McCarthy-Army Issue Hearing Under Way

Russian Secret Police Captain Deserts, Talks

BONN, Germany (AP)—A Russian Secret Service captain sent to West Germany to commit a political killing deserted to the Allies instead and told secrets of the Kremlin's world-wide espionage and kidnapping machine here today.

U.S. authorities identified the defecting Russian as Capt. Nikolai Evgenyevich Khoklov, 32, and presented him at their high commission headquarters in an international news conference.

They announced that two East German Communist agents who were to have helped in the killing of an anti-Red Russian emigre leader were in "protective custody."

The official American announcement said Khoklov had cooperated fully with U.S. intelligence agents, telling many secrets of the MVD secret police and detailing name by name, office by office, the Red police organization from Moscow to Berlin and Vienna.

An American spokesman said the two East Germans were Hans Kukowicz and Kurt Weber. The target of the assassination plot was identified as George S. Okolovich, executive vice-president of an anti-Communist Russian group in Frankfurt called the NTS.

Khoklov said he received instructions from the Frankfurt assassination plan several times from Alexander S. Panushkin, who was Soviet ambassador to the United States from October 1947 to June 1952, when he became ambassador to Red China. Panushkin was recalled from Peiping after Stalin's death.

Documents turned over to the Americans said that, while Panushkin ostensibly was in the foreign service, he was actually working under the direction of the Communist Party Central Committee coordinating all intelligence-gathering activities. Panushkin was reported given a big job in the intelligence department in July 1953.

The U.S. authorities said the "stranger than fiction" plot to kill the Russian refugee leader in Frankfurt included special electrical weapons.

Smuggled into Germany in the battery of a car, the weapons were described by American firearms experts as "unique in both light and miniature in comparison to silenced weapons hitherto developed outside the Soviet orbit."

There were two types of weapons—specially silenced electrically fired pistols and dummy electric cases that would fire lethally poisoned lead pellets.

After special assassination training in Russia and complicated journeys between Moscow, Vienna, Switzerland and Italy, the three conspirators entered West Germany last February.

Crowd Sees Reber Tell Of 'Pressure'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj. Gen. Miles Reber testified today that in 10 years as Army liaison officer with Congress he recalled no case where he was "put under greater pressure" than he was in demands for an officer's commission for G. David Schine, aide to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Reber told senators investigating "unusual" methods were used to seek a commission for Schine.

Reber said he received "two or three" from McCarthy.

Reber said Cohn was "persistently after me" to speed a commission for Schine.

Ray Jenkins, committee counsel, asked Reber if he thought Cohn's action was "improper."

"I felt I was being put under definite pressure," Reber replied.

Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) asked if the requests by McCarthy and Cohn were made in "good temper and with restraint."

"Yes, entirely, sir," Reber replied.

McCarthy, exercising his right to question witnesses, asked about the number of requests Reber received from members of Congress, and specifically from members of the subcommittee, dealing with military matters.

Reber said that altogether there were "about 1,000 cases a week" during his 10 years in the liaison post, and "I know I received a lot of cases from members of this committee."

But he said his figures embraced all kinds of inquiries concerning Army activities.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) asked if Reber hadn't received many requests from members of Congress for action in commissions and Reber replied the number was "sizeable."

Potter: "These requests are not improper...?"

McCarthy asked whether there was any difference between Cohn's action and that of other officers?

MELVIN T. MUNN

Kiwanis Club To Observe Its 25th Birthday

The Big Spring Kiwanis Club will celebrate the 25th anniversary of its charter at a dinner meeting this evening at the Country Club.

Principal speaker for the occasion will be Melvin T. Munn of Dallas, chairman of Key Clubs in the Texas-Oklahoma District of Kiwanis International.

The Key Clubs are service organizations for High School boys, and they are sponsored in various cities by Kiwanis.

Munn, who is a member of the Kiwanis Club of Dallas, serves on the board of directors of the Texas Society for Crippled Children, the board of directors of the Dallas Chapter of National Office Management Association, chairman of the speakers bureau of the Dallas Community Chest, the board of directors of the Dallas Health Museum and of the Dallas Health Council.

He works with Boy Scout and Girl Scout projects, and frequently appears in behalf of fund-raising drives for the Red Cross, Community Chest and other civic groups.

Special recognition will be accorded Nat Shick, only charter member of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club who is still active in the club. He has a perfect attendance record for regular club meetings for the past 15 years.

The Kiwanis Club of Big Spring was chartered on April 16, 1929. The movement to organize the club started after Garland Woodard was approached on the Woodard by members of another club. Woodard conferred with Shick and Jimmie Webb, and arrangements were made for the Lubbock Kiwanis Club to sponsor the new unit in Big Spring. Fifty-one members were active when the local club was chartered.

The club first held its meetings in the basement of the First Methodist Church, and Dr. J. R. Dilard was the first president. After about one year, the meeting place was changed to the Crawford Hotel, and after several years to the Country Club.

Radio Programs Will Boost Two C-C Campaigns

The Chamber of Commerce will sponsor programs over radio stations KBST and KTXC tonight concerning the $325,000 road bond election and next week's clean-up campaign.

The election is slated Saturday to determine if the bonds can be issued for the purchase of right-of-way from Big Spring to the Mitchell County line for a proposed freeway.

What the bond election will mean to Big Spring and Howard County will be thoroughly discussed. The KBST bond program is slated from 7 to 7:15 p.m., and KTXC will broadcast between 7:30 and 7:45 p.m.

Chamber Manager J. H. Greene will be the master of ceremonies. Those to discuss the issue include County Judge R. H. Weaver, Chamber President Champ Rainwater, George White, and Mrs. Obie Bristow.

The programs concerning "Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up and Beautification Week" will follow the bond discussions at each station. Jim Lewis will be the master of ceremonies for the clean-up programs.

Discussing the activities of clean-up week will be City Sanitarian Lige Fox, Fire Chief H. V. Crocker, Ellis Brown, Col. L. E. Freeman of Webb, Mrs. Hays Stripling, and Dr. Clyde Thomas.

Geneva Talks Facing Delay

PARIS (AP)—Informed sources said an impression developed during a meeting of the Western Big Three foreign ministers today that the opening of the Geneva conference might be delayed.

Thunderstorms Bring Area More Moisture

Thunderstorms, sometimes violent and everywhere noisy, sloshed more moisture over this area Wednesday evening.

Rainfall varied from sprinkles that laid the dust to 1.5 inches in spots. There were some unofficial reports that Gall, in central Borden County, had received two inches or more, with scattered points coming in for young cloud-bursts.

The U. S. Experiment Farm north of Big Spring showed .13 of an inch, and farther north to Fairview only a sprinkle was registered. At Webb AFB, the rainfall was measured at .53 of an inch and southwest of that point it was three-fourths of an inch.

At Howard County Junior College, in southeastern Big Spring, Bruce Frazier measured .16 of an inch. The Herald at 900 M. had 2 of an inch, and Texas Electric Service Company had .16 at its switching station east of town.

A mystery rise was being in progress on the North Concho River. One report said a 13-foot head was on the river, but nowhere in the area had there been any reports of heavy rains.

Forsan had .45 of an inch. Otis-chalk, in southeast Howard, came up with .22.

Glascow County ranged from an inch to 1.2 inches. Stanton had only a sprinkle.

Hard-hit southeastern Dawson County got some welcome relief. Mrs. E. L. Turnbow at Patricia reported from 3 to 1.5 inches which came in on a heavy sand storm. There was a heavy downfall with small hail stones. Winds were high but created no damage. A mile and a half to the west of Patricia rain measured only .4 of an inch.

More Rains Seen Across State Today

More thunderstorms were predicted for late Thursday afternoon and Thursday night as a mass of cool air crawled slowly across the state.

As the cool air moved through West Texas Wednesday night it kicked up high winds, two small tornadoes, hail, rain and dust.

Good rains fell on ranch lands west of Rankin. The water ran full in draws Thursday morning and showers continued. In Rankin 60 inches of rain fell Wednesday night.

In the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a.m., Thursday, Dalhart had .02 inches, Amarillo .10, Abilene .03, Midland .19 and El Paso .04.

During the night two small, ropelike tornadoes dipped from black West Texas thunderheads and whipped like lariat through open country north of Fort Stockton.

Nobody was reported injured but the twisters uprooted trees and unroofed a farmhouse at a farm couple huddled in their living room.

Small hail pelted the tornado area and also fell at Odessa. Dust blew at Dalhart, Amarillo and Childress. There were unconfirmed reports of tornadoes in the air southwest and west of Midland.

Needed rain from thunderstorms fell at Midland, Odessa, Big Spring, Wink, Salt Flat, El Paso, and Marfa. Some of these cities are in the hardest-hit sections of the Texas drought area.

C-City Sets Up A United Fund

COLORADO CITY — G. D. Foster of Colorado City was elected president of the Mitchell County United Fund at a meeting in Civic House this week.

The newly organized charity group elected Mrs. Frank Deregibus, Wiley Walker and S. A. Walker vice presidents; Ross Daniels treasurer and Mrs. R. P. Ainsworth secretary.

Committees were set up and Jay Craddock appointed chairman of the campaign committee; Walter Rogers chairman of the screening and budget committee; Elliott Dixon chairman of the education and publicity committee and John D. Harvey was named chairman of the nominating committee. Thirty-six were placed in the executive committee.

The new United Fund will attempt to consolidate various charity drives so that drives will be less costly both in time and money.

The whole darn population is to do something about making U. S. 90 a better highway. The freeway divides traffic and definitely makes traffic much safer while increasing its flow. I've been watching U. S. 90 grow from a cowtrail and this is the biggest opportunity we've had for it yet."

R. L. Cook—"I think this is the biggest chance we ever had. We can get exactly what we need. I think we're mighty lucky not only to be on it, but to get as many improvements on the project as early as we can if we act. It would be a tragedy if we didn't."

Mayor G. W. Dabney—"I believe this is very important. Unless we do something about providing necessary funds it may be too late for prompt action and it would be a long time before we could get the improvement. We now have the highway located so it won't bypass the town and I know the increased traffic and hence the general benefits will more than compensate all of us for the small amount per year it will cost us."

Arah Phillips—"I think it would be very unwise on our part to fall to vote those bonds. Not only would

FREWAY FOR COUNTY

Citizens Speak Out To Boost New Super-Highway Proposal

Mitch has been said about the impending vote on the $325,000 bond issue in the 16 voting boxes of Howard County Saturday.

The issue has been proposed as the means of financing the acquisition of right-of-way east of Big Spring to the Mitchell County line. This is the requirement of Howard County in order for the Texas Highway Department to go ahead.

Here are what a few citizens of the county have to say: Mayor H. C. Hutchins of Coahoma—"We are in favor of the freeway across Howard County. I think the thing to do is vote the bonds and finance the highway in this manner. I'm in favor of the bond issue."

J. O. Nixon—"I'm not one to stand in the way of progress. The highway as a freeway means progress, so I'm for voting the bonds and financing our end of the project."

Mrs. S. M. Holley—"My drug store isn't on the highway and so it won't help or hurt me directly. But better roads mean better business in general. I'm just naturally for better roads and I'm for the bonds."

R. E. Fowler—"I'm for the bonds. The freeway will help increase traffic considerably. Naturally, in my business it will help."

R. W. Currie—"I think we've simply got to vote the bonds to take advantage of this opportunity."

Vic Mellinger—"I am 100 percent for it, and I endorse it heartily. I believe it will do good for the town people and the country people too. Not only will it increase business and help everybody, but it will help spread traffic and make it easier to drive and find parking places."

Nixon Addresses Iowa GOP Rally

DES MOINES (AP)—America's foreign policy is designed to "avoid sending our boys to Indochina or anywhere else to fight," Vice President Nixon says.

But he told an Iowa Republican gathering last night: "We will not keep our boys out of Indochina by telling the Communists they can come in."

Nixon was the principal speaker at a $25-a-plate fund-raising dinner. He criticized the Truman administration's foreign policy as "characterized by weakness, inconsistency, compromise of principle and an abandonment of our friends."

Aikin Not To Seek Lt. Governorship

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—State Senator A. M. Aikin announced today he would seek re-election to the Senate, thereby eliminating himself as a possible candidate for lieutenant governor.

Earlier he had been prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for governor, especially in state school circles. He was co-author of the Gilmer-Aikin school law.

Two Men Hurt In Collision

Two persons were injured and their car was demolished in a head-on collision with a gasoline transport some six miles east of Coahoma on Highway 90 last night.

Charles Richardson, Brownwood, and Ray Featherston, Goldthwaite, were hospitalized as a result of the accident. Neither was thought to be in a very serious condition at Big Spring Hospital although X-ray examination of Featherston had not been completed at noon today.

The crash occurred in the rain about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday. Highway Patrol officers who investigated reported.

The car in which Richardson and Featherston were traveling collided with a gasoline tank truck operated by Ernest Stephens of Colorado. Stephens was traveling toward Big Spring and the car was going in the opposite direction, officers said.

Airlift To Asia Detouring India

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—A U.S. Air Force spokesman said today the American airlift of French troops to Indochina is "detouring around India."

Prime Minister Nehru announced earlier today the troop ferry would not be permitted to cross his country, a key link on the normal air route to the Far East.

The spokesman at the Air Force's European headquarters here refused to divulge the route being followed by the Giant C124 Globemasters. Nor would he say whether they were landing in Soviet or British Commonwealth dominion off India's southern tip.

"But they aren't flying over India," the spokesman declared, adding: "All I can say is that the problem has been very well solved."

Season Is Busy One For Bird-Watchers

By ANNE LEFEVER

During these spring days do you often hear a short whistle, repeated as if someone were calling a dog? Look around in the trees, then, and perhaps you will see a bright red patch in one of them. That is a cardinal, or redbird—our only redbird with a distinct crest. He is a bright red with a little black patch at the base of his bill. The female is not such a brilliant shade.

Don't confuse the cardinal with the linnet, or house-finch, who is much smaller, and has red only on his breast. You will see the linnet close to houses, as his name, "house-finch" indicates. His song is a light, sweet little trill. If you are lucky, you might see his courting dance, which consists of a series of hops and bows before his mate, accompanied by that same little song. Most of the time she will respond to all this by merely pecking him on the head and continuing with her eating. Once she has decided that he is the one, however, he is very attentive. He flies with her each time she hunts for a twig or grass for the nest, and from a high perch he watches as she takes it in her bill. Then he carefully flies back to the nest with her, where she does the rest of the work.

Another small bird that we have in this part of the country is the house wren. They too, like to be near houses, and they may be seen hopping about, with their tail-feathers cocked up over their backs, eating very energetically. They nest in clothesline pipes or any other small cozy place to be found. His song is a high tinkling warble.

House wrens are about the size of our English sparrows, but the markings are different, the wrens being grey-brown above and white with grey-brown on the underparts. The sparrow is reddish brown on his upperparts and his wings are streaked with black. He has a deep grey crown and his underparts are greyish white. There are about 22 kinds of sparrows in the United States, and here in Big Spring, we have about 10 varieties besides the English sparrow.

One of the most striking of all American birds is the scissor-tail. He belongs to the fly-catcher family and has been called the "Bird of Paradise of the Lone Star State." The salmon-pink sides and wing markings of this pale grey bird can be seen only when he is in flight. That, too, is the time that long graceful tail is opened and closed as he "comes in for a landing."

He is a typical West Texas bird, especially prevalent in parts of the country where sheep are raised because he likes to use the wool for nest material.

The oriole's song goes well with his gay markings of orange body and black and white wings. The nest is a long basket-like formation, woven of fibers, bark and horsehair.

The mockingbird, which is our state bird, is as large as a robin, but more slender and longer-tailed. He is grey above, with underparts of lighter grey. His wings have two white wing-bars and a white patch, while his tail is tipped with white. These white markings are more conspicuous when he is flying.

The song of the mockingbird covers a wide range of notes, and one of his characteristics is singing at night. He delights in flight-songs, also, when from his perch in a tree, he will fly straight up into the air and come down, still singing.

Belligerence is a part of a mockingbird's character, especially if his nest is in danger, when he will attack birds much larger than himself. His teasing nature prompts him to annoy cats, dogs and other animals, too, by swooping low over them and pecking them as he goes by. He will worry a snake by dancing about just out of reach of the reptile.

His name is well-chosen because no other bird is so adept at imitating the songs of other birds. Mockingbirds have been known to imitate other sounds as well, such as the squeak of a wheel and the cry of a small kitten.

These are a few of the outstanding birds in this vicinity, but there are many others, such as the Arkansas Goldfinch, thrasher, canon wren, junco and flicker.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

A Blond Charmer Tells Of Evening Make-Up

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — When a blond bombshell named Marilyn Monroe became such a box office sensation, talent scouts began to search for girls of a similar type. And this was a break for Sheree North who had been around Hollywood for a long time, using her real name Dawn Bethel.

Paramount signed Sheree and put her in Bob Hope's musical "Here Come the Girls."

Though Sheree is still young in years she is old in experience. She lied about her age and danced in night clubs at fourteen.

"One thing you learn in Hollywood, which can be well applied to private life, is how to make up when you are wearing evening clothes," Sheree told me in her dressing room the other day. "So often you will be able to see just the place a girl has stopped her make-up. If you are using a tinted foundation you have to blend it especially well down on your chest a good inch below the cut of your gown or it will show where your make-up stops.

"I know a lot of people are afraid of ruining their evening dresses with make-up," Sheree commented, "but I protect mine with a strip of adhesive or scotch tape inside my gown."

"And don't forget your back and shoulders," Sheree advised. "If you don't have someone to help you, take a handle from a back brush and wet a make-up sponge with foundation and stroke your back and shoulders with this. You can keep the sponge in place with a rubber band. It may seem awkward at first but it's worth practicing because you can be independent and have a finished look in the back as well as the front."

"Another make-up trick which is nice for evening is to put rouge between your breasts—run this in a line and it gives a deepened effect. I prefer cream rouge to the powdered kind," Sheree said.

"You can make so many corrections with make-up," she added. "I know my photographs much better when I use a whiter make-up base in the center and a darker one on the sides. The trick, of course, is to blend this so skillfully that no one can see what you have done."

"What type of make-up do you prefer?" I asked.

"I like a creamy stick. It's not as oily as a liquid and not as dry as a cake, but I think so much depends on your type of skin. In make-up like everything else, you have to go through a trial and error period if you want to find what is the very best for you," Sheree explained.

Eisenhower Flies To New York To Address Nation's Publishers

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower flies to New York today to call in a major address to-night for help from the nation's newspapers in transforming "an era of atomic hysteria" into an era of world peace.

En route, the President will stop over briefly in Washington to talk informally at the annual convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution and to install a new chairman of the government study commission on federal-state problems.

The trip interrupts an Easter holiday the President started April 13 at the Augusta National Golf Club. He will return to Washington from New York tonight, spend tomorrow in Kentucky and then fly back here for another weekend of golf.

Tax Official Not Happy With Courts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews complained yesterday that some federal judges are making violation of tax laws "socially acceptable" by imposing light sentences.

Andrews told the Senate Judiciary Committee that "one of our big problems is to get some of the district judges" to mete out stiffer penalties.

"You can't stop this by patting people on the wrist," he said.

Unless violation of the tax laws is made "socially unpopular," Andrews said, he fears this country's revenue system will suffer the fate of some other nations, where voluntary compliance is as low as 10 per cent.

Without mentioning the names of any judges, Andrews told the committee of two recent cases where violators escaped going to jail.

One case, he said, involved a $170,000 tax fraud. The judge imposed what Andrews called a rather substantial fine, but no jail sentence.

In the other case there was a $2,500 fine, and a six-month suspended jail sentence.

Chairman Langer (R-ND) observed that federal judges are appointed for life and "there is nothing we can do" to get them to impose jail sentences.

Andrews suggested that the matter be called to the attention of Chief Justice Warren. He said Warren in turn could bring it to the attention of trial judges.

Aircraft Carrier To Get Remodeling

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — The USS Franklin D. Roosevelt, 45,000-ton aircraft carrier from which Navy conducted its first jet aircraft launching, will be decommissioned tomorrow for remodeling to handle faster and heavier jet planes.

The big carrier will be laid up two years at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard.

The modernization job will cost 40 million dollars—40 per cent of the original cost of the vessel.

French Air Minister Praises B26 Plane

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — France's air minister, Louis Christiaens, praised the "versatile" B26 last night and called it one of the most important weapons in the Indochina conflict. He arrived at Wright-Patterson AFB while on a tour of U.S. Air Force bases.

He said more American planes are needed by French forces in Indochina. A good airborne supply is absolutely essential for victory there, he said.

Senator Says U. S. Lacks Army Punch

GREELEY, Colo. (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) says the United States cannot send combat troops to Indochina because the nation doesn't have "the punch."

"If we send men," he said, "we'd be sending draftees. We haven't the manpower or resources." He spoke last night at a Roosevelt memorial dinner at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Club.

He and Mrs. Eisenhower will return to Washington sometime Sunday. She is not accompanying him on the present trip.

The President's half-hour speech tonight before the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York will be broadcast nationwide by the major television and radio networks.

It is scheduled for 8 p.m. CST. James C. Hagerly, White House press secretary, has said the President would appeal to American newspapers to help "transform an age of atomic hysteria and horror into an age of international understanding and cooperative peace."

He said Eisenhower would say that "misconceptions of the aims and aspirations of America, as well as those of the other free nations, reported and circulated here and abroad, often cause needless misunderstanding and friction between the governments and the free peoples of the world."

The President reportedly is deeply concerned, for one thing, about the adverse reaction in some of the free nations to the development and testing of the hydrogen bomb by the United States. He is understood to feel that an unwarranted fear hysteria has resulted.

In Washington, the President will stop by the White House to watch Meyer Kestnbaum of Chicago take the oath of office as the new chairman of the study commission on inter-governmental relations.

Kestnbaum, president of the Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothing firm and chairman of the Committee for Economic Development, was named by Eisenhower late yesterday to succeed the ousted Dr. Clarence Manion, former dean of Notre Dame University's law school.

In moving out last Feb. 24 Manion said his resignation had been requested by the White House. He had been speaking out freely in support of the controversial Bricker amendment to restrict presidential treaty-making powers, which Eisenhower opposed.

Asked at a recent news conference about Manion's dismissal, the President said Manion just didn't have enough time to devote to the study commission. He added that Manion was entirely within his rights in expressing views regarding the Bricker amendment.

Omaha Man Nearer To Tax Refund Now

OMAHA (AP) — James P. Davies is near his goal—a $17 tax refund after a 29-day tussle with county rate.

It all started when Mrs. Davies paid the taxes on the family car while Mr. Davies was out of town.

Later Davies paid the same taxes when Mrs. Davies was out of town. When they compared notes, Davies set out to get back the extra $17 they had paid.

For hours he toured county offices, moving from the treasurer to the assessor to the County Board. Now the latter has approved a refund.

Judge Urges Whip For Auto Thieves

BALTIMORE (AP) — A suggestion that whipping be used as a possible punishment for young men who persist in stealing automobiles was made yesterday by Judge S. Ralph Warnken in Youth Court.

The judge said it might be appropriate to whip the offenders when they enter prison and again when they are released 30 days later.

Play Ball With The Broncs By Attending Opener, Other Games

Play Ball! Those magic words will ring out this evening at Steer Park when Big Spring and area fans get their first home look at the Broncs in Longhorn League play. Needless to say, we hope that the park will be jam-packed with fans for this gala occasion. Opening day tickets have been on sale and are still available at $1 a throw. Strictly from the point of a contribution to the financial needs of the club, there is every reason to fill the park at this price. More important is the idea of getting out a big crowd, of creating an infectious enthusiasm, of players and fans meeting one another.

Baseball is a wonderful sport. While it has multiple participation, action is spread to the point and at a pace that everyone can take in and appreciate the entire situation. In his or her own right, every fan is an expert. We would urge attendance not only this evening, but throughout the season because ball players are human. They do their best normally when encouraged. There is this consideration, too. Ball players like to eat same as the next fellow. Your ticket purchases during the season help make possible professional baseball in Big Spring. Whether you realize it or not, the Big Spring entry in the Longhorn League carries with it the banner of the town. It becomes ipso facto our representative. It is an instrument of publicity and even public relations with other communities. This ball club is not their ball club but your ball club.

Real Issue Is Whether The Job Has Been Handled Wisely, Well

The Texas gubernatorial race has begun to take very definite patterns with the entry of Gov. Allan Shivers as a candidate for re-election. In the years that he has filled this high office, numerous and notable accomplishments have come about. Most fair minded people, looking to performance and shaking the wheat from the chaff, would concur that the affairs of Texas state government have been administered soundly and progressively. There can be little doubt that in the campaign to come that efforts will be made by some to center upon deviation from the straight-jacket of partisanship in the last presidential race. Nonetheless, we submit that the welfare of Texas is of primary consideration.

On the record, Allan Shivers has made Texas a good governor. He has not been harum-scarum in support of various schemes. Instead, he has stayed wisely close to the old and proven paths. Yet he has exercised a commendable degree of foresight and humanitarian spirit. For instance, in considering whether to again make the race be pointed to water and eleemosynary institutions as major problems facing Texas. Certainly, our own community and area has a vast stake and interest in these two fields. While the governor doubtless gained some opposition from the teaching ranks in his stand against the pay raise issue at the last session, the fact remains that he is the one man responsible for the compromise which resulted in a $402 increase. There would have been no special session had he not called it; results likely could not have been so positive and prompt had he not personally called the turn at critical points.

Today And Tomorrow—Walter Lippmann Policy Laid On False Estimate Caused Nixon To Eat Own Words

While Mr. Nixon's speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors had much of the appearance of being a calculated indiscretion, I find it hard to believe that it was calculated. For his remarks were an assortment of ideas and attitudes—things he learned on his trip, hypothetical questions he has heard discussed—which manifestly have not been added up to make anything that could be called a considered and coherent policy. How, for example, are we to reconcile what he seemed to be saying to the editors on Friday about dispatching troops if the French withdraw with what he said in his big television speech on March 15, a month ago: "Since our former policy failed we then asked ourselves the question: What kind of a new policy should we announce? And in determining what that policy should be we decided to find out what the men in the Kremlin were up to."

There is no way out of this dilemma if we ask ourselves the unrealistic question—how will the Viet Nam carry on the war if the French withdraw? There is no answer to a question of how to continue the war based on the hypothesis of a French withdrawal from the war. The French are the government and they are the army in Viet Nam. Were they "to withdraw" the Viet Name army would consist of battalions without effective commanders much above the regimental level. There would be no civil authority at the national level. Any notion that the French could "go out" and that we could "go in"—with the civil war being fought—is an hallucination. Such a change-over would be an enormously elaborate and long operation. For all practical purposes the Americans could not go into Indochina unless the French remain. For it is the French who provide the government and the military power in all the places where we could go in. They are, moreover, who should not forget, the sovereign power.

What has happened in the past month to cause the Vice President to announce that he is prepared to eat his own words? The assault on Dien Bien Phu and the military reports from Gen. Ely and Mr. Pleven have brought a sudden realization in Washington that the French government is determined to try to negotiate an armistice. Suddenly there has been a reappraisal of an old and not greatly changed situation. The notion, always an illusion and always fabricated, that there was a plan to win the war—and that we were backing that plan—has suddenly given way to a sense of what has really been going on in Indochina. When Mr. Nixon made his television speech, the whole Indochinese policy in Washington was based on a false estimate of the situation in Indochina. That was why he could say in March that "during the one year of the Eisenhower administration in not one area of the world have the Communists made a significant gain," and to promise that the new policy was working so well that there would be no need of "having more Korean-type wars all over the world." Now that the estimate has been discredited, and with it the policy based on it, a radical revision of policy has become necessary.

For this fundamental reason, which I believe cannot be effectively disputed, the only military policy we can have in Indochina is one founded upon collaboration with France. It will have to be the willing collaboration of France. That willing collaboration cannot conceivably be won if we go to Geneva, as Mr. Nixon appears to want, determined in advance not to negotiate about the armistice we promised to go there to negotiate about. I say this though I share his view that partition and coalition are not acceptable solutions. That is very different, however, from trying to rule out in advance any negotiated settlement. To do that would be mischievous indeed. For Mr. Dulles would have to go to Geneva with the impression fixed all over the world that the United States is opposed to a negotiated armistice. Then the psychological victory at Geneva is guaranteed in advance to the Communists. They cannot lose. Our talkative politicians will have presented them with an impregnable position from which to isolate us from all the peoples who are yearning for peace in Asia, and from our allies who want peace too.

That is what Mr. Dulles has been laboring at—laboring under the greatest difficulties at home and abroad. A new policy cannot be improvised suddenly in so enormously complex a situation and under such very fluid conditions. A new policy can be arrived at only gradually by careful and acute testing of what is for American diplomacy a very new ground. Any idea that a new policy was formulated and decreed in the National Security Council one fine day recently, or that Mr. Nixon has announced that policy, cannot be true. The more one searches Mr. Nixon's remarks, the more obvious it is that there is no policy behind them. Determination to oppose the domination of Southeast Asia by the Communist powers is not a policy; it is an objective, necessary and desirable, which requires a workable policy to achieve it. Making up one's mind that under certain circumstances we might have to dispatch forces to Indochina is not a policy. It is an element in the implementation of a policy which has yet to be formed.

Federal Housing Administration Rumpus Involves Question Of Mistakes, Fraud

WASHINGTON (U)— This is an ABC on the rumpus over the Federal Housing Administration, which, with government money, guaranteed loans for such things as building apartment houses and making home improvements. The Eisenhower administration and two congressional committees are making intensive investigations into reported abuses and frauds under these two FHA programs. Rental housing— This program, begun in 1942, ended in 1950. To increase the number of dwelling units during and after the war, Congress passed a law which said: FHA would insure loans, up to 90 per cent, for building rental housing. In the eight years involved 7,000 projects, with 465,000 dwelling units, were built. Example: The Jones company wanted to put up an apartment house. It had to submit its plans to FHA, whose appraisers estimated the cost. Say, in one case, FHA estimated the cost at one million dollars. Since the FHA would insure a loan made to the Jones outfit up to 90 per cent—in this case $900,000—the bank let the company have the one-million-dollar loan. Maybe the FHA estimate was too low and the actual cost turned out to be $1,300,000. That was the Jones company's tough luck. Say the estimate was too high and the apartment house cost only $700,000. The Jones company might pocket the $300,000 difference. It could do this by various means, such as declaring itself a $300,000 dividend and legally going out of business, or by fixing rents high enough so tenants would pay off the inflated loan.

NEW YORK (U)— The average man would laugh today if you told him that 10 years from now he would be wearing ruffles on his swimming suit—or a polka dot suit. But aren't we heading that way? Since mama took over the spending of the whole family clothing budget more and more husbands are being dressed in their wife's mental image of a man. If some designer sells one woman the idea her husband would look cuter at the beach in a ruffled bathing suit, don't think it wouldn't catch on, boys? It would! Naturally the ruffles would be seersucker at first. Women know you can haul a mule a mile if you just coax him along an inch at a time. But the ruffles would get larger and larger. This style of men's bathing suit would last until the ruffles got so big that 100,000 husbands caught their hands in them and drowned, unable to swim. Then, to safeguard the breadwinner, a ruffled men's swim suit would appear on the market. And don't think wives wouldn't snap them up for their husbands. I ask you, fellows, how would you like to catch a view of your self in the mirror in that kind of high beach style—a sad-faced, waddling penguin in bright gay ruffles? If you think this is an exaggeration, ask an elderly man today how his mommy made him dress when he was a boy in the "Little Lord Fauntleroy" period. He will probably still break out sweating at the memory of himself in velvet and long curls. The question I raise is: If men don't go back to buying their own clothing, and buying them on the basis of personal comfort and commonsense, aren't we in danger of letting wives herd us into a "Big Lord Fauntleroy" period? Women notoriously have been willing to follow any new style themselves, whether it suited them or only brought out their hidden repulsive features. Since they took over buying male clothing too, they have begun to make man also a cowardly sheeplike victim of so-called fashion. What has happened since mama started buying papa's clothing? Everything a man used to wear either has been taken away from him or shrunk beyond recognition. All he gets now is more new colors—colors the rainbow never heard of—such as charcoal blue and charcoal brown and charcoal green. I hate to give away my age, but I do remember when charcoal was a fuel instead of a department store adjective. Whether we are wedding, boys? Back to the honest suit with a vest and two pairs of pants—or forward to the polka dot suit? End Advance Thursday Apr. 23 business. He can do that on the rents from the tenants in the building. Since this program ended in 1950, any frauds connected with it happened under the Democratic administration. But any frauds connected with FHA's home improvement program which is still in existence may have occurred under either Democrats or Republicans. Home improvements— Under this FHA guarantee loans up to $2,500 for improvements on individual homes. Suppose a builder charges Smith $1,000 to put a back porch on his house. Smith had to get a bank loan, guaranteed by FHA, to pay him. No FHA appraiser or inspector is called in before or afterwards to estimate the true cost of the porch or the cost of the finished product. Suppose, further, Smith finds the porch defective or that the actual cost was only $500 and that the builder therefore gyped him out of $500. Any crime here? Apparently no federal crime. He might be able to sue the builder in a state court.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

Born in Georgia on this day in 1793 was Gideon Lincoln, who, though he received only five months of formal education, won a national reputation as a scholar in the field of natural history. A man of insatiable curiosity and quick intelligence, Lincoln acquired a wide education by reading everything he could get his hands on. Living always on the frontier, he learned Indian languages quickly and became an authority on the customs and habits of the red men. And he also enjoyed some success as a physician—a profession he learned by reading what medical books he could find and studying medicinal plants in an effort to improve on old remedies. This extremely versatile man made his greatest contributions in the field of natural history. Moving to Texas in 1848, he spent more and more time studying and collecting insects and small animals. His articles appeared in leading scientific journals over the nation, dealing with the Texas agricultural soil. To the lay reader, Lincoln's most entertaining writing is his autobiography, which gives a colorful account of frontier life and conditions and an even more striking picture of the writer himself.

Famous Words OF FAMOUS PEOPLE. SIR JAMES BARRETT. "LIFE IS A LONG LESSON IN HUMILITY." WILLIAMSON, Pa. (U)—Howard Krause told state police he set fire to his new house because his wife wouldn't move into it. Krause pleaded guilty yesterday to arson. Damage was estimated at $4,000.

Action Speaks With Far More Eloquence Than Painted Words

Another thing I've come to like about Big Spring is the way you don't see any "Welcome Airmen" signs stuck up around town. I'd bet the airmen appreciate it, too. Many of the men-in-blue stationed out at Webb probably have had assignments in cities where they have large expanses of water to go with their beaches, and where the sand mostly stays on the ground. These far-away places might also have been better equipped in other ways to accommodate the men and their families who went there because the Air Force ordered it. A lot of these Air Force towns have some other characteristics, also. Some are not so appealing. I can think of a place or two where such things as "Welcome Airmen" signs have more than offset the advantages they might otherwise offer. These signs have become a sort of symbol of the greediness of those towns' citizens.

The guiding motive in such communities seems to be the development of a bigger and better system for separating the airman from his money. Business places of the magnitude of firecracker stands have sprung up on all the approaches to the neighboring air base, offering cash and a host of "services" to airmen. The biggest thing about these establishments are their "Welcome Airmen" signs. Downtown in these cities, you'll find a whole lot of the same thing. "Welcome Airmen" signs are seen on every block. You won't find many such placards in Big Spring. Not that airmen aren't welcomed here, or that their expenditures aren't appreciated. The Air Force dollar means just as much to the local economy as it does anywhere. But the lack of "special" welcomes indicates the serviceman receives the same kind of "shakes" that the permanent resident expects. —WAYLAND YATES

Inez Robb's Column Young-White Duel Is Unusual In Polite Era Of Big Business

Big Business has become so all-fired polite in the 20th Century that a real Hatfield-McCoy drop-dead feud is almost unknown—which is what makes the Donnybrook for control of the New York Central Railroad so fascinating in this Gaston-Alphonse age. William White, president of the New York Central, feels toward Robert R. Young, who is trying to wrest control of the railroad from the present board of directors, approximately as the Capulets felt toward the Montagues, or as Joe Louis toward Max Schmeling. The Central prexy dislikes Mr. Young's stripe so intensely that he will ignore the famous dictum—if you can't lick 'em, join 'em—should the latter win the battle to control the railroad at the annual meeting of stockholders in Albany, N. Y., May 26. "I'll be looking for a job in that case," said Mr. White, 55, who went to work in 1913 as a railroad clerk at $20 a month and has risen to his present position the hard way. "I have to work for a living, but I can't and won't work either for or with that man! I have just torn up a lifetime contract with the New York Central rather than have to work with Young, barring the unlikely possibility that he gets control of the road."

another, it is the Texas' announcement that if he gained control of the Central, he would employ Mr. White "as long as he turns in a good day's work." "Young doesn't know what a good day's work is," the outraged career railroader declared with a tinge of contempt. "You can't put in a good day's work at Newport or Palm Beach." Mr. White said in a passing bow to Mr. Young's homes and annual sojourns in these fancy-pants society resorts. Mr. White and Mr. Young share a passion for two pastimes, golf and bridge. But resemblances end at this point. Mr. White is a big man with dark hair just starting to turn gray, in contrast to his antagonist, Texas-born Robert Young, who is a slight man with snow-white hair. An antique gold watch chain, a present from his wife, hung across Mr. White's vest. One end of that chain is firmly attached to one of Mr. White's proudest possessions, an old-fashioned railroad watch. "Can't stand a wrist watch," he explained.

"The odds in Wall Street are 50-50 on the outcome of the fight—" I began. "I think the odds are all wrong," Mr. White said with considerable emphasis. "I don't think Young has better than 30 per cent chance. And I know he isn't too confident either, or he wouldn't be resorting to some of his present tactics." If any one statement of Mr. Young has gotten under Mr. White's skin more than in his capacity as president of the New York Central, Mr. White will preside at the annual meeting May 26, to be held in Albany. It is just possible that at this meeting, the railroad management will change hands. "But I shall conduct the meeting just as fairly as possible," Mr. White said. "If Mr. Young wishes to make a speech, he is welcome and can talk just as much as he wants to." "But I don't think he'll be here," said Hatfield White, breathing fire at McCoy Young. "I don't really believe he has the nerve to show up at the meeting and make a speech!"

These Days—George Sokolsky

People Are Not Only Tired Of Wrangles, But Wranglers, Too

One pauses to step away from the disorders of our days to think in broader terms of the uproar in Congress and Press and to a lesser degree among the people over conflicts of methods and ideas. Party lines have so weakened and therefore each individual in Congress, particularly in the Senate, acts alone and without a continuing responsibility to a political party or even for the country. It is so obviously an era of political transition that actions have become formless. Who is to blame, who started it first, does not matter as much as that the condition exists. The Eisenhower Administration introduced a new term in American politics, "The Leadership." This term avoids stating that the President normally heads his party as Mr. Eisenhower eschews party politics. It rather sets up a group, consisting perhaps of the President, the Vice President, Senator Knowland, Speaker Martin and Representative Halleck, and such others as are close to the President. If that is "The Leadership," it contains within itself numerous differences as to the program they are to lead others to. At any rate, it does not include such powerful personalities in Congress as when Senator Taft and Senator Vandenberg led the party in opposition. Resentment grows as men, chosen directly by the people, find themselves ordered to accept authority. They are rather accustomed to be consulted. Patronage, a prime mover of men, has been so scattered and irregular as to have become a cause for contention rather than a medium for uniformity. The victory of Joseph T. Meek and Harold Velde in the Illinois primaries may be taken as an indication that in Illinois and possibly in the Middle West, "The Leadership" is not leading. For United States Senator from Illinois, "The Leadership's" candidate ran a poor third; the winner and the runner-up are more closely associated with the positions of Senator McCarthy.

of the committee, and too much has been loosely and incorrectly stated not to hurt Stevens when the preponderance of evidence is to be weighed. But what, from the Republican standpoint, is politically all wrong is that the Democrats on the committee act on their own and too often prevail, so that a campaign issue is being made out of something that is hardly of any great importance compared, let us say, with the Russian advantage in the use of nuclear weapons and the danger of direct involvement in the Indochina war. There seems to be a competition for front page excitement between the McCarthy-Stevens situation and the Oppenheimer case. In both, the battle is being fought in the Senate, which has itself criticized Senator McCarthy for doing the same thing—and rightfully so. The result of leaks, of Senators voting for fair play and breaking their own rules, of a defendant before a secret panel sifting public the data concerning his hearing, all on his own, have engendered a confusion in the minds of the people. How can anybody know what is true when only one side is presented and none of that is obviously wholly true? From all sides, one hears that the people are not only tired of these wrangles, but are growing weary of the wranglers. However, to the politicians, this is a Congressional election year and they need a hullabaloo to make it interesting for the voters so that they will vote. It looks as though many will stay at home—or play golf on election day, and politicians fear a boycotted election except where the outcome cannot be in doubt.

Launch Home Season Tonight

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Bobby Fernandez, the one-time Big Springer who is known around the country as one of the best bad-ball hitters since Joe Medwick, is back with Lubbock.

The Cuban, who also goes by the name of Tampanes, failed to make the ripple with Denver of the Western League.

Frank Casanova, the former Bronc, didn't stay in the Midland camp very long after arriving from Mexico.

He had a disagreement with the front office and moved on to New Mexico, hoping one of the clubs there could swing a deal for him.

Casanova was offered to Big Spring the day before he shoved off for New Mexico.

Only two of the Longhorn League umpires this year were active in the circuit last season but a third, George Thomas, worked in the league three years back.

The two holdovers are Al Sample, the Purple Heart veteran who carries a steel plate in his leg as a result of his war wounds; and Maurice Proulx, Sample's partner at Girard, Ohio; Proulx from Epping, Ohio. The other arbiters are Jim Tongate of Waco; Matthew Ryan, Brooklyn; Robert Cook, Paynesville, Ohio; Paul Kelly, Webster, Mass.; and Paul Foster, Fort Smith, Ark.

Tongate was employed by the WT-NM League in 1953. Ryan and Cook served their apprenticeships in the Mountain States circuit. Foster is up from the Sooner State League; Kelly moved in from the Gulf Coast League. Thomas called balls and strikes in both the Tri-State and Carolina Leagues last year.

Audie Malone, who pitched for both Vernon and Carlsbad in the Longhorn League, took his lumps when pitching for San Francisco against Los Angeles in Pacific Coast League play recently. Malone was shelled to cover in the fifth, having given up seven hits and five runs. The Angels went on to win, 12-2.

Malone picked up 25 wins in the Longhorn League last year. Roswell had him but sold him to the Potashers.

Fat Lorenz, who had a brief trial with Big Spring several years ago and who was to lead all the minor leagues in hitting one season, is now with Montgomery, Ala., in the Class A South Atlantic League.

First Sacker Joe Adcock says in the current edition of Look Magazine that Texan Eddie Mathews would break Babe Ruth's home run record if he played for some team other than Milwaukee. Eddie gets no 'cheap' home runs in his home park, says Adcock. Mathews might turn the trick, anyway. He's got youth on his side.

A fewer number of professional baseball leagues (36) are operating this year and at any time since 1938, exclusive of the war years. Organized baseball has seen only one league fold during the season in the past ten years, however.

Oscar Reguera, a very controversial figure when he pitched for Big Spring, is back with Clovis in the WT-NM League. He won nine and lost four for the Pioneers in 1953.

Four Big Spring Athletes In Region I Track Meet

Four Big Spring athletes will take part in the Region I track and field meet Saturday in Lubbock.

They are Tiny Ellison, shot put; Carlisle (Frosty) Robison, discus thrower; Bobby Fuller, miler; and Kirk Faulkner, 880-yard runner.

Fuller will run against McNew, Amarillo; Carver, Amarillo; Cruz, Amarillo; Chisolm, Odessa; and Ross, Lamesa.

Fuller has been improving in every race. He ran fourth in his specialty at Abilene last week but broke the old record.

Ellison will have competition from Alexander, Lamesa; Wolfe, Lubbock; Cantrell, Pampa; Strickland, Pampa; and Irvin, Amarillo.

Robison will compete in a field that includes Irvin, Amarillo; Cox, Amarillo; Harger, Lubbock; and Alexander, Lamesa.

In the 880-yard race, Faulkner will run against Sheppard, Odessa; Lightfoot, Midland; Miller, Amarillo; Ray, Amarillo; and Lord, Amarillo.

Amarillo is favored to cop team honors but faces tough competition in Lubbock and Pampa.

The Sandies are the defending champions, having scored 46 points in the 1953 show. Odessa was second with 40.

Artesians Help B S Launch Home Play

Slightly groggy, after having absorbed two straight defeats in Artesia, but still bristling with fight, the Big Spring Broncs launch their home play in Steer Park at 8 o'clock.

Guests of the evening will be the Artesia Numexers, all set to make a major bid for first place in the Longhorn League.

Mayor George Dabney will throw out the first ball in tonight's game. Longhorn League President Harry James and other notables will be on hand.

Larry Cummins, a veteran right-hander who won 15 games for Abilene in the WT-NM League last year, will probably toe the slab for the Chevuses.

Homer (Hook) Gibson, manager of the Numexers, will probably mount the knob for the visitors.

Gibson has assembled one of the hardest hitting teams in Class C ball. Artesia benefits from a working agreement with the Dallas Eagles and, according to reports, Dick Burnett, owner of the Dallas club, has gone all out to supply the New Mexico city with a club.

The two clubs will square off again Friday night in the fourth game of the series. Admission fee for tonight's game, as per custom, is $1. For all other

Aggies Upended

SECURON (AP)—Texas Lutheran scored four runs on one hit in the fourth inning here last night to defeat Texas A&M's baseball team, 4-2.

Longhorn League games here, the duet price will be 74 cents. Pepper Martin, owner-manager of the local team, will probably use Julio Delatorre at third base, Jackie Wilcox at shortstop, Floyd Martin at second and Juan Mejido at first. Martin himself will play left while Harold Berry will be in center and Johnny O'Neill is right.

Newcomer Bill O'Donnell will receive Cummins' slants.

Phipps Handcuffs Big Spring, 12-7

ARTESIA, N. M. (SC)—Artesia cut loose with another heavy hitting assault to bury Big Spring under a 12-7 score in a Longhorn League game played before a shivering crowd of 255 here Wednesday night.

The Broncs registered five runs in the third to wipe out the memory of a bad first inning but the Numexers came right back to count four in the fourth and breezed in from that point.

Orlando Perdomo started the game on the mound for Big Spring but failed to retire a man in the first, when Artesia banked four runs.

Julio Delatorre highlighted the big third inning for Big Spring with his second round tripper in two nights. The blast drove in three runs.

A double by Johnny O'Neill and singles by Harold Berry and reliever Tom McKenna gave the Steeds another run.

Artesia's big fourth inning was highlighted by John Godell's double. Jodie Phipps went all the way on the mound for Artesia. He gave up eight hits but fanned ten and did not walk a batter.

Jackie Wilcox drove in Big Spring's other two runs in the eighth.

Artesia's other two runs in the eighth.

Equichall, Flying Bry Are Nominated

John Ray Dillard, Big Spring sportsman's park in Chicago for the spring season.

He reported both Equichall and Flying Bry are training satisfactorily. He will nominate Equichall in the Inaugural Handicap Monday. If she doesn't get to run then, she will be entered in a race on Saturday.

Flying Bry will be started Saturday, if at all possible. Sportsman's Park will have a 19-day meet.

Dillard plans to stay for the duration of the meet and for other meets in the Chicago area, if the horses remain in shape.

Oriole Ace Kayoed By A High Pitch

By BEN PHLEGAR

Bullet Bob Turley may still be nursing a home run headache today, but he probably will end up glad he didn't pitch that no-hitter.

Turley toils for the Baltimore Orioles and last night he came within two outs of holding the Cleveland Indians hitless. He wound up getting beaten, 2-1, when Al Rosen singled and Larry Doby, twice a strikeout victim, lined a high pitch 300 feet into the right field stands of Baltimore's Municipal Stadium.

"It was over his head," Turley said. "He never should have swung."

Turley is so fresh out of the Army that he wasn't around the last time a member of his team pitched a no-hitter. That was in May last season when the Orioles were still the St. Louis Browns.

Bobo Holloman was the author. Nobody would go broke giving prizes for answers to the question "Where's Holloman now?"

Bobo never pitched another complete game for the Browns and he was lost in the minors by the time Turley shed his khaki last August.

A blond Greek-god type who stands 6-2 and weighs 215, Turley throws harder than any pitcher who has hit the big time since Bobby Feller moved from his Iowa farm to the Indians. He was the hottest property on the winter baseball market and the new owners of the Orioles turned down cash offers of $150,000 and upwards for his services.

Bob Porterfield of the Washington Senators, whose lucky is usually all bad, was more fortunate than Turley last night. He pitched a three-hitter against the Philadelphia Athletics and his mates supported him with a 13-1 attack that produced a 13-1 victory.

New York whipped Boston, 5-1, in the only other American League game. Brooklyn defeated Philadelphia, 6-3. Pittsburgh edged the New York Giants, 5-4. St. Louis beat Cincinnati, 4-2, and Milwaukee thumped Chicago, 7-3, in the National League.

The Yankees used their patented weapon, the home run, to ruin young Leo Kieley's return from the Army to the Red Sox. Yogi Berra, Gil McDougald and Mickey Mantle pounded Kieley's left-handed slants into the Yankee Stadium seats while the Sox were being mystified by Eddie Lopat.

The Phils threw their game away in Brooklyn in the first inning. Three throwing errors by the infield sandwiched between five walks and a single gave the Dodgers three runs. The league champions added three more in the next two innings and Billy Loos batted long enough to silence the Phils' threats although he needed help from Jim Hughes in the ninth.

Annulment Sought By Woman After Lonely Heart Case

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A suit for annulment has been filed by Mrs. Leola Griffith against George Doety, 62, an ex-convict charged with obtaining $3,700 from a Milwaukee widow on promise of marriage. She based her suit on the contention he had fraudulently misrepresented himself and intended to continue in the business of romancing women for profit as a lonely hearts racket. Doety was arrested in Los Angeles Monday after Mrs. Wilson Dallman of Milwaukee came here to marry him and discovered he was already married. Mrs. Griffith said she married Doety in Flagstaff, Ariz., last Oct. 30, and that he gave the name of George Hoffman. She asked a court order to compel him to return $11,575 in property and assets she said she advanced him for a business deal, two automobiles, a $1,300 diamond ring and cash.

New York Man's Death, Fortune Both Are Puzzle

NYACK, N.Y. (AP)—Police here have a double mystery on their hands: why Raymond Jones handed himself and why he preferred to run a tiny candy-newsstand store when he was worth at least $72,000. After returning from World War II, Jones took over the small shop when his parents died. Everyone figured the store just enabled him toeke out a living. Yesterday his body was found, hanging from a stairway railing. A routine check of the premises turned up the following: Coins in a soda water box totaling $1,248.24; old cigar boxes stuffed with $22,230 in bills; two savings accounts of $25,908.90 and $18,740.47, respectively; a checking account of nearly $4,600 more. Authorities said Jones has no known relatives.

Whitney To Attend Austin Conference

City Manager H. W. Whitney was given permission by city commissioners Tuesday night to attend a conference of the City Managers Association in Austin next week. Whitney is president of the Texas City Managers Association. He said the meeting is set for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Since Whitney will not be present for next Tuesday's commission meeting, the session will probably be postponed until Wednesday.

Texas Firm Tops Sale

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—Superior Oil Co. of Midland, Tex., yesterday bought the state's 8871,720 monthly oil sale of 53 tracts. The Midland company bid $50,000 for an 80-acre tract in Lea County in the 820-7180-1832 near Monument. It amounted to $22 an acre.

Martha Raye Is Bride 5th Time

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—Movie and television star Martha Raye married her fifth husband yesterday after a hectic search through two states, in four chartered airplanes, for a quick marriage license. Wearing a light blue garter which she displayed for skeptics, the wide-mouthed comedienne married Edward Thomas Begley, a dark-haired dancer on her television show.

It was the first marriage for Begley, who is 30. Miss Raye gave her age as 37 but later quipped to newsmen, "Confidentially, I'm 37." The ceremony was performed in the courthouse at Arlington, across the Potomac River from Washington, by Dr. Arthur L. Maiden, counselor of the Juvenile Bureau and a retired minister. The attendants were Carl Eastman of Westport, Conn., a talent scout, and his wife. The wedding was the climax of a chase which began early yesterday when Miss Raye and her party chartered two small planes to take them to Elkton, Md., once famous for quick marriages. They sent the planes on their way, planning to proceed by auto.

Finding that Maryland now has a 48-hour waiting period for marriage licenses, they located two more planes to take them to Alexandria, Va., a few miles from here. Then they came on to Arlington, got a license and went through a double ring ceremony in which she and Begley pledged to be "true and loyal." The fadeout kiss lasted nearly half a minute. Then the couple left for a Connecticut honeymoon.

In any event, Miss Raye seemed to be enjoying herself yesterday. Called to the telephone while obtaining the license, she found on the other end a New York newspaper reporter wanting to know if she planned to get married. "What the hell do you think I'm going to do," she said she told him, "play ping-pong?"

Rhonda Fleming, Shelley Winters File For Divorces

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Two screen actresses, Rhonda Fleming and Shelley Winters, have asked the courts to dissolve their marriages. Attorneys for the two filed divorce complaints yesterday in Superior Court. Both charge cruelty. Miss Fleming's action is against Dr. Lewis V. Morrill, a Beverly Hills surgeon to whom she was wed July 11, 1952, at Kanab, Utah, while on a movie location trip. They separated March 30 because, she said at that time, they were incompatible. They have no children and no community property. Miss Winters asked for a divorce from Italian actor Vittorio Gassman, and requested custody of their 13-month-old daughter Victoria. They were married April 28, 1952, at Juarez, Mexico, and separated last Oct. 17. Miss Winters asked for 10 per cent of Gassman's earnings for support of the child, with the minimum to be $5,000 a year if he is working in the United States or $3,600 if working in Italy.

Duval's Freedom Party Sets Slate

BENAVIDES, Tex. (AP)—A partial list of candidates in the Duval County election this summer was announced yesterday by the Freedom Party, a group organized to oppose the political influence of George Parr. The list included Larry Warburton Jr., Freer, for county attorney; rancher Raymond Garcia, Sejita, county judge; James L. McDonald, Benavides rancher and oil investment operator, sheriff; Gilberto Hinojosa, Benavides rancher, county tax collector; and Manuel Sanez Jr., Rio farmer and dairyman, county treasurer. The candidates were selected by the party's executive board.

Congressional Nines See Game Rained Out

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Congressmen undergoing spring baseball "training" here will play a practice game tonight. The game had been scheduled for last night but was rained out. The congressmen are here during the Easter recess of the House and Senate to get in shape for the annual game for charity in Washington June 15.

'Freedom' Meet Begins In Omaha

OMAHA (AP)—The Second Congress of Freedom opens in Omaha today with the announced watchword: "To Regain Constitutional Government in the Original Spirit of America." The congress is sponsored by an interim committee named at a similar meeting in Omaha last October. The committee includes Arnold Kruckman, Washington News service operator and president of Operation America, Inc.; Frank Chodorov, Washington and New York, associate editor of "Human Events," and S. Howard Evans, Easton, Pa., president of the National Decentralist Institute.

One of its announced purposes will be to "give a demonstration of the powerful grass roots strength in America that will set in the congressional elections of 1954 and in the presidential election of 1956, to rout the socialist conspiracy in America and to put an end to the international exploitation of our country." Operation America, Inc., had announced previously it would confer its "Patriot Award" on Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) at this meeting, but McCarthy was unable to be present, and a spokesman said the award would be made later.

IT HAPPENED

Funeral Brings Joy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Some 10,000 mourners jammed the financial district yesterday for the fantastic, joyful funeral of the Monster of Montgomery Street. The "monster" was an immense pile driver which had split the air for four months with a nerve-wracking, never-ended "boom-chuck!" Confetti showered from skyscrapers as the grotesque machine was dismantled, its work of sinking the foundation of a new 25-story building complete. Civic dignitaries spoke and an orchestra played "Happy Days Are Here Again." Then a red box labeled "The Monster's Noise," was placed in a funeral cortege and taken to the liner President Monroe for burial in mid-Pacific.

How You Look At It

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Five-year-old George Andrews pretended the cardboard box was a "palace" and crawled into it to play. The box happened to be in the middle of a street. A passing motorist hit it, thinking it was "just a box." George was treated at Harrisburg Hospital for minor injuries.

ONTARIO, Ore. (AP)—It was a nice day for strolling in Ontario yesterday.

Reds Decide Against Wire

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Swiss soldiers laboriously began stringing five carloads of barbed wire yesterday around the fancy lakeside villas reserved for top Communist delegates to the big power conference on Korea and Indochina. Today they started taking the wire down. Russian security officers decided abruptly they didn't want the barbed wire around the suburban estate which will house Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

When the Chinese heard that they decided they also didn't want such protection for Premier Foreign Minister Chou En-lai. The Swiss already had put up the wire wall along the most exposed side of Chou's future home. Reporters said the handsome property looked like a concentration camp. The North Koreans couldn't make up their minds. They told the Swiss not to start the wire work at their house, but they'd let them know their final decision later today.

Victoria Doctor Asks Relaxation Of Rules

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A Victoria, Tex. doctor believes hospital general practitioners to allow special practitioners to care for their patients "within the limits of their training and ability." At the same time, Dr. Andrew S. Tomb said the value of specialists in medical care should not be underestimated. He spoke at a meeting of the Rhode Island Academy of General Practice here last night. Medical specialists and family doctors must work together with and conflicts, Dr. Tomb said.

There were 2,425,000 more births than deaths in the United States in 1953, a new record.

Grandma's Surprise

DENVER (AP)—Grandma Pokey is blind in one eye and her black spots are turning white with age. At 23 years of age she's a centenarian-by human standards. So you can imagine Mrs. Edwin L. Helm's surprise yesterday when she looked out the window and saw Grandma Pokey, a feeble Shetland pony, helping a newborn filly take its first steps.

Spreading Good Word

OMAHA (AP)—Prowlers looted the parked car of Matt Walsh, Pottawattamie, Iowa, county attorney, who had driven here with his assistant and Dist. Judge Bennett Cullison, all of Council Bluffs. The loot was a carton of campaign book matches and a bundle of campaign material.

Houston Firm Is Named In Frauds

FORT WORTH (AP)—A Houston investment firm has been named in a 15-count federal indictment alleging fraudulent statements in connection with Veterans Administration housing loans. The indictment, against the American General Investment Corp., was returned yesterday by a federal grand jury closing out a 10-day session. It is one of a number of indictments growing out of a Veterans Administration probe of the Midland-Ablene area last summer. The Houston firm is alleged to have made the false and fraudulent statements in connection with housing loans made in 1951, 1952 and 1953. The statements, the indictment alleged, were made through three authorized representatives, all of whom have been indicted individually. They are Raymond Thomas Sr., Abilene; Ivan E. Juncan, Dallas; and Mavis McManus, Dallas. Thomas, one of Abilene's largest residential developers and the head of several business firms, has been named in 48 counts in six other indictments. The Dallas man and woman are listed in yesterday's indictment as assistant secretaries of the corporation. It found guilty the corporation is subject only to a fine, U.S. Dist. Atty. Heard Floor said. None of the three alleged representatives are subject to prosecution under the corporation indictment, he said. The cases, which involve the sale or outright gift by veterans of their rights to GI loans, are set for trial before Judge Joe B. DeLoey during a term of court opening at Lubbock May 3. Also indicted by the grand jury yesterday was James Blaine Sewell, former payroll teller for the Texas Bank & Trust Company at Dallas, who is charged with embezzling $24,000.01 from the bank last February.

AF Air Conditioning

WASHINGTON (AP)—Air conditioning systems will be installed in Air Force hospitals at six Texas bases, the Defense Department notified Sen. Lyndon Johnson yesterday. The hospitals are at Carswell, Fort Worth; Foster, Victoria; Harlingen; Lackland, San Antonio; Laredo and Laughlin, Del Rio.

Delivery Service Featured

Delivery service is one of the features provided for shoppers at the Glen Brown Grocery, located at 904 West Third Street in Big Spring. The pick-up truck shown in the foreground is used for this purpose, and deliveries always are made promptly.

Relcerce Jones Offers Expert Auto Service

The family automobile, as well as the family home, should come in for a general spring cleaning annually. It returns the favor by giving better service over a longer period of time.

A good place to have the chore taken care of is the Relcerce Jones Humble Service Station, located at Fourth and Scurry Streets in Big Spring.

Jones re-acquired the station recently and is keeping it open seven days a week.

The concern employs attendants long experienced in catering to the public and its automotive needs.

If you are in doubt as to the type and grade of motor oil to use in your automobile's crankcase, ask Jones or any of his personnel.

When the Jones concern undertakes a cleaning job on a vehicle, they have the complete equipment to clean a car, both on its interior and upholstery, as well as without.

Grease jobs are accomplished within a short period of time but prove invaluable over a period of weeks. Greasing a vehicle should be done periodically.

Jones' station is close enough to the business district that customers will find they can complete shopping tours during the times their automobiles are being serviced. The concern is within easy walking distance of any downtown store.

Business telephone number of Jones' Humble Service Station is 4-9261.

Driver Firm Busy Following Rainfall

Last week was one of the very busiest in the history of the Driver Truck and Implement Company on the Lamesa Highway, according to Curtis Driver, distributor for Farmall Tractors and International trucks.

Recent rains have encouraged farmers with the hope of a good year, Driver said, and they are trying to take advantage of this first good moisture that they have had in a long time.

The Driver organization is prepared to give prompt delivery on any model of Farmall tractor and other equipment, and on any International truck model to satisfy the farmer's needs. The supply room is completely stocked with parts and a full staff of skilled and trained mechanics are on the job to handle any repair or overhauling job, no matter how large or small on any make or model of implement or truck.

The large number of anxious farmers seen at the Driver place during the week and the large number of cars and trucks parked there during the days following the unexpected but appreciated showers indicated the popularity of the Driver Truck and Implement Company with the farming people, and the confidence they have in the equipment sold there as well as the skilled services rendered in the Driver Implement shop by those oughly trained mechanics and machinists. All facilities of the plant have been put in operation to provide prompt and guaranteed repairs and overhauls for all types of farm machinery.

Electric sheets and blankets can be washed successfully in warm soapsuds if you don't twist or wring them. To avoid damage to delicate wires, just squeeze out excess water by hand.

Cornelison Features Convenient Service

If a single word could sum up all the advantages of patronizing Cornelison Cleaners, the word would be convenience.

Cornelison's customers have found the establishment to be just about the handiest business concern in Big Spring.

Reason No. 1 is the convenient drive-in service afforded by the cleaning and pressing firm. Patrons can leave soiled garments at Cornelison Cleaners without ever stepping from their cars.

A friendly, courteous attendant meets customers in the driveway, receiving clothing for cleaning and pressing or delivering fresh garments.

Location of Cornelison Cleaners, at 10th and Johnson, also contributes to the convenience of its service. The concern is located on one of the most popular routes between the downtown and residential areas.

Customers have found that they can deliver or pick up their cleaning and pressing while on the way to or from town on other business. Or, if she simply wants to make a trip to the cleaners, the housewife doesn't have to worry about "getting ready" as she never has to leave the car at Cornelison's.

Of course, Roy Cornelison, owner-manager, provides a pickup and delivery service for customers who prefer to have someone call for and return their cleaning and pressing work.

Another service especially appreciated by customers with overcrowded closets is the storage of unused clothing. Cornelison is equipped to provide moth-proof storage for winter garments during the summer months. There is no charge for this service, which many customers use to advantage.

Coupled with Cornelison's complete cleaning and pressing and allied services is a backlog of cleaning and pressing "know-how" gained through a quarter of a century of training and experience.

Convenient service and top-quality work on every job has made Cornelison Cleaners one of Big Spring's most-patronized business establishments.

'Hi-Fi' Brings In Those Sweet Notes

Whether it's Bach or boogie, dance or drama, high fidelity records, radios and television sets are bringing hitherto undreamed-of perfection in reproduction of sound to a growing army of devotees.

Lovers of good music have a treat in store at their appliance dealers' showrooms. There they can hear old favorites as never heard before outside a concert hall. Notes to which old radios are "deaf," and records reproduced with laboratory-like precision await their listening pleasure.

Barber Shop Singers Hold Annual Banquet

Barber Shop singers rounded out a year of activity Tuesday evening with a banquet affair highlighted by election of Edward Johnson as president.

Highlights of the year's progress were recounted in a tape recording. This included samples from quartets organized since the local chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., was chartered.

Other officers elected were Bob Spears, first vice president; Bob Clark, second vice president; Dr. K. L. Brady, secretary-treasurer; Kerry Kiklicker and Lloyd Claxton, librarians.

Organization of the chapter last year grew out of forming a quartet known as the Sand Tunes and composed of Harry Plumbley, Tolford Durham, Gilbert Cook and Dr. Dwight Jones.

The chapter presented a program at Forsan and the first big "Round Up of Harmony" show was held in the city auditorium here last October with quartets coming from Carlsbad, N. M., El Paso and Fort Worth.

During the year several quartets have been organized, including the Dustyaires (Jack Wise, James Underwood, Bob Clark and Dr. Jones); South Paws (Byron Wolfe, Bob Spears, Bob Loggee and Bill Pratt); King Khordas (Harry Plumbley, Dick Thomas, Dr. K. L. Brady, Bernice Freeman); Mighty Knights (Gilbert Cook, Stanley Penfury, Bob Clark and Edward Johnson).

At the smallest bones of the human body are those—three in number—located in the middle ear.
