

CANADIAN VISITORS at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Keeling flew Canadian flags in Littlefield Thursday in celebration of Canada's 104th birthday, and are guests at an American birthday July 4th celebration in Lubbock today. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Command and their daughter, Judy, show Mr. and Mrs. Keeling pictures of the Canadian girl and the Keeling's daughter, Jean, made here last year when Judy was a guest in the Keeling home after the two girls were guides at the International Scout Camp in New York. Judy was so impressed with Texas that she saved enough money to pay for the gas so she could bring her parents to the Lone Star State. The Commands spent one night with Bill and Lovelle Morris at Earth while here.

Vacation Costs Higher

Vacation costs, for Lamb County residents who will be taking automobile trips this summer, will be higher than ever.

According to the American Automobile Association, which has just made a survey of such costs, travelers will have to pay more for food, overnight lodging, gasoline and most other items.

Prices are about 16 percent higher, on average, than they were two years ago, when a similar survey was made.

All in all, to travel comfortably, a Lamb County couple will need about $46 a day, the figures show. That is $6.50 more than the $39.50 that was required in 1969. It will adequately take care of the necessities but not the frills.

On this basis, a two-week trip for the local couple will cost a minimum of $644. It is exclusive of outlays they may wish to make for amusements, admissions to places of interest, souvenirs and the like.

Provided for, under this budget, are $16 a day per couple for food and snacks, an increase of $2 over the amount needed two years ago, $17 for overnight accommodations, which is $3 more than before, $9 for gas and oil, a rise of 50 cents, and $4 for tips and miscellaneous expenses, as compared with $3 previously.

Assumed in the figures is that the couple will travel an average of 300 miles a day and get 14 miles to the gallon of gas.

Also of importance to Lamb County residents is how much it is costing them per year to own and operate their cars.

According to the latest figures, released by the AAA, for a standard-size car in the popular price range, driven 10,000 miles a year, it comes to approximately $1,550. This compares with $1,448 two years ago.

Included is $1,125 in fixed costs—for depreciation, insurance and registration fees—and $425 in variable costs, for gas, oil, maintenance and tires.

Applied to Lamb County and to the 8,490 passenger cars registered, car ownership costs local drivers close to $13,160,000 a year.

Gas stations in the area have been aided by the increase in auto travel. Their receipts per year now total $2,263,000, topping the previous year's $2,188,000.

Beards Begin Annual Sprout

Beards are flourishing—or at least beginning to sprout—on Littlefield and Lamb County citizens who plan to enter the beard-growing contest during Festivities Days the latter part of August.

Members of the Lions Club now have shave permits on sale, and a jail will be the penalty for offenders.

Persons who already had beards before the July 1 beginning date will be eliminated from the length portion of the contest.

Fire Chief Re-Appointed

Littlefield's city councilmen discussed the need for two ordinances in the city, and re-appointed the fire chief during their regular meeting Thursday night.

Councilmen adopted an Abandoned Vehicle Ordinance, which will be Ordinance 285, and will authorize the city to pick up and dispose of abandoned autos in the city limits.

The new ordinance will allow the removal of autos which:

1. Have been abandoned on the streets more than 36 hours;
2. Have been abandoned on other people's property who have requested that they be moved; and
3. Have been abandoned on the owner's property, and are considered a health hazard by city health officials.

Councilmen discussed the need for another ordinance, a Blind Corner Ordinance, but made no decision on the matter.

Leon Durham was re-appointed to the Fire Chief's chair for another year's term. He first became chief in June, 1964, and is now beginning his seventh term.

The City Manager was given the authority to draw up specifications for the installation of a sewer pressure line to relieve the Laguna Park lift station. Councilmen received a copy of the cost estimates for the installation, and after a study of the cost figures, decided to proceed with the drawing up of specifications.

In other matters of business, councilmen:

1. Discussed the appointment of one member to the Board of City Development, but tabled the matter until later.
2. Received a report on the Sanitation Ordinance.
3. Approved the payment of bills and the minutes from the last meeting.

Solicitors Jailed

Three young Lubbock photo salesmen were jailed by city police early Friday afternoon, after a citizen reported they were selling without a permit. Police said the three, ages 17, 18 and 20, were representing Peters' Studio out of Los Angeles, Calif.

Each was fined $25 and released at 1 a.m. Saturday morning.

City Ordinance 213 specifies that the company they represent be bonded with the city, and that each salesman have a permit before solicitations may be begun.

RAIN NEEDED SOON

Crops 'Looking Good'

Crops over Lamb County are "looking real good, but beginning to need a rain," according to a report from agricultural officials at press time Saturday.

Cotton crops, even in the dryland areas, are reported to be growing fast and looking good. Some of the earlier planted cotton is putting on squares, and several farmers are hoping for blooms by July 4. There were squares on Johnny Talburt's cotton two miles south and two miles east of Hart Camp.

Cotton planting dates and conditions seemed to make a big difference this year. One day's difference in planting looked like two weeks' difference in the way some crops were growing, according to SCS personnel.

Hoing cotton started this week, and a few hands were noted in scattered fields all over the county, with several truck loads of hoe hands hoeing in the Olton area.

Grain sorghum crops all over the county are doing good. Many crops are late, with some producers still planting grain last week. Early feed crops have, or are, receiving their first watering in the irrigated areas.

Grain sorghum that hadn't been watered was beginning to wilt and was needing water badly by the end of this week.

As a general rule, farmers said both cotton and grain was needing rain, and producers were hoping for rain from showers to soakers.

had clipped it. Some had planted grain crops for the third time.

Corn crops north of the sandhills were five to six feet tall and putting on tassels.

Farmers around Littlefield growing watermelons said their watermelon plants were putting on runners. Runners on the vines of Joe Montgomery's melons were two feet long.

On Deb Bawcom's farm east of town, carrots were getting to be "eating size" this week.

Spraying for green bugs started this week in some areas. In the Fieldton community, DeWayne Gray had sprayed for green bugs and mites.

Some farmers report that grub worms are eating their feed. Talburt planted over because of skips in his feed made by grub worms, and Travis Hopper had a lot of skips in feed crops where the grub worms

Farm Checks Go In Mail

A few government checks to farmers went into the mail this week, but Lamb County ASCS officials said only about 20 percent of the county's farmers had certified so far this year.

Tuesday, July 6, is the final date to request prevented planting history credit on dryland farms that cannot be planted to grain sorghum due to the drought.

Certifying is slow this year due to the added questions. Less than one month remains for producers to certify. It takes 21 days to get the checks back and into the farmers' hands after certifying is completed.

August 2 is the final date to certify cotton, feed grain and set-aside acreages. Failure to measure and report exact acreages can result in loss of part or all of the price-support payment. Acreages reported must be acreages present at the time of certification and not what producers intend to have after additional plantings or adjustments. Farms are subject to spotchecks immediately after the certification is filed.

According to a survey made this week by Plains Cotton Growers, Lamb County now has an estimated 175,000 acres in cotton. The 1971 final paying base is on 144,291 acres. Standing acres for the county on Sept. 1, 1970 measured 162,600 acres. The new cotton program in effect for 1971 imposes no limit on acreage farmers can plant above their allotments.

Something over a third of this year's cotton is planted on dryland farms and the condition of these crops is highly erratic. Parts of the dryland areas are said to have fairly uniform crops with sufficient moisture to hold them until late July or even later. But many dryland farmers report that they will have to have rain soon or they will be gone.

Generally speaking, irrigated crops are in good condition, giving rise to hopes for average to above average yields.

Extension of the livestock feed program and the Hay Transportation Assistance Program has been granted through Sept. 30.

Haying and grazing set-aside acreage has been extended to Nov. 1. Haying and grazing Cropland Adjustment Program acreage has been extended to Sept. 30. Irrigated set-aside or CAP acreages as well as dryland can be grazed or hayed without a charge. Producers that have paid for haying or grazing irrigated acreage this year will receive a refund.

Members of Boy Scout Troop 637, led by Buster Owens, will be responsible for raising and lowering the flag each day.

The project was brought to the attention of the Forum by Mrs. John Driskill, who resides near the campsite.

'KINGFISH' CLYDE HILBUN

He Rode Out Depression

By NILAH RODGERS
Leader-News Staff Writer

The First National Bank of Littlefield had $25,000 capital when J.C. Hilbun came to Littlefield as president in 1927.

Littlefield State and the First National had just consolidated under the name of First National when Hilbun came here. "To tell the truth," Hilbun said, "it wasn't much of a bank. Consolidation didn't help. It was in bad shape. I tried to get them to close it and open a new one. That's what should have been done," he added, taking a puff on his big cigar.

Hilbun had accepted a position with the bank and was supposed to come to Littlefield in July of '27, but the bank wired him in the middle of June that the bank was out of money.

That first year with the Littlefield bank Hilbun personally borrowed $110,000 against his own holdings and a banker at Roby signed the note for most of it.

That year Hilbun made farmers private loans of $50 and $100 so they could make a crop and the bank could stay open.

On Thanksgiving Day of 1926, a sand-storm hit and blew all the cotton out of the burrs. The farmers didn't think it was worth picking up off the ground after the big blow and left it in their fields. But when May of the following year came and there still hadn't been any rain, farmers started picking the cotton up and shaking the dirt out, and when Hilbun got to Littlefield in the middle of June, 1927, 50-60 bales of cotton were on the gin yard waiting to be ginned.

Business picked up some just before the Depression hit. "I don't remember which year from 1927-33 was the worst," he said. "But I wouldn't go through those days again for all the banks there is. I guess the first year was the worst," he said. "It was litigated hell. But they were all as hard as could be."

It wasn't long after the stock market tumble before people here hit the bank demanding their money. Deposits tumbled from $900,000 to $138,000 in a short period of time, but it was 1933 before a bank holiday was called.

"All the banks were closing," Hilbun said, "and I could see I was going to have to close or do something. So we set a Sunday morning meeting at the Palace Theatre. All the churches dismissed for it."

About 200 people attended the solemn meeting where it was proposed that no one would draw out any more money than was necessary to live on. A limit was set on how much could be withdrawn weekly by depositors, and the next day was declared a holiday.

The bank closed Monday and the committee appointed the day before went out to call on depositors and ask them not to withdraw more than the small set amount.

"When the bank opened again Tuesday morning, all the ladies brought flowers, the band was there playing, the judge made a talk asking the people to cooperate. From then on, we didn't have much trouble," Hilbun said.

"They could have all demanded their money," Hilbun said, "but they were trying to save the bank."

A ginner here, D. G. Hobbs, was the biggest depositor at the time. "I saw him pass by one day," Hilbun said, "so I called him in. I told him that I had enough money in the bank to pay him that day, but that I didn't know whether or not there would be enough in the bank the next day to cover his deposit. He had about $9,000, and that was a big deposit then. He said if the bank did close up, his money would still be there when it closed. That helped."

"A lot of farmers drove up to the bank in their Model Ts and came in the bank with paper sacks in their hands. They said they were buying equipment and people wouldn't take their checks, but I knew why they wanted their money. They knew the bank was about broke."

While deposits tumbled, Hilbun reduced

A U.S. FLAG, flagpole and permanent marker were presented to the city on the free campsite here Friday morning. Scouts Brad Banner and Jay Lee represent Troop 737, which will be responsible for raising and lowering the flag daily. In the center is Ray McKinney, state Woodman of the World president, who presented the flag to Forum members, Mrs. Irene Lynn, Mrs. Lou Driskill and Mrs. Addie Abernathy, who in turn presented the pole, marker and flag to the campsite.

FLOWERS AND NATIONS

Most countries in the world have through legislation or other action adopted a flower or plant as a national emblem.

The official flower of the United States is the Golden Rod, which many people look upon as a weed—nevertheless it is a flower and a prolific one, even though it is the flower of the fields and roadsides.

England chose the rose, and our Canadian neighbors proudly display the maple leaf.

We proudly display ALL flowers in our shop, because we know that different people love different flowers. We can send an arrangement or a bouquet. Call 385-4461, we are as close as your telephone.

Independence Day

THE 4th OF JULY weekend offers time for a taste of recreation, a bit of fun popping off fireworks and maybe a thought or two about that old-fashioned virtue patriotism.

Pondering over patriotism—real patriotism—we inevitably reach the conclusion that this country just didn't happen to flourish. Much of the toil and struggle that helped make the United States strong and free represented someone's contribution in self-sacrifice, either in peace or in war.

CARRYING THIS TRAIN of thought a bit further, many of us can't ignore the indications that America didn't wax robust from material sources alone. The idea of reverence for a Supreme Being is intertwined with the nation's development since the day the country was founded 195 years ago.

On this comfortable, lazy weekend, the churches and synagogues have their doors open as usual. If we juggled the family schedule a bit, and perhaps arranged the family picnic or golf date or trip to the beach an hour later, we could slip into our chosen church or temple and listen to the men in the pulpits reading the Scriptures and discussing the truths that weathered the test of time for centuries before 1776.

OBVIOUSLY, most of us are aware—often, we're not allowed to forget—that separation of Church and State is a fundamental principle in the United States. This premise in an official sense, and undoubtedly has steered the nation away from some grave pitfalls.

But individually, throughout the country's history most leaders have been influenced by the Judeo-Christian ethics, the source of the Ten Commandments.

Anyone familiar with American tradition will observe the concept of divine guidance was seldom far from the minds of those who played significant roles in shaping United States' destiny.

HERE ARE a smattering of instances in which reverence for Sacred Providence was indicated. The list could be much more extensive.

On the day of this country's birth, the Founding Fathers wrote into the preamble to the Declaration of Independence "...and to assume among the powers of the earth that separate and equal station to which the laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitled them..."

AS SCHOOL CHILDREN or adults, when we pledged allegiance to the flag we recited the words "I pledge allegiance to the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands, one nation under God..."

Since then we've seen the motto "In God We Trust" on our money so frequently, we've virtually forgotten it exists.

ON THE TOMB of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery is carved the inscription "Here rests in honored glory an American soldier known but to God."

So the idea of a religious observance on this Independence Day weekend assumes validity. Both Church and State today are confronted with new perplexities that the Founding Fathers never dreamed of. Consequently, religious bodies are assuming increasingly activist roles.

THE QUESTIONS LEAP out at us. What can we do about peace in Vietnam and the world? Threats to the environment? Drug addiction and disillusioned youth? Disadvantaged minorities? Unemployment? Poor housing? Hunger? Education?

These problems cry out for innovative approaches and hard work. Perhaps, as has been said about New York's vast, interrelated difficulties, they can't really be solved, but must be managed. On the other hand, maybe you hold the magic key to certain solutions.

THERE IS AN IRONIC footnote to current religious activism. Karl Marx contended that organized religion—particularly Christianity—diverted man's attention from the problems at hand by insisting that suffering was mankind's lot on earth and salvation could be found only in the hereafter.

But events in recent years have shown that religion is abandoning this ostrich posture and is trying to cope with temporal affairs. There is room for you to share in these programs.

THEOLOGIAN Paul Tillich observed that in weighing the price of space exploration, with its effect upon social priorities, a tendency toward cynicism often follows. "These spiritual factors, however," he continued, "should never lead to a decision to give up either the production of technical tools or attempts to penetrate into outer-terrestrial spaces...For danger is not a reason to prevent life from actualizing its potentials."

And in this matter of priorities, let's make a list of our own. Putting first things first, the allotting of some time for religious contemplation this holiday weekend should be tops on the schedule. —Submitted by Littlefield Chamber of Commerce

Proclamation

The Fourth of July will mark the 195th anniversary of the founding of our nation. As we celebrate this historic date, our nation is faced with its greatest challenge; a burgeoning population, restless youth impatient for fulfillment of our nation's ideals, demands for greater civil rights, and the sapping of our country's moral strength through increased crime, drug abuse and poverty.

Communities throughout the nation are declaring this Independence Day, July 4th, as "Honor America Day" in an effort to encourage an expression of appreciation for the blessings and greatness of our country.

It is the opinion of this office that this activity should be recognized as an effort to unite Americans at a time when our patriotism and respect for the nation's purposes should be encouraged by all responsible citizens.

Therefore, by virtue of the powers vested in this office, I, J. E. Chisholm, Mayor of the City of Littlefield, do hereby proclaim Sunday, July 4, 1971, as "Honor America Day" and call upon all citizens, organizations, churches, schools and lay groups to recognize this special day through appropriate programs.

Dated at the City of Littlefield, this 28th day of June, 1971.

PAUL HARVEY Paper Panthers

HERE I HAVE the most recent audit, roll call and prospects of the Black Panthers. They've had their teeth pulled if they ever had any.

It was in 1966 that Huey Newton and Bobby Seale in Oakland, Calif., proclaimed themselves Black Panthers. The name, for obvious reasons, caught on.

THEY FINANCED their earliest activities by buying copies of Mao Tse-tung's little red book of quotations for 30 cents and selling them to radical students for a dollar. They used the profits to buy guns.

Now let's face it, the sight of a black man with a gun is enough to arouse irrational fear. And this white man's hangover or hangup or whatever it is commanded for a pitiful handful of black punks nationwide prominence.

NEVER HAVE the Panthers numbered more than a few thousand, yet they shoved multimillion-member organizations off the front pages.

Early Panthers paraded around in berets and combat boots, printed a newsletter, staged rallies.

THEN THEY STARTED following Oakland police around with lawbooks as well as guns, to make sure, they said, that black suspects were not abused.

And J. Edgar Hoover, no less, labeled the few dozen Black Panthers of 1968 "the greatest threat to the internal security of the United States."

Perhaps we who are home-based in Chicago panic less readily.

MY RECORDS SHOW that in confrontations with police 15 Panthers and 11 policemen have been killed. Though in no case has a Panther been convicted of murder.

However we do and should deplore these killings of 15 Panthers and 11 police...

During just the first nine months of last year and just in Chicago, other street gangs waged warfare in which 64 blacks and 12 police were killed.

SO CHICAGOANS never did get around to chewing fingernails over the paper Panthers.

Now, what's left of the disintegrated organization demonstrates that it never deserved the press prominence it got.

YET TWO MORE BOOKS have been written about them: "A Special Rage" and "Panthermania." One author is a black man, the other is a white woman.

And these histories of the Panther movement converge on this conclusion: The Black Panthers proclaim the same rage which most all blacks feel, but which others, for one cop-out or another, do not show.

The masses of black people are too busy surviving to concern themselves with ideology. Yet to them the Panthers are, however secretly, admired as black men who are not afraid, who cannot be quieted by money or threats, who are not whispering subversive little things the way black men used to do.

These are saying it out loud—in courthouses, outside courthouses, in prisons, at Yale and on TV. It was mostly bluster. Yet maybe a lot of black frustration, thus ventilated, is now less volatile.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE Decision Making

By BOB WEAR

WISE DECISION-MAKING can be done only by people who can think for themselves, and who are sufficiently informed so they can have dependable guidelines and principles to help them separate the desirable from the undesirable.

Too many people are forfeiting their right to think for themselves. They are, according to reports, serving as dupes for trouble-makers and rabble-rousers. They let themselves be used by a relatively small group of corrupt-minded terrorists as tools of destruction, disorder and confusion. They do things which originate from the off-beat decisions of others; things most of them would never even think of doing.

WE MUST MAKE decisions for ourselves. There are too many people who are willing for the great and the near-great to make their decisions.

Many persons who are eager to assume the task of decision-making are self-serving persons, and not interested in the general welfare. If such people are permitted to make all or most of the decisions; it will not be long until we are in trouble.

SELF-DETERMINING and self-governing people must be decision-making people. The basis for our decisions must be on a much higher level than personal self-interest.

In many instances, the long-range view must be the controlling consideration. In other instances, the decision can be made for the present need. We must be able to make this distinction.

IN OUR PERSONAL LIFE, decision-making is important, too. In order to fulfill the challenge of personal responsibility, we must be willing and able to make our own decisions.

No one can live a meaningful life if someone else makes all of the decisions. The self-image is inadequate, there is a serious lack of self-respect, and the self-concept is low grade.

"THERE IS NOTHING more to be esteemed than a manly firmness and decision of character.—I like a person who knows his own mind and sticks to it; who sees at once what, in given circumstances, is to be done, and does it."—Hazlitt.

ABILITY TO MAKE decisions is not a gift, but it can be developed. We can even make improvements in our decision-making if we continue working to do so.

Some people seem to be too lazy to make decisions, and seem contented to depend upon someone more energetic than they. Others seem to be afraid to make decisions.

They are miserable, and must be always seeking the help of other people.

MISTAKES WILL BE MADE, but the greatest mistake of all is in our retreat from life by refusing to accept the responsibility for making our own decisions.

ROBERT AND RICHARD KROPP

Kropp Twins Back In Sudan

By EVALYN SCOTT
Sudan correspondent

Robert and Richard Kropp, cosmopolitan and debonair 14-year-old twins of Staff Sgt. Tommy Kropp, are telling Sudan residents of their experiences during a three year stay in Greece, and entertaining everyone who has a time to sit a spell and listen.

The twins found Aristotle and Jackie Onassis interesting but liked car racing best. The brunette and blond twins pinpointed the car racing rivalry between the Americans and Greeks. Being full blooded Americans, their opinion is the Americans could "take them" anytime in any old kind of race.

The brunette attracts a little attention with his western straw hat and footwear of handmade Greek sandals; and for those who do not speak the language, local residents are hard put to understand the California accent, doubled by a sprinkling of Greek slang. "Throwing the five," (fingers that is), meaning "go to the Devil", so they say, is used quite often when his every man or woman for him or herself on the highways and byways when anything goes in the fender to bumper traffic in Greece.

Although brunette Robert is 20 minutes older than his blond twin, the blond has him bested in height but Robert gets ahead with his mile a minute lingo.

Their father is a native born Texan and served 10 years in the Navy, before switching, to the Air Force to finish a 20-year career with the armed services. Mrs. Kropp, the former Rita Mae Howery, is a native of Fresno, Calif.

They are making their home tentatively with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Kropp, while their parents and two sisters remain in Greece until 1973 when Kropp will have finished his twenty year hitch and be eligible for retirement.

The two reported that the Onassis have both a summer and winter home and you never see one without the other and they are heavily guarded with three guardsmen in front and three behind their car, which forms quite a parade in itself.

They were more impressed with 200 World War II American tanks (now in possession of Greek armed forces) that blocked traffic and stopped their school bus on the way to the academy where their classmates were children of ambassadors, presidents and vice-presidents. The two gleefully reported this splendid display was all right as they missed the first five classes of school that day.

The Kropp twins declare the historic Acropolis is a pile of rocks with columns while they think the blue of the Mediterranean is okay.

Their desire to return to the United States, and especially to Texas, was a yen for wide open spaces. "Don't fence us in," is their creed and they have become a familiar sight to local residents as they tour the town on their bicycles, stopping any and everywhere to share their experiences. Richard managed to bring along his ring puzzle from Greece, and Robert, his sandals. These along with a few colored slides are all they packed home from their stay in Greece. So at the age of 14 the twins have a little more mileage in the travelling game than the ordinary American does during a lifetime.

Swine Study Is Underway

A swine study to determine the feeding value of sorghum in relation to corn, is now underway at Texas Tech University.

The project is being financed by a grant from Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board.

The final information will be used in promoting the use of sorghum in swine rations and help establish the true feeding value of grain sorghum.

The test is under the leadership of Dr. Tribble, and is being conducted in Tech's new $200,000 swine facilities.

Results should be available to TGSBP members in September.

LINDA WADE

Miss Linda Wade Named 'Who's Who'

Miss Linda Jamoy Wade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Wade of Whitharral, has been named to Merit's Who's Who Among American High School students.

Linda qualified for this cause of her "leadership and participation in community and church activities," according to a board of directors who notified her of this honor.

Miss Wade was valedictorian of the 1971 Whitharral graduating class. She was the only student from the Whitharral Home Economics to qualify for and receive a State degree.

Linda was a four year letterman on the girls' varsity basketball team and was appointed to the All-District team as guard in 1969. She received the "Fighting Panther Award" this year. She was a cheerleader for three years and was chosen Football Homecoming Queen in 1970.

Linda was chosen the "Best Student Around" student by her classmates in 1970 and 1971. She was active in church work, also. Representing the St. Martin Luther League Youth, she attended a district Convention in Lubbock and an International Luther League Convention in New York. She is presently teaching junior confirmation class at St. Martin Lutheran Church, Littlefield.

Miss Wade has also assisted in many civic organizations and such as CROP, Community Chest, Heart Fund and Church of Dimes.

Miss Wade's biography of her accomplishments will be published by Rand-McNally in the fifth annual edition of Merit's Who's Who Among American High School students, 1970-71. The book is completed by early fall. She is also eligible for a scholarship grant of $1,000 which is given to 10 students. Miss Wade's biography will serve as a reference guide in obtaining future jobs. Less than 2% of the junior and senior class students from 23,000 public, private and parochial high schools throughout the country are selected for this award recognition.

Miss Wade will be a freshman at Texas Tech this fall and plans to major in home economics.

Managers

Slate Workshop

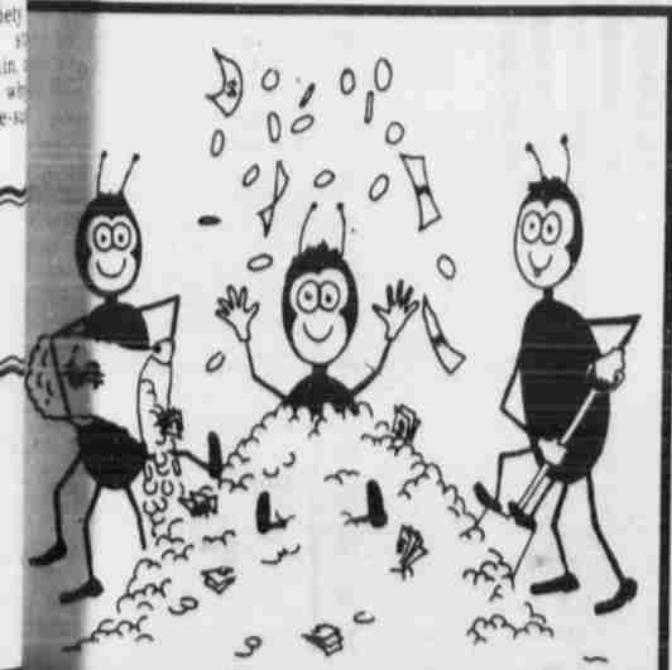

New techniques in management and marketing plus the "tools of the trade" to increase business effectiveness and efficiency will be some of the key items of discussion at a Business Management Workshop for Grain Elevator Managers in Lubbock July 14.

The day-long workshop will be held at the Holiday Inn-Parkway and will begin with registration at 9 a.m., according to Billy C. Gunter, district agricultural agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. He encourages all grain elevator managers throughout the South Plains to make plans to attend.

The objective of the workshop is to aid managers of grain elevators in staying abreast of the rapidly changing conditions in grain marketing and in improving the internal operations of their businesses.

Independence Day

July 4, 1776

A Day To Be Proud Of . . .

How could anyone predict what that document being posted would mean to mankind? Since then, the Declaration of Independence has changed history for the better. For the message of that document was destined to enter the hearts and minds of freedom-loving men everywhere. Let us all, as Americans, pause today and be thankful for that declaration that allows us to live in a free nation. A happy Fourth of July!

Fly Your Flag Proudly. . . And Correctly

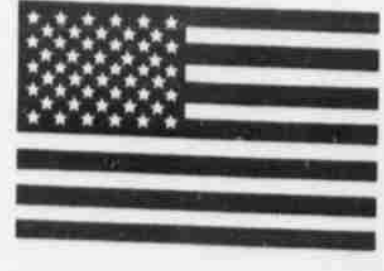

The Stars and Stripes should be given peak position, above others when on same halyard.

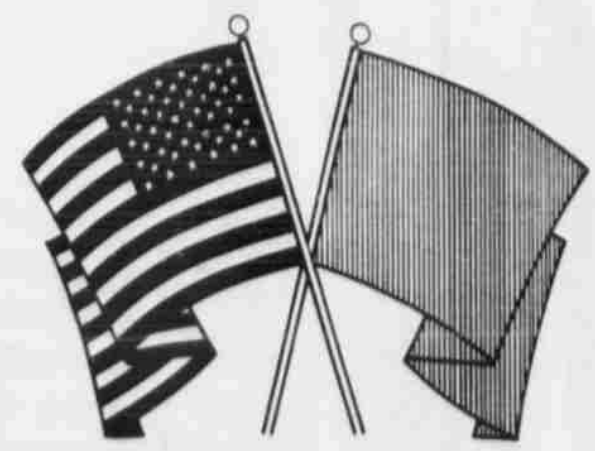

Men, women in uniform should give right hand salute; civilians should put hand over heart.

When flag is flown from window sill, the Union should go to the peak unless the flag is at half staff.

Indoors or out, when displayed horizontally or vertically against a wall, the stars should be uppermost and to the flag's own right, that is, to the observers' left.

Displayed with another flag from crossed staffs, it should be on the right side and its staff should cross in front of the other staff.

A warning about "PHENOS" from your pharmacist

Phenobarbital is a type of barbiturate or "goof ball". It is extremely dangerous; that's why you can only obtain it legally with a doctor's prescription. Barbiturates can cause emotional instability, defective judgement, severe depression, and even worse.
