

Ruth Kirby Appointed County Judge

Kirby was named Lamb County Judge by the Commissioners' Court Thursday. She was chosen from a field of 11 applicants. Kirby is an attorney, licensed in Texas. She was admitted to the bar in 1970 after receiving the Doctor of Jurisprudence degree from Texas Tech University School of Law in 1970 where she graduated with highest honors, ranking first in the class. When she took her state bar examination in the summer of 1970, she and a classmate tied with the highest grade given in the state. After admission to the Texas bar, she taught at the Tech law school from 1970 to 1975 as an assistant professor and then as an associate professor. She taught courses in property, torts, administrative law, legislation, professional responsibility and legal writing. Many of the courses she studied in law school should be helpful in her capacity as county judge such as pretrial and trial procedure, evidence, Constitutional law, criminal law and procedure, local government, legislation, contracts, personal and real property, wills, trusts and estates, and marital property.

Mrs. Kirby's undergraduate work was done at Tech and the University of Texas in Austin. She majored in Spanish and received a B. A. degree in 1943 from the University of Texas.

She worked as administrative secretary to the dean of the School of Law in Austin for eight years, and worked three years as a legal secretary in her husband's law office.

Her husband is Jerome W. Kirby, a Littlefield attorney. They have lived in Littlefield since 1956. They have one married daughter who lives in California, and another daughter, Leigh, who is a junior in Littlefield High School.

Mrs. Kirby fills the unexpired term of Bill Angel who resigned.

When an appointment is made for an unexpired term, the office holder must run for the remainder of that time in office at the next general election.

The present term of her appointment is through this year and she will run on the Democratic ticket for election for the remaining two years of the term in this year's May primary.

PERUVIAN VISITORS TO LITTLEFIELD

Lima, Peru Students Visiting Littlefield

Two Peruvian youths visiting in Littlefield through the Lions Club Youth Exchange Program are having the time of their lives observing the American culture and "looking for and flirting with chicks."

Evidently the driving conditions there are somewhat different than here where the kids drive around to visit. They aren't allowed to drive while here, because as Coco put it, "we drive to kill."

Carlos Samame, 22, and Coco Praeli, 21, are visiting in the homes of the Jim Lackeys and the Tom Tolletts. When interviewed they had been here only four days of their 8-weeks stay.

They are both from Lima, the capital of Peru, but neither knew the other until they met at the Dallas-Fort Worth Air Terminal. There are 100 students from Peru visiting in the U.S. through the Lions program during Peru's summer vacation.

Their summer vacation starts in April. When it is winter here, it is June, July and August there.

Littlefield is some change from the teaming metropolis of Lima where four million people live.

"Littlefield seems so quiet," they said.

What are other observations from the young men? They "feel good" here.

"The young people all know our names," said Carlos. "They come up to you and say, 'hi, how are you?' I'm so glad to be here. When I come to town with my brother, Steve Lackey, I feel at home here."

Coco likes the food, weather and football games. "This is a nice place," he said. "Pleasant. Most persons are good and make friends easily. I do not feel like a stranger here."

Coco is particularly fascinated with the football games on television and is eagerly looking forward to the Super Bowl he has heard so much about. He plays soccer on one of the teams at the University of San Marcos.

The pair chose the state of Texas for their visit because they were fascinated with the cowboy image. They are slightly disappointed that they don't see cowboys walking down the streets wearing guns. Too, they thought they would be living in a house out on a ranch or farm.

Spanish is their native language. They say they have a little trouble thinking in Spanish and speaking in English. Sometimes they are at a loss for words or use the wrong word.

According to the two, the Spanish-Americans here do not speak proper Spanish. "They do not conjugate right," they said. "They do not speak the best Spanish."

They think Texans talk too fast and use too many contractions. Of all the shows on television, they say they understand "Betwitched" best, because they do not talk as fast as other programs.

Nominations Sought

Tickets are available for the Annual Banquet of the Chamber of Commerce & Agriculture and Board of City Development according to Hubert Henry, activities vice president.

Henry said Gil Melbardis of Levi's corporate office in San Francisco will be the speaker. Melbardis is Merchandise Manager-Basic Jeans for Levi's whose sales were about a billion dollars during 1975. Levi Strauss had sales of $734.6 million for the first nine months of 1975 through Nov. 1.

Nominations for the annual awards are also needed. Henry said nominations can be made by any individual or group, and may nominate anyone in the Littlefield area. He said supporting reasons should be in to the Chamber-BCD office not later than Friday. Awards will be presented for Man of the Year, Woman of the Year, and Farm Family of the Year.

Henry said tickets are available to anyone— not just Chamber-BCD members— at the Chamber BCD office for $7.50 each. The banquet will be Jan. 31 at 7:30 p.m., and the meal will be an 8 oz. filet mignon, and will be at the Ag Center.

Turner Named To All-State

Littlefield's Bill Turner was named to the Fort Worth Star-Telegram's Class AA All-State team and teammate Rick Hopping was named to the second team on defense.

Turner, who led the 'Cats in almost every statistic possible this past season, was named to the first team as a punter.

Glenn Johnson and J. D. Caudle of Olton were named to the second team offense while Johnson was also selected second team defense.

The four above were the only ones receiving the honor from District 3-AA.

SPC Registration Ends Noon Monday

Betty Herrin will be able to register students for South Plains College night courses being taught here through Monday noon, Jan. 19th at her office at Littlefield High School. The four courses offered will be sociology, business math, basic accounting and U.S. History.

"We need more people to sign up, please," states Mrs. Herrin.

Bill Clayton Named Man Of Year In Service To Agriculture

Clayton says his primary occupation is farming. He keeps close tabs on his 2,000-acre grain and cotton farm near Springlake, Tex., and makes all the important production and marketing decisions.

Clayton finds he has more time to take care of his agricultural and business interests at night, on week-ends, and whenever he can squeeze an extra minute out of a busy schedule. An increasing amount of his time is required for tending to the official business of the State of Texas in his role as Speaker of the House of Representatives.

In its 90-year history, "Progressive Farmer" repeatedly has encouraged farm and ranch people to involve themselves in the civic, social, political, and legislative processes through which decisions are made affecting their lives. Bill Clayton has done just that. He has become a part of the action. Consequently he has been able to influence many decisions important to Texas agriculture.

In appreciation for his contributions, "Progressive Farmer" proudly honors him as Man of the Year in Service To Texas Agriculture.

Until recently, few people— probably Clayton included— entertained serious thoughts that this mild-mannered farmer would ever become one of the most powerful figures in Texas government. The odds were overwhelmingly against him. He is a politically conservative, rural West Texan, with a legislative record devoted largely to water and agriculture. But in his dozen years as representative, Clayton had earned the reputation of being a hard worker, a man who can handle complex legislation, and a fair and honest lawmaker.

While liberal and moderate factions of the house floundered aimlessly in 1974, Clayton quietly lined up more than enough votes to win the Speaker's job. When the Texas Legislature convened in January 1975, house members overwhelmingly selected Clayton as their 59th Speaker—the third highest position in state government.

Clayton then led the house through an arduous session jam-packed with critical and often controversial legislation. While not all lawmakers approved of his techniques and decisions, for the most part they agreed he had carried out his duties in a firm, efficient, evenhanded manner. His reelection to the Speaker's post next session seems reasonably certain.

Last summer Clayton demonstrated that he is not hesitant about laying his reputation on the line for a cause that he feels is in the best interest of the people. Working long hours and crisscrossing the state, he stumped vigorously for voter approval of a new state constitution— though he knew the odds for passage were slim.

Clayton— his friends call him "Billy"— was born at Olney, Tex., in 1928. His family moved to Springlake when he was four, and he grew up on a farm. After receiving a degree in agriculture economics from Texas A&M University, he settled down to a career in agriculture in West Texas.

When Lamb County's state representative retired in 1962, friends coaxed Clayton into seeking the vacated seat. He won handily. In Austin he soon gained a reputation as a hard-working, industrious lawmaker.

Water is the lifeblood of West Texas, and Clayton became its champion. It is said that he sponsored virtually every piece of major water legislation which has been considered by the house in the past 12 years.

Clayton was one of the founders of Water, Inc., a nonprofit organization dedicated to assuring adequate water for West Texas agricultural, industrial, and municipal uses. He served Water, Inc., as executive director from 1969 to 1973. He continues to be a strong advocate of water importation.

Bill Clayton could have sat on the sidelines, criticizing and complaining about the problems of agriculture. He didn't. He became involved. He helped influence the decisionmaking process. He brought honor and recognition to Texas agriculture. He set an example that agriculturists can and must follow if the industry is to continue to have a voice in determining its own destiny.

SPAG Sponsored Report Writing School For Officers Set Here

The SPAG Law Enforcement Training Institute will begin a Report Writing School in Littlefield, January 19, 1976. The school will be sponsored by the Littlefield Police Department and will meet from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. each day.

SPAG Law Enforcement Training

Coordinator Ronnie Smith has announced that Walter Head, Criminal Justice Coordinator, will be the instructor for this course. Mr. Head has over twenty years experience as a police officer and administrator. He considers the records section "the heart of any law enforcement agency."

This school is especially important because few departments realize how effective good records and offense reports can be. In addition to serving as planning, budgeting and administrative tools, thorough offense reports will result in increased prosecutor acceptance and convictions rates.

Class size will be limited to twenty. Completion of the course will provide credit toward the Intermediate and Advanced Certifications by the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Miss Lovvorn:

Thanks to the help that you and other friends of our boys in the media gave with the advance publicity for the annual Christmas Suit project, each one of our 370 boys received a new suit or gift package of clothing. This was the best Christmas present they received and some donations came from the people of your area.

Thank you again for this latest help to our boys and for all the help you have given in the past. I do hope that sometime during the coming year you will go to the Ranch to meet some of the boys you have befriended. With best wishes for a happy and prosperous 1976, I am

Dear Nilah:

Thank you for the articles that you wrote about my day in Littlefield. I am pleased that we had the opportunity to meet at the noon luncheon, but am sorry that it was such a brief visit. My wife thoroughly enjoyed reading the stories in the paper.

Best wishes for the new year.

Sincerely,

In regards to a City Policeman: Mr. Morgan

Dear Community of Littlefield:

When investigating a teen-ager's accident, the officer allowed us to accompany our young violator. We asked medical care, he drove us to the hospital and stayed. When I was unable to give enough strength, he held her arm, comforted and consoled suicidal talk. He went for a nurse to stay with us and spoke words of understanding to the father.

There was no sign of outrage or righteous indignation, rather an attitude of sympathy and help. He bought me a Coke when I became faint. He accompanied the father to further investigate the possibility of others injured.

I do not know police procedure, but if this is the protection Littlefield is offered, we are such lucky people. And when your teenager gets in trouble, pray for a Mr. Morgan to be at your side.

In gratitude,
s/Mrs. Rhea Bradley

A Woman's View

By PEARL BRANDON

I AM HOME again from the hospital and feeling much better.

My brother is much improved and may get to go home the last of the week. We talked with him Wednesday night.

Again I would like to thank all those who were so kind to me while I was in the hospital, the doctors, nurses, technicians and other people who work there. Also, I am grateful for the visits, cards and the prayers that were said for me while I was there.

EVERY DAY WE READ of the many evil deeds committed all over the world but, in our little town it seems everybody is kind and considerate—at least all those I come in contact with.

While there, one of the nurses suggested I write on things that are precious. There are so many precious things, our homes, our family, our friends, but, most of all our God.

Did you ever consider that everyone in the whole world is precious to Him. And everyone is precious to someone else, even those who commit terrible crimes. When their court trials are over and the guilty verdict is given to one who is being tried, some mother or wife or other loved one breaks down in tears.

I think our Father God also grieves for his children who go wrong. He understands why and how it all happens and loves us just the same. No matter how great our sins He is always ready to forgive and we are all precious in His sight.

Many have sick minds, or have been cruelly treated themselves. They surely are not happy with themselves and are striking out against society and those around them.

I have always felt if everyone knew God as I know Him, they would have peace of mind and be satisfied with themselves.

We all have our trials and tribulations but we also have our Father above who cares for us.

We also have the consolation of knowing there is a better life to come.

HERE'S hoping all of you a happy and successful New Year.

Board Reports On Hail Suppression Program

The monitoring of cloud-seeding activities in the Littlefield area by the Texas Water Development Board was concluded in late October. The monitoring program, the first of its kind to be utilized by the Board, included the tracking of all cloud-seeding missions performed by Atmospherics Incorporated (AI) of California during the summer season of 1975.

The monitoring activities were carried out in compliance with provisions of a contract executed last spring between the TWDB and Texas A&M University (TAMU) William O. Alexander, a meteorology graduate of TAMU, observed, documented, and reported on all cloud-seeding flights performed by AI under the sponsorship of Better Weather, Incorporated of Littlefield.

The monitor's complete descriptions of all seeding flights have provided the Board with the information it needs to investigate how closely the operator adhered to the seeding permit the Board issued last spring.

At the conclusion of the monitoring program, Alexander and the principal investigator, Dr. James R. Scoggins, associate dean for research at TAMU, submitted a summary report on the monitor's activities and findings.

The report, entitled a "Summary of Observing Activities of the Operations of Atmospherics Incorporated Based at Littlefield During the Summer of 1975," provides a brief history of all seeding missions. Detailed data on each seeding event, including pertinent information on seeding locations, cloud characteristics, and flight tracks, were provided.

The monitor observed a total of 90 separate missions during the period from June 1 to the end of the program in October. On 70 of those missions, seeding was done on prospective hail-producing thunderstorms. The remainder of the missions were flown for reconnaissance.

Of the seeding missions, 46 percent included some seeding activity beyond the target area but within the 15-mile buffer zone, in which the operator was authorized by the Board permit to seed those hailstorms believed to be moving toward the target area. A total of 69,372 grams of silver iodide, the equivalent of 153 pounds, was dispensed during the program.

The final report concluded by stating that no violations of the Board permit issued to AI occurred during the monitoring program. The monitor added that the cloud-seeding program was carried out in a highly professional manner by AI personnel.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Don't Impose

By BOB W.

IT IS ONE THING to present our ideas or wishes to others with whom we are associated, and give them complete freedom to accept or reject; but to insist that they accept is imposition, in a very undesirable way. In many areas of human association, there are people who want everybody else to do what they do. Oftentimes, they are very obnoxious in the way they try to force their wishes upon others. This often become one of the ugliest ruptures in what could have been a very happy association.

IT IS NOT ALWAYS EASY to maintain the most wholesome attitudes toward our fellowmen, and, the closer the association, the more difficult it may be to accord others the proper high regard. Unfortunately, the closer the association, the freer some people feel to try to impose their notions and wishes. This will not work satisfactorily.

IN SOME SITUATION, when everything is pleasant; some unwise person often decides to do something and doesn't rest until everyone is in a state of turmoil. Some are irritated; some are feeling guilty; some may be disgusted; and some may be going along trying to get along; but everybody is unhappy. This type of condition will almost inevitably become worse.

IT IS A VERY STRANGE PERSON who refuses to establish and maintain an atmosphere of permissiveness in which to interact with other people. As a matter of fact, however, these strange, very self-centered, persons are found in almost all units of human society. They are always a strife and discontent. One or two persons in a group can just about everybody upset. They usually take advantage of the good nature and kindness of others, and this is the most despicable of all actions. They are always resentful, and frequently notes in permanent disruption. It was once a satisfactory relationship.

WISE persons, the desirable who respect others, "don't" impose upon other persons. They present their ideas and their plans, and persuade others; but they are careful to leave them completely to accept or reject. They "impose". They are non-judgmental. They are wholly tolerant. They gladly give others the benefit of their doubt, they place the best intention upon their speech and actions and never try to force others to view and plans.

THERE IS NOTHING of value gained by using one method another to take advantage of associates to the extent of imposing upon them. If they submit just congenial; or perhaps in their effort to maintain peace; or for some reason; there is no way for a relationship to develop.

IF THE IMPOSITION PERSONS everybody involved will be eventually.

IMPOSING UPON OTHERS, when it seem to succeed, is the certain way to alienate them.

COMMENTS

By EMIL MACH

WAS TALKING THE OTHER day with one of our local merchants and we decided how to stabilize the American dollar in world trade as well as stabilize the economy world over. Well it may not be a hundred percent cure, but I'd be willing to bet that it would help.

As most of you know, the United States is the breadbasket of the world. With rich resources in land as well as technology in farming, we will soon have to supply food for the world.

We have always been the so called good guy by giving if you don't have the money to pay for it and if you can pay, sell the raw products to foreign markets.

Of course I'm not up in foreign trade like some of you but I do get or have access to various bulletins from various countries wanting to buy various items from the U.S. in large quantities.

For example, a couple of months ago, Turkey or one of the other countries in that area wanted about 200 thousand dozen chicken eggs for hatching. Another wanted 22 thousand metric tons of alfalfa. Others wanted an abundant amount of wheat for flour.

These orders are large and most any broker would like to fill the order, but where we are missing the boat is that we should not sell the raw product but the finished product, in doing this we protect our own labor market. For example, if a country wants 200 metric tons of wheat for flour, why not sell them the flour instead. This way we protect our own mills and their force. At the same time the bag people and their labor force will be protected. The shippers will still with the same amount of weight the profit would stay here to help people and at the same time we still help feed the other country. It was done down the line, I think American dollar would have value in world trade.

ACCORDING TO THE Guinness Book of World Records, the longest recorded working week was worked until June, 1956 by a 40-old ferryman in England. He worked from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. on weekdays, an extra hour making 17 hours Saturdays and from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Sundays to round off a 114-hour week. Since then another sailor supposed to have put in 115 1/2 hours. Wonder how many of us in this country breaks that record one time the other during the year. Guess we need to keep more accurate records some of our activity. Who knows, people who write the book may have start a new volume.

WONDER IF OLE Cornball would make the record book. I think that might fit in one or two different categories especially after he made that dumb accusation about me in last effort. He has got to be some "yo-yo" upstairs.

DID YOU HEAR about the couple that is having an age problem? won't tell hers and he won't act his

Carson-Christenson Say V

OLTON— Cynthia Dawn Carson and John Mark Christenson pledged nuptial vows in a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening in Stone Church, Independence, Mo. Elder Jim Christenson of Independence, uncle of the groom, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Carson of Kinsley, Kans., formerly of Olton. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymon Carson and Mrs. Tom Stansell, all of Olton.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Christenson of Waterloo, Iowa are parents of the groom.

The pews were marked by votive candles and miniature red floral arrangements.

The altar setting was outlined by poinsettias and garlands of greenery. A table covered with red velvet was flanked by candelabra. On the table were the three standard books of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Eleanor Land of Independence presented the organ prelude. Harold Neal of Independence, World Church Music Director, played the violin solo, "Meditation".

The bride and groom were escorted to the altar by their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Christenson lighted one of the three candles placed on the table; Mr. and Mrs. Carson lighted the taper which represented their family.

Presented for marriage by her parents, the bride wore a Victorian styled pure silk almodo formal gown with high neck, square yoke and lantern sleeves. The full skirt swept to a chapel train. Inserts of lace adorned the yoke, sleeves and skirt. The full-length veil fell from a Victorian headpiece of lace.

The bridal bouquet was of poinsettias, white mums and baby's breath.

"Something old" was a pearl necklace which had belonged to her great-grandmother, Mrs. Mirty Daugherty. Her gown was "something new". "Something borrowed" were pearl earrings belonging to Heather Boswell, bridesmaid. She wore a blue garter.

Carma Denton of Canyon was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Christie Carson of Ogallala, Neb., Kathy Alexander and Heather Boswell, both of Lemoni, Iowa.

Feminine attendants wore poinsettia satin formals styled along princess lines. Each carried a poinsettia and wore a sprig of holly in their hair.

Doug Gregory of Lemoni, Iowa, was best man. Tim Christenson of Waterloo, brother of the groom, and Steve Wright of Lemoni were groomsmen.

The groom wore a tuxedo of ivory hue. Groomsmen wore forest green tuxedos.

Clay Carson and Mike Christenson, brothers of the bride couple, seated guests. Candelighters were Ray Carson, brother of the bride, and Angela Carson, their cousin of Ogallala, Neb.

Jamie Ann Carson of Ogallala was flower girl.

Ring bearers were Jared Christenson and Delva Erke.

Following the exchange of vows, minister Raymon Carson offered the patriarchal prayer. Elder John R. Carson sang "The Lord's Prayer." The bride and groom lighted the memory candle.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Carson selected a brown velvet formal with matching accessories. The groom's mother chose an aqua tunic formal with aqua accessories. Mrs. Raymon Carson, grandmother of the bride, wore a dark green formal gown with green accessories. Corsages of white and pink flowers were laid with white ribbons centered by two frosted candles in polished holders. The arrangement encircled by garland smilax with touches in red.

Presiding at the ceremony were Mrs. James Carson, lala, Mrs. Dean B. Kinsley and Mrs. Erke of Kansas City. They served three-tiered wedding cake, raspberry nuts and mints.

After a tour of Cannon Island, British Columbia, with a group from land College, Lemoni, the couple will continue studies at that college.

Roy Rogers Move To Benefit Museum

Roy Rogers is back. After a 20-year absence from movie making, the legendary star returns in "Mackintosh and T. J." which will have its world premiere at the Winchester Theatre in Lubbock February 5.

A gala evening is planned for West Texas' first world premiere of any major movie. Roy Rogers will be on hand for the event which will benefit the Ranching Heritage Center at The Museum of Texas Tech University.

The center now is planning its formal opening for July 2-5, 1976. It is an authentic outdoor exhibit depicting the history of ranching in America's West.

Those attending the premiere will have a reception at 7 p.m. in the lobby of the Winchester. The film will start at 8 p.m. Those who purchase Golden Row tickets will attend an after-theatre supper party with Roy Rogers. Tickets are $10, $25, and $50. All seats are reserved and may be purchased at The Museum of Texas Tech or by writing P. O. Box 4612, Texas Tech University. All proceeds are for the development of the Ranching Heritage Center.

"Mackintosh and T.J." is a contemporary western, filmed at the 208,000 acre 6666 Ranch, 92 miles east of Lubbock near Guthrie. None of the sets were constructed. All are set against the backdrop of the famous 6666. Instead of a 10-gallon hat and buckskin, Rogers' costuming is usually a straw hat and cotton shirt. Instead of Trigger, Roy's transportation is a broken-down pickup truck.

Rogers' co-star is Clay O'Brien who was born six years after Roy's last picture, "Son of Paleface," was released.

O'Brien is no newcomer, however. Now 14 years old, he began his career when he was 9 in "The Cowboys." He followed that with another John Wayne vehicle, "Cahill, U.S. Marshall." Most recently, he added a Huck Finn appeal to Disney's "Apple Dumpling Gang," and he has played opposite Fess Parker and with James Garner in "One Little Indian."

Rogers, the star of 87 feature films before the long dry spell, chose "Mackintosh and T. J." because of the story.

There's action—bronc busting, brawls, a rabies epidemic and even murder.

Church Circle Hosts Study

AMHERST— The Annie Armstrong Circle of the First Baptist Church WMU met at the Church Monday night for Bible Study. Mrs. Charles Mixon offered prayer to open the meeting. Mrs. James Holland, Bible study chairman, briefly reviewed the earlier study. The study "Fear, a Roaring Lion" was from the book "The Fragrance of Beauty" by Joyce Landon. She read 2nd Corinthians 2:14-17, the Scripture the book is based on. An easel held a large booklet that she used to illustrate important thoughts and questions.

The group participated in the study by finding the Scriptures to answer the questions. Mrs. Holland closed the study with prayer.

Mrs. Don Carter presided in business. The prayer calendar was read and prayer was offered for missionaries having birthdays.

Refreshments of cheese rolls on party crackers, fresh fruit and cake were served to Mmes. Charles Mixon, Bill Bradley, T. L. Bennett, Bill Phillips, Randall Crawford, J. P. Brantley, Don Carter, Dorothy Crawford and James Holland.
