walks when the latest averages were released, and the season still has a month to go.

Perhaps a bigger strike zone is needed. Perhaps less experimenting by pitchers on the hill and more reliance on that high, hard one is the answer. We've always thought, too, hurlers take too much time away from their work. They should warm up in the bull pen from time to time, even though they're not due to work.

Ed Furgol Has 2 Stroke Lead In Chi Meet

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN AP STAFF

CHICAGO, Aug. 8. — Ed Furgol today was on the track of his first major title in six years of matching shots on the tournament circuit.

He led the field by two strokes with 211 — five under par — into the final round of the $15,000 All-American Meet at Tam O'Shanter.

First prize is $2,500 — a jackpot which would boost 1950 earnings for the lame-armed player from Poyal Oak, Mich., nearly twofold if he wins.

Five others far down the financial list also are contending in the "poor man's shutdown."

At 213 are Skip Alexander, the Knoxville, Tenn., better who has spent one year nursing his game back to health, and Dave Douglas, the human one-iron from Newark, Del.

At 214 is young Fred Hawkins, the center from El Paso, Tex. Included in the 215 bracket is Skee Riegel of Tulsa, who turned pro last winter and is still seeking his first win.

Also at 215 are two high-ranking cash collectors who are capable of mighty stretch drives — Bobby Locke and Lloyd Mangrum. Only one stroke behind them is Sam Snead, the top money winner who has haggled most of his greenbacks with sensational final round finishes.

Mangrum, the defending All-American champion, spent into contention yesterday with a 68 while Furgol, Alexander and Locke posted 69's in all 12 pros broke 70 in the field of 76 after the greens had been watered and the pins placed in more orthodox spots.

Furgol is the sentimental favorite. He has overcome a handicap that would have forced a lot of fellows to play croquet instead of undertaking a career of golf against the nation's best.

"I'm just a 33-year-old guy with a lot of mileage and a crooked arm," says the personable gent who has averaged 71.41 strokes through 78 competitive rounds this season.

He has had to groove a swing with tremendous body action to compensate for his shriveled left arm, the result of a fall from a playground climbing bar when he was 12.

Furgol won the All-American amateur title at Tam O'Shanter in 1944 and soon afterward turned pro. He finished third in the 1947 All-American pro and collected $3,300, his biggest single money win.

But since he started playing for pay he never has won outright any regulation PGA tourney, although trying twice for minor titles on the circuit.

Carpenter Sparks Quaker City Nine

By FRANK ECK

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8. — Rich young Robert Rulph Morgan Carpenter, Jr., could have been a doctor, lawyer, engineer or anything his heart desired. Instead he decided to run a baseball club.

Today Bob Carpenter is president of the surprise team in the hot National League pennant race, the Philadelphia Phillies. He's president not only because he could buy a stock but because he made a go of it in the minors.

But he more than owned the Phillies. He is general manager without portfolio, a member of the four-man National League board of directors and one of the hardest working club presidents in the big leagues.

Normally, Bob would be getting about $50,000 a year as president but he never has paid himself a cent in salary since he became boss man in November, 1943.

While the majors have a handful of presidents who work without pay, none puts in the hours like Carpenter, who drives daily from Wilmington to Philadelphia. The only time he misses a Phillies home game is when he's off looking over major league talent. He is baseball's youngest president and its most undervalued executive.

However, he doesn't feel badly about it. It has been reported that he's worth $40,000,000. About that Bob says:

"That's ridiculous. People want to read what the club does, not how much money the owner has. It's whether your team wins or loses that counts."

One glance at the National League standings shows that his efforts are paying off, especially when you consider that the Phillies team is the only one to show an attendance gain this season.

The Phillies have won only one pennant, that back in 1915, thanks to a 3.22 earned run average and 31 pitching victories by Grover Cleveland Alexander. Carpenter feels it's about time for their second pennant.

"We've got a good chance," he says. "We'll have a better chance if the team plays every day. A young team needs experience and it gets better as it goes along."

The 34-year-old son of Mrs. Margaret duPont Carpenter and the late R. M. Carpenter, Sr., can't recall when he first became baseball conscious.

However, his baseball mentor was the late Herb Pennock, picture southpaw who won 238 American League games in 22 seasons. Merb died from a stroke two years ago while he and Bob were walking into a National League meeting in New York. A large portrait painting of Pennock hangs in Carpenter's office at 15th and Chestnut.

Herb lived at Kennett Square and Bob at Montchanin, Del., a Wilmington suburb, 12 miles away, and they were pals from way back.

"In the summer of 1928 when I was only 13, Herb took me on a western trip with the Yankees," says Bob proudly. "A few years later during Herb's first season as a Red Sox executive, I made a western swing with Boston."

Sixteen years later they became business associates although they were like father and son. Bob's first official step as Phillie president was to make Pennock his general manager.

Herb was farm director for the Red Sox and under baseball law Bob had to get permission from Owner Tom Yawkey to talk business with Pennock. Yawkey willingly released Pennock from his Boston contract so he could become general manager of the Phillies.

With Carpenter and Pennock pulling the strings, the Phillies grew from a "one-club farm system" at Wilmington, Carpenter's first team, into a 15-team chain.

"We're down to 12 teams now," says the blue-eyed executive. "After all I believe in an expanding and contracting system to meet the number of players at our command."

Carpenter, a 215-pound ex-athlete, credits Herb Pennock with much of the foundation for the new Phillies. He is too modest to claim credit for himself. It was Herb who brought Joe Rendon in as director of their minor league chain, points out Carpenter, and it was Herb who, during his minor league travels, became acquainted with Eddie Sawyer, manager of the Yancey farm team at Birmingham, N. Y., and now manager of the Phillies. With the season not yet half over and with less than two years experience in the major, Sawyer is being mentioned as "the manager of the year."

"Give Bob all the credit," says Sawyer. "He has given me the type of players necessary to play winning baseball."

Carpenter first hit the sports pages back in 1936-7 as a star end at Duke University. He married one of the prettiest girls in Wilmington, Mary Kaye Phelps, and they now have three children, Robert 3rd, 10, Mary Kaye, seven, and Keith, one.

After leaving Duke, Carpenter worked in the duPont Wilmington headquarters for two years. His work was in public relations but Bob always one to belittle his own efforts, describes his job as "cleaning waste baskets, mailing letters and running errands for the boss."

In 1940 Carpenter backed two fighters and promoted fights at Wilmington Park, the field his father built at a cost of $150,000. Bob also owned the Wilmington Bombers, an American Basketball League team, for three years.

Carpenter Sparks Quaker City Nine

By FRANK ECK

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8. — Rich young Robert Rulph Morgan Carpenter, Jr., could have been a doctor, lawyer, engineer or anything his heart desired. Instead he decided to run a baseball club.

Today Bob Carpenter is president of the surprise team in the hot National League pennant race, the Philadelphia Phillies. He's president not only because he could buy a stock but because he made a go of it in the minors.

But he more than owned the Phillies. He is general manager without portfolio, a member of the four-man National League board of directors and one of the hardest working club presidents in the big leagues.

Normally, Bob would be getting about $50,000 a year as president but he never has paid himself a cent in salary since he became boss man in November, 1943.

While the majors have a handful of presidents who work without pay, none puts in the hours like Carpenter, who drives daily from Wilmington to Philadelphia. The only time he misses a Phillies home game is when he's off looking over major league talent. He is baseball's youngest president and its most undervalued executive.

However, he doesn't feel badly about it. It has been reported that he's worth $40,000,000. About that Bob says:

"That's ridiculous. People want to read what the club does, not how much money the owner has. It's whether your team wins or loses that counts."

One glance at the National League standings shows that his efforts are paying off, especially when you consider that the Phillies team is the only one to show an attendance gain this season.

The Phillies have won only one pennant, that back in 1915, thanks to a 3.22 earned run average and 31 pitching victories by Grover Cleveland Alexander. Carpenter feels it's about time for their second pennant.

"We've got a good chance," he says. "We'll have a better chance if the team plays every day. A young team needs experience and it gets better as it goes along."

The 34-year-old son of Mrs. Margaret duPont Carpenter and the late R. M. Carpenter, Sr., can't recall when he first became baseball conscious.

However, his baseball mentor was the late Herb Pennock, picture southpaw who won 238 American League games in 22 seasons. Merb died from a stroke two years ago while he and Bob were walking into a National League meeting in New York. A large portrait painting of Pennock hangs in Carpenter's office at 15th and Chestnut.

Herb lived at Kennett Square and Bob at Montchanin, Del., a Wilmington suburb, 12 miles away, and they were pals from way back.

"In the summer of 1928 when I was only 13, Herb took me on a western trip with the Yankees," says Bob proudly. "A few years later during Herb's first season as a Red Sox executive, I made a western swing with Boston."

Sixteen years later they became business associates although they were like father and son. Bob's first official step as Phillie president was to make Pennock his general manager.

Herb was farm director for the Red Sox and under baseball law Bob had to get permission from Owner Tom Yawkey to talk business with Pennock. Yawkey willingly released Pennock from his Boston contract so he could become general manager of the Phillies.

With Carpenter and Pennock pulling the strings, the Phillies grew from a "one-club farm system" at Wilmington, Carpenter's first team, into a 15-team chain.

"We're down to 12 teams now," says the blue-eyed executive. "After all I believe in an expanding and contracting system to meet the number of players at our command."

Carpenter, a 215-pound ex-athlete, credits Herb Pennock with much of the foundation for the new Phillies. He is too modest to claim credit for himself. It was Herb who brought Joe Rendon in as director of their minor league chain, points out Carpenter, and it was Herb who, during his minor league travels, became acquainted with Eddie Sawyer, manager of the Yancey farm team at Birmingham, N. Triple A Football Conference Planned For The Big Schools

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor
AUSTIN, Aug. 8 (AP)—The City Conference of Texas schoolboy sports is on the way out and probably won't last more than one more year.

A Triple A conference that will take in schools with 700 or more enrollment from which will come the bona fide Texas football champion is being set up.

Plans are for five divisions of football as at present but with different enrollment requirements for three of them. Class AA will be probably 400 to 700, instead of all over 500, thus will include a majority of the schools now in Class AA with a number of those in Class A moving up. Class A will be 200 to 400 instead of 200 to 500 as at present. Class B will be 100 to 200 and all below 100 will be six-man football.

draw enough additional fans to take up the slack.

When to play the games is a question. Under the comparatively new Gilmer-Aikin bill a school is paid for its attendance, not enrollment. If the football team and the band and the pep squad are away from school on Friday it can cost the school considerable money.

Saturday afternoon football won't work since the competition will be too strong from Southwest Conference football. Saturday night appears to be the best solution.

City Conference finally was evolved and started operating.

This worked in all sports—not just football. The state basketball tournament last year for the Class AA, Class A and Class B schools packed the fans in. The City Conference tournament drew poorly. In football Class AA easily outdrew the City Conference.

Adverse publicity to be sure hurt the City Conference. But there was a reason for the adverse publicity. The sports writers recognized that it robbed Texas schoolboy football of a real champion.

North Koreans Promised Two Red Provinces

By The Associated Press
SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Aug. 8.—Korean refugees from Seoul said today Russia has promised to give Red Korea two Manchurian provinces after the war.

Capt. Kenneth R. Cornell, American liaison officer with the South Korean forces, told a news conference this information came from a Korean school teacher who escaped from Seoul July 27.

Cornell said he considered the source and the information reliable.

The refugee estimated 3,000 persons had been killed in air bombings of Seoul up to July 27.

Two 18-year-old North Korean girls refugees said they had been forced into the Red army and given fifth column spy assignments. They said they were ordered to pose as refugees in Yechon and gather information on South Korean troops, arms and equipment.

The two girls entered Yechon, on the northern front, July 29 and were to report to a superior the next day in front of the police station. But South Korean police investigated and jailed them.

The girls said the Korean Reds were impressing all childless women between 18 and 30. Some were trained for combat and others were assigned to espionage.

They said at least one-third of the North Korean troops were green young men and women.

WHY WAS THE CITY CONFERENCE started? The best answer is that the big cities felt they were the heart and soul of the interscholastic league, that they drew the fans and that the other schools were getting a free ride by being with them.

They found out in a hurry that such was not the case when the Inter-scholastic League. It now has 542 schools enrolled for the start of girls basketball next winter. Thus it is far ahead of the high school girls basketball league of Texas, which has mapped a fight for control.

Many of the girls league schools got around a rule that would have virtually barred them from membership in the interscholastic league by joining both leagues. This rule stipulates that if an interscholastic league member plays a team outside the interscholastic league that game will count on its championship standings.

But joining both leagues didn't altogether solve the problem for the girls league members. They'll find that out this winter when the showdown comes. If one of the girls league members wins both its district championship and that of the interscholastic league also, it will have to choose which state tournament it plays in. If it does not play in the Texas interscholastic league tournament it will be suspended for a year by the interscholastic league. That rule applies to all sports and was not inserted only because of the fight with the girls league.

ONE MORE THING ABOUT the girls league.

School officials say this organization lost its chance to win when it failed to move to Dallas for its state tournament.

"We never could have touched it if it had gone to Dallas," said one official who knows what he's talking about.

The girls league considered Dallas for two years but pass it up to go to Waco.

GOOD-LUCK ENGAGEMENT
FORT SUMNER, N. M., Aug. (AP)—The Good Luck engagement has been announced at Fort Sumner. Betty Jo God will marry Ben K. Luck.

THE CITY CONFERENCE HAS been jibed at and caustically criticized ever since its inception several years ago. Its teams did not play as good football as the Class AA schools, its greatest crowds stayed away from the stadium and its championship was a hollow thing. The fans looked on the Class AA king as the real state champion and wanted to know why there wasn't a play-off between the City Conference and Class AA. It is this so there would be a bona fide state champion.

The interscholastic league is not to be blamed for creation of the City Conference. Fellows now demanding that it be dissolved were among the school men who demanded that it be created in the first place. Records of the interscholastic league show that these school men started agitation for the City Conference 15 years ago.

THERE WILL BE PROBLEMS attached to a Triple A conference. There are only about 50 schools that will have enough enrollment to qualify. This will mean about eight districts and bring travel problems. But the kind of football given to the public through putting all the top teams together should

Panthers Head Into Beaumont

By The Associated Press
The Texas League leading Fort Worth Cats move into Beaumont tonight for an important two game series with the Roughnecks. The Cats hold a three and one-half game bulge over the second place Ruffs.

Last night they both won—the Cats edged Oklahoma City, 4-3, and Beaumont whipped Shreveport, 5-2.

The Dallas Eagles pulled into a third-place deadlock with Tulsa as they defeated the Oilers, 4-3. Last place Houston stopped San Antonio, 3-1.

Wayne McLeland notched his 18th mound win of the season as Dallas squeezed by Tulsa. Ben Jitini smacked a two-run homer in the eighth to give the victory to the Eagles.

Dee Fendy singled in the ninth to drive home Frank Brown from second and give Fort Worth its win. Clarence Podblelan, who gave up nine hits, was the winning hurler.

Beaumont rallied for three runs in the ninth to take a second straight win over Shreveport. Rex Jones went the distance for the Roughnecks. Hugh Softer was charged with the loss.

Joe Presko scattered seven San Antonio hits and contributed a bases-empty homer for the Houston win. Charlie Kress also homered for Houston with none on. Angelo Nardella, who allowed but six hits, was the loser.

Dallas moves to Shreveport tonight. Oklahoma City plays at Houston, Tulsa visits San Antonio and the Cats meet the Roughnecks at Beaumont.

AT LONG LAST—Richard Klaber (above), 73, of La Crosse, Wis., looks over a check for $374.30 which he recently received for travel and subsistence allowance while serving with the Army in the Spanish-American War. The check covers expenses incurred by Klaber in reaching Chicago from Manila, P. I., in 1899 when he was discharged from the U S Army 14th Infantry. He has made ten claims since then for the money. Payment was authorized by Congress in 1945. (AP Wirephoto)
