C-CA Plans Chartered Bus Trips To The 'Texas' Play

Tours to the play "TEXAS" at Palo Duro Canyon have been arranged again this year by the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

According to Leon Burch, Chamber tour chairman, the first will be June 24. Price per person is $13.75 which include a $3 ticket, a meal in Hereford, and transportation on a charter bus. The tickets may be purchased at the Chamber office in City Hall, 385-4451.

In the play, a wave of singers and dancers sweeps across the stage in the opening of "TEXAS," the musical drama of Panhandle history. This burst of movement and familiar song brings back the sights and sounds of the 1880's.

During a performance, the company of 78 actors and singers reaches into the past to reveal the struggles of the settlers, the strengths of the cowboys, the land love of the Indians; and the burials, politics, business, and celebrations.

Great lights and soaring sound recreate the blazing of a prairie fire, the crash of thunder and the flash of lightning as background for this story of battles against change and dust and drought and storm.

According to Burch, other tours are scheduled for July 22 and August 12. He said the buses would carry 47, and that each tour must have 39. Each tour will leave City Hall at 4 p.m. on the scheduled date.

Chamber Sponsoring One-Day Leadership Seminar

Chances are, you are up to your neck in activities. There's the job of making a living, being involved with your family, and keeping up with the jobs in your church, club, and other organizations. And, the chances are good that you will be asked to accept a position of leadership in one of your organizations. The need for leadership, strong leadership, is expressing itself ever more loudly with each passing year.

The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce believes you will respond to the challenges when asked. And, we believe you will want to perform the tasks of a leader, whether as a committee chairman or president of an organization, in a big league manner.

On Tuesday, June 24th, 1975, the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture will sponsor a one day "Community Leadership Seminar" from 7 to 10 p.m. in the community room of the Lamb County Electric Cooperative. The instructor will be Roy Faubion, 21-year broadcast veteran, and now in the business of leadership development with the Faubion Company of Hereford.

The three-hour session will focus on "Big League Leadership" and will be fast paced and filled to the brim, so be sure to bring a good pen or pencil and notepad for taking notes.

In addition to the night session, earlier in the day from 2 to 4 p.m. in the same meeting room, there will be a shirt sleeve session for those who wish to cover the very basics of leadership. It will be informal and will be only for persons who are enrolled in the night seminar. There is no additional charge for the afternoon session.

Roy Faubion is a past president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and is a founder and the president of the new National Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

The cost per person for the seminar is $10. To enroll contact the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, phone 385-4451.

Police Investigate Stabbings, Thefts, Vandalism

Cuttings and stabbings in northeast Littlefield kept officers busy for a time this weekend.

Early Sunday morning two assault charges stemming from knifing incidents were investigated.

Ular Johnson was jailed in the county jail on a charge of aggravated assault in connection with the serious injuries of Jimmy Earl Williams of Sudan. Kenneth Ray Williams of Sudan was stabbed also.

Johnson is charged with the cutting. Kenneth Ray Williams was admitted to a Littlefield hospital for treatment of cuts on the left hand and upper left cheek into the upper jaw and behind his ear.

The incident occurred about 3:30 a.m. on Griffin Street. Johnson was released Monday on a $2,000 bond.

In an earlier incident at 120 W. Weidel, Barbara Moody, 18, was taken to Medical Arts Hospital for treatment of cuts on the right arm.

On the police offense report, several cases of theft and vandalism were reported. Palmer Gulf Station on the Springlake Highway reported five windows were shot out with a rifle or pistol and one gasoline pump was shot.

Three vehicle windshields were shot out with a .22 pistol at Giles Motors. Ruben Cruz of Amherst reported the theft of a watch and class ring taken while he was swimming at Crescent Swimming Pool.

Darlene Diersing in the 800 block of S. Westside reported the theft of a ladies black clutch purse containing $84 taken from the seat of her car.

Eleven persons were booked at the county jail over the weekend. A Hart Camp man was charged with disturbance and posted a $400 bond. Ular Johnson was charged with aggravated assault. Three aliens were held for authorities. Two Littlefield men were charged with assault, an Earth man with disturbance, and Robert Hogue was charged with carrying a prohibited weapon. Hogue pled not guilty and bond was set at $1,500 by County Judge Bill Angel.

An Amherst man was charged with DWI, appeared before Judge Angel and was fined $300 plus court cost and given 10 days in jail.

Councilmen Face Lengthy Agenda

Among the items on the City Council agenda for tonight are setting a date for public hearing on application for a permit to operate a taxicab service, and consideration of a temporary transfer of taxicab permit held by M. R. Webster.

The council will review city building and utility codes, study the salary and wage plan, discuss community development funds, the sanitation collection system and study various city service changes. Effects of changes in the fire district limits will be discussed also.

Pair Bitten By Pet, Information Needed

Olton authorities are hunting for the owner of either a grown Swift fox or a coyote puppy which bit an Olton child and an adult.

The animal has been caught and penned, but information is needed on whether the animal has had a rabies vaccination. The animal had a chain around its neck.

Persons who know anything about the unusual pet and its owners are asked to contact the Olton City Hall with information as soon as possible. It may save the people who were bitten from taking the painful rabies injections.

Mrs. Viggo Peterson Is 'Ma Pete' To Many

er's Note: Doris Williams at a creative writing class at South College last semester taught by Evans of Lubbock. This is one of the stories she completed while she was in class.

MA PETE works in mysterious ways. Thus a woman of the loss of one child gave birth to hundreds of others.

edications following measles took the life of Mrs. Viggo Peterson's only son, Andrew. He had been the focal point of her life—a long-awaited, special child she never had another.

"A long time I wondered," she said, "I was being disloyal to Andrew and even loving another man. Apathetic, living in a state of denial, I thought no one really loved me."

When this changed after the Petersons moved from Tulsa to Littlefield, Texas, Mrs. Peterson was busy running a creamery business and helping her wife to help him become a resident in their new home town.

She was asked to work with children in the First Baptist Church. Peterson was hesitant. "Soon after," she says, "I was so busy I didn't feel sorry for myself. The hurt slowly eased and hours passed when I didn't think of Andrew."

In the next years were the busiest she ever knew. She worked as Junior High School Superintendent, in GA's Vacation Bible Schools, gave lessons for mothers and brides-to-be, and with children in her home and new babies for unsure young mothers.

Peterson's special name was given to her over thirty-five years ago by her girls, Helen Heathman, and going to call you my other mother any more," Helen said one day. "From now on you are my Ma Pete." The name was such a perfect description of this woman who was ma to so many that soon she was seldom called anything else.

Clinton, Z. T., Troy, and Oleta Byers always came to Sunday School together. Jean and June Jones always were the next to come. "They were such nice children," Ma Pete says, "always smiling and happy." One spring morning when she was kneeling to finish an interest center, she felt small hands cover her eyes and heard quiet giggles. "Surprise," six voices said. Oleta handed her a bouquet of daffodils. She gave each a special hug and adding the flowers to her interest center, told the children how God made flowers bloom just as he helped children to grow. As the others left, June Jones lingered. "You are like a daffodil yourself," she said shyly to Ma Pete. "You make a special sunshine of your own."

GA Camps were always busy with cooking, bed-making, meetings, and walks with the girls. Usually only one other person helped. Ma Pete told the girls what to bring. No one wanted to bring eggs. They always said, "We don't like them," but each morning she scrambled huge pans full and they were all eaten.

"Somehow they tasted better the way you cooked them," Maxine Lindley said. "The first person we saw each morning was you standing over that old camp stove stirring one pan and then the other. I think you must have seasoned those eggs with love. The last sound we heard at night was your voice telling us ways we could do mission work, and we learned to feel a kinship with far-away children."

For a few years men of the Church were so busy none were available to work with RA's. Ma Pete and her friend, Maude Street, saw a need and refused to let the boys go leaderless. Many boys came. "While we ate your chili scramble (chili and scrambled eggs) or your good stew, and generally made pests of ourselves," John Street says, "we had our spiritual eyes opened." John became a Baptist minister and many others of these young men are filling places of leadership in their respective churches. They all give Ma Pete credit for helping them to find a place for God in their lives as she found a place for them in hers.

While she worked on special handicrafts, furnished ice cream bars and made Bible characters come alive for children in the First Baptist Church, Mrs. Peterson also made plans for her annual Black Vacation Bible School. "I would stand on the stage in their Community Building and look down into a sea of dark smiling faces," she says. "I loved the singing in their schools. It was so spontaneous—especially 'Satisfied with Jesus' which they always sang while one small boy played the piano. They listened so attentively to the stories and came back day after day. Time was short so I didn't get to know many intimately."

"I would tell them to always speak to me when they saw me on the street because I would remember them. One day a young couple stopped to introduce me to their four year old son. I guess you must be one of my grandchildren," I said.

He walked over to a small black friend and said, "That's my Grandmother." His friend rolled his eyes in disbelief and almost shouted, "That white lady!"

Often young M. B. Welborn watched coffee being tied in a rag and then boiled in a large pot in the church kitchen. During a visit to Dallas, he and his mother passed a hardware store. M. B. pulled his mother inside pointing to a large coffee pot in the window. "Ma Pete has to have that," she said. "Then she won't have to make coffee in that old stew pot any more." He brought the coffee pot back to Littlefield and specified that it be kept in the church kitchen for Ma Pete's use.

Frank Rodgers and his family bought the house next door to Mrs. Peterson. Their daughter, Frances Louise, like hundreds of others, adopted Mrs. Peterson as her special friend. Many times as she came in the front door, the trail of brown sugar and dry oatmeal from the kitchen let her know that Frances Louise and Andy McGeehee had been over for a visit while she was away. "For years," she says, "I looked for that trail and then chided myself as I realized they had grown too large to need their special treats."

Marguerite Heathman came to Littlefield as a bride and not many months later, her young husband, Charles, was sent overseas. He was still there when their son was born. Reared in a children's home, she knew nothing about babies. Ma Pete visited her in the hospital each morning and on the day she was to go home, found her in tears. "Would you go home with me," Marguerite asked? "I need you. I'm afraid to bathe Charlie and I don't know how to care for him." Lovingly teaching Marguerite to care for her son, she gave the young mother confidence and the self-assurance she lacked.

Almost forty years of needing and being needed by children have passed since Ma Pete's moved to Littlefield. Children still leave trails of special treats through her house and benefit from her loving counsel. Her back is not as straight, her step not quite as brisk, her hair no longer black, but the loving pat and special smile she has for "her" children never changes.

She will move again one day. For although the passing years weigh lightly on her spirit and she remains young in heart, there are times when she thinks longingly of the little boy who waits for her. At last, Andrew too will have his Ma Pete.

MA PETE or Mrs. Viggo Peterson gives Melanie Byers one of her special pats she reserves for all her little friends. Mrs. Peterson has been a Littlefield resident for 40 years and is "Ma Pete" to hundreds of Littlefield residents.

CLIPS & TIPS

By JOELLA LOVVORN

HERE'S A FEATURE written by Dr. J. E. Peavy, director of the Texas Department of Health, on an important subject coming up for many of us. Once we take the time and pains to put up food from our gardens, let's be sure it's safe.

THERE'S A LOT GOING for the individuals who can their own food—they save money, use up the bountiful produce from their home gardens and have tasty, nutritious food the year round.

But, says the State Health Department, home canning can be dangerous—even lethal—unless proven canning techniques and recipes are followed to the letter.

With an upswing in the amount of home canning and freezing done in Texas, State Health Department officials are concerned about the possibility of food contamination, especially botulism.

BOTULISM is caused by a deadly poison—a toxin—produced by a germ found abundantly in the soil. This germ is one of the spore-forming bacteria and is very resistant to normal heat and cold. It can grow without air, which makes it a sinister threat in home canning.

While the germ itself doesn't cause illness, the toxin it produces can be fatal to man. These bacteria are found nearly everywhere, and it's probable that nearly everyone has eaten them many times in their safe, inactive form on fresh food.

But, if these bacteria remain alive through the canning process and continue to live in an oxygen-free state—in a sealed airtight jar or can—they will manufacture the botulism toxin as a product of their metabolism.

THAT'S WHY in canning it is so important to properly process food so that the food is cooked long enough and at a temperature high enough to kill the bacteria.

Three conditions are necessary for the botulism bacteria to grow. It must have an anaerobic environment (oxygen-free), have lots of moisture and have low acid. It's easy to see how a sealed jar could provide such an atmosphere.

Luckily, despite all the home canning done in Texas and the United States, the number of reported botulism cases are few in number. How many people are made ill by improperly processed food due to other germs is anybody's guess.

TWENTY OUTBREAKS of foodborne botulism, involving 30 cases, were reported to the federal Center for Disease Control during 1974. There were seven deaths. In addition, five cases of wound botulism—caused by the bacteria getting into a wound—were reported.

Texas had only one of those 24 food cases—caused by home-canned chowchow. And, it had one case of wound botulism.

Of the 24 cases of food botulism, the contaminated product was known in 16 cases. Of these, 15 were due to home canned products and one to a commercially canned beef stew.

THE 1974 DATA, reports the Center for Disease Control, represents the largest number of foodborne botulism outbreaks reported by state health departments since 1935. This increase, says the CDC, probably reflects an increase in home canning and emphasizes the need for educating home canners in proper home canning methods.

Such information, says J. M. Doughty Jr., director of the State Health Department's Food and Drug Division, is readily available. It can be obtained from the United States Department of Agriculture, from Home Demonstration agents, from reliable cookbooks, and handbooks provided by manufacturers of canning equipment. Information also may be available at your local library.

Using the proper equipment and following recipes to the letter is extremely important. Sometimes it may be the proportions of sugar, vinegar or lemon juice which provide protection against the growth of harmful bacteria. Use jars and sealing rings designed for home canning, and follow the manufacturer's instructions on sealing the jars.

IF YOU'RE IN DOUBT about any foodstuffs which you've just opened, don't be foolhardy enough to taste it. With botulism, there may be no odd taste or odor.

But tasting the product—or even taking a long whiff of it—could be your downfall if botulism is concerned. "If in doubt, throw it out!" is the recommendation of the State Health Department.

There's another strong point in favor of the home canner, says Doughty. Boiling the food for a sufficient length of time before eating will kill the toxin. "The toxin is easily destroyed by boiling," he said. All home canned products should be boiled vigorously for three minutes with thorough stirring before serving.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

No Breakdown

WE ARE BEING TESTED constantly, because this is one aspect of living.

The testing is not all the same, and the response is not all the same; however, most of us have great capacity for responding with the strength, dignity, and personal success essential to a very satisfactory life.

WE MAY WAVER, now and then, under the testing to which we will be subjected. We will do better in maintaining our balance in some situations than we do in others; however, this is to be expected.

Our degree of success in bearing-up will be determined by how well we have structured our personal life. We have great possibility for being highly successful in making this structure strong and enduring.

OUR PERSONAL life structure can be continuously and progressively strengthened and improved. We can increase in wisdom, understanding, patience, fortitude, knowledge and all of the other positive and constructive traits which make us strong to cope with the testings which must come.

These can be handled so we can profit from them, and this we must do.

"NO BREAKDOWN" must be our aim. We do have a choice between "breakdown" and "bearing-up". Some people cannot seem to stand up to the difficulties, many of which are common to all of us.

Of course, it may be that all of us have a breaking point; we are human, and do have limitations; however, we do have great potential for conditioning ourselves, and preparing ourselves for strengthening ourselves.

IT IS IMPORTANT, as a living experience, that we be equipping ourselves for rather than neglecting our extent of being victimized; the possibility of a "breakdown".

Overloading ourselves is more common cause of breakdown but there is no reason overloading. We may do this too much of the difficulties actually exist, but the more common is what we call "borrowing" and this is one thing that we must do. It is so completely unjustified. "NEVER BORROW TROUBLE" evil is not to come, it is usually much waste; if it is to come, all your strength to meet it wards.

LIVING CAN BE, and often difficult; however, we can "breaking down" only in difficulties.

The burdens which have to break us are usually of duration, and can be handled efficiently; unless we have failed ourselves for living above the down level.

MUCH OF THE "BREAKDOWN" its varying degrees, is unnecessary. If it happens, it is usually because we do not use the means available to us.

WE CAN EQUIP OURSELVES challenges and responsibilities that there will be "no breakdown".

THREE CHEERS FOR the "Squares"! They're becoming an elite group. Or, perhaps it just seems so because of scarcity.

They're the ones that don't mind being different. They have their set of principles, and stick to them. They're the ones that can take the ridicule of their peers, and grin in return. They go quietly about attending to their own business. Honesty is their guideline.

THEY'RE CHARACTERIZED by modesty, politeness, respect for their elders, and the laws of the land. They believe promises are to be kept. They don't feel the need for alcohol or dope. They can carry on a conversation without using profanity or vulgar expressions. They think sex should be reserved for marriage and that marriages should last a lifetime. They don't even mind being called Christian, and aren't embarrassed to be seen in church. They face up to their obligations.

They are what they are because they've made themselves that way. They haven't had many examples to draw from, nor pattern after. (The mod-group, as you know, always follow crowd. That's the easy way. Surprisingly enough, we find a number of them among the young and the brave ones.

SO?— WHEN SOMEONE calls "Square" feel complimented, the model the world will look to for future for planning the art of life.

HEY, YOU GUYS about got a wheat cut? I'm about ready to wishin' for rain again.

LOOKS LIKE ME and ole Tom Landry (the Dallas Cowboy coach) have the same problems in coaching this year. Seems he has had one of his worse seasons in his career and it is for sure that this year has been the absolute worse season for me.

In basketball, both boys and girls, the season was terrible, not that the talent was bad, it was that we just couldn't get things together. But one thing that was accomplished was the harmony enjoyed in good sportsmanship as well as teamwork and patience.

In baseball, I've tried my second year in the Pee Wee League helping as an assistant coach and at present our season is not going so well, but the kids are shaping up and have had their last few games gone down the drain by some wise guy who comes in and scored to give the other team a win by a single run. Look out you other teams, the season is not over yet.

Even this group of boys do take defeat in a good frame of mind, that is more than can be said about some of the parents or spectators that harass the players from the stands. Especially when they come up to bat.

You can expect this type of harassment when the older boys play, but it is difficult for a preschooler or first or second grader to concentrate on baseball when there are a lot of spectators yelling at him when he comes up to bat.

Oh well, guess I'm looking for an excuse to cover up defeat but defeat isn't all bad especially when you know of some great coaches that are having the same problem too.

One consolation is that you are with the professionals by having 10 teams, the only difference is that draw the $100,000.

NOTICED CONGRESS IS taking C.I.A. over the coals about actions that they have supposed to taken against some of the leaders other countries. I just can't believe assassination is in their plans. I suppose to be a christian country murder is quite contrary to the law of God and man.

Maybe some people don't come assassination the same as murder by my books it is. I hope that the vestigation committee finds the real false.

ONE REASON SMALL towns rural areas are freer of crime than is because it's easier for parents neighbors to keep a caring eye on and your children.

ALPHABET SOUP

Things are stirrin' around our nation Bicentennial-wise and soon the celebration of the nation's 200th birthday should burst forth in full bloom.

But we hope in all the hullabaloo during the next few months that people do not forget the one central theme that brought about the American Revolution: taxation.

And perhaps when the fanfare is over, people will be a little more aware of just how much in common they have nowadays with those people of 200 years ago.

Farmers and merchants enjoyed a healthy, seldom-seen freedom for 150 years before the American Revolution. Times were good and Yankee Clippers were taking the harvest to the colonies and trading it around the world for sugar, silver, gold, spices, molasses, rum and slaves.

And in a relative short period of time, history-wise, this nation developed the wealthiest middle class with the highest standard of living in the world... and the people enjoyed it and loved it.

But following the French-Indian war the taxation by the mother country of Britain changed. It changed from taxation designed to restrict the American colonies to one of farming and merchantmen to one designed to raise revenues.

And the trouble started!

Englishmen looked at the wealth of the people in the colonies and decided to start taking a bigger slice off the top... and the colonists hit the ceiling. The worst pill to swallow for the colonists was the fact that Parliament kept passing more legislation calling for more taxes yet the colonists had no representatives serving in Parliament. And the famous cry: "Taxation without representation is tyranny" developed.

Eventually the yoke of taxation became so heavy that the American Revolution was born.

And from the birth of the Republic of 1776, the nation fared rather well for 160 years... things haven't gone so well of late.

Perhaps the real reason that the American people are again feeling the burden of their government is the fact that once again we have taxation and restriction without representation.

We have moved from taxes and restrictions passed by our elected lawmakers to taxes and restrictions by bureau edict.

We're no longer ruled and taxed by elected representative in the White House or in Congress but by civil servants answerable to no one but their own code of empire building.

Take a look at the alphabet soup mixture that runs our lives: Environmental Protection Agency edicts have the same effect as laws passed by Congress; a ruling by the Internal Revenue Service is the same as law; the Department of Labor administers us all.

The FCC, the FPC, the ICC, the FAA, the ASC, and others add infinitum, and nauseum control every facet of our lives and our pocketbooks.

And yet we never have the opportunity to approve or reject any of these people who rule these bureaus.

Government takes 42 cents out of every dollar earned nowadays.

Maybe after 200 years of piling law upon top of law, edict upon top of edict, bureau upon top of bureau, it is high time that the American people throw off their traditional role of sheep, and reassert the beliefs of their forefathers, and place the freedom of the individual first.

Now, as then, government should be a servant, not a master, of the people.

Olton Police Chief, Night Patrolman Called On Carpet

Olton Police Chief Glen "Bun" Combest and the Olton night patrolman David Dalton came under fire of the Olton City Council at their regular meeting Tuesday night.

According to the Olton Enterprise Councilman Raymond Powers and Councilwoman Billie Norfleet told other council members they felt the police department wasn't performing its duties. They cited examples of Dalton leaving the city limits for personal reasons, and charged that Combest flatly refused to learn to run the teletype and didn't check on the night patrol to see that he was doing his job.

After calling in Combest then Dalton, the police chief finally agreed to learn to operate the teletype after the council refused to hire a dispatcher, teletype operator and filing clerk requested by Combest.

Dalton is to learn to operate the teletype, too, and is to make a log of activities.

BEAR YE ONE ANOTHER'S BURDENS

The human instinct is to escape from trouble, the divine characteristic is to want to share it.

Thus, when the apostle was led to write, "Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ," he was only saying something which was already known.

In Jocelyn Gibbs' book, Light on C.S. Lewis, this incident is recorded. Lewis was sitting with a friend who had come to comfort him concerning the imminent death of Lewis' wife who was dying with cancer.

Lewis said, "I never expected to have in my sixties the happiness that passed me by in my twenties." He then told how, after earnest prayer, God had allowed him to accept his wife's pain. "You mean," his friend asked, "that the pain left her body and that you felt it in yours?" "That's exactly what I mean," Mr. Lewis said. "In my legs, it was crippling, but it relieved hers."

That beautiful story gives Christ's saying "Blessed are the merciful," a new meaning. Mystically, but actually, we can draw from someone else the sorrow, hurt and pain they bear, delivering them to have a happy heart while we bear away their suffering in our hearts and bodies alone.

Remember, "He took our infirmities and bore our diseases." (Isaiah 53:4). Read it!

—Paul M. Stevens

Thoughts
From The Living Bible

The Lord says, People who never before inquired about me are now seeking me out. Nations who never before searched for me are finding me. But my own people—though I have been spreading out my arms to welcome them all day long—have rebelled; they follow their own evil paths and thoughts. All day long they insult me to my face by worshipping idols in many gardens and burning incense on the rooftops of their homes.

To me, nothing tastes better than fine tobacco. But I don't smoke.

To millions of Americans, the good taste of tobacco doesn't always come from smoking. It also comes from tasting. From placing a pinch of tobacco between cheek and gum, and savoring it. And yet, to millions of others, this age-old tobacco pleasure is still a mystery. Possibly because they've never tried it. Or because, as is true, the use of "smokeless" tobacco is an art, and takes practice.

A pinch in a pouch. So, to make it easier, we've made it different. We've made Good Luck. A whole new way to enjoy tobacco.

Good Luck is a pinch of choice "tasting" tobaccos, in a neat little pouch. And the pouch is what makes it different. You place Good Luck, pouch and all, between your cheek and gum. Then, as it rests there, the pouch works like a tea bag. To let tobacco flavor out, while the tobacco stays in.

Nobody knows. Naturally any form of "tasting" tobacco takes a little getting used to. But with Good Luck, it's easier because it holds the tobacco all in one place. It sits close and no one knows it's there, but you. Also, each pouch comes properly prepared so you always get the right amount.

Sealed in foil. To keep the tobacco fresh and moist, each Good Luck pouch is sealed in foil. That also keeps it from getting into your pocket.

And because you don't smoke Good Luck, it's perfectly welcome in places where smoking isn't. In a courtroom, on a bus, or near inflammables.

And unlike a cigarette or a pipe, Good Luck won't tie up your hands. You enjoy its tobacco flavor no matter what you're doing.

Rich tobacco tradition. Now you're acquainted with Good Luck's little pouch. But what about the tobacco that comes inside?

Well, it's made by United States Tobacco Company whose other tobaccos, without a pouch, have been enjoyed by over 6 million Americans. And Good Luck is part of that tradition. Only the pouch makes it easier to use.

For people like you. But no matter how you enjoy tobacco (or even if you don't), think Good Luck will add pleasure. Try it. We put Good Luck in a pouch for people like you.

Try Good Luck, a whole new way to enjoy tobacco.
