

Wildcats To Play Slaton In Home Opener

fullback Bill McClesky who is regarded as the Tiger's outstanding running back. "Offensively they are an inside running team plus we expect them to throw the ball 12-15 times in the game," Blakely added, and defensively they are in a 4-2 alignment and stunt every play." The Wildcats are still without the services of two, 2-way starters Buddy Jungman and Ben Farmer. Jungman is expected to be back in action next week, harring complications to a leg injury while Farmer is expected to be out for two more games. Rick Hopping, who had a good night running against Levelland last week in his first starting role as a fullback, will again take Jungman's place in the backfield, and Reginald Payton will take Hopping's inside line backer's position. Brad Banner and Dean Walden are expected to be in Farmer's position as offensive tackle, while David Blevins will start at defensive end in the place of Farmer.

The 'Cats came out of the Levelland game with only bruises, and other than Hopping and Farmer, everyone else is expected to be at full strength by Friday night.

"We were exceptionally pleased with the way our defense played last week," Blakely added, "and our offense showed a great deal of improvement from the Cooper ballgame. Of course, Bill Turner had an outstanding night gaining the yardage he did and scoring our touchdown. Hopping had a good night blocking, while offensive guards Doug McCain and Jerry Soria also had good blocking nights. Defensively, Payton, McCain, Richard Barton, Stanley Patterson and Larry McDonald all had very good games."

"Probably what pleased us most about the game was the fact that after Levelland scored the tying touchdown, our kids maintained their poise and near the end of the game, our defense came up with a tremendous goal line stand when they had it first and goal on the five yard line."

"Our team played with a great deal of courage and I thought they deserved to win. It was our inability to take advantage of offensive opportunities in the first half which prevented us from winning, and that was probably the only disappointing aspect of the entire game."

"Wildcats of the Week", plus the probable starting lineup can be found on the Booster Page inside this edition.

Wildcat Wildcats, coming off a perennial rival Levelland, Slaton Tigers in the 'Cats' first game of the year Friday night at Slaton. Kickoff is at 8 p.m. The Tigers who have yet to win a game this year.

Gerry Langford's Grain Yields Make Him King

By NILAH RODGERS
Gerry W. Langford is the grain sorghum yield king in Lamb County. Anyone who consistently averages 7,850 to 8,000 pounds per acre has to be doing most things right. Three "rights" in Langford's book are crop rotation, addition of trace elements in fertilizer, and double row planting. Langford grows only 162 acres of grain sorghum, but with a yield of 8,050 that entitles him to Northrup King's "Nations Top Yielders" award, he produces larger harvests than many around him with more acreage. Prior to this signal honor, he landed in NK's Carload Club twice for producing over 100,000 pounds of NK 310, then moved up to the Trainload category when he surpassed a million of this variety. Langford is strictly a grain sorghum and cotton farmer and a firm believer in crop rotation. With two good level quarter sections there is no problem putting maize on cotton ground every other year. Using this rotation system keeps weeds to a minimum with chemical herbicides. A pint of Treflan to the acre on cotton land presents no problem when he comes back with grain the next year. Flat breaking cotton ground before planting to sorghum further helps leech out herbicide carryover. For 14 straight years Langford has double rowed his sorghum. "Double rowing won't out yield single row much, but it will beat single row 300 to 500 pounds per acre," Langford said. That 300 to 500 pounds you put the pencil to it and find that at $5 per hundred weight that's an additional $2,430 to $4,050. (At this writing, contracts of $5.50 to $6 were being offered.) Besides the boosted yield, Langford's main reason for double rowing is to cut down on cultivation. After the initial planting, all that is required is running out the middles for irrigation a time or two. Langford says the main drawback to double rowed grain is a gradually worsening water grass problem. A 3/4-pound per acre application of Atrazine when the sorghum is 4 to 7 inches tall takes care of the noxious weeds but hardly dents the grass that thrives in the dense growth. Until the 1974 crop, Langford planted NK 310. He switched to Excel 811-A this year when Northrup King phased out his favorite variety. Langford has worked out a six-point grain production pattern over the years. He starts shredding behind the combine, then he flat breaks, lists, runs a rod weeder, plants, runs a fertilizer rig and finishes his tractor work by running out the middles. This system with six trips over the field works well for him, and it's hard to argue with his results. Traditionally he plants 8 1/2 pounds seed per acre and gets it in the ground between April 25 and May 5 with the earlier planting preferred. He uses a wheat drill and plants two rows eight inches apart on 40-inch rows. He's found 10 pounds seed per acre results in a stand a little too thick. He started the April plantings when the midge scare was on, found the earlier date worked well, and continues the April planting whenever possible. He has burned his stubble and turned the stalks under and finds no difference in the yields. When incorporating the forage, he likes to come in right behind the combine with a shredder, discing under well before flat breaking to a 10-inch depth. Most years he has his sorghum land broke, chiseled, tandemed and floated, ready for Treflaning for next year's cotton crop before he starts harvesting his cotton. By rotating maize and cotton every year and deep breaking the cotton land ahead of the sorghum crop, he deep breaks all of his land every two years. He applies 150 pounds of 13-39-0 dry phosphorus with trace elements before listing. Langford likes to get his anhydrous down before there's any size on the maize. He prefers application of 200 pounds per acre right behind the planter. Due to the 1974 fertilizer crunch, he used 300 pounds of 8-16-6-1-1 slurry mix See SORGHUM GROWER, Page 4

Home Security Guide Advises Home Safety

Burglary and home accidents can be minimized by eliminating potentially dangerous situations in the home, according to a free "Guide on Home and Personal Safety", prepared for people in the 50-plus age group by Action for Independent Maturity (AIM).

The guide provides detailed information on how to protect your home from burglary and remove the hazards which may lead to accidents and fires.

To make your home a more difficult and less attractive target for thieves, the guide suggests placing secure locks on doors and windows, lighting dark approach areas to your home, installing an alarm system, putting your valuables in a safe deposit box and placing an identifying number on all portable objects of value.

"The greatest single threat to your life and well-being in the home is not crime and violence, but the common home accident," the guide states. It points out that falls, electrical shocks and mishaps with power tools as well as nine out of ten fires could be prevented if families were aware of the risk areas and how to safeguard them.

In addition, the guide explains the different types of homeowners insurance available and how you can keep your family and property adequately protected.

The "Guide to Home and Personal Security" is one of a series of booklets published by AIM to help pre-retirees plan for successful living in their mature years. A division of the 6.5 million member American Association of Retired Persons, AIM also provides budget-stretching insurance, travel and pharmacy services and publishes the bi-monthly Dynamic Maturity magazine.

CADILLAC 1975

Then and Now...an American Standard for the World.

And what a standard it sets for 1975! There's the brilliant new six-window sedan deVille, on the right. The bold new Eldorado Convertible, left, with that great profile. And seven other new models in the tradition of our 1931 Phaeton and other great Cadillacs of the past. Including a sleek new Coupe deVille. A magnificent new Fleetwood Brougham. Exciting new Calais with youthful plaid interiors. And new special edition cars for that special touch of elegance.

Efficient as it is elegant. The best overall operating economy in years is one of the benefits of a series of advancements we call The System. Included is the Catalytic Converter, a new device that does its job of emissions control outside the engine—rather than inside—making it possible to recalibrate the engine for smoother overall performance. Another vital link is our High Energy Ignition that delivers higher voltage to fire marginal fuel mixtures under adverse conditions.

Additional benefits. All this, combined with the use of unleaded gas, a "lighter" torque converter, steel-belted radial tires and other advancements adds up to the best Cadillac performance in years. As well as reduced maintenance and lower overall operating costs. Longer intervals between service. And cleaner air for everyone.

Our feature attraction. Consider that Cadillac 1975 has an array of standard features unsurpassed in Cadillac history, including Automatic Climate Control, a six-way power seat, AM/FM radio with automatic power antenna (signal-seeking stereo on Brougham and Eldorado), lamp monitors, steel-belted radial tires, power door locks and tinted glass.

For your added pleasure... there is an inviting selection of other new features available. A glass dome Astroroof. An illuminated entry system for nighttime convenience and security. An air cushion restraint system. A reclining front passenger seat in Eldorado. And shortly after introduction, Electronic Fuel Injection will be available on all models.

This year, slip into something really comfortable...any 1975 Cadillac. The ride is smooth and quiet. Interiors comfortable and sumptuous.

When second best isn't good enough.

Back To 'Standard' Time

MOST EVERYONE, we are sure, will applaud the decision of Congress (by a vote of 383-16) to return the United States to Standard Time from November through February.

The year-round Daylight Saving Time was enacted by the Congress during the peak of last winter's energy and fuel shortage, on the alleged grounds that the emergency legislation would save up to 70 percent of the electrical energy consumed by the country.

AT THE TIME, many people wondered why it should be thought that a light burning in the darkness of early morning would consume less energy than a light burning in the evening. Last spring, a study completed by the U.S. Department of Transportation confirmed the doubting Thomases; the amount of energy saved was less than 3/4 of one percent, rather than the expected two percent.

As a result of the study, the Department of Transportation recommended that the United States should observe Daylight Saving Time for eight months of the year, and Standard Time during the months when the mornings are darkest— from November through February. It was upon this recommendation that Congress acted.

SO, IT'S GOOD NEWS that sleepy-eyed laborers will no longer be forced to drive to work in the pitch black of night, nor will school children be forced to wait for their buses in the darkness of early dawn.

This still won't take care of millions of cows in the United States who are unable to tell the difference between Daylight Saving Time and Standard Time.

But Congress can't do everything.

Breast Cancer Protection

By DR. J. R. FAIN

AT THIS POINT in history, we don't know the cause of human breast cancer, but medical science does know how to save more lives now— if women cooperate.

It's really a matter of education. For years the American Cancer Society has been teaching women to see a physician at the first sign of an unusual lump or thickening in the breast. This is probably the most famous cancer warning signal in the world!

BUT, THAT SIGNAL doesn't have to mean cancer. I wish that women would understand that most breast lumps indicate a perfectly harmless condition, however, it's something to be checked by a physician.

If a woman has a lump properly checked, she will gain peace of mind if nothing is the matter.

IF CANCER is present, she will be ahead because the earlier cancer is diagnosed, the better the chance of cure. There are thousands of women in this country who are alive today, cured of breast cancer and you can be sure they know the value of early diagnosis.

Every woman should practice monthly breast self-examination—our local ACS unit has easy instructions—and be sure to see a physician if she finds something unusual.

Tell women not to be afraid, it's what you don't know about cancer that can hurt you.

SOMETHING TO HOWL ABOUT!

CLIPS & TIPS

By JOELLA LOVVORN

HELP YOUR PRESCHOOLER snack his way to good health, one foods and nutrition specialist suggests this week.

"Small children with small stomachs need more food than they can eat in only three meals each day," says Sally Springer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Even though the child's growth rate is slower than during infancy, he still needs a diet high in nutrients for growth and energy.

"Snacks eaten at least 2 1/2 hours before mealtime don't seem to influence the child's appetite for the meal," she notes.

Some nutritious snack suggestions are fruit juice, fruit wedges, vegetable sticks, peanut butter cookies and cheese cubes, the specialist continued.

"But filling snacks eaten too near mealtime will increase the chance of the child's loss of appetite," she points out.

Another point in favor of snacks is that the body uses smaller, more frequent meals in a way that slows the formation of adipose—fat—tissue and stimulates muscle formation. These are desirable factors in the preschool years, she notes.

SINCE FOOD PRICES depend on supply and demand, it makes good sense and saves good money to buy vegetables and fruits when they're plentiful, and freeze or can them for enjoyment later.

Right now, there's a good crop of bell peppers on the vines, and a good supply in the markets. And peppers you pickle this month will be ready to add zip to your relish tray come Thanksgiving. So take a tip from the legendary Peter Piper, and put up your own pickled peppers now.

Use red or green bell peppers, or a combination of both.

PICKLED PEPPERS

6 to 7 bell peppers (red or green)

Boiling water

1 1/2 cups white vinegar

3 cups sugar

Wash, stem, seed and slice peppers. (Should be 2 quarts.) Place in large bowl. Cover with boiling water. Let set 5 minutes. Drain well and place pepper slices in sterilized 1/2 pint jars.

Combine vinegar and sugar in sauce pan. Stir to dissolve sugar. Place on heat and bring to boil; simmer 5 minutes.

Pour hot syrup over peppers to fill jars to 1 inch from top. Seal.

Place in water bath and process for 5 minutes. Let stand 4 weeks. Makes 6 (1/2 pint) jars, or 3 (1 pint) jars.

FOR A LIGHT autumn dessert, make

Apple Winecream. Desserts such as this are great favorites in Europe. As is true of many desserts of European origin, this one is delicately thickened with corn starch.

APPLE WINECREAM

1 1/2 cups diced, pared apples

2 Tbsps. sugar

3 Tbsps. water

1/2 cup sugar

5 Tbsps. corn starch

1 1/2 cups white wine

1/2 cup water

2 eggs, separated.

Stir together apples, 2 tablespoons sugar and water in medium saucepan. Cover and simmer 2 minutes or until apples are tender. Drain.

Mix together 1/2 cup sugar and corn starch in medium saucepan. Gradually add wine and water, stirring until smooth. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil and boils 1 minute.

Beat egg yolks. Blend a little hot mixture into egg yolks, then stir all into remaining hot mixture in saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, 1 minute.

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form when beater is raised. Fold apples and hot mixture into beaten egg whites. Pour into serving dishes. Chill. Makes 7 (1/2-cup) servings.

TEXAS PEANUT PIE

2 Tbsp. flour

1/2 cup sugar

1/2 tsp. salt

1/4 cup cold water

1 cup dark corn syrup

3 eggs

2 Tbsp. butter

1 cup salted peanuts

1/2 cup coconut

1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell

Combine flour, sugar and salt. Add water and syrup, blending well and boiling gently 3-5 minutes.

Slowly pour mixture into slightly heated eggs, stirring continuously. Add butter.

Spread peanuts and coconut over bottom of pie shell. Pour filling into crust.

Bake at 425 degrees 10 minutes. Reduce heat and bake at 350 degrees 20 minutes.

TIPS AND TIDBITS:

RAW FRUITS and vegetables are good tooth decay fighters. Their crisp, crunchy and juicy interiors can help cleanse sticky food from teeth before bacteria can build up.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Trying Too Hard

THERE IS A BALANCE in our behavior which is essential to a happy, satisfactory life. This is probably a variable pattern of behavior, because of individual differences; but the variability will never be very great.

Some of us do not try hard enough; we do not put forth sufficient effort. We have the ability, and accomplishment is within our reach; but we do not try hard enough.

Some of us try "too hard", and, consequently, are not able to make our efforts productive. We are able to get some things done, but we are not satisfied with our actions; and our relationships with others are less than desirable.

WE WILL FIND the happy and wise attitudes and actions somewhere between these extremes of "not enough" and "too much". These are attitudes which all of us can develop, and actions which all of us can learn. The key to success is more in "the way" we go about doing what we do, more than "how hard" we try to do it.

There must be effort, but we can "try too hard"; we can over-do the whole thing.

IN "TRYING TOO HARD", we will never be able to do our best. Some things will be overlooked, we will create a senseless which makes us less capable, and cause other people to be suspicious of our intentions.

In addition to these and related problems, we will soon become discouraged. If this "trying too hard" continues, we will burn ourselves out.

WE WANT PEOPLE to be must put forth some effort to have this blessing. This effort, however, can be frustrated by "too hard".

In fact, we can drive people to excessive effort to win their favor, become suspicious, some become uncomfortable, and some will be resentful.

WE MUST BE FRIENDLY, to have friends; but we can't "try too hard". If we do, we mistake the outcome will be opposite of what we are seeking. The balance we need, in order to be supported by a wholesome image and a well-informed knowledge what constitutes a desirable relationship with others. We can be messy.

"TRYING TOO HARD" favorable impressions upon others can hurt one's public image quickly as anything.

This faulty approach may be certain way to ruin our public because of the most objectionable thing.

IN OUR WORK, we can make a mistake of "trying too hard". We want to do our best; but we humble and unobtrusive.

"Trying too hard" will be necessary difficulties and opposition.

WE MUST BE and do without "trying too hard".

By CORNBALL BLEY

IF YOU HAD any doubt that the "honeymoon" is over between Mr. Ford and the press, you'd only have had to witness Monday's press conference. Some of those people aren't happy.

You may also have gotten the idea that Mr. Ford can be a mighty determined, if not stubborn man. — He stuck to his guns. And, another thing, he called the press conference himself, not waiting for them to ask for one.

I HAD TO ADMIRE him. He just may be a man to tie to.

YOU HAVE TO admire courage and determination. That's what our kids displayed down to Levelland last Friday night. When I had looked their roster over and saw their kids warming up on the field, my prayer was: "Dear Lord, I hope our kids aren't mangled, and the score is no more than 35 to nothing."

To shame my lack of confidence (as you know) our fellows played those guys right into the ground, and made them feel lucky to escape with a tie. — Shame on me, all week!

YOU PLAYED QUITE a game of football, fellows— one to be proud of. And would you please accept my apologies for doubting?

Turn Row COMMENTS

By EMIL MA...

GET READY AMERICANS, Mr. Butz said that the cost of food will jump another ten percent. Since most of the American public is overweight, we can all help our pocketbooks and improve our health by eating ten percent less.

Think about it, it may be a solution to our health problems. Of course it may hamper the food producers to a degree, but it may be one way of helping stabilize the economy, and to help the citizens to become a healthier group.

Of course we do not have to cut down on our own home-grown commodities, but we could do without that second or third or fourth cup of coffee or the second or third glass of tea, as well as many other items that are strictly a luxury item and are not essential for survival.

Over 25 percent of what Americans earn is spent on recreation or unnecessary luxuries. We can cut down 10 percent and still have a good time.

NOTICED CORNBALL started cutting down in his last column. Guess he heard of the increase, or writes Mr. Butz's stuff for the way he has an inside track.

BEEN LOOKING OVER a football schedules, now that it is here. One thing that all teams common is that most teams must be a pretty competitive team called "open" seems to be schedules, and they don't carry on. Apparently they must like football because they will play. Noticed that they even "pros" as well some of the man teams. Guess their game is too important, because anyone else carries statistics "Open Games".

WHERE ELSE BUT in the States could you criticize the in the morning. Join a sit-in at in the afternoon and recreation government welfare check mail and delivered by a employed carrier?

AS FAR AS weather prediction I think that I will hold off on the while. I've never been too sure 'fall anyway. Wonder if I few predictions on the first formation. If you have a prediction, I sure do need to know. Most of the readers to know about the occurring freeze.

THE WEB OF complications disruption tangles with government starts to manage marketplace.

Dear Sir:
We spent the night in your "free" camp ground one night recently and wish to express our sincere appreciation.
It is a very nice place, and our visit was pleasant.

The park was filled with vehicles with a little over flow out on the edge.
We meet many nice people "camping" and feel you have the Welcome Mat out to have nice visitors often.
May we say "thank you".

... Sorghum Grower

in lieu of dry fertilizer on 100 acres and thinks it might beat the dry. The slurry cost ran higher than the dry, but the scarcity of fertilizer found him taking what he could get.

"Since using trace elements, I've increased my yields at least 1,500 pounds per acre," he said.

Soil samples over several counties in this area show land is often a little short of magnesium, manganese, zinc, iron and boron. Too, calcium and mineral deposits present can tie up some of these nutrients.

The exact role trace elements play isn't easily explained, but these elements on sorghum are like milk to a baby or salt and pepper on food. These additional vitamins produce a healthy plant with good color and higher yields.

The Fieldton community where Langford farms is one of the better irrigated districts in this part of West Texas. Three 8-inch and two 6-inch wells allow down the furrow irrigation which starts when sorghum is 6 to 8 inches high.

Langford irrigates every 14 days until the ground is wet and continues the irrigation until the maize starts turning red. "You can't help it after that," he added.

Greenbugs were the 1974 number one pest, and until this year a 7-pound-per-acre application of Disyston banded on at planting time kept the bug population under control. But in 1974 Langford sprayed for greenbugs three times, even adding Parathion to a pint of Disyston the third time across.

The greenbug problem as well as the prolonged drought is cutting into Langford's yields this season.

"Looks like about 7,000 pounds per acre this time," he concluded.

FAMILY CODE

The new Texas Family Code that became law at the beginning of 1974 is consolidating divorce procedures and thus boosting the cost of divorce action. The new law requires more paperwork by district clerks. And state residence requirements have been reduced from a year to six months, and from six to three months in the county where the suit is filed. Texas permits divorces on a so-called "no-fault" basis, which means that neither spouse need be blamed for the dissolution of the marriage.

& 8th Grade eated By Slaton

Tiger's 7th and 8th graders came out on Monday evening and won two close victories over Littlefield 7th and 8th graders.

The seventh graders won 16-6 and Littlefield graders were defeated by a six point margin.

In the first game of the season, Huey provided all the points on a 60 yard interception that was returned for a touchdown.

In the seventh game, as playing on defense was the play of the coaches, Huey saw action for Smith led the team by scoring two TD's but Slaton still managed to win 18-12. Smith scored on a 55 yard run from scrimmage and also returned a kickoff for a TD.

Richard Morgan, Smith, Keith McCain, Richard Soria, Wayne Lucas, Danny Duenes and Larry Heller were singled out for their play in which 52 8th graders saw action.

The 7th and 8th graders travel to Frenship next Tuesday with the first game beginning at 5:00 p.m.

The Freshmen and Junior Varsity will be in action tonight in Levelland with the Freshmen game getting underway at 5:30 p.m.
