

Your Taxes Go Up

Starting Thursday of this week, anyone who gets a traffic ticket or a fine for a misdemeanor or other charge will get a second charge added to this with the extra charge above the price of the fine, for the state of Texas. Everyone will feel the effect of the new tax table that goes into effect the same day.

Beginning July 1, a five per cent state and local sales tax will be added to all taxable items purchased from retail stores.

The new tax table replaces the former 4.25 per cent patrons have been paying.

The tax on city and county fines came as a surprise to most people, coming out of the closing session of this legislative session. An additional set charge of $2.50 will be added to traffic tickets, $5 to misdemeanor fines, and $10 to felony charges.

Reproduced here is the 5% State and City Sales Tax:

FESTIVITIES DAYS PLANNING CONTINUES

Car, Cycle, TV Drawing Set

Three chances at big prizes is one of the feature attractions of Lamb County Festivities Days.

This is the third annual celebration, and the name has been changed from Littlefield Festivities Days to Lamb County Festivities Day.

In a planning meeting Friday noon, low bids were accepted on a car, a motor cycle, and a colored television set that will be given away in a drawing at 8 p.m. Aug. 28.

A gold-colored Plymouth Cricket from Garland Motor Company, a 105 Indian Trail Cycle from the new Cycle Shop in Littlefield, and an 18-inch Sylvania from Ken's TV & Appliance will be awarded to lucky individuals on the last night of the Festival.

Expected to be the biggest and best of any activity yet staged here, the Aug. 27th and 28th activities will include a beauty contest and the naming of a Miss Lamb County, a parade that is expected to draw entries and participation from far and near, a possible flea market, and the usual contests, including the beard growing, biggest liar, and kids' contests, in addition to dances for teens and adults.

Three hundred dollars in prize money will be given to the best parade entries, with prizes of $75, $50, and $25 given in both the individual and civic organization floats. This year's theme is "The Greatest Show on Earth" and plans are to bring Miss Ford County here to lead the parade, along with Owens Sausage Company's Clydesdale horses and wagons to add spice to the procession. ## CARS HIT ON BYPASS

Three Injured In Crash

Three persons were injured in a two-car accident on Marshall Howard Boulevard Friday afternoon.

Two Littlefield teenagers, Donna Hallmark and Sheila Jackson, were traveling north on the bypass in a 1959 Renault, when Mrs. Frank Herrera pulled in front of them as she drove east on the county dirt road that intersects the loop a mile north of the overpass at the intersection of U.S. 84 and 54.

The compact car hit the side of Mrs. Herrera's 1968 Chevrolet, knocking it into the ditch on the left side of the road.

All three were taken to the Littlefield Hospital by Hammons ambulance.

Miss Hallmark received a broken right leg, a concussion, and a bad cut on her left eye. Miss Jackson remained in the hospital at presstime Saturday for treatment of cuts and bruises, and Mrs. Herrera was hospitalized and had a broken nose, cuts and bruises.

Property damage to both cars was extensive, according to James Cox and Truman Burrows, investigating officers.

TOP YARD ON DISPLAY

June "Yard of the Month" honors went to Dr. and Mrs. O.W. Still, 601 E. 12th.

The naming of the best yard in Littlefield during the summer months is a project of "We, The Women." Mrs. Marvin Dane, representing the Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary, presented Dr. Still with a potted plant donated by the Flower Box.

TOMATOES GROW IN GRAVEL, WATER

Wren Farms Without Dirt

By NILAH RODGERS
Leader-News Staff Writer

Larry Wren is taking the dirt out of dirt farming and growing luscious red tomatoes in freshly washed gravel.

The tomatoes are produced in a green house just east of U. S. 84 on Marshall Howard Boulevard, but vegetables grown in this manner could just as easily be grown atop a skyscraper in Dallas or New York or in agriculturally impoverished lands.

The principle of growing vegetables in pea-sized gravel and water is called hydroponics, and it offers great promise for the future.

Wren bought the dirtless tomato-growing operation last year from Walter Choate who opened the plant in 1966.

The tomatoes are grown 34 plants to each 16-foot long fiberglass tray. Trays are 30 inches wide by nine inches deep, and these are watered five times a day by pumps that are on automatic time clocks.

Iron, trace elements and phosphoric acid are mixed up and added to the 26 watering pumps.

This year Wren has 1,768 plants in the 40 x 130-foot greenhouse; it has a capacity of 1,900. Greenhouse tomatoes grown in dirt are set 16 inches apart, but hydroponic tomatoes are set 11 inches apart.

Plants are kept pruned to a single stalk and these are trained up a special soft plastic twine. Wren said binder twine makes marks on the tomatoes where they

HYDROPONIC TOMATO crops depend on good pollination, and Larry Wren uses a battery-operated device to substitute for bees at his hothouse on Marshall Howard Boulevard. He grows 2,000 plus pounds of tomatoes from plants growing in gravel and automatically watered and fed with water soluble fertilizer.

GOOD EATING, TOO!

Tomato Crops In Good Supply

Tomato lovers in and around Littlefield will have plenty of vine-ripened tomatoes if nothing happens to the plans of tomato producers here.

The owners of two of Littlefield's hothouses have ripe tomatoes now. Larry Wren has almost 1,800 producing plants. (See the feature story on this page.) L. D. and Gene Cogdell have bought out Charlie Richardson's greenhouse on the Bula Highway, and are doubling its capacity.

John Robertson has transplanted his hothouse tomato plants, and has one-fourth acre growing in the field.

B. E. Turner, just off east Marshall Howard Boulevard, is raising three acres of tomatoes, three acres of peppers and a half acre of okra. The vegetables were planted about the middle of May and were set back some by hail. Okra will be coming off soon, and it will be the middle of August before tomatoes ripen.

The Cogdells took over Richardson's greenhouse operations May 17, and a new extension that doubles the present capacity of 1,200 plants is just about complete. The Cogdells are a father and son team and both are moving here from Crosbyton.

Growing tomatoes is a new venture for them. The elder Cogdell's retirement as a rural mail carrier is effective July 25, and the younger man has been engaged with a lumber yard.

The Cogdells will sell their vegetables both wholesale and retail, with the number ones contracted to local and area grocers and number twos and number threes offered at reduced prices at the greenhouse.

Their extension is ultra modern, with automatic heating and cooling.

The present crop will be in full production in about five weeks, and the new crop in the second greenhouse will be coming off in October.

DAYNA KAY PARSON flashes an approving smile and climbs up to help out with the dipping when homemade ice cream is served at her house. She is the 3 1/2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Parson, 403 E. 19th.

J. J. KENNEMER will preach his sermon Sunday as pastor of Littlefield First Baptist Church. His wife, Joan, their 17-year-old son and 6-year-old son are moving to Littlefield from El Paso where he was pastor of the Grandview Baptist Church. Rev. Kennemer is a graduate of Hardin Simmons University and finished seminary in Dallas. He has been pastor at churches in Angelo, Seminole and Glen Rose.

Salvation Army Closing Its Doors

Littlefield Salvation Army Building closed following final services at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Daniel Hudson will conduct the service at 11 a.m. which will mark the 25 years of continuous operations in Littlefield.

Services will continue for a week under the supervision of Major Bob Lubbock.

Salvation Army opened here on June 1, 1946 under Eula Trummell.

Hudson and his wife will be at Camp Hoblitzelle in Midlothian during the summer, then reassigned in Littlefield.

HEARING TUESDAY

Whether or not Lamb County goes into a new low-cost housing program for poor families will depend on the outcome of a hearing at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the courtroom.

The project is sponsored by the Plains Community Action Council, and tax exempt revenue bonds will furnish the financing. The project will be developed by the Federal Housing Administration.

SNAPDRAGONS
The snapdragon is one of our most common, and most lovely, garden flowers. The blossoms fly shut with a snap when they are pressed, and a favorite with children. This snapping action probably gave them their name.

It is used for ornamental borders for large flower gardens because of the variety of many beautiful colors.

We feel the important part of our business is variety. We have most any flower that you want, and when you want it. We consider ourselves to be your gardener—and we strive daily to please you.

Miss Robertson Wed To Joe McFerrin

Altar decorations of apricot and white gladiolus, flanked by spiral candelabras and flares was the setting for the double ring ceremony of Miss Phyllis Earlene Robertson and Joe David McFerrin Friday evening, June 25, in the First United Methodist Church of Littlefield.

Rev. David Hamblin, assisted by Raymond Jones of Cotton

Center Baptist Church, officiated for the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Glen E. Robertson of Cotton Center, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McFerrin, also of Cotton Center.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of antique ivory silk satin and rosepoint lace. It featured an Empire bodice with a bateau dropped shoulder neckline, and tiny capelet sleeves of ruffled handmade rosepoint lace. Her waistline was marked by a fold of stain, and the slim A-line skirt was complemented by a full fan shaped train that swirled to a chapel length. A matching stain Camelot hat held her shoulder length mantilla of rosepoint lace, which fell in soft folds over her veil of illusion. She carried a tapered bridal bouquet with a cymbidium orchid nestled among stephanotis and baby's breath.

Miss Jennifer Robertson attended her sister as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Misses Sally Robertson of Cotton Center, sister of the bride, Tresa Moring of Alice, and Beverly Allen of Lubbock.

The attendants were fashioned in formal-length gowns of mire mist of apricot and moss green styled with portrait necklines. The lantern designed sleeves and Empire bodices were accented with white and moss green lace rosettes. They wore arrangements of stephanotis in their hair, and carried bouquets of stephanotis and baby's breath.

Candles were lighted by cousins of the groom, Maxwell Applewhite and Morris Applewhite, both of Cotton Center.

John Starnes of Cotton Center served the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Terry Bradshaw, Marc Applewhite and Gordon Hunt, all of Cotton Center.

The guests were seated by Doyle McFerrin of Dimmitt, Jim McFerrin of Spade, both brothers of the groom, and Ted

Ary-Shepherd Vows Read In Lubbock

Miss Evelyn Diann Ary pledged double ring wedding vows with Kent Bertram
Shepherd Saturday afternoon,
June 26, in the Highland Baptist Church of Lubbock.

Rev. Richard Waters, pastor, officiated for the ceremony.
Parents of the couple are Mr.
and Mrs. Charles Ary of Littlefield and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle
Shepherd of Lubbock.

The archway was decorated with candelabras and greenery.
Pedestals held white gladiolus and cushion mums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Juliet style gown of white organza and Val lace. The bodice and cap of her sleeves were made of window-pane checks of Val lace. Her long full-blown sleeves were cuffed in the same lace and were centered at the cap of the sleeves with a lovers' bow, adorned with a lace and pearl rosette. The full flowing skirt was complemented by a detachable train edged in Val lace. A lovers' bow and rosette motifs were repeated at the waistline of her dress. Bouffant illusion was gathered to her white Juliet headpiece.

Nuptials Pledged Saturday Afternoon

OLTON--Miss Lupe Hernandez became the bride of Victor Contreras Saturday afternoon, June 26, in Hopewell Baptist Church of Olton before a flowered archway decorated with wedding bells and flanked with branched candelabras.

Rev. Glen E. Godsey, pastor of First Mexican Baptist Church of Plainview, officiated for the reading of the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Hernandez of Olton, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Contreras of Amarillo.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal-length gown of bridal taffeta and lace, designed with a scalloped neckline, Empire waist, long Juliet sleeves and a semi-A-line silhouette, swept to a full back. Her full length chapel veil was edged with lace, and held by a crown headpiece of pearls encrusted with seed pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of white orchids entwined with baby's breath and white ribbon streamers. The bridal bouquet was made by the bride's mother.

Musical selections of "Theme From Love Story", "I Believe", and "The Lord's Prayer" was presented by Luis Rey, soloist, and Mrs. Dewey Hukill, pianist. Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Pauli Hernandez of Olton, sister of the bride. She was fashioned in a white formal-length gown with an Empire waistline, and she carried a long-stem daisy.

Bridesmaids were Misses Debbie Landers of Amherst, Mary Gutierrez of Muleshoe, Alma Villanueva of Olton, and Betty Chauaria of Big Spring. They wore identical formal-length gowns of coral orange, featuring Empire waistlines. They each carried a long-stem daisy.

Flower girls were Rhonda Garcia, Rhonetta Garcia, and Jo Ann Alirez, all of Olton. They were fashioned like the bridesmaids. Two of the flower girls each carried a large white weaved basket, while the third flower girl threw daisies to pave the bride's way.

Ring bearer was Lupe Saldivar Jr. of Olton. Candelighters were Johnny Hernandez and Robert Sanchez, both of Olton. The candelighters also served as ushers.

Serving the groom as best man was Joe Belew of Snyder. Groomsmen were Eugene Carrillo of Big Spring, Luis Rey, Sel Sanchez, and Ray Hernandez, all of Olton.

The bride's mother chose an aqua blue, daron knit dress with white accessories. She wore a white carnation corsage.

A reception followed in the home of the bride's parents. Miss Lisa Landers and Miss Linda Gray presided at the serving table. The three-tiered cake was trimmed with coral orchids, green leaves, and was topped with a miniature bride and groom under an archway of flowers.

For a wedding trip to Denver, Colo., the bride chose a pale blue knit suit with white accessories. She wore a white carnation corsage.

The couple will reside at 4104 S. Gables in Amarillo.

The bride is a graduate of Olton High School, and she is presently a senior at West Texas State University. She is affiliated with Gamma Sigma Sigma National Service Sorority.

The groom is a graduate of Fluvanna High School and attended West Texas State University. He is employed by Panhandle Beef Packing in Amarillo.

82nd Birthday Observed

Mrs. G. T. Galloway of Olton observed her 82nd birthday recently. She was born Cloa Erb, June 1, 1889, in Marion County Iowa.

Mrs. Galloway came with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Erb and her brother, Artie to the Olton area in December of 1908.

The late George Galloway, first County Clerk of Lamb County, and Cloa were married in December of 1909. Prior to their marriage she served as his deputy. The Galloways established Littlefield's first telephone exchange.

Three sons and one daughter were born to the Galloways: Cecil Galloway who lives in Houston, Charles and Wilbur Galloway who reside near Olton, and Mrs. R. E. Womack (Gladys) who lives in Midland. There are 10 grandchildren, one step-grandson, and 10 great-grandchildren.

Cloa Galloway enjoys handicrafts, and is presently making crocheted bead necklaces. She is a member of the First United Methodist Church and attended Senior Citizens Camp at Ceta Canyon last summer.

TRUCKS AID SHOPPERS

Because trucks can go anywhere, during all seasons, the shopping habits and menus of American families are vastly different from "the old days." Now, daily truck deliveries to the nation's shopping centers, large and small, downtown and in the suburbs, offer Americans a veritable king's ransom of choices and values.

Clair-Cox Vows
Wedged In Farwell

WILAKE-Miss Jana Clair and Wilton Dale Cox wedded double ring wedding Friday evening, June 25, at the Church of Christ at Olton.

Officiating for the ceremony was the Rev. Dr. J. A. St. Clair of Olton. The bride's mother, Mrs. J. A. St. Clair of Olton, and Mrs. Dale Cox of Olton were guests.

The bride wore a formal gown of bridal satin, a lace covered bodice, long petal point sleeves, a scalloped neckline. Two large roses fashioned the train of her dress which she carried down into a Watteau style fingertip veil of silk.

The bride was adorned with pearls, a "something old" she wore a sweetheart bracelet, and her mother by the father during their trip. Her veil was "something new," and her dress was "something old" from her aunt, Mrs. J. H. Myers of Canyon. She wore a blue garter for "something blue," and she had a minted shoe. The bride and groom were

The bride's bouquet was a large white orchids with white streamers.

Miss Gartner of Aspen, a maid of honor. Miss Phillips of Farwell was maid. Their white petal bouquets were tied with green streamers. Delighters were Renee of Lazbuddie and Pierce of Spearman, and the bride.

After Jorgenson of Farwell.

The bride's attendants were in formal length of mint green dotted featuring scooped and bouffant sleeves. Green velvet ribbon tied their Empire bodices, long bows with long bows.

Sherrill of Bovina was the Groomsman. Miss J. A. St. Clair of Olton, and Gary of Bovina seated the bride. Andy Forehand of Olton, cousin of the groom, was the best man.

"Each For The Other" and "The Wedding March" were presented by singers of the Olton Main Street Church of Christ. Gerald Elkins, cousin of the bride sang the "Twelfth of Never". "Oh Perfect Love" was sung as the recessional.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. St. Clair chose an aqua ensemble of dacron knit with bone accessories. She wore an aqua-orchid corsage.

The groom's mother wore an apricot dress with a matching orchid corsage, and bone accessories.

A reception followed in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The serving table was laid with white marquisette over white and decorated with mint green satin bows. Wedding bells were featured on the traditional three tiered cake, with white roses and mint green leaves. The table was centered with the bridal bouquet which was placed in a crystal goblet and encircled by the attendant's nosegays.

Miss Carolyn Cox of Coyanosa, sister of the groom registered the guests at the wedding and the reception.

Misses Melody Roberts and Marsha Lovelace, both of Farwell presided at the serving table.

The bride wore a two piece dress of orange dacron with white accessories for her traveling costume.

She wore the white orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Farwell High School, and the groom is a graduate of Bovina High School. They both attend South Plains College.

The newly weds reside at 1304 Ave. H, in Levelland. He is a field man for ASC, and Mrs. Cox is employed at Penny's Department Store.

Hypocrisy Hurts

By BOB WEAR

THE LOSS IN HUMAN GOOD because of hypocrisy is astounding; and is the kind of loss that we cannot afford. The hypocrite loses, and the persons touched by his false life style are losers, too. The group, or the business establishment, or the civic organization, or the church congregation with which the hypocrite is associated is weakened.

Hypocrisy hurts because it is an imbalance, and its influence causes widespread imbalance in the total human experience. Pretending to be what one is not, or pretending to believe what one does not is dishonesty at its worst. It is perhaps the most despicable of all vices.

"HYPOCRISY IS THE NECESSARY burden of villainy, affectation is part of the chosen trappings of folly; the one completes a villain, the other finishes a fool." Contempt is the proper punishment of affectation, and detestation the just consequence of hypocrisy. Johnson.

One of the most foolish of all behavior patterns is hypocrisy. In the first place, most hypocrites are soon known for what they are rather than for what they pretend to be. The hypocrite must be busy, constantly trying to keep his disguise in good order. After doing his best, however, most people eventually see through the mask he wears.

ALL OF US ARE INCLINED to pretend to be what we are not, in one or more aspects of life; according to some authorities in human behavior. This may be true, but whether it is or is not, we must be diligent to rid ourselves of all elements of hypocrisy. We can do much to overcome the inclination to be hypocritical by being fundamentally honest.

Hypocrisy is not confined to religion, but covers the whole broad expanse of life.

"SOME PEOPLE SNEAK as if hypocrites were confined to religion, but they are everywhere; people pretending to be wealthy when they have not a sixpence; assuming knowledge of which they are ignorant; shamming a culture they are far removed from; adopting opinion they do not hold."—A. Goodrich

The presence of hypocrisy, in the various facets of the human scene, is often used by people as the reason for their unwise and off-beat choices and actions. This is worse than the hypocrisy the people give as the reason for their wrong behavior. One excuse is as bad as another, when people do not want to be right or do right.

IN ORDER TO HIDE behind a hypocrite, we must be smaller than the hypocrite.

Hypocrisy is here to stay, but we must not permit it to keep us from the full use of our opportunities and the wise acceptance of our obligations.

PAUL HARVEY

Next U.S. President

THE NEXT President of the United States will be.

Rarely in recent history has it been more fun to speculate as to who'll be our next President because so many want to be.

I suspect that a lot of middleweights are aspiring to the heavyweight championship just from having watched Mr. Nixon come from behind four years ago. They figure if he could anybody can. Of course, not everybody can.

HISTORICALLY, our country prefers to move governors into the Presidency because, theoretically, they have more of the necessary administrative experience.

Yet Mr. Nixon, with experience only as a member of Congress and as Vice President—defeated as a candidate for governor—sought and got the White House.

So now we have Sens. Hughes and Bayh and Muskie and McGovern and Proxmire and Jackson and Kennedy all hopeful.

And, of course, Humphrey.

AND NONE OF THE others wants to help Humphrey until each has tested his own potential.

One day last January, during lunch in the House dining room, Congressman Jim Burke said, "Look at all those senators with their Madison Avenue images trying to sound like Presidents: why don't we tout somebody from the House half of Congress?" And so they did.

Tongue in cheek, at first, a handful of colleagues began to talk up Congressman Wilbur Mills for President. Each day additional House members endorsed Mills if only because it flattered the powerful chairman of their Ways and Means Committee.

Now dozens of the 254 Democrats in the House are supporting for President a man who could walk down most any main street in America unrecognized.

HIS MOST ARDENT supporters concede that Wilbur Mills is the darkest of the horses in the race, but so was Richard Nixon in 1967.

You understand that most incumbent politicians like to get themselves mentioned for President if only to enhance their prestige with their home-state voters. Few go so far as to establish organizations and solicit financial support for their candidacies. Yet Democrats, staggered by two assassinations, a President scratched and a candidate defeated, are suffering from a dearth of proved leadership. It's a wide open race for the Democratic nomination among a field of unspectacular contenders.

Muskie got away from the post fast, is lagging in the backstretch.

WITH A YEAR to go it's much too early to speculate intelligently, but watch the party pros—still lying low—and you know they are hoping for a sprinter to move out front in the stretch—but they're putting their show money on Hubert Humphrey.

So as of this moment, 1972 looks like a replay of 1968. The several staying in the race know that on a fast track Nixon will win again. But if it's muddy, he won't.

If he keeps us prosperous and gets us out of Indochina nobody can beat him. If he doesn't, anybody could.

Pity The Middle Class

This column was picked up from one of our exchange papers. It has so much truth in it we will pass it on to you. Apparently the author is unknown but as one writer said "he is evidently tired of working to pay the upkeep of non-workers."

For years, the greatest fear in man's life was to be poor. It is about the worst thing that could happen. But gradually it is changing. In fact, nowadays, you can get subsidized housing, health and dental care, university scholarships and various other welfare benefits, provided you are poor enough. All you need to enjoy many of the advantages of life is proof that you are disadvantaged.

Nobody can complain about that. It's human and kind. However, in curing poverty society has created another problem group. And that's the middle class.

Nobody wants to be middleclass anymore because the middle class has an awkward amount of money...to much to be eligible to live as well as the poor, too little to live as well as the rich. The middle class wage earner is caught in between.

Instead of living downtown (like the rich and the poor) the poor sap has to buy a crummy lot 35 miles from town because that's all he can afford. And then he spends the rest of his life trying to pay the bills, educate the kids and meet the mortgage because nobody will help him out. If poverty gets any more attractive, this is the sort of thing we may run into at the office. "Mr. Goodie, I wonder if I could speak to you a minute?" "What is it Smedley, I'm busy." "It's about my salary, Mr. Goodie. I wonder if you could please give me a decrease."

"You had a decrease less than a year ago, Smedley."

"I know, sir. I wouldn't ask if it wasn't important, but I sure could use less money."

"What size decrease did you have in mind?"

"I was hoping for a $25 cut in salary."

"Twenty-five dollars! That's a big slide, Smedley. What have you done to merit it?"

"I've worked for the company 23 years, Mr. Goodie. And I've never let you down. My work has always been up to standard."

"I realize that, Smedley, but $25. Wouldn't you be satisfied with a $15 cut? We have a budget right now. We're already below last year's salary figures. And I hear the union is furious, tax wise."

"Mr. Goodie, a $15 cutback is better than none, but my wife and I had our hearts set on a $25 decrease."

"How about $20?"

"If I get $25 less, we'd be eligible for an apartment in the city's new development, the one with a pool, sauna and tennis court. Besides my son would qualify for a government scholarship and we could get his teeth fixed."

"You drive a hard bargain, Smedley. But you win. You get a $25 decrease on this condition. If your work slips, you'll take a $10 raise, no questions asked."

"Bless you, Mr. Goodie."

"And, Smedley, will you invite me over for tennis and a swim some night when you get into your new place?"

"Certainly, sir, I believe the poor should share with the less fortunate."

THE PHILOSOPHER

Controversy

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes a look at a current controversy this week with his own brand of insight.

Dear editor: I had always thought that "Classified" was something you paid for in a newspaper's Want-Ad section and wanted people to read, but like everybody else in the country who has seen a newspaper or watched television recently I've learned that Classified means something the Pentagon considers secret and doesn't want anybody else to read.

However in the uproar over the publication of the Vietnam classified documents from 47 volumes (some people wonder what the Pentagon needs with 50 or 60 billion dollars a year but they don't understand the details; have you ever figured up how many rubber stamps it takes to stamp 15 sets of 47 volumes containing 7,000 pages with the words Top Secret-Classified?) there's one point it looks like everybody is missing.

The point is, how come the Pentagon is the only outfit with the right to stamp something Classified and thereby make it against the law for outsiders to see it?

Personally I'd like to see this right extended, even if a man has to buy his own rubber stamp. Probably could get one at a government surplus sale.

For example, take a man's credit rating. If anything ought to be classified, that should. When a mail order house want you to buy something on credit and you'd like to too but it first insists on seeing your credit rating, you ought to have the right to say you're sorry but that information is classified but go ahead and fill the order.

If there was some way I could stamp my bank balance Classified and keep some bookkeeper or computer from looking at it, I wouldn't care how high taxes got or how far inflation went.

Boxed in with a hard question about where you were Saturday night? Mark it Classified and restore peace in the family. The Pentagon is on to a good thing and I'm in favor of passing it around.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Home Ownership Hi

Compared with some sections of the country, home ownership in Lamb County is at a high level.

According to the latest official figures, the proportion of local families that own the houses in which they live is relatively large.

The findings are based upon an analysis of reports released by the Department of Commerce, based upon data gathered during the recent Census of Housing.

It shows that no less than 57 per cent of all dwelling units in Lamb County are now owned by their occupants.

Most of the upward trend in home ownership took place in the eight years or so prior to 1968, when there was little unemployment, when incomes were moving higher and when the availability of mortgage money at favorable rates made it possible for many families to attain their goal—a home of their own.

The figures for the local area show a total of 6,741 year-round dwelling units, of which 3,843 are owner-occupied.

Nationally, the number of home owners rose 7.1 million in the 10-year period, going from 32.8 million to 39.9 million.

However, because of the population during those years, the percentage of families in the country who were living in their own homes only slightly higher in 1970 than in 1960.

Although there has been an up in recent years, with people buying bigger and better homes, there has also been much more improving the older dwellings, extensions, alterations and repairs.

During the past year alone, an estimated $14.8 billion on such upkeep and improvement, the government shows.

Because of inflation and the housing construction in real estate values have been zooming.

In Lamb County, on the basis of median price asked for local homes, the total value of owner-occupied property comes to approximately $31,897,000, far above what it was when the median value was

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED

Postal Observance

The inauguration of the new United States Postal Service on July 1 will be celebrated in Littlefield as well as in Washington, D. C. and every post office across the country.

Littlefield Postmaster George Thompson has announced that the Littlefield Post Office is holding an open house, Thursday, July 1, and is inviting all of the Littlefield postal patrons to visit the local post office and meet the men and women who comprise the new U. S. Postal Service.

Visitors to the post office will be given a souvenir envelope imprinted with the old and new insignia of the Postal Service. This envelope will also be made available in limited numbers as a first day cancellation—for just the cost of an eight cent stamp.

This will be the first time First Day Covers have been available in all U. S. Post Offices simultaneously. The brand new stamp bears the new U. S. Postal Service emblem, and will be as long as they last.

A booklet describing the new service, how it works will be available, and big, bright, colorful posters of blow-ups of famous stamps available to the public on order.

The underlying theme of the new United States Postal Service is to do a better job for you, to restore the traditional relationship between the Office and the community.

... TOMATOES

touch it, and most other things treated.

Keeping the plants pruned, pollinated is the biggest chore in farming operation. Each day Wren uses electric vibrator to pollinate. This vibrator that substitutes for six feet long and its battery is electrically. Each flower cluster vibrates every day to shake loose. Providing the plants with sex life is most important to a farmer. Each grain of pollen is supposed to be in the tomato, and the bigger and beef-steakier the tomato, the better.

A humidity of 60-80 per cent is maintained at all times, with the humidity needed when pollinating mounted foggers on 3/4 inch nozzles eight inches apart. Five 36-inch circular fans with water cooled pads keep the air cool in the summer, and heaters warm the building in winter. The plants are never exposed to temperatures below 60 degrees, 85 degrees.

Wren has been growing tomatoes for years, but plans to leave the next year an extra three months. Tomatoes now were put in January 15, and are pulled up next month just as tomatoes are beginning to ripen. Crop will be coming off about June 1.

Wren said he could sell twice as many tomatoes as he is now producing. Shooting for a higher yield next year, Wren plans to sell for a pound in grocery stores. Hydroponically nurtured tomatoes and taste so good they are snatched as they can be grown, even nearly all cases they cost more grown foods.

The plants can yield 15 times as much as would come from amount of soil. The plants mature and because they are protected from hail, dust, extreme heat and cold, they are grown the year-round.

The plants yield 12-15 pounds average conditions, and some have grown as much as 25 pounds. Wren said he measured one other day that had five clusters of tomatoes.

Hydroponically grown tomatoes eliminates most physical labor, much less water than needed in soil.

Wren manages most of the greenhouse after he gets off work full-time job at Plant X. When he is the plant, Mrs. Wren uses the plants, and two of his girls tomatoes and get them ready for pack.

JAMES C. "POP" TURNER, a resident of Amherst Manor celebrated his 98th birthday Tuesday, June 8. Shown in the picture with Turner are his two daughters, Mrs. J.A. Bruce and Mrs. J.R. Robinson; and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Neff Turner.

'Pop' Turner Observes His 98th Birthday

James C. "Pop" Turner, a retired grocer and presently a resident of Amherst Manor, celebrated his 98th birthday Tuesday, June 8.

Refreshments of birthday cake and ice cream was served to the honoree and all residents of the Manor.

For a pastime Turner listens to his radio most of the time. "Due to bad hearing," his children have provided him with a special ear plug for his radio listening.

Before his eyesight failed, Turner "played many a game of dominoes with his room mate, visitors, or any nurse who would play dominoes with him."

Turner is known to have a delectable outlook on life, according to his nurses. One greeted him with a "good morning, it sure is a pretty day outside," and his comment was "Any day that you awake is a beautiful day, when you are as old as I am."

Ike Silver Dollar Orders Available

Congressman Bob Price has announced that order forms for the new Eisenhower Silver Dollar can be obtained from his Amarillo, Pampa, Plainview, or Washington offices. The United States Mint will begin accepting orders for the special coins on July 1.

Be on the LOOKOUT

Many times throughout history, government power was equally divided between three men. This triumvirate system was better in theory than practice; because motives developed and the three were reduced to one, or none.

There is another triumvirate: Me, Myself, and I. And as with all other threesomes, conflict begins. Only, somehow, internal struggles are harder to fight than external ones. Internal struggles turn us into ourselves and shut us off from outside ones. They blind and restrict us and limit our ability to LOOKOUT.

We don't like being shut off, alone, but we can't really LOOKOUT and help others until we can see and help ourselves. What a pity that we don't bring internal peace by turning from ourselves and reaching out to help others. For in giving, we are getting. And in helping we are being helped.

We need to LOOKOUT beyond ourselves to the distant horizon; into the sunrise of companionship and the sunset of shared love.

We must look out, instead of looking in, if we are to help others. We need to be on the LOOKOUT.

Your Medicine Cabinet: Is It Up To Date?

Dr. Morris Fishbein, former editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, has stated that "there are very few remedies which should be kept regularly in the family medicine chest."

American people suffer today with overdosage of cathartics and laxatives, and with overdosage of medicine to relieve pain and produce sleep."

USELESS CLUTTER?

Is your family's medicine chest a clutter of useless items and out-dated medicines? Does it lack basic first aid items no home should be without?

Based on information obtained from the National Safety Council, the Pharmaceutical Manufacturer's Association, the American Medical Association, and Becton, Dickinson and Company, here is a list of what your medicine chest should contain:

1. Bandages. The National Safety Council recommends sterile gauze pads, 4" x 4", adhesive tape and strip adhesive bandages with gauze pads; sterile cotton.

For sprains and strains, the ACE elastic bandage is recommended by many doctors because it "gives" as the sprain continues to swell for a time, whereas a regular bandage doesn't.

Another elastic bandage—the PEG bandage which adheres to itself, not the skin, is also recommended. It's also said to be cooler than conventional bandages because it requires less over-lapping.

GENERAL DRUGS

GLYCERINE: Useful for many purposes. A few drops warmed and dropped into the ear are frequently advised for earache.

PURE ASPIRIN: Dr. Fishbein says that aspirin—the "great American pain reliever"—is "much safer (for headaches) than pyramidon, barbituric acid derivatives, acetanilid, phenacetin, and all the other coal-tar derivatives."

TINCTURE OF IODINE: An ideal antiseptic for application to cuts or small wounds of the skin.

VASELINE PETROLEUM jelly, cold cream, zinc oxide ointment: These are useful for abrasions of the skin, chafing, sunburn, etc.

SODIUM BICARBONATE: Baking soda. Useful as a gargle. Much used for so-called "sour stomach." Good in the bath for itching of the skin.

AROMATIC SPIRITS of ammonia: Used to bring about recovery after fainting spells.

BORIC ACID: A concentrated solution is a good home antiseptic solution.

UNIVERSAL ANTIDOTE

For poisoning emergencies, The National Safety Council advises that you get the Universal Antidote from your druggist now and keep it on hand.

FEVER THERMOMETER

Dr. Fishbein states, "A good clinical thermometer should be available, and preferably two—one for taking temperature by mouth and another for temperature by rectum."

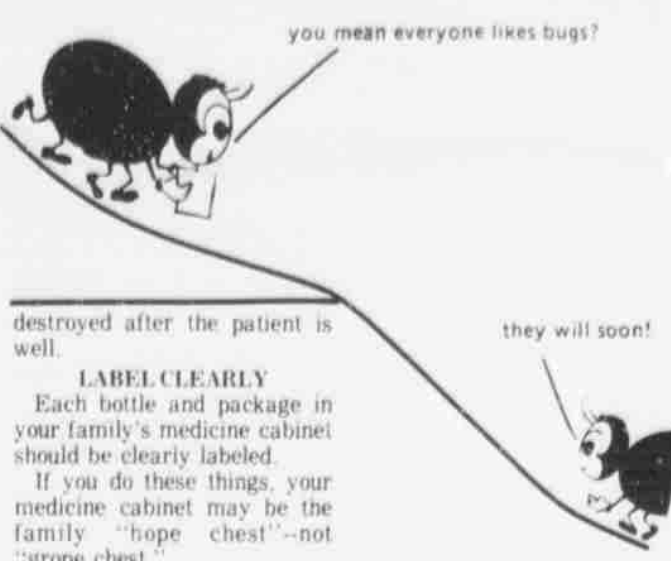

Dr. Fishbein says that when a good clinical thermometer is available in an emergency, "the comfort it gives is tremendous."

OTHER EQUIPMENT

In addition to the materials, used for first aid, most families should have among their home medical equipment a bedpan for use in cases of the many illnesses where it is not safe for the patient to get up, even to attend to the usual body needs; a bulb syringe for giving enemas; an atomizer; and sometimes a special device for creating steam to be medicated with small amounts of tincture of benzoin for relief of various forms of hoarseness.

The medicine chest should always be kept out of reach of the children. According to the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, all medicines deteriorate with age—even prescription items—so don't keep them longer than needed or directed by your physician or the prescription label. In fact, Dr. Fishbein recommends that every prescription should be destroyed after the patient is well.

LABEL CLEARLY

Each bottle and package in your family's medicine cabinet should be clearly labeled.

If you do these things, your medicine cabinet may be the family "hope chest"—not "grope chest."

Tips For Lone Women Drivers

Highway Patrolman say they have known of some lone women drivers who place a man's hat up behind the back seat to give the impression they are traveling with a man.

With so many women commuting to work and traveling now that vacation time is here, this and other tips are given for women who must travel alone.

Take another woman along if feasible. Seldom is a car forced off the road or other frightening incidents when there are two women in the car.

Even so, always lock car doors, the safest and best precaution.

A companion male mannequin or simply donning a man's hat are protective gimmicks employed by wily West Texas women.

On rural highways: Do not pick up hitchhiking strangers. Avoid stops at out-of-the-way or poorly lighted places for car service. With car trouble that necessitates help, internationally recognized signals are a white cloth hung on the traffic-side door handle or a raised hood. These will alert passing patrolmen.

At night, switch on parking and tail lights and always lock yourself in.

On extended trips, if someone stops to offer aid, keep doors and windows locked.

If you need assistance, or after a less-than-serious car accident, exchange instructions or references by pressing notes, drivers license and insurance identification against the window, counsels the safety director. Or if the samaritan appears trustworthy, lower the pane only enough to converse. If you make such a stop, he adds, keep doors locked, get instructions for sending help and drive on immediately.

On urban streets: Busy thoroughfares through well-lighted parts of town are safest. Even in your home town, and especially in traffic jams, locked windows might prevent a street corner pedestrian from reaching in to unlock a door or steal a purse.

If you evidently are being followed, make a curb stop at a busy place until the pursuer has passed. Then, if you maintain presence of mind enough, get the license number and description of the driver if a suspect must later be reported.

If after stopping a couple of times to let the suspect car pass by, you still find the same vehicle trailing, you would have cause for concern.

If you must stop in an unlighted place, honk the horn to warn passers-by of your predicament.

Self defense measures striking with the stockpile of lethal weapons components usually found in a woman's purse.

If an assailant traps the lone woman, her purse easily converts to an arsenal.

A comb, pencil or lipstick can become a surprise weapon to disable an assailant for a few seconds if it is directed at a vulnerable spot.

Punching at random will never stun an attacker like grinding such an object in his eye or Adam's apple.

The jagged neck of glass cologne or bottle are probable weapons. Some women carry small baseball bats. Freeman discovered, and discredited, by rumpled clothing, or concealed selves under a man's

Laws On Drug Abuse Should Be Strict

A two-to-one majority of teachers, students and boys on probation believe laws on drug abuse should be more strict according to a state-wide survey made by Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education (TANE). The question: "Do you believe laws on drug abuse should be more strict?" was answered, "Yes" by 85 percent of teachers, 65 percent of high school students, and 54 percent of boys on probation. Total response was 67 percent for more strict laws.

The survey was taken in both rural and metropolitan areas of the state, from Farwell, near the New Mexico line, to Houston. In large city schools, the administration was asked to determine a representative cross section of teachers and students.

"Are you personally acquainted with a drug abuser?" was answered "Yes" by 18 percent of teachers, 53 percent of high school students, and 50 percent of boys on probation.

"Do you know someone who could get illegal drugs for you today if you wished to make a purchase?" was answered "Yes" by 12 percent of teachers, 52 percent of students, and 39 percent of boys on probation.

"Do you know someone who would sell illegal drugs directly to you if you wished to make a purchase?" was answered "Yes" by 10 percent of teachers, 40 percent of students, and 39 percent of boys on probation.

"In your opinion, what are the two main factors leading to drug abuse in teenagers?" was answered "Peer Group Pressure" and "Curiosity" in that order, by teachers. Students, however, rated "Curiosity" first. Boys on probation rated "Escape" first, and "Sex Substitute" second.

"In your opinion, what are the two most important preventive measures that can be taken to combat drug abuse?" was answered "Education" and "Elimination of Supply of Illegal Drugs," by teachers and students. Boys on probation rated "Education" slightly ahead of "Law Enforcement," "Stronger Laws," and "Legalization of Marijuana." The question: "Is it possible to learn about the effects of a drug without personally experimenting with it?" was answered "Yes" by 98 percent of teachers, 90 percent of students, and 84 percent of boys on probation.

"Have you come to a decision about whether or not marijuana should be legalized?" was answered "Yes" by 80 percent of teachers, 78 percent of students, and 44 percent of boys on probation. (They were not asked what their decision was.)

Areas involved in the survey were Farwell, Cotulla, Sulphur Springs, Richardson, Garland, Childress, Grapevine, McAllen, Fort Worth, and Houston. (The survey was also taken in Dallas, but results were not returned in time for tabulation.)

TANE is a non-profit, educational organization, dedicated to preventing alcohol and drug problems.

In existence since 1935, it is supported financially by Texas churches, businesses, industry, and proceeds of sale of educational aids.

Programs include public school assembly programs, inservice teacher training workshops, drug education seminars for schools and churches, publishing books, production of audio visual aids, a 150-man speakers bureau, legislative information service, research, and an annual drug education workshop co-sponsored with Baylor University. The next workshop is scheduled for August 5-7 at Waco.

Talk Games Liven Family Travel

An automobile trip can be fun for the entire family, if—and it's a big "if"—the children are occupied. Adults are accustomed to sitting for long periods of time. Anyone who tends to forget how irritable and "squirmy" active children can become during a trip will be quickly reminded of it on the first long family excursion by car.

Here are several verbal travel games compiled by the editors of the Mobil Travel Guide. These games have been handed down for a couple of generations and they appeal to youngsters.

*Tall Tales—Have one person begin a story, but stop before he is finished. The next story teller must then continue, changing it in any way he wishes, and this continues until the last person is left to provide the end of the tall tale.

*Car Cards—License plate numbers and letters are used as poker hands. As in poker the best hand wins. No flushes though! The letters J, Q and K stand for Jack, Queen and King. Each player in turn uses the license of a passing car as his hand.

*Animal, Vegetable or Mineral—A player thinks of something which he identifies to the others only as being animal, vegetable or mineral. The other players may ask a total of 20 questions which could be answered either "yes" or "no" in an attempt to guess the object.

*Name Chain—Each person, in turn, must name a state, city or country using the last letter of the place named by the previous participant as the first letter in the name he selects. Example: John names Illinois, you must select a name starting with "S".

*Alpha Hunt—Divide players into two teams with each getting one side of the road for this exciting match. Using Highway Advertising signs only, find each letter of the alphabet, progressively, selecting only one letter from each sign. The team completing the entire alphabet first wins.

*I See Red—Choose an object inside the car and announce to the others the color of the object you have in mind. For example, "I See Red," the others have to guess the object you have selected. The one who guesses right gets to choose the next object to be guessed.

Anytime you travel with children, set and enforce rules for them. Make it a kind of game—challenge them to see who can follow the rules best. For safety, all children should wear seat belts while car is in motion. Hands, arms, feet or heads should not be put out the window. Nothing should be thrown in or out of the car. Rough-housing in the car must not be permitted, and the driver must be left strictly alone to drive.
