Littlefield Actively Seeking Industry

The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture is actively seeking industry for the Littlefield area, and the Industrial Committee, headed by Ken Day, has made several out-of-town trips to visit with industries that may be interested in relocating or expanding their businesses

W. R. Grace and Company, the sewing firm which recently made a labor survey in Littlefield, is now in Odessa setting up a sewing plant, and as soon as that plant is in operation, the company plans to come back and take another look at Littlefield, Levelland and Brownfield-where labor surveys have already been made

'We have a good chance of having them locate here," stated Bill Payne, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. "So everyone sit tight!"

"In the meantime, we are currently looking at other prospects for other types of industry that might add to the economy of the community.

'We would encourage any citizen who knows of an industry that might be interested in expanding to another city, to call the C-CA office, 385-4451, and see if they can be invited for a look at Littlefield," Payne emphasized.

The work of the committee can't be publicized most of the time because of highly competitive situations where other cities might make sales pitches and lure the prspects away. Citizens are unaware most of the time of efforts put forth by the committee, and the work can't be publicized for protection of Littlefield and at the request of the companies taking a look.

Only last week, the committee came near landing another sewing firm. All plus factors were in Littlefield's favor over other cities-with the exception of one factor: the other city had a building large enough and featured refrigerated air conditioning that Littlefield didn't have.

Citizens are urged by the C-CA committee to keep having faith, and one day Littlefield will have several additional industries.

County Horse Owners Warned Of Encephalitis

Lamb County horse owners are urged to keep a close watch on their animals and to vaccinate unprotected horses for equine encephalomyelitis (horse sleeping sickness)

According to Wilson Vaught of Veterinarian Dr. Howard Head's office. one case of the disease has been confirmed in the county already this year.

The case was of the Eastern and Western type, and the veterinarian advised that persons who last gave their horses the VEE shots in 1971 are due to give their animals another shot this year.

The disease is of three strains -Eastern, Western and Venezuelan-the latter causing hundreds of horse deaths in 1971.

The Eastern strain of the disease has been diagnosed in one of the 11 sick or dead horses in the three-county area of Hardin, Tyler and Jasper. Veterinarians with the USDA's Animal and Plant incubation period is about two weeks," said Hooks. "Also, the extensive spray program in Hardin County to control mosquitoes should help to halt the spread of the disease." (Mosquitoes are the main carriers of encephalorayelitis.)

The sleeping sickness also affects humans, and a Hardin County man has contracted a form of encephalomyelitis called a "viral" type by his attending physician. The patient is now recovering at home, noted Hooks.

Sippel urged horse owners to consult their local veterinarian about a vno cination schedule to protect their animals. Effective vaccines are available, but a vaccination is needed for each of the three strains of the disease.

Horses vaccinated against VEE in 1971 need to be revaccinated, and annual booster shots are necessary to protect animals from the Eastern and Western strains.

NE EBY of Olton was born in in the house where he now and was recognized as lived in the county conusly the longest.

Billy E. Wormley Killed In Turnover

Billy Eugene Wormley, 39, of Littlefield was killed in a one-car turnover Friday night at 11:35, when his car went into a skid 8.6 miles south of Dimmitt on U.S. 385, after it ran off the roadway and broadslid into a field and overturned approximately three times.

He and I. V. Wormley, 17, were thrown from the vehicle and the vehicle rolled over the deceased.

I. V. Wormley was treated for bruises and released at Plains Memorial Hospital in Dimmitt.

Funeral services for Billy Eugene Wormley were pending at presstime Saturday morning.

'73 Football Contest Starts In This Issue

It's time for all arm chair quarterbacks, grandstand coaches and football fans to begin guessing the outcome of weekly football games.

This year the Leader-News is offering $10 in weekly prizes to those who predict the most winners.

Those who forecast the most games within the entire football contest will win two tickets to the New Year's Day football classic at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, plus $25 expense money.

The first weekly contest is in this issue. To enter, clip out the official entry blank on the contest page and write in the names of the winning teams in the spaces provided. Fill in the tie breaker box, too. Then mail or bring entries to the Leader-News office before 5:30 p.m. Friday

State of the state

Entries must be in the office before closing time or postmarked before the Friday evening game time. All late entries will be disqualified.

Only one entry per person will be allowed in each separate weekly contest. Entries must be on the published form which will appear in each Sunday edition throughout the contest period.

Weekly winners, plus the season standings, will be reported in the following Thursday's issue of the Leader-News

Weekly winners will receive $5 for first place, $3 for second place and $2 for third place.

Scores in the tie-breaker box will be used to decide winners in case of ties only Interest was indicated in short courses on flower arranging and powder puff mechanics during the registration Thursday, and information will be provided in the near future on details for these short courses which will be offered in Littlefield.

Two grass fires broke out at the Yellow House Ranch just north of the headquarters about 3:30 Friday.

Units from Littlefield, Levelland, Sudan, Anton, Muleshoe and Amherst had been dispatched to bring the blaze under control.

ED WEBER of Amarillo, vice president of Southwestern Public Service Company, was in Littlefield Thursday to speak for Littlefield Rotarians and their guests. He spoke of the current energy crisis and gave several possible solutions to the problem. Sce story on page 7. (Staff Photo)

Health Inspection Service also suspect the Eastern strain in several other cases, according to Dr. H. A. Hooks of the Hardin County Health Department.

The Western strain has been diagnosed in a single horse death in Fayette County.

"We are approaching the cut-off time for new cases of the disease since an

Ranch Fire Destroys 5,000 Acres

Leon Durham, Littlefield fire chief, estimated that 5,000 acres of range land burned in two separate fires before the fire was finally extinguished at 10:30 p.m. The fires were believed to have been caused by lightning, and were about four miles apart.

Trustees Authorize Hiring New Teacher

Littlefield school trustees met in a special session Thursday night to determine whether or not an additional teacher should be hired at the high school level.

The additional full- (or part-time) teacher is needed, according to high school principal Jack York, to "alleviate student over-loads in English and still maintain two art classes and two journalism classes." "We could go with the same number of teachers we now have," added York, "but we would be penalizing a number of students due to the elimination of the electives and the overload."

Trustee Glen Batson made the motion to hire a half-day teacher if possible, but if not, to hire one full time to alleviate the overload.

Mickey Ratliff seconded and the vote was unanimous

Attending the called meeting were all board members except Dickie Hopping.

Besides board members, in attendance were Byron Ford, Tom Tollett, Tommy Brawley, Ken Largent, Ima Roycroft, Sid Hopping, Paul 1. Jones and York.

It's Dollar Day As Usual Monday

Most state and U.S. governmental offices, as well as both banks will be closed Monday in observance of Labor Day.

The offices in the city hall will be closed, along with those in the courthouse

However, downtown merchants will remain in business for Dollar Day shopping, and many of their bargains may be found inside this issue of the Leader-News.

School children will also get a holiday, but will be back in classes Tuesday.

THE HEART REFERRED to in this writing is that part of us which thinks, reasons, purposes, believes, understands, etc.

We are responsible for the condition and the use of our heart, and this is the greatest personal repsonsibility with which we are charged.

KEEP THE HEART with all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life

We can be successful in this accomplishment, if we are sincerely interested in being the kind of person who gives the best to life, and who desires the best from life.

A RICH HEART MUST be our aim, and an aim that we pursue with daily diligence. Perhaps, the first consideration for us is the fact that we can be rich in heart; and, with this knowledge, we go to work in the greatest and most rewarding of all human accomplishments

This is one treasure available to all of us, rich and poor alike. Of course, some folk may have more help than others in developing "a rich heart", but, however difficult, all of us can attain a rewarding degree of "a rich heart."

ALL OF US APPRECIATE the value of the richness of one's heart, but, obviously, we are not always as concerned as we can and should be in developing this asset.

Some folks, unfortunately, seem to be unmindful of the great personal profit available to them through heart enrichment. They do not seem to realize that whatever effort such accomplishment demands is more than justified.

Our potentials for such development may differ, but each one of us can make significant and permanent gains in this personally compensating action.

WE ARE BEING busy learning our professions, the techniques of business success, and related information; and we should be

This necessary activity, however, must not be permitted to crowd out the interest in an efford toward enrichment of the heart. Without "a rich heart", there is no hope for a satisfactory life.

"WITHOUT A RICH HEART, wealth is an ugly beggar." -Emerson. Heart enrichment is valuable enough to be given a place of pre-eminence in our life structure.

THE ASSESTS of "a rich heart" are many. One of the most important is kindness in thought, words, and deeds. The attitudes and expressions of longsufferance and forbearance have a prominent place; and genuine humility is always present.

Unselfishness is another essential and is closely related to a sincere interest in the welfare of others. These and related attitudes and expressions are the elements of "a rich heart".

RICHNESS OF HEART enables us to rise above the little and the mean things which seem to plague the lives of those whose hearts are impoverished.

The "rich in heart" have the capacity to reach out and embrace the best of life; to give the best and receive the best

WE HAVE A CHOICE between poverty of heart, which comes from neglect and inferior value systems, and 'richness of heart'' which is the fruit of diligent effort and stedfast adherence to the tried and true principles of the best in human thought and action.

SO MANY TIMES I pray, "Lord, show me the way

It is hard to always know what is best to do for we don't know what tomorrow will bring.

THERE IS AN old adage "Forewarned is forearmed." If we could know what may happen we can be ready for it, but most of the time the important things happen unexpectedly.

We just have to go along doing the best we can day by day, leaving the future to the Lord who can see.

I HAD A FRIEND in California who was blind. She owned a small car and her friend drove it for her. One day they gave me a lift home from the church. When I started to get into the small car I bumped my head on the top. She said, "It is amazing to me how many seeing people get hurt. I never bump my head on a car, no matter how unfamiliar it is.

In fact she seldom bumped into anything. Seeing her at church or a place where she was used to going you could hardly tell she was blind.

TUESDAY we attended the annual there, but many were missing also. Several dear ones have passed on and several were too ill to attend. As usual the Dunn family were there helping make music. Last year their mother was in the audience beaming with pride. This year she is ill with one side paralized. The music was great, so was the rest of the program. The recognizing of the Lamb County Judges-Judge Boone's speech, the memorial program.

SPECIAL recognition should go to young Bill Yohner and his Boy Scout troup. They presented the flags, helped with the meal and then after it was over cleaned the building.

Taking it all in all, I think it was one of our better meetings. The food was great also. A lot of work went into making the meeting a success.

SINCE I AM rambling so in this article I would like to thank the people helping with the "meals on wheels" Twenty women and two men, including my husband. Some help more than one day a week. All of them are dependable and kind.

Spirit Of Labor Day

IT SEEMS as though it was only yesterday that our nation's schools let out for summer vacation, and families began summertime activities.

But now the season's last three-day holiday-Labor Day weekend-is almost upon us, and youngsters have returned to the classroom.

THE GOOD TIMES of the Labor Day weekend for all America mark a time of change. Suddenly the fall season is upon us and the pace quickens. Family attention shifts from plans for play to preparation for work.

Youngsters have traded in their water skis and swim fins for textbooks and pencils, and parents have exchanged SPOT COTTON AND contract prices in Western Region cotton markets rose sharply this week, according to the Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA. Most market activity was centered around contracting and the rain-delayed South Texas harvest.

The bulk of current ginnings in South Texas was being delivered against contracts made earlier in the year.

Growers with available free cotton were hesitant to sell on a rising market. Elsewhere in the region most activity was concerned with contracting. Foreign demand for cotton for forward delivery was particularly strong. Merchants actively sought to contract in most markets at prices sharply higher than a week ago

In Oklahoma and on the Texas Plains most activity was in contracting of the 1973 crop. In Arizona, New Mexico and California demand was good for contracting 1973 crop. In many locations, however, the bulk of the 1973 crop has been committed and interest in contracting 1974 crop increased. Foreign mills showed a good demand for San

YEARS AGO AN economics professor told his class that "Expenses always rise to meet income." Were he to speak today, he might modify the statement to say that expenses always rise to exceed income, whether it be in the household. the schools or other governmental branches.

His original statement is very true, just ask a farmer that is trying to buy a combine, new ones are almost impossible to obtain and used ones have jumped in price. Because of the good price of milo last fall and the excellent price for a bumper crep this year, used combines have jumped in price over last year. Some that were parked last year and were not sold because of what was thought to be a high price and have not been moved in a year have jumped as much as three hundred dollars in price in some instances

VISITING in church Sunday night were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Grusendorf. They had been to see her parents, Mrs. Rowena Richardson and Vina Tugman. Their home is in Plainview

THIS COMMUNITY was addened by the death of Mrs. T. A. Thomas of Morton. They lived in this area for many years, rearing their family here. Funeral services were at Eastside Church of Christ in Morton. The sermon was given by J. V. Davis of Lubbock, former friend of the family. Burial was in the Enochs Cemetery.

was presented.

The Pampa Fine Arts Association is sponsoring the annual Top O' Texas Arts and Crafts Festival, Oct. 13-14, in the Heritage Room of the M. K. Brown Memorial Civic Auditorium in Pampa. An invitation is open to join artists and craftsmen from the Top O' Texas area in offering your paintings and crafts for sale. Demonstrations in booths will be encouraged.

Ben Konis, a well-known artist and teacher from Amarillo will conduct a pastel demonstration in the Heritage Room on the 13th. A painting, "Taos Creek" by Konis, will be presented to the holder of the winning ticket on the 15th.

A gourmet booth will offer a variety of home baked and canned foods for sale. Everyone is invited to participate by bringing their favorite foods to be sold.

The Pampa Garden Club will have a judged flower show during the festival. Also flower arrangements and garden accessories will be attended the 58 performances.

On five other evenings this summer the audience waited patiently for short rains to stop, and the show was able to proceed except for one occasion when only the first act featured. Entertainment will be presented in the M. K. Brown Civic Auditorium, Saturday, Oct. 13, at 8 p.m., by the Pampa High School Drama Department, under the direction of Mrs. Calvin Lacy. An all-star cast will present: "The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail", by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee.

Tickets will be on sale during the Festival and at the door the night of the performance.

Hotel and motel accomodations are available, however, reservations should be made in advance. Free space is available in Pampa's Hobart Street Park for campers and trailers, complete with water, lights and dumping facilities.

For complete information concerning details of the festival, address your communications to: Mrs. Dewey Palmitier, P. O. Box 1820, Pampa, Tex., 79065.

Crisis Discussed For Rotarians nergy John Breedlove, Rotary vestment in plant and

ALA LOVVORN eber of Amarillo, vice at of Southwestern service Co., spoke to id Rotarians Thursn during their regular in the Community and informed his s of current problems ble solutions in the brief business session and introduced Warren Dayton, Littlefield manager of Southwestern Public Service Co., who introduced Weber. Weber began: "We produce the most fragile product in the world. It's used the instant it is created. We can't store it on shelves, put it in packages or president, presided for the build up an inventory. Nothing happens until you flip a switch or push a button or a lever. and we have to be ready right then, that second, whether you ask for a small amount or a big batch. That offers some challenges."

He further advised, "We have to make a larger infor this is the instant creation and use character of our service. It takes an investment of more than 250 thousand dollars per employe at our company. Incidentally, the average investment per employe for all manufacturing industries is 25 thousand dollars-about onetenth our requirement." He emphasized that electricity is the pollution solution and is the energy solution. "If we are going to clean up our lakes and rivers and air, it's going to take more electricity. not less."

equipment to produce a dollar of revenue than any other industry. One of the reasons

He then made a stab at the environmentalists who fight any kind of progress. "The environmentalist is fooling himself-and his fellowman-when he says he wants to go back to the pristine loveliness of the Garden of Eden. He doesn't want to do any such thing! Incidentally, if Adam and Eve threw away the core from that apple, they started the whole pollution thing."

"One of the real pollutants these days is the hot air and double talk that comes out of some people-the big search for whipping boys", he continued.

"It's always the fault of the government, or big business, or utilities-it's 'they' and I've never found out who 'they' is-except that it's somebody else.'

"One of the favorite environmental arguments is that the universe is a web; and, when you puncture it one place, you damage it all over. I submit to you that the economy is a web too; and, when you damage it one place, you damage it all over." "We need to understand that some areas need to be preserved and that others need to be utilized; and then we need to work together to see that we get the best combination of these areas." "Here's our basic philosophy as far as fuel is concerned. You have given us the responsibility of providing your electric service. Fuel is one of the elements necessary to providing that service, and that commits us to finding the fuel

"We recently announced that we would build a coalburning power plant north of Amarillo, and I'll assure you right now that this will be the cleanest coal-burning power plant possible and will meet every environmental stan-new plant which will make possible, with some minor adaptations, the burning of garbage and other solid wastes. It's even possible that wastes from area feedlots might be utilized and changed into energy, and if we do burn it, I'll assure you that your kilowatts will smell just as good as they do now.

He went on to assure that the company will continue to burn gas, because of the fact the cost would be astronomical to make a changeover to any other fuel in the present plants.

"We've had people ask us, 'How come you don't have a nuclear plant?' The answer is that we can't afford one, and there are two reasons why we can't."

"The first is related to service. A nuclear unit should have a generating capability in the range of 750 thousand to 1 million kilowatts. One million kilowatts in one machine would be about half of our present capability and would mean that we'd have to have a spare in case anything happened."

'The second reason is the cost of building a nuclear plant. Our coal-burning plant is going to be expensive compared to the gas-fired plants we have been building. but a nuclear plant would cost twice as much as the coal plant.

In answering the question "will there be enough electric energy?" Weber answered, 'Yes. But, we must use all of the fuels that we have available to us and we must find new ways of using some of them." He spoke of fusion, and the possibility that it will be the power source of the 21st century. "There is more energy available in the hydrogen atoms in 7 1/2 cubic miles of seawater than there is in all the fossil fuels in the world. If you filled the little pail a child takes to the lake with water, you'd have enough hydrogen atoms for the fuel to keep electricity going in your home for a year." In describing fusion, he defined it as "the joining of atoms. A fusion process will control the reaction that takes place in a hydrogen bomb. It requires temperatures in the millions of degrees, so this reaction naturally isn't going to take place in a metal container. The containment will be within a magnetic field. The method is being studied at the University of Texas at Austin. "One of the really exciting things about fusion research is that a spin-off from it could

traveled to Phillips Friday to pick up their second scrimmage win of the pre-season, 4-1. The scrimmage victory, following a 6-1 trouncing of Tahoka the week before, sets a good precedent for the Cats' first game of the season Sept. 7 against the Silverton Owls at Wildcat Stadium. Randy Cook scored on the Cats' first possession. The touchdown from three yards out was set up by a long run by Pat Henderson. On Littlefield's second try, they drove to inside the one-yard line but couldn't push it in. Starting over from their 20, they worked down to the Phillips' 10, where Quarterback Terry Bryson scored on a sprint-out run. Phillips then scored their only touchdown of the night, with their fullback carrying it across from about the 30.

behind Quarterback Kelly Pratt's throwing and the running of Benny Williams and Craig Ratliff. Williams scored from the two. Phillips couldn't move the ball, and Littlefield took over from the 20. Williams scored his second touchdown of the evening from the three to culminate a long drive, and make the final score 4-1.

The JV also scrimmaged Friday. They took on the Amherst varsity at Amherst, and were defeated 3-0.

mcast Of The Texas Department of Agriculture Compiled From John C. White Commissioner

Add Another Three Million ... It's One Hundred Million Above 1972 ..., Fifty-four Per Cent More.

Crop production records in Texas continue to climb. For example, you can add another 3,000,000 bushels or so to the 1973 Texas wheat crop; add 100,000,000 bushels more to the grain sorghum crop; the corn crop in Texas is up 54 per cent this year from a year ago.

Latest estimate now on the wheat crop in Texas is 98,600,000 bushels. This is the second highest ever, Back in 1947-26 years ago-the Texas wheat crop totaled 116,960,000 bushels. Yield this year will be a new all-time record high of 29 bushels per acre.

Texas, the leader in the nation in grain sorghum, is out-doing itself this year in that commodity, Expected production now is forecast at 414,800,000 bushels. This compared with 319,780,000 bushels in 1972.

This year's estimate (it could even go higher) is the largest ever. Yield this year will average 61 bushels per acre, another record high. That means an average of 3,416 pounds per acre. Several reports indicate 5,000 to 6,000 pounds grain sorghum on dryland in Texas this year.

ADD 54 per cent on to the 1973 corn crop compared to 1972, says the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service

Corn production in the state this year is forecast at 60,800,000 bushels. A record per acre average of 95 bushels. per acre is expected for Texas this year, the highest ever,

COTTON crop for Texas this year is expected to reach 4,500,000 bales, which would be the largest crop since 1965. Acres for harvest are estimated at 5,500,000 compared with 5,000,000 acres in 1972. Yield is expected to average 400 pounds per acre, which is only the third time in history when Texas produced that much on a per acre basis

TEXAS also continues to be ahead of the rest of the nation in cattle on feed. The latest report shows that there are 2,302,000 head of cattle and calves on feed in Texas. This is nine per cent above a year ago but one per cent below the number on feed a month ago.

Marketings of fat cattle during July totaled 389,000 head, which is five per cent above July of last year and three per cent above June, which again proves that Texas cattle producers are not holding cattle in spite of the price freeze.

Texas had almost 700,000 more cattle on feed as of August 1 than the second-ranking state, Iowa, Nationwide, the number of cattle and calves on feed in the seven major cattle feeding states totaled 9,122,000 head. This is four per cent less than a month ago but two per cent more than a year ago at this time.

JULY milk production in Texas is up by only one per cent from a year ago, and is one per cent below the previous month, which continues to bear out predictions of lower milk production.

Nationwide, milk production during July is 3.3 per cent less than a year ago. The number of milk cows is also down 2.5 per cent from a year ago the 17th Annual Field Day at the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway are in high gear as the Sept. 13 date approaches. Field Day activities begin at 1 30 p.m. with field tours of research plots. Jim Valliant, research director, will conduct the only field stop planned for the hour-long tour. He will discuss methods of conservation to prolong the life of the High Plains soil and underground water supply. High Plains Research Foundation is a leader in water conservation with probably the most extensive study on artificial water recharge of any agency in the nation. The field tours will be made aboard two flat-bed semitrailer trucks with Foundation staff members serving as tour guides on each truck. They will point out areas of interest and be available to answer questions concerning Foundation operations.

Jack Cloude, High Plains Research Foundation head of publications, said that all Field Day activities were being designed with the visitor's comfort in mind. "We are not prolonging the field tours to keep visitors from spending extensive time in the fields.

"We want our visitors to enjoy themselves and have plenty of time to tour all the facilities and exhibits that will be set up for field Day. "One of the things that will help the visitors will be the large tent area that is being set aside with plenty of tables and chairs to allow a place to get out of the sun. "We'll have plenty of good, cold water available there too," he added

In addition to the field tours, Joe Wright, Foundation agronomist, will conduct brief programs on new crops and small grain crops, including triticale. In addition to the presentation, an exhibit booth with triticale food samples will be set up during Field Day.

Other exhibits will include the increasingly popular equipment area where the latest farm equipment will be on display.

At the end of each field tour, a drawing for $25 savings bonds will be held for those making the tours.

Among areas to be viewed during the field tours will be studies on crop varieties, fertilizer placement studies. different methods of herbicide incorporation, double-row and single-row production techniques and comparisons, castor production and volunteer castor control, various irrigation effects, lake week control, improved corn variety tests, pinto bean tests, experimental herbicide plots and minimum tillage studies. "Everyone is invited to attend the High Plains Research Foundation at anytime, but more especially on Field Day," Cloude noted

Officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock-based cotton producer organization. have strongly commended Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz on his firm stand against government tampering with exports of U.S. farm commodities and submitted to him a position paper giving five reasons why controls on U.S. cotton exports are neither. justified nor desirable.

In a letter to the Secretary Aug. 24 PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson said Butz's position as expressed in public statements 'indicates a clear understanding of the fact that unrestricted exports are undispensable to the market oriented agriculture envisioned by your Administration and long sought by farmers themselves," and "It gives us great pleasure to commend you ...

The PCG statement on cotton exports, developed primarily for use in a Dallas meeting of the National Cotton Council Executive Committee where exports were discussed. termed the PCG stand against export controls on cotton 'irreversible.

The American Textile Manufacturers, Institute, which is advocating a "system of export licensing" for cotton, was responsible for getting the NCC Executive Committee together for discussion.

The producer representative on the committee from the Plains is PCG Board Chairman Donnell Echols of Lamesa, who was unable to attend. At the meeting in his stead was Don Anderson of Crosbyton, a former PCG president.

The five reasons given by PCG for its opposition to any form of export controls are (1) the availability of adequate supplies of cotton to meet world and U.S. requirements, (2) the doubtful effectiveness of export controls as an aid to solving procurement problems of U.S. mills, (3) the necessity for maintaining export markets if U.S. cotton farmers are to maintain productive capacity and continue their contribution to the country's balance of payments problems, (4) the current trend toward increased cotton production and the danger to that trend that would be inherent in export controls, and (5) the fact that "unless there is unwarranted government action to destroy producers confidence in market prices, this upward production trend may well continue."

By the same token, Johnson reasons, government interference with market forces could bring about lower production in 1974, thereby increasing rather than easing the pressure on supplies.

Out of Orbit

WELL IT DOESN'T SOUND LIKE RAIN ON A TIN ROOF TO ME !

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article is one of a series prepared by the Office of Early Childhood Development of the Texas Department of Community Affairs.)

Of utmost concern to most pregnant women today is the question: "Will my baby be healthy?'

Although giving birth is safer for both mothers and babies than ever before because of widespread medical care, many young women come to marriage knowing less about pregnancy and baby care than their grandmothers did.

Many young mothers come from small families and did not help care for younger brothers and sisters. Too, because families move more frequently today, a young mother may find herself miles from the guidance of her own mother and that "dear Aunt who had six Marv" pregnancies before she was

For these reasons, most doctors and maternity clinics give their expectant patients booklets that describe prenatal development.

The early months of pregnancy present the greatest risk for damage from rubella (also called "German" or "three-day" measles). This seemingly mild disease is known to cause blindness, deafness and other abnormalities in unborn children.

Texas now have the authority to require women applying for marriage licenses to show they have been tested for rubella. The purpose of the Babies Need Care Before They're Born are not immune to the disease so they may receive the rubella immunization. Doctors advise pregnant women who are not immune to rubella to avoid contact with anyone who might have the disease since the vaccine cannot be given during pregnancy. Another possible danger to the mother-to-be lies in medications. A general rule is: never take anything -laxatives, tranquilizers, diet pills, baking soda-without talking to the doctor first.

Research has shown that tobacco, alcoholic beverages, and x-rays are safe in small amounts, but large amounts -especially x-rays-could injure the unborn child. Many doctors advise their patients to quit smoking entirely.

"The first good service a mother can perform for her new baby," wrote Dr. Margaret Liley in "Modern Motherhodd," is to "feel as well as possible while she is carrying him."

The expectant mother should eat lean meat. vegetables, fruits, whole wheat bread, eggs, liver and milk products. She should avoid cakes, pastries, soft drinks, candy, pizza, fried foods and other fattening Doctors advise a limited weight gain-about 20 pounds for most women-during the entire pregnancy. A greater gain may mean complications at delivery as well as excess poundage that will be hard to shed once the baby is born. A rule of thumb, wrote Dr. Liley, is "eat for one but drink for two." Increased body fluid and blood (blood volume increases from about eight pints to 12) requires the mother to drink at least six glasses of water per day. Exercise, such as brisk walks, swimming, and golf, will help keep muscles supple-essential if a woman is to recover rapidly after the birth of the child. More strenuous activity depends on the woman and on her doctor's judgment.

Many pregnant women employed outside the home continue working until six or eight weeks before delivery. A job may provide moderate exercise and keep the motherto-be away from the icebox as well as promote her mental well-being.

Studies have shown that pregnant women feel differently about their pregnancies at different times; some women are subject to quick changes of mood, feeling exuberant at one moment and dejected at the next.

The women whose pregnancies are the smoothest emotionally, according to "Prenatal Care" published by the Children's Bureau of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, are the women who:

-learn as much as they can about childbearing and childbirth.

-ask questions when something comes up that they do not understnad, -share their feelings with their husbands. -stick to a good health routine, -have fun, and -follow the advice they get from their doctors.
