It's a difficult choice, when a girl graduates from high school only once and has only one chance to compete in a district queens' pageant.

H. O. BIGHAM displays some of the peaches on his trees in the protected orchard at the back of his furniture store. Apricots and grapes are also grown in the enclosed plot.

IN BIGHAM ORCHARD

It's A Sheltered Life

By NILAH RODGERS

H. O. Bigham's protected orchard began about six years ago as "a little old something to do after we sort of retired—something to do when we're not busy."

The fruits of his efforts will soon be ripe and all his friends will reap the beautiful harvest.

Peaches, apricots and grapes growing in the wire and plastic enclosure are given to friends and customers, and there's plenty left for "the kiddos."

About six years ago Bigham put out three peach trees, an apricot, plum and pear tree behind his furniture store at 310 W. 4th, and enclosed the 30 x 50 ft. plot with a fence.

THE FENCE DID NOT protect the fruit from the birds, however, so his next step was to cover the entire orchard with mesh wire.

Birds weren't a problem after this, but frost and hail posed threats. Bigham covered the wire with plastic and lined the sides with cardboard from his furniture store.

He later added a kerosene space heater to the hot house, changing over to a natural gas heater the following year.

"Last year I had peaches almost ripe by this time of year," Bigham said. "I used heat in January and February, forcing the trees to bloom about a month early."

BIGHAM'S GRAPE vine was put out about the same time he planted the peach trees. The lush green vines climbing to the roof of plastic gives the illusion of a tropical garden.

The pear and plum trees were pulled up after a few years because "it got too shady and dense." He also had to give up on growing tomato and other small plants, as the fruit trees grew larger.

Every year the trees are pruned and treated for borers and insects. Peach borers are prevented with a chemical treatment in the winter. Trees are sprayed twice each year, "and we never find a worm or insect after that," Bigham said. "We've never had a peach with a worm hole or pitted from hail."

He sprays the first time when the trees are about 50 per cent in bloom and then again when the last of the blossoms appear.

MINERALS ARE applied about every other year. "They don't get everything they would if they weren't covered," he said.

He applies fertilizer to the trees every other year.

"And a good soaking twice a month" is the only other care the orchard needs.

"Of course with walls on all sides, there has to be drainage," Bigham said. "or it would just be one big pool." This problem was solved with a ditch.

The trees put on full capacity every year. Soon after loading up, Bigham pulls off much of the small immature fruit. "I've already pulled off a lot," Bigham said, displaying a limb covered with small

Bob Price Opposes Rider On 1970 Agriculture Bill

The House of Representatives passed the Agriculture Appropriations Bill for Fiscal Year 1970 last Tuesday; and in so doing, attached a rider limiting the amount of payments under the cotton, feed, grain, and wheat payments in 1970 to $20,000 per farmer.

This amendment was subject to a great deal of debate and is very important in its application to west Texas farmers.

"I opposed the amendment together with the leadership on both sides of the aisle in the House, in the Appropriations Committee, and in the Agriculture Committee," Congressman Bob Price said. "I felt this was not the time nor the place to attach the amendment of such importance to farmers throughout the district and our state."

The limitation will trigger debate, Congressman Price said. When the bill is considered in the Senate, the effect of the so-called "snap-back clause" will be of prime consideration.

The "snap-back clause" in essence states that the House limitation on payments (such as was done by the House on Walter Lee Johnson and Billy Eugene Shaw were indicted for burglary of Luce and Nelson Implement. Two thousand dollars bail for each was set.

The jury returned an indictment against Alfred Johnson Jr. for robbery by assault against Freda Dyer.

THE SPADE HARDWARE at Spade was damaged heavily when this transport truck plowed into the store after colliding with one car and striking another in a traffic accident Saturday. Mrs. Ruby Hulse was injured and taken to a Lubbock hospital. The car on the far side of the truck was parked in the drive when hit by the truck. The Littlefield fire department was called to the accident scene.

Propane Transport Crashes Into Store

One woman was injured, two cars totally damaged and extensive damage done to the Spade Hardware building and the propane truck which crashed into the Spade business Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Ruby Hulse was taken to the University Hospital in Lubbock following the accident which occurred at the intersection of Farm Road 168 and highway 54 at 4:20 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Hulse, a school teacher who lives in Lubbock, ran the stop sign when she was driving south on 168. The '63 Plymouth she was driving ran into the path of the '68 approaching truck-trailer carrying propane. Jimmy Fred Allison of Portales, N. M., was driver of the transport truck.

Allison hit the left side of Mrs. Hulse's car and swerved to the left and went through a service station drive and hit a parked '64 Chevrolet owned by Jack Lloyd Taylor, demolishing the side of the second car. The truck-trailer then went through the side of the Spade Hardware Building.

The Littlefield fire department was called to the scene due to the fire hazard.

Department of Public Safety officials from Littlefield investigated the accident.

Spade residents said they have repeatedly petitioned the State Highway Department to put more elaborate warning signals at the intersection there. They said there have been a number of accidents at this busy intersection and they fear the loss of life.

Spade residents are renewing their efforts for additional signals they said.

For more information on this activity, see the letter to the editor on the editorial page.

Daryl LeBoeuf will manage the Crescent Pool and James Christopher, head coach at Anton, will manage the Country Club Pool.

Clayton Says Session Best Ever For Water

"I think history will prove that we have passed more meaningful legislation in the field of water resource development, pollution and conservation than any session of the Legislature ever has," State Representative Bill Clayton said at the end of the 61st Legislative session.

The Springlake representative attributed much of the constructive legislation to Speaker Gus Mutscher's astute recognition of the problems of the state and his allowing members full privileges of the House floor for a full hearing of their bills. Rep. Clayton added that Speaker Mutscher has added his support to all water development bills for the State.

The District 72 House Member has served as the author, co-author, chairman of the sub-committee or on the conference committee of every major piece of water legislation that has been considered by the Legislature since 1963. He has served as a member of the Committee on Conservation and Reclamation since he started as a freshmen member in that year.

In speaking of his district (the best in the State, according to Rep. Clayton), he said that District 72 leads the nation in cotton and grain sorghum, cattle feeding, slaughtered cattle and all irrigated agriculture.

Being from a district whose people understand the value of water conservation to agriculture and agricultural-based industry, Rep. Clayton is serving the best interests of his constituents by his unstinting work for water legislation.

He is the author of House Joint

What The Leader-News Thinks

Work For Whom?

If you were one of the vast majority who shed a tear on April 15th when you made out the annual tax forms, you might enjoy the story of a little boy's first encounter with the ogre known as taxation.

The boy hastened to the store to purchase a magazine. He was nine years old and beginning to have visions of some day owning a hot rod. With only seven more years to go, he wanted to be ready when the time came to hop behind the wheel. This was to be his first car magazine, and he was going to wear the pages thin and cram his young mind with knowledge of carburetors and racing tires and all of the lore of the dragstrips.

The boy got to the cash register and plunked down his 35c, but the lady said: "That will be 37c. You forgot the sales tax." Luckily the lad's mother was nearby and her two cents saved the day. But the boy learned a lesson: Caesar must be rendered unto.

This year, if you haven't been forced into bankruptcy by taxes, you will work eight more minutes of your eight-hour workday than last year to pay taxes.

We came across a paragraph the other day that showed how much work time is devoted to basic elements in the cost of living.

One hour goes toward the cost of housing. Fifty-six minutes of the day is for food and tobacco. We spend 40 minutes of our time earning money for transportation. Clothing takes 25 minutes. Medical requirements take 21 minutes. Recreation absorbs another 18 and all other miscellany uses an hour and 46 minutes.

Now what portion of the eight-hour day is put into earning enough to pay the various costs of government?

TWO HOURS AND 34 MINUTES.

In 1968 it was two hours and 26 minutes, and the preceding year two hours and 19 minutes.

The goose that laid the golden egg didn't even take that much of her time to support her master's greed, and she was killed.

THE FARMER'S WIFE

Hamburger Hill

By LIBBY MUDGETT

JUST THE OTHER DAY I was fixing to write about the folly of the battle for Hamburger Hill.

Then something happened to make me realize I was in the wrong to write about the folly of the battle for Hamburger Hill.

Teddy Kennedy made a speech about the folly of the battle for Hamburger Hill.

So now I am fixing to write about the wisdom of the battle for Hamburger Hill.

Mr. Kennedy is running for President already and says what he thinks—will get him elected President.

The enemy was on Hill 937. The enemy was stubborn. The enemy was embedded in well constructed bunkers. The enemy was the better part of two regiments—1,500 men. From their strategic position, the enemy raked our 101st Airborne Division until our troops nicknamed Hill 937 "Hamburger Hill."

The enemy wasn't cowardly. Time after time they were raked with heavy air and artillery strikes. They stuck. Thousands of tons of explosives and napalm were dropped. They still stuck.

BUT LT COL. Weldon Honeycutt, commander of the Third Battalion of the 101st's 187th Regiment, and his men were stubborn.

Day after day, they struggled up the slopes of Hill 937 only to have to retreat under the enemy's hamburger-making fire.

This happened 10 times. What do you think it took for them to go into all of that the second, third, and on and on until the 11th time?

To a company commander who evidently wanted to talk the battle of Hamburger Hill over a la Kennedy during the 10th try, Honeycutt screamed over the radio "— get those men moving! You are being paid to fight this war, not discuss it!"

HONEYCUTT, WHOSE CODE name is Blackjack, was not safely tucked away in a bunker somewhere. He himself was wounded three times.

After the 10th try, a wounded paratrooper was heard to snarl, "That—Blackjack won't stop until he kills every—one of us." Yet when Blackjack ordered his men up the hill for the 11th time, he went.

This time, they all went—all the way up to the top. And suddenly, it was the North Vietnamese who were doing the retreating.

That's the American soldier fighting a war to win.

Now whether he should be over there fighting or not should have been thought out before he was sent.

He shouldn't be there to play games. Not even for politicians.

NOW THE BATTLE FOR Hamburger Hill was WAR. If a war is worth fighting at all, it's worth fighting to win. If our fighting men and officers had been turned loose a long time ago like they have on several occasions, such as Hamburger Hill, the Vietnam War would have been history by now.

Which leads to the question, what are we doing in a war that we haven't been fighting to win all along? If Teddy will just remember that his big brother John sent our first fighting troops to Vietnam in a temper fit after his "eyeball to eyeball" drama with Khrushchev over the missile sights in Cuba (we won't mention the Bay of Pigs fiasco), he might tread lighter about is the cost of the Vietnam war worth it.

But if I know the Kennedys, history books won't tell it like that. Many of us do not think the Vietnam War is worth the cost in men and money, but that should have been reckoned with before the first step. The advisors Eisenhower sent were one thing; the fighting men Kennedy sent and Johnson kept sending and kept sending were another.

NO MATTER HOW history books write up the beginnings of the Vietnam War or the reasons they give for the vacillating civilian leadership, in no way should they ever question the bravery, heroism and competence of the American military fighting man when he is given the chance and opportunity to fight to win.

Hamburger Hill is a good example. For once, the men had orders to exert maximum pressure on the enemy.

Resolution 9 which increases the authorized amount of Texas Water Development Bonds to $3,500,000,000, the largest bond issue ever passed by the Legislature. It will be submitted for a vote by the people on August 5th.

The four-term representative carried 27 bills in the House this session and had at least 20 pieces of legislation passed into law by the time the session closed.

His bills were about equally divided between local and statewide interests.

Representative Clayton's interests are by no means limited to water legislation. He has served on the Urban Affairs Committee for four terms and is a member of the Committee on State Affairs, traditionally one of the hardest working committees in the House. He was appointed by the Speaker as Chairman of the Committee on Livestock and is also serving on the Elections Committee.

The 61st Session of the Legislature by law closed at midnight on June 2, but Representative Clayton will go on working for the people in District 72 in the fields of water resource development and attracting new industry by working with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Industrial Commission.

He also hopes to be working as a member of one of the House Interim Committees. He has served twice as chairman of the House Interim Water Study Committee.

Blackmail In Church

WHO ARE THESE characters running up and down the aisles of our churches demanding "reparations"?

Blacks insisting that you and I must pay them millions of dollars because our ancestors kept their ancestors in slavery.

The protection racket is nothing new to us Chicagoans. We learned from Al Capone how to get money from anybody by threatening to firebomb his business.

BUT WHATEVER they are calling it now, the law still calls it "blackmail" and "extortion."

Just last Sunday an unidentified black entered into the King Avenue United Methodist Church in Columbus, Ohio, strode down the aisle shouting "Black Manifesto! Black Manifesto!"

HE DEMANDED to read aloud his document that churches and synagogues pay $500 million in reparations to the Negro race.

He was allowed to read his document, declined an invitation from the pastor to remain for the worship service.

In one of the largest Presbyterian churches in the South, in Atlanta, militants similarly interrupted services, demanding $500 million reparations from white churches.

THE SIMILAR strategy and identical sums and parallel wording of their "manifesto" is immutable evidence that this is a co-ordinated campaign.

So we who might have wished to dismiss the petition as absurd and unworthy of mention don't dare now. Too many confused Americans are beginning to take it seriously.

IT WAS ANGRY militant Negro leader James Forman who launched this "black manifesto" campaign when he invaded services at the Riverside Church in New York City last month, shouting his demand $500 million "reparations" and specifically "for 60% of the annual income of the Riverside Church, 12 hours of free radio time each day on its radio station and free office space."

Perhaps unfortunately, he received immediate encouragement from the pastor of that church, Dr. Ernest Campbell. Dr. Campbell publicly agreed with Forman that the American Christian Church had profited from the black man's bondage (he did not explain when or how), that the church should and would contribute a fixed amount of its annual income.

HAVING TASTED BLOOD, the National Black Economic Development Conference promptly moved in on other churches. They may seek to "sell protection" to your church next Sabbath.

This is nothing you can ignore any longer. If churches refuse to "buy protection," Forman urges blacks to seize church property; says "we are not opposed to force or violence."

THE AMERICAN BAPTIST Convention is right now seriously considering paying this blackmail.

But most churches are still mostly supported by white contributors. And there is evidence that some of them are reaching the stomach-turning point—and may in fact reduce rather than expand their traditional support for Negro causes.

THEN AGAIN the cruel paradox: The deserving blacks will be deprived because of the militancy of these mercenaries.

What Our Readers Think

Day To Mourn At Spade

Dear Editor:

It is indeed difficult to explain why today isn't a day of mourning here at Spade.

We can only thank Someone higher than man that we are not having multiple funerals here today. The wreck here at the intersection Saturday had every ingredient of a real tragedy—butane, gasoline pumps, cars, motor on the inside of a building, everything except the proper spark at the proper time to light the fuse to start the explosion—which, if it had occurred, could have wiped out most of this community.

There is no denying the fact that the Highway Dept. has studied this intersection and has installed lights, and signs as their statistics dictate. But there is also no doubt that more are needed. One only has to watch for a while and see the number of vehicles that run the light, Saturday while the officials were making the check of the wreck, a car from the north ran the light.

People here, and drivers passing through Spade, are as law-abiding people anywhere, and surely runs a light for "kicks," especially where the opposing traffic is at too fast a speed.

Something psychological to be causing drivers from the north and south to "relax" and not see the signals or realize they see them. Surely we can get some signs here that will "wake" drivers up.

The school is on the opposite corner to the one that was Saturday. It seems to me that it would be so much better to try to explain why many children were killed.

Surely we can keep from multiple funerals or even caused from not having stop and warning signs—even point of having more than

Better Warning Is Needed

June 3, 1969

Dear Editor:

Why is it that the State Highway Department officials will not accept suggestions to save human lives? I own and operate the Spade Hardware in Spade at the intersection of Farm Road 168 and 54. I have been here six years and have seen countless hundreds run the stop sign and disregard the flashing red lights overhead.

In nine cases out of ten, this light is run from the north with the car proceeding south. I have enough faith in human nature to believe that if they had seen the warning devices, they would stop out of self preservation. I don't believe anyone in his right mind would deliberately run the stop sign and depend upon luck to keep from being hit from the east or west.

I believe that the people are simply not seeing the warning devices. The State Highway Department has been approved numerous times with permission by residents of the community who have pleaded for more adequate traffic control devices. They say statistics that present devices ARE adequate and that our population does not warrant any further control.

If they could witness the coming through this intersection at high speeds and hear the squeal of brakes, sometimes quick enough to prevent an accident, sometimes not quick enough to believe that they would do their mind.

After the traffic accident like one that happened here Saturday evening, I fail to see why they are closed to our plea.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Hang Ups

By BOB WEAR

MUCH IS BEING SAID about "Hang Ups", referring to special interests of people. The reference is usually critical, but if the critics were knowledgeable they would know that they are talking about the essential concerns of the people they criticize.

Many of the young are saying that older people are "hung up" on work and money. Even though some people may be too absorbed with materialistic concern, most of the people have a very proper viewpoint. The majority of people are still very helpful in supporting every good work.

The majority of the critics have some strange "hang ups" of their own. It is true that they are not "hung up" on work and money, but they are "hung up" on drugs, or sex, or loafing, or destructiveness, or some other form of self-indulgence. They even have some interest in the money hand-outs they receive.

IT IS NO GREAT THING to be able to find fault with others, and assume an infantile kind of superiority. The usual faultfinding doesn't require intelligence, or honesty, or fairness, or kindness, or anything else that is commendable. The truth is that the persons responsible for "hang ups" talk are criticizing others as an effort to hide their own failures.

Our need today is for more people, young and old, to establish more "hang ups" in their living experiences.

Here are some suggested "hang ups": hard work, thrift, honesty, decency, dependability, respect for rightful authority and love for country. You can probably think of others.

WE HAVE A CHOICE, and it is very clear cut. We can choose to stop the socially, self-destructing warfare of unnecessary and often unjustified criticism; or continue finding fault and make life worse for everybody.

Of course, we have different interests ("hang-ups"), some undesirable and some desirable.

Perhaps improvements can be made, but not by constantly tearing each other down.

We are on a destructive course and the sooner we change directions, the better it is going to be for everybody.

Individuals do not tear themselves by tearing others down. Groups are not helping themselves by constantly talking against other groups. There are differences, but our social structure is flexible enough for differences; as long as we honestly try to do right by other.

WE NEED ONE ANOTHER need the good will of each of us. We need the help of each other. We need a mutual concern for general welfare. We must stand against all alien influences.

We must build up, and not tear down. We must create a social climate of hope, and love and love to crowd out the despair, and doubt, and hate.

Let us look diligently for what is right, and good, and profitable. Let these be our "hang-ups", and from this basis all of us work to correct what needs to be corrected.

Let this action be peaceful, orderly, peaceful and in full accordance with established processes making justified changes.

We must let our common interests, our common aspirations and our common enemies bring us together and hold us together.

"Mind if I play through? I've been bitten by a rattlesnake!"

CITY REPORT

Where Sales Tax Money Goes

By JIM SHEARER
Littlefield City Manager

THE SANITATION INSPECTOR for the City of Littlefield began inspections of refuse containers May 1. This inspection program is being conducted in accordance with City Ordinance No. 175, which provides for the type of container, size and covers for containers which are acceptable for refuse disposal in the City.

Citizens are being encouraged to cover their containers to prevent flies, and prevent blowing of paper and refuse in neighborhoods.

It is suggested that lids be permanently tied to a fence, stake or other such fixture to prevent blowing or loss of lids.

The garbage container itself should not be tied to any structure. Containers must not have a capacity of more than 31 gallons, and should have tight fitting covers.

CIVIL EMERGENCY PROCEDURES which would be followed by the various departments of the city government both prior to and following a civil emergency of any kind were recently reviewed in an administrative staff meeting.

Department heads were instructed to inform all employees of their responsibilities during times of civil emergency.

The fire department and the police department are certainly to be commended for their recent and long vigil of storm conditions. These men spent many hours without sleep (and the volunteer firemen without pay) protecting the lives and property of our citizens by observing storms in the area. Also, assistance was rendered to the city of Earth during their recent storm losses.

SEWER DEPARTMENT personnel have completed the installation of a sewer line to serve the free camper site on Hall Avenue.

Provision was made for sewer service for each traveler parking space. Estimated cost of the project was approximately $200.

Many travelers have been observed using the free camper site already this year, and it undoubtedly will be put to much use during the remainder of the summer.

WITH THE COMING of spring rains and warmer weather, the work load for the personnel of the Park Department has increased significantly.

Parks must now be mowed and watered regularly, and all facilities must be maintained in good working condition for those desiring to use our park and recreation facilities.

During the month of April, 1,100 flowers of different varieties were planted in the downtown area and city parks. The Parks Department is staffed by three employees, and an extra employee is added during the summer months each year.

TAX COLLECTIONS in the City Tax Office have significantly increased as compared with 1968.

The percentage of current taxes for the year 1969 already amounts of 93.66 per cent as compared with 91.79 per cent at this same time in 1968.

Delinquent tax collections are greatly increased with $7,704 collected to date compared with $4,108 in 1968 (87.5 per cent increase).

Total tax collections including delinquent and current tax collections collected now exceed the 1968 figure by $7,010 or 4.09 per cent.

This increased collection activity is attributed to more effective tax administration procedures, and the delinquent tax collection program which has been underway for the past several months.

WHAT IS ALL THAT SALES TAX revenue being used for????? Several of our citizens may be asking the preceding question, subsequent to publishing the amount of sales tax which the City of Littlefield has received for the past three quarters in last month's newsletter.

The total sales tax collected to date since April 1, 1968, is $57,316.

Based upon that figure, it now appears that the sales tax will yield approximately $70,000 per year to the Littlefield municipal government.

Believing that the question concerning the use of this money deserves an answer, the following figures are given to indicate what the sales tax is being used for in Littlefield, and what a necessary source of revenue it is in meeting the demands and obligations of our city government.

Annual debt retirement requirements of the sewer system improvement projects including the new plant and collection lines, $25,023.

Increased cost for operation and maintenance of a new sewer plant, annually, $7,300.

Annual increase for street lighting improvements including Hall Avenue, East 10th Street, and improved lighting in residential areas, $6,260.

1969 street improvement program, this includes drainage improvements, patching and concrete work, and seal coating to be done in the next few weeks, $19,000.

Equipment replacement, this includes replacement of two patrol cars, one Fire Department emergency unit, one garbage packer unit, and one small mower for use in cemetery, $12,555.

Painting, cleaning and repair of water tower on Delano Avenue, $4,666.

Total cost of above improvements, $74,805.

The above figures do not reflect much needed employee salary increases which were given in the 1968-69 budget. Also, sales tax revenue will be used in future months for some of the following purposes:

Replacement of street sweeper, approximately $10,000.

Replacement of Dempster Dumpster truck, $3,500.

Replacement of one garbage packer unit, $4,750.

Rate increase for workmen's compensation and hospitalization insurance, annually $5,000.

Implementation of sanitary landfill program for collection and disposal of refuse $30,000.

Repair and maintenance of water storage facilities, $12,000.

INFLATION AFFECTS the pocketbook of your municipal government just as it does your personal pocketbook.

The municipal government is continually faced with increased costs for services, products, materials, and labor.

Unquestionably, the City of Littlefield would have been faced with an increase in ad valorem taxes to meet new demands and obligations, if the one-cent municipal sales tax had not been adopted.

Greenbug Control Guidelines Set

Greenbugs, tiny green members of the aphid family, invaded grain sorghum on the Texas High Plains for the first time last year, causing considerable concern. More than two million acres were infested.

"This year entomologists, farmers and concerned individuals will be keeping a sharp lookout for the tiny pest as sorghum stands become established," says Lyndon Almand, area entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "A considerable amount of research was conducted last year to develop guidelines for controlling the insect."

Almand points out that greenbug damage in grain is dependent on greenbug numbers, plant size, vigor and stage of growth, moisture conditions and presence or absence of parasites and predators. "All these factors must be considered before initiating a control program."

Damage from the seedling stage up to early pre-boot may result in stand loss and plant death, he adds. Plants from emergence up to about six inches in height, showing visible damage with colonies of greenbugs on the under-leaf surface, should be treated.

Treatment of plants six inches high to pre-boot is also recommended before any entire plant leaves are killed by greenbugs.

Pre-boot and older plants can tolerate larger numbers of the insect, but heavy populations can also cause extensive damage, points out the entomologist. Control is recommended if bug infestations kill more than two lower, normal-sized plant leaves.

"These general guides assume that not enough beneficial insects are present to effectively control greenbugs," explains Almand. "Plants under stress cannot support as many greenbugs without suffering yield reductions."

A number of insecticides are recommended for effective control, should greenbugs reach damaging levels. These are carbofenthothion (Trithion), demeton (Systox), diazinon, malathion and parathion (ethyl). Demeton should be applied only once during a season while malathion is recommended for ground application only.

Methyl parathion should not be substituted for parathion. Almand urges growers to carefully read the manufacturer's recommendations on the label of the particular product they buy. Each product is different and has a different waiting period from application to harvest or grazing.

The entomologist reminds growers to check their fields regularly for signs of greenbugs. "The insects usually feed on the underside of sorghum leaves and this results in reddish spots on the topside of the leaves. As numbers increase, this reddened area enlarges and finally begins to die, turning from the outer edges toward the center."

Farmers should also keep the lookout for beetles, lady beetles, damsel green lacewing larvae, fly larvae and several other species.

"Check your crops closely," emphasizes Almand. "Don't initiate a control program unless you have a warrant it."

Camp Covers, Trailers On Special At Askew's

Askew's Texaco at the corner of 9th St. and Farwell have recently added pull camp trailers to their "Campsite" line and throughout the month of June they are running a special on their covers and trailers.

They have a variety of pick-up covers, campers and trailers to select from.

Pick-up covers include cab covers, slide-ins, walk-ins, insulated and unlined covers.

The pull camp trailers have all facilities: portable bathroom, refrigerator, sink, water, lights, cooking facilities, covers and open burners, closets and storage space.

The trailers sleep four and have bunk beds to make accommodations for six to sleep.

Call Mr. or Mrs. Albert Askew at 385-5276 or drive in for more information on the June specials on these camping covers and trailers.

While you're there, fill up with that good Texaco gas and let Albert check your oil.

Askew's Texaco is also fishing headquarters.

The Askews have all sorts of fishing equipment including rods and reels, weights, floats, rod holders, trot lines, camping stoves and lights.

Albert also has some good used cars on his corner lot. Askew has been in the used car business 21 years and is in his 10th year as Texaco distributor.

Mrs. Askew assists her husband in their business.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Askew enjoy fishing for a hobby and keep a camper loaded and ready to go at a moment's notice.

They can give you some good fishing advice on where to go and what is catching what, too.

Askews moved to Littlefield from Tennessee in 1945.

The three Askew children attended school in Littlefield with Charles and Gene lettering in football four years each. Charles now lives in Decatur, Ill., and Gene lives in Lubbock. The Albert Askew's daughter is Mrs. Jack Feagley and she lives in Littlefield.

Gregg's Re-Upholsters Sentimental Furniture

Do you have a chair that belonged to your granddad? Or maybe you have a frayed piece of furniture you've had since you were first married.

Luther Gregg at Gregg's Upholstery Shop at 601 Hall Ave. takes special pleasure in re-upholstering these sentimental pieces.

Luther stresses "quality" in his upholstery work. Quality is the key word here, because it is possible to buy a new chair cheap.

But the fine grade of fabric Gregg's Upholstery uses in upholstering is beyond comparing to assembly-line furniture.

Every re-upholstery job Gregg's turn out is precision work. "An upholstery man watches details so closely," Gregg said. "He really takes care with the work."

Luther attributes their "new furniture look" in all finished upholstery to the detailed work.

A good upholstery job here is worth better than a new piece of furniture.

The frames are reconditioned, making them sturdier than when they were bought originally. Gregg's give you more work which can't be found in assembly-line production.

Luther Gregg has been in the upholstery business 22 years. He began with auto upholstery when he established his body shop under the water tower on the Clovis Highway in 1947.

Later he moved further east on Highway 84, going into upholstery exclusively.

Gregg's Upholsters has been at its present location on Hall Ave. for 12 years.

They offer pick up and delivery of all furniture upholstery.

Although Gregg's does more furniture upholstery than anything else, they do auto upholstery. They will exchange pick-up seats with you so you can be on your way in 15 minutes.

Gregg's can take care of all your canvas work, too. They patch holes, tarpaulins, make irrigation sleeves of canvas or burlap, and make covers for your air conditioners.

Robison, Bass Head Tech Sport Visitors

Texas Tech Athletic Director Poik Robison and new head basketball coach Bob Bass will head a delegation of 15 Tech representatives here Tuesday for an afternoon of golf and evening of eating and Red Raider sports information. The event is the first annual Littlefield Red Raider Club's hosting of Tech sports people. Eighteen such days are scheduled by Red Raider Clubs over the South Plains and Panhandle.

All activities Tuesday will take place at the Littlefield Country Club, and are available only to Red Raider Club members, according to President Glenn Batson.

Batson said memberships are open by contacting him or Tom Hilbun.

Head football coach J. T. King will not make the trip.

The golfers will tee off between 1 and 1:30 p.m., with dinner starting at 7 p.m. During the following meeting, films of 1968-69 Tech sports highlights will be shown, and coaches will give their briefs on what is to be expected next year.

Probably the best golfer of the group is Larry Graves, who isn't even on the sports staff. He is in the history department, and reportedly has a two handicap. Besides Robison and Bass, other sports department representatives will be assistant football coaches Tom Wilson, Jim Acree, and John Conley, assistant basketball coach Corkey Oglesby and assistant sports information director Bob Condon.

Others include Carlos Manard, Gerald Cotledge, Dr. John Cobb of the physical education department, Edsel Buchanan, sports intramural director, and two members of the Lubbock press.

Leete Jackson, Red Raider Club executive vice-president, will direct the day's activities.

peaches. "And I've already tied a good many limbs up to the roof supports."

BIGHAM GRADUALLY removes the cardboard from around the sides of the green house each spring. "If you don't the fruit won't have any color and not much flavor, either," he said.

The plastic covering is replaced each year. "It all works out about right," Bigham said. "About the time the trees all start growing out through the top, it's about time to replace the plastic top."

The plastic deteriorates with age and hail riddles the protective covering. The trees are cut back to greenhouse size every winter and new plastic replaces the old.

Of the three peach trees, Bigham knows the variety of only one. "One is a white peach that gets ripe early in July," he said. "One is an Elberta that ripens in August, and the other one is a big yellow peach that gets ripe in September."

Bigham said the apricot tree outdid itself last year. "In fact, I think I let it get overloaded," he said. "I believe that is the reason it isn't doing as well this year."

THE SINGLE GRAPE vine provides "oodles and gobs" of grapes. Another grape vine was added this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Bigham have lived in Littlefield 43 years. They farmed near Bula when they first came to this area.

For many years they ran a farm produce business here, "buying the farmers' cream and eggs every Saturday." They later put in a wholesale poultry dressing plant in the building where the furniture store is now.

THE BIGHAMS enjoy the outdoors and traveling. "We spend one-third of our time down at our cabin at Possum Kingdom Lake or chasing around," he said.

"I spend half of my time fishing, and the other half taking pictures. Nearly anywhere you open your photo album you'll see pictures of fish."

"Or our great-grandbabies," Mrs. Bigham added. "We have three of the grandest grandkids."

Bighams have one daughter, Mrs. Skipper Smith of Littlefield, and two grandchildren, Connie Smith and Othella Dutton.

"We almost missed the boat by waiting too long to start living," Bigham said. "I'd advise everyone to have fun in life while they are still young and can enjoy it."
