Deserters

THE VIETNAM involvement, by any measure, is America's least popular war.

A recent Louis Harris Survey indicates 73% of the American people want us out of Vietnam even though only 22% believe the South Vietnamese capable of taking over their war.

OPPOSITION to the Vietnamese war is similarly measurable within our military establishment where American troops, at home and abroad, are deserting or going AWOL in record numbers.

True, Americans in uniform have gone "over the hill" in every war, but never at such a pace as this.

OUR ARMY'S DESERTION rate has trebled in three years; it's now double what it was during the Korean fighting.

At the same time, the AWOL rate has doubled in the past two years.

One in five young recruits goes over the hill at some time during his first five months of service. That means that today 500 soldiers went thataway. Tomorrow another 500. The next day probably more than that, since the AWOL rate is increasing.

MOST OF THEM will come back or be brought back but many will never return. Presently, hiding from the law somewhere are 23,000 soldiers--enough for a full combat division--each of whom has been AWOL for at least a month; that classifies them as "deserters."

The Wall Street Journal recently sought to learn the factors responsible for this sudden upsurge of military absenteeism and was surprised to discover "it is not the militant war objector who is deserting." Actually, the desertion rate among the militants is very low; they prefer to remain in uniform and support the underground resistance within the Army.

THE JOURNAL deduced that most deserters desert for the same reasons they always have--marital, financial or personal problems, unwillingness to adjust to military discipline and regimentation.

But the accelerated rate probably derives from the fact that society does not seem to condemn the disobedient soldier as it formerly did. Widespread opposition to this war has increased society's tolerance for civil disobedience.

ONE ARMY PSYCHIATRIST says, "The belief the United States is losing the war in Vietnam gives the soldier a feeling of purposelessness and defeatism."

Deserters cost the Army a lot of money. In the last fiscal year 56,600 men deserted. (About half eventually returned or were caught.)

At the same time, of the 1.5 million Americans on active duty, 10% went AWOL.

THESE UNAUTHORIZED absences cost the Army many thousand man-hours of service plus the incalculable expense of resultant operational inefficiency.

And I believe the facts are worse than these figures indicate. Clerks at some posts say they routinely reduce AWOL figures by as much as 25% "to prevent the embarrassment of their superiors."

AT ANY EVENT, the Pentagon estimates that without desertions draft calls could be reduced by 1,000 men a month. This must be considered further evidence that an all-volunteer Army, although it might at first cost more, would in the long run cost less.

--10 YEARS AGO (Lamb County Leader, Jan. 28, 1960) QUEEN TAKES THRONE

Sandra Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Martin, stepped through a "Fantasy in Frost" decorative scheme Saturday night as Littlefield High School's football queen. Her escort was Nathan Hutson, and pages were Judy Pace and Carolyn Hampton. Crowning of the queen took place at a coronation which preceded the school's annual football banquet.

What causes the "boom" when an aircraft flies faster than the speed of sound? Littlefield Rotarians and high school students will learn the answer to this question today. Malcolm Holloway, employed by Convair Aircraft in Fort Worth, will speak to the students at a 9:30 a.m. assembly in the school auditorium. Rotarians will hear the same talk at their regular noon luncheon in the basement of First Methodist Church.

HEADS WILL ROLL, duck, dip and weave beginning tonight when the second annual Championship Golden Gloves Tournament, sponsored by Littlefield Jaycees, will get underway at Littlefield Sports Arena...

Back for another try in the local tournament are four Littlefield boys who boxed here last year. They are Louis Putman, Dean North, Tommy Montoya, and Paul Keeling.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Richly Blessed

By BOB

BLESSINGS WHICH WE receive daily are often lost sight of or ignored.

Our present-day, complex and fast-moving life makes it very easy to overlook the abundance of our blessings.

BEING BOMBARDED constantly by bad news is another distraction. If we are not careful, we may begin to think that life is nothing but bad news.

We can make no more foolish mistake than to permit ourselves to be blinded to the bounteous blessings of life.

THE ORGANIZED CAMPAIGN of discontentment is also a constant threat to our personal well-being. We are being told day and night about all of the things we do not have, and about the inferiority of what we do have.

In fact, this commercial campaign actually stimulates desires that must remain forever unfulfilled. Thus, our capacity for seeing and rejoicing in blessings received is contaminated.

NEGATIVISM, which dulls our awareness of life, makes our perception so dim that we cannot see our blessings.

If we do see them, we are unable to see them as blessings.

This is a monstrous personal loss.

PESSIMISM, with its gloomy view, is a nullifier of blessings. This faulty mental posture makes blessings of no value.

They are reduced to nothing but support of a dreary existence.

THE MATERIALISTIC, status-seeking disposition of mind is a sure way to become blind to blessings. It gives birth to an insatiable appetite for more and more of less and less.

Too many people are always counting the blessings of other people, but never count their own.

Many folk seem to think as though they never receive worthwhile blessings.

This is such a foolish way to live, a way of loss, a dead-end way and a way of self-imposed misery.

BLESSINGS ARE TOO OFTEN taken for granted. This just destroys their enduring beauty. Under such conditions, it is as if they are not received.

Generally, blessings are precious; and come consistently regularly.

This, however, is no justification for permitting them to be reduced to obscurity in our thoughts and evaluations of the living experience.

FAILURE TO APPRECIATE our blessings is probably the cause of all failures. Too often, blessings are not appreciated until they are lost. Of course, this is too late. We can and we must appreciate blessings each day.

Appreciation of blessings is a source of much of the strength necessary to effective living.

When there is present to thinking the full appreciation of blessings, we will not be up against frustrations and disappointments.

APPRECIATION MUST BE pressed if it is to have maximum good influence in a life. It requires a keen awareness of blessings, and the realization that the Creator is the giver of every blessing and perfect gift.

Nothing is worse for us than the assumption of the faulty attitude that we are entitled to all these things. With this attitude, we fail miserably.

AN ABUNDANT LIFE is available to all persons who can fully see, be genuinely appreciative of and gratefully grateful for their blessings.

THE PHILOSOPHER

Far-Out Ideas

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm lives up to his promise of last week, possibly.)

Dear editor: In case you've forgotten, in my letter last week I promised to figure out something for the 50,000 people being let off by the space agency to do.

As you know, the space agency has decided by popular demand that one trip to the moon after another from now on is more than the people are interested in paying for, so it has let off 50,000 of its workers and cut back some of its programs.

Now here we've got a fine group of trained, skilled people who have demonstrated, with the amazing success of the moon shots, that they know how to concentrate on a problem and whip it brilliantly.

Why let them scatter to the far reaches of the country and hunt up other jobs that won't challenge their full abilities? Why not keep them intact and put them to work on something as challenging as the first two moon shots were?

Of course, it has to be something within the realm of the possible. No use assigning them the job say of ending wars. Everybody knows the way to end wars is to change the brand of human beings we've got, which is like saying the way to end hurricanes is to change the brand of weather we've got.

Pollution? That problem is too big too. I figure the answer to pollution is people and the more people you have working on it the more pollution you've got.

Remember, 50,000 is a relatively small figure in a population of over 200 million, so let's put them on a relatively small problem.

I'd like to see them tackle the problem of tin cans and bottles. I've forgotten how many million tons of cans and bottles this country is throwing away every year but it's enormous, judging by the ones on the road near this grass farm, and a hundred years from now we'll all be up to our ankles in the things, not to mention where 200 years from now.

What this country needs is a tin can that disintegrates 15 minutes after you open it and a bottle that melts when you're through with it. Also, while they're at it they ought to work on a plate you can eat for dessert and a cup and saucer you can crumble up for dog food.

If you don't think this idea will work, remember I don't either. Yours faithfully, J. A.

AUSTIN--As the Jan. 31 deadline for voters to register draws near, Secretary of State Martin Dies, Jr., the state's election officer, issued a "last call" to those who are 21 or over.

Registration is at the county tax assessor-collector's office, but in many counties, deputies have been set up at convenient locations. Persons over 60 who live in towns of less than 10,000 or in rural areas must re-register every year.

Under the old law, persons past 60 in small towns and rural areas did not have to register, but it now is required every year. If they fail to register by Jan. 31, they will not be able to vote in this year's important elections.

Dies also pointed out that young people who will become 21 during 1970 can register before their 21st birthday. Tax office will mark on their registration certificate the date on which they will become 21 and therefore eligible to vote.

Both political parties and a number of civic groups are putting on registration drives, seeking a goal of more than 4 million registered voters this year.

OIL IMPORT WORRIES--Concern over possible federal elimination of oil import quotas caused state political and industry leaders to hoist new storm warnings.

New taxes and serious economic losses are in store for Texas if the Nixon administration scraps the import quota for the tariff system, say informed officials.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes called on the Legislative Budget Board staff to determine how much the removal of import barriers would reduce state revenue should oil prices tumble from $3 to $2.25 a barrel. Import problem, together with long range appropriation commitments, could create a "very, very grave" tax problem for the Legislature next year, Barnes said.

Gov. Preston Smith expressed a similar view in a press conference, terming the potential tax loss from tampering with import quotas "severe."

Democratic Senate candidate Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr. predicted that state tax revenues, 40 per cent of which are derived from the petroleum industry, would "drastically decline" if the tariff system is imposed. He noted that many school districts also draw the bulk of their local revenues for public school support from the oil and gas industry.

Alvin Hope, San Antonio independent oil man, told the Texas Railroad Commission that proposals to reduce crude oil through a sliding scale tariff collected by the U. S. Treasury would be the "death knell of the domestic industry as we know it."

CAMPUS MADE--Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, had some jarring news for students.

Board voted tough new regulations to curb the "alarmingly-high" delinquency rate on repayments to the $285 million Hinson-Hazelwood student loan program. Put into effect was a requirement that applications (except in extreme hardship cases) have co-signers. Colleges may also lose their eligibility to continue their students participation in the program if they don't help police delinquencies.

A careful system of interviews, followups, parental signatures and required letters of recommendation also will be invoked.

Chairman Manuel DeBusk of Dallas, the new board chairman, said he thinks tuitions should be tied to a fixed percentage cost of the overall education program--which would mean a sharp increase.

DeBusk also recommended a separate board of regents for each undergraduate college and university. UT Board Chairman Frank C. Erwin Jr. replied that all boards have grave enough responsibilities to keep them busy "without any unnecessary and wasteful rivalry."

COURTS SPEAK--Third Court of Civil Appeals, reversing an Austin trial court, granted a temporary injunction to block the Alcoholic Beverage Commission from enforcing its tough new private-bottle-club regulations, pending trial on merits. Court said the rule is invalid because the Commission adopted no supporting findings of fact, although proper regulations could be adopted.

Third Court of Civil Appeals also held that the cost of trading stamps cannot be deducted from sales tax payments made by merchants to the state.

State Supreme Court agreed that the driver of a city bus in Dallas was not obliged to remove from his bus an unruly passenger who later shot and killed another passenger.

A title insurance company is not liable for property damage under a contract that is not in the title chain, says the Supreme Court.

GUBERNATORIAL RACE --Texans once again will have a choice between Preston Smith and Paul Eggers for Governor of Texas.

Governor Smith was first to announce. On the first anniversary of his swearing in he stated that he would seek re-election.

Next day, Paul W. Eggers, Smith's Republican opponent in 1968, said he would make the race again.

Neither of the two men has an opponent in his respective primary, as yet.

HOMINY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLE

THERE'S ALWAYS those little things to take the joy out of life, like, for instance--The flat-tire that happens on a Sunday afternoon drive, --Noticing the last half of a worm in what was an, otherwise, very delicious apple,--Going on an afternoon, or evening, cook-out and finding that no one brought matches--Or sitting down to a delicious-looking meal in a restaurant, and just as you're starting to enjoy it, have a cockroach run across the table.

MY IDEA of the "topper" of the whole lot, tho, is the day you've decided that the old world isn't such a bad place to live after all, you've acquired a little zest for living, you're just winding up a pretty successful day at the mill.

You decide to go by the post-office on the way home, (after all, you're pretty well current on your bills, the mail shouldn't contain VERY bad news, THEN IT HAPPENS --There it is in all its gory detail--GOOD OL' FORM 1040!!!

SUDDENLY, it's a dark day--the sun has gone behind a cloud, and you have that unnecessary feeling in the pit of your stomach --It's just as tho you'd been dozing in the sun, on some warm beach, and some joker throws a bucket of cold water in your tummy!--OH, WHERE DID IT GO??--My money, that is!--(We'd better, well know, or we're in trouble!)

WE START sympathizing with ourselves--We've worked like dogs all year trying to make ends meet.

Chamber of Commerce Littlefield, Texas

Dear Sirs: While I was visiting my rela-

We've barely kept our heads above water, tried to pay our bills such a way as to be able to keep our heads up, and to be able to face our creditors, and we've to keep a little balogna on the table for our hungry kids.

And now--the ol' wringer game. Here stands dear ol' Sam, left hand out, and the right hand behind his back;--You don't have to ask who in the right hand,--you know well it's a bull-whip!

SOME OF THE ancient barbarians were masters at torturing their victims; but compared to Sam, his form 1040, they were humanitarians.

All they did was torture the bill, --But, spend a few hours with 1040, and you're prone to become gibbering idiot!

Sam has helped himself to a generous slice of our income every year, now he's wringing us out, see if there's anything left--well, --We gotta pay these necessary federal expenses;--like the state increases of our generous federal officials, our foreign aid programs--the "Police Action" in Vietnam, Social security,--medicare,--fare,--And, Oh Yeah,--Just what you think was picking up the bills on those moon shots?

SO-O-O-O, let's sharpen our pencils, get out the adding machine checks, receipts, deposit slips, well as our W-2s,--take a couple tranquilizers and get with it! It could be worse,--We could be born-Biafrans!

tives, Mrs. R. R. Morgan in heret, just before Thanksgiving visited your town and I was impressed with the cleanliness as well as the beauty that I felt compelled to comment.

In my travels I did not find another town that displayed the qualities as much as Littlefield. Your people are to be commended.

Business Found To Be Modern Course

The Business Department consists of five different courses which are general business, data processing, bookkeeping, typing and shorthand.

The bookkeeping department is headed by Mr. Rex Gilstrap. He has been teaching this subject for 18 years. Mr. Gilstrap likes to work with figures because it is a challenge. He tries to get across to his 39 students, the importance of neatness and accuracy. Out of practice sets and workbooks, Mr. Gilstrap feels that practice works better in teaching this course.

Mr. Gilstrap also teaches a course of general business. He likes teaching this course because of his association and experiences with business. He has been teaching this subject for five years. Text books, exercises from personal files and vocabulary are his most frequent used methods for presenting basics of business. Mr. Gilstrap hopes that his 28 students, after completing this course, have learned the basic principles of everyday business transactions.

Data processing, a modern, interesting and challenging elective, has been taught by Mr. Gilstrap for two years. Mr. Gilstrap administers several teaching methods. These are program studies, illustrations from books and simplified exercises.

Mr. A. H. Burton is teaching his seventh year of general business. Lectures, questions and answers, discussions and problem solving are his preferred methods of introducing business problems which students will meet in everyday life. Mr. Burton decided to teach this course because of his interest and past experiences in business.

Miss Janice Kraushar, in her first year of teaching, has 142 students, who with patience and practice, will gradually learn the skills and fundamentals of typing and shorthand. Miss Kraushar, liking these subjects in high school, decided to continue them in college.

Individual work, discussion and demonstration are her many methods used in teaching. Miss Kraushar feels that no particular method works best in her classes.

TYPING STUDENTS finish work while others look on. A common sight is seen five periods a day.

Girls Cry, Why

By JO REID

Why do girls cry? Most members of the male sex cannot seem to answer this question. Since I qualify as a member of the female sex, I am going to try to help.

You are at a movie and the hero is about to die. All at once from the seat next to you you hear a small whimpering sound. Your girlfriend is crying. You just cannot seem to understand why. Last week there was a happy ending and she cried.

Girls cry when they feel happy, unhappy, pain, fear and excitement. I am sure it still does not make much sense to you. From where do all the tears come?

A girl's first tears, as did yours, came before she can remember. They came when she was a baby for four basic reasons, she wanted something she did not have, she was uncomfortable, she hurt or she just wanted to be picked up and cuddled.

As a girl grew up, she kept on crying when she fell down and scraped her knee, when someone told her he hated her or a boy stole her doll. But you did not cry. You were told it was unmanly and big boys did not cry. The girls went right on crying. But why is she still doing it and why do the tears come so easily?

Tears can come over something as little as a broken fingernail. There are times when a girl just feels like crying.

You, as boys, can look at it in a very simple manner, tears come from the eyes, so crying must have something to do with the eyes. There is a big difference in the tears she sheds when she has something in her eye and the tears she sheds when she has a broken heart.

What are a girl's reasons for crying? The answer could be happiness, hurt, sadness and worry. Talking over with someone can help. But when a girl cannot seem to get something away, she cries it away. Crying is a girl's way to release her emotions.

Is this the whole explanation of girls' crying? Psychology says that there are basic emotional differences between men and women. Differences lead women to express themselves through tears.

Tears allow a girl to express feelings of pity, fear, anger, fear and anxiety. They help her sympathize with other people and their problems. A girl can use her femininity to burst into tears when you cannot find words to express your feelings.

I am not saying boys do not feel, but you have learned to release your emotions in different ways like playing a game of basketball.

Your girl has come from a baby. But she sheds tears for the same reasons.

Oh yes, there is a reason why girls cry a little to do with emotions. As a girl grows up she discovers tears can be her advantage. When her brother hits her, all she has to do is cry and someone punishes him without her lifting a finger. When she is told a few tears can change a "YES" to a "NO". Now, when she is something wrong, she is enough to start crying and the punishment and other is no punishment.

Tears are a girl's friend, if she uses them as an emotional outlet and not a secret weapon.

So, the next time you see a girl crying, let her cry, let her cry, let her cry. Do not try to understand the reason because she probably does not have one.

Seniors Take Steps Toward Graduation

The senior order form in which invitations, personal cards and cap and gowns are ordered, was passed to all the seniors last Tuesday. These preliminary steps taken in preparing our graduation has put smiles on our faces, even after receiving a "D" on a report card.

Knowing that less than a semester and only 122 days are away until graduation fills us with happiness. For some, the end of the first semester means no more final tests. For others, it means more work toward better grades so that they can make the grade.

But then we glance back through the years, and it does not seem time to graduate. We have good memories and bad memories, both which stay with us.

We remember times of success, excitement, accomplishment.....sadness, bad behavior or missing the "B" on the report card by one point.

When our principal tells us to write down our name as we want it on our diploma, the word "diploma" lingers in our minds. "Diploma"--a written statement asserting that one has completed his term of 12 years in school.

Now, after we have received this diploma, it is no longer compulsory for us to attend any school. It is recommended, but not required.

Most of the seniors will continue to further their education. Some will get married, some will join the army and others will try to earn a living with only a high school diploma.

Some seniors have decided what they are going to do after graduation, others have not. We still have 122 days to make up our minds!

It is at this point that we decide what we will do with our lives. That is a mighty big step. One which will determine happiness or sadness, success or failure. Which will it be?

THE WAY IT IS

By NINA BETH MANLEY

The moon? In the past when I thought of the moon, I thought of something beautiful to be watched at night.

I wondered what mysteries the moon held.

I wondered if there was a form of intelligent life there.

I wondered if its inhabitants (if any) would be friendly and like us, or if they would be monsters.

I wondered how that cow ever jumped high enough to get over the moon when the "dish ran away with the spoon".

I wondered why it was orange if it was made out of green cheese.

I searched for the "man in the moon".

I was a loyal reader of Dick Tracy to keep posted on the exciting adventures of "Moon Maid".

I thought of a large, beautiful heavenly body that I would like to see the glistening reflection of on the surface of a calm ocean.

It seemed terribly far away and impossible to reach.

I wondered about many things, and came to several different conclusions, but discarded each one after finding a flaw in the theory.

I was awed by its glorious beauty.

That was then. But times have changed. We Americans have landed a man on the moon. Not just once, but twice. There will be many more to follow until man has satisfied his curiosity.

Everyone throughout America took the time to watch the historical first landing. Everyone who did not have something else important to do watched the second one. Next time, nearly everyone will watch the moon landing (unless "Laugh-In" is on the other station). Gradually moon landings will become less and less important to the average American.

Astronauts will lose a little publicity (until they take off for Mars). That is not all that will be lost. The stirring mystery is gone. When children now look at the moon, will they ever even see its beauty through the scientific facts that will clog their minds? The whole romantic atmosphere surrounding the moon is vanishing. The mystery--the suspense--it was all so beautiful! Now it's gone!

FHA Sells Vanilla-Pepper

The Future Homemakers of America met Monday, Jan. 26, in the homemaking lab.

Vicki Cook, president, started the meeting with the opening ritual.

The girls then discussed their sale of the cookbooks, "The Favorite Recipes of Teacher", and Watkins pepper and vanilla. They are still selling the above items at $3.50 for cookbooks, $1.69 for pepper and $1.95 for vanilla. Anyone wishing to purchase an item, may notify any FHA member, or Mrs. Frances Jones, advisor.

Television Takes Place Of Books

The following was taken from the "Scholastic Teacher", Jan. 5, 1970.

What will the classroom teacher of tomorrow and the dimensions of his task be like in the 70's?

He'll be a prober--the needler, the agent to spur students to want to learn rather than the man-with-all the answers. And he'll operate in a setting that may be as far removed from our present notion of "school" as chalk is from computers.

Instead of being an all-purpose walking-talking oracle every day all day to 25 or 30 youngsters in his class, the teacher will become a clinical specialist diagnosing the particular needs and strengths of each individual child, present-day classroom.

A prescribed "starting age" for school may become meaningless. Perhaps teaching and learning will cease to be marked by a standard day of 8:30 to 4:00 or a standard year of September to May. We might have each child start school on his birthday. We might do away with the rigid class scheduling. There will be no bells to dismiss each class. Students will be on their own and the progress they make is completely up to them.

Hopefully, these changes will give every student a zest for learning.

The United States will be remembered as the only nation in the history of the world to take seriously the idea of universal public education.

The student will not have a teacher breathing down his back all day long. He'll be on his own pursuing independent studies for perhaps as many as 12 hours a week. The rest of the student's weekly time might include 18 hours in the regular classroom and six hours in large groups taught by teacher teams or mediated instruction.

"School" as we know it may disappear. The pupil might not arrive at the school building until noon because until then he has been watching instructional lessons on television at his home.

Instead of a class and a book the future student's basic curriculum of subjects could become a series of learning experiences with televisions, computers and other media in places far removed from the

Grizzle Rates All-State Choir

Geoffrey Grizzle, an LHS senior, received the honor of being in the All-State Choir which will be under the direction of Dr. McEwen of Arizona University. The All-State Choir will sing in Dallas Feb. 11-14.

Geoffrey auditioned at Coronado High School in Lubbock and was among 96 students from Region I (Amarillo area), Region II (Lubbock area) and Region III (Odessa-EI Paso area) who tried out for the All-State Choir.

Of the 96 students, 48 were chosen on the basis of their performance of five songs, "Hymn For Our Time", "How-die Christus Natus Est" and "Evening Song to God" were done by memory. Christmas Cantata by Daniel Pinkham and Chichester Psalms by Leonard Bernstein were done with music.

Each student performed in an octet for a total of 24 judges (three judges for each part), Soprano and II, Tenor I and II and Bass I and II.

In other choir news, the Littlefield High School Choirs will ready themselves for contest to be held at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview, March 19.

Chili Draws FTA Crowd

A tubful of chili drew a crowd of Future Teachers of America members to the Willie Room of the REA building, Jan. 19.

Jan Christian brought the meeting to order with the reading of a letter from the Levelland FTA. The Littlefield FTA was asked to join in a talent show sponsored by the Levelland Chapter.

Following this, Jan introduced the subject of selecting a Teacher of the Year for 1969-70.

Tonya Bingham, vice-president, led a discussion on the good characteristics of a teacher. Nominations were made and the members later reached their final decision. This teacher will be disclosed at the Honor Festival in May.

With no further business, the members began eating bowl after bowl of homemade chili, grabbing a handful of crackers and mixing some iced tea. After everyone's appetite was satisfied, they were dismissed.

Science Club Hears Dr. Fain

Dr. J. R. Fain was the guest speaker for the Science Club meeting held Monday, Jan. 12, in the chemistry lab.

He spoke on the use and misuse of drugs and discussed each drug thoroughly. He told how drugs could be used to help a person or how they could be harmful to your body. At the end of his talk, the members were able to see some examples of drugs.

New officers were elected for the second semester. They are Danny Short, president; Kenneth Richardson, vice-president; Joanna Rogers, secretary; Vicki Wimberly, treasurer, and Jane Nowlin, publicity director.

They also discussed the garage sale that they had and it was estimated that they had about $80 in their treasury.

LHS Speaks Out

This week LHS Speaks Out asked the students what CHANCERY meant, without the aid of a reference. It means a division of the High Court of Justice in Great Britain; a court of equity.

Here are some of the students answers:

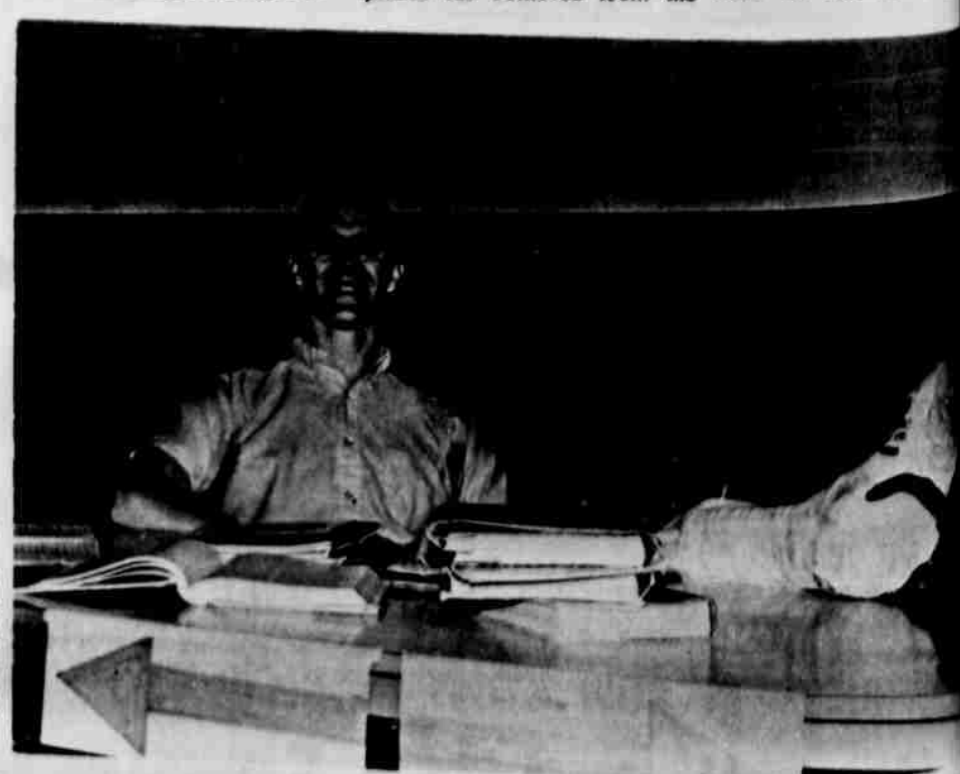

Geoffrey Grizzle (Sr.)-- "Leaving it to luck."

Belinda Moreno (Sr.)-- "The absent mindedness which focuses on love; love thoughts; romantic feelings."

Owens Wins WTA Award

SOIL TESTING TIME

It's time to collect soil samples from fields or pastures in order to get fertilizer and/or lime down while the land is being prepared. The only sure way for determining plant food requirements for crops and pastures is through a planned soil testing program.

Yohners Headquarters For Gardening Needs

This is the time of year to treat willows and all fruit trees for bores, and Yohner's Feed, Seed and Fertilizer at 409 W. Delano is the place to get bore remedies.

From now until March 1 is the time to treat lawns with pre-emergence, Mrs. Yohner said, and Yohners carry a complete line of chemicals.

Yohners also advise gardeners to use dormant spray now to kill off scales and eggs to really keep down the insect problem later on. Yohners are booking trees, shrubs, roses and bedding plants now so gardeners will get better quality plants as well as a better price. Gladiolas, crocus and other spring bulbs will soon be arriving.

Yohners is the gardening center in Littlefield. A new shipment of peat moss and potting soil is in.

Concrete fountains and bird feeders are something new here and are coming in daily. There are all kinds of pottery, too, as well as redwood buckets and marble rock for flower beds. Hose sprayers, hand sprayers, yard tools and sprinkler cans are offered in a plentiful selection.

There is even a free booklet to tell gardeners what their problems are and what to do about them.

Yohners always carry several racks of packaged flower and vegetable seeds and have seed in bulk quantity, too.

Yohners have seeders for loan when you get ready to plant your grass seed, and spreaders are loaned when you purchase fertilizer here.

Shorty Yohner said it's time to book your Asgrow and DeKalb seeds and sorghum grains.

Good brand names here include Wayne's Feeds, Fertiloam insecticides and fertilizers and a complete line of Ortho garden care.

Whatever your feed, seed or gardening need, go by Yohners. If they don't have it, they can get it for you.

If you find your name in small print on this page, you may go to that advertiser and collect $2 with no obligation.

Residents Face Deadlines

Several important dates and deadlines are facing county residents in the next few months.

Citizens wishing to vote in 1970 elections must be registered before Jan. 31—the county tax assessor-collector's office will not be open on that date, but those sent by mail and postmarked by that time will be accepted.

Deadline for payment of 1969 city taxes and school taxes is Jan. 31—after that, penalties and interest will be added.

Automobile license plates go on sale Feb. 2, and deadline for candidate filing for placement on primary ballots is that same date.

Feb. 2, farmers begin their sign-up for feed grain, cotton and wheat programs, with final deadline set at March 20.

Farmers and ranchers are to return their 1969 Census of Agriculture by Feb. 15.

License plates must be affixed to front and rear of Texas automobiles by April 1.

Uncle Sam requires that federal income tax reports be made by April 15, and the Texas Department of Public Safety requires that all 1970 motor vehicle inspection stickers be placed in the lower left corner of the front windshield by April 15.

Hot-Handed Brownfield Blisters Cats, 94-60

Littlefield's Wildcats ran into some of the hottest shooting in Texas High School basketball this year Tuesday night at Brownfield.

The Cubs raced to a 94-60 victory, thanks largely to a 62 per cent shooting average from the field.

Brownfield blistered the nets for 22 goals in 33 tries during the first half, when the Cubs rolled up a 51-22 margin.

It was fairly even in the second half, 43-38, even though the Cub shooting percentage still held high at 56.

Coach Jim Jefferies' Cats hit a good percentage of shots themselves, 42 per cent, but it wasn't enough to hold the blistering pace.

By quarters the scores were 26-10, 25-12, 15-21, and 28-17, with the Wildcats making a strong recovery in the third frame.

Littlefield scoring was paced by Charles Carter with 21, while Charlie Holt had 14 and Max

Hutchins 13, Gary Nace chipped in with 8.

The hottest hand of the night belonged to Brownfield's John Scott, who hit 16 of 19 from the field and scored a total of 34 points. Mike Richardson had 24 and Mike Robertson had 15.

Next game for the Wildcats is here Friday night against league-leading Dunbar. The Panthers are unbeaten in District play.

Sheep Harvest Totaled 36

Aoudad sheep hunters in the Palo Duro Canyon area of the Texas Panhandle needed more than skill and marksmanship this year during the five-day season ending Jan. 7.

They harvested 36 sheep--28 rams and eight ewes--in weather ranging from five degrees below zero to a high of 31 degrees above.

Dick DeArment, project leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said landowners received 125 aoudad permits, about half of which were issued to hunters, but icy weather and winds up to 30 miles per hour chilled the enthusiasm of some.

Snow on the third day of the hunt added to the general discomfort.

One Briscoe County hunter came out with a true trophy for the wall, a big ram with a horn measurement of 30 7/8 inches, a base circumference of 17 3/4 inches, and a field-dressed weight of 202 pounds.

Six sheep were taken in Randall County, 13 in Briscoe County and Armstrong County had a kill of 17 animals.

Aoudad sheep, originally from the Atlas Mountains of Africa, aren't the easiest animals to hunt. Hunters saw a total of 225 head, and those who were successful this year averaged 7.9 hours in the field each.

A party of three men from Baton Rouge, La., hunted from sunrise to sunset each of the five days and went home empty-handed. They said they intended to return next year.

Each hunter who bagged a sheep averaged 2.9 shots.

Miles mean little in today's hunting. A sheep hunter can 1,600 airline miles from Stamford, Conn., and another joined the hunt after flying in from Coral Gables, Fla. DeArment said a few women also participated in the hunt this year.

Aoudads are big animals who prefer the roughest of canyon habitat they can find, and one big ram fell 300 feet from the top of a canyon rim, lodged 150 feet from the bottom of the deep cut, and had to be brought out in quarters.

Biologists estimate the total Palo Duro sheep population at about 600, all offspring from the original 44 stocked by the Department in 1957.

Sunday was a busy day for city policemen.

Patrolmen recovered two hubcaps for Calvin Wright, who had reported the theft the Sunday prior to that.

The hubcaps were on a car which was being driven by two boys.

Police are still investigating vandalism of a telephone booth which occurred sometime Saturday night or Sunday at Fourth and LFD Drive. Someone had torn out the side cover to the booth.

Curtis Williams reported the theft of a red tool box, which contained wrenches and sockets, from a vehicle while it was parked at a barber shop.

The tool box was about two feet long and eight inches deep.
