Funds Nearing Goal For Hail Suppression

Approximately $3,800 more is needed for the south half of Lamb County to complete payment for the Lamb County Weather Improvement Association's hail suppression program that will begin in less than two weeks. The total cost of the program for all of Lamb County, with the exception of several sections in the Pep community, is $63,000.

Farmers are paying 32 cents per acre to be included in the program. Homeowners with town property are paying $25 and businesses over the county are donating on a voluntary basis.

Scout District Honors Rancher

A special tribute was paid Thursday night to George White, who, with his family, "have devoted themselves to countless worthwhile causes, including the Boy Scouts of America."

The George White District of the Boy Scouts of America, which includes Lamb, Bailey, Hockley and Cochran Counties, paid the special tribute to White, for whom the district is named, during the annual district dinner in Muleshoe.

Dr. C. G. Dunn, rotary president at Levelland, introduced White and told of the heritage he received from his pioneer settler father, J. P. White.

"These two men have been a tremendous influence on civic affairs and public education in this area, and George White has served as a gracious host to boys and girls on his ranch for a number of years," Dr. Dunn said.

"White serves as presiding elder and treasurer of the First Presbyterian Church in Littlefield. He was discharged from the Marine Corps as First Lieutenant, and on April 22, 1955, the Boy Scout District was named for this man," Dr. Dunn pointed out.

Inscribed on the plaque is: "Presented to George L. White for his continued support of Boy Scouts of America, April 30, 1970"

Speaker of the evening was Federal Judge Halbert O. Woodward of Lubbock, president of the South Plains Council, who has been in Scouting since April 8, 1930.

"Our goal should be to enroll a third of all the boys in America, between 8 and 18, into the Scouting program by 1976. However," he said, "you as a leader will need help from home to keep these boys from drifting away from the program."

"Whatever success we have, depends on what we have done, what we are doing and what we will do," he concluded.

Tom Hilburn of Littlefield, district commissioner, introduced the different Scout units who were present, and Warren Dayton of Littlefield, Exploring chairman, introduced the leaders.

Another district officer, Jerry Kehoe of Littlefield, finance chairman, was also present for the meeting, along with several others from Littlefield.

Scouters on every level and friends of Scouting are giving their support to the current Sustaining Membership Enrollment program in Littlefield and the South Plains Council of Boy Scouts of America.

Campaign majors and captains will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. to review team progress and make plans for the wrap-up.

At present, $2,464 has been collected toward a $4,133 goal, according to co-chairmen Dutch Wilkison and Rev. Clem Sorley.

About 70 packets are still unreported and are being worked by volunteers in the drive.

The $2,464 includes the memberships reported by the special gifts division, headed by Warren Dayton and Charles Duval.

The funds are being raised for support of the budget of the South Plains Council, the Scout program in Littlefield and Lamb County.

REV. HUGH JACK Norwood does his own thing to keep young people out of trouble and be "real persons." He is assisted here in an imitation of Johnny Cash by his four-year-old son Darin.

FOR TEENS' TROUBLES

Preacher Is Troubadour

By NILAH RODGERS
Leader-News Staff Writer

A young man at Countyline, northeast of Anton, has overcome the effects of a drunken father, the temptations of drugs and drink, and time spent in jail and juvenile homes to become a real individual.

He is the boy from the wrong side of the tracks who was introduced to the "Big Man," became a preacher, and is now counseling young people in this area.

Only 24-years-old, Rev. Hugh Jack Norwood is part of both the "now generation" and the "establishment." He bridges the generation gap with the ease and grace of a born athlete, a magnetic personality, and with his guitar over his shoulder.

Rev. Norwood's childhood recollections aren't pleasant. His father was a drunkard and frequently came home at night and beat his children. "He beat us brutally," Rev. Norwood recalled. "With harnesses, his feet, his fists..."

"And when my father took me somewhere with him, it was to bars where he put beer in front of me and I'd watch him belly up and dance with the bar maids. "But my mother was a Godly woman," he said. "Who took me in her arms and told me she loved me. And she sent us to church. She was afraid to take us, because my daddy hated church and anything to do with it."

At church one day when he was 10-years-old, Rev. Norwood listened to what the preacher was saying because the speaker was telling everyone that this was where they could find happiness and be taken care of. And these words sounded like the security missing in his young life.

"I took that step," he said, "but I had to go back to the same world, to the same drunken father and same neighborhood. The only difference was that now the children in my neighborhood wouldn't even play with me. They called me a sissy and a Jesus lover."

"And when I went back to church, the children there wouldn't play with me either, because I had patches on my jeans, didn't wear shoes most of the time and lived on the wrong side of the tracks. So I started cussing a little and went back to the world."

Norwood was living in Pecos, just across from Mexico, during this time. "At that time, Pecos was already wide open," he said. "We could walk across the street to the school store and buy marijuana and dope. Anybody could get liquor, and students went behind buildings during the noon hour and made love."

"When I was 14, I told my parents I wanted to leave Pecos before I got in trouble. And the only way I knew to leave would be to join the Army. So they signed for me. I was in the Army four months before anyone found out I wasn't old enough. Then the Army threw me out."

Back in Pecos, Norwood broke all the social laws, then made it a point to see the juvenile officer and tell him what he was doing. "The juvenile officer would say, 'Norwood, we're going to throw the book at you when we catch you.' Then one day everything caught up with me. I got in a fight and when I woke up I was in jail."

"It didn't bother me about being in jail so much as getting caught," he said. "I was bitter about that, so bitter I spit water through the bars..."

"But just being in jail didn't bother me until my mother came to see me and had to ride up the same elevator with the prisoners, and be let in with the same key, and hear the catty

Check Forgery Crackdown Set

Lamb County sheriff's officials and Littlefield merchants are beginning an intensive campaign this week to combat forgeries.

An effort is being made to educate the public to the necessity of showing drivers' licenses when paying for purchases by check.

Merchants and law officers emphasize that identification requirements are not intended as a reflection on anyone, but that by comparing pictures with the person giving the check, forgers will be discouraged.

THE VFW WOMEN'S AUXILIARY float was not in competition for parade honors Saturday morning, but depicted one of America's well known military accomplishments, the raising of the flag in Iwo Jima. The theme of the float was, "America is Your Heritage."

FIRST PLACE FLOAT in the "Loyalty Day" parade was the "We, The Women" float, "As American As Apple Pie." The float depicts modern day women, who buy frozen pies and sit down to coffee while they bake; compared to frontier days when housewives rolled the dough, cut the apples and made the pie from scratch.

LOYALTY TO YOUTH, Littlefield's Greatest Asset, was theme of the second place float in Saturday's Loyalty Day Parade. Youth, shown in various phases of life, were honored for their contribution to civic and social life of Littlefield. The parade was sponsored jointly by Littlefield Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Women's Auxiliary of the VFW.

LHS Boys Set For District

Littlefield High School's 1970 "Road Scholars", Mike Oden and Johnny Alanis, are ready to compete in this year's district Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest in Lubbock Tuesday. The two seniors have practiced finding deliberately set "trouble" in a new automobile during class at school, and the auto mechanics teacher, Sid Landers, feels they have studied all phases of trouble spotting. The team is being sponsored by Garland Motor Co. of Littlefield and the contest will be held at Fenner Tubbs Motor Co. in Lubbock. The winning team in the district contest will be sent to Indianapolis in June to compete against other top Trouble Shooters from all parts of the country in the National Championship Finals. Contestants are competing for more than $125,000 worth of scholarships and awards. In the contest, participants take a written exam which counts as 30 percent of their team's final score and then they race the clock and the other teams to find and fix several malfunctions deliberately placed under the hoods of new Plymouth cars. This mechanical challenge counts as 70 percent of a team's score.

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

and get a spiritual lift for the whole week

the Earth IS HIS

The soil is God's priceless gift to man. It is a tangible gift neither plant, animal nor man can live without.

We depend on soil for just about everything. Although a mixture of dead plants, animals, rocks and other forms of life, it constantly changes through weathering to retain its perpetual productiveness. But man has upset its natural balance with tools and fire and set in motion damaging erosion. Americans are guilty, and that's what we've got to stop. Jeremiah said, and let us say with him, "the whole land is made desolate, because no man layeth it to his heart." Then grieved Jeremiah said, "They have sown wheat, but shall reap thorns."

Oh, God, let us be good Stewards of His Precious Soil, for, surely This Earth is His.

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

Sponsors of these messages urge faithful church support. Through these pages the appeal is for all men to stand up and be counted . . . to combat communism on all fronts . . . to be faithful to God.

'Light' Program United Methodist Church Slated Tuesday Scene Of Piano Auditions

A "Merchandising With Light" presentation will be made at noon Tuesday in the Community Center, sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company.

The presentation is designed to interpret the necessity for appropriate lighting in offices and stores, and to explain the effectiveness of lighting in increasing the attractiveness of merchandise for sale to the buying public.

A light lunch will be served at 12:45 following the presentation.

The National Piano Playing Auditions will be held in Littlefield, May 6 and 7, at the United Methodist Church.

Teachers entering students are: Miss Mildred Klein of Lubbock; Mrs. Dvain Phillips and Mrs. Buster Owens of Littlefield.

Guest pianist will be James L. Duncan, a native Missourian. Duncan received his undergraduate training in music at Central Methodist College and his graduate training from the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y.

His piano teachers include

Hortense Wehrman Shaffner, N. Louise Wright, George MacNabb and Jose Echaniz.

He has played recitals throughout the midwest and more recently in Colorado.

In addition he is part of the two piano team, Duncan and Reinhart and is closely associated with the team, Markowski and Cedrone, with whom he currently coaches.

In addition, Duncan has studied Piano Ensemble with Martin Canin at Columbia University, New York.

In 1969 76,712 piano teachers and students participated in the National Piano Playing Auditions in the U.S. The auditions are held in more than 70 centers from coast to coast, including Hawaii and Alaska. Candidates play against a standard of excellence and not against each other.

The purpose is to stimulate interest in artistic piano playing, with goals and awards for hobbyists and professionals of all ages and all stages of advancement, for the slow as well as the gifted.

The program emphasizes the five-fold value of piano study: first, as a mind developer; affords a means of livelihood as performer or teachers; prepares for service in church, school, club and other civic activities and gives one an ideal, all-weather, lifetime hobby for personal pleasure and cultural enjoyment.

Study Answers Questions On Irrigation Movement

What actually happens to water from irrigation or rainfall when it comes in contact with both wet and dry soil?

Does the water stay in the upper levels of the soil, or does it move through the soil and into areas where it is not available for plant use?

With these questions in mind, Mohammed Idris, a graduate student from East Pakistan, set out to conduct a study at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock.

Idris is about to complete his research for a Ph.D. degree in soil physics from Texas A&M. When he returns to East Pakistan, Idris will be the only soil physicist with a doctorate degree in the entire country.

The graduate student began his study at the Lubbock Center in April of last year, working with Dr. Charles Wendt, a soil physicist, and Dr. Otto C. Wilke, an agricultural engineer.

Both Wendt and Wilke have been working in the field of plant-soil-moisture relationships, especially concerning water conservation and evaporation suppression.

Idris conducted his research on both wet and dry soil, using tensiometers at different soil depths to measure soil water pressure and a neutron probe to measure the amount of water present in the soil. The soil was loam to clay loam, commonly called "mixed," which is generally found in many locations on the South Plains.

In one of the plots with dry soil, Idris applied three inches of water. By the time measurements could be made following irrigation, all but 1.72 inches of the water had moved through two and one-half feet of soil into a caliche layer.

The plot was then covered to prevent evaporation, and after three weeks, only 0.75 inches of the three inches originally applied remained in the soil above the caliche. Only this amount is considered available for plant growth.

In another dry plot, a similar test was conducted with the same general results, a total of 1.2 inches of water of the three inches applied remained in the soil above the caliche immediately after irrigation.

The plot was not covered, and at the end of 16 days, all this water had evaporated so there were no benefits from the irrigation.

Idris tried the same test on wet soil, applying 1.2 inches of water and then covering the plot to prevent evaporation. Only 0.53 inches of the water applied remained in the soil above the caliche immediately following irrigation. After 21 days the soil was back to its original moisture level preceding the irrigation.

Wendt believes some practical information can be taken from these studies. "First of all, when preplant irrigation water is applied to mixed soils that are already wet from 'fall rains, much of the irrigation water will be lost into the caliche," he explains. "Also, if irrigation water is applied a month or more before planting, most of the surface moisture will be lost to evaporation."

"With good subsoil moisture this spring throughout most of the South Plains, attempts to add additional moisture to the subsoil may be rather futile," Wendt points out. "Most of this irrigation water will be lost to movement into the caliche or to evaporation."

Some farmers may feel that irrigating is necessary to settle the land or to wet listed beds. Under these conditions, irrigating every other row may be adequate. Furthermore, the odds are high for adequate rainfall by planting time, adds the soil physicist.

"All this points to," says Wendt, "is that it would be wise for farmers to check their soil to see if irrigating is really necessary. Every effort should be made to save our water, especially since the underground water supply is diminishing at an alarming rate."

Looking at the future, when water will become even more scarce, Wendt believes that other types of irrigation systems must be considered. These include sprinkler and sub-irrigation systems that apply small amounts of water frequently. Also, the installation of impermeable plastic mulches in the soil profile offers a possibility for retaining moisture in the root zones of plants.

County Cigarette Bill More Than Million

changes, if any, have been made in the smoking habits in the past years? They cut down on cigarettes, they smoking more or less people in other parts of the county? Indications are, according to statistics, that the trend against cigarette smoking, despite opposition, is achieving results. In the last two years there was a definite drop in consumption, with the 1969 rate set in a decade.

The Department of Agriculture reports that the decline in the past year was approximately 240 cigarettes, or 12 packs, per person over age 18. Americans as a whole reduced their smoking by more than a billion cigarettes. Figures released by the government, by the Tobacco Tax Council and others depict the trend in each section of the country. In the local area, it appears, a sizeable number of people have given up smoking entirely. Others have been trying, with varying success, to cut down.

In Lamb County, on the basis of the statewide figures, an estimated 2,649,000 packs of cigarettes were consumed in the past year. In terms of the local population over age 18, this amounted to 178 packs per person. It was a lower rate than the national, which averaged 207 packs for those over 18. In the West South Central States the rate was 176. Most health authorities believe that the case against smoking has been clearly proved. The tobacco industry maintains, however, that the evidence is merely statistical and that there has been no laboratory proof to connect smoking with the rising death rates from lung cancer and some other diseases. It contends, also, that most smokers remain unconvinced and that the drop in sales is due chiefly to the increased taxes levied on cigarettes. They were raised in 18 states in 1969. All in all, smoking has become a more costly pastime. Residents of Lamb County spent some $1,070,000 during the past year for cigarettes, or about $72 per smoker, it is estimated.

WATERWAY ON Daisy Molder estate, operated by Henry Kesey.

COUNTY'S LARGEST

Waterway Complete

Henry Kesey has just completed one of the largest waterways built in Lamb County. Constructed on the Daisy Molder estate three miles south and one mile east of Spade, this waterway covers 8.4 acres. Midland bermuda grass will carry water from heavy rains off a drainage area of approximately 450 acres and empty it safely into a lake without causing damage to crops and without soil erosion. The Lamb County Soil-Conservation Service office has assisted several land owners and operators throughout the county with waterways this spring. Some who have completed constructions are Glenn Bulls, Leo Hodge, C. C. Byers, Charles Sudduth, Amos Walden, Ralph Paden, Deck Heard and Jeff Brazil. These waterways were built to either control outside water problems (water coming from other farms) or they are built to empty terraces into. Those with water erosion problems may contact the SCS for engineering and cost share assistance.

Land Bank Reduces Loan Billing Rate

W. H. McCown, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Littlefield, received word today that The Federal Land Bank of Houston has reduced the interest billing rate on variable rate loans to 8 1/2 percent.

The variable rate loan plan, which was introduced by the Houston Bank last July, lets the interest rate "float" over the variations in the money market. In large measure, therefore, the rate in any specific year will reflect the changes in the price which the Bank must pay for the money it makes available for farm mortgage loans.

"Recent improvements in the money market have made this reduction possible," McCown stated.

The Federal Land Bank of Houston makes long term real estate loans on farm and ranch lands throughout Texas.

On Jan. 1 of this year, the Bank had slightly over one-half billion dollars in volume of loans outstanding. The local association makes and services loans in Lamb County.

Members of the local board of directors are Harry Brantley, Ray C. Hulse, Drexel Lawson, Paul S. Chisholm and Elmer Hall.

Pioneer Shares Up Four Cents

Earnings for Pioneer Natural Gas Company and subsidiaries were up four cents per share the first quarter of 1970, compared with the same period in 1969, according to an announcement made by Burton P. Smith, president of the company.

Earnings per share for the first quarter amounted to 35 cents on 7,409,677 average shares outstanding during this period.

This compares with 31 cents per share on the 7,394,514 average shares outstanding during the same period last year.

Consolidated net income of Pioneer Natural Gas Company and subsidiaries for the quarter ended March 31, 1970, amounted to $2,590,527. This compares with $2,287,202 for the first quarter of 1969.

The first quarterly report to the stockholders will be mailed about May 15.

Theft Damages High At Gin

The Whitharral Farmers Co-op Gin office was broken into Monday night and the safe door was pried open.

Approximately $100 was taken from the vault and another $100 was taken from the cigarette machine, which was broken into. About $75 was missing from the farm store supply department, along with cigarettes valued at $475, an unknown quantity of gloves, including leather hunting gloves, and eight new tires. It is estimated that $1,000 damage was done to the vault door, alone.

Entry was made by prying open the metal door on the east side of the warehouse which adjoins the gin store and office. The theft was reported to the Hockley County sheriff's office early Tuesday morning.

Texas Air Pollution At Near Record Low

Air pollution from dust storms was at a near record low in Lamb County and over Texas this spring, according to a wind erosion report released this week by Clyde W. Graham, State Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service. Graham credited favorable moisture conditions and the work of conservation farmers in the western part of the state with reducing the dust storms.

"Reduced dust pollution benefits a lot more people than you might think," Graham said. "Dust hurts people with asthma, emphysema, hay fever, and other respiratory ailments. It ruins electric motors, cars, buses, trucks, tractors, and anything else with moving parts. And it settles in homes, grinding furniture, floors, and carpets."

Less than 500,000 acres, or about half the 5-year average, were damaged in Texas by wind erosion this year, Graham said. His report was the result of an annual survey made by SCS offices in the 34 million acre area of west Texas subject to severe blowing during the November 1 to Feb. 28 blow season.

Graham noted that during the dust bowl days in the "dirty 30's", dust blown from several million acres of Texas land darkened the skies along the eastern seaboard and out into the Atlantic Ocean.

Of the land damaged this season, 460,000 acres were cropland and 9,600 were rangeland. Some 17,000 acres of non-farm land, such as roads and bare city land, were also damaged by blowing.

Graham said work done under the popular Great Plains Conservation Program in the northwest one-third of the state has been a big factor in reducing Texas dust storms. He pointed
