Two County Farmers Seek Board Re-Election

Grain Sorghum producers throughout the High Plains are receiving ballots for the biennial election on Oct. 16 of directors to the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board, and two Lamb County farmers are seeking re-election.

Board Chairman C. C. Reed of Kress urges each producer in the 29-county TGSPB area to vote for four directors in this election.

Nominees are incumbents K. B. Parish of Springlake, Larry Witten of Olton, Ralph B. Mabry of Petersburg, and C. P. Smith of Hale Center. The fifth nominee is Jerry Don Glover of Lazbuddie. The ballot contains a space for write-in candidates.

Parish served Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board as chairman four years and has traveled extensively for TGSPB representing producers on many national committees. Witten, currently serving as vicechairman, is a director of U.S. Feed Grains Council and has an extensive farming operation in Olton.

Smith farms in the Hale Center area and has served the Board as the chairman of the marketing committee. Mabry, chairman on the research committee, is a director of the U.S. Feed Grains Council and farms in the Petersburg community.

Glover farms 1500 acres in the Lazbuddie community.

The election will be held by mail ballot. Ballots will be sent to all eligible voters not later than Oct. 1 and must be mailed to the TGSPB office, 1708-A 15th Street, Lubbock, Texas, 79401, before midnight Oct. 16.

Any qualified voter who does not receive a ballot by Oct. 2 may obtain one at his local county agent's office.

PCG President Defends Cotton, Inc. Head's Salary

Cotton Inc. is a cotton producers organization to promote cotton for better markets. It has come under a lot of fire from congress and a few producers the last two months because of the salary paid the president of the company. I have commented on this before, but I would like to stress the importance of Cotton Inc. and the precedent that might be set if the congress goes through with the salary limitation on the 610 fund.

The 610 funds do not go directly to Cotton Inc. The funds go to the Cotton Board. The Cotton Board contracts with Cotton Inc. for the research funds. The 610 funds by law are used only for Dukes Wooters was hired 4 years ago with a starting salary of $100,000. This was the same salary he was receiving from the company he was working for, where he was a vice-president, not president. He accepted the position with Cotton Inc. because of the challenge it offered and the opportunity to advance with good performance.

How does this salary stack up against cotton's competitors? John Hanley, chief executive with Sonsanto, draws $419,000; John Brooks with Calenese draws $390,000; James Finley with J. P. Stevens draws $361,000; Burlington pays Horace C. Jones $308,000; Irving S. Shapiro at DuPont gets $301,000.

such as Plains Cotton Growers, Coop Oil Mill. Plains Cotton Coop Assn., etc. These people are capable of looking into all the alternatives and hiring the best people available for the money, and they felt Dukes Wooters was that man. In the last four years, he has proved to be the bestman for the job by the organization he has put together.

He has the best research and sales people available. They are doing a fantastic job in all areas. We are beginning to see some of the results by the ads we see in the Avalanche-Journal and magazines. I think the most important one is the Today Show every morning. We don't see as much advertising in this area because with a limited budget you have to spend where the most people are and that is in the northeast. We shouldn't have to be told to buy cotton in this area anyway.

If the congress succeeds in limiting the salary of Cotton Inc. people it could set a precedent in other private corporations, and I don't think many people would agree with congress setting the salary of the president of DuPont, General Motors, or any other company.

The board of directors of Cotton Inc. will have a big decision to make if the salary limitation amendment stays in the 610 funds. They will be faced with the problem of not accepting the $3 million and paying the president of Cotton Inc. what they feel is necessary to keep the top people, or accepting the $3 million and losing the people who have built a great research and promotion company.

LOOKING FOR A classic, one-dish meal to serve a crowd, special company, or family members?

A big steaming kettle of soup or chowder will be appreciated with crusty bread or an assortment of crisp crackers. Soup is a real winner with a cold, crispy salad or munchy relishes, according to Annette Reddell, seafood home economist with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

A mouth-watering example of a soup is bouillabaisse (pronounced boo-yahbase), a French-inspired soup incorporating fresh fish, oysters and rock shrimp.

Originally created by fishermen's wives from unsold portions of their husbands' catch, recipes have changed but the principle remains— use an assortment of seafood. When you sample this dish, you'll agree that the short while spent in the kitchen is time put to good use.

BOUILLABAISSE 1 pound fresh fish fillets or steaks

1/2 pint oysters 1/2 pound fresh rock shrimp, peeled and develned 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted

1/2 cup onion, chopped 1/2 cup celery, chopped

1 clove garlic, finely chopped 1 1/4 tsp. salt dash pepper

1 bay leaf, crushed 1/4 tsp. thyme

1 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) tomatoes 1 cup fish stock or water 1/4 tsp. saffron (optional)

Remove skin from fish and cut into 1/2-inch cubes. Saute onion, celery and garlic in butter until tender. Add fish and all other ingredients except shrimp and oysters. Bring mixture to a boil and simmer for 10 minutes. Add shrimp and oysters and simmer for 10 more minutes. Serve with French bread and Parmesan cheese. Makes 6-8 servings.

FOODS ARE SOMETIMES more nutritious when they are served in certain combinations. That is, one food will help the body absorb nutrients from another food more readily.

Iron is an example. Here is a nutrient that is vital in the human diet and often is deficient in some areas of Texas and much of Mexico. Scientists have found that the simple expedient of adding orange juice to such staple fare as tortillas and beans can provide four times as much available iron as the same meal with coffee.

The reason is that orange juice, or any citrus juice, contains ascorbic acid, an effective iron reducing agent. It works with almost all foods, and is of special interest in Mexico where a study is underway to determine which food combinations are best from the iron standpoint Helping with the survey is Dr. George W. Bates of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, who has just returned from a seven-week study trip in Mexico. While there, he helped nutritionists develop a system of finding those food combinations which allow greater iron assimilation by the body.

Blood chemistry and the importance of iron to good health are Bates' research specialty. Not long ago, he and his Experiment Station co-workers discovered a protein within the red blood cell that appears to pick up iron from the cell membranes and makes it available to the cell's hemoglobin synthesizing processes.

Their research also has developed a highly accurate and dependable method of measuring the amount of unsaturated iron binding protein in the blood. The test is especially significant in light of a recent 10-state survey indicating serious iron deficiencies in large portions of the population. Texas was included in that

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Don't Sell Short

TO "SELL SHORT" is to un derestimate, to fail to make an accurate evaluation. When this happens, it has the possibility of throwing the whole personal life situation out of balance.

The underestimation presents a serious difficulty of its own, but the consequences of the inaccurate evaluation can be even worse. In fact, they will compound the difficulty.

Of course, over-estimation can be hurtful; too. Obviously, then, it must be our aim to make an accurate estimation. This can be done, and by doing so we set our life on course; on the course which enables us to function effectively, in the healthful climate of reality. The greater danger seems to be in the rather widespread practice of "selling short".

WE DO HAVE LIMITATIONS, and these are realities not to be ignored; however, the most helpful guideline is, "don't sell short".

WE MUST KNOW OURSELVES, and this includes both the actual and the potential. This knowledge is not exactly easy to come by, but we can do reasonably well in learning what we need to know. It seems that most of us, in some ways, are inclined to "sell ourselves short".

We may be capable of doing more worthwhile things, or we may have the strength to assume more responsibility, or we may be able to help solve more problems, or we may be able to make more personal improvement. All movement in these directions will be a plus for us, and a significant contribution to the common good.

SOME OF US remain in a situations just because we selves short". We may be large confidence, or we may have stitious notion of passivity, w drance may be a faulty

ARE WE HEADED toward a Fascist

Here's an editorial that came from the "Washington-Exclusive", a service of the U.S. Press Association.

TOWARD A FASCIST STATE Earlier this year Senator Barry Goldwater termed the present Congress as "probably the most dangerous" this country has ever had.

Almost as though they were out to prove the Senator correct in his assessment, extreme left-wingers and "liberals" in the 94th Congress are, according to reports from the nation's capital, plotting to get rid of the Corrupt Practices Act. The Act, originally passed in 1939, prevents government labor bosses from blackmailing. coercing, intimidating or otherwise forcing government workers to contribute to political campaigns, persons or parties.

Without the protection of the law, a corrupt government boss would be able to say to the government workers in his department or under his jurisdiction: "If you don't work for and contribute to the political candidate of my choice, I'll see that you get fired or frozen in your present job so that you will never get a raise in salary or an advancement in

The same corrupt official won the same token, be able to appressed fic Congressional or Search candidates with the proposition: " promise to vote additional milks dollars in appropriations for my te or agency, I'll guarantee to prote number of votes and X number dollars for your campaign." The corrupt official would be able to do terms not only to the govern workers under him, but also didne the elected representatives di people.

It was exactly for that reason that Corrupt Practices Act- com known as the "Hatch Act"- was just by Congress.

There is only one reason why powerful labor bosses now rul government employees unions suff Hatch Act repealed; the law stands way of their gaining still greater pa Any such measure to add to the pas power of the unelected bureaum Washington would be a giant if toward fascism.

There is only one way to stop the for power, and that is for the (meaning you) to notify their sea now: "If you vote for repeal of the life Act, we will vote you out of office." time to send the message is now.

American'

SOME 18 MILLION foreign visitors will visit the United States during our Bicentennial year. For all too many, their reception will be marked by ripoffs, rudeness and red tape.

Consider these examples, cited in a September Reader's Digest article, "Americans Are Lousy Hosts": more than 70 countries admit U.S. tourists without requiring visas; but the U.S. insists on visas from their citizens, and all too often the visas are difficult to obtain.

When guests do come here, their visits are often marred by cheats. Three tourists, for example, recently took a taxi from New York's Kennedy Airport into Manhattan— and were charged $167 for the cab ride! Such incidents happen every day, writes author Trevor Arm brister, and they damage America's image to incalculable degrees.

OTHER PROBLEMS? Lack of tourists information is one. In sharp contrast to foreign countries, almost nowhere in America (not even in our nation's Capital) can a foreigner find materials in his own language. Insularity is another difficulty.

Americans traveling abroad find English-speaking employes virtually everywhere they do. According to estimates by the United States Travel Service (USTS), a government agency, fewer than 4,000 of the 60,000 U.S. hotels employ multi-lingual personnel. And foreigners trying to change their own currency into U.S. dollars often encounter rudeness and ignorance.

Should we care? Look at it this way. Last year, 14 million foreign tourists here pumped $4.8 billion into our economy. Government figures show that every dollar spent to attract foreign visitors will generate an expending $13 in this country this year, and is 1976. And a USTS survey shows million foreigners can afford to visit United States. Yet only 16 percest is ever come. Obviously, we're passing a financial bonanza by not getting greater share of the foreign large dollar.

Now Is The Ideal Time To Repot House Plants

Late summer and early fall is adequate moisture and an ideal time to repot house nutrients. plants, points out Mrs. Dorothy Powell, County Extension

"Repotting prepares house plants for the winter season and improves their overall per formance," she says.

Use of a good soil mix gets the repotting process off to a good start. Such a mix may be made by mixing two parts each of garden loam and peat moss and one part of sand. Well rotted manure or shredded leaf mold may be substituted for the peat

"Garden soil alone is seldom suitable for potting plants because it is usually too low in organic matter. A good soil mixture provides the three things most needed by potted plants- support, good soil aeration, and ability to hold

Mrs. Powell recommends pasteurizing the soil mixture to kill disease organisms, insects and weed seeds. This can be done by putting the soil mixture in a shallow pan and placing it in a preheated oven at 200 degrees F. for 30 minutes. The soil should be moist but not wet before placing it in the oven. "As soon as the soil cools, use it to pot new plants or reset old ones. Always use clean tools and new pots or you will reinfect the soil with harmful organisms. Sterilize used clay pots the same as the soil, and wash plastic pots thoroughly hot soapy water," she advises

A simpler and much easier way to handle pot plants in the home is to purchase the prepared mixes available in your nursery or garden supply center, she adds

PIPOP LOACUM, foreign exchange student, is an

Pipop Glad By TODD STAFFORD

Pipop Loacum expressed his views on LHS and his school in Thailand in an interview with the journalism class Sept. 15.

Pipop said, "The schools at home are very strict. We wear uniforms, eat at certain cafeterias, and we absolutely can't leave the school ground,"

"The school subjects in Littlefield High School are harder than the subjects I've taken at home," replies Pipop. Those subjects list as government, typing, English, choir, and trigonometry. His favorites are typing and choir.

Pipop says he feels a little more free here, but then again, he can't do all the things he did at home. In Thailand he could drive a car or motorcycle, but as a foreign exchange student, he can't.

He says he loves staying in Littlefield and would like to stay here, but he must return to Thailand in July or August. Pipop wants to go to college in Thailand and perhaps become a lawyer. He said he'd like to return to America someday, but the cost would prohibit him.

In his spare time, Pipop likes to go to movies, ride bikes, and just "mess around," compared to his free time in Thailand, which is taken up mostly by working.

> About 1/2 of the cotton in this crop was micronaire 2.7 and below. Almost 2/3 of the cotton was micronaire 3.0 and below. In the crop as a whole, the average type of cotton was strict low middling, light spot with 15/16 to 31/32-inch staple length. The average micronaire was 2.8.

Poor weather conditions with unseasonable temperatures and hail in the early part of the growing season resulted in a rather low quality crop in this area for this year. These conditions also account for the relatively late crop.

"Our producers are well pleased with the payments they are receiving," said T. W. Stockton, president of the Board of Directors at the ACG gin in Crosbyton. We have received well above the average of what other cotton producers have received for this type of crop. Stockton attributed the relatively high return for the low micronaire crop to the fact that the cotton was marketed through the pool system.

ACG, Crosbyton Division includes producers from the Crosbyton, Wake and McAdoo area. In 1973, the members of the cooperative gins in these areas merged their cooperatives and committed their production to a seasonal marketing pool in attempt to get a better average price for their cotton. This was the beginning of the marketing cooperative known as American Cotton Growers.

Since the time of the original formation of the pool, ACG has grown considerably and now includes 26 gin areas.

Five Counties Make Modified Regulations

Commissioners' courts in Bandera, Edwards, Kerr, Kendall and Real Counties took action during their regular monthly meetings on amended game regulations recently adopted by commissioners of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Commissioners in the five AC Continues counties approved the definition of a "legal buck deer" as a deer having a pronged antler. Spike bucks may not be taken.

In Kendall and Real Counties the bag limit on turkey is reduced to one gobbler or bearded hen instead of two.

Kerr County Commissioners approved the closing of turkey season east of State Hwy. 16 and elected to have the deer bag limit regulated by legislatively set general law. The deer bag limit now stands at two bucks.

Javelina season in Kerr County remains open the year Arts. round with no bag limit. Bag limits on channel, blue and flathead catfish remain at 25 per day and 50 in the aggregate with a minimum size of 11 inches.

General law deer bag limits of two buck deer also were approved by Real County Commissioners. They also disapproved a special October deer archery season.

The five counties are a portion of a total of 27 which exercise authority to approve or reject any portion of the game and fish regulations adopted by the Parks and Wildlife Commission.

A new legislative ruling ef fective Sept. 1 gives these counties the right to reject any portion of the game proclamations and either revert to the previous year's season and bag limits or to those set by the legislature for general law counties.

During this year's session, the Texas Legislature passed a statute which requires that "a reasonable effort be made to retrieve all wounded game animals or game birds and these animals or birds shall become a part of the legal bag limit."

The law also requires that all game animals, game birds and game fish taken into possession must be kept in an edible con dition and it sets a penalty of $25 to $200 for violations.

Second 'Catchability' SCORES Study Made On Bass

A second of three studies to determine the "catchability" of Florida bass stocked in Texas waters has come to the same conclusion as the initial work: more Florida bass and hybrids of the Florida and Texas native largemouths were caught than native bass.

Many fisherman have the opinion that Florida bass are not as eager to take lures used by Texas fishermen or they don't take them as readily as native largemouths.

Scene of both tests was a private lake near Athens under agreement to the Parks and Wildlife Department and stocked two years ago with Florida, hybrid or "super bass" and native Texas largemouth

All of the fish stocked were injected with a colored dye in the jaw area so biologists could immediately determine each

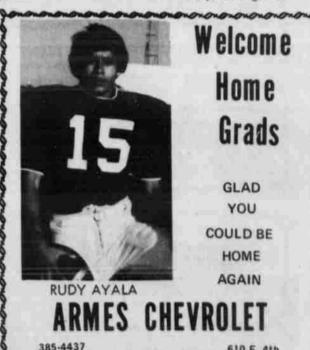

In a full day of fishing on the 10-acre lake Aug. 19, a four-man crew under P&WD fisheries biologist Charles Inman caught 15 marked fish and 29 unmarked ones which were the offspring of the marked species. According to Inman, two fishermen used spinner-type lures and two used plastic worms. Using the same lures for the entire day, seven Floridas, four hybrids and four native largemouths were taken. Plastic worms produced the most fish, all of which were returned to the water. No natural baits were used.

This scientific fishing trip also showed that super bass were gaining weight three times faster than native Texas largemouths and nearly twice as fast as the Florida fish.

Biologists expect some of the Florida and super bass to attain weights of 20 pounds or more after 10 years of growth.
