Over-65 Market Important Here

The importance of Lamb County's over-65 population is on the rise, economically and politically.

The latest figures show that this age group has been one of the fastest growing in the area and that its influence at the polls and in the market place has been increasing proportionately. About 1 out of every 8.2 persons, locally, is now 65 or older.

Despite the fact that the current inflation has made the going difficult for many elderly people, there are enough others with sufficient income to warrant enterprising business firms aiming special pitches at them.

As a result, a wide range of food products and other articles have been especially designed and produced for them.

In the eyes of the politicians, too, they are important. Each senior citizen, rich or poor, represents a vote.

According to the census figures, the number of people in Lamb County who are 65 or older is now 2,168, equivalent to 12.2 percent of the local population.

Ten years ago, when the previous census was taken, that age group accounted for only 7.5 percent of the population.

Elsewhere in the United States, by way of comparison, the proportion over 65 is 9.9 percent. In the West South Central States it is 9.5 percent.

Reflecting the relative life span of females to males, the number of local women in the upper age brackets amounts to 1,180 and the number of men, 988.

Although elderly people have, for the most part, considerably smaller incomes than the rest of the population, they are steadily gaining in self-sufficiency by virtue of larger retirement pensions, increased medical protection and bigger social security benefits.

Their combined purchasing power, as a result, is on the rise and is now over $54 billion a year. Most of it goes for the necessities—food, housing, clothing, transportation and medical care.

Now that there are more than 20 million Americans over 65, more attention is being paid to them.

Plans are being completed for a White

House Conference on Aging, to be held in Washington in November.

Huge Catfish Back In Lake

A reward of $100 has been announced for the person catching the 53 pound yellow catfish released in Lake Sweetwater May 17, 1971. The reward is posted by the Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce.

The fish was caught in Lake Sweetwater May 12, 1971, by Terry Boley and is the largest recorded catch from this lake. Roy Linn, local game warden, suggested the fish was a "stocker" and if so, would be nine years old.

Fishing permits for Lake Sweetwater are $5 per year for a family permit, $1 per day for a family permit, and $5.50 per day for an individual permit.

Permits are available at Sportsman's Landing and the Golf Pro Shop at Lake Sweetwater and at the City Hall in Sweetwater.

The promotion of this record catch and the posting of the $100 prize are projects of the Tourism and Conventions Committee of the Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce. Jimmy Waddell is 1971 chairman of this committee.

Area Federal Grants Total $1,832,000

In the distribution of Federal funds to communities across the country, via the various grants-in-aid programs, how has Lamb County been making out?

What portion of the grants made during the past year, totaling $23.5 billion, went to the local area?

Judging from state-by-state figures compiled by the Tax Foundation, a national non-profit organization that watches government taxation and spending, Lamb County's allotment was relatively large.

During the past fiscal year, an estimated $1,832,000 was awarded for local purposes under a number of aid programs.

Throughout the State of Texas as a whole, the grants totaled $1,153,000,000, the Tax Foundation reports, based upon figures it obtained from the Treasury Department.

The grants were made to help the state and its communities with such needs as urban renewal, roads, school construction, child welfare, health facilities and education.

The amounts, it is explained, refer only to grants-in-aid and do not cover other Federal spending in local areas, such as for goods and services.

On the other side of the ledger is the cost of these benefits to the local communities. They are paid for out of Federal income and excise taxes that are collected from local residents and allocated to the aid programs.

Lamb County's contribution for such purposes in the past fiscal year was approximately $1,814,000, a breakdown of the foundation's figures shows. The statewide total came to $1,146,000,000.

In most parts of the country, the grants and the costs do not balance out equally. There is no attempt to make them balance. The determining factor in awarding grants, it is explained, is each community's needs and requirements, weighed against the needs of other localities.

As a result, in some areas the contributions to the aid programs far exceed the return in the form of grants. In others the reverse is true.

The extent to which the grants have multiplied in size in recent years is indicated by the Treasury Department's figures which show that they have climbed from nearly $7 billion in 1960 to $23.5 billion last year.

Cloud Seeding Permit Stands, TWDB Says

Last week's opinion poll on weather modification by cloud seeding conducted in Lamb County and in some areas of 10 surrounding High Plains counties will not alter the Texas Water Development Board's decision to allow a permit for operation of the hail suppression program in portions of Lamb, Hale, Swisher and Floyd Counties.

Three Arrested In Furr's Robbery

Three suspects in the armed robbery of the Littlefield Furr's Super Market and terrorization of the local store manager and his family were arrested in Lubbock Monday.

Two of the three were brought to the Lamb County jail Tuesday and charged with robbery by assault.

Texas Rangers and Lamb County Sheriff E. D. McNeese and Deputy Jerry Collins arrested the trio of two Negro men and a white woman in Lubbock Monday afternoon. All were named in a Lamb County warrant charging them with robbery by assault.

Vernice Richard McWilliams, 26, was arrested about 4 p.m. at a Lubbock discount store. A short time later Clarence Tedward Johnson, 24, was arrested near his Lubbock home. Last to be arrested was McWilliams' wife, Mrs. Betty Jane Davis McWilliams, 29, who was apprehended at her Lubbock residence.

The two McWilliams were brought to Littlefield late Tuesday afternoon, after arraignment in Lubbock, and booked on the felony charges. They were placed under bonds of $10,000 each after appearing before Justice of Peace Stanley Doss, Johnson, the third person named in the warrants, was released on his own recognizance pending further investigation.

The arrests are in connection with the May 10 robbery of Furr's and the assault and terrorization of the store manager, Walter Brinson, and his family.

Brinson said the robbery began about 12:30 that Sunday night when he was roused from bed by a white woman at the door, who indicated there was some emergency and stated that she needed to use the telephone. Brinson said when he unlatched the screen he was jumped by two Negro men who struck him on the head with a pistol and kicked Mrs. Brinson in the head. He said they threatened to kill him and his family if he didn't give them the keys to the super market and the combination to his safe. Brinson said he didn't see the woman again.

While one of the armed men stayed at the Brinson home, the other went to the store but failed to open the safe and returned for Brinson and forced him to open the vault.

After Brinson was returned home, he and his wife were tied up with neckties. Telephone cords were cut before the men left.

Livestock Feed Plan Clarified

Congressman Bob Price has received a clarification from Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Clarence Palmby as to eligibility requirements for participation by Lamb County farmers and ranchers in the Emergency Livestock Feed Program.

"The applicant for reduced price government-owned grain must certify that he is unable to obtain sufficient feed for livestock from normal suppliers without imperiling continuance of his farming operations, defaulting on existing financial obligations, unsound borrowing, or excessive disposal of livestock," Price said.

"Any farmer or rancher who would have his operations seriously damaged were he to purchase feed at the market price is eligible for assistance according to Mr. Palmby," Price said.

The Congressman added that the Secretary of Agriculture will be sending clarifying instructions to the Texas ASCS State Office which will indicate that County ASCS committees should pay more attention to long range damage that may be done to a farmer or ranchers operation if he is forced to spend all current assets on feed for livestock.

"A county committee may be inclined to refuse a man's application if he has a substantial net worth on paper. However, that net worth may be primarily in the form of property or other tangible goods which are not easy to convert into cash. In this case, the farmer or rancher would definitely be eligible for the reduced price grain," Price said.

Castro, Collingsworth, Donley, Gray, Hall, Hemphill, Lamb, Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Roberts, Swisher, Wheeler County farmers and ranchers are presently eligible for the reduced price grain and hay transportation assistance.

Transportation

SINCE THE ADVENT of the motor vehicle, more than two Americans have died on the highways for every one killed in the Nation's wars...

- I. Check brakes, lights, and other equipment before starting out, and periodically during each trip. II. Park all personal problems at the curb when starting to drive...

PAUL HARVEY

Smaller World

IN YOUR FUTURE there is a smaller car parked in a smaller garage in a smaller house with a smaller lawn...

The sale of small foreign cars in the United States increased 20 percent.

BUT WHETHER foreign or domestic, the car that's now and next is less large, less streamlined, less expensive to own and to operate.

The president of Ford, Lee Iacocca, says, "The action is in the small cars."

LAST YEAR 30 percent of all new cars sold in the United States were compact; so far this year more than 40 percent.

HERS COUGHS every time it passes a gas pump; I get 25 miles to each gallon.

ONCE THE CAR buyer learns that some smaller cars are larger inside, his resistance focuses on the safety factor.

OUR YOUNG WILL adapt most readily to the smaller world. You and I will miss the larger families in larger houses with private yards, front and back.

IN AN ALREADY overpopulated world the trend is already unmistakable: Families are smaller and almost everything they are using is concentrated, miniaturized, condensed, compact.

IN 1970 35 percent of American families who moved, moved into apartments. In 1971, 36 percent will. Already fewer than half of us live in single-family houses, and 20 percent of the new ones are mobile homes.

INCREASING POPULARITY of smaller cars is partly economic, partly pollution consciousness, but mostly something else.

IN THE INDUSTRIAL countries of Europe and Scandinavia and Japan where they get overcrowded or cost-conscious before we did the compact car evolved a generation ago.

IN 1970, for example, the sale of smaller U. S. cars in the United States increased 9 percent.

THE PHILOSOPHER

Patience

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has a complaint this week.

One trouble with this country today is that people are too impatient. I was reading just last night that when the six-cent postage stamp went to 8 cents...

I guess some people are too busy to be wasting their time like that, but they ought to slow down and realize that the only way the Post Office's Printing Plant in Washington had to get the new stamps out over the country was by mail and naturally that takes quite a while.

penny saved is only a half-penny earned. Others say that a penny saved sometimes means the sales tax kitty was short-changed.

I know one farm woman who's mad because her husband hasn't planted this year's crop, and another who's mad because hers hasn't planted last year's.

Or take the Presidency. Regardless of how large a vote he went criticizing and complaining, and this frequently gets under his skin. It shouldn't.

Everybody needs more patience. After all, New York wasn't polluted in one day.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE Admit It

ADMISSION OF ERROR is one essential to the fullness of living. Of course, admission must be governed by the greatest degree of wisdom. For example: there are some mistakes we make which, if discussed at all, must be discussed with knowledgeable persons who are trained to keep what they hear to themselves...

WHEN OUR ERROR involves someone else, it is not necessary to make a big production about it; but a sincere, and simple admission of the error should be sufficient.

AN OPEN AND FRANK admission of error, when such is appropriate, is always helpful.

LIKE WE SAID at the beginning of the year, happiness is school! There's only ONE day left in the 1970-71 school year!

SCHOOL STARTED August 27. The first few days everyone started getting adjusted to their classes after a long summer vacation.

THE FIRST Twirp week and the first assembly honoring the Court of Honor and Honor Roll students were held.

IN NOVEMBER the F.F.A. boys went to Mulshoe to take part in a contest.

BASKETBALL SEASON started in December. The bands started selling Christmas tree tickets, and the choirs began selling candy.

JANUARY brought the All-Region band tryouts and concert, and also a new semester.

TO START OFF the month of February, the first Drivers' Ed. class began.

MARCH STARTED off with the beginning of the fifth six weeks. At the first of the month, the cast for the school play was chosen.

APRIL BROUGHT the school play and the L.J.H. band clinic.

MAY BROUGHT the band back to the L.J.H. band also went to the Sightreading Contest.

THE SPEECH class put on two Monday for the eighth grade classes during second and fourth week of the year.

THE F.H.A. girls had their party Monday night. For refreshments they had homemade ice cream.

THE SPANISH class took a field trip to the Tasty Taco. It was a lot of fun everyone LOVED it!

IF YOU NEED to change your school for next year, you'd better hurry, because there are only TWO days of school left.

SINCE THIS is our last column thought we'd say a little bit about the fun we had in 1970.

HAVE a good week and a happy SUMMER VACATION!!!!

ALL OF US MAKE mistakes wrong things. This is one of the denominators of human kind. We must never permit ourselves to have a false pride to prevent our admission of mistakes...

GUILT FEELINGS, are harmful, with, and it is comparatively easy to overcome them. If they are too deep, we should seek professional help.

Insect Activity Is Increasing

Numerous insect pests have become active on ornamental plants on the High Plains during the past several weeks. Bagworms, euonymus scales and elm leaf beetles are among the major pests.

This is the time of the year for homeowners to effectively control these insect pests, point out Dr. Don Rummel and Dr. Bill Clymer, area entomologists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Bagworms and euonymus scales are especially susceptible to insecticides now before they develop their respective protective coverings.

The proper timing of insecticide applications is the key to controlling the euonymus scale while it is in the mobile or crawler stage. The entomologists recommend two to three applications of malathion, diazinon or dimethoate (Cygon) at weekly intervals for effective control.

Tiny bagworm larvae can now be found feeding on the foliage of cedars and numerous other trees. Spraying with malathion, toxaphene, diazinon or carbaryl (Sevin) while the larvae are small provides good control.

Elm leaf beetle larvae feed on the underside of the tree leaves and cause a lace-like or "shot hole" appearance. Malathion, toxaphene or carbaryl are the most common insecticides used to control this insect pest. Additional applications are usually required during July and August.

According to the entomologists, thorough spray coverage of the infested tree is necessary to prevent heavy leaf damage. A high pressure, high volume sprayer is needed for good coverage on large trees. However, a hose sprayer attached to a long pole can also be used to get better spray coverage.

When the elm leaf beetle larvae become fullgrown, they move down the trunk to the tree base where they change into adults. Spraying the trunk and base of the tree at this time will also reduce populations of this insect.

It takes 10 inches of snow to equal an inch of rain.

LHS Speaks Out

This week's question was given to most members of the Senior Class. The question is "As the class of '71, do you think the class of '72 will be able to reach your high moral standards?"

They were kinda angry at the Juniors for their answers to last week's question. So some of the Seniors took the chance to get back at the Juniors. We had some good answers and some bad ones.

Here are some of the answers we got:

Becky Kirby: "Every year the classes change more and more, but some of the class of '72 are so immature they would never make it to our high moral standards. I'm not saying we are the greatest, just the best. Without the Seniors of '71 this school would be shot."

Margaret Fain: "No, I don't think they will, because their standards are already too low for improvement."

Cyd McKinnon: "Part of the class of '72 will be able to reach the standards of part of the class of '71. On the other hand, the other part of the class of '72 will never be able to reach the standards of anybody."

Kathey Bryson: "This question can go both ways. We have a great class this year. The juniors can be the same next year. The junior class has a lot of great people, and we were juniors last year, so I feel they can do it."

Wayne Streety: "If the class of '72 conducts themselves as they have in the past they will not reach the moral standards of the class of '71."

Larry Purdy: "The class of '72 has nice people, but their mouths over-power their intelligence."

Dena Reast: "Our standards aren't high, but considering those of earlier classes, we are better. The class of '72 has gone beyond the things we have done. They may, then again, they may not."

Doris Ashley: "Yes, personally, I think and hope they will be better."

Jackie Howell: "I think the class of '71 was a good class however, a class is only as good as its backing. I think LHS will have to wait till the class of '73 comes along for a better class. The class of '72 never really backed us and they'll be only as good as the class of '73 lets them."

Billie Ruth Richey: "Yes! They can always get away with everything. We always get caught! Would you believe we can get caught skipping S.H."

Kenneth Ray: "No, because by the time those honkies make that here there will be no moral standards."

Len Wright: "No, half of them will not be able to live without us."

Ann Hopper: "As much as the two classes might hate to admit it, their moral standards are pretty equal now."

Edwin Culp: "They will have to try if they want to get as high as we are."

Mary Wilson: "Yes, because our moral standards weren't that high. So the class of '72 can beat our standards."

Gene Williams: "I don't think our class has moral standards that high. They are higher than most schools in America though. I think that morals are standards of belief. I think we have pretty high morals, but my parents would not. So this question really can't be answered in one or two sentences."

Wendell Horn: "As it seems I have nothing against what the Jr. class said Thursday, but I believe that their actions speak so loud you didn't hear a word they said."

Rachel Harlan: "No, I don't think they can reach our high moral standards. The class of '71 cannot be surpassed in any way!"

Peggy Sherley: "Of course not. They will reach their own, but they will not be the same as ours."

Lynn Barton: "No, I think the class of '72 has a large number of outstanding people in it, but they have a far greater number of undesirable people."

Marsha French: "I don't think either class can brag about high moral standards. I believe the class of '72 will not be better or worse than we were."

Marty Mangum: "The class of '72 is a hard working class, but they will have to get some morals before they can reach ours."

Max Huber: "As far as everyday morality goes they should be able to reach high standards. But as far as respect for other people as a standard, I doubt that they will ever respect anyone."

Craig Gilley: "No, I don't." Joe Williams: "I can't say, because they might be able to, but anybody that has to cut people down to get what they want do not have any moral standards. I don't have to say whether they can reach us or not, because they know how they are."

Kim Hill: "No, never!" Vickie Elliott: "No, the majority of the class of '72 do not have any high moral standards. Or rather, any moral standards at all."

Keith Sitton: "I think the class of '72 needs more help before they can reach any high moral standards."

Floyd Baldwin: "Yes, because I think they are a great bunch of kids."

Ken Richards: "The class of '72 seems to be overly preoccupied with an intense desire for peer approval, as well as having extensive materialistic tendencies. These severely handicap one's spiritual growth. Limiting spiritual growth limits moral development. Limited moral development seems characteristic of a majority of the class of '72."

Glenn Timmons: "There is no way to compare class against class. Classes are made of individuals, some with high standards and some with low. It is not a question of classes, but a question of individuals."

Kay Armistead: "I think that the class of '72 will never be able to reach our high moral standards because of some of their standards are already below ours."

Pam Stafford: "I don't know about the high moral standards, but I don't think any class could be as great as the class of '71."

Marathon March Held At Olton

Olton High School students and local residents participated in a marathon march and raised $1,000 to help finance a new hospital for their community.

The old hospital was closed last year because it failed to meet federal requirements for Medicare.

The walk, which was sponsored by the Olton Chamber of Commerce and the Olton High School Student Council, was held Saturday and marathons, mostly high school students, walked to Plainview in the fund raising drive.

"It's a start," said Kenneth Burgess, president of the Chamber here.

Burgess said about $200,000 is needed to finance a new hospital.

"We still don't know if we can meet certification requirements, but we plan to try to," he said. "We know we can't do without a hospital."

The old eight-bed hospital, which had been housed in the building formerly used as Lamb County courthouse, had operated with two doctors.

4-H Cotton Contest Set Up For County

The Lamb County 4-H Cotton Quality and Yield Per Acre Program has been announced by Bobby Brunson, Assistant County Agricultural Agent.

The contest is open to any regularly enrolled 4-H members between the ages of 9 and 19 years of age on July 1 of the contest year.

Cash awards will be given to the first four places, both dryland and irrigated. The cash awards will be furnished by cotton gins throughout Lamb County.

5. Three unrelated and disinterested persons must certify as to the measurements of five acres entered by July 1.

6. Gin tickets will be attached to record book to verify number of pounds of lint cotton produced on the five acres designated on July 1. Also a copy of official grade and staple card for each bale.

7. Only highest number of pounds of lint cotton per acre will be considered for awards in this contest and will be figured on loan value to figure value of cotton.

"The purpose of the contest is to promote greater yields and quality per acre lint cotton on farms in Lamb County by better cultural practices. This program hopes to promote cotton farming interest among Lamb County youth," Brunson said.

If interested youth and parents have any further questions they can contact their local ginner who will have a copy of rules and regulations or the county agent's office.

The Lamb County Crops Committee has set up the following rules and regulations:

1. Any regularly enrolled 4-H member between the ages of 9 and 19 years of age on July 1 of the contest year. If a youth wishes to join 4-H and participate in the contest, they can do so by contacting the county agent's office on the second floor of the County Courthouse in Littlefield.

2. A crop record book and story must be kept complete and turned into the County Agricultural Agent's by the First Monday in January.

3. Five acres of cotton are to be entered in the contest and must be staked off plainly and designated to the 4-H adult leader of their local club, ginner or member of the Crops Committee not later than July 1 by the 4-H member entering the contest. The 4-H member must own at least half share of the crop.

Army Private Joe Hernandez, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Hernandez, of Oilton, is assigned to Ft. Ord, Calif., where he is training under the modern volunteer Army field experiment.

The new concept, called Volar, combines basic and advanced individual training into a single 16-week program.

Decentralized instruction at the unit level and a reduction of formations and inspections gives the soldier more time to train and increased off-duty time.

Fewer restrictions on off-duty travel and improved living facilities are other benefits of the Volar concept.

Drug Abuse And Misuse

Although alcohol is the most widely used and misused of all drugs, the blight of illegal drug traffic is ruining and taking lives in an alarming and increasing numbers in recent years.

In a booklet prepared by H. E. Tebrock, M. D., medical director of General Telephone and Electronics Corp., and rearranged for the Leader-News by a Littlefield General Telephone Company employee, Billie Harris, the following information is presented on drug abuse and misuse.

The booklet defines drugs that are most commonly used, describes their uses, abuses, effects and lists the common symptoms they produce. It is particularly important that responsible people throughout the community - especially parents, teachers, law enforcement officials and employers know basic facts about the drug problem so they can be alert for the signs of possible drug misuse and know when to seek help for the victims.

Drug abuse and misuse is found in every sector of society and occurs in affluent suburbs as well as in slums. It has become a tragedy and more common place in schools, colleges and industries and drug misuse is particularly a problem among young people-tomorrow's leaders.

Identification of the drug user is very important and the drug addict will do everything possible to conceal his habit, so it is important to be able to recognize outward signs and symptoms of drug misuse. However, even drug experts sometimes have difficulty making an accurate diagnosis, therefore it is extremely important not to act on your own for it could lead to falsely accusing an innocent person.

Seek professional advice and assistance from the experts, such as various agencies specializing in drug problems and physicians. Always remember a person may have a legitimate reason for possessing a syringe and needle because of diabetes or a condition requiring tablets and/or capsules prescribed by a doctor.

Although the same symptoms are sometimes present from illness or disease, if drug abuse is suspected an investigation should be made to determine the cause of symptoms.

Running eyes and the sniffles, a common symptom of drug misuse, could be due to a head cold, allergy, etc. Unusual or odd behavior, although questionable, may not be caused in any way with drug use.

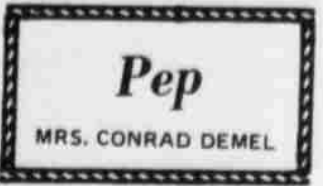

Even drugs other than narcotics can become habit forming when people are subject to addiction to sedatives and certain tranquilizers and large doses of stimulants. ONE SHOULD NEVER TASTE ANY UNKNOWN SUBSTANCE.

These are some common signs of drug misuse:

- (1) Changes in attendance of school or work or other regular duties.
- (2) Change from normal capabilities (work, clothing, habits, efficiency, etc.)
- (3) Poor physical appearance (inattention to clothing and personal hygiene)
- (4) Wearing sunglasses constantly at inappropriate times (for instance, indoors or at night to camouflage dilated or constricted pupils—)
- (5) Unusual effort to cover arms to hide needle marks.
- (6) Association with known drug users.
- (7) Stealing items that can be readily sold, so that drugs can be bought.

Common indications of possible drug misuse are:

- A. Symptoms of alcoholic intoxication, but no odor of alcohol on breath.
 - B. Staggering or stumbling.
 - C. Repeatedly falling asleep while at school or work.
 - D. Appearing disoriented.
 - E. Slurred speech.
 - F. Pupils dilated.
 - G. Difficulty concentrating.
- STIMULANTS (Amphetamines)
- A. The person may be excessively active, irritable, argumentative, or nervous.
 - B. Excitation, euphoria, and talkativeness.
 - C. Pupils dilated.
 - D. Long periods without eating or sleeping.

A GAS outdoor grill gives food a tangy outdoor flavor without the time and bother of charcoal fire. Char-broiled flavor comes from the smoke of meat juices dripping on hot briquets. Charcoal itself provides no flavor.

Permanent ceramic briquets in the gas grill reach cooking heat in a few minutes, and there is no long wait to start cooking. The heat is regulated manually so there is no need to move a grill up or down.

Over-65 Market Important Here

The importance of Lamb County's over-65 population is on the rise, economically and politically.

The latest figures show that this age group has been one of the fastest growing in the area and that its influence at the polls and in the market place has been increasing proportionately. About 1 out of every 8.2 persons, locally, is now 65 or older.

Despite the fact that the current inflation has made the going difficult for many elderly people, there are enough others with sufficient income to warrant enterprising business firms aiming special pitches at them.

As a result, a wide range of food products and other articles have been especially designed and produced for them.

In the eyes of the politicians, too, they are important. Each senior citizen, rich or poor, represents a vote.

According to the census figures, the number of people in Lamb County who are 65 or older is now 2,168, equivalent to 12.2 percent of the local population.

Ten years ago, when the previous census was taken, that age group accounted for only 7.5 percent of the population.

Elsewhere in the United States, by way of comparison, the proportion over 65 is 9.9 percent. In the West South Central States it is 9.5 percent.

Reflecting the relative life span of females to males, the number of local women in the upper age brackets amounts to 1,180 and the number of men, 988.

Although elderly people have, for the most part, considerably smaller incomes than the rest of the population, they are steadily gaining in self-sufficiency by virtue of larger retirement pensions, increased medical protection and bigger social security benefits.

Their combined purchasing power, as a result, is on the rise and is now over $54 billion a year. Most of it goes for the necessities—food, housing, clothing, transportation and medical care.

Now that there are more than 20 million Americans over 65, more attention is being paid to them.

Plans are being completed for a White

House Conference on Aging, in Washington in November.
