...only be understood back but it must be lived forwards. -SS- Reese, Republican candidate congressional seat held for the years by George Mahon, is on the issue that the West Texas has of recent fallen victim to the "liberal caucus in the U.S. House. Daily syndicated columnists and Novak in a recent column in their own opinion what is saying: of conciliation between Republican President and Democratic has been based on George collaborating with his Republican counterparts to restrain liberal. But Mahon and other chairmen have neither restrained nor restrained. Republican were stunned when Mahon adjourned the full committee. A caucus of committee members, who promptly recommended an unbudgeted $6 billion jobs.

...Mahon no longer the pillar of conservatism? The answer: the dominance of the House Democratic caucus. Mahon must either to what the liberal caucus wants or prepare to be by the caucus. One senior Republican on the committee, in recently belabored Mahon, stand of years' standing, for principle to keep his chair- even by not conforming, and by losing his chairmanship, Mahon scarcely prevent the inevitable series of congressional actions and tripling Ford proposals. The next fiscal year does not until July 1, Congress has already the monstrous $51.9 billion estimated by Mr. Ford to $55.5 billion. If the Senate tax cut stand, the may exceed $100 billion; even if not, the figure will be over $90 billion.

...following editorial recently in the The China News, it's entitled "We're not dinosaurs" and it bears repeating. These are confused times in which we live. When weren't the times confused? The world has been going to the since the dawn of history. At that has been the view of many temporaries in each generation. The pessimists are no exception. We have a hunch that the world will be here for innumerable millions of viewers-with-alarm yet to do have a problem that didn't our ancestors: that of too many and fewer natural resources. It is bound to become more serious. The theory holds that the dinosaurs once dominated the earth bred themselves into extinction. Man has brain to avoid that disaster. He applies his intelligence to control. From this one big threat, we not be quite so bad off as the plots of doom would have us believe. See SHOOTIN', Page 2

Wildcats lose opener to Lobos, 25-17

By JERRY TIDWELL "Hello operator, give me long distance." And long distance gallops by Levelland proved decisive as Littlefield lost a 25-17 thriller in their opener. Three times Levelland dialed the right long distance number and scored on streaks of 63, 71 and 91 yards. The Wildcats hit the right combination for one long touchdown and drove in their other TD. Levelland never managed a sustained drive in the whole game. First game mistakes were the difference in the contest. Littlefield's tackling was sloppy on all three Lobo scoring jaunts, plus the 'Cats lost two fumbles. The game was Levelland's second and the Lobos didn't make the big mistakes. The Lobos had only three men to carry the ball all night and all three padded their rushing average. Mark Patterson rambled for two touchdowns and gained 175 yards while teammates Ivan Mitchell gained 118 and quarterback Lance Anthony added 66. Littlefield's brightest spot was the play of signal caller Rudy Ayala. The Wildcat senior hit on 9 of 16 passes for 169 yards and two touchdowns. Rudolph Smith was on the receiving end of both TD passes. Ayala's performance might have even been better had it not been for the kamikaze Levelland pass rush. Ayala was sacked 7 times by the Lobo rush. FIRST QUARTER After an exchange of punts, the Wildcats set up shop on the Levelland 44 yard line. Jay Lee gained 16 yards on a nifty end around. Ayala hit Lee with a nine yard pass before Raymond Baiza picked up another first down. Lee gained four yards. On second down Ayala's pass was batted down and the quarterback gained one yard on a keeper. Facing fourth and six, Mendez booted a 30-yard field goal to give the Wildcats a 3-0 lead with 6:19 remaining in the first stanza. Levelland couldn't move and punted. The Wildcats went to work on their own 28. Baiza picked up 13 yards. See WILDCATS, Page 8

A LONG-RANGE field goal attempt by Wildcat kicker Ralph Mendez hit the crossbar and fell just short in the closing seconds of the first half Friday night. The kick was from 40 yards out.

In the first quarter Mendez connected on a 30-yard field goal. Aided by three long touchdown runs, Levelland recaptured "The trap" by a 25-17 margin. [Photo by Richard Rogers]

Dear Editor:

Our boys have now returned to their daily chores following the 32nd Annual Boys Ranch Rodeo and in their behalf, thank you for the help you gave them with the publicity.

I am sure the advance publicity had a lot to do with the capacity crowds that attended both performances, and the boys tried to show their appreciation by doing their very best in all events. Among the 10,000 who drove to the Ranch were many of our former boys who came from various sections of the country.

It would not have been possible for our boys to put on such a successful rodeo without the kind of help you gave them, and they are most grateful. I do hope that one day in the near future you will come to the Ranch and share a meal with the boys in their dining hall. With best wishes to you, I am

Sincerely yours,

Dear Merchants,

The time of the year has come for the Senior Classes of the Littlefield trade area to come to your city to buy annual ads.

For as long as I can remember, I have heard "Shop Littlefield, not Lubbock" and I must say it irritates me for someone to think that they have to buy everything in Lubbock.

I can truthfully say that, here to fore, I have done my business in Littlefield. But this week, as our Seniors came to Littlefield, many places of business turned them down saying they did not buy ads from the "small" schools.

I'm wondering "where is the line drawn"?

I realize it is a nuisance, but we also need support. Where would Littlefield be if it weren't for the small communities?

Our thanks to those who did buy ads from our Seniors.

CLIPS & Tips

MICROWAVE'S the name, quick cooking's the game—and the number of "players" is increasing every day. Last year alone, more than one million families cooked with microwave ovens.

Industry sources predict widespread acceptance of this appliance, making it one of the fastest growing categories in the entire consumer durables market.

Who is buying microwave ovens? Young singles. Older citizens. College educated, affluent suburban families with children and young adults.

Why are they buying? To reduce cooking time. To save energy. To keep the kitchen cooler. To replace or supplement an older range.

Who uses it? All members of the household.

When do they use it? Breakfast, lunch, dinner, snacks, entertaining, everyday. In many households, the microwave oven is used more than three times a day.

What for? Everything from softening rock-hard ice cream to roasting Cornish hens. Heating leftover pizza on a plate to cooking bacon between paper towels. Warming baby's bottle to baking last-minute potatoes.

Unquestionably, microwave ovens are changing the cooking habits of many Americans, and now there are more resources than ever to help make these changes easier and more rewarding. Microwave cooking schools are catching on; directions for microwave cooking are beginning to show up on food packages; cookbooks and recipe leaflets a la microwave are fresh from the presses.

In the latter category comes a handy new 24-page booklet from Campbell Soup Company, appropriately titled "Make It In The Microwave."

Although the recipes run the gamut from cheesecake pie to zucchini, the emphasis is on main dishes like Davy Jones' Stuffed Peppers.

Step-by-step directions render the preparation of this and every other recipe quite clear. Simply fill green pepper halves with a combination of tuna, cooked noodles, shredded Cheddar cheese and Condensed Golden Mushroom Soup. Pour additional soup over all and microwave until piping hot.

To order your free copy of "Make It In The Microwave," send a post card to: Make It In The Microwave, Box 355, Collingswood, NJ 08108.

1 can (about 7 ozs.) tuna, drained and flaked

Cut peppers in half lengthwise; remove seeds. Arrange in 1 1/2-quart shallow glass dish (10x6x2"); cover with wax paper. Cook in microwave oven 6 to 8 minutes or until desired doneness.

Combine 1/2 can soup and remaining ingredients except water; spoon into peppers. Combine remaining soup and water; pour over peppers. Cook 8 to 10 minutes or until hot, giving dish 1/2 turn every 3 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

RATHSKELLER PORK CHOPS

4 thin slices onion
1 can (11 ozs.) Condensed Cheddar Cheese Soup
1 1/2 cups Cube Stuffing Mix
1 1/2 cups diced tart apples
2 Tbsps. chopped parsley
4 thick pork chops (about 1 1/2 pounds)
Paprika
Salt
Pepper

In 1 1/2-quart shallow glass dish (10x6x2"), cook onion in microwave oven 1 minute. Stir in soup, stuffing, apples and 1 tablespoon parsley.

Cover with wax paper; cook 5 minutes, giving dish 1/2 turn after 2 minutes.

Sprinkle chops with paprika, salt and pepper; arrange on soup mixture. Top with remaining 1 tablespoon parsley.

Cover; cook 10 to 12 minutes or until done, giving dish 1/2 turn every 4 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

HERE ARE A FEW recipes in the odds and ends department.

HONEY FRUIT SALAD DRESSING

1/2 cup Texas honey
1/2 cup hot water
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup salad oil
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. ground ginger

Combine all ingredients in small mixer bowl. Beat until well blended. Store in a covered jar in refrigerator. Shake well before using. Yield: 1 1/4 cups.

For additional recipes send a postcard request to Commissioner John C. White, Texas Department of Agriculture, P. O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

CHOCOLATE ORANGE MILK WHIZ

3 cups chilled chocolate milk
2 pints orange sherbet
1/2 cup whipping cream, whipped
Cinnamon, optional

Combine chocolate milk and 1 pint of sherbet; beat with hand mixer or in blender until smooth. Pour into 4 chilled 12-oz. glasses.

Top each drink with a scoop of remaining sherbet and a dollop of whipped cream. Sprinkle with cinnamon, if desired. Yield: 4 1/2 cups.

TEMPERATURE CHECK

It's a good idea every once in a while to check the temperature in your refrigerator. The ideal temperature for keeping foods safely cold in it is 40 degrees F. If the temperature is set too low or the gasket leaks, it is difficult to keep milk, cream or yogurt at an ideal cold and they may start "turning" sooner than desirable.

EDITORIAL

Family farming

Family farming in the United States is holding its own as the most permanent and dominant influence in America's agriculture.

This view of modern agriculture expressed by Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz, was recounted by Soil Conservation Service Administrator R. M. Davis in an editorial in the July issue of Soil Conservation magazine.

According to Davis, Butz reports that about 95 percent of all U.S. farms are still family farms and produce about 60 percent of all farm produce sold. More than 90 percent of the farms are closely held family operations rather than large agribusiness firms.

"The ability of the family farm to survive is good news for conservation because the family farmer is also the mainstay of soil and water conservation," Davis said. "Family farms have been first in conservation since the beginning of the Soil Conservation Service."

It was the family farmers who offered their farms as demonstration sites for new conservation practices. They organized conservation districts, tried out new agricultural practices and products, installed conservation measures, and developed and supported soil stewardship in local churches.

"Almost always, it is the family farmer or rancher—frequently encouraged by sons and daughters—who is the first to try out new parallel terrace systems of minimum tillage farming, then invites the neighbors over for a look," David said.

"Now it is the family farmer- and rancher- who keeps alive our voluntary program of soil and water conservation...who conserves and improves our basic resource," Davis concluded.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

You probably have noticed some people at times have peculiar ideas about clergymen.

No minister, priest or rabbi is supernatural. They are human beings. The inner voice which beckoned them to their calling usually provides them with patience, tolerance and benevolence.

But they are still human and have the same traits of curiosity and anxiety as other people.

We imagine most men of the cloth wonder at times about their adequacy—or inadequacies. Hours of preparation and prayer precede a worship service.

Even so, no clergyman can strike a responsive chord to or for every one on every occasion. This is just as impossible as it is for a ball player to hit a home run every time at bat.

But, when a responsive chord is struck, wouldn't it be a good idea—at least once in a while—to write a note and say so?

Remember—they're human too...

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Be magnanimous

WE HAVE A CHOICE between a restricted, niggardly life and a magnanimous outgoing life. It seems relatively easy for us to be much too selfish in our attitudes, motivations, goals and actions.

Of course, there is a wholesome self-interest, and it is essential; but we must learn the difference between the justified self-interest and the selfishness that is so restrictive and stingy and scanty. Wholesome self-interest does not detract from the magnanimous expression of one's self.

WE MUST "be magnanimous" because it is admitted to be essential to a sound basis for meaningful living. It is the basis for the best possible association with other people.

Of course, this generous spirit must be correctly allied with knowledge and good judgement. If it isn't, it will eventually be rejected as an undesirable life quality; because of the troubles that it will help create. The spirit of magnanimity includes all of the worthy elements of life.

IF WE WILL "be magnanimous", with the full understanding that we are obligated to use the very best judgement in every expression of it; we will be making living as worthwhile as it can be.

This action will also help open all of the doors that are worth opening. Without the application of good judgment, our good intentions will go awry.

We don't want this to happen, because it will repress our disposition toward generous living. We must, therefore, protect our magnanimity; so it will survive, and continue to work.

"TRUE GENEROSITY consists in obeying every law of humanity, in following its guide for our guidance, and in circumstances by present and future ones." — Goldsmith

MAGNANIMOUS LIVING impoverishes us, but it enriches us; and is always encouraging to our fellowmen, restricted, niggardly life that is poor, in the worst ways possible, because this manner starves the inner man.

This is so obvious that we adage to describe it: "We are living with what we get, but we life with what we have."

ALL OF US CAN "Be magnanimous".

We can be thoughtful, helpful, remember to put construction on what others say by giving them the benefit of doubt, and do so without the mistake of being naive, and be thoughtful and considerate in helpful ways.

WE CAN TAKE the chips out of our shoulder; the unjustified pride out of our minds; give hypercritical inclinations; take be thoughtful; and honestly sincerely be interested in the of our fellowmen.

"BE MAGNANIMOUS", rich and full life.

Kiesel-Carpenter vows Saturday evening

The marriage of Miss Rhoda Jane Kiesel and Robert Alon Carpenter was read Saturday evening at the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church.

Miss Jones, pastor of the Avenue Baptist Church of Levelland, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Raymond Kiesel of Levelland and the late Mrs. Kiesel.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Brawley, Sundown and Mr. Carpenter, Sundown.

Mr. Copeland, Anton, officiated at the organ prelude and the national wedding music ceremony.

Debbie Brawley, Sundown, pianist accompanying the piano presented the hymn, "Theme of Never." "Theme of Romeo and Juliet," and "The Lighters, Scott Green and Micca Brawley lit the two chandeliers each holding a votive candle centered with a heart-shaped glass. An arrangement of gladioli and white carnations decorated the piano.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Kiser, Sundown, and bridesmaids, Traci Green, Peggy Kiser, Anton; the groom, Sundown; and the bride, Sundown were dressed in floor-length white gingham gowns. The bridesmaids wore short puffed sleeves with purple and white. They carried nosegays of purple and white. The ceremony was completed with big brimmed orchid garden hats.

The groom's honor attendant was Marcus Garcia, Sundown. Groomsmen were Tim Hogue, Trent Kidd, Randy Turner, and Richard Castillo, all of Sundown.

The bride was presented in marriage by her father.

The bride's gown was white satin with a chiffon overlay which formed a short train. The applied sheer sleeves were gathered softly at the wrists and edged with Venice lace. The neckline was trimmed with a narrow stand-up collar. The sleeves, empire waistline and train were appliqued with roses and small white pearls.

The illusion veil fell into a long train edged with appliques and pearls. The veil was gathered to a pearl encrusted headpiece.

The bride carried a bouquet of purple tipped carnations and white rose buds topped a white Bible and having white ribbons.

For "something old" the bride carried an orchid handkerchief; "something new" was the bride's white Bible; "something borrowed," was the wedding dress belonging to Mrs. Tim Hogue; "something blue was her garter."

Schleusing-Kniffen vows repeated at Springlake

SPRINGLAKE— Miss Jo Ellen Schleusing, student of Mary-Hardin Baylor at Belton and Sp/4 David Terry Kniffen of Wertheim, Germany, were married at 2 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 29 in the First Baptist Church of Springlake.

Rev. Glen Smith, pastor, officiated for the double-ring ceremony before a setting of baskets of white gladiolas, blue carnations, a memory candle and an open Bible on the Altar.

Col. and Mrs. Carl Schleusing, Stuttgart, Germany are

Mrs. Jerry Hoover, pianist, presented traditional wedding services.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Charles Sagebiel of Llano, the bride wore a white satin peau de soie gown styled in princess lines that flowed into a chapel-length train. Scattered over the gown were inserts of organza appliqued with lace and pearls. The high neckline and yoke of organza were edged with lace and pearls. Terminating in organza ruffles the long satin sleeves were dotted with appliques and edged by scallops.

The chapel-length veil of tulle which fell from a bandeau of peau de soie embossed with seed pearls was adorned with matching lace appliques. The bridal bouquet of white carnations was encircled by blue and white lace and ribbons from which extended blue and white satin streamers.

Mrs. Rita Hale of Sonora, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. Jeffrey Edwards of Copperas Cove was bridesmaid and Wendy Marie Kniffen of Springlake, sister of the groom, was junior bridesmaid.

Feminine attendants wore blue floor-length dresses and each carried a single blue carnation with blue ribbon streamers.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church immediately following the marriage. The two-tiered wedding cake made by Mrs. Hale, sister of the groom, was arating the layers which were decorated with clusters of blue flowers and green leaves. Atop the cake were white wedding bells. Mrs. Ed Jones and Miss L'Anna Sulser presided at the table serving cake and party punch.

For a wedding trip to mountains of New Mexico, the bride selected a blue and white dress of floral design.

A Banker's Viewpoint...

One of the great fallacies in political thinking — if it is not a hoax — is the idea that inflation is a result of prosperity.

It is not. In fact, there can be no real prosperity during a time of rapid inflation.

Yet liberally oriented politicians, themselves fooled by the idea, continue even in this day of inflation to insist that what our country needs is a larger dose of federal spending, the very ingredient of inflation.

Inflation has only one virtue, if you can call it that. It permits a borrower to repay a loan with cheaper money than he borrowed. That goes especially for the government, which for many years has operated financially by the tenuous habit of repaying its debts with money watered down to much less actual value than what the government borrowed in the first place.

Lenders to the government, otherwise known as buyers of federal bonds, suffer by the process.

Inflation is not created by prosperity, nor does inflation create prosperity. The ordinary individual, dismayed by ever-climbing prices at the market, certainly gains nothing from inflation.

And people on fixed incomes, the elderly, the pensioners and the disabled, are thrown into desperate privation when the value of the dollar erodes.

Nevertheless, many politicians, with a blindness that surpasses all understanding, continue to rate pump-priming by the federal government as the road to economic recovery.

It is not an accident at all that the rate of inflation today is just about parallel to the rate of unemployment.

This country suffers, as it has for decades, from a tremendous overdose of federal interference with the economy.

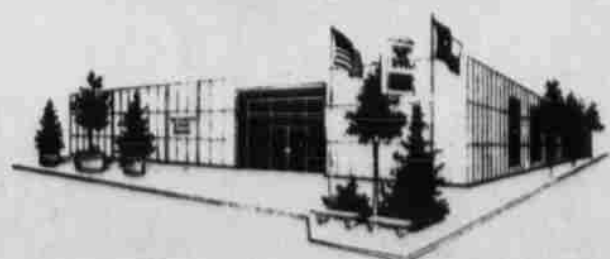

Government cannot create wealth. Government can only tap the wealth of its creators — the people who run businesses, have new productive ideas, or work with their hands and minds.

From these productive people government, through taxes, can take wealth. This it can redistribute, after a hefty percentage is drawn off for the cost of government paperwork. That is all that government can do.

Our government for far too long has been spending beyond its means. By so doing it has, in effect, printed excess money. That is inflation.

And inflation is the enemy of every pocketbook in this otherwise fantastically good land.

in carries. An Ayala bomb to Smith just missed and on the next play the Wildcats fumbled and Levelland recovered at their own 31.

On the second play, Lobo quarterback Anthony headed right on the option, shook off two tacklers and headed up the sideline for 15 yards. At the last possible second, he deftly latered the ball to Patterson who raced the remaining 48 yards untouched. Kelly Spurlock kicked the extra point and Levelland led 10-7 with 1:14 left in the first period.

Jeff Ratliff returned the kickoff to the Wildcat 25. The 'Cats then began the only sustained drive of the night. Baiza carried twice for seven yards.

SECOND QUARTER

On the first play of the second quarter, Lee snagged a pass from Ayala and danced down the right sideline for a 28 yard gain to the Lobo 40. Smith, Baiza and Blake Wood all carried for short yardage and on fourth and one, Baiza bulled off tackle for five yards and a first down to keep the drive alive.

Ayala gained three on a keeper and a face-masking penalty advanced the ball to the 11. The Lobo defense then toughened. Baiza was held for no gain on first down. Littlefield was penalized for a forward lateral back to the 15 on the next play. On third down, Ayala went back to pass, couldn't find a receiver and scrambled up the middle for a six yard gain.

On fourth down and nine from the nine yard line, Ayala got excellent blocking and hit Smith with a pinpoint pass at the flag for the touchdown. Mendez added the extra point and the Wildcats led 10-7 with 7:34 left in the half.

The Wildcats held Levelland and then Littlefield began to move again. Littlefield took over at their own 10 with 5:38 remaining following a 26 yard punt by Levelland.

Baiza gained 10 yards and first down in three consecutive carries. Wood spun for six and Baiza picked up the first down with a four yard run. Ayala then hit Ralph Mendez with a 17 yard pass. Ayala scrambled just long enough to get the pass off and Mendez made a good catch of the ball thrown behind him. The gain was to the Littlefield 47.

A keeper by Ayala netted 23 yards to the Lobo 30 on the next play. Lee's sweep resulted in a two yard loss. Ayala was chased from sideline to sideline by the Lobo defense on the next play. He shook off three tacklers before throwing the pass away and escaped from a 30 yard loss in the process. Smith gained six yards on the counter and facing a fourth and six on the 26 with 1:04 remaining, the 'Cats called time out.

Ayala then hit Smith on a button-hook pass for 12 yards and the first down. Ayala was rushed hard and threw incomplete on the next play.

On second down, he was sacked for a 10 yard loss back to the 24. Littlefield called another time-out with 23 seconds left. Ralph Mendez then tried a 40 yard field goal. The ball was long and true, but hit the cross-bar and plopped back into the end-zone to fall just short.

THIRD QUARTER

Levelland took the kick-off and ran six plays before Lee intercepted a long pass at the Wildcat 45 and returned it all the way to the Lobo 9.

Baiza gained two yards on two attempts and Ayala's option was stopped for a two yard loss. On fourth down Ayala's pass fell incomplete.

On Levelland's first play, Mitchell carried off tackle, shook off several tacklers and raced 91 yards for the go-ahead touchdown. Spurlock booted the point after and the Lobos led 14-10 with 7:28 to go in the third period.

FOURTH QUARTER

Following two punts by each team, Littlefield was back on its own 10 yard line. On the third play, the Wildcats coughed up the ball and the Lobos had a golden opportunity to move 10 points ahead, but that didn't happen.

Anthony gained three yards on the keeper to the 10. Jack Speck then sacked Anthony for a five yard loss. On third down, Ratliff broke up a pass. Spurlock then connected on a 37 yard field goal to up the Levelland lead to 17-10 with 5:19 to go.

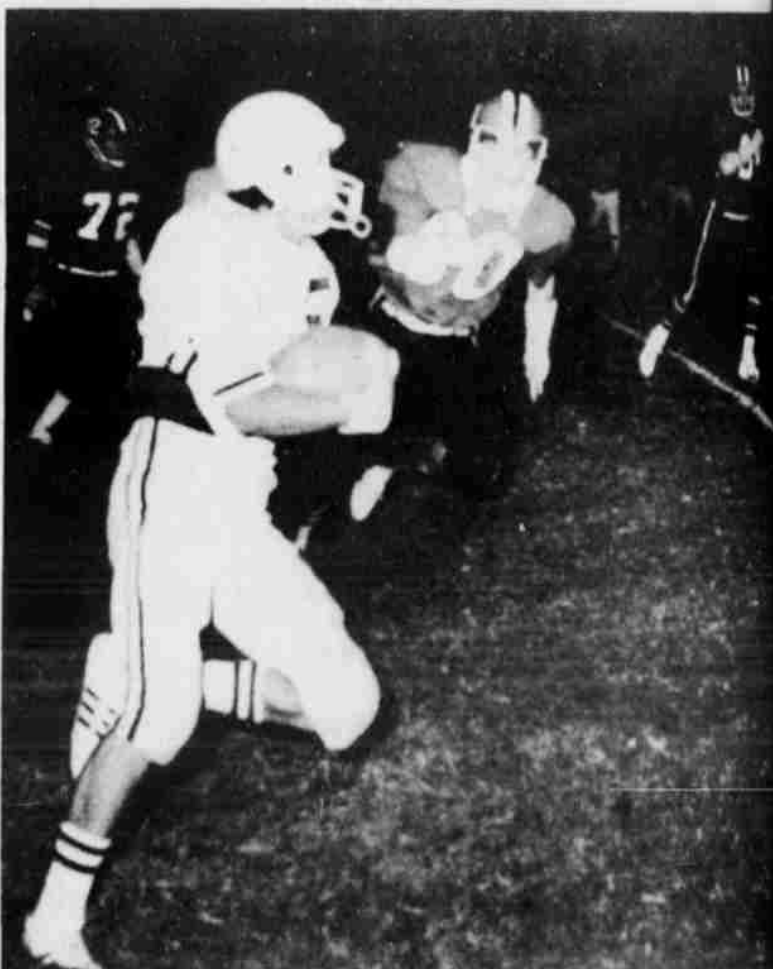

The 'Cats returned the kickoff to the 30. A pass went incomplete. Ayala then hit Smith with a long pass. Smith gathered in the aerial behind Lobo defenders at the Levelland 40 and raced in for the touchdown. Mendez tied the game at 17-17 with his extra point. Only 4:55 remained in the game.

On Levelland's second play following the kick-off, Patterson went through three Wildcat tacklers and then zipped down the left sideline for a 71 yard scoring jaunt. On the extra point the snap was bad to the holder and Spurlock scooped up the ball and threw a pass into a covey of Levelland scoreless first half, Springlake-Earth bowed to New Deal, 21-0, Friday night at the Stadium.

Wolverines tried to lead first as they drove their own 39 yard line to Deal nine on their possession of the game being stopped by a fumble. The Wolverines were trying a field goal from 40 yards but it was no good.

A defensive battle the second half as the clock ticked at intermission the same as it did at the beginning of the game.

Full action picked up a third stanza for New Deal as they took possession of the ball and finally scored from three yards out with Kerry Miller kicking the PAT.

New Deal came back again in the second quarter with 56 yards left and climaxed a 56 yard scoring drive with an 86 yard TD from one yard out. Jerry Howell passed to Dunn for a two-point conversion to make the score,

With 3:26 left in the first half, Ken Davenport charged 12 yards to light the scoreboard for Abernathy. A pass from Shipman to Hunt made the two point conversion good and Abernathy narrowed the gap in the score to six points.

In the final play of the game, Olton's Leslie Gary scored from one yard out to ice the win for the Mustangs. The extra point attempt failed as Olton kept their record unblemished.

SAFETY BREAKS TIE

Bulldogs break Hornet sting, 16-14

By EMIL MACHA

A safety with 28 seconds left in the game gave the Anton Bulldogs a 16-14 win over the Sudan Hornets Friday night at Sudan.

The first half of the game belonged to Sudan as they dominated the gridiron and the scoreboard by scoring twice in the half and holding the Bulldogs to a single score.

Anton received the opening kickoff and was only able to gain six yards in the first three downs before having to punt from their 46 yard line.

Sudan was stopped on their 38 on the punt return and the scoring drive was halted when Lonnie Timms intercepted a Hornet pass on the 49. Penalties plagued the Bulldogs on this series and the visitors had to punt to the Hornets. Sudan got the ball on their 24 and lost three yards on their next down. The second down was an incomplete pass but the third down was a crowd thriller as Joel Williams scampered 78 yards for a Sudan TD. Jerry Williams kicked the extra point to give Sudan a 7-0 lead with 6:33 left in the first stanza.

In the opening minutes of the second period, Sudan with the aid of 20 yards worth of Bulldog penalties drove from their 20 to score from six yards out with Joel Williams carrying the ball. Jerry Williams' toe made the score 14-0 with 10:34 left in the half.

Anton took the kick-off from their 10 and returned it to the 34 and started a drive that netted two first downs with Zane Butler passing to Timmy Belcher for a first and ten and another pass to Craig Carlisle who was stopped on the 12-yard line for their second first down in the drive. Lonnie Timms capped the drive when he charged for 12 yards and Anton's first score of the evening with 8:32 left in the half. A two point conversion attempt failed.

Sudan bounced back real quick as Craig Pickett connected with Jeff Withrow for an 86 yard pass play and a TD that was called back to the 43 as the officials called out of bounds on Withrow at that point.

In the final minute of the half, Scott Goen stopped another Hornet drive by intercepting Joel Williams retaliated for the Hornets and got the ball back for Sudan on the next play by intercepting a Bulldog pass in the end zone with less than a minute left in the first half.

Sudan led the Bulldogs, 14-6 at intermission.

In the third quarter, Anton took advantage of a break by recovering a Hornet fumble after the ball was kicked from the Anton 47 to the Sudan 10. It was Timmy Belcher who recovered the fumble to set up the scoring drive that netted a TD when Belcher crossed over for another Bulldog six pointer with 8:33 left in the quarter. A pass from Zane Butler to Rex Jones knotted the score, 14-14.

It was ball swap for the remainder of the third quarter and for most of the final period.

Both teams anxious to break the tie, Sudan had to give up the ball on downs after four incomplete pass attempts with 1:18 left in the game. Anton took the ball and made a first down and then drove to the Hornets 17 yard line.

Edgar Tamplin stopped the Bulldogs by intercepting a pass on the two yard line with 39 seconds left to play. Sudan charged to the four on the next down and then with 28 seconds left Jones, Goen, Matt Grace, Timms and Keith Stolk carved in the Hornet wall and sacked Craig Pickett behind the goal line for a two point safety and the win over Sudan.

Anton's leading rusher was Sr. Fullback Lonnie Timms with 84 yards in 16 carries.

Joel Williams, junior halfback took top rushing honors for Sudan by carrying the ball 12 times for 116 yards.

Both teams are now 1-1. Sudan travels to Amherst Friday and Anton goes to Valley point.

FACTS & FIGURES

There are an estimated 486,550 legally blind people in the U. S. today. Half of these cases could have been prevented with current medical knowledge and techniques.

Cataract, the leading cause of blindness in the U. S. today, accounts for one of six cases of lost vision. Surgery can restore vision in 95 percent of cataract cases for which it is recommended.

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness tells us that 577,800 children age 3 to 5 (or 1 in 20) are affected by vision problems. Conditions like amblyopia, often called "lazy eye," must be diagnosed early for effective treatment.

Melvin Johnson's lyrics accepted for recording

Melvin DeLeon Johnson, a Littlefield native and graduate of Littlefield High School, has written lyrics to a song, "That's A Man's Way", which is being considered for commercial recording and national promotion on an album entitled "Hit Sounds of Today".

The albums will be shipped from coast to coast to disc jockeys, radio stations and record stores, and is being recorded by Major Label Records of Hollywood, Calif.

Johnson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Johnson of Littlefield, attended schools here and graduated from LHS in 1973, then attended Eastern New Mexico University in Portales on a music scholarship. While in college, he was involved with music reading, writing, singing and stage acting. He actually began writing lyrics while in college, but at the time, he said it was only for fun.

While he was still in high school, he sang in the High School Choir and sang in the black "United Gospel Choir" that was sponsored by Mrs. Betty Jo Kemp and Mrs. Barbara Simington of Littlefield.

After a year in college, he attended management school in San Antonio, and graduated from there Jan. 5, 1975 and began duties as an assistant manager for Church's Chicken in Odessa and in Lubbock until late in the year of 1975, when he resigned to begin working for General Telephone in Littlefield for a year.

According to the news release from the company, "We would appreciate any publicity in the way of a story in your paper. If the song could 'break' in your area, it might possibly go national and become a hit."

Since then he has been employed by American Cotton Growers of Littlefield as a loom technician, and continued writing lyrics for songs and sending them to different record companies.

A few weeks ago he received a letter from major Label Records of Hollywood stating that the material was accepted for recording, and a test session, and that their legal department was having their lawyers draw up the contracts to be mailed to him as soon as possible. Major Label Records is paying all expenses.

WHITHARRAL
The town of Whitharral, just 6 miles south of Littlefield on Highway 385, had its beginning in 1924, and was named after John Whitfield Harral, a trustee of the Yellowhouse Land Company.

He owned most of the land in the area, and soon established that community.

Lee Crowover was the first home owner to come to this, then barren, but beautiful town site.

Soon several other families followed, and through the Badgers of Littlefield, representatives of the Yellowhouse Land Company, and several other representatives, decided that a school should be built for the settlers' children.

By January 1925, a two-room school was built and opened its doors to six children.

A Mrs. Langford was its first teacher. The school increased to 38 students by the second term, and by 1927, a large brick school building was built, and the school of Hodges was consolidated with Whitharral. A vocational agricultural department was soon added.

A prosperous general store was soon built, with the C. B. Edgar as owner and operator. Natural gas was established in 1930, and electricity soon followed.

Whitharral became an important community with about five different churches, three cotton gins, a cafe, beauty shop, and several gas stations, turned the little town into an important trade center.

Whitharral has an active Lions Club, a good school, and is an important part of the agriculture production of the South Plains.

Three grants are approved
Governor Dolph Briscoe has approved three criminal justice grants affecting the South Plains area.

Floyd County receives a grant of $18,706 for probation services, and the South Plains Association of Governments receives $19,020 for teletype equipment for 19 area law enforcement agencies and a grant for $13,865 for scientific equipment for area law enforcement agencies.

The local grants were among 78 approved by Governor Briscoe statewide with Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) funds under the Crime Control Act of 1973.

Rep. Bill Clayton addresses Farm Bureau

Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake, speaker of the Texas House of Representatives spoke to the County Farm Bureau in Olton Saturday at noon.

This is his entire speech in its full context.

Remarks, House Speaker Bill Clayton, County Farm Bureau, Littlefield, Saturday, 12:00, September 4, 1976 in Olton.

"Today, I want to talk to you a little about water and a little about agriculture. That's about like talking about the bucket and then talking about what's in the bucket, because the two are so closely linked."

"Before I get into those areas, however, I have been told that many of you have been hearing about the Humphrey-Hawkins 'Full Employment' bill and would like to know more about it."

"At the present time the revised bill has passed the House and is back to the full Education and Labor Committee for a markup session on Sept. 8. In the Senate the measure is still pending in subcommittee and will probably not get a markup this session. We'll hear more about it during the next session of Congress.

"Briefly, as I understand it, the first part of the bill as it now reads would set up a mechanism for economic planning by the federal government. It would:

*Give to every adult American, over age 16, the right to opportunities for full employment at fair rates of compensation.

*A goal of 3 per cent unemployment, reached within four years, would be established.

*Congress would be submitted a plan each year for achieving full unemployment and balanced growth.

The second part of the bill would set up a variety of jobs programs to be used if other methods failed to bring unemployment to the 3 per cent level.

These new programs would include:

*Public service jobs, public work projects, job training and other automatic measures during economic downturns and end when conditions improve.

*A grant program to states and local governments during times of high unemployment and recession.

*Alternate sources of funding for local and state governments for financing public facilities.

*A youth employment and training program to also counsel young people and provide public service project jobs.

*A reservoir of federally operated jobs available as a last resort to those unable to otherwise find jobs. The pay for these jobs would be equal to wages paid for similar jobs elsewhere.

These aren't new ideas. They can be traced back to the Employment Act of 1946, the Humphrey-Hawkins Bill, however, first appeared in 1974 and was revised in March of 1976 to gain support of some segments of the Democratic Party, labor unions, blacks and liberals. Some of these groups are unhappy that the bill does not go far enough.

This is, of course, an election year and there has been much bantering back and forth about the effects of such a bill. Many believe it was offered up because of the political aspirations of some.

The idea, supporters say, is that work and productivity are better than welfare and waste.

Cost, the sponsors say, is impossible to determine because of so many variables in the measure. They do say a "best guess" would be $20 to $40 billion annually. They contend full employment would increase revenues and reduce costs for state and local government. Furthermore, they say, the benefits would be the solving of many of the nation's social problems.

I think we all agree that full employment is a worthy goal. It is in the manner in which we go about it that we must consider.

Many of the features of the bill, such as centralized planning, would go a step further toward federal government control of our everyday lives.

One critic of the bill summed it up when he warned, "Mainland China has full employment but not much personal freedom."

The complicated reporting and program requirements would undoubtedly bog down in red tape and we would be instituting a new government bureaucracy.

The cost that I mentioned earlier was the sponsors' figures. Opponents say it would cost twice the $40 billion and that we would be raising taxes or increasing spending... and both of those courses lead to inflation and recession.

It also seems to me that by guaranteeing the high pay of government jobs we would attract many who would otherwise work in private business and those working in government would have little incentive to find jobs in private business.

If the government is to be the employer of last resort, then it would seem that wages for those jobs should be set low so these workers would want to find private jobs.

I think we would remember that there are more Americans now holding jobs than at any time in our recent history. There are just more of us and we have more women and youths wanting to work.

If we want to reduce unemployment what we need to do is improve the business climate of this country... not turn it into a socialistic camp.

I am deeply concerned with the actions of the federal government but I like to talk about things where we stand a better chance of getting something accomplished.

At the state level we are more attuned to what's going on at home. We're here every day and we know our needs better than federal officials who see everything past the far side of the Potomac as being back water country and the people as hillbillies.

We, in Texas, know what we need better than the people in Washington. And, it is for sure that I learned the importance of water a long time before I went to the Legislature 14 years ago. That's the main reason, I guess, I have tried to be a voice for water development.

I can assure you that hundreds of square miles of the High Plains would have blown away and only rocks would be growing there were it not for the Ogallala Aquifer.

Water out here means life and not just for the farmers and residents. It literally means life for the people of the world.

It is water which has made Texas an unequalled contributor in the world's agricultural and industrial picture.

Today when the world is running short of food and fiber, when the population of earth is exploding; when drought and pestilence stalk the land; and when millions of people each year come face to face with starvation; there is hope.

That hope is right here in Texas—here where the patchwork of thousands of farms and ranches spread over fertile lands.

We know what our agriculture community can do. This country and a big portion of the rest of the world is being fed by four per cent of the American population.

Texas exports more than it consumes in agricultural products. We strive to achieve greater production and the people of the world are the beneficiaries.

However, all indications are that Texas is becoming a water deficient state. Drought notwithstanding, unless water development is increased those hot winds will be blowing dust over a parched land.

A major drought, more severe than the recent one in Africa and more severe than that now being experienced in England and other parts of Europe is being predicted by scientists for the Great Plains.

Increasing population, inadequate food supplies and climatic changes could strain our lands to such a point that we could experience over a widespread area conditions similar to those that killed millions in Africa.

We need the margin of plentiful water if we are to face any anticipated drought, either now or in the future. We need plentiful water if we are to feed ourselves and the world.

Abundant water is our greatest tool for reckoning with the food crisis. The food surpluses that adequate water could help us produce would in turn be a major part of diplomacy and commercial trade.

Today we are able to keep our balance of payments at a fairly even level because we have food to export. This makes up for the huge deficit we run in importing crude oil.

The oil situation brings to mind another reason Texas needs an inexhaustible supply of water. We are one of the leading oil producing areas of the world.

However, our oil reserves have peaked and production is beginning to decline. Secondary recovery, or water flooding, I am told, will be needed by the year 2020 to

not too distant day in the future we will find the crisis headlines in our newspapers have substituted the word "water" where we now find "petroleum."

Let me remind you of the importance of agriculture by recalling what William Jennings Bryan once wrote. "Destroy our cities and they will spring up overnight as if by magic, but destroy our farms and grass will grow in the streets of every city in the nation."

Agriculture remains one of the singly most important issues of the day. In the near future I predict a president could be elected on the strength of his food policies. By the turn of the century only the U.S. and Canada will be producing more grain than we consume.

With the world's population due to swell from 4 billion to 7 billion by the end of the century, is it any wonder that most economists are looking at food exports in the same light as the Middle East looks at oil exports today.

Around Capitol Hill in Washington they are saying that defense policy is too important to be left up to generals and food policy is too important to be left up to farmers.

And what that means to me is that the farmers are going to be left out of helping to determine what direction our national agriculture policy is to take.

We are going to wind up without a say about anything to do with agriculture unless the farmers of this country unite with a single voice and help provide determinations as to what these policies affecting us as farmers and ranchers are going to be.

To have an effective voice as to who will control agriculture—the markets or the government—and what role in the economy the food we produce will play, we are going to have to educate the political forces and the consumers who know nothing about the costs and work that goes into the products that they take for granted.

This group, along with all the other Ag clubs and agriculture oriented entities in this state, must share in the responsibility of educating the consumers, the government and anyone else who does not understand the agricultural system.

But, only through active involvement in seeing that the full story and the consequences of our actions are known, can we expect to make an impact.

The opinions of the public are often formed by receiving less than full disclosure of information. If the public is fully informed and understands; then free enterprise agriculture will benefit as will the consumers.

The farmer has been called on for the past several years to help meet the world demand for agricultural supplies.

The agriculture producers of this nation have responded, and, have produced all the necessary food and fiber for America as well as exporting agricultural products at such a volume as to balance foreign trade payments.

This system has worked well for us, but now the tampering has begun and there are those who want to restrict our exports of grain so we can limit markets and drive the price down in the United States.

This thinking might work to lower prices for the present, but I guarantee you it would be only until these surpluses are used, because the American farmer will not and cannot continue to produce under these circumstances. If we limit our markets our production is going to shrink. Our prices will rise to even higher levels and there will be a scarcity of products.

We must allow our farmers free access to world markets for all our agricultural products. Additionally, I feel the same way as many agricultural economists. They recently expressed the idea that we must tell the Russians and Red Chinese that we will not tolerate the erratic grain buying that has caused such widespread upheaval in our country. If they are going to buy from us they are going to have to give us some long-term guarantees of intent to purchase.

The farmers of this country have shown that they are willing to accept the challenge to feed not only the citizens of the United States, but a good portion of the rest of the world.

It is even more startling when we realize that we're supplying this food and fiber on an ever decreasing amount of tillable land. Each year, 1 million acres of some of our most usable soil is being taken out of production to construct highways, homes and businesses and shopping centers. We are told by the agriculture department that by the turn of the century an additional 35 million acres will no longer be available for agriculture. Some of our best land near large cities has become so valuable as commercial real estate that our farmers can't afford to keep it in production because of the taxes on the resulting high valuation. In Texas, we want to do something through law to correct this and let the prime agricultural land remain in cultivation.

The Legislature will convene in January and there will be some important issues affecting agriculturalists that will be considered.

School finance will be a priority item. For more than almost a year a special House committee has been holding hearings around the state and studying the situation. A study of land valuations has been undertaken by the Governor's office and that report is nearing completion. A lot of work has gone into preparing a presentation for the lawmakers. Hopefully the result will be a fair and lasting school bill.

Many of you are concerned about the price of natural gas. The high cost has had a big impact on agricultural producers.

Three House committees have completed work on legislation that would ease the situation. That package will be ready for action when Legislature convenes and a majority of House members have told me they favor the proposals which could save as much as 15 per cent on the consumer's bill.

Additionally, in the 1977 session, we will see the revival of the bill to tax agricultural land on productive value rather than market value. There will also be attempts to promote legislation which would increase exportation markets for Texas products in foreign countries.

There will be other agriculture related legislation before the Legislature. As Speaker, I can assure you that each bill will be given a fair opportunity to stand on its merits.

I am extremely optimistic that we will have a good session as far as is concerned.

A good session will be a great direction of Texas, and will Number one to be

PUBLIC NOTICE
SUMMARY OF PROPOSED
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS
GENERAL ELECTION NOV. 2, 1976

NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 49)

Repealing Sections 49-d and 49-d-1 of Article III of the Texas Constitution, S.J.R. 49 amends Section 49-c of Article III of the Texas Constitution to provide for and authorize an additional $400 million in Texas water development bonds that may be issued on approval of two-thirds of the members of each house of the Legislature for such water development purposes as the Legislature may prescribe.

The amendment contains a specific prohibition against the use of state funds for the development of water resources from the Mississippi River and also requires that before any single water development project may be undertaken requiring the expenditure of more than $35 million in bond proceeds, it must be approved by resolution of the Legislature.

The amendment removes the constitutional requirement that certain revenues must be used to retire water development and water quality enhancement bonds and removes the constitutional interest rate limit on such bonds.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

MR. AND MRS. J. C. Withrow and children, Jeff, Jarrod and Karla spent the weekend at Red River, N.M. They stayed at Cotton Wood Park. Sunday they attended church services at the Questa Church of Christ.

KERI LEIGH BARS of Carlsbad, N.M. spent the weekend in the home of the Nolan Harlans. She is a great niece of Mrs. Harlan's. She and her cousin, John David Harlan, enjoyed the school holiday playing and visiting.

VISITING over the holiday weekend with Mrs. John Hubbard were her daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Oldfield and girls, Kimberley, Jacque and Shannon of Grants, N.M. and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stanley of Hereford.

MRS. F. L. Simmons and Mrs. Tom Bogard visited Wednesday in Littlefield with friends, Mrs. Nora Gaston, and at the hospital with Mrs. Rowena Richardson. She also visited at the Amherst Hospital with Mrs. Lula Harland.

Senior Corner

By DON PITTS

Among Lamb County's most precious possessions are its senior citizens. A great lot of praise and importance is stressed on various things that have happened and important accomplishments without giving credit to those that devoted their lives and sacrificed so that many important things are here today for the younger and middle aged population to enjoy. Most everyone appreciates the heritage that we enjoy today that was instigated by many senior citizens who are still with us. Their knowledge and ability was the very beginning of the nice things they have passed on to this active generation. The nice homes, automobiles, parks, centers of entertainment, roads, electricity, telephones, schools, and etc., had their very first beginning during their active lives. Be generous to these elder people, and be forever mindful that you and all others will soon be in their stage of life. A famous man once wrote, and I'd like to quote, "Be kind and gentle to those that are old, for kindness is dearer and better than gold." Lamb County has some nice establishments devoted to the best of care for the senior citizens and unfortunate handicaps. Thanks to the business establishments that have so graciously established places that they can get together to enjoy a lot of association and recreation. Remember, and record in history, that Lamb County has come a long ways during their time. Can the generation in action accomplish as much in so short a time?

Wind powered pumps objective of study

Windy days occur frequently throughout the Southern High Plains. Harnessing this cheap and abundant resource to power irrigation pumps is the objective of a new study at the USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center at Bushland.

According to Dr. B. A. Stewart, director, the Center at Bushland recently received funds from the Energy Research and Development Administration for the study. The research project will be a joint effort and approval is pending on a cooperative agreement between the Bushland Center and West Texas State University.

Drs. Arland Schneider and Nolan Clark, USDA Agricultural Engineers at Bushland, will evaluate pumps and power transmission equipment for linking pumps to a wind rotor. At the same time, Drs. Vaughn Nelson, Bob Barieau, WTSU Physics Professors, and Dr. Earl Gilmore, Amarillo College Professor, will study performance of wind rotors.

The objective of the research is to assemble and test a complete irrigation pumping system including a wind rotor, pump, and gear drive. Large wind rotors are now being built and tested, and many irrigation pumps are available.

"The challenge will be to link them together to form a successful irrigation pumping system," Dr. Stewart said.

Research plans call for purchasing and erecting a wind rotor that will produce about 50 horsepower. This rotor will be much larger than the present windmills that dot the High Plains. These small windmills used to pump stock-water produce about 1 horsepower from 12- to 16-foot diameter fans. The proposed irrigation pumping system will have a rotor that is 40 to 50 feet in diameter. The type and design of the rotor have not been finalized, but it is anticipated that the rotor will be ready and installed by April 1977.

It is anticipated that the rotor will be mechanically linked to a pump on an irrigation well at the Research Center. Pumps to be evaluated with the wind rotor system are air lift, turbine, positive displacement piston, and positive displacement rotary types.

Drs. Nelson and Barieau, from West Texas State University, and Dr. Gilmore, from Amarillo College, have compiled extensive information about the amount and availability of wind energy in Texas. Their findings show that the High Plains has more power available from wind than anywhere in the U.S. The energy available from wind is exponentially related to speed. In other words, doubling wind-speed increases available power eight times.

"People on the High Plains do not always look forward to windy days," Dr. Stewart said, "but some day irrigation farmers may count a stiff breeze a blessing."
