Absentee Voting Opens

Absentee voting begins tomorrow, Monday, Mar. 13, and continues through Mar. 27 for all the April school board elections.

The absentee voting period applies to all 11 city elections also. Earth, Olton, and Sudan are among area towns holding elections this year.

Because of long spring holidays scheduled for Littlefield and most area schools, absentee voting will probably be prominently in the election returns.

Schools will dismiss for a nine-day holiday here on Friday, March 31, and classes will not resume again until April 1. Easter and spring holidays are regularly scheduled at most area schools of most colleges.

Many persons have planned trips around the long vacation period. All who plan to be out of town on the Saturday election date are urged to cast absentee ballots during the next two weeks.

Absentee balloting in Littlefield school districts may be cast in the school tax office, 410 Lfd. Drive, from 9 a.m. through 5 p.m. and from 1-5 p.m. Mar. 13-27.

Farm Sign-Up Completed Here

Friday was the final date for farmers to file intentions to participate in the 1972 program, wheat and feed grain programs.

Failure to file intentions by March 10 will result in the loss of 1972 program payments, and late Thursday afternoon about 50 of the county's 2,200 farm owners remained unsigned.

Richard O. Newman, executive director of the Lamb County ASCS office, said most of which remained to be signed at that time were very small acreages.

Newman said the sign-up period, which ended at the Littlefield office handled farms per day.

Newman said sign-ups were slow this year because the 1972 program allowed farmers so many options they had trouble making up their minds.

Friday was the deadline for pre-planting measurement sign-up, also. Late Thursday 320 had requested pre-planting service so they could plant stakes set up by ASCS personnel. Friday 1 is the deadline for signing up for measurement after planting.

Choir Schedules Concert Monday

The Littlefield High School Choir will be featured in a pre-contest concert Monday night at 7 in the High School Auditorium.

According to the director, Mrs. Tommie Sue Donworth, the program will be short.

The first half will feature solos and ensembles which were presented in the contest last week at Lubbock, and the second half will feature the whole choir singing UIL material, which will be sung in contest March 13 at Plainview.

WARM SPRING-LIKE days, two boys, and a weeping willow tree sporting new leaves just naturally add up to a little tree climbing. Steve Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Ford, and Gary Donnellson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Donnellson, shinny up a tree for a bird's-eye view of spring 1972.

Girl Scouts Slate Open House Today

Girl Scout Week gets underway throughout the nation today, and Littlefield Girl Scouts will conduct an open house at the XIT Neighborhood Girl Scout House from 2 to 4 this afternoon in observance of the special week.

They want to show their appreciation to Littlefield citizens who recently donated contributions during their fund drive, and they want to "show off" their building, where a large portion of the funds are invested.

To start the activities, girls will attend the Crescent Park Church of Christ this morning in a group, prior to the open house.

Handwork and clothing will be on display, during the open house, and troops that have worked on folk dancing and singing will be present to show what they have learned.

Mayor J.E. Chisholm has issued a proclamation celebrating March 12 through 18 as Girl Scout Week in Littlefield, and has saluted Girl Scouts of America on the occasion of its 60th Anniversary.

He called upon all citizens to join with Littlefield Girl Scouts in their efforts to "improve the quality of our environment and build better relationships among persons of all ages, religions, races and nationalities."

Mayor Chisholm invites citizens of Littlefield to pledge to Girl Scouts their "continued interest, cooperation and support so that increasing numbers of girls may benefit from a program that benefits us all."

Girl Scouting was founded in the United States in Savannah, Ga. March 12, 1912, by Juliette Gordon Low.

In the ensuing 60 years, its membership has grown from the original troop of 18 girls to nearly 4 million girls and adults, including nearly 60,000 participants.

Earth Chamber Honors 8 Citizens At Banquet

By JOELLA LOVVORN

Earth citizens rolled out the welcome mat Friday night and honored eight persons at their 17th Annual Earth Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture Banquet.

One of the largest crowds in the history of the event was present to honor their top citizens for 1971 in the Springlake-Earth School cafeteria.

Named "Outstanding Woman and Man of the Year" for 1971 were Jo Eddy Riley and Travis Jaquess.

Last year's woman of the year, Marie Slover, introduced Mrs. Riley, and stated, "she works in many organizations as a leader and follower and any time there is work going, she's on the working side. She's a credit to any community to any family that would claim her, and I know she is well accepted in our community, because she is a hard worker."

Dale Riggs, in introducing Jaquess, said, "He has raised his family here, has been a real asset to the community, works hard in the service of the community, is an active church worker where he is a deacon, teaches Sunday school class for young people, and is a Training Union leader. He has a good influence over our young people, and especially over our young men as he works with the Boy Scouts."

Springlake-Earth Seniors, Janet Britton and Doug Freeman, were introduced by Robert Gossett. He began, "Tonight we're going to take a moment to recognize one of our greatest assets, the youth of our community. We all take great pride in our youth, and they're something we can be real proud of. This award, to me, would be a great honor. These students were chosen by the faculty of Springlake-Earth High School."

"They used these criteria to choose these students: leadership ability, character, attitude toward school and education, achievement consistent with ability and effort, participation in activities and citizenship."

Scotty Windham introduced the Lazbuddie "Farmer of the Year", Gary Hicks. "He is an outstanding farmer—not only that, but he's outstanding in civic and community and church activities out there (Lazbuddie). Besides that, he's just a real fine fellow."

The other "Outstanding Farmers" were not present to accept their awards. Dewayne Jones of the Springlake community told of the selections from that area. "This year, it was hard to pick one man from Springlake, so the committee decided on two. This award is to be shared jointly. They have been farming together for some time, and we all know them as See EARTH C-C, Page 8

Hail Fighters Need Funds By March 20

With the March 20 deadline just a little over a week off for the collection of an excess of $40,000 to include Lamb County in the hail suppression and rain stimulation program, some of the Better Weather, Inc. officers are getting worried.

The lack of funds is especially noticeable in parts of the Littlefield area.

"The Springlake-Earth area just caught fire," Dale Stanley, secretary-treasurer of the Lamb County Better Weather, Inc. said, "but the southern part of the county hasn't come through."

Another meeting of the organization is planned for Monday night at 7:30 in the XIT Room of Security State bank. Interested persons from all communities are urged to attend. Means of raising the remainder of funds to include Lamb County will be discussed.

A drive is also underway to get as many Littlefield and area homeowners as possible to contribute $25. Businessmen are asked to donate to the program, also.

If necessary funds aren't raised by the March 20 deadline, Lamb County will not be included in the weather program this year.

C-C Membership Drive Scheduled

The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce will begin its annual membership drive Wednesday, April 19, with Dr. Craig Wallace serving as chairman.

To start the activities for the campaign, a general membership meeting will be held at noon that day, when a luncheon will feature a joint meeting of Lions and Rotarians.

The drive will be made by three teams, with Kip Cutshall, Kenneth Day and Jerry Tunnell serving as team captains.

Band Boosters To Meet Monday

Band Boosters will meet Monday night at 7:30 in the High School Band Hall.

Plans for the May 6 Annual Band Barbecue will be discussed, and the appointment of committees will be made.

HELP IS ONLY A PRAYER AWAY

Her Faith Made The Difference

Editor's note: This is one of 10 chapters in Lynch's new book "Help Is Just A Prayer Away" published by the Fleming H. Revell Company of New Jersey. The book was released this week and is available locally.

Her shoulders hunched under her blue sweater, Billye Charlene Smiley bent over her desk, tapped her pen against her lower lip and stared desperately at the test paper. Her brain felt like scrambled eggs, a cold mist of perspiration collected on her upper lip. Why couldn't she think of answers? Mom had gone over them with her last night, patiently correcting, until she had mastered several pages of class notes. She had gone over the stuff last year — and failed it. Three years and just starting her junior year.

In despair Charlene slapped her pen down on the paper, dropped her head in her hands and her fingers wound in her hair. History was too hard. Nobody could remember these answers. Her large, brown eyes lifted and scanned the answers. Her classmates wrote furiously, as if their brains were so filled with information their pens couldn't keep up. Some of their faces mirrored smug self-satisfaction; some doubt, but none showed any signs of the demoralizing terror that gripped her. Their hands moved steadily across the pages, leaving answers.

Of all the students, only she sat idle. She was dumb, dumb, dumb. As fast as she learned history, she forgot, or mixed it all together in a meaningless hodge-podge. The dreaded shaking began inside her, only a slight vibration at first, but increasing steadily. At last the pounding reached such intensity it shook her entire body. Tears of panic fell onto the front of her sweater and a small sound of anguish escaped her.

At the front of the room, Mrs. Cumbie, the teacher, raised her head with an annoyed look, her forefinger marking her place in her record book.

"What is it, Charlene?" she asked impatiently, her features as hard and cold looking as the steel-gray hair, which was set in rigid waves.

Every head bent toward her, waiting for her reply, the eyes curious and probing. Embarrassed heat rose in her cheeks and her nerves stretched taut. Her tongue cleaved to the roof of her mouth and refused to leave it. With the back of her hand, Billye dashed the tears away and her head ducked low.

"I... I... Mrs. Cumbie, could I go to the office and take this test?"

The teacher's mouth drew in at the corners and set in instant refusal. "Now, Charlene, you're one of 28 students. If each of you insisted on a private place to take this test, we would have to add several rooms to the building."

A titter ran through the room and even with her head bent, Charlene sensed the amusement on the students' faces.

"What makes you think you're any different from the others?" Mrs. Cumbie persisted.

Different. The word struck through Charlene like an electric shock. Because I am different, she wanted to scream. All her life she had been different. . . at home, her two sisters learned quickly remembered well, and made good grades. In a hundred medical offices with the doctors giving her test after test and shaking their heads. Her parents' puzzled grief a constant reproach. Already she had spent five years in high school and was only beginning her junior year. Yeah, different. Stupid different.

"I... I can't think..." she stuttered. "I get..." she licked her dry lips, "so nervous."

"Welcome to the club," the boy seated behind her said and again the flurry of amusement ran through the students. Charlene shrank from their unknowing cruelty and wished the floor would open and swallow her.

Mrs. Cumbie rapped on the desk with her knuckles. "All right. Back to work. Charlene, I'm sorry. You must not pamper yourself. You must learn to work under pressure."

The words resounded in the corridors of Charlene's mind, scrambled with the bits of history that belonged on the test paper and wouldn't hang together long enough to get written down. . . Marie Antoinette. . . learn not to pamper yourself. . . Louis XVI. . . stupid. . . the Bourbon monarchy. . . different from the others, different, different, different. . . The shaking inside her rose to a crescendo. Violently nauseated and actually afraid her brain would blow apart, Charlene bolted from the room.

In the rest room down the hall, she vomited and leaned against the metal stall, drained and empty, a tissue pressed to her mouth. She couldn't go on. Mom and Dad would have to understand. . . she couldn't endure any more. She must not fall back into the pattern of behavior that had plunged her into such deep trouble back in the fourth grade. Highly excitable, the tension of trying to learn had been too much. Some strange compulsion had

MISS DIANNE PERKINS

An introductory tea honored Miss Dianne Perkins, bride-elect of J. Stanley Johnson, Saturday afternoon, March 4, at the home of Mrs. Randy Johnson in Muleshoe.

The honoree; her mother, Mrs. Albert Perkins of Littlefield; Mrs. Johnson; and Mrs. Tommy Coker of Tulia, sister of the bride-elect, greeted the guests as they arrived.

Miss Marilyn Pool, cousin of the prospective bridegroom, presided at the guest register.

The serving table was covered with a white net cloth featuring felt scalloped appliques and pond lillies, laid over a yellow cloth. A crystal compote held an arrangement of Shasta daisies, yellow snapdragons, English ivy and acacia, flanked by three yellow tapers in matching graduated candlestick holders.

Silver appointments were used in serving the cake squares, mints, nuts, coffee and hot spiced tea. Presiding at the serving table were Mrs. Carroll Pool of Clovis, N. M., Mrs. Myron Pool II of Muleshoe and Mrs. David Jones of Lubbock.

Special guest was J. Stanley Johnson, the prospective bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Patterson, and daughter, Joni, visited from Breckenridge last Sunday. They were guests of the Kennemer's. Patterson is the music director in Breckenridge, and Mrs. Patterson served as church secretary in Wichita Falls several years ago when the Kennemers pastored there.

White Pine Seed Production Studied

How much seed do mature white pine trees produce? The closeness of the trees is an important factor in the amount of seed produced.

According to a recent study, mature white pines can produce as much as 59 pounds (oven-dry weight) of viable seed per acre. And total yields of well over a million seeds per acre would not be unusual in good seed years.

Activities

TUESDAY, MARCH 14 THE CHOIR PARENTS Club will have a meeting at 7:30 p.m., in the choir room at Littlefield High School. The club consists of parents from both junior and senior high school.

MAKING BREAD FLOWER crafts are among one of Mrs. Cecil Price's relaxing hobbies, and baking banana cakes in coffee cans (at right) at the Yule season, for friends and shut-ins, brings her much happiness and enjoyment.

Woman Finds Hobbies Relaxing And Enjoyable

LYLE MILLS
If you were a new bride, you would want to call at the home of Mrs. Cecil Price, you would first of all receive a very warm and friendly smile and her husband, Cecil, and her residents of Littlefield for 30 years. They have one married daughter, Mrs. Cecilia Cunningham and two grandsons, Michael and Wesley of Lubbock. While visiting with Mrs. Price recently over a cup of coffee and a delicious piece of cake, I learned of her many interesting hobbies and relaxing pastimes. Whether it be making bread flowers to decorate framed velvet pictures, stamp boxes, hat pin cushions, cruets, ash trays or cotton holders; or whether it concerns cooking, yardwork, church work, visiting the sick or friends, Mrs. Price says, "I love and enjoy them all, and it's so good for the nerves. If I could drive a car I'd always be visiting with someone and could do a lot more."

Last summer she won first place with her bread flowers in the crafts division at Littlefield's Fifth Annual Art Festival.

At the present time, Mrs. Price has her unique bread flower crafts on hand for gifts at Easter, Mother's Day, graduation, birthdays, weddings and other occasion. She went on to say that she "had future plans for other types of crafts."

During the Yule season she bakes a family favorite, "Banana Cake," a recipe handed down to her by an aunt, Fritz Bohne of San Antonio. Mrs. Price takes these cakes to the homes of shut-ins, and last Christmas she made 29 cakes for them. In order to have extras on hand, she wraps the baked cakes in foil and stores them in her deep freeze, then they are ready for delivery to her special friends or shut-ins at anytime.

She adds: "last year I took it on my own to add a nut roll to the banana cake recipe, which makes them quite moist."

Mrs. Price is willing to share her "Banana Cake" recipe with others who might, like herself, want to do a special favor for a friend or shut-in.

- "BANANA CAKE"
1 2/3 cup flour
1 1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup Wesson oil
2 eggs
1 teaspoon soda
4 bananas
1 Pecan nut roll (cut up fine)
1 teaspoon vanilla
Oil and flour a one-pound coffee can and fill half full with batter. Bake in oven at 375 degrees for one hour.

Wrong Woman Gets Shower

People who know the Paul Yarbroughs were very surprised to read in Thursday's paper about the impending birth of another baby. But no one was surprised to read about the baby shower as Mrs. Yarbrough.

"I am so embarrassed I could die," said Mrs. Lester LaGrange, the Amherst news correspondent who turned the story in. "The shower was for Mrs. Gary Schovajsa, not Mrs. Yarbrough. The Yarbroughs already have three children. I even sent a little gift to the shower."

"Mrs. Yarbrough and Mrs. Schovajsa are married to cousins, you know. Oh, I just cried I was so sick about the mistake. But I understand Mrs. Yarbrough just laughed." Was there anything else about the story that needed correcting? "Oh, no!" Mrs. LaGrange said. "The hostesses, the gifts, the decorations, refreshments and all that stuff were correct. Just the wrong woman expecting the baby."

Lady Clare Phillips Gives Gardening Tips

OLTON-The Olton Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. Ross Carty for a regular meeting. Mrs. Homer Curry presided over the short business meeting. Mrs. Curry also gave the devotional on "Are You Rich, Lady?" by Loyce Putman.

Mrs. O. T. Crosby read the minutes of the last meeting. The roll call was answered by "a trait I like in a friend."

Lady Claire Phillips of Littlefield brought the program on "Spring gardening." She suggested that "everyone should grow some vegetables, even if only a few among the flower beds. This will pay off two fold, it will provide fresh wholesome vegetables for meals and give the grower some good exercise in the fresh air. She stated "that many vegetable plants were ornamental enough to be planted anywhere in the yard of any city home." She suggested that a person might need to have the soil tested to find out the correct fertilizer requirements. She also suggested for people to always buy good seed and select varieties suited to their own locality. Flowers and vegetables should be watered thoroughly in order to encourage deep roots.

Mrs. Phillips gave away several packages of garden seed to those present with lucky numbers. Mrs. Carty served fruit bread, cookies, Cokes and coffee to six members Mmes. V. O. Harrod, Crosby, Curry, Callie Miller, Miss Ann Miller and one guest, Mrs. W. B. Smith Jr.

The next regular meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Walter Struve Tuesday, March 21, at 2 p.m. New members and visitors are welcome.

District Home Demonstration Club meeting will be held Tuesday, March 28, at Wayland College at Plainview, in Harrell Memorial Auditorium.

Mrs. Landers Hosts Whitharral HD Club

Mrs. Mary Landers of Pep was hostess to the Whitharral Home Demonstration Club meeting Tuesday, March 7, with Mrs. D. C. Thedford in charge of the business meeting.

The poem, "That Place In Our Backyard" was read by Mrs. Bill Gage. Mrs. Ross Kennedy presented miniature scrolls to each member and guests announcing the engagement of Mary Landers to Eugene Munselle of Tahoka.

Mrs. Carrie Eller won the door prize. During the afternoon session, Mrs. O. T. Martin gave a demonstration on "how to make hand lotion." She also entertained the group with games and a "Charlie McCarty" act.

Flower arrangements were shown by the members, and bags of "pig in the poke" were sold and auctioned off to raise money for the flower fund.

Guests present were Mrs. Bill Gage of Pep, Mmes. Brewer Gage, Doss Maner, Guy Willett, and Roy Taylor, all of Littlefield.

Club members present were Mmes. Henry Dobson, Carrie Eller, Eula Fyke, B. L. Hicks, Alma Kilgore, Mary Landers, O. T. Martin, Mae Nichols, E. E. Pair, Vera Rodgers, Bud Waters, D. C. Thedford, Eunice Wade and Ross Kennedy, and Miss Lena Maxey.

Mrs. Baird baked her bread the old-fashioned yeast-rising way for wonderful flavor and soft texture.

Today her family still uses that baking method... because they still care about quality.

INSTALL GAS AIR CONDITIONING NOW?

Install GAS air conditioning now and beat the rush that always comes with the first hot days. While everyone else is waiting on installation, central GAS air conditioning will be quietly and efficiently cooling your whole house. And another benefit of installing now is you have the time to consider the advantages that GAS air conditioning has over the other kinds.

A GAS air conditioning system is ruggedly built and operates on a simple principle. Heat from the steady blue flame circulates a refrigerant through the system to cool the air. There are fewer major moving parts and no compressor to break down or wear out. It's this simplicity that gives GAS air conditioning its low operating costs, its long life with no loss of cooling capacity, and its easy maintenance with few repair bills.

GAS air conditioning also filters the air to reduce dust and pollen.

You should be so foxy.
If you have a forced air heating system, you may be able to use the same ductwork for GAS air conditioning.

So, be foxy. Call Pioneer Natural Gas Company for a free air conditioning survey of your home or business.

Pep To Stage One-Act Plays

The Eighth Grade class of Pep School will present two one-act plays at the school, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 16.

"Lemon Pie For Andy" is a satire on a family's efforts to trap a young man into marriage with their daughter.

The cast for that play will include Dorthea Demel, Vanessa Demel, Lois Ford, Chris Gerik, Sydney Albus and Tom Rohmfeld.

The second play, "Red Carnations", is a fantasy in dialogue, of a girl's means of meeting and winning a casual acquaintance.

The cast for that play includes: Doris Woolsey, Robert Glumpler and Mike Gage.

Admission to the plays is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

'Little Miss' Contest Slated At Abernathy

The Abernathy Country Club will sponsor an official preliminary to the World's Our Little Miss Pageant April 28 and 29 at the Abernathy school auditorium.

Winners of the pageant will be eligible to attend the state contest in Waco in the summer.

The contest is more than just a beauty pageant. It is a youth development program offering early goals in good grooming, social graces, talent training and scholarship.

Contestants are being sought in three age groups: La Petite-ages 3-6; Little Miss-ages 7-12; Ideal Miss-ages 13-17.

For further information contact Mrs. Rupert Allen, Rt. 1, Abernathy, phone 757-2653, or Mrs. Hoppy Toler, 611 10th Street, Abernathy, phone 298-2397.

License Plate Deadline Nearing

That annual April 1 deadline for getting new license plates on is nearing, and less than half of the owners of the approximately 18,000 vehicles in Lamb County have bought their 1972 registration tags.

April 1 is the deadline for having tags on, but that deadline falls on a Saturday. Offices in the courthouse are not open on Saturdays, so this means that 5 p.m. Friday, March 31, is the last minute for purchasing tags for those persons who wait until the last minute on tag deadlines.

Parker Is Winner Of Subscription

C. A. Parker of 702 W. 7th is the winner of this week's Leader-News news tip of the week contest.

Parker receives a year's subscription to the L-N for telling about the work the men in the Green Thumb program are doing and the resulting feature story on the Green Thumbs that appeared in the Thursday edition.

Each week some reader is offered a free subscription to the paper for the best news tip.

The winning tip may be a wreck or some serious on-the-spot happening which the staff might miss otherwise. The winning tip could be a human interest story of rescuing a cat or child from a tree.

Telephone 385-4481, write Box 72 or come by the L-N office at 313 W. 4th.

... FAITH

driven her to taking little things, like pieces of bubble gum, not to steal it; the thought horrified her, but simply to move it from a classmate's desk to the teacher's drawer. Caught and confronted, she could give no reason. Her parents had been deeply depressed and bewildered, but no more than she.

Something was wrong, badly wrong. But what? An endless succession of doctors had shrugged and given up.

Charlene burst from the metal cubicle, threw the sodden ball of tissue into the wastebasket. She had to get out of here, away from the pressure, before that started again. She would quit school and get a job, remove herself from all this learning about things that happened hundreds of years ago. Who cared anyhow?

For almost a month Charlene devoured the Help Wanted columns, skipping the ones that stipulated a high school education or better. Her parents and sisters spread the word: Charlene was looking for a job. As leads came up, she dressed and presented herself for an interview. But jobs for untrained, unskilled girls were scarce. In 1965, jobs of any kind were scarce in Littlefield.

At last, unbelievably, a local department store hired her. With great hope Charlene reported for work, eager to please, yet with the old paralyzing fear that she wouldn't be able to do things right. Yet, anything was better than school.

The first morning on the job, during coffee break, the first group of four women left their stations to go to the coffee lounge. Anxious to be included, Charlene hovered nervously on the edge of the group, smiling, but her smile felt strained and unnatural.

A young blonde married woman poured her coffee and slumped into one of the low vinyl chairs, her blue eyes haggard. "I ought to go call the new sitter. . . see how the kids are. Besides charging more, the kid's don't like her as well. Sometimes I think I'll quit and stay home. I feel guilty every minute I'm away."

Kind, middle-aged Mrs. Voorhees balanced her coffee cup on her chair and nodded in sympathy. "I know exactly how you feel. I didn't start to work till mine were in junior high, but I still worried about whether I devoted enough time to them." Charlene poured her own coffee and hesitated, completely at sea in this type conversation. Good heavens, she didn't know anything about sitters and the guilt a working mother feels! She turned back to the coffee urn, waiting for red-haired Mrs. Sommers to fill her cup. Maybe she and this woman could talk.

At that moment Mrs. Sommers laughed bitterly. "Hah! Be glad you only have children to worry about. My husband is throwing a fit about my working." Juggling her coffee to a chair across from the blonde and Mrs. Voorhees, she sat down and leaned toward them. "He says by the time I pay for my clothes and a baby sitter, I don't make a penny."

A feeling of solitude struck through Charlene, a feeling of not belonging. What am I doing here? This is not my world. School was not your world either, Charlene, she reminded herself. Where was it then?

Charlene passed between the women, their engrossed chatter swirling about her, murmuring apologies they scarcely acknowledged. She sank deep into a big vinyl chair, sipped her coffee and waited for the conversation to touch a subject she could handle.

"... was so dead on my feet last night when I got home," Mrs. Voorhees said, her lined face still portraying that fatigue, "I felt like I'd faint if I couldn't lie down a minute."

Eagerly Charlene joined in. This she knew about! "When I'm tired like that, I get in a tub of real hot water and just lie back and soak a while," she said animatedly, her gaze skipping across the three faces to see how they would accept her contribution.

Mrs. Sommers' red head snapped toward her in derision. "Hah! That'll be the day. With a husband and four kids hollering supper! Unless you've been through it, you don't know." She smiled at Charlene patronizingly. "You're single, and believe me, kiddo, with you, it's different."

Different. The word slapped Charlene back against her chair, icy-cold with shock, and the old familiar shaking started. There it was again. Even here she was different. Was there no way to become one of them? Was her entire life to be lived outside the circle of warmth and laughter? Sure, her family made her feel wanted and welcome always, but she spent eight or ten hours a day

FOR TEENS ONLY

Spanking Is Out

By PAT AND MARILYN DAVIS
Copley News Service

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

My mother has a rather antiquated way of punishing me. I am 14. Yet, she still spansks me. I am humiliated and embarrassed. She makes it no secret. It must be the "in" topic with her coffee club because others know about this. In fact, there isn't a soul in the neighborhood who doesn't know. Everyone thinks that it is humorous but me. I am the laughingstock of the high school. What can I do? My dad lets my mother handle the discipline. Why can't we talk over any problems that may arise instead of submitting to such discipline?

Sally

Dear Sally:

Sit down with your mother and get right to the "seat" of the problem. No 14-year-old girl should be spanked. You are old enough to help formulate some of the rules and regulations in your home. Spankings will only alienate a teenager. Suggest to your mother that she read any good psychology book on teen-agers. She will learn that corporal punishment is most often considered detrimental.

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

I am 13 years old and in the 8th grade. For graduation I have asked to have a party at my home. We have a large rumpus room and a pool. It would easily accommodate our whole class. My parents are happy to do this and I really appreciate their efforts. However, we disagree on one thing. I feel that we do not need chaperons. My parents say, "No chaperon, no party." We have decided to let you settle it.

Candy

Dear Candy:

Why not let both sides give a little? It won't be necessary for your parents to sit in the corner the entire evening. They can filter in and out of the party, bringing refreshments, etc. However, your parents are right that all teen-age parties must have chaperons. Most parents will not allow their teen-agers to attend a party unless they are assured that an adult is on the premises.

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

Why do high schools have proms? They are a source of misery so far as I can see. I am 17 and this is my senior year. I missed the prom last year from the looks of things. The chances of attending this year are nil. I sit home miserable while other girls attend. At least half the girls know are sitting home doing a lot of nothing right now. Just what can we do?

Dear Lonely:

Stop feeling sorry for yourself. Get out and do something. Get together with the other girls who are going and go to a show or a Coke and pizza party. The girls aren't going to the prom. I'll bet the boys are looking for someone to do too. Proms have the point where some school boys can't attend. Many boys have me that prom night cost much as $50. That is a teen-age budget.

If you have a question, Pat and Marilyn Davis, Copley News Service, P. O. Box 100, San Diego, Calif. 92112.

with others. She set her coffee cup on the small table and hurried to the rest room, her eyes brimming.

Inside the small antiseptic cubicle, she leaned her forehead against the door jamb and lost control. After long agonizing moments, she raised her tear-streaked face toward the ceiling.

"Oh, God," she whispered. "Help me to find my place. I don't want to be different. I want to belong!"

Desperately she tried to compose herself, to quiet the shaking. What was the matter with her? Surely everyone didn't suffer these spells. If they did, they hid it better than she could.

Somehow Charlene managed to live through the next three months. December came, and with it the Christmas rush. She was caught up in the madness of last-minute purchases, of argumentative customers, details of sales tickets and hurry, hurry, hurry. After Christmas the same customers smothered them returning merchandise because it was defective or the wrong size or color. Every crisis brought Charlene's nerves nearer the breaking point. She lost weight she couldn't afford to lose, was despondent and irritable and cried easily.

One day near the end of the year, Charlene was writing out a sales ticket and in her haste made an error adding the total. The short-tempered customer pointed it out to her. Charlene apologized but the customer wasn't appeased. She took it to the manager.

After a few moments the manager called Charlene into his office, his broad homely face spread in a grin. He motioned her to a chair next to his desk. "This Christmas rush getting you down, Charlene?" "N-n-no, sir. Not at all," she stammered faintly.

"Did the old dear give you a hard time?"

"Not really." Tears that had waited dangerously close behind her eyes surfaced without warning. "She was in a hurry and she kept tapping her fingernails on the counter top and..." The words spilled from her lips in a torrent and the shaking began inside her, tearing her apart. Please, God, she prayed, not here. Not now. Let me get through this and out of the office first.

"Now, now," the boss soothed, flexing his big hands uneasily. "No point in crying, Charlene. You just made a mistake with the wrong customer, that's all." He smiled gently, his tone was teasing. "Maybe you quit high school one day too soon. . . they probably taught addition the day after you quit."

Not realizing, he had struck a very sore point. Again, this showed how different she was. . . the only employee whose mistakes were attributed to dropping out of school.

"You're right," she said quietly, in a voice she barely recognized as her own. "I think I'd better go back at mid-term and pick up where I left off."

"Say!" Her boss leaped out of his chair and held out his hand in obvious delight. "That's great, Charlene! I'll hate to lose you, but in my opinion, you're doing the right thing. Everybody needs a high school education."

With bitter memories crowding her mind, Charlene shook his hand without enthusiasm. What had she said? She must be crazy, talking about going back to school. Thirteen years of painful, sweating terror and she had just volunteered to face it again. Still, a stubborn pride held her to her decision. I'll go back, she vowed silently. I'll graduate if it kills me. If I really try, God will help me.

Her parents rejoiced but insisted on taking her to a nearby city to a new doctor they had heard about. She needed a complete check-up anyhow. The new man, a neurologist, was highly recommended. And rightly so.

He suggested an EEG test — an electro-encephalograph — an intricate machine that recorded brain waves. At various points on her scalp, a paste was applied to insure good contact with the electrodes of the EEG machine. His findings corroborated Charlene's deepest premonitions.

"There's damage in the left portion of the brain," he said sadly.

But Charlene couldn't share his sadness. She clasped her hands around her knees tightly to keep from leaping around the room in joy. At last she knew! She was different, but she was not just plain dumb. When you knew what was wrong, you could fight it. It was not knowing that killed you.

The neurologist gave her a prescription for a small white pill which calmed the waves of unbearable tension and changed her life. From that day on, she could master her nerves.

At mid-term Charlene went back to high school. She took two history courses, two science, and one English. She signed up with the state rehabilitation program, which helped enormously. She was "different" still, but by putting out twice as much effort as the others, she learned. Grimly she plodded on, and every day she put behind her was one day closer to that diploma.

In May of 1966, Billye Charlene Smiley graduated from high school. . . seven long, hard, nerve-racking years from the day she had enrolled as a freshman. She was 21 years old, a small slender girl who looked no older than the other girls and sisters went through a proud mist of possibly the only ones who knew the price of that smile. Charlene carried off the her face radiant.

After graduation Charlene enrolled for courses at Rutherford Metropolitan State College of Business in Dallas, where she learned typing and keypunching. After completing business college, she won the Internal Revenue Service Award.

On October 2, 1968, Charlene asked the Texas Vocational Rehabilitation office to be transferred to Reese Air Force Base in order to be closer to home town of Littlefield. The 141 handicapped employees there, Charlene operated IBM keypunch, the IBM and 548 Interpreter, and machines in the accounting branch of the 350th Squadron.

To add to her considerable knowledge of machines, she enrolled in a processing course at the Plains College at Levelland.

Last year Billye De Smiley was cited as outstanding performer in connection with the Employ the Handicapped Act as proclaimed by President Nixon. The week is set aside to emphasize the abilities of handicapped workers in governmental functions as independent business industries.

The officer in charge of accounting testified to her efficiency. "I wouldn't be Billye for anyone. She really improved and developed her skills since she started working here, and is dependable," said Sgt. Rodriguez Jr. Her story published in the Littlefield Avalanche Journal and many.

Now 25 years old, Billye looks back over the hard years with smiles. She is different, but the word no longer troubles her to terror. She is different because she had more surmount than others, she had more tenacity, more faith that God would help her if she tried hard and His help.

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

DEAR ME, no, Aunt Edna, we couldn't charge the voters a fee to vote. That's plain unconstitutional! Let 'em pay for this freedom by way of taxes!

THE CHICAGO MOBS of former days ain't got nothin' on us. Crime is increased all across the nation, like we haven't witnessed before.

In fact, the criminal has to be, or do, something out of the ordinary to make the front pages anymore. Most of our crimes are out of the spectacular class, and have become a "Ho-Hum" sort of thing.

WE'RE NOT SURPRISED at what takes place. In fact, we've sort of come to EXPECT the worse, and it usually happens! We've become so hardened to this sort of thing, we're hard to shock, anymore.

Seems the sky-jackers would give up, eventually. They can hardly make the front page now. The murderers have to kill a politician, or some well-known to rate a headline. The thieves, robbers and embezzlers don't have a chance, unless they're some big name character.

REASON FOR THIS being, we've allowed the constitution to become a twisted maze that has given the criminal and his fast-talkin' attorneys every loophole and advantage that can be had!

We've hobbled the police with so many legalities, that when he makes an arrest, he wonders if he may be the one that's put in the cooler instead of the law-breaker!

IF AND WHEN the criminal IS finally hauled into court, he may be dismissed on some minor technicality, even tho it's known beyond reasonable doubt that he's guilty! Thus, the wheels of justice have become square and flat.

To make it short, the criminal has little to fear, either from the police OR the courts.

SO? — AT THE present, we're in the process of eliminating the death penalty, and sooner or later we'll be granting amnesty to our deserters from the armed forces. SURELY, the pendulum will start the backswing before long.

FASTLY, BUDS our anxious treeses. In our warm and dusty breezes. Returns the winter, with a "Zoom", And nips our HOPESES in the bloom! (Couldn't be Longfellow?)

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Be Thoughtful

By BOB WEAR

THOUGHTFULNESS IS one human expression which is beneficial to everybody. The one who expresses the thoughtfulness loses nothing, but actually profits by the action.

The person who is the object of the thoughtful outreach is helped and inspired, according to his response capacity. Such right action means more to some than to others, and there may be some, now and then, to whom it means nothing.

BEING THOUGHTFUL IS, for the most part, a two-way street of blessing. In it, there will be a blessing for both the giver and receiver.

It is more than this, because one act of thoughtfulness often sets in motion a good force which touches the lives of many people. One conclusion is certain, thoughtfulness is never wasted.

"TO REJOICE in another's prosperity, is to give content to your own lot; to mitigate another's grief, is to alleviate or dispel your own."—Edwards. This is good reason to be thoughtful.

MOST OF THE TIME, thoughtfulness requires no special planning or effort; because it can be made standard procedure in the usual and routine day to day portion of living.

Occasionally, some special planning and effort will be necessary; but these times will be easily recognized.

SUCH THOUGHTFULNESS comes from an educated heart that is filled with a wholesome interest in other people.

Of course, the self-centered person is not going to be thoughtful of other people; because such a person is too narrow in his life view.

SELF-CENTERED PERSONS are thoughtless of others in proportion to the degree of self-centeredness.

"A man is called selfish, not for pursuing his own good, but for neglecting his neighbor's good."

WE HAVE CERTAIN responsibilities to self, but, beyond meeting these, we can never go; without losing the real joy of living.

Being thoughtful of others, in a sensible way, and there is no other workable way, never causes us to neglect our legitimate needs.

WE CAN LEARN to be thoughtful. The assumption that some folk are born to be thoughtful and some are not is not justified.

It is admitted that, for some reason, which is not apparent on the surface, some persons seem to find it easier to be thoughtful. Others have to put forth more effort, but there is nothing wrong with this.

MOST THOUGHTFULNESS will be expressed in what we too often call the little things, such as; courtesies; words of kindness and encouragement; placing the best possible construction on the speech and action of others; and respecting the dignity and the rights of others.

GENUINE THOUGHTFULNESS is one of the most certain, and most ennobling marks of personal culture.

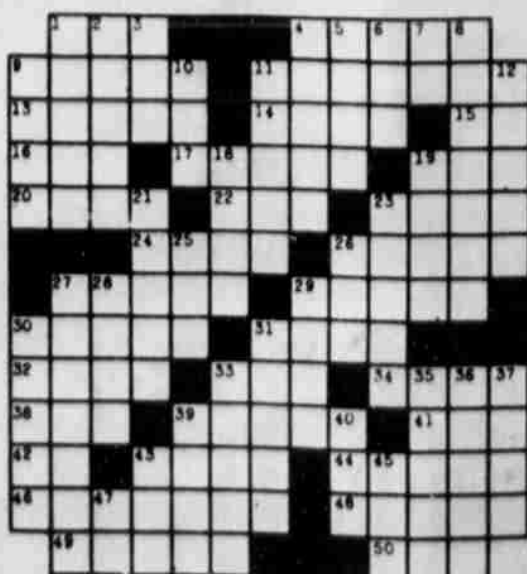

Everything of value is made a little better, when we think of others with a view to helping them.

What Our Readers Think

Fees Not Excessive

March 6, 1972
Lamb County Leader News
Littlefield, Texas 79339

Dear Sirs:

The government, for some reason, feels it needs to be in the medical care business, and therefore totally control it. Along with this control would be the dictating of the type of care physicians give the public, and hence a form of socialized medicine which has proved totally inadequate and unacceptable to the general public in England and Great Britain.

The public is well aware of the fact that socialized medicine does not work in other countries, therefore the government must convince the public that it will work in the United States by the releasing of misleading information furnished by National Health Plans.

If the government can lower the public esteem for physicians and hospitals, it therefore could manage to initiate its own method of medical practice which, as with most government controlled programs, is inadequate and inept.

The total destruction of all private enterprise followed by absolute government control seems to be Washington's aim throughout our democracy at the present time.

The following article released by Texas Medical Association was written in rebuttal of the bureaucratic groups seeking control of medicine. In this way we hope to present to the public some of the true facts.

"It is unsound and unreasonable to call physician's fees 'excessive' or an 'overcharge' just because the full fee was not reimbursed by a health insurance plan," an official of the Texas Medical Association emphasized in a statement here today.

Responding to a story released by The Associated Press in Washington that claimed the nation's doctors are "overcharging" patients $1 out of every $25 collected, Ed W. Schmidt, M.D., vice president of the 11,000 member medical association said, "Health insurance programs seldom cover the full fee that most doctors charge. Payments to physicians by insurance companies generally are based upon premiums patients or third parties, such as industry and government, are to pay."

"Medical fees, like most of other professional people, standardized," Dr. Schmidt said, "is higher than that normally charged by other doctors in the area. It is not in the physicians judgment, but reasons — such as additional work required in performing the service."

Dr. Schmidt also pointed out that Medicare and Medicaid, the money paid to the doctor or to the patient limited to no more than the 75th percentile of the range of charges by doctors given area or community — is referred to as the "usual, customary, reasonable fee." In addition, the fee profiles have been frozen since 1968. Fee profiles are based upon charges by physicians in 1970.

"In other words," Dr. Schmidt said, "the vast majority of physicians receiving payments which are their 'reasonable' fees."

Dr. Schmidt, a Pecos practitioner, expressed his concern that Texas physicians are overcharging. "When an overcharging or overutilization discovered, however," he said, "the Medical Association does not bring the proper disciplinary action against physicians who ethical principles or laws."

TMA and its county medical societies have assisted for many years in medical review and public committees to hear complaints on fees or medical services from individuals and health insurance companies.

The original story released by Associated Press was based on a piece made by a reporter's interpretation of figures from The National Association of Blue Shield Plans.

Sincerely,

being good community men, good civic, school and promoters in everything that's going on. It's my pleasure to recognize James and B.O. Busby as the outstanding farmers from the Springlake community." Harold Miller recognized the Earth farmer, Melvin Bock. "He's a fellow who is outstanding in farming, and at the same time has time to devote to the church. He's a member of the Lions Club, the Masonic Lodge, and is always willing to help when called upon. He'll go his part and another mile."

Speaker for the night was a Lubbock attorney, Warlick Carr, who sparked his speech with humorous jokes concerning his profession, as well as challenged his audience to work with the theme of the banquet, "Your Earth Can Help Improve The World."

In keeping with our times, he related the achievements, educational progress, medical discoveries and economical progress persons of the older generation have made—in contrast to what some young people of this age have accused them of getting done. He related an experience he had recently encountered from the reading of a newspaper article, which quoted a youth as saying to his elders, "You have made such a mess of things; I do not have time to talk to you."

Carr stated he was definitely taking exception to that remark, because, "this adult generation has done some great things in the realm of life—some very important things." He pointed to statistics in comparing the economy of the U.S. with other countries—particularly those now under communism. In emphasizing the theme, he mentioned the fact that people should help each other—whether young or old. "We need our young people and they need us. We can help each other, and when we help a fellow up a steep hill, we get closer to the top ourselves."

Serving as master of ceremonies for the event was Tuffy Dent, the new president of directors for 1972. Other directors who were introduced were Doug Parish, vice president; Roger Haberer, treasurer; W.B. McMillan, Bill Scott, Harold Miller, Earl Jordan, Norman Hinchliffe, M.H. Been, Macky McCarty, Dale Riggs and Neil Pounds.

Instrumental music was provided by Faye Wahington and Jack Morrison of Plainview.

Police Arrest Five For Soliciting, No Permit

Five men were arrested by city police Friday night and charged with violation of city ordinance 213 — soliciting without a permit. They paid their fines and were released. A woman was jailed Friday night, charged with drunk in public, and was still in jail Saturday morning. Police issued two tickets Friday: one for no valid motor inspection sticker, and another for failure to yield right of way.

Six tickets were issued Wednesday. Three were for lapsed motor inspection stickers, one for disturbance with a motor vehicle, and two for failure to yield right of way. One ticket was issued Saturday morning for illegal parking near the hospital. Police are checking out the theft of a gum machine from M&M Laundry.

Fathers Honored At Foreign Supper

The Littlefield Junior Chapter of FHA honored their fathers with a Father-Daughter Foreign Supper Friday evening, March 3.

Each girl brought a different kind of foreign dish for the affair.

Following the supper, the fathers participated in a relay race, and a newspaper costume contest was conducted.

The fathers and daughters dressed each other in newspapers, and first and second places were selected for the best costumes.

Present for the occasion were Messers, and Mmes. Clinton Byers, Jimmy Cannon, Troy Gardner; Messers. Larry Sanderson, James Holmes, Jasper Colbert, Allen Purdy, Billy T. Grant; Miss Ellen Massengill and Rhonda Bean, Janice Cannon, Tonie Gardner, Linda Sanderson, Shebra Johnson, Janice Johnson, Barbara Colbert, Cindy Purdy, Sharla Grant, Angie Aleman, Stephanie Benner, Teresa Crosby, Kay Wesley and Sheila Dangerfield.

The FHA girls recently conducted a road block to collect money for the March of Dimes. They collected a total of $47.76.

Participating in this project were Tonie Gardner, Teresa Crosby, Janice Johnson, Sharleta Grimes, Rhonda Hall, Lisa Wells, Stephanie Benner, Kay Wesley, Jerri Hardaway and Michael Ann Smith.

Debbie Cutshall has recently been named as historian of the chapter, in place of Anita Garcia who has moved.

PRODUCTION SOARS Thanks to modern agricultural techniques and machinery, combined with scientific methods of planting and harvesting, United States' crop production per acre has soared by 59 percent since 1950.

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

and get a spiritual lift for the whole week

Which Key?

THEY all may be made of the same metal, but oh the difference in the doors they open! Your need determines the key you use.

If you would open a treasure chest... the small key will do. If you would loose the intricate lock on the heavy bank vault... it takes a bigger, more precisioned key. But if you want the freedom of God's universe — if you want entrance to human hearts — if you want to open the gates of Heaven — then take the cross. It is the key which Jesus hammered out, and you'll find rules and regulations on how to use it at the church of your choice.

Revival Begins Today

"Revival 21" begins today at First Baptist Church of Amherst, with Evangelist J. S. 'Jim' Tuell of Dallas beginning the evangelistic sermons. The revival will continue through the following Sunday.

"Revival 21 is the First Century message, presented with Twentieth Century methods," Rev. Tuell said. It is revival which utilizes numerous tools and special features like drama, visual aids, workshops, etc., as well as nightly preaching and singing.

Leading the music will be Albert Castro of Hobbs, N. M. Everyone is invited to attend the meetings, held daily at 12 noon and 7:30 p.m., said the Pastor, Rev. Glenn Willson.

Rev. Tuell has served as minister of youth, First Baptist Church of Urbandale, Dallas; youth evangelist, Baptist General Convention of Texas (BGCT); and speaker's bureau director, Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education (TANE). A frequent speaker at civic meetings, high school assembly programs, youth rallies, etc., Rev. Tuell now serves as president of Educational Evangelism, Inc., and is a full-time evangelist.

Born in Riverside, Calif., Rev. Tuell attended Wayland Baptist College at Plainview, the University of Arizona; was graduated from Howard Payne College at Brownwood, and received his ministerial training at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

Witnesses Plan Weekend Meeting

Members of the Spanish congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses have been invited as delegates to the semi-annual circuit convention for the group.

The meeting will be held in San Angelo at the City Hall Auditorium March 17-19, and the theme will be, "Conscious of our Spiritual Need."

The announcement was made to the congregation by the presiding minister, Roberto R. Torres.

In explaining to the congregation the purpose of the gathering, Torres stated that the three-day program is a key factor in promoting the unity of teaching and organization that have come to characterize Jehovah's Witnesses worldwide.

"Such unity can only be accomplished through individual willingness to cooperate and a regular program of training based on Bible principles. This assembly will serve to provide a portion of this training," Torres said.

Anton's State Title Hopes All To LaPoynor, 64-49

ANTON BULLDOG CAPTAINS

LEROY MEDLOCK TERRY BELCHER ALAN JAMES

Anton's Bulldogs lost their bid for the Class B state championship in the semi-final round at Austin to La Poynor, 64-49, Saturday morning.

Anton, going into the battle with a 29-2 record, struck first on the scoreboard as Leroy Medlock dumped in a field goal in the opening seconds of the game. In less than two minutes of the opening quarter Anton had five points, four of these made by Medlock and the fifth by Terry Belcher, as the score stood, 5-2. In the next couple of minutes, La Poynor came up with a couple of field goals but was still a point behind as Medlock netted his sixth point in the game to make the score 7-6.

La Poynor got six field goals in a row and allowed the Bulldogs only one to take the lead, 12-9, and went on to finish the quarter, 15-14.

Medlock knotted the score at 17-17 in the opening moments of the second quarter. La Poynor jumped ahead but the Bulldogs rallied with a field goal to tie the score for the last time, 19-19.

La Poynor charged ahead and had as much as an eight-point lead in the second quarter but the gap was narrowed to 33-29 at intermission.

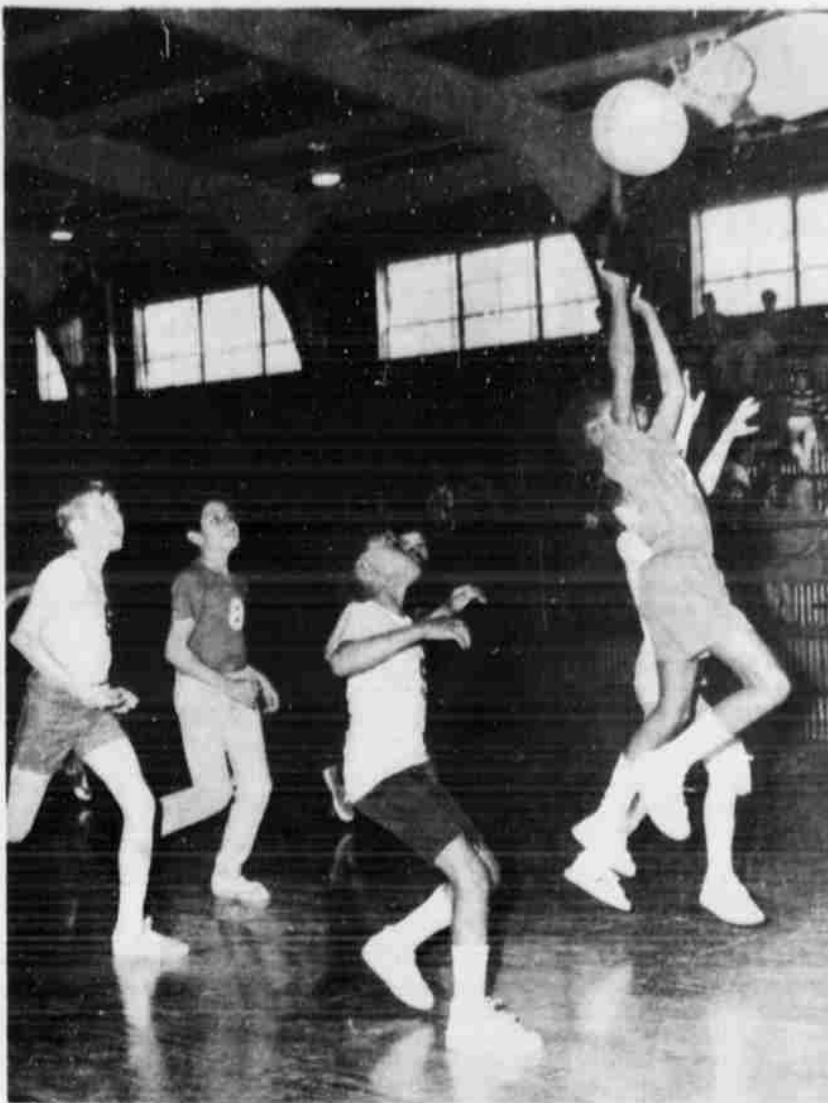

With a tightened defense, La Poynor held the Bulldogs to nine points and gained a 46-38 third quarter lead. Midway in the third period Anton was within three points of tying the game with Alan James and Mark Grace leading the third quarter scoring.

In a catch-up attempt the Bulldogs dumped in 11 points in the final stanza, but were not able to contain La Poynor as they swished the net for 18 fourth quarter points to put the game on ice.

In the first half, Medlock bucketed 13 points, Belcher eight and Grace and Elisha Thomas each got four. The Bulldogs also hit five out of five from the foul line.

Medlock was allowed only two points in the second half to make his total points for the game add up to 15, 2.8 shy of his season average. Belcher bucketed a total of 13 points, Grace eight, Thomas six, James five and Ramirez two.

Jimmy Street was high pointer for the winners with 24.

JAMES JOHNSON (2) goes up for two of his 10 points for the Bucks against the Sonics. Johnson is followed by teammates Terry Timmons (5) and L. Vargas (8). Stephen Ford (6) and Randy McCarty (5) charge in for the Sonics. The Bucks won, 28-11.

LEWIS WILLEY of the Bears and an unidentified Mustang jump for a ball in Major League basketball action. Other identifiable Bears are Austin Dailey (7), Greg Moreland (3), and Lynn Duffey (10). Identifiable Mustangs are Bradley Allen (6) and Chuck Russell (8). Referee Rod Hench watches the action. The Bears won the game, 24-23.

Frogs Take Razorbacks, Bears Win

Major League action Thursday night was a 32-27 win by the Horned Frogs over the Razorbacks.

The 3-0 Horned Frogs gave the Razorbacks their first defeat as they turned 6-4 first quarter lead into their fifth win.

Kevin Gardner and Dennis Jackson bucketed a dozen points each to pace the winners. Terry Foley hit seven and Pablo Trevino got one.

The 3-1 Razorbacks were led in scoring by Rudolph Smith with 13 points. Keith McCain hit six, Dewayne Hayes four, Ronnie Milligan and Kenny Williams each got two.

Greg Moreland and Mark Coffman teamed up with 10 points each to lead the Bears past the Mustangs, 24-23, in Major League Little Dribblers basketball action. The score was 7-6 at the end of the first period in favor of the Mustangs, but the Bears led 21-18 after three periods finally gained a one-point win.

The 2-2 Bears were paced by Coffman and Moreland for a total of 20 points and Lynn Duffey and Mike Gregg with 2 points each.

Bradley Allen led the 1-3 Mustangs with 12 points. Brent Maddox had 10 and Jamie Gray one.

Standing for other Major League teams that did not play Thursday are the Raiders, 1-3 season record, and Longhorns, 0-3.

In Minor League action the Bucks kept their record 5-0 by dumping the 1-3 Sonics, 28-11, Thursday night.

It was the Bucks all the way as they blanked the Sonics in the first quarter to take an 8-0 lead.

Stevie Jackson hit 16 points for the winners, James Johnson scored 10 and Jimmy Clark two.

Mike Martin and Crockett Patterson each scored four points to lead the Sonics' scoring department. Leland Jenkins got two and Rodney Hampton one.

The Chaparrals are 2-2 in Minor League basketball, the Hawks are 2-1, and the Celtics and Cougars have 1-3 season records.

Three From Area In All-Star Game

Three area girls have been selected to appear in the Golden Spread All-Star game, March 25, in the Amarillo Civic Center Coliseum.

The girls were selected on outstanding ability in athletics, as well as scholastic ability and beauty, and must be seniors.

Alane Weaver from Amherst and Rebecca Hodges of Olton will represent the area by playing in the All-Star game and Cindy Crosby of Amherst will be one of the contestants in the Queen's contest that will be held during the halftime.

Miss Weaver averaged 20 points per contest for Amherst last season and Miss Hodges 20.9 for Olton.

Miss Crosby was a guard and one of the teams captains for Amherst last season.

Perry's, Pill Rollers in Final Games

Girls' basketball closed its 1972 Thursday with Perry's breaking old place tie with Shook Tire as the girls escaped with a 24-17 win over Michelnettes.

Michelnettes dominated the first quarter and eight in the stanza, while the Michelnettes won seven in the initial period and in the second quarter, for a 11-10 lead.

In a different ball game the second Variety Girl Paula Mears tied the 11 in the opening minutes in the quarter with a free shot.

The Hall gave the Variety Girls a go-ahead by sinking a long shot outside.

Cristan narrowed the gap in the free shot for the Michelnettes, knotted the score again on a field

Flores drove in for a two-pointer Variety girls to give them their lead of the game, and then came out the game on ice for the winners the field goal.

winners' scoring department of Miss Flores with 10; Paula eight; Nanette Hall, four; and Hernandez, two.

Tonya Tunnell was the big gun for the Michelnettes with seven points, Elaine Elerby and Sylvia Cristan each sank four and Tommy Shaw swished the nets with two.

In fifth grade little girls' basketball, the Pill Rollers won over the Littlefield Seed and Delinting Seedlings, 18-8, and stayed tied with the Mitchell Ford T-Birds for first place.

The winners were ahead 10-4 at intermission and had the Seedlings doubled in the third quarter, 12-6, before going on for the win.

Carrol Sexton took game honors for the winners by bucketing 10 points and DeEnna Blakley hit eight.

Kim Hutto paced the Seedlings with four points, Norma Echeverria hit three, and DeeDee Lance one.

An organizational meeting was held after the games to make plans for next year's little girls' basketball which will involve this year's fourth and fifth grade girls.

Gift certificates were awarded to Kenneth Johnson and Mike Richardson for donating their time in officiating the games.

A gift was given to Principal Jack Christian for his extra efforts and time during the basketball season.

JEFF LOGSDON, slowed in the first lap by stomach cramps, hands the leg to Jerry Feagley for the second leg of the Freshman Division mile race last Saturday. Feagley took up part of the slack lost by the ailing Logsdon and the freshman 'Cats won the event. Buddy Jungman, shown catching, caught the other competitors in the third lap to take the lead and Ricky Hodges on his way to a Frosh relay team victory.

Women's Bowling Tournament Set

March 13 has been slated for the opening of the Women's City Bowling Tournament to be held at the Lamb Bowling Lanes in Littlefield.

Team events will start Monday, March 13, and the singles and doubles will begin the 19th.

Six teams have been entered in the events.

Volleyballers Win 3 From Levelland

Littlefield's "A", "B", and "C" volleyball teams had to play three games each before taking the best of three game series from Levelland for the second time this week.

The varsity girls ran out of time in the first game to take a 11-9 decision, but were dumped in the second game by Levelland, 15-7. They came back in the third game, 14-9, to win the series.

Pat Glazener was high-pointer for the winners with 10, while Carolyn Gray and Luanne Johnson tied for second with seven points each.

In "B" team action, the Littlefield girls won their first game, 15-8, lost the second, 15-9, and took the third game, 15-6, to beat Levelland in the three-game series.

Jackie Gregg scored a dozen points to lead the winners' scoring list. Sheryle Carter collected nine.

Jeanne Clark with 18 points and Mary Louise Bennett with six paced the Littlefield "C" volleyball team to win two out of three over Levelland. The first game went to Levelland, 15-8, but the girls won the second and third games, 15-11.

Monday the girls will entertain Shallowater in the Wildcat gym starting at 5 p.m.
