TROLMAN DUCKS

Officers Probe Shot In Dark

City and county officers are questioning residents in the area near Galveston and Grif-Streets, following a shooting Friday night, according to Police Chief A. Fitzgerald. "About Friday night, John [name] was patrolling the area near the intersection of Galveston and Grif-Streets. He started making a left turn and heard a 'ping' which burst through the rear door glass and hit the left rear door below the window. John threw the car into park, opened the door and fell onto ice and snow, in an effort to duck further bullets, and bruised his left arm".

After the patrolman radioed for help, approximately 10 city and county officers went to the scene to question residents or possible witnesses to the event.

"The bullet was a .22 caliber one, but we don't know whether it came from a rifle or a pistol", Fitzgerald said. "So far, we haven't come up with anything, but we're still checking," the chief concluded.

Lamb County Men On Water Ballot

The annual election for the District Underwater Water Conservation District No. 1 will be held Tuesday, Jan. 13, and several men from Lamb County will be included on the ballot. At the end of this year, three of the five men who serve on the board of directors will conclude their terms of office. These are Bill Bean, who represents Rock and Lynn counties, and Mitchell of Lockney, who represents Floyd and Hale counties, and Weldon Newsom of Spade, who represents Hockley and Lamb counties.

County Committeemen are made by the respective County Committees or they are made by a petition signed by twenty-five qualified voters in the area involved.

Voters can cast their ballot for the candidate of their choice for district director or county committeeman-at-large at any polling place in the county in which they reside.

Voters residing in the precinct for which a county committeeman is being chosen can only vote for the Committeeman of their choice of that precinct by casting their ballot at the polling place provided in that precinct.

Nominees for district director in Lamb, Cochran and Hockley Counties are: H. Schoenrock of Levelland; K. B. Parish of Springlake; W. E. Jones of Anton; and Roy Hickman of Morton.

Nominees for County Committeemen in Lamb County are: Precinct 1: Jack Thomas of Olton; and Precinct 4: Lee Roy Fisher of Spade.

Qualified voters in Lamb County may vote at the City Hall in Spade; Earth Gin at Earth; County Court House in Littlefield; and Farmer's Coop Gin at Spade.

MARLA SADLER buttoned up her overcoat this week with freezing temperatures dipping to six and eight degrees. The mercury refused to climb past the freezing mark following the Dec. 28 snow storm. The first thawing readings since Dec. 31 came Saturday. Marla stands by a giant icicle formed by water overflowing from a water tank at the F. J. Bryson farm northeast of Whitharral.

Candidates Have 3 Weeks To File

All prospective local and area candidates who wish to be placed on the first primary ballot for county, district and state posts have about three weeks in which to make their intentions known. The Feb. 2 deadline for filing in the Lamb County primary is fast approaching, and candidates must file with the respective Democratic party chairman or republican party chairman by deadline time. The first primary will be conducted May 2, and in the event a runoff occurs, the second primary will be held June 6.

The November general election will be conducted Nov. 3. Several city, county, district and state offices will be decided in 1970 elections, and voters are urged to register and be prepared for voting before the registration deadline, Jan. 31.

With terms of office expiring in all levels of government, filing activity has already begun in Lamb County.

Among positions to be decided are county clerk, county judge, county treasurer, county commissioners for precincts 2 and 4, county school superintendent, 17 county Democratic and Republican precinct chairmen, a Democratic chairman, a Republican chairman, Peace Justices for Precincts 1, 2, 4, and 5; district clerk, district judge and state representative.

The 1970 voting year begins March 1 and ends Feb. 28, 1971, and this is the period for which the new registration is effective.

7 Incumbents Announce

Only seven prospective candidates have filed for placement on the Democratic primary ballot, according to Glenn Batson, County Democratic Chairman.

Lucy Moreland has filed for re-election to the county treasurer post; G. T. Sides has filed for re-election as county judge; Mary Beth Willey, county clerk; Ray Lynn Britt, district clerk; J. N. Bowen, Justice of Peace; Billy Hall, Precinct 12 chairman; Glenn Batson, County Democratic Chairman.

Deadline for filing is Feb. 2.

In a December meeting, the Democratic Executive Committee set the filing fee at one month's salary.

The committee appointed W. E. Blume as precinct chairman for the Beck Gin area, to succeed Vic Diarsing, who resigned.

Woman Deputy's Job 'Exciting' At Times

Marie Edmiston is the right hand for the strong arm of the law at the Lamb County Courthouse.

As office deputy and dispatcher at the sheriff's office, one of Mrs. Edmiston's jobs is preparing search warrants. That's why her heart beats a little faster when sheriff's officials go out to serve a warrant. The majority of these are for liquor law violation searches. "It gets pretty exciting," Marie said, "when the boys are out casing bootleggers."

For this casing, warrants for searching vehicles, houses and non-private residences are prepared so that the location is all that needs to be filled in and the warrant is ready on a minute's notice.

Radio messages sometimes set Marie's heart pity-patting, too, especially when there is a tornado alert and twisters are hopping around over the area.

Messages of all types are received over the radio. "The thing talks all the time," Marie said, "but it's not all coming to me, thank goodness." But many of the squawks are for her, and logging these calls is another duty. "Sometimes I get a little behind," Mrs. Edmiston said, "between the phone and radio. I don't get a fighting chance."

These messages are called "ten signals" because 10 of the 100 official signals are used more than all the others put together. These signals were recently changed, and a code for the least used ones has to be used occasionally when someone throws her a curve.

There is bookkeeping to do, too. There is the jail book of course, and the fee book. The feed bill for the prisoners goes in another book, office expenditures is a separate book and monthly reports in yet another. The sheriff's office is responsible for putting out jury lists, and Marie is the one who gets the job done.

Searching women for weapons is another duty. Fifteen searched in a single day is the record number for Marie since she became office deputy and dispatcher over two years ago. "No, I've never found a weapon on anyone," she said, "Not yet!" she added, and clapped her hands together and laughed.

Before beginning work at the sheriff's office, Marie worked in the city police department for a while, and "there is definitely more excitement in the courthouse."

THE SHERIFF'S office is where the action is and Marie Edmiston is the one who sends and receives most of the communication in the comings and goings at the Lamb County Courthouse. As office deputy and dispatcher, Mrs. Edmiston relays an official message.

Jones, Mitchell Named For Anti-Hail Study

Two Lamb County farmers were elected to the board of directors for a temporary organization formed to get a test pilot hail suppression research program underway for a 3,000 square mile High Plains area.

W. B. (Bill) Jones and W. E. (Ed) Mitchell will represent Lamb County on the board made up of two representatives from each of the six counties represented. The primary aim of the directors will be to see if there is enough interest in each county to go into the test pilot phase of the program.

Depending on the outcome of the search for funds and other developments, steps could be taken later to make the organization permanent and to expand its scope.

A pilot research program would cost about $14,000 annually over a three-year period, according to Donald W. Duckering, executive assistant of Atmospherics Inc., Fresno, Calif., who was present at the Plainview meeting Tuesday to go deeper into the mechanics of the cloud seeding program that can prevent 50 to 70 per cent of the damaging hail storms that hit this area each year.

Jones farms three miles west and three miles south of Spade and is a Soil Conservation Service director.

Mitchell farms north and east of Spade and is ex-chairman of the SCS.

L. MURDOCK HAS SEEN COTTON'S UPS AND DOWNS

He Classes Cotton On Sight

WILAN RODGERS
Staff Writer

There have been many changes in cotton buying since J. L. Murdock first started buying classing cotton more than 50 years ago.

"Changes are good and bad," Murdock said, "but the room for lots are." Of all the changes, Government loans are the biggest. "Mr. Hoover's administration started making government loans in 1929," Murdock said. "The government started loaning 50 cents a pound. Back then you could get a loan for 50 cents. This was supposed to stimulate the market. It worked just the opposite. Where long this brought cotton down to 16 cents in 14, 12 and 10. Cotton fell for eight and a pound before they turned the thing turned what brought the Depression," Murdock said. "People won't admit it, but it's the stock market when you start putting down, you're going to have trouble. Right now we're in trouble."

Buyers were also cotton brokers when Murdock was a cotton broker. "Buyers knew cotton in 1937," Murdock said. "Buyers classing now are brokers."

"I took a cotton classing at Tyler Commerce in 1919. That summer I took his examination. The cotton classing was on his wall in the first put out. I learned to class cotton to earn peoples' be opened. Buyers had to bid it up," Murdock said, "if they wanted the cotton."

It was here in Oklahoma that Murdock met Jimmy Ware. Ware was a clerk in the J. B. Ellis dry goods store. Women in the department store figured the cotton free for the cotton buyers. "The department store was looking for business, too," Murdock said. "They figured when a farmer came in to sell cotton, he'd spend a little of the money before he left or buy something while he waited."

Later Ellis helped Ware go in business here, to the best of Murdock's memory, and before long Ware bought out his former employer.

Murdock's cotton buying has ranged from three and four cents a pound to the hey days of 1950, Murdock said good black land strict low middling cotton couldn't be peddled for a nickel a pound from 1932-35. "And I bought hundreds of bales for three and four cents after I moved to Littlefield in 1937," he said. "And the farmers didn't call those bad years. No-o-o. In '38-'39, I bought 400-500 bales from Leonard Irvin over here for five cents a pound, and in three or four days everybody with a big list of cotton tried to sell me theirs."

The phone rung and Murdock sold 109 bales quick as a jack rabbit chased by a greyhound. "Sold 579 over the phone this morning," he said, "used to take a long time to make a trade, it's a lot faster on green cards. I don't know how we ever did as much business as we did."

Murdock pulled out a filing drawer from 1948. "I'm bragging on my bookkeeping," he faces," he said, thumbing through a cotton sample. "You don't count the pieces of trash it takes to make a middling spot. You see it, you know it," Murdock said, and laughed heartily.

Murdock bought his first cotton at Lubbock off a big cotton yard where Broadway and Ave. A now are. He bought cotton in various places over Texas and Oklahoma after this, before winding up in Littlefield in 1937.

"I was buying cotton in Hollis, Okla. in 1925," Murdock said. "Farmers would haul their cotton to the gin in wagons, wait for it to be ginned, then drive around to the back and load it on a mule wagon and take it around to Main Street. A cotton buyer would climb up on the wagon, cut the samples and pitch them down to the other buyers, and the bids would

JETCRAFT ALLOYS

Autograph Party Set For Author

Mrs. Etta Lynch, Lubbock author and editor, will be honored with an autograph party Monday, Jan. 12, at the Baptist Book Store, 1212 Avenue Q, on the release of her book, "The Power Behind The Comb". The story is situated in the world of the beauty salon and should be of particular interest to beauticians and shop-owners.

Mrs. Lynch has sold numerous short stories and articles to religious and general periodicals and she was fiction editor of two Christian magazines for a time.

Mrs. Lynch was a beautician and salon-owner for 21 years before retiring to write full time. During her beautician years she saw many talented hair stylists lose customers and eventually leave the profession. Out of her concern came the power behind the comb, a story of a beautician who found hairstyling ability alone was not enough. This common sense manual shows how to make money and the real joy of the power behind the comb. For those who cannot attend the autograph session, autographed copies of her book will be mailed for $2.68, which includes tax and postage.

STRENGTHEN YOUR FAITH

Through Regular Church Worship

INSPIRATION

What makes a champion? What is that extra force inherent in a great leader, teacher, musician, scientist, or a Christian? This extra force, this compelling quality, this something has a current all its own... out-shining our every-day efforts. It turns the common into the outstanding. It has been called "inspiration" and surely it must be just that. Want to possess it??? Of course! — then keep an open heart, a clear unprejudiced mind, clean body, and a receptiveness to the will and word of God. Learn of Him through regular church attendance and daily reading of His word. Only through God may we find this something, — this force, — this inspiration. "There is a spirit in man: and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding."

This Page Is Dedicated To The Application Of Christianity In The Solution Of Human Problems — It Is Paid For By People Who Care — People Who Want Victory For God.

City Wrecks Steady First Of New Year

An accident at the corner of Third Street and LFD Drive New Year's Day started the new year's list of wrecks--but late in the day-- at 8:45 p.m.

Kathy Bryson of Littlefield was injured when a 1963 Ford, driven by Rebecca Lee Kirby of Littlefield, was stopped at a stop sign on Third Street and a 1965 Buick, driven by Jimmy Jackson Davis of Littlefield, skidded on ice into the Ford, and knocked it around in the street.

Kathy was riding in the Kirby auto, and was taken to Medical Arts Hospital by the investigating officer.

The rear bumper of the Kirby vehicle was bent and no visible damages resulted to the Davis vehicle, according to the investigating officer's report.

The second wreck occurred the second day of the year at 5 p.m. A 1964 Chevrolet, driven by Keith Franklin Woody of Littlefield, was backing from the curb on Phelps Avenue when a 1970 GMC pickup, driven by Phillip Alan Farmer of Littlefield, was traveling south on Phelps and collided into the rear of the Woody vehicle.

Approximately $60 in damages resulted to both vehicles. The Woody vehicle was damaged on the left rear fender, deck lid and rear bumper. The Farmer pickup was damaged on the right front fender, front bumper and guard.

Similar circumstances occurred in the third wreck on the third day of the year, when a 1966 Ford, driven by Sharon M. Collins of Littlefield, backed from the curb on Phelps Avenue and hit the right rear door of a 1964 Chevrolet, driven by Kenneth Michael Twitty of Littlefield.

Wrecks were slowed down until Friday morning, Jan. 9, when a 1963 Dodge, driven by Ramon A. Coronado of Littlefield, had stopped at the red light on East Ninth at Hall Avenue. When the light turned green, Coronado proceeded to make a right turn and hit an icy stretch in the intersection and skidded over the traffic light on the median and knocked it down.

The auto was damaged approximately $75 worth on the hood, grill and radiator, and estimated damages to the traffic light was approximately $100.

SOAP and ELECTRICITY Blackouts and Outages

There's a difference between soap and electricity. There's a difference between blackouts and outages. The famous soap prides itself on being 99 and 44/100% pure. That's pretty close to perfect, isn't it. But does it surprise you when we tell you that electricity—the electricity we provide for you—that you use here has a reliability record of 99.997%... That's almost 100% pure. That's the difference between soap and the electricity you use. But, you say, what about blackouts? Well, it's this way. We define a blackout as a shortage of power. A situation when you, as a group of people, are using more electricity than the equipment that generates, transmits and distributes it can provide.

We don't have that here. We will not have that in 1970 here. Sure, there might be some isolated service interruptions which we call outages. Despite our 99.997% reliability record, there still may be some lightning strikes on a transformer, or a squirrel getting confused in a substation, or a careless driver knocking down some of our equipment, and, yes... we may have an equipment failure or a human failure... we're still not perfect... even though we try to be. In most cases we'll have your power back within the hour.

We're concerned with reliability and with the cost of our service. That's why we've averaged spending $20 million a year on new, modern and more efficient equipment. This year we'll invest another $25 million. We expect to give you all the electric power you need with more purity than the famous soap and at the lowest possible cost. That's our pledge for 1970.
