TOWN MEETING PLANNED

City Discusses Streets

City councilmen discussed the comprehensive street improvement program as it had been presented in a previous council meeting, and decided to present the problem to civic clubs in the city, and then call a town meeting to discuss it further.

Bill McMorries, city consulting engineers, had presented alternate plans for making street improvements--one to cost about $361,097 and the other, approximately $269,764.

City Manager Jim Shearer stated, "If the council decides to ask citizens to make a decision on a bond issue, it will take approximately 60 days for the election to be called."

This and several other matters were considered during the regular business session

Thursday night in city hall. Councilmen adopted an ordinance which amends the schedule of rates and charges, and service offerings by General Telephone Company of the Southwest, within the corporate limits of Littlefield for telephone service.

The ordinance will authorize General Telephone to discontinue two-party business and four-party residence telephone service as a new service offer. Persons already on the system may remain on it if they desire, but the service will not be offered to new customers.

In a review of monthly department reports, councilmen noted that the new street sweeper is covering twice the territory that the old sweeper covered, and that a better job is being done in cleaning the streets.

Besides other routine business, councilmen:

1. Considered and decided to defer the appointment of members to the Tax Equalization Board.
2. Discussed a delinquent tax matter and decided to make a refund on an account.
3. Decided to wait until later to decide whether to spray the area around the water towers for weed control. Councilmen felt previous spraying might last a while longer.
4. Discussed the dilapidated and housing program and discussed tearing down two buildings in downtown Littlefield.
5. Considered the appointment of one member to the Planning Commission and Housing Standards Commission, but did not make any definite appointment.

7 School Races Set

Candidates in seven of the 10 area school board elections drew opposition for the upcoming April 4 trustee election.

Trustee elections at Whitharral and Olton drew the most interest while board hopefuls at Spade, Pep and Bula are unopposed. Amherst and Anton have four persons seeking two spots, and four are vying for three vacancies at Sudan.

Three persons are running for two places on the Littlefield school board. Terms of Jack Barton and Pat Downs are expiring. Downs is seeking election along with Douglas Walden and Glenn Burk. Barton did not file for re-election.

There are two posts to fill on the Whitharral board. Rafe Rodgers, who has been a trustee for nine years declined to run again. Incumbent Don Avery filed for another term. Also filing for the Whitharral election were Ernest Kristinek, B. E. Hayes, Jimmy Hisaw, Clinton Fagan and Clifford Williams.

Five are seeking two board positions at Olton. Incumbents O. J. Neeley and Dan Gregory will be on the ballot with Dewey Parkey, James Cowart and Mrs. Basil Johns.

Two Sudan incumbents, Billy Chester and Marvin Bowling, are up for election. Lenoy Fisher, a board member of nine years, did not file for re-election. Chester and Bowling will be on the ballot with Bobby Jack Markham and Halbert Harvey.

At Amherst both incumbents are asking for another term and two others have filed in the trustee election. D. D. Yantis and Leon Robinson, incumbents, and Verdell Burton and Don Carter are candidates.

Anton incumbents K. H. Spradley and Wayne McLarty are opposed by Dario Rendon and Norman Downs.

Sam Sewell and W. W. (Bill) Thompson, Spade board members whose terms are expiring, will not be opposed on the ballot.

Billy Gerik and Leonard Albus, Pep incumbents, were the only ones to file there.

At Bula, president of the board L. H. Medlin Jr. and board secretary Donald C. Grusendorf declined another term. Benny Claunch and Raymond Austin Jr. will be without opposition on the Bula ballot.

Absentee balloting in all the board elections begins March 16 and ends March 31.

RAINCOATS, umbrellas and scarves were the order of the day Friday, and Miss Lucy Robinson was dressed for the occasion as she returned from her telephone operator's job. Two and three-tenths inches fell and area farmers and merchants said the rain was worth $2.3 million.

MAILMAN WILLY Bennett is attired for the rains that fell on Littlefield all day Friday. The gentle and general rain averaged two inches or more across the Littlefield trade area and was enough to meet the moisture and the timing of the pre-planting moisture war just right.

MEETING AT PLAINVIEW

Hail Suppression Plan Approaching Crossroads

Fate of the 1970 proposed hail suppression program for Lamb County probably will be decided at Plainview this Thursday night.

A contract will either be awarded to one of two chemical companies to go into the pilot program or some $20,000 plus already collected in Hale County will be refunded and the Lamb-Hale program will be called off for this year, according to Harvey L. Messamore, president of the Lamb County chapter of Weather Improvement Association.

Lamb County and area farmers are urged to attend the 7:30 p.m. meeting Thursday in the Plainview PCA building to learn more about the proposed program.

With more than $20,000 of the needed $75,000 in Hale County already secured, Lamb County will begin its fund raising drive within two weeks to raise $75,000 for Lamb County if Hale gets enough money to gether this week to support their share.

A contract could go to one of two companies this week. This is the third and final special meeting of area persons interested in stopping damaging hail storms here.

W. A. Livingston, Weather Modification Authority who worked last year with Coors Brewery protecting Moravian barley from rain and hail in the San Luis Valley near Alamosa, Colo., presented the following facts at the first of the three meets. This company not only suppressed hail, but were mainly there to direct rain clouds coming in over the mountains to dump rain in reservoirs before getting to the valley.

Rainfall in this Colorado valley had averaged nine inches during the barley ripening period which often ruined not only the barley crops but celery and lettuce, too. Last year with the program, rain was decreased to 1.6 after barley began ripening, and last year was the first year in nine irrigation seasons that water was left in the reservoirs when the irrigation season was over.

With rain clouds suppressed, there was an increase in sunshine and the company's program increased barley production 17 per cent over previous years. In 1968 it is said that only 10 per cent of the barley crop was a premium grade. After the program, 52 per cent of barley harvested in the valley was premium.

The chemical company had to get an air permit for the heights they flew in seeding clouds, after the program had been going two weeks, 92 per cent of all air traffic was directed through the easement the chemical company got because with the tops of the clouds knocked off, air travel was safer.

This company charged $7 an acre for $100 insurance, and farmers formed a cooperation to raise the money. Since the seeding process, farmers in the program are getting a rebate. Farmers paid $80 an hour for the program over a three-month period, with most of the expenses paying for the pilot and plane and ground personnel.

According to Frank Moore, president of the Plains Weather Improvement Association, Livingston stated that tornado clouds can also be stopped in addition to the hail suppression. The project plans to augment rainfall in needed areas allow more sunshine when a longer growing period is needed, and to dissipate clouds and cool, damp weather that was so prevalent last October and November.

Hale farmers are being requested to donate 32 cents per acre to the Association, with farmers not participating to be left out.

Anton Man Injured In Mishap

Norman Edward Downs of Anton suffered head and chest injuries in a two-vehicle wreck at the east edge of Anton Friday afternoon.

Downs was taken to the Medical Arts Hospital and later transferred to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock following the collision of his '68 Chevrolet pickup with a '68 Chevrolet truck driven by Mackie Wayne Towe of Odessa.

Hockley County DPS official Don Kuykendall investigated the accident at the intersection of FR 168 and 597 about 3:30 p.m. Friday and reported heavy damage to both vehicles.

Downs was brought to Littlefield by the Anton Fire Department ambulance and transferred to Lubbock about 9:30 p.m. Friday.

Kuykendall said the driver of the truck was shaken.

BORN DEFECTIVE

One baby in every 16 born alive comes into the world with a substantial physical, mental or chemical defect, according to the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas.

A PARTY HONORING the senior citizens of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church was held in the parish hall recently. Father Joseph James presided over the serving table while Mrs. Mary Yohner, a member of the church for 54 years, cut the cake.

Mrs. Mary Yohner Honored At Event

Mrs. Mary Yohner, longtime member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, was honored with a special reception at the church's Parish Hall Sunday, March 1.

Mrs. Yohner cut the cake for other senior citizens of the church during the reception, which was given primarily to honor the older members of the parish.

Mrs. Yohner was recognized as being one of the oldest members of the church, and Rev. Joseph James, pastor, stated "she has been the backbone of the church in this area for 54 years."

Mrs. Yohner came to Littlefield by train from Berwick, North Dakota, in March, 1916, with her husband Frank and with four of her children, Pete Yohner, who still resides in Littlefield; Jennie Russell of Denver, Colo.; Mike Yohner of Avenal, Calif.; and Fronie Stein of Clyde.

They moved into a two-story house, located about 2 1/2 miles east of Littlefield near a "branding place", owned by Frank Wilkinson.

Frank Yohner, like many others, was a purchaser of Littlefield lands during the colonization of the Texas Plains. Born to the couple after they came to Texas were Rita Willingham, now of Morton; Mary Ferguson of Fort Worth and William (Billy) Anthony Yohner, who was killed in World War II.

We're Listening

A Littlefield woman is giving local homemakers a chance to air their complaints on the town's newspaper.

"But there haven't been many gripes," Mrs. Leon Kessler said. Mrs. Kessler is making a telephone survey for the Lamb County Leader-News, asking local residents if they are subscribers, whether they get the paper by mail or by carrier boy, and what they like or dislike about the publication.

Thus far, Mrs. Kessler has only talked to Littlefield residents whose names begin with an A or B and can be reached at home by phone during the morning or afternoon.

Mrs. Kessler found that more than half of the persons called are already subscribers. A few prefer to buy their papers at the newsstand, because "dogs chew their paper if it's delivered and comes late when it's mailed."

"Ninety per cent said they start at the front of the paper and read it all the way through," Mrs. Kessler said.

These are some of the random comments from Littlefield residents whose names begin with an A.

One Mrs. B who claims to have lived in Littlefield about 100 years said the town seems to be getting smaller, but the paper doesn't. "I just read all of it," she said. "I'm real happy with it and wouldn't make any changes."

A radio ham confined to a wheelchair said he enjoys the paper more than most because he can't get out much.

A grandmother reads the "Skat" first, looking for pictures and mentions of her grandchildren. She is one of several women who said they especially enjoyed Mrs. McShan's Littlefield personal column.

Several mentioned the editorial page. One Mrs. B misses the "Farmer's Wife" but thinks the paper is "tops". Another mentioned "Hominy Grits." Another said she thought the editorial page was the best there is, laughed and said there were too many ads, but added she knew the paper had to have them.

A farmer reads the want ads first, then the hospital report, just loves Nilah Rodgers' articles and likes the "Johnson Grass" column.

Several older people aren't subscribers, but read their neighbors' or children's papers. Some take the Lubbock paper and trade them to their neighbors for the Littlefield paper.

A few subscribers who live close to town said they plan to buy the paper at the newsstand when their mail subscription expires because they get the Sunday paper on Monday.

Over all, the complaints from Littlefield's Mmes. and Messers. A's and B's are minimal.

PAUL HARVEY Big Cleanup

MONTHS AGO most Americans did not know the meaning of the word "ecology"; suddenly everybody does.

Pollution of our environment, for years a concern of professionals and a crusade for cultists, now is everybody's concern.

TODAY YOU'LL HEAR demands for limiting families, parking all cars, shutting down whole industries, vigorously prosecuting polluters.

Bob Hembrode of Arizona's Game and Fish Commission says, "Professional ecologists welcome the host of amateurs now shifting the environmental crisis from the back burner to the front; our only reservation is they might get the pot boiling so vigorously it'll boil over and extinguish the flame."

EXPERTS WHO'VE RECENTLY studied pollution problems in 22 countries conclude it will cost much more to clean up our little corner of the earth than it cost us to get to the moon. And some are uneasy that the clamor for a cleanup might subside when the bills start coming due.

Also, Dr. Frederick Smith, professor of resources and ecology at Harvard, says, "We are a crisis-oriented society; we have to become hysterical to get action, but we should make sure that proposed cures are not worse than the ills. HEW Secretary Robert Finch is among those urging, as an essential first step, limiting the number of children to two-to-a-family.

PRESIDENT NIXON'S TOP conservation aide, Russell Train, chairman of the newly created Council on Environmental Quality, agrees that his assignment, beyond technology, involves "a social problem."

Dr. Paul Ehrlich, biological scientist at Stanford, says the "population bomb is ticking and it may be too late to defuse it."

WE ARE PRESENTLY breeding one entire United States of America every three years. We've stacked 75,000 people to the square mile on Manhattan and, says Dr. Ehrlich, "81.5% of them already suffer from some degree of neurotic or psychotic disturbance."

India, with an annual birth rate of 43 per thousand, is talking about compulsory sterilization for males after the third child. But it would take a thousand surgeons operating eight hours a day five days a week for eight years to sterilize existing candidates: by that time it would be too late. "India's end of the boat is sinking!"

HE SAYS AMERICANS must take the lead in population limitation.

He urges our tax and welfare laws immediately be rewritten to eliminate subsidy for large families.

He urges mandatory birth control instruction in all public schools.

DR. WILL DURANT, historian, is altogether as concerned about our diminishing life-support resources as is anybody, but a historian sees a crisis through a wide-angle lens. He says population curtailment is overdue for other reasons. "The fertility of incompetence breeds the race from the bottom while the relative sterility of intelligence lets the race wither at the top."

He says it is good that the young should rebel and the old resist, "but remember to remain civilized, for if civilization is sacrificed in the turbulence of chance, we will all lose."

AND DR. DURANT suggests that cleaning up the world should begin with some people "taking a bath."

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Unified Living

By BOB WEAR

LIFE CAN BE WHOLESOMELY satisfying for us if we make our living unified. The focus or center of attention and activity must be in harmony with the true purpose of life.

If this central point of interest is some form of perversion, the living is not unified, because life is badly fragmented.

I remember one man of advanced years, a reprobate, by his own admission, who boasted about the fact that he was living, and had been living most of his years: the life of a hedonist. Furthermore, he said, "I am going to continue this manner of life until I die."

THIS MAN has an inferior central aim, a perversion of life and wholly adverse to his well-being; it was contrary to the divinely decreed purpose for the human experience.

He was not a happy man, he made no worthwhile contribution to anything. To state it tersely--he was a sad human specimen.

"Behold eighty-three years passed away! What career! What agitation! What anxieties! What ill-will! What sad complications! And all without other result except great fatigue of body and mind, disgust with regard to the past, and a profound sentiment of discouragement and despair with regard to the future." --Talleyrand. An unnecessary faulty life.

WHATSOEVER THE CENTRAL POINT of interest of one's life may be, the life is something less than unified; if it deviates from the God-given purpose for living.

The focus may be wealth, popularity, pleasure, or something less significant. What, then, constitutes unified living?

THE DRIFTER, the person with no particular aim or purpose of any kind is certainly a wastrel or worse.

Such a life, however, is, in the eschatological consideration, in the same category with those who build their lives around some inferior and inadequate life core.

A TRULY SUCCESSFUL LIFE has many facets, but they are closely related, and integrated, and bound together by unity of purpose so that they complement each other.

They are not tied to cross purposes as in the unsuccessful life.

UNIFIED LIVING REQUIRES that our energies, abilities, time, resources and related life elements be coordinated and pointed in the same general direction.

We can unify our living by selecting one supreme purpose that is worthy of our best, and, to be completely adequate, it must transcend time. It is not unrelated to time, but includes time and reaches beyond the limits of time.

NONE OF THE PHILOSOPHIES from human wisdom offer us such a worthy and adequate goal--none of them. There is, however, one such invaluable central aim for us.

Even though it comes from a source which many people doubt and others reject; it remains the only one relevant to the totality of our needs.

"I HAVE CREATED HIM for my glory, I have formed him; yea, I have made him." The Creator thus speaks of the created in a very special, and uplifting manner.

We are seeing more and more of the growing human brokenness and misery coming from man's glorification of himself. It is a sad process of diminishing returns.

THE JOY, strength and meaning of unified living are available to all of us.

A WOMAN'S VIEW

He And His Sally

By PEARL BRANDON

SOME TIME AGO I had occasion to visit the ancient cemetery where the old man is buried beside his old wife. They are off to themselves... apart from the other graves... where he had marked the plot long ago for her and his Sally.

IT IS ONE of those little country cemeteries we see scattered among the hills in these United States with its upright stones dating back to early days.

It is crowded with several generations of relatives and friends so he had stepped off a place down near the corner of the cemetery under a big tree. He had kept it clean all those years.

I REMEMBERED the children when their mother died, at the burying time... back from the city. "Not here, Dad, in this lonely old place... why not the Memorial Park where they have perpetual care?" "But Dad, we hate to see Mother's grave overgrown with weeds. We're so far away we won't be able to keep it up, I know, Dad, but you won't be here always and the rest of us are so scattered... both of your graves will be overgrown."

THEY BURIED her there and he looked after her grave until time for him to go. Now they both lay there, he and his Sally, under the quiet sod.

In the spring the soft green grasses come up and cover their graves, along with the wild flowers and a few weeds. Yes, the children come back with their hoes and rakes... maybe two or three times a year... the rest of the time they are left alone except for the birds twittering in the lofty trees... or a gray squirrel whisking by.

THE SUN IS HOT through the lazy summer days but it is cool in their bed of sod.

In the fall the leaves turn brown and gently cover their graves until winter comes and wraps them snugly with its snowy blanket.

There he sleeps peaceful and content... He and his Sally.

THE PHILOSOPHER

He Didn't Know?

Dear editor: According to the news in two different newspapers I read out here, the President of France, Mr. Pompidou, got his feelings hurt while he was in this country because some people demonstrated against him.

I don't understand this. You'd figure the President of France reads newspapers and watches television and therefore knows how we treat public officials in this country.

Why, everybody knows for example that former Vice President Humphrey hasn't had to write a new speech in months because the hecklers won't let him make the one he's got on hand. A handful shout him down every time on every campus he's invited to.

What the shouters have discovered is that a few people can break up nearly any speech if they want to. Had they been of a mind to, they could have broken up the Sermon on the Mount.

As a result, about the only way a President or Vice President or a Cabinet member or an ex-member of this group can make a speech uninterruptedly is to fly to a studio in a helicopter, come down through a hole in the roof, talk quietly into the television camera, and then escape by the same route.

I understand the shouters consider this unfair play, since obviously they don't have enough people to put a heckler in front of every family's television set, and also it wouldn't be very safe, as a lot of people want to hear what a man's got to say, whether they agree with him or not, and such invasion of privacy might lead to a type of violence the shouters couldn't bear up under. You interfere with a man's television program in his own home and you're in trouble. Ask any kid.

Recognizing this, you reckon the shouters, seeing as how they're stymied from breaking up a speech if it's delivered on television, will now demand on the grounds of constitutional free speech the right to place hecklers in a studio every time a speech is being televised?

You reckon they'll take it to court? You reckon the courts will entertain such a suit? If it gets all the way to the Supreme Court, you reckon...aw, the court wouldn't do that, would it?

Yours faithfully, J. A.

HOMINY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

THE "IN-THING" for a good many of our people of the day, is a show of disdain for the police.--Tain's just limited to the youngsters, either.

A remark, here and there, by a disgruntled violator that's had to pay a minor fine for some traffic ticket leaves a lasting impression on the youngsters, therefore, they decide that the police are just no-good.

A FAVORITE GAME of some of these kids is the one of parking on a main street parking-lot, drinking beer, throwing the cans out the windows, and taunting the "cops".--"The Fuzz"--"Do-good-boys." "Pigs" and other insults are tossed at lawmen.

This behavior is supposed to make you a "big man" in the gang. The more you drink, the louder you get, the more you "get-away-with" the "bigger you get.--It's really a blast until you finally exceed the limits, and are hauled into city hall on a D.I.P. D.O.C., or some other misdemeanor.

THESE SAME MEN that you've been deriding, taunting, and disrespecting, are the reason you can cruise the streets in safety, stroll in the parks, or lay down and sleep soundly at night.--Just try to imagine what life would be like without them.

What could you claim for your own?--The survival of the strongest, would be our law!--A couple of guys come along and decide they like your car, so they just take it.--Maybe they like your girl-friend also, so they take her, wouldn't make any difference if she wanted to go with them or not.--Oh, yes, they need your money too, so it's gone.

They need a place to stay, they like your house, so they move in.--Could be, they don't like your looks.--they just slit your throat! No need to yell: "Police!", we did away with them!--Remember?

THESE GUYS you disrespect, and think you dislike, are the same fellows that are sworn to uphold the law, they are your protection, the reason America is a good country to live in!--Scares you to think what it would be like without them?

If you're gonna play a game, you gotta have rules, and when you've got rules, you've gotta have the officials to enforce them, otherwise the game gets outta hand.--If we violate the rules of the game, we should expect to be penalized.

YOU THINK police are the reason you CAN'T have fun?--Kid, you've got the wrong foot in the shoe.--They're the reason you CAN have fun!

I think the next time I see a policeman, I'll just go up to him, shake his hand, and tell him I'm glad he's around!

STRENGTHEN YOUR FAITH

Through Regular Church Worship

THE SHEPHERD'S STAFF

...and you, too, will need it when you pass through the valley of the shadow. We grope blindly through this world as we trample law and order, and the blessings of an Almighty God. We black-out God and every opportunity to do good. The family, the church, the state will suffer for our sins of omission...our failure to possess the earth. Our goal is not the mark of the high calling which is in Christ Jesus. We know He is the light of the world but we don't care to possess it. It is dark about us and apparently we are glad of it. It is dark about us because we choose darkness rather than light. Regular attendance at church could make the dark situation light again.
