Activities Are Varied For Festivities Days

The program for the Fourth Annual Lamb County Festivities Days will feature scores and scores of interesting events during two full days of celebration in Littlefield Friday and Saturday.

Hundreds of people are busy putting the finishing touches on "their thing" for the event, and the program lists something for persons in all age groups—from the youngest to the oldest citizen in Lamb County.

To be seen around Littlefield will be all sorts, shapes, sizes and colors of whiskers, street dancers, stage dancers, kids and their dogs, paintings and handcrafts in an art show, fiddlers, singers, pretty girls, bike and trike riders, and numerous other attractions.

To begin the two-day event, "We The Women" will hold their Fifth Annual Sidewalk Art Festival on Phelps Avenue in the 500 block. Registration begins at 1 p.m.

To begin the two-day event, "We The Women" will hold their Fifth Annual Sidewalk Art Festival on Phelps Avenue in the 500 block. Registration begins at 1 p.m. and the show will begin shortly thereafter.

A special feature of that show will be the making of handmade stoneware pottery by three Big Spring residents, Dale Zitek, Desmond Powell and Bob Creighton. They will turn out original vases, planters, pitchers, bowls, plates, cups, saucers, etc. from native Texas clay on an old fashioned potter's wheel.

Artists from the area will display paintings and arts and crafts in four divisions: out of county adults, Lamb County adults, junior, and intermediate. Co-chairmen of that show are Mrs. Feroi Krizek and Mrs. Vera Griffin.

A "Mr. Festivities Days" coronation and street dancing will conclude activities for Friday.

"Mr. Festivities Days" will be chosen at 8 p.m. in the Junior High School Auditorium from a bevy of 12 "beauties" and will receive the crown from last year's winner, Neil West.

More entries are expected in the contest, which is sponsored by the Littlefield PTA. Tickets are 75 cents for adults and 25 cents for children, and proceeds from the show will go toward school ground equipment and improvements.

Rev. David Hamblin will serve as master of ceremonies, and other entertainment will be provided by a jazz dance group from TuTu's School of Ballet at Sudan, including Leslie LeBoeuf of Littlefield and Cynthia King, formerly of Littlefield. Special out-of-town judges will choose the winner.

Bruce Hall and Kenny Pratt will have their band on the street for street dancers both nights, beginning at 9 p.m. Dancers may choose their style of dancing in two spots.

Saturday night, Cliff Smith will call for a square dance exhibition immediately in front of the courthouse, while "The Millers of Amherst" will play rock music for another group up the street and "The Night Life" group from Whitharral will play country and western music for another group.

A huge Flea Market will start Saturday's activities at 7 a.m. on the Santa Fe Plaza. All sorts of wares will be on exhibit for sale and several persons from out of town will have their goods for sale in the large open air "garage sale," including the pottery makers from Big Spring.

Several spaces were still available at press time Wednesday, and anyone who wishes to set up a booth may do so by contacting the Chamber of Commerce office, 385-4451. "We The Women" are sponsoring the market.

At 9 a.m. Saturday, youth contests will get underway in Crescent Park.

Beginning at 9 a.m., entrants to the tricycle and bicycle races will meet at the tennis courts in Crescent Park.

According to Tom Sawyer chairman of the youth activities, those races will continue until 10:30, when other contests, including sack races, three-legged races, wheel barrow races, arms-locked race, balloon races, 2 x 4 walking races, and the basketball free-throw contest will begin.

All of these contests will be divided into age groups—the 8 and 9 year olds, 10-11, and 12-13 year olds in both boys and girls contests.

Beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday morning, youth of the Lamb County 4-H Club will stage their annual 4-H Fair inside the corridors of the Lamb County Courthouse, where projects in agriculture, electricity, hobbies, crafts,

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Find The Work

THE PLAINTIVE CRY, "There is nothing to do" is heard often. If this is true, it is a sad situation; but it is not true.

There are always constructive, useful and helpful things to do. The real problem is that people don't want to do what needs to be done, or what they can do.

THERE IS ENOUGH WORK, worthwhile work, in our town to keep all of us busy. Some of it is hard work, some of it is dirty work, and there is no pay for doing it.

There is no pay, except the good feeling in being busy, in knowing that we are being useful and helpful, that we are helping to make our community a better place to live. There is plenty to do.

PEOPLE WHO WANT TO be employed usefully will always be able to find something to do. It is true that some may be more alert and more creative than others, but none are so lacking in these traits that they must endure the miseries of idleness.

We can find something to do for ourselves, or for others, or for the community. In fact, there is more to do than any of us can possibly do.

SOME PEOPLE are too particular. Some refuse to do work that would help them and help others, because they consider the work too menial, too ordinary.

Some refuse to do work that is not the responsibility of anyone in particular because they think someone else should do it. These folk are prominent among those who are heard saying, "Why 'they' do something?" Doing nothing is not the way to better living.

WE MUST NOT WAIT for someone else to "big" to do, because most of us never have the opportunity to do things.

What difference does it make? There are many "little" things, but many things, to be done. There are so many things that all of us can be busy all time. This usefully busy life is a life.

"THE DUTY OF LABOR is what makes a man's body; in the stout muscle arm, and the delicate machinery hand." —Parker. We were made to work, and the Creator never intended that we be idle; that we waste our life "doing nothing". To whatever extent we are idle, and the accompanying idleness, and the accompanying idleness, and the accompanying idleness, we ruin human beings and through whole structure of society.

NONE NEED BE IDLE. No one wants to be idle. The personal life is great.

There is something to do, something useful. Let us find it, and put our hands to the happy task of doing it.

Never be guilty of saying, "There is nothing to do."

THESE POLITICAL CONVENTIONS kinda make you wonder. Hardly anyone has done anything right since this old country was founded. How do you reckon we've come this far?

HEARD A DEFEATIST talkin' a few days back. He said that our town is rapidly goin' to the dogs. "Why," quoth he, "just a few days back, another business failed!"

SHUCKS, I'VE FAILED a couple of times myself, but I didn't blame the town for it.

By the same token, a couple of new businesses have put in. Hate to disappoint anyone, but I'm of the firm conviction that our town will still be here in years to come.

TRUE, WE'VE LOST in population, but as this has taken place, the quality has improved immensely. The stronghearted and the optimistic are the ones who are staying.

We've had to weather some pretty rough going these last few years, but we have faith that the tide's just got to turn, sooner or later.

Sacred Heart Parish To Celebrate Jubilee

Sacred Heart Parish will celebrate its 50th Jubilee Sunday, Aug. 27th, beginning with a special mass at 4 p.m. concelebrated by Bishop Lawrence M. DeFalco, Rev. Joseph James, pastor, former pastor, and visiting clergy.

A short program and covered dish dinner will follow in the parish hall.

Rev. James commented on the Jubilee. "Today and tomorrow are exciting times at Sacred Heart. The parish has seen many firsts.

First settlers, the Sarigan, Schreiner, Yahnner, Scherer and Cardinal families.

First baptism: Maria Bossa was baptized on Oct. 21, 1827.

First marriage: John and Mary Matney on Jan. 11, 1828.

First confirmation: Father Emilio Azeite was ordained in Sacred Heart Church on May 20, 1866.

Rev. James continued, "Over the years, Littlefield has been blessed with the services of dedicated clergy who have come to meet the needs of the Catholic parishioners. Fr. A. Beck, 1825; Fr. C. J. Dvorak, 1829 and 1837; Fr. E. Clinton, 1834; Monsignor W. F. Rosen, 1835 and 1837; Monsignor F. T. Mosch, 1838; Monsignor M. F. Schulte, 1840 and 1841; Fr. F. M. Higgins, 1842; Fr. S. J. Hallmann, 1843 and 1844; Fr. N. F. Wagner, 1844 and Father L. C. Selsman, 1847.

"Fifty years of life in Christ began with a letter that read: 'I have had a vision at Littlefield. An the past five years, I feel that this is about the best place a farmer who is willing to work can come for his home!'

"The executors of the Littlefield Estate have very generously decided to use one whole block of ground and, in addition, $1,000 in cash for the erection of the Catholic Church. Having $2,000 in hand, the church will be started Monday, Aug. 8, 1827, and completed at once."

With these words Rev. Joseph M. Keller, the pastor of St. Joseph Church at Slaton, started the work of meeting the needs of the growing community of Littlefield Catholics he had been serving for six years. With him they would begin construction of their first permanent church building.

Before the church was built, mass had been celebrated on Tuesday a month in Littlefield. From 1824 to 1827 the Schreiner, Schreiner, Yahnner and Rosen homes served as the locations for these services. Fr. Keller would travel by wagon from Slaton to Littlefield to say mass.

Rev. James continued, "That he had to fight the weather to get to the home where mass would be offered. The faithful Catholics also had to fight sand and storms many times in order to attend and receive the blessed sacrament from an altar upon a cactus tresser. It was far from ideal."

"But from these humble beginnings the strong faith of the people and the grace of God, was to provide the will to build a parish and a church.

From these seeds would blossom the Sacred Heart Catholic Community in Littlefield.

"With endurance and hard work, conditions changed. After Father Keller's letter, they planned the building of a church on the land they were given at First and Ripley. Foreman John Sehlak's workmen would receive wages of 25 cents an hour to build a structure which measured 25 feet by 45 feet, big enough to fit the small—but growing—number of Catholics.

"The people were pleased when the church was finally completed in May of 1827. Even though the pews were just planks in sawhucks and the only heat came from an old brick stove—they finally had a special place for worship and prayer. They had hoped to name their church 'Our Lady of the Plains,' but a gift used in building it had stated it must be used to honor the Sacred Heart of Jesus. So Bishop Lynch dedicated the property as the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in the spring of 1827. The development of a parish, however, would not stop there.

"The Littlefield community had a church, it was true, but they still had to be served at great inconvenience by priests from Slaton or Plainview. This difficulty was solved in 1829 when Rev. J. H. Kruckert and the faithful received the grace to see the construction of a priest's home. The rectory was built at First Street, next to the church, and Rev.

Alphonse Beck—Father Kruckert's assistant in Plainview—moved in.

"Then in August of 1829, Father Charles Dvorak came to Littlefield—and with him the answer to many prayers. The Bishop had declared Sacred Heart to be a parish and Rev. Dvorak was to be its first pastor. Perhaps each priest would only be a guest in this home—coming and going—but now Sacred Heart was a parish, and a permanent home for the Blessed Sacrament.

"Growth had been continuing in Sacred Heart when, in 1828, unused land was purchased out of town to serve as a Catholic cemetery. The people put up a wooden cross and kept the land ready. In 1829 the first burial took place, interring the remains of Rosa Serna. Shortly thereafter, Rev. Dvorak's mother was buried there.

"Thirty-two years after the original church had been completed, the parish had outgrown it. Much sadness went with the placing of a 'For Sale' sign on the old grounds, but Fr. F. M. Higgins and the people of Sacred Heart—with the same pioneer spirit of 1827, planned boldly the construction of a new church. It was to be a new one—big.

"The land for Sacred Heart's growth came from the Captain Estate at 8th Street and Sunset (formerly Candiff Avenue). The interior of the new church would be 45 feet by 75 feet—half again as big as the original. Ground was broken and construction began in March 23, 1864.

"Then tragedy struck. On the day completion had originally been scheduled—Oct. 12, 1864—the pastor, Fr. Higgins, was fatally injured in an auto accident near Sterling City, Texas. Deeply grieved the parish mourned Father H. J. Hallmann was assigned as temporary pastor. With confidence that Fr. Higgins was eternally at peace with Christ, Sacred Heart, under the able leadership of the new pastor, Monsignor W. Rosen, saw the work in the new church completed.

"The bell would later be moved from the old church to the new by Fortunato Eangel and Andrew Serna, but the removal of Sacred Heart had been made final when, on Dec. 21, 1865, the last mass was said in the original church and the next day, Monsignor Rosen said the first mass in the present structure. The move was complete when Bishop Fitzsimon dedicated the new church on Jan. 25, 1866. Sacred Heart Parish was now 39 years old.

"Sacred Heart continued its growth in the new site. With a generous contribution from the fessens, God's grace and the dedicated work of the people the parish progressed at its new site. A new rectory was built next to the church in 1901. Then, in 1906, under the direction of Rev. H. J. Hallmann, a parish hall was built next to the rectory to be used for classes, meetings and other functions.

"Finally, under Rev. L. C. Robinson, the debt of all construction was removed and Sacred Heart Parish truly developed into the physical presence of the spiritual determination that had begun to blossom some 50 years earlier in a small wooden church building on First Street.

"Over the years, Sacred Heart Parish has heeded the call to the service of the Lord. From its own humble beginnings when Father Keller had to travel by wagon from Slaton to say mass in the home of the Catholics (who also had to conduct their own religious education), this one community has since spread out to bring Catholics to the towns of Philip's; Levell; Michael's; Muleshoe; Maculate Conception; St. Peter's; Aton; the Spirit has moved the church at Morton. The Spirit has moved Littlefield church. James concluded.

available commercial varieties, but new varieties being developed specifically for narrow-rows will give a big boost to this system of production. In narrow-row tests last year, the experiments yielded about 50 per cent more than better adapted standard varieties. The new varieties in the narrow-row production system can reduce the growing season by three to four weeks, according to Ray and Hudspeth. And with the shorter growing season, some of the adversities of weather can be avoided. It is anticipated that several narrow-row varieties will be available to growers within the next three years. How is this year's narrow-row crop doing? "Actually, this year should be a good test for much of the narrow-row acreage in the area," points out Ray. "With the cool weather, blowing sand, disease problems, hail and other adverse conditions that we've had this year, most of the narrow-row cotton is still progressing well." The researchers estimate that from 25,000 to 30,000 acres were planted to narrow-row cotton on the South Plains this year. Looking at the harvesting situation for this fall, Hudspeth believes that narrow-row harvesters will be plentiful. "There should be about 100 of these harvesters in operation. In 1969 when narrow-row cotton first got started, there were only three feasibility studies were made. Texas Tech and Texas A&M conducted any number of feeding research projects and marketing analyses. Still, very little happened for a long time. A few scattered commercial feedlots appeared in the early 1950's, a few more in the late 50's and early 60's, and their profitability became a proven fact. Then the idea really caught fire, and in the last decade huge, ultra-modern feedlots have sprung up on the Plains like mushrooms. Today the High Plains feeds 75 per cent of the cattle for slaughter in Texas—and Texas feeds more cattle for slaughter than any other state in the U.S. As of August 1 this year, 1,638,000 head were on feed in the High Plains area, compared to 1,561,000 in the entire state of Iowa, a traditional leader in the cattle feeding industry. And there are those who believe the long enduring struggle to secure a toe-hold on the Plains for the textile industry could have the same end result. Among these enthusiasts is Roy B. Davis of Lubbock, recently retired manager of Plains Cotton Cooperative Oil Mill and the Governor's choice as Chairman of the Texas Rural Development Commission. Sharing his hopes and beliefs is Donnell Echols of Lamesa, Chairman of the Board of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and also a member of the TRDC, and many others. Beginning the latter part of September a "team" from the TRDC will visit New York City and move on down through the textile-intensive southeastern states, calling on executives of the nation's leading textile manufacturers. They'll be telling of the advantages offered by Texas and the High Plains, including abundance and proximity of fiber supply, productive labor, climate, nearness to mid-western and western markets, availability of the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech, and other attractive features they believe will outweigh any potential disadvantages. Active interest in establishing extensive textile operations on the High Plains is again beginning to boil. Efforts to form textile manufacturing companies here and to attract outside companies have been going on for years. And, to say the least, success has been far from spectacular. But one is reminded of the cattle feeding industry. For 30 years and more High Plains people toured cattle feeding operations in other areas, themselves with facts and figures to meet head-on the old bugaboo of water supply and ability to dispose of effluents from finishing and dyeing processes. Working with them are chemical and water resource engineers from Texas Tech, the Textile Research Center, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, the city manager and city engineer for Lubbock, Plains Cotton Growers and many other of others. Small yarn-spinning plants are already in operation at Lorenzo and Abernathy on the Plains. And, hampered as they are by size and limited by their inability to carry processing beyond the yarn stage, they're still in business after a number of years, and they're operating at a profit. Aileens, Inc. about two years ago put in a knitting, cutting and sewing plant in Abilene. They are now expanding into a plant with 17 acres under the roof that will spin raw fiber, knit it, finish it, cut it, sew it and turn out ready-to-wear women's and children's clothing. The operation is considered highly successful. Even closer to home, Burlington Industries has operated an integrated sheeting plant in post since 1914. It too is a profitable plant. The point is this: If these things can be done at Lorenzo and Abernathy and Abilene and Post, they can be done at other locations in the area. And the dream of large-scale textile operations on the Plains may be no less real than the one-time dream of a massive cattle-feeding industry.

Rural Areas Show Signs Of Growth

The move from farm to city may be coming to a halt, a new era of economic and social growth for rural America may already be launched.

These are two conclusions to be drawn from various reports on the progress of rural America, from the arid stretches of the Southwest to the green fields of the Southeast.

They also are indications that the much talked about goals of rural development are beginning to emerge as realized accomplishments for an increasing number of communities.

Some signs of the recharged energies within rural areas are:

—More jobs: During the 1960's nonfarm jobs increased by 39 per cent in the countryside, a slightly better rate than the 34 per cent increase in metropolitan areas. This growth rate has been high in completely rural counties as well as in those with cities of up to 50,000 population.

—Farm-exodus ending: The farm population has dropped to fewer than 9 1/2 million persons. With so few people remaining on the Nation's farms, little further decline in the population is possible. As the farm-to-city migration dwindles to a negligible level, continued gains in nonagricultural jobs will have a more visible impact on the overall economy and population of rural areas.

—Greater Federal commitment to rural areas: The government is stepping up its investment in rural America manifold. For example, funds earmarked for housing in rural areas amount to $2.2 billion this year, four times the 1969 level; sewer and water programs are allocated $342 million this year, nearly twice the 1969 level. Total funds devoted to rural development efforts by the Department of Agriculture will amount to $3.5 billion this year — four times the level in 1961 and twice as much as in 1969. More important than the statistics or the governmental expenditures, however, is the determined individual in community after rural community who resolves to solve the problem on his own, who takes action to set his own neighborhood on the road to progress.

In Tulia, for example, local leaders set out to combat decaying businesses, blighted housing. As a result of their efforts, the community has 386 new low-cost homes and jobs and incomes are up because of the construction work. In North Carolina, citizens mounted a driver education campaign as a small but vital part of their Statewide effort to connect more rural workers with more better paying jobs.

Rural development is an idea whose time has come —mostly because increasing numbers of local groups are taking it upon themselves to make sure that it does.

Driver Injured In Truck-Tractor Mishap

E. L. Jones of Breckenridge was brought to the Littlefield Hospital by ambulance Saturday morning following a truck-tractor accident north-west of Sudan.

Jones suffered extensive facial and head cuts after he was thrown through the windshield of the cab of the 1965 White freightliner he was driving. The truck overturned after striking the tractor on the shoulder of U.S. 84 2.4 miles northeast of Sudan.

Lindell Roy Lance of Sudan was driving the 1963 John Deere 4010 owned by Robin Davis of Sudan east on the right shoulder when the eastbound truck struck the left rear tractor tire.

The truck driver apparently went to sleep, according to Highway Patrolman Bill Angel. The truck traveled across the median and overturned on the right side in the westbound lane following impact.

Both the farm tractor and the cab of the freightliner were total losses.

Car Turnover At Bainer Switch

Love needn't wait for appearances

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a very fine gentleman whose wife passed away about six months ago. She had been ailing for over a year.

This man and I have known each other for several years, but I give you my word nothing went on between us while he was still married altho we have been attracted to each other since our first meeting.

We are both past middle fifties, but this is some wild love affair. He wants to marry me quietly and quickly. I want to marry him, too, but it has come back to me that many people think we had something going while his wife was still living. This is not true.

I have married children and so has he and I don't want any ugly talk. To be on the safe side, how long should we wait before marrying? CLEAR CONSCIENCE DEAR CON: If your conscience is clear, you have clear sailing. Why wait at all?

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from "FORTY-EIGHT AND GETTING THERE" with some concern because as far back as I can remember, comedians have been portraying old folks.

Naturally, they come off a bit wobbly, and some don't hear too well, but it's all in fun, and I doubt if anyone sets out to ridicule them.

My wife and I have always enjoyed the Carol Burnett show, which includes skits showing the old couple in their rocking chairs.

My advice to "FORTY-EIGHT AND GETTING THERE" is to develop a sense of humor.

"SEVENTY-ONE AND ALREADY THERE"

DEAR THERE: Thanks for expressing an opinion shared by this writer and many others. Carol Burnett is far too kind and sensitive to intentionally ridicule or hurt anyone.

DEAR ABBY: Our 22-year-old son has a 21-year-old girl friend who spends a lot of time at our home.

These two cannot seem to keep their hands off each other. The girl is always running her fingers thru his hair, petting him, smoothing his sideburns, massaging his shoulders and legs, sitting in his lap and giving him a hug around the waist. They often sit with their arms around each other, kissing frequently.

This goes on not only in the presence of the family, but before guests and neighbors as well.

My husband and I have both told our son that such behavior in public is in poor taste and to please cut it out, but they tell us that "love" is beautiful and they are not ashamed of it. Then we're told we are old fashioned.

Please tell me what you think of such carryings on? HIS PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Love is indeed beautiful, but such exhibitions are out of place in public.

DEAR ABBY: Okay, go ahead and scold those who write thank-you notes and fail to sign their last names. Most people remember to whom they send gifts.

How about the chumps who send gifts [especially wedding gifts] and sign the card, "Mary" or "From the Smiths"? Or [are you ready for] "Love from both of us"?

Anyone who sends a gift and does not enclose a card with his full name, and a legible return address on the package deserves to be stuffed into a mail slot and canceled. I. M. DISGUSTED

DEAR ABBY: I had the same problem as the wife whose husband kicked or slapped her when he lost his temper. I compare that problem with that of a puppy who developed the habit of messing in the house because he got away with it. Any attempt to discipline him on the following morning was useless because by then he had forgotten what he'd done.

I decided that the next time my husband struck me I would pick up the nearest heavy object and let him have it. Unfortunately for him, the last time he hit me I was frying eggs in a cast iron skillet. I'll admit, it was awfully drastic, but as I said, that was the last time he ever laid a hand on me.

How would you have handled it? Sign me "L" IN ILLINOIS

DEAR L: I don't approve of violence. I'd have hit him with something lighter but more lasting. Like a divorce decree.

DEAR ABBY: I have caught my ten-year-old child stealing cookies and candy in the grocery store. I have immediately made her return the stolen items to the store clerk or manager.

On these occasions I have been completely floored when the managers and clerks smile and say, "Oh, that's okay!"

Abby, please print this letter and point out the possible damage done when adults assume an attitude of acceptance under such circumstances. DISCOURAGED IN WASHINGTON

DEAR DISCOURAGED: Here's your letter with my added plea: DON'T minimize the seriousness of stealing. Today a cookie . . . tomorrow a car!

DEAR ABBY: You recently published several letters on the question of whether a child should call a stepmother "Mother."

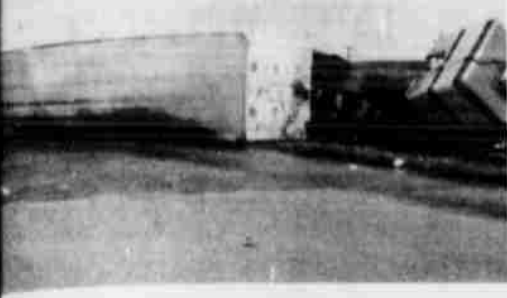

Most were against it. I think this is worth mentioning: If I am not mistaken, when Abraham Lincoln said, "All that I hope to be, I owe to my angel mother," he was referring to his stepmother.

WASHINGTON STAR READER

DEAR READER: Right on! And thanks to the Cinderella fairy tale, what happened to the stepmother image shouldn't happen to a stepdog.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.
