Rainfall Amount Varies .1 To 4 Inches, Hail Reported Throughout County

Monday's cloud brought to the dryland areas south and west of Littlefield, hail and rain totaling four inches north and east of Littlefield and not enough rain and too much hail in the Earth-Springlake areas. The pattern in the past, hail fell north of the sandhills than in other parts of the county. East and west of Olton several farmers reported three inches Sunday and Monday with totals varying from 1.5 to 4.

Record Book Workshop Slated

A Record Book Workshop for Littlefielders will be conducted at 7 p.m., June 10, in the Lamb County Chamber of Commerce jury room. The workshop will begin at 9:30 a.m. and will be held at Lynn Bowermon, county agent.

Some hail damage was reported along with the Monday storm.

Springlake recorded 1.1 inches, and four miles north of Earth and north and northeast of Springlake crop damage from hail was fairly extensive. According to one report, a storm from the southeast trailed hail and another storm came up from the north with the two assaults riddling cotton to some extent.

Some farmers with late plantings or thick stands said they might get a stand. Corn wasn't damaged too badly, sorghum will be set back, and in some cases cotton land will be replanted to soy beans.

Over the rest of the county rainfall was spotted. Only a .1 of an inch fell over most of the immediate Littlefield area. Toward Sudan, most recorded around .2 to .5 of an inch.

Some Spade farmers received around .5 of an inch and some light hail. But in the Fieldton area most said they hadn't received any rain through late Tuesday with rainclouds promising again.

Is It a Bird? A Plane? Who's Up There?

By NILAH RODGERS

Weather modification over the South Plains has long been a controversial subject.

Although farmers in Lamb County who support cloud seeding are in the majority when it comes to digging into the hip pocket, there are those who say and support their right to whatever comes out of a cloud, whether it's hail or high water, and they object to anyone doing anything to change the natural course of events.

This is Lamb County's fifth year of participation in a cloud seeding project specifically devised to decrease damaging hail during the crop growing period. But during this time period opposition to cloud seeding has developed and become particularly strong during prolonged dry periods.

As a result, an injunction is pending a district hearing before Judge Pat Boone Jr. here on June 14th.

Meantime, the three-plane operation continues to fly and seed clouds with silver iodide when hail threatens the target area, or the area where the majority of farmers have paid voluntary fees for the hail protection.

Only trouble is, the three planes have become something like the fabled many-headed dragon. In every instance where the weather has produced a hail threat strong enough to warrant observation or seeding flights, the three planes seem to multiply.

Monday night an irate Pep Community farmer and his son stormed into the radar base at the Littlefield airport charging that planes were shooting the (expletive deleted) out of rain clouds in that area.

But according to project meteorologist Jack Girdzus, only two planes were up. One was in the Spade community and one was at Earth.

Ordinarily when weather conditions become such that cloud seeding pilots take to the air, other aircraft nose into hangars as quickly as possible to get out of the turbulence. But if this year's reports have any basis, there are anonymous pilots doing a good deal of flying in the Pep-Bula areas when clouds threaten.

Numerous persons reported two twin engine Armed Forces planes crisscrossing the dryland area south and west of Littlefield Monday night. Whether the flights were intentional or whether the planes accidentally flew over the area where farmers object particularly to flights is open to some speculation.

Girdzus said his interrogator equipped radar scope picks up all aircraft in this area. "And when our aircraft are out there, there are a lot more than just three planes flying around," he said. During Monday evening's intense weather, the cloud seeding pilots based here had visual sightings of two other twin engine planes—a Cessna and a Bonanza—and they listened to them on approach.

"One tried to poke through at Anton and ran into hail," said Wayne Wilkinson, project supervisor and chief pilot for the cloud seeding program. "He contacted control center by radio and was advised to go back west and go around by Levelland."

In Wilkinson's opinion, aircraft spotted west and south of Littlefield have been Air Force traffic headed for Lubbock.

"But there've been some strange things happen this year," the meteorologist added.

About three weeks ago, pilot Glen Johnmeyer said he had another plane right beneath him for a few minutes. A short time after this visual sighting, there was a Mayday call that the plane had gone down. The Federal Aviation Agency notified authorities, and Lamb County deputies searched an area north of Littlefield where the plane reportedly went down.

Sheriff E. D. McNeese discounted the call entirely, adding that several farmers in that part of the county have planes and that the plane had landed on a private strip.

At the airport radar headquarters, a plastic radar overlays pinpoint cloud seeding planes at any given point during flight, and a camera records this for future evaluation. Pilots say there is no way two or three planes can be over as many locations as observers indicate.

Couple Pledges Vows In Ceremony At Home

HART CAMP— Wedding vows were solemnized Friday night, May 24, for Miss Debbie Ann Oliver and Danny Mears in the home of the bride's parents at Hart Camp.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Oliver of Hart Camp and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Mears of Littlefield are parents of the groom.

Rev. Wayne Sistrunk, pastor of the Hart Camp Baptist Church, directed the double ring ceremony with the bride and groom reciting the Lord's Prayer in unison at the close of the ceremony.

Vows were recited before an improvised altar formed by an archway covered with baby's breath roping entwined with blue flowers and accented with blue bows.

The arch was flanked on each side with a seven-branch candelabra with blue tapers accented with greenery and flowers. At the center of the altar was an arrangement of two small candles on each side of a large anniversary candle. Following the exchange of vows, the couple lighted the anniversary candle from the two smaller ones, signifying their two lives becoming one. The anniversary candle was hand made and decorated as a gift from Mrs. Bill Johnson.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal-length gown of silk organza fashioned with an empire bodice and A-line skirt with a tucked yoke and bishop sleeves. The bodice was adorned with lace and seed pearls. The gown was trimmed with wide polyester lace. Her cathedral length mantilla veil was edged with matching lace and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and French white carnations with blue ribbon and lace atop a lace-covered white Bible. The Bible was a wedding gift from her parents.

A rose diamond necklace, a wedding gift from the groom and her wedding gown was "something new" and she wore the traditional blue garter and pennies in her shoe coined in 1954, the year of their births. "Something old" was a string of seed pearls, sent as a gift from Japan by an aunt on the bride's third birthday. The pearls were tied in a love knot in the bridal bouquet. "Something borrowed" was a handkerchief belonging to her mother. The handkerchief was marking the love chapter of her Bible in the Book of Ruth which was used in the wedding ceremony.

Vicki Mears of Littlefield, sister of the groom, was maid-of-honor and she carried a nosegay of blue and white carnations. Paula Mears, sister of the groom, was candlelighter and Lisa Oliver, niece of the bride distributed welcome scrolls from a lace-covered basket. They all wore identical summer blue dotted swiss full-length dresses with puffed sleeves.

Serving as best man was Craig Anderson of Littlefield. Mrs. Pat Hukill of Olton presented nuptial selections and accompanied Kerwin Oliver as he sang "More" and "The Twelfth of Never".

Guests were registered by Miss Paula Mears at a table laid with white stain edged with lace and centered with a blue carnation floral arrangement.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a blue marquisette cover with a white satin shirt centered with crystal candelabra with blue tapers and white styrofoam semi-circle with their names "Debbe" and "Danny" in glittered letters encircling the candelabra. The bridal bouquet was also added.

The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with wedding bells. Cake, fruit punch, nuts and mints were served from crystal appointments. Presiding at the table were Miss Melinda Blessing and Miss Loretta Mears, sister of the groom. They were assisted by Mrs. Kerwin Oliver.

Miss Lisa Oliver distributed rice bags during the reception. For travel, the bride wore a blue dacron knit dress. Her corsage was of blue and white carnations and was worn by her mother during the wedding ceremony.

The couple will establish residence on a farm near Littlefield following a short wedding trip.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of Olton High School and attended South Plains College in Levelland this year as a secretarial science major.

The groom is a 1972 graduate of Littlefield High School and a 1974 graduate of South Plains College where his major was Agri-Business Technology. He is now engaged in farming with his father.

A rehearsal party was held Thursday night in the Oliver home followed by refreshments.

Child Care Requirements Explained

The State of Texas is concerned with the welfare of children who are cared for by persons other than the child's own family. These people providing day care are required to obtain a license to operate and to meet minimum standards specified by the State Department of Public Welfare.

Many people do not know that the state licensing law applies to all persons keeping one or more unrelated children outside of the child's home for any part of the 24-hour day.

The license costs nothing and is a service to three groups of people: 1. the parents and their children; 2. the staff of the child care facility; and 3. the community.

Licensing is seen as both protective and preventive. Parents are not always able to appraise the standards by which child care services are rendered. By establishing safeguards against risks, licensing serves to prevent physical danger and promote a good program of child development and training. It is not intended to usurp the parent's right to choose a facility, but to regulate the conditions under which care is provided.

The licensed child care staff is given assistance in achieving and maintaining minimum standards and has the support of the department in times of difficulty. It is the primary responsibility of the licensing worker to evaluate the child care facility and determine what, if any, changes must be made in order to qualify for a license.

Basic requirements include the following:

1. fire and sanitation inspections of the facility
2. health card for persons working with children
3. immunization records on children in care
4. nutritious meals
5. knowledge of physical and emotional needs of young children

The public is entitled to protection when services are offered on an open market. Child care facilities provide a community service and it is the responsibility of the community to support good child care.

Day care is an important business because it deals with children in their most formative years. Thus it is essential that programs be developed to promote healthy growth and development of children, by preventing experiences detrimental to normal physical and mental development.

If you now care for children in your home and have not been aware of the legal requirements for a license, or if you are interested in providing child care you may contact: Mrs. Joanne Iuele, Day Care Licensing Representative, Box 2369, Lubbock, Texas.

'Right To Work' Committee Supports Traditional Rules

A new, state-wide citizens' committee has been organized to inform the people of Texas of the principle of "right to work."

According to committee chairman Dr. Abner McCall, right to work "guarantees every Texan the right to work without being forced to pay union dues."

Dr. McCall, president of Baylor University, and Mrs. Margaret Wisdom, Houston school teacher, head the Texas Right to Work Committee, which is composed of employees dedicated to providing public information on right to work provisions in the proposed Texas Constitution.

Mrs. Wisdom, a public school teacher for 25 years, said, "Our goals are two-fold. First, we want to let people across the state know what right to work is all about, and second, we want to urge citizens to express their opinions to their Constitutional Convention delegates."

"Union bosses," she said "have publicly vowed to destroy the entire work of the Constitutional Convention if right to work should be placed before the voters as a separate issue."

The state's present right to work statute was passed by the Texas Legislature in 1947. The law prohibits union contracts forcing workers to join a union or be fired. "During the 1973 season," Mrs. Wisdom said, "an attempt was made to emasculate that law by requiring non-union employees to pay the equivalent of union dues in order to keep their job. Because of such attempts on behalf of the unions, we believe our citizens' right to work without paying dues to a private organization should be protected by our constitution."

"It is basic to our system of government," she continued, "that people be allowed to vote on matters which affect them and their futures. Right to work is one of those matters, and the system of democracy demands that voters be allowed to express their wishes."

REPORTS ARE that some fields of onions in the Rio Grande Valley are being abandoned because of low prices, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Onion harvest there is almost completed, and so is the harvest on cabbage and carrots. In the Coastal Bend squash harvest also is almost over, and cucumber harvest is past its peak. Peppers and tomatoes, honeydews and cantaloups are being harvested in the Valley, and harvest is beginning in the Winter Garden-San Antonio areas. Sweet potatoes are being planted in East Texas, and watermelons and vegetables are making good progress. Potatoes and other vegetables are making good progress on the High Plains.

NATIONAL FINALS GIRL'S LITTLE DRIBBLER TOURNEY
ALL GAMES IN SPC DOME LEVELLAND

Littlefield Girls Dribble Way To National Tourney

The Littlefield major league girls' Little Dribbler squad battled their way through the regional tournament here last week and earned a berth in the national meet.

They met the Lacassine, La., team Wednesday at 1 p.m. at Levelland's Texan Dome in a first round match-up. Results of the game were not in at presstime.

In the minor league division, Hale Center spilled Anton in the finals to win a national tourney ticket.

The major league locals played in three games Saturday, and won them all en route to the championship. They met Sudan first, and pulled out a 17-13 win. Robin Messer's six tallies led Littlefield, followed by Brenda Williams with four, Jana Jones with three, and Christi Nixon and Barbara James with two.

Becky Byerly led the Sudan team by notching six points. Pam Kent, Tracy Hill and Mechelle Hanna added two each, and Ruth Withran had one.

Kress put up a tougher fight, but balanced scoring did the trick for Littlefield and they edged the visitors 16-15.

Lavonna Sanderson led the locals with four. Sandra Healy tossed in three, Christi Nixon, Gloria Brockington, Jamie Lee and Pam Fisher had two, and Brenda Williams added one.

Kyleen Harris collected eight points for the losers.

Robin Messer ripped the cords for 11 points Saturday night in the finals and sparked Littlefield to a 21-20 win over Hale Center.

Brenda Williams followed with four points for the winners, and Lavonna Sanderson and Jana Jones pitched in three.

Shana Lockett matched Miss Messer's total for Hale Center, scoring 11.

The Littlefield minor league team ripped Ropes 36-6 in a first round game, but was eliminated in the semifinals by Anton, 30-23.

Lynette Spencer tossed in 16 points for Littlefield against Ropes. Lynn Jaquess had eight, Russell Giles six, and Venessa Schroeder, Vicki Tunnell and Sharon Stout two.

Against Anton, however, the locals could not stop the scoring of Denisa Wheeler (14 points) or Donna Oakley (11 points). Malinda Campbell and Vernita Taylor added two each for the winners, and Kim Zant hit a free throw.

Lynette Spencer had eight for Littlefield. Russell Giles notched five, Vickie Tunnell put in four, and Shayla Bredewill and Lynn Jaquess added three.

The Senior League All-stars were eliminated from further competition last Friday night in Canyon as the Dalhart All-stars defeated them 27-20.

Wanda Williams led Littlefield with 5 points and Carmelita Patterson and Carol Sexton each tossed in four points apiece for the losers. Kimberly Fisher, Paula Mears and Regina Macha had two points apiece and Lisa Fowler tossed in one free throw.

Littlefield trailed at the end of the first quarter 8-5, at the half 13-10, at the end of the third quarter 21-11.

League Leaders Gain Breathing Room

The Little League leaders, Tasty Taco in the minors and WOW in the majors, gained some breathing room the past half-week when Carlisle-Oldham and Birkelbach suffered losses to drop them out of second place.

VFW edged Carlisle-Oldham 13-12 Friday to move the Veterans into the runner-up spot. Saturday, Pay & Save cruised past Birkelbach 9-6, creating a three-way tie for second place in the majors.

The Veterans trailed Carlisle-Oldham 12-8 going into the bottom of the last inning. They rallied strongly for five runs and gained the win, 13-12.

Dean Seims drilled two singles to lead the winners. Zane Westmoreland, Dan Johnson and Bill Guthrie notched singles. The winning pitcher was Joshua Rangel.

Eddie Carlisle hammered a triple and two singles to pace the Dealers. Phillip Casados collected three singles, Larry Wormley cracked two doubles, and Scott Hensley, Keith Collins and Steve Hampton singled. Casados took the loss.

In a Saturday game, Leader-News built an early 15-0 lead and crushed Security State 21-9.

The Bankers actually outthrew the Newsmen 7-3, but errors by the Security State fielders opened the gate.

Steve Vargas slashed two singles for the Newsmen. Scott Lewis, who was also the winning pitcher, added a single.

Ronnie Smith pitched for the losers and punched two doubles and a single. Oscar Torres, Pat Torres, Roger Galindo and Nathan Ristvedt pitched in singles.

The Lions evened their record at 4-4 Friday with a 17-4 major league win over Fire Dept.

Stevie Jackson held the Firemen to only two hits and had a single offensively. Herbert Spencer led the winners with three hits, and Raul Villafranco and David Duenes added two hits each. Todd Simpson, Ricky Sierra and Marty Drake singled.

Len Duffy slugged a double for the Firemen and Brady Bradley singled.

Pay & Save got their third win of the season Saturday by playing a consistent game and edging Birkelbach 9-6. The Grocers scored once in the first, twice in the second, three times in the third and three times in the fifth, and defensively kept Birkelbach from producing the big inning.

Jerry Jones knocked two singles for the winners. Dennis Abeyta and Todd Upton added hits. Kerry Rainbolt handled the pitching.

Bobby Martinez' two singles led Birkelbach. Jamie Rangel had a single, and Tracy Birkelbach was the loser.

Monday night's games between Leader-News and Security State and Rotary and Fire Dept. were postponed because of rain.
