

Bicentennial plans being finalized

Besides the long list of events, May 1 is also voting day for the Democratic and Republican primaries, when voters express their views on precinct, county, district, senatorial and presidential candidates.

Bicentennial Celebration activities get underway Thursday night, April 29, when the Littlefield Circle Eight Square Dance Club schedules one of the biggest square dances ever in the County Ag and Community Building. Expected in town that night will be square dancers from throughout West Texas.

Friday, artists from a wide area will display their paintings, sculptures, arts and crafts in a special showing and sale in the Community Building.

Museum pieces are being shown in windows of downtown businesses, depicting early life in the county and area.

A carnival atmosphere will be featured downtown, when booths are set up and kiddie rides are available.

All day Saturday, various activities will offer something for everyone.

All members of the Littlefield bands and the Band Boosters will be serving their annual barbecue meals for noon and evening in Laguna Park at the Community Center, and the different bands will be playing the entertainment.

The bands will also lead the giant parade down Phelps Avenue at 2:30 Saturday.

Littlefield's Bicentennial Parade

plans are approaching the deadline according to parade co-chairpersons, Susan Head and Herschel Randall.

Several floats and entries for the cash prizes have registered and some are still in the planning stage. The committee requests that all float and marching units check with either Mrs. Head at 385-6077 or Randall at 385-4437 by Monday, April 26.

Parade placements will be scheduled at a final meeting Tuesday.

All participants are requested to be at the assembly location and in their respective positions by 2:15 p.m. Saturday, May 1, and the parade will step out promptly at 2:30.

City facing charges of discrimination

Littlefield's City Council met for an emergency closed session Wednesday noon to discuss personnel, and when they opened the meeting to the public, the council voted to enter into settlement discussions with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission concerning the charge of sex discrimination filed by Mrs. Carolyn Boleyn against the city of Littlefield for failure to hire her for the position of police officer.

The city was served with the charges on Feb. 3.

Mrs. Boleyn had served as dispatcher for the police department 1 1/2 years. She said the department needed three officers when she applied for the job, and she felt that with her experience in the department as dispatcher, she was qualified for one of the positions.

She said she still wants the job, although she has another at present.

Daylight Time returns today

Are you up with the times this morning?

Daylight Saving Time made its return at 2 a.m. today, and if you didn't move the hands on your clocks and watches forward an hour before you retired last night, you're already an hour late this morning.

DST will continue through the last Sunday in October.

"I COUNT NONE BUT SUNNY HOURS"...and they'll be Standard Time too! Although Daylight Saving Time went into effect at 2 o'clock this morning, this dial will still be pointing to 2 o'clock this afternoon, when it's actually 3 by the electric clock and your wrist watch. [Staff Photo]

Little Dribblers defeated

Littlefield's Major League All-Stars were eliminated from the Little Dribblers' National Tournament Thursday in Huntsville.

The double elimination tournament featured the top six teams in the nation. Littlefield dropped the opening game Wednesday to Louisiana 33-24 and fell to New Baden, Ill. Thursday by a 45-34 count.

In the first game against Louisiana, the Wildcats trailed 8-7 after the first period, but held an 11-10 halftime advantage. Louisiana spurred to a 21-16 lead after three stanzas.

Cold shooting from the floor ruined

Littlefield's chances, but the Wildcat defense sparked again.

Louisiana won the game at the free

Tuesday last day to vote absentee

Tuesday is the final day for absentee voting for the May 1 primary elections.

registration certificate by the time of the election.

Secretary of State Mark White suggests that voters be allowed to vote even if they say they have lost, mislaid, or left their new blue voter registration certificate at home, or whether or not their certificates show the right precinct.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY

Polling places throughout the county will open at 7 p.m. and close at 7 p.m. Saturday, May 1.

A complete list of the polling places, precinct chairmen, election judges, etc. for the Democratic Primary is printed in the "Letters to the Editor" column on page 2.

When you go vote in the Saturday, May 1, Primary, take the light blue voter registration card you received in the mail earlier this year (if you have it). It does not matter whether or not you filled it out and returned it.

If you did not receive a light blue voter registration certificate, but have an old certificate with an effective date after Oct. 31, 1972, or if you have voted in a primary or general election in 1974, this is strong evidence that you are a qualified voter, and you should be allowed to vote.

In order to process voters who have not received new certificates, but who should be allowed to vote, you simply sign a form called an "affidavit of failure to receive current registration certificate."

REPUBLICAN PRIMARY

The Republican Primary for Republican voters throughout Lamb County will be conducted in Littlefield's City Hall from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. May 1.

Persons wishing to cast ballots for President Gerald Ford or Ronald Reagan, must vote in the Republican Primary, because their names will not be included on the Democratic ballot.

Bill Braden of Earth will serve as Republican election judge, and election clerks will be Calvin Price and Pat Downs.

If questions arise that local election clerks cannot answer, there is a toll free number to the secretary of state's office which can be called on May 1.

VOTING REGISTRATION

The secretary of state suggests that voters be permitted to vote in the Saturday, May 1, primary election if they think they are qualified, whether or not they received a new blue

Turn Row COMMENTS

By EMIL MACHA

HERE ARE A FEW humorous crime developments that have happened around the nation.
Thought I'd pass them on to you.

CRIME
GRAND RAPIDS—Police may call it the hungry burglar caper. Police said before taking a watch and $5, a thief stopped to take or eat half a carrot cake, a melon and part of a candy bar. (Grand Rapids Press, Mich.)

ROCKLAND, ME.—"It was a 5-cent crime and deserved a 5-cent fine," Dist. Judge Paul A. MacDonald said. He slapped the nickel penalty on James V. Peters, 20, after the youth pleaded guilty Monday to littering a street with a soda bottle cap. The judge said the police went too far in bringing such a case to court. (Portland Press)

AUCKLAND, NEW ZEALAND—A newspaper photographer's motorcycle was stolen while he was covering a story on motorcycle thefts, the police said. (New Zealand Herald)

A ROCKLAND man has been fined $25 for watching television while driving on Union Street. Police said Frank A. Hallowell, 59, had a battery-operated television set on the hood of his car. He was charged in District Court here with "unlawfully having within view a television broadcast while operating a motor vehicle." (Sioux Falls Argus Leader)

A PARCEL of oranges left for a prisoner at the Maze jail, near Lisburn, Co. Antrim, smelled more than fruity. Wardens found the oranges were full of whiskey.

PHOENIX, ARIZ.—During the last six months, 133 people have been arrested and five jailed for failing to return overdue books or pay library fines. Librarian R. W. Henderson managed to get a law passed in 1962 which made book stealing a criminal offense punishable by six months in jail. He wanted then to cut down on $22,000 in unpaid charges. It seems to have worked. Phoenix recently topped a list of U.S. cities with a 99.5 percent response to overdue book notices. With 2 million books in circulation, only 421 people failed to answer one of four notices sent to them in 1971-72. (Phoenix Republic)

SAO PAULO, BRAZIL A convict convicted prison officials he had a terrible contagion and was taken to a hospital. His guards let him go to the bathroom alone. He lowered himself out of the bathroom window with a rope and escaped. The guards waited outside the toilet for three hours, then became suspicious and investigated. (O Estado De Sao Paulo)

TIMOTHY R. SOWELL, 25, of Fresno, Calif., got a free ride to jail because he forgot to fasten his seat belt. Police reported that Sowell grabbed a purse from a woman at a shopping center and jumped into a waiting car. As the car sped away, the door opened and Sowell—still holding the purse—fell to the pavement. Police said Sowell had not buckled his seat belt.

WALLA WALLA, WASH.—Bicycles are continuing to win wider acceptance, apparently even among thieves. Police report that a pedaling purse snatcher circled a young woman several times before he snatched her purse and rode away. (Tacoma News Tribune)

IN MILANO two hoodlums held up a newspaper reporter, took his watch, his wallet and his press pass and then telephoned the story to his managing editor.

Schools to close early next Friday

Littlefield schools will be turning out early Friday, April 30, in honor of the Bicentennial Celebration.
All school buses will run at 2 p.m. that day.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE Self-management

THE GREATEST personal accomplishment is in successful "self-management". If we do not learn to manage ourselves well, it doesn't make much difference what else we accomplish.

If we fail in this, we will be our failure, and our failure is likely to be overwhelming.

We see the accuracy of these conclusions repeatedly. We may be able to see this in our own personal life pattern; regardless, we can surely recognize the importance of "self-management".

IN ALL RECORDED wisdom, there is a strong emphasis given to the importance of developing skill in learning to "handle one's self". This encouragement and instruction are found throughout both Divine and secular writing.

WE MUST BE CAREFUL not to keep putting ourselves in situations which make effective "self-management" impossible.

We do have some limitations, and this means that we must, by accepting them, protect ourselves by avoiding the impossible situations. We owe ourselves an even break, and it is foolish to deliberately enter into a life condition which makes effective management of ourselves impossible.

UNREALISTIC expectations will make the wise handling of one's self unattainable; because such expectations create a life posture in which the whole perspective is false.

If we try to live with unjustified expectations, we will be kept off-balance in our thinking; our planning; and our actions. When this occurs, wise "self-management" is our reach.

"SELF-MANAGEMENT" fullness, includes self-control, not exactly the same. It is self-wise handling of one's own defenses against defeat; the education of good judgment and sense; and the fullness of thinking applied.

"THE COMMAND" of the greatest empire a man can unto, and consequently, to be to our own passions (to our changing moods) is the most slavery." Anon.

WE MUST CONDITION in all of the best ways, to "self-management". Since we about what to expect, we can the mind for the wisest response.

If we wish, we can see possibilities and the probable our plans, and our endearing mental posture must be a regardless of changing surroundings; including the downs of living.

A GOOD SELF-IMAGE is to successful "self-management" must be the kind of people we and appreciate, so we can wholesome and justified self.

This will not be self-conceit, exaggerated sense of self-importance, but this "good" self-image is for one's personal effectiveness.

WE MUST BE TRUE because this accomplishment is in successful "self-management"

Anton Study Club hears about Girlstown

ANTON—Mrs. Bill Davis of Lubbock, state Girlstown chairman for the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, was guest speaker for the Anton Study Club meeting Monday night in the home of Mrs. Jerry Biffle. She discussed the major projects at Girlstown which had been sponsored by Caprock District. The first major project was the "Avenue of Opportunity" which has provided honey locust trees on either side of the driveway from the highway. During the administration of Mrs. Johnson, Morton, Caprock District provided 200-place settings of tableware and 100-place settings of china. Various clubs in the district paid for 73 gas lights to provide outdoor lighting for the campus area. Also provided were sidewalks around the campus area through a memorial by three sisters. That year Caprock District won a special award from the Governor for beautification. Last Caprock administration paid for the panelling and drapes to redecorate the chapel and dining room and tile for the dining room. The current administration has raised $10,767.90 for an Educational Fund from which the interest will be used to help defray the cost of anything the girls need to attend school. This year there are three seniors, and next year there will be nine. Mrs. Davis said, "We will need extra help to pay the school expenses for these nine seniors. Just imagine, they have just received their senior rings which cost $70 a piece!" She continued, "Girlstown is not state supported. It is a haven for small and young girls who are without a home. Some 1,300 girls who have called Girlstown their home and less than 3 percent have failed to make responsible citizens in the past 37 years." Mrs. Davis recommended the use of memorials and remembrances of cash gifts to Girlstown for friends and relatives. A card will be sent to the person memorialized. Allen Cooper, son of the director of Girlstown, Marshall Cooper, showed slides of the three Girlstown locations—Whiteface, Borger, and Austin.

Political ad paid for by friends of Ruth Forbis Kirby, Box 888, Littlefield, Tex.

Dear Friends,

I want to make this final statement before the May 1st Primary. I feel everyone in Lamb County knows me as a person willing to work for, and with the people. It is difficult to state any accomplishments I have made in office, since I have not as yet had the privilege of showing you what I can do as your commissioner. It takes all the commissioners and the people together to make good things happen in our community. Let me show you that I am a person willing to work with the people, all of the time, with sincerity. Let's work together and expand the works of our precinct and county. Give me a chance to show you what I can do as your commissioner. I ask for your support May 1st.

Thank you,

Vet benefits to expire on May 31

Education benefits will be expiring on May 31, for many veterans who served in the Armed Forces between January 31, 1955, and May 31, 1966, according to Jack Coker, Waco Veterans Administration Regional Office Director.

"Veterans in this category who will be continuing their education should be seeking alternate educational financial assistance," said Coker.

HEW Office of Education, Department of Labor, and state agencies have numerous financial assistance programs available.

"School financial aid offices are also a good source of information on available assistance," Coker stated. HEW has Basic Educational Opportunity Grants, Higher Education Act Insured Loans, and National Direct Student Loans. The Department of Labor has the CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) program and the State of Texas has the Vocational Rehabilitation Program and the Hazlewood Act.

Information may be obtained from any VA office, Veterans Representatives on Campus, veterans service organizations, veterans county service officers, or school financial assistance offices.

Trouble shooting team to compete at state

Two students at Littlefield High School are going looking for trouble and they will find plenty of it in the State Championship Plymouth Trouble Shooting contest May 13, at Austin.

Greg Bell, 18 and Doug McDonald, 18, will represent their school in the event, according to Sid Landers, auto shop instructor.

They won the right to compete after being selected as outstanding students by their instructor and then scoring high grades in a written examination through which prospective teams qualify for Trouble Shooting Contests.

The Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest, often called the "Olympic Games of the auto industry" will bring together the top auto mechanics students of the state in a mechanical competition offering generous rewards for the victors.

The Trouble Shooting Contest is sponsored by Garland Motor Co.

Each year, Plymouth dealers in cooperation with more than 2,200 schools sponsor the Trouble Shooting contest to encourage mechanically talented students to continue their education and seek jobs in the automotive field.

Teams compete first on a state level, with the winners continuing on to the National Finals at Chicago June 28, 29, and 30.

Teams consist of two students, who are assigned a car in which a series of malfunctions have been deliberately placed. Teams race the clock and each other to correct all the malfunctions and restore the car to perfect running order.

In the past, direct benefits of the Trouble Shooting Contest have included college scholarships for national winners, and the placement of more than half of the participating students in full or part-time jobs as auto mechanics, active support for the technical education programs in the public schools, a supply source of qualified apprentice technicians for automobile dealers, and values for the car-driving public in terms of higher-quality mechanical repair work.

Income Tax mistakes can be corrected

Consumers may discover a mistake made on this year's or last year's tax return.

Don't panic, Mrs. Dorothy Powell, County Extension Agent, says.

A tax return can be amended. And two factors determine how long consumers have to correct their mistake. It can be done anytime up to three years from the time the tax was originally filed or required to be filed—or up to two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever time comes later, she explained.

The Internal Revenue Service computer checks every tax return for mathematical errors and incomplete essential information, but it's impossible for them to spot causes of excessive or insufficient tax payments unless the return is checked more closely, she said.

Two methods are accepted for correcting tax return mistakes. The simpler way is to use a special IRS form, 1040X-Amended U.S. Individual Tax Return.

If you want to take the time to completely re-do your entire tax return, the regular 1040 form can be used, but be sure to plainly mark it 'AMENDED.' An amended return doesn't automatically call for an in-depth audit. But it could be randomly selected for audit, she added.

Consumers can save time, money and unnecessary worry by carefully checking the return before mailing it and by amending it immediately if they discover an income or deduction that was overlooked. Also, remember that amended returns are allowed only to correct mistakes—not to give a second chance to use an alternate method for computing lower tax expenses, she said.

PREVENT PAIN

The earlier someone with arthritis symptoms sees a qualified doctor and starts proper treatment, the better the chance of preventing pain and disability, says a report from the West Texas Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation.

Tourist industry is big in Texas

Statewide participants in the Texas visitor industry are whistling a happy tune these days. It's entitled "1975 Was a Very Good Year!"

By all previous standards, last year's sun, fun and vacation business went through the ceiling, shattering all previous records for total visitors, length of stay and, most important, expenditures by travelers from out of state.

The cheerful details are contained in the state's annual Texas Visitors Industry Report released today by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. Their tallies, which they've been conducting since 1947, show an all-time high of 21,819,000 out-of-state visitors in 1975 who spent $3.5 billion in Texas.

The Department points out that the number of such visitors is actually some 80 percent greater than the number of Texas residents and represents the largest numerical increase in visitors in a single year since they started counting out-of-state license plates almost 30 years ago.

Rebounding from uncertainties of the oil embargo that cast a pall of gloom over the tourist industry, highway travelers surged back into Texas in unprecedented numbers, topping their previous year's volume by 14.2 percent.

Driving station wagons, pickup campers and herds of recreational vehicles, over 18 million visitors, two million more than in 1974, fanned out over the Lone Star State.

The average auto traveler drove 1,213 miles while in Texas, somewhat more than during the previous year but still fewer miles than the free-wheeling pre-embargo travelers of 1973.

Twenty percent, exercising their freedom of mobility prerogative, cited no single destination for 1975 vacations.

Rather, they rambled on flexible schedules sampling lakes, beaches, historic sites, scenic drives and hosts of campgrounds.

Among Texas cities, Dallas was 1975's most popular destination, followed closely by Houston, San Antonio, El Paso, Brownsville, Austin and Fort Worth.

Reflecting cost-consciousness (most tourists to Texas are family travelers, not the jet set), daily spending per person among auto visitors was $18.78, a thirty percent increase over the $14.14 spent in 1974. However, visitors stayed longer compared to slightly less than 7 days in 1974. There was more out-of-state left in Texas when they turned home.

Let's talk. Professionally."

Pioneer Days

PEP
 In this year of 1976, it is proper that we reminisce the happenings of the past.

The Pilgrims, the Dutch, the Quakers, the English, and nearly every nationality settled on the east coast.

The French settled in near-by Canada and down in New Orleans.

Nearly every colony came to America seeking a way of life where they could govern themselves, and serve God to their own way of thinking.

All suffered their own inconveniences, and usually a lot of hardships.

About this time, several groups of Germans and Bohemian immigrants also in pursuit of religious freedom, and a way of life of their own choosing, came to America.

Several groups or colonies of these people came to Texas.

They settled all over the south and central part of the state and Texas history records a lot of their actions.

German people settled at Goliad, Fredericksburg, and many south and central Texas towns were in their beginning predominantly German-speaking people.

They build their large and high steeped church in every town and community where they settled.

These God-fearing and honest people always came with a purpose. They were always organized to the extent that no matter the difficulty that presented them, they could somehow overcome, and when the going got tough, they could help one another.

In 1923 the White brothers, James Phelps White and Tom White, who owned the remaining part of the Yellowhouse, decided to sell a portion of their ranch for farm settlement.

Now a group of German and Bohemians from central Texas, near Rhineland and Munday, contacted the land agents for the Yellowhouse in Lubbock, and came to see.

Through their cooperative efforts they soon made contracts for several thousand acres in Southwest Lamb County and Hockley County. The land was laid off in such a way that the colony had a near-solid block.

And two of these buyers, Bill Jungman and Joe Albus, bought two large tractors and gang plows, and through a contract and cooperative effort, they broke 4,000 acres of new land and got it into a state of cultivation.

Then in 1924, they came to their new and promised land. Large immigrant cars, more than a dozen of them, arrived in Littlefield, their closest railroad some 20 miles north and east of this newly-named community of PEP.

Cattle, horses, mules, and farm machinery, together with their household belongings, and everything they possessed came with them. Soon they moved out to their new and designated farms and began to build a way of life.

They soon had a country store set up in a rather small building with a new post office, and a sign on the door "Pep, Texas". Now, these people, predominantly of Catholic faith, soon made arrangements to have the Priest, who was stationed in Littlefield, to come out to Pep and conduct services in the larger homes on alternate Sundays. They build a nice brick school that accidentally burned after several years of use.

Every citizen in the community pitched in to build one of the most modern school ent, and a country store help raise money for their church and welfare.

Today, Pep has a cooperative cotton gin, two stores, a filling station, post office, and everything to make life worthwhile.

But it took a lot of sacrifice and hard living to promote the history of this little community.

GOD'S GREATEST GIFT

I did not receive the Holy Spirit when I prayed for His gifts.

I received Him when I desired Him with all my heart. Then He filled my life.

"With what?" you ask. He filled my life with the presence of Jesus, of course, God's all-time greatest gift.

"Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift." II Corinthians 9:15

-Paul M. Stevens
