Business offices of the four newspapers in Buenos Aires opposing the regime of President Juan D. Peron were seized yesterday. While federal police stood guard today government auditors examined the financial records of the newspapers.

Violent Deaths Total 17 As Holiday Begins

By The Associated Press
Violent accidents claimed the lives of at least 17 persons during the first hours of the Thanksgiving Day holiday.

Fifteen of the 17 fatalities were the result of traffic accidents. Two died of miscellaneous causes in accidents reported since 8 p. m. (local time) Wednesday.

The National Safety Council did not estimate the probable number of deaths for the period from last night until midnight tonight. Over the same period last Thanksgiving 114 persons died in accidental deaths, including 88 in traffic mishaps. The toll in 1947 was 128 and 83 in 1946.

Cars involved in the mishap were driven by Roberts and J. H. Pryor, police said. Both vehicles were damaged extensively.

60 PER CENT TOWARD GOAL

Chest Fund Given Boost To $22,100

Pre-holiday reports added another substantial boost to the Community Chest totals Wednesday evening putting the total at $22,100.

This was roughly 60 per cent toward the goal of $36,000 essential to the supporting of six key community institutions. Dependent upon the six-in-one fund drive are the Salvation Army, the YMCA, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the Alcoholics Anonymous for home maintenance only, and the Chest for a negligible amount of administrative funds.

There were no addition to the 100 per cent Day's Pay honor roll, but some firms were said nearing this objective. A few special gifts came in and there was a trickle

Led by a two-man congressional committee, government forces yesterday took over the business offices of the newspapers to determine whether they had received money from a liberal and left-wing coalition that unsuccessfully opposed Peron in the 1946 presidential elections.

The four newspapers, the only independent dailies in Buenos Aires, include the widely read La Nacion and La Prensa, the Communist La Hora, and the Tabloid Clarin.

The newspapers were permitted to continue publication.

The two congressmen leading the investigation ordered seizure of all books dating back to Aug. 1, 1945, when the anti-Peron coalition was formed.

Whit's Bar Damaged In Night Burglary

Burglars caused considerable property damage but apparently made off with little loot at Whit's Bar, located in the 100 block of East Third street, officers reported this morning.

Officers from both the police department and sheriff's office investigated.

They said entry was gained through a skylight. A cigarette vending machine, a juke box and a safe were battered by the intruders. Although those items were virtually destroyed, the safe was not opened, officers said.

FELDMAN FREED FROM CHARGE

Druggist Beats Rap After Poison Murder Conviction

NEW YORK, Nov. 24. (AP)—A long, death-house ordeal was over today for a tense little Brooklyn druggist, finally freed from a murder charge of which he had been twice convicted.

An all-male Kings County jury yesterday found 41-year-old Benjamin Feldman innocent of the strychnine poisoning of his young wife.

Two times before Feldman had been convicted and sentenced to the electric chair, only to be saved by reversals in the state court of appeals.

The jury at the third trial deliberated nearly 20 hours before reaching a verdict.

The small, chubby defendant, pale from two years in Sing Sing prison's death house, rushed into the corridor outside the courtroom with tears in his eyes.

MORE TALKS IN COAL ROW SEEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. (AP)—A report that John L. Lewis will meet with his United Mine Workers policy committee Monday spurred speculation today that Lewis and mine owners may resume coal peace talks next week.

Plans for the meeting of the 200-man policy group in New York were reported last night by a source who asked to remain anonymous.

Reports followed the policy committee's last meeting, held earlier this month in Chicago, by ordering a truce in the 52-day-old coal strike.

Even before this new indication that the UMW leader may be planning a surprise move, there were reports that he would meet with coal operators soon.

These reports persisted despite denials from some top representatives of the mine owners. It was said the operators plan a meeting Friday to decide if they will talk peace with Lewis.

For a week since President Truman announced a temporary hands-off policy in the coal dispute neither side has made a move. Each was waiting on the other to invite negotiations.

But neither side has budged. Mr. Truman, leaving Monday for a long vacation in Florida, has given no indication that he will step into the dispute before departing.

The most recent word from the White House was the President's promise last Thursday that he is ready to invoke the injunction provisions of the Taft-Hartley labor law when and if he decides a coal shortage has created a national emergency.

Funeral Rites For Pioneer Cattleman Set For Today Here

Final tributes will be paid at 3 p. m. today at the Nalley chapel to Robert Louis (Bob) Evans, 75, pioneer cattleman.

His family had ventured west from Coryell county in the 80s and settled in this area in 1895.

From this early youth he was a part of the West, serving as a cowboy in the days of the open range.

He rode as far north as the present townsite of Lubbock in his work, and it was at that point on one occasion that he broke his arm and had to ride all the way to Big Spring to have it set.

A member of a prominent ranching family, he was himself a pioneer rancher and operated spreads in this area until ill health forced his retirement. He knew all the early ranch personalities personally and was a beloved figure.

Mrs. Evans preceded him in death by two years. They had lost a son and a daughter in 1915 and 1917. One son, Robert Evans, survives. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. George W. Graham, Houston, who is here for the services, and Mrs. Russell Smith, Kansas City, Mo.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, First Baptist pastor, will officiate and burial will be beside the grave of Mrs. Evans.

Funeral services will be Arthur Bigby, Garden City; Billy Boyd Big Lake; George Lynn Brown, Horace Garrett, Robert Currie, Travis Reed, H. Noble Reed, and Harmon J. Morrison.

Music for the service was furnished by a choir formed by members of the various churches, under direction of J. B. Langston.

Lilienthal Successor Is Open Question

Students Battle Panama Police

PANAMA, Panama, Nov. 24. (AP)—Police laid siege to high school students in a national university building last night after fighting a gun battle with the youths in which seven persons were wounded.

The police, Panama's only armed force, said the students opened fire on a patrol car that was dispersing groups gathering to demonstrate in support of efforts by Daniel Chanis, Jr., to regain Panama's presidency.

The students claimed the police opened fire on them without provocation.

The firing, around a university building on the boundary between Panama and the U. S.-controlled canal zone, lasted 20 minutes. Stray bullets reportedly fell in the canal zone and armed Panama police patrolled along the boundary.

The students had tried first to demonstrate in a downtown plaza, but were prevented by police patrols. They were reassembling at the university when the shooting started.

Many of the students fled into the building adjoining. Others were arrested. Police tear gas forced still more out and into custody.

A 41-year-old woman was critically wounded, but police said she suffered gunshot wounds while walking on a street far away from the university area. Two policemen were among the injured.

An hour after the firing a university professor entering the building with a medical team said about 100 students were inside, though many had escaped. The professor said the youths were not armed but were pelting the police with broken flower pots and tiles.

Other witnesses said the police fire had been returned from the university building.

The medical team said there were no casualties inside the building.

By midnight only 30 students, described as "high school boys," still were inside the building.

The German government also promised full cooperation with the Allied Military Security Board.

This board was set up to keep Germany demilitarized.

Mother Of Local Residents Dies Here; Rites To Be At Dublin

Mrs. Clara A. Pittman, 81, mother of three Big Spring people, died Wednesday following a long illness.

She had been in steadily failing health since April.

The remains were taken overland by Nalley Funeral home Thursday morning to Dublin, where rites will be held Friday afternoon at the Harrel chapel. Burial will be in the Green Creek cemetery, beside the grave of her husband who died in 1935.

Mrs. Pittman had resided here for the past five years. Prior to that time, she had visited here frequently with her daughters.

Survivors include one son, Vernon Pittman, Tulsa, Okla.; and five daughters, Mrs. Amos R. Wood, Mrs. Alma McLaurip and Mrs. Denver Dunn of Big Spring, Mrs. H. H. Howell, Baton Rouge, La. and Mrs. W. G. Cannon, Dublin.

Services will be in charge of the Rev. Pennington, a Baptist minister from Fort Worth.

City-Wide Thanksgiving Service Is Held At First Baptist Church Here

"Entering into His gates with Thanksgiving, and into His courts with praise; be thankful unto Him and bless His name."

The Rev. Lloyd H. Thompson, pastor of the First Christian Church cited Psalms 100:4 as a basis for his subject, "Give Thanks Unto The Lord," at the city-wide Thanksgiving service this morning in the First Baptist Church.

The service, which started at 10 a. m., was arranged by the Big Spring Pastors' Association.

Rev. Thompson referred briefly to the history of Thanksgiving as observed in America, but declared that first of all, people of the world should be thankful for God.

"We should be thankful because God is our creator, because He made man to be a living soul and because He is faithful and has never broken a promise to man."

The world should thank God for the gift of His son, Jesus Christ, who gave his life to save man through his broken body and shed blood, Rev. Thompson declared.

"We should be thankful for His everlasting love," the local minister continued. He used the story of the Prodigal Son to illustrate that "regardless of how far man strays from God, he can never go out from His love."

Hope of victory in Christ is another great reason for Thanksgiving, Rev. Thompson said, referring to quotations of Jesus and of David.

Music for the service was furnished by a choir formed by members of the various churches, under direction of J. B. Langston.

DAVID E. LILIENTHAL

Prince Freed Of Robbery Charge

WACO, Nov. 24. (AP)—Ollie Otto Prince of Corsicana was acquitted yesterday of robbing the First National Bank of Mount Calm. He already was under 45-year sentence on conviction of robbing two other banks.

The federal court jury acquitted Prince after hearing him testify that he was not the bandit who made away with $4,100 from the Mount Calm bank on Nov. 22, 1946.

The jury sided with the 44-year-old used car dealer and a plumber who testified Prince was at home when the robbery was committed.

Three government witnesses had pointed out Prince as the bandit.

Prince was convicted Tuesday of robbing the Malone State Bank on Oct. 5, 1946. He drew 35 years on that conviction. Previously, a federal court jury in Dallas had convicted him of robbing a Rice, Tex., bank. He was given 10 years for that.

Defense Attys. Howard Daily of Dallas and Julius Jacobs of Corsicana said yesterday they would appeal the conviction in the Malone case. The decision in the Rice case already is on appeal. Prince will be held, meanwhile, in jail at Marlin.

Lilienthal's resignation was not totally unexpected. There have been periodic reports that he was weary of the post and that he planned to step out once he felt he had been cleared of the "incredible mismanagement" charges made against him and the AEC by Sec. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa).

A majority of the Senate-House Atomic Committee reported last month that its hearings into the Hickenlooper charges had been "fruitless."

But a minority report was submitted by Republican committee members—headed by the Iowa senator—sharply disagreeing.

Hickenlooper, former committee chairman and now its ranking Republican member, recalled yesterday that he had demanded Lilienthal's resignation at the outset of the investigation last May.

"I look forward to a new stimulation in our atomic program," he said in a statement issued in Des Moines. "This resignation has now been submitted and that phase of the matter is ended."

Truman Accepts Resignation Of AEC Chairman

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. (AP)—David E. Lilienthal's resignation as U. S. atomic chief left wide open today the question of who will succeed him in one of the most important jobs in the world.

Lilienthal will quit as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission Dec. 31. President Truman announced yesterday that he was accepting the resignation "reluctantly and with the utmost regret."

The 50-year-old former attorney became the first civilian head of the multi-billion dollar atomic program on Oct. 29, 1946. His term normally would have expired next June 30, along with those of the other four commissioners.

President Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters he had no idea whom Mr. Truman would name to the $17,500 a year post.

Lilienthal, a controversial figure throughout most of his 20 years of public life and particularly in recent months as AEC chairman, submitted his resignation Nov. 21, saying he wished to return to private life.

In a radio interview last night, he said "there is only one time when a fellow can quit this kind of job—and that's when it is going well."

He added that he thought the secrecy-shrouded program had "come a long way" in the three years he has directed it, adding: "I will say this, and say it without any qualifications—I'm satisfied that a good beginning has been made."

Buttons Cut Pretty Big Caper Locally

A button in the collection plate may be out of place, but elsewhere it cuts a pretty big caper in Big Spring.
In addition to the countless thousands on ready-made garments, more than 150,000 buttons are sold over the counter here yearly for utility and embellishment.
Time was when buttons were placed on a garment for practical use only, but now designers realize that in many instances an attractive and unique button will not only add much to the description of the costume, but will, if artfully placed, transfigure an otherwise ordinary ensemble into one possessing unusual possibilities.
There are over ten billion buttons manufactured in the United States annually and it is estimated that of this total Big Spring button counters retail an approximate 150,000 such articles each year.

RIBBON RAMBLINGS
By Mildred Young

It's probably a good thing we have such good food on Thanksgiving. It's so much easier to make it a day of giving thanks if we have a little more than usual for which to be thankful.
Probably the great All-American fault is the fact that we are not thankful enough. As a whole, we have been able to get about what we want and to do about what we please. It seems a little difficult to be thankful for things we have learned to take for granted.
As we face Thanksgiving Day, most of us can list hundreds of things, material and other wise, in our thankful column. But if we had to name five which would best include everything, we think we would name: the right to think as we please, a task to perform, friends and family, past opportunities and faith in the future.
We put the right to think as we please at the top of the list because it is the foundation of our social, economic and religious life. It is this right to think as we please, which gives us the opportunity to find a deep and abiding faith in God, to support religious institutions either by membership, active participation or financial aid, if we so desire. It's the right to set for ourselves certain patterns of living, socially, ethically and politically. Patterns which end only when they interfere with another's freedom and well being. The right to think as we please, is the foundation for much which we take for granted.
We agree with an editorial we read the other day concerning work. It was poking fun at writers who have glorified it through the years. The columnist said that it was the thing which kept us from sleeping till a reasonable hour, busy 10 a. m., or from about eight hours of golf and other recreation during the day. He said that it constantly interfered with easy living and that its only good point was the fact that it provided food and shelter. We're about as big a loafer as the next guy. But we are still mighty thankful that we have a task to perform in an 8 to 5 business and professional world and that we got a pretty big task in living a life from 8 to 5 and all the time. We'll do our share of complaining, too, but that doesn't keep us from considering work a pretty fine heritage. When we take time to think, we're thankful for it.
An important item on our thankful list is the fact that there are a few people, we think and hope, who care something about our success or failure. They're in a group we call our family and friends. We're especially thankful for the members of our family whom we consider friends. It may be sad, but it's certainly true that the fact a person is in a family does not make him a friend of the other members of that family. Most of the time, it's a pretty lonely world and if we have even one person on whom we can depend, we should be thankful.
Whether we have taken the proper advantage of them or not, most of us have a wealth of past opportunities for which to be thankful. There's the chance we've had for education, to make friends and contacts, to made advancements of all kinds. Most of us are better persons today than we would have been without certain opportunities in the past. Most of us would be still better if we had taken greater advantage of our past opportunities.
Finally, because we do have the first four things, we find faith in the future and we are thankful for that faith. We're not a Polyanna. We become disgusted and discouraged as anybody. We think, nearly every day, that everything is sort of pointless and there's not much use in trying. But we also look at the things we mentioned earlier. And, after all, everything seems to be pretty great and wonderful when it's taken as a whole. And we find we're thankful in spite of ourselves.
It's Thanksgiving, a day of giving thanks. And most of us will find that to a degree, we should be, and are, thankful.

Pay Increase To Enlisted Men Not Enough For Medical Pay

Budget Director Frank Pace Jr. has kicked up a fine row over the issue whether service men's dependents should have free or nearly free medical service in the armed services' hospitals, or at the hands of service doctors.

He insists the recent pay raise for service people made a continuance of such services unnecessary. Not so, says Chairman Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee, and Paul Kilday, a committee member. Kilday insists Congress know about the free services, and took it into consideration, when the enlisted men's pay was raised; otherwise, the raise would have been larger. Also, he says, some degree of medical and hospital service has been available to service men's dependents since George Washington's time.

The Budget Bureau recently ordered a 12 percent hike in the bargain rates for government officials—cabinet members, senators, congressmen, foreign service officers and high Pentagon Building civilian officials—in Army and Navy hospitals. This brought the over-all charge for such officials to $11.57 a day for surgery, medicines, nursing, room, food, everything, which is a lot cheaper medical service than any private citizen can get anywhere on an all-inclusive basis.

In addition, members of Congress have full and free use of a medical dispensary in the Capitol Building, complete with doctors and nurses, plus hospital corpsmen.

Congress is hardly in position to object to medical care of service men's dependents, even if it wanted to; but unless President Truman and Secretary Johnson overrule the budget director, this service probably will be denied service people.

Director Pace is naive indeed if he thinks a pay raise of a few dollars a month would enable enlisted men to provide their dependents with full health service in public hospitals. The enlisted men got the least of the pay increases; the big hikes went to the generals.

One Cause Of Big Spending And Deficit Is Constant Asking

Ex-Secretary of State James F. Byrnes is another political big-wig who has taken out after big government, bureaucrats, the fair deal, deficits and big spending.

Well and good, but Mr. Byrnes, who is reputed to be ambitious for the governorship of Distraught South Carolina, followed the state pattern. He viewed with alarm and pointed with disgust to the fix we're in. He neglected, however, to provide a really constructive answer to the problems or to dig down to the underlying causes. It was a bit of sideline quarter-backing with a good grandstand in the conference of governors.

One reason the country has a deficit is that too many groups have formed the habit of running to Washington and asking for help. Our expenses are outrunning our income because too many groups went to Washington asking for things that cost money and stayed around long enough to demand that taxes be reduced. The petitioners for government action raise one roof when somebody proposes to cut appropriations that would affect something they happen to be interested in. It's fine and dandy to cut the other fellow's appropriations, but don't you dare touch ours!

You would think Washington was wholly responsible for all the actions demanding heavy expenditures. Nine times out of ten it's the other way around; somebody went to Washington demanding action that called for more money.

Until everybody quits asking Washington for everything under the sun, and at the same time demanding tax reductions, outgo will continue to exceed income and the deficits will pile up. As grandma used to say in fixing our school lunch, our eyes are bigger than our stomachs.

Love Life Begins At 40 For American Male, Hal Discovers

NEW YORK, (U)—THE MAIN THING wrong with American womanhood is women.

A man who tries to do these forlorn daughters of Eve a favor is just a moon call. It always backfires on him.

Herewith is a postmortem on a little attempt I made:

Knowing that I am a woman's whole existence, I checked to see if I couldn't find them a shortcut in this field to save wear and tear on their claws.

My inquiry disclosed that—Dr. Kinsey to the contrary—the greatest lovers are men in their 40s. This truth was confirmed by Dorothy Dix and the fact that the eight top-drawing male film stars are all 40 plus.

YOU WOULD THINK THAT THIS discovery would be hailed by the ladies as a great timesaver for them. No longer need they waste their own romantic prime trying to rob a teen-age crandle or making goo-goo eyes at Civil War veterans. They could go ahead and concentrate on their real prey—the men of two score years and slightly more.

But wh' happen?

My research revealed only a crop of feminine catcalls of decision.

A big hoot came from a 34-year-old wife in Ashland, Ky., who said her husband was 33 "and I wouldn't wish him to be one day older."

"Just where you old men get the idea you are attractive is a mystery to me."

"Let me tell you why the popular men film stars are over 40. These men are made up to look young, they are excellent actors and they don't have bald heads and potbellies. And, last but not least, the girls don't have to touch their looses, flab-by cheeks."

(EDITOR'S NOTE: SHE HAS YOU there, Boyle.)

(Boyle's Note: A girl that fastidious can always wear cotton work gloves.)

And the Ashland wife would up thus: "Don't ever think any young girl marries an old man for his sex appeal. It is always for his dollars or acres appeal. The sooner men find this out, the happier they will be."

All I can say to these ladies is—go bark at Vice President Barkley, dearies. Who went to Shangi-La—you or the widow from Missouri?

Security Head Going Abroad To Study Health Programs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 — President Truman conferred with federal security administrator Oscar Ewing Monday with these results:

1. The President declared that the controversial Fair Deal health insurance program will be offered to the new session of Congress and fought to a finish.

Mr. Ewing will go abroad early in December to study the health programs of England, Sweden and other nations so that everything possible can be gained from their experience with the problem. This will also enable him to talk back when Congress cites the experience of others.

The president urged his security administrator to take plenty of time to familiarize himself with the situation, especially in Britain. This means that Mr. Ewing will probably not return until mid-January.

2. The President will also resubmit to Congress proposals for a new department containing substantially the agencies now grouped under federal security. Lobbying by the American Medical Association, which hates and fears the administration health bill, is blamed by the administration for defeat last year of the new department, which was recommended by the Hoover Reorganization Commission.

Mr. Ewing told the President that he had personally checked with the principal county chairmen of his state, New York, to ascertain how the health controversy affected Ex-Gov. Lehman's election to the Senate. Republican Senator Dulles had singled out "socialized medicine" as a special target during his vitriolic attacks on the welfare state. Lehman had gone down the line for the Fair Deal in principle.

Only one county, Ewing said, reported that political activity by doctors had hurt Lehman. Chairman of several others unexpectedly carried by Democrats said that the more people learned about the health program the more it had helped them. Others said it had no effect.

Ewing himself is satisfied that the health program is a political asset. He has a special interest in its effect in New York, where he hopes to run for governor next year.

Assurances have been received from here from Senator Humphrey, the young Minnesota News Dealer, that he was not running out on the health bill when he spoke of its needing some changes in committee. The administration had anticipated some committee work on the bill. It does not feel that any more public hearings are required since so extensive a record was built up last year.

The A.M.A., however, has reported to Congress substantial collections for lobbying purposes and is expected to fight the bill as bitterly as before.

Truman Faced With Grim Possibility Of Ex-State Aide's Turning Up Again

WASHINGTON — It looks as if President Truman would soon have one of his former assistants whom he didn't particularly like, back in Washington—this time in the Senate. He is William Benton, former assistant Secretary of State, who will probably be the new Senator from Connecticut following the retirement of GOP Sen. Raymond Baldwin Jan. 1.

Gov. Chester Bowles has virtually decided to appoint Benton, a Democrat, to Baldwin's seat. Benton, who had the difficult job of setting up the State Department's new propaganda office, pioneered the Voice of America radio program. He also went in for an art exhibit, which was sent to various foreign countries, and it was this which got him in the hair of his chief in the White House.

Truman didn't like modernist art, and didn't hesitate to say so. In fact, he took the trouble to write Benton a confidential letter describing modern art "as merely the vapors of half-baked lay people... there is no art at all in connection with the modernists, in my opinion," Truman told his subordinate.

FINAL TRIUMPH

Benton also had a tough time with certain congressmen, especially penny-pinching John Taber of New York, who cut the heart out of his appropriations. It is interesting to note, however, that Congress later came round to the realization that Benton's propaganda program was one of the most important things the State Department was doing. In fact, most of the things Benton crusaded for have now received full recognition.

Despite this, Gen. Marshall, on becoming Secretary of State, asked for Benton's resignation, and the tough-talking former advertising executive retired to Connecticut where he kept busy with the Encyclopedia Britannica, which he owns, the Muzak, the company which pipes music into hotels and restaurants all over the United States.

If Gov. Bowles carries through his present intention of appointing his close friend to the Senate, Benton will now vote on the appropriations of State Department officials who once conspired to fire him. However, Benton bears no grudges, and when the Democratic Party was having a tough time raising money in 1948, he came through with a contribution for the President who once eased him out of Washington.

THANKSGIVING IDEA

The Mormon Church has adopted a Thanksgiving Day idea which larger church groups, or even those affiliated with no church, might want to adopt.

The Mormons are doing without one full meal at this time of the year and donating the amount they would spend for that meal to someone who cannot afford a Thanksgiving dinner. In many cases they are giving the money to the Community Chest.

Behind the Mormon gesture is not only the idea of helping one's fellow man, but also the idea that the hunger pangs of one who goes without a meal makes him think a little more about the sufferings of others.

Perhaps in Washington, D. C., where the people of the capital of the wealthiest and most powerful nation in the world have not been able to fill their Community Chest quota, it might be a good idea to take a leaf from the Mormons' book. If everyone gave up one meal during the week and contributed the equivalent to the Community Chest, the barometer of community generosity would shoot up to near the boiling point.

AMATEUR DIPLOMATS

Most people have the idea that diplomacy is something to be left to those trained in foreign languages, international problems, and the niceties of the social salons. But 24 Negroes from Howard University have just done a great thing for their country by touring Scandinavia to counteract Paul Robeson's propaganda.

The 24 colored students had been studying dramatics at Howard, and after a clerk from the Norwegian Embassy saw their performance, he suggested that they visit Norway. With a little help they made the trip, and started off by presenting Henrik Ibsen's "Wild Duck" right in Ibsen's Norwegian homeland.

Robeson, traveling through Scandinavia a few months before, had told how American Negroes were downtrodden, lynched, and undermanned. Many believed him. Therefore, when the Howard University students arrived, they played to full houses, many in the audience curious to see just what kind of culture could come from the American Negro.

The result was enthusiastic acclaim from Oslo dramatic critics. According to "Morgenbladet" "The acting was honest and straight-forward with an air of sincerity." "Verdens Gang" added: "The visit proved that the 'colored' Howard University has a literary interest and generally cultured student milieu on a plane which any European or other university has reason to envy."

From then on, the Negro students played before sellout crowds. They attracted so much attention, in fact, that they were invited to tour Denmark and Sweden—where they met the same enthusiastic reception. Now they are winding up performances in the American zone of Germany, have been asked to fill engagements in France and Holland.

Though unknown and unappreciated in their own country, these young Negroes have scored a triumph abroad—not merely for their acting but, more important, for their people-to-people diplomacy.

WALL STREET BRUSHOFF

Wall Street bankers are in for a big brushoff when Cameron S. Cobbold, president of the Bank of England, visits the U.S. early next month for a discussion of world trade and monetary problems.

In the past, Montague Norman, Lord Cato and other Bank of England tycoons always dealt directly with Wall Street when they had business in the United States. They ignored Washington except for social teas.

However, the British government has instructed Cobbold to give Wall Street bankers the go-by on this trip and do his talking with the Federal Reserve Board in Washington. He will make only a token, courtesy call in New York after his business in Washington is finished.

Federal Reserve insiders report that the British banking official is not coming here for another handout for his government, but to exchange ideas on how to stimulate trade by a freer exchange of currency and of private investment capital between the U. S. and Great Britain.

Fear Impressions Made Upon Youthful Mind Are Perilous

I wonder what has become of the human skeletons that used to hang in doctors' offices. I never shall forget the first time I saw one of these horrors. I was eight years old, and had been taken by my parents to Sherman for treatment by a specialist. During the consultation, my attention was attracted to something white behind the door. Noticing the direction of my gaze, the doctor smiled, stepped to the door and whisked it back, exposing a man's skeleton hanging from a hook in the wall.

I did not yell, for the simple reason that the sight knocked all the breath out of my body. To make matters worse, the doctor giggled a lever, which made the grinning, fleshless jaws gape wide, then close with a fearsome snap. It was a relief when the door once more hid the ghastly thing.

Although I visited the specialist every day for a week, I never quite got over my fear of that skeleton. At home, when it was night, I hesitated to open a door because I imagined that Mr. Bones was crouching on the other side, just waiting for an opportunity to leap upon me. Sometimes I fancied that he was in the shrubbery outside the house, stealing rapidly, from bush to bush until he was so close that he easily could slip inside by some door or window carelessly left ajar.

With the passage of years, I gradually lost this absurd fear of dead bones; indeed, during my university-premedical course, I treated them with the contempt begotten of familiarity. However, deep down in my subconscious mind, I know that some vestiges of this childhood fear linger, as they probably do in every man. I do not think even the most hardened physician of my acquaintance could refrain from turning tail if he suddenly came up against a skeleton in a dark hallway. Fear of the dead is something as old as the race, and though our conscious minds assume us that they are harmless, the subconscious will not be conwided.

Of course, no doctor nowadays would dream of keeping a skeleton in his office to frighten kids. Child psychology has made great strides in the past three decades, and we know now that impressions of fear make on the childish mind are profound and lasting. In fact, many patients in our mental hospitals are there because of some childhood scare, perhaps inflicted as a practical joke.

Movie theaters very properly refuse to admit children when a horror film is showing. Personally, I never miss a picture of that kind, but it always makes me angry when I spot a kid in the audience. What effect do you think the horrors depicted upon the screen will have upon his impressionable mind? Recently, a psychological survey revealed that the horror picture is responsible for a great deal of nervousness and hysteria among children, and in some instances has turned them into gibbering maniacs.

Even adults are not immune. Several years ago I stepped into a theatre where a Deceola picture was featured, and found myself sitting next to a tough top sergeant with a whole row of battle ribbons on his chest. As the film progressed, he seemed very restless and kept shifting about in his seat in a manner that was extremely annoying. All at once, during the thrilling scene in which the dead girl is talking to her lover, the sergeant swung around with a face of ashen pallor, and said so distinctly that I could read every word on his lips:

"I've had enough. I'm getting out of here!"

Which he did, and in most undignified haste. He may have gone stoically through the hell of Guadalcanal, but he was not proof against the clammy horror of the supernatural, even when only represented on the screen.—R. G. MACREADY.

Background Of Ward Case Has Highly Interesting Features

WASHINGTON, (U)—The climax was reached yesterday in the case of Angus Ward.

The 56-year-old American consul general at Mukden, China, was found guilty by a "people's court" and ordered to leave the country. For a month the Communists had held him and four members of the consulate staff in jail.

No American had been allowed to see them or talk with them, although food and clothing had been sent to them.

Here is a background for what has happened.

Unlike ambassadors and ministers who work on a high diplomatic level, the job of an American consul like Ward is largely looking after trade, shipping, things like that.

AND, UNLIKE AMBASSADORS AND ministers who can't be jailed in a foreign country because they have what is called "diplomatic immunity," a consul can be jailed for an offense.

Almost immediately after they captured Mukden a year ago—Nov. 1948—the Chinese Communist put a police guard around the American consulate.

The confined Ward and the members of his staff to the consulate grounds, depriving them of freedom of the city. Last May the American government decided to close down the consulate.

Still, the Communists would not provide Ward and his staff—there were 14 people in all—with transportation to get out of Mukden. The police guard remained.

Further, the Communists had cut off the consulate's radio. So, presumably, anything Ward wanted to send to his American government first had to be cleared with the Communists.

ON OCT. 29, 1949, THE CHINESE Communist radio announced that Ward and four of his consulate staff had been jailed Oct. 24 on a charge of beating up a Chinese employe of the consulate in a wage dispute.

(The other four jailed men were listed as two Americans—Ralph Rehberg, Rochester, N. Y., a clerk and Shiro Tatsumi, a mechanic—and two European employes: Frank Gibson and Alfred Kirstan.)

In Oct. 31—two days after the Communist radio announcement—Ward's assistant, Vice Consul William N. Stokes, got word through to the American government—supposedly with Communist permission—about the arrest.

Stokes said he had sent the department full details. But State Department officials say they never have received them and believe the Communists suppressed them.

STOKES SAID HE HAD BEEN ABLE to send food and clothing to Ward and his companions but hadn't been permitted to see him.

Finally this government—through its consul general at Peiping, O. Edmund Clubb—demanded Ward's release. Clubb made the demand on Chou En Lai, the Communist government's foreign minister.

What answer? None.

The American government never got an answer. Secretary of State Acheson called the holding of Ward and his companions "barbaric." President Truman called it an outrage.

Although consuls can be jailed for alleged crimes, Acheson indignantly has said it's been a "universal practice" to let consuls in trouble communicate with their government and get release on bail.

Meanwhile, the Communists, who have smashed Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government, want this country to recognize them as heads of the real and legitimate government of China.

Former School Teacher Becomes Gambling Queen

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 24 (U)—To former school teacher Elaine Townsend, running a gambling salon is just like the grocery business.

"The only difference is that you deal in eggs instead of soap flakes," she explained.

Miss Townsend is a thin, blonde, handsome blonde who heads some gaming operations in Havana, Cuba. Although she fails to see the glamor of her otherwise, she will soon be the subject of "The Elaine Townsend Story," produced by Wolfgang Reinhardt.

Here to oversee the writing of the script, the gambling queen explained how she happened to choose her work.

"I have you over Eard where telephone area 43 1-10-20-20-20. She asked I could I had not."

"Well I did," she continued. "I was born in the little town of Powell, Mo. I went to the University of Denver and taught at a commercial school in Denver. Finally, I got so cold I took a trip to Honolulu."

"When I went back home, I was colder than ever. So I took another trip—this time to Havana. I stayed at the National hotel and out by the pool. I would hear all the big-money talk. I happened to hear that the chemin de fer and crap concession at the hotel was open, so I snapped it up.

"Later I became associated with the race track and I now operate all the gambling at the Montmartre."

Ward Affair Draws Attention To Situation In Manchuria

THE U. S. STATE DEPARTMENT HAS been informed that the Manchurian Communists have passed sentence on American Consul General Angus Ward and ordered him out of the country.

Ward had been held in prison on charges of mistreating a Chinese employe of the consulate. The action of the court was not unexpected by observers.

This comes on the heels of Washington's unprecedented request to 30 nations including Soviet Russia to join in bringing pressure on the Chinese Red regime to free Ward and his colleagues. Obviously it could mean that the Mukden people's court was ordered to get a quick decision so as to render it unnecessary for Moscow to respond to any action which may result from the United States' appeal.

THIS CONCERTED MANEUVER HAD been evintuated. It might have put the spotlight on the highly interesting situation.

In the first place, the U. S. suggestion was that the request regarding Ward be directed to the Chinese Communist regime in Peiping, headed by Gen. Mao Tse Tung. This brought from Chinese Nationalist quarters the remark that the Peiping government has no control over Manchuria, which is an individual satellite of Russia and takes orders only from Moscow.

And what's the answer to this? Well, the Chinese Nationalists, and many foreign observers, say that Manchuria has been marked out as a special zone of influence by Russia. Manchuria is strategically situated; it lies up against Russian territory; it is rich in resources.

IN SHORT, MANCHURIA IS AN IDEAL base for any nation which has ambitions to control eastern Asia. By the same token it would provide the Soviet Union with an invaluable defensive position in event of another world war.

So far as concerns Ward, Chinese Nationalists believe it quite possible that the Manchurian Reds acted on their own responsibility in locking him up. The charge that he mishandled an employe isn't taken seriously in Nationalist circles. However, it is pointed out that the consul general very likely is possessed of much information about Manchuria, and the Reds may be worried because of this.

Today's Birthday

WILLIAM S. JACK, born Nov. 24, 1888 in Cleveland, Ohio, son of James Hood Jack. He and Ralph Heints founded and ran a war production plant, Jack and Heints, which attracted nationwide attention. It spent much of its plush wartime profits in high salaries, large bonuses and free insurance for its employes and had a long employe-waiting list during the war-time manpower shortage. However, employes worked an 80-hour week in wartime.

Jack retired to southern California after the war. He devoted the past year to building a plant to work on research and models for supersonic aviation instruments.

U. S. Cool To World Food Bank Proposal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—The United States remained cool today toward a proposed world food bank to move surplus to hunger areas despite action of its sponsor in trimming its financial size.

Sources close to the U. S. delegation to the annual conference of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization said this country's principal objections still stood.

In outlining the food bank plan at the FAO's opening session Monday, Director-General Norris E. Dodd suggested a capitalization of $1 billion for the bank instead of the $5 billion originally advocated.

The bank would facilitate transfer of food surpluses from big producing areas, such as the United States and Canada, to shortage areas. The latter would get the surpluses at cut-rate prices if they paid in dollars, or at full market prices if they paid in currencies not easily converted into dollars.

One of this country's big objections is that the United States would be called upon to furnish most of the money, perhaps $750 million of a $1 billion food bank fund.

There is doubt, delegate sources said, that Congress would vote the money.

Nevertheless, the United States—through President Truman and conference delegates—assured the FAO meeting that it is most anxious to help the world solve its food problems.

"If by working together in this organization, we can create an abundance of food for all countries, we shall bring better health, longer lives, and greater happiness to mankind everywhere," Mr. Truman said in a speech before the conference yesterday.

The President made no reference to the food bank proposal. He did say that work of the FAO centers around two major proposals: (1) increase of food output and (2) distribution among countries needing it.

Livestock Estimate

SYDNEY, AP—Australia today has 108,728,000 sheep, according to the latest Government estimate. There also are 14,121,000 cattle, 1,196,000 pigs, and 1,114,000 horses.

SNYDER MAN OUT $73 FOR LIQUOR

A too-heavy suitcase cost a Snyder man approximately $73 worth of liquor here Tuesday night.

The 75-year-old man purchased six "fifths" and 24 pints of whiskey at a local package store placing the bottles in two suitcases for transfer to Snyder, police said. One of the pieces of luggage proved too heavy for an attendant at the Union bus terminal who dropped it, breaking about 10 pints of the liquor.

The whiskey had been bought for friends in Snyder who had learned he was coming to Big Spring, the visitor told police and local liquor control authorities. He was released, but the whiskey was confiscated, police said.

50 to Sit Down At Weikert Table On Turkey Day

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—There will be 50 people around the table Thursday when Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Weikert of Gettysburg, Pa., sit down to Thanksgiving dinner with their family.

The other 48 diners will be the Weikerts' children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

Plans for the occasion—a combination Thanksgiving celebration homecoming and 60th wedding anniversary—were disclosed today by Edward L. Weikert, Jr., an advisor to handicapped veterans here.

He said his father participated in a similar five-generation reunion a quarter-century ago in honor of his own father, Emmanuel Weikert.

He also raised the possibility that the present heads of the family, now 89 and 86 years old respectively, may still be around when the sixth generation of living Weikerts shows up.

"I don't know why they shouldn't live to be 100," he said.

Encourages Vets

ATHENS, AP—Hundreds of Greek war veteran-amputees are being given new hope and courage by Britain's famed Group-Captain Douglas Bader, DSO, DFC, the "legless fighter ace." Bader didn't let the loss of his legs in a plane crash in 1931 prevent him from later flying his own Spitfire and bagging 22 German aircraft during the Battle of Britain. Bader piloted his own plane on his current visit to Greece.

City Amateur Radio Club Using New FCC-Authorized Club Call

The Big Spring Amateur Radio club is now operating with a new FCC authorized club call, and receipt of that authorization was the occasion for a social meeting at which wives of members were guests.

The club license call is WS1NR and the trustee for the club is Mel Hostman, WAAWT.

Members of the club were in Abilene over the weekend, making up the largest representation of any town at an area-wide hamfest. A similar regional gathering may be held here soon.

The radio club meets next on December 5. At this week's social affair were Mr. and Mrs. Hal Culp, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lovett, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lovett, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Rupp, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Savage and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Vic Smith. ## Loss Of Security Benefits Still Is Major Problem

Loss of social security benefits, particularly to 65 year old retired workers, continues to be a major problem, according to George Clark, manager of the Social Security Administration office in San Angelo.

"The thing for a worker to do," said Clark, "is to contact the social security office when he is 65 and discuss his particular problems with us. Financially successful people apparently became successful because they did not overlook their opportunities. We find that very few financially successful workers lose their benefits."

Clark explained that social security claims may be backdated for a period of three months only and that workers who do not check into their rights within three months after they first become eligible may lose some of the benefits they have paid for.

"The social security office," George Clark concluded, "is a good place for a worker to spend a part of his 65th birthday. Our job is to help workers collect all the payments they are entitled to. However, we can't do this unless the worker comes in and talks it over."

CAUBLE HERD REDUCED

Registered Herefords To Go On Auction Block Here Dec. 1

More than 50 head of Cauble Anxiety 4th registered Hereford will go on the block here Dec. 1, including one herd sire and a dozen other bulls.

Scheduled to begin at 1 p. m. at the West Texas Livestock Auction plant just northwest of Big Spring, the sale results from reduction of the famous Cauble herd. At the same time, it places out standing animals at disposal of the cattle industry.

The sale is the first to be held by Cauble Hereford Farms since the death of the founder, the late I. B. (Doc) Cauble 3 1/2 years. Arrangements have been made by Rexie Cauble, a son, who is continuing the line breeding developed painstakingly by the founder.

Doc Cauble dreamed of a line herd of registered Herefords as early as the turn of the century. After acquiring a ranch, where the present headquarters are located, he pointed to production of registered Herefords.

He disposed of these when he found what he wanted in the blood lines of Goddell and Simpson Anxiety 4th cattle. An avid student of breeding, Mr. Cauble determined the line and type he wanted and built his herd accordingly to plan.

In 1919, some of the get went on show, and in the ensuing two years Cauble cattle gave an impressive account of themselves. After that, Mr. Cauble retired from shows, devoting his energies in breeding quality sires that ranchers would like and could afford.

The real start on the Anxiety Fourth breeding dates back to 1925 and 1926 when Mr. Cauble acquired many of the animals that had gone on the block at the Guggell and Simpson dispersal sale in 1916.

Heading the list on sale is Young Mischief, a herd sire calved April 16, 1941 on the Cauble Farms. He is a son of the famous President Mischief out of Cosamer 38th and has been accounted as "the thickest and deepest bull developed in pasture condition."

Many of the other sires bear such strains as the Mischiefs, Imperial, Prince Advances, and Lamplighters mixtures. A number of the names familiar in the

Beet Borer Also Is Fond of Weeds

DAVIS, Calif. (U) — Since 1905 the sugar beet crown borer has been content to eat weeds. That was the last year it bothered sugar beets in California — until 1948, when the little moth rediscovered its fondness for beets, spinach and broccoli. It mangles the stems and tops.

Why it stuck to weeds for 44 years is a mystery. But Prof. William H. Lange, University of California entomologist who is working on the problem, thinks it may have switched to beets again because the 1949 crop was planted later than usual and attracted the larvae just at the right time.

The little moths live only a month, but each one lays a thousand eggs, he reports.

ART CRITIC SPEAKS HERE

Choose Picture That Moves You, Lions Told

Select the picture that moves you and have the courage of your convictions.

This was the advice of Dr. Carlton Palmer, art critic, collector and dealer, gave to Lions club members Wednesday. Dr. Palmer suggested basis upon which the average person could gain an appreciation for and interest in art.

He took occasion to express dissatisfaction with the modernistic "tangent" upon which some of the leaders in art have embarked.

"They are dealing in symbols of the subconscious with which the average person has no understanding," he explained. "It can't be communicative to the people and therefore the only function it serves is the satisfaction to those who create it."

The tragedy of modernistic art is not in its expounding by its radical exponents, but in the tendency of young artists to simply follow or to copy. But Dr. Palmer sensed that the whole movement was coming to a sort of an end.

"The serious trend is to more realistic art," he said. This heartening development, Dr. Palmer thought, would help art exert its proper influence upon "the social drama of living."

Realistic art, he continued, does not consist in meticulous detail.

On the contrary, he contended that the artist who simply copied nature in exact detail had not added anything. Rather, realistic art consists in the employment of understandable mediums in such a manner that the artist expresses the very thing he feels.

He touched on such factors as blend of color, rhythm of lines, total effect. Most important in any picture, however, is the mood.

Dr. Palmer, who has some 80 pictures on exhibit in room No. 1 of the Settles from now through the weekend, gave a candid tip in selection of a picture.

"Pick the one that 'moves you,'" he said. Don't be guided by the reputation of the artist or what someone else says. The average man has the innate ability to select the fine thing from the poor, he said.

The outstanding contribution to art, as an enduring cultural value, that people can make is to become interested in it, acquire original paintings that appeal to them, and then share the interest with others by explaining why they like what they have acquired.

Art in America has become really significant only within the past 30 years, he said. Despite the numerical revolution, deep rooted interest as expressed in originals in homes has far to go. He paused to pay his respects to San Angelo as being a city with as many original paintings in homes per capita as any city in the nation.

City Corporation Court Business Is Looking Up

Business has been picking up in Big Spring's Corporation court for the past 45 days.

Fines assessed in October amounted to $6,674—about twice as much as for any previous month during the past year. So far, November promises to reach a considerably higher figure. During the first 15 days of the month, $5,840.50 in fines was assessed for minor offenses ranging from overtime parking to drunkenness and affray.

In the 12 months period ending with October, fines levied in Corporation court totaled $39,897.50, police records show. Of that amount, $21,712.50 has been collected; the balance has been "laid out" in jail.

Collections for October, heaviest monthly period during the year, were $3,938. For the first half of November, $3,147.50 was collected.

Biggest assessment for one month prior to October was last March when $3,789 in fines were levied. Lowest was last January when fines amounted to $1,538.50. The smallest amount collected for a month was $923.50 in January.

The big increase during the past two months results indirectly from crop. Police Chief Pete Green said.

More money in circulation among the resident population, as well as the several thousand transients that have worked here during the fall, has meant an increase in the number of minor offenses, he believes.

The police department makes approximately 400 arrests each month, Green said. By far the majority of these are on charges of intoxication.

Speeding, reckless driving, driving while intoxicated, gaming, and affray are most of the other offenses for which fines are levied in the city court. Fines range from $1 to $100, depending on the seriousness of the charge.

Bristow Again Is Named To Liquor Control Board

J. Gordon (Obie) Bristow has been reappointed to the Texas Liquor Control board.

Appointment to a term expiring Nov. 15, 1955 was announced Wednesday in Austin by Gov. Allan Shivers.

Bristow, an independent oil operator, was named originally on Jan. 15 by the late Gov. Meaford Jester. His selection had been urged by a number of leading West Texans.

A graduate of Oklahoma university, Bristow came here to be associated with his father in the oil business more than a score of years ago. Subsequently, he was high school football coach, piloting one of his teams to the quarter-finals before retiring to devote his energies to his business.

High-Scoring Mustangs Face Steer Gridders Here Today

Four Schoolboy Titles On Line

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The state play-off brackets of the City Conference and Class AA will be completed today in Texas schoolboy football.

Four district championships are to be determined.

The City Conference has two on the line. Paschal and North Side clash at Fort Worth in the District 2 wind-up. Paschal can win the title with a victory or tie. Defeat would hand it to Arlington Heights. Breckenridge and Jefferson battle at San Antonio for the District 4 crown.

In Class AA, Districts 4 and 11 have titles in the balance. El Paso High plays Austin (El Paso) for the district 4 pennant. Austin can win it with a victory or tie. A loss would throw the thing into a three-way deadlock between El Paso, Austin and Ysleta. A coin flip would then decide the district representative in the state race. In District 11 Beaumont and Fort Arthur, both unbeaten in conference play, clash for the crown.

The Fort Worth winners plays Sunset of Dallas and the San Antonio champion meets San Jacinto of Houston in the first round of the state play-off next week.

Pampa, Wichita Falls, Lubbock, Abilene, Breckenridge, Paris, Highland Park (Dallas), Marshall, Corsico, Galveston, Corsicans, Austin, Alice and Harlingen already hold Class AA district championships. The El Paso winner plays Lubbock in the first round next week while the Beaumont-Port Arthur winner meets Galveston.

One game was played in the state last night, Milby of Houston beating Lamar of Houston 19-12. Twenty-five more are scheduled today and tomorrow.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Too stunned by "upsets" to make a tabulation of the season's standings at this early date, the Herald board of football oracles takes its last fling at calling the winners for this season.

The writer sneaked in a surprise choice or two last week to pace the fourman board, calling winners in all but seven of 32 games. Joe Pickle stumped 11 times to place second for the week, while Wacil McNair backed the wrong team 12 times and Bob Whipkey was one step behind.

We barged into the season's finale without fanfare:

Rice-Baylor Game Features SWC Card

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Just five games remain before all business of the Southwest Conference will be transacted for the football season.

One of them—the colorful, traditional Texas-Texas A&M battle—is scheduled today.

These teams get together at College Station to see if the Aggies can win one after ten years of drought.

Saturday Baylor and Rice tangle at Houston in the big pay-off. Rice Owls can win the title and the host spot in the Cotton Bowl by licking the Bears. Baylor can tie for the title and get the Cotton Bowl post if it upsets the unbeaten Owls.

Also, on Saturday, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian playing for consolation only, tangle at Fort Worth. This, too, is a deep rivalry.

Arkansas winds up its dismal season against Tulsa at Fayetteville in the next to last inter-sectional game for the conference this year.

After this week only the Southern Methodist-Notre Dame battle at Dallas Dec. 3 will remain on the schedule.

Texas, Southern Methodist, Rice and Arkansas will be generally picked to win. Leave us give our views:

Texas vs Texas A&M at College Station—It's going to be a battle but it looks like Texas experience and passing strength will triumph. Rice vs Baylor at Houston—We're tempted to take Baylor but a hard, cold reasoning says Rice by a touchdown.

Southern Methodist vs Texas Christian at Fort Worth—The last team with the ball ought to win. We'll take SMU.

Arkansas vs Tulsa at Fayetteville—Arkansas didn't do right by us last week; we're punishing the Razorbacks by picking Tulsa.

Hooper Chief Pony Threat

Records: BIG SPRING 4 Wins, 14 Losses, 20 Ties; SWEETWATER 11 Wins, 11 Losses, 11 Ties.

The battle armor of the Big Spring high school football team, battered and bent after nine forays against the enemy, gets another and final challenge on the turf of Steer stadium here at 2 p. m. today.

Pat Gerald's Mustangs of Sweetwater high school, always tough cookies as far as the resident Longhorns go, form the opposition.

Mathematically, the Cayuses still have a chance at the District 3A bunting. Should Abilene's Eagles bite the dust in their outing with San Angelo today, the Mustangs could tie for the lead.

However, since the Birds have already chilled the Ponies, they have already earned the right to represent the conference in bi-district play.

The Longhorns are assured of finishing no lower than fourth place in the five-school conference and could tie for second should they upset the Ponies. The unpredictable Big Springers aren't considered capable of slowing the Red and White but, in this season of crazy football, stranger things have happened.

Sweetwater has managed to win all but two of its nine starts this season. Big Spring's feat of coping three decisions in as many assignments can hardly compare.

The Longhorns staged their greatest show at the expense of Brownwood when they upset the Lions, 14-13. The Ponies pummeled that same outfit last week, 52-13, without working up a sweat.

Chief hatcher-man in the Sweetwater war party is Billy Hooper, an aerialist who can throw strikes all over the field. He has plenty of help from Ronald Fraley, Wesley (Red) Rushing and Baucum.

Both teams will be hard hit by graduation. Gerald will have to get along next year without everyone starting today save his tackles, Charley Thompson and Bob McMillan.

Playing their final game for Big Spring will be Howard Jones, end; Paul Fortenberry, tackle; Red Cunningham and J. W. Drake, guards; Lee Axtens, center; and all members of the starting backfield, Amos Jones, Floyd Martin, Carroll Cannon and Billy Tubb.

Starting lineups (with weights):

BIG SPRING—Howard Jones (155) and Aubrey Armistead (155), ends; Dick Laswell (193) and Paul Fortenberry (160), tackles; Red Cunningham (213) and J. W. Drake (160), guards; Lee Axtens (170), center; Amos Jones (155), Floyd Martin (155), Carroll Cannon (153), and Billy Tubb (150), backs.

SWEETWATER—Riley Cross (160) and D. C. Andrews (170), ends; Charley Thompson (240) and Bob McMillan (160), tackles; Bob Gamel (172) and Earl Meachum (204), guards; Bill Somerville (201), center; Billy Hooper (160), Wesley (Red) Rushing (160), Ronald Fraley (151), and Van Baucum (141), backs.

Cornell-Quaker Game Headlines Eastern Card

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Staff

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Ivy decorates the Thanksgiving football platter today, with Cornell and Pennsylvania tangling in a toss-up game at Philadelphia for the Eastern League championship.

The joust between the once-beaten Big Red and the thrice-beaten Quaker headlines a scattered program of traditional tiffs launching the last big week of college hostilities.

By Saturday night most of the bowl games—Pasadena's Rose excepted—will be scrambling around for talent. By Sunday the big bowls should be filled.

Of the major ones, the Rose Bowl is set with California and Ohio State while the Orange Bowl at Miami has half of its program in Santa Clara. The others want to look around some more.

They'll be watching particularly games Saturday at Houston, where Rice meets Baylor for the South-west crown, and at Tulane, where Henry Franks' highest Greenies bid for a Sugar Bowl berth in a clash with Louisiana State.

The Rice-Baylor winner automatically goes into the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. The loser may land in the Miami attraction.

Bowl scouts also will be in the stands at Miami, Fla., Friday night when Kentucky and the University of Miami bump heads. The winner is a good bet to land one of the post-season plums.

Two of the main Saturday attractions, however, will be completely devoid of bowl interest.

Army's lofty legions will risk their perfect season record against Navy at Philadelphia, with the president among the some 102,000 attending proceedings.

Notre Dame, the nation's top-ranked eleven, will entertain Southern California at South Bend.

Navy and Southern Cal jarred the football world by holding these same two terrors to draws at the end of last season, the only spotches on the Cadet and Irish escutcheons.

In today's Ivy League tie wrangle, Penn can clinch the championship with a victory or a draw since it leads the league with a 3-0 mark. Cornell, which has a 4-1 record in the circuit, needs a triumph to capture honors.

Here are other outstanding games of the day:

Colgate at Brown, Detroit at Wichita, Kansas State at Missouri, Houston at St. Louis U., Miami (Fla.) at Cincinnati, West Virginia at Maryland, Washington and Lee at Richmond, VPI at VMI, Duquesne at Chattanooga, Davidson vs. Citadel at Charlotte, N. C.; Texas at Texas A&M; Wyoming at Denver, Utah State at Utah.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24.—Ten entries are ready to race their hearts out in the Thanksgiving handicap here today as the New Orleans Fair Grounds race track opens its 77th winter season. Purses for the 90-day running total more than a million dollars.

Two months of dry weather have allowed track workers to get the track into excellent shape and have given trainers plenty of time to tune their entries.

More than 15,000 fans are expected to see racing resume at the oval in the center of this city.

The Thanksgiving handicap over six furlongs carries $3,500.

Flower Grove, Sterling Tangle Tonight In Bi-District Test

STERLING CITY, Nov. 24. Two six-man football teams which between them have recorded a lot of 19 victories in 20 starts tangle here tonight with the District 7-8 championship at stake.

Unbeaten Flower Grove, coached by able Victor Beardon, moves in on Sterling to play G. W. TIVILL son's crack Sterling City Eagles. An all-time record crowd for this community is in prospect.

Sterling, champions of the all-ways-rugged District Eight, has been beaten only once and that in a non-conference game with Grandfalls.

Flower Grove didn't play outside its own district but inflicted two defeats on each of its five opponents: Knott, Loop, Ackerly, Union and Klondike.

Sterling had rolled over Courtney, Water Valley, Paint Rock, Meriton, Foran, Rankin, Garden City, Christoval and St. Joseph's of Abilene. The latter was a non-conference outing.

The game will feature high-scoring sextets that depend more on offense than defense for victory. The winning club may have to score as many as four or five touchdowns.

Flower Groves' attack is built around Charley Everetts and Earl Gene Head, each of whom has counted 23 touchdowns. Don Butler is also a Dragon threat. He has counted 49 points.

The Dragons are aerial minded. They've taken to the air 180 times and completed 125 of them, 17 of which went for touchdowns.

Jimmy Glindsey, Bus Bliznak and LeRoy Butler pose quite a problem for Flower Grove. Each has been a standout in the Sterling attack. Duard Grosshan, Elroy Butler, Pascal Brown, Don Gann and Larry Glass are other Eagle standouts.

Starting time of tonight's engagement is 7:30 p. m.

A NEW "scuff-proof" whitewall tire that resists the scars and markings of curbside parking is compared with a conventional tire after both have been tested for non-scuff performance. The new type (shown above) has a "curb-guard" rib of rubber around the outer rim of the whitewall, so designed that it acts as a protective buffer against the curb. Developed by U. S. Rubber Company and different in design and styling, the new tire also features a special tread that virtually eliminates the need for chains in most kinds of winter driving.

Cotton Producers Urged To Retain Equity Transfers

Cotton producers are cautioned to preserve the equity transfer slips which they receive in connection with loan cotton.

These slips are dispatched from the processing points, New Orleans chiefly in the instance of cotton moving from this area. A letter explains their importance. However, there have been instances where farmers have not understood the wisdom of putting them in safe-keeping.

Gabe Hammack, in charge of the PMA office here, said that essential information for transfer of the equity in the cotton was contained on the slips. In subsequent transactions, the slips likely would be required.

Save the slips and know where they can be had is the advice from Hammack.

Thanksgiving dinner... symbolic of that first Thanksgiving when, after a year of intense hardship, our Pilgrim Fathers rejoiced with a table of plenty. Today, let us pause to recall the intolerance and oppression that they fled, and resolve to practice continually, those ideals of democracy that enabled them to establish a land of freedom in America.

Balkan Human Rights Denial Is Just Another Thing For Record

By SIGRID ARNE
AP Newsfeature writer

WASHINGTON — You've read about the U. S. and Britain's charging in the United Nations that three Soviet satellites — Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria — are denying their peoples the ordinary human rights. The International Court of Justice has been asked to rule on the charges.

Can anyone then go into the three countries and protect such people as the churchmen who have recently been tried? No. But State Department experts here expect the case to add another important piece to the record which has been piling up, before world opinion, on the manner in which Communist dictatorships work. Here's why, and here's what has happened:

First, the three nations were parts of Hitler's Axis. They signed peace treaties with the U. S., Britain and Russia. In the treaties they promised to respect human rights and religious freedom.

They agreed that if there was any suspicion that they were not living up to their treaty promises a commission could investigate. The commission would be made up of one person from the accusing nation, one from the nation accused and one from a neutral nation. So there is a clear legal basis now for calling the three Balkans to account and for asking them to present evidence on what is occurring.

There has been plenty of suspicion that human rights had almost ceased to exist in the Soviet sphere. But Western anger rose to the boiling point this year when Hungary tried Josef Cardinal Mindszenty and Bulgaria tried 15 leaders of the United Evangelical church.

On Aug. 1 Secretary of State Acheson sent a note to all three governments suggesting that investigating commissions be set up. The three Balkans refused.

So when the United Nations opened their fall meeting on Sept. 20, Acheson asked all 59 to think it over. They voted 47 to five to send the case to the International Court. They want the court to answer two questions: —

Must the three satellites live up to their treaty promises?

May the commissions investigate?

Suppose the court decides "Yes" to both questions. It's unlikely that the three Balkans will either name representatives to sit on the commissions or admit the commissions into their countries. (They have just refused to present any evidence to the UN.) Then what?

The court can call for evidence. Further, the commissions can be set up regardless of whether the three Balkans join, and again more evidence can be piled on top of the story the court brings out.

Both actions add up to this: More and more proof of the manner in which Communist nations treat their citizens. And in this case, proof collected by responsible and respected agencies. From the information which has already come out of the three nations — particularly concerning the trials of the churchmen — it seems pretty certain that any further evidence should add very useful propaganda material for any of the anti-Communist nations.

Has 315 Patents on Electrical Devices

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP) — Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, retired radio and electrical scientist, holds a total of 315 patents, an average of one every seven weeks of his 46 years of active service with the General Electric Co. here. One is the high-frequency alternator, a huge dynamo type machine that enabled the transmission of trans-Atlantic signals before the vacuum tube replaced it.

One of his machines still is in occasional use at Rocky Point, Long Island.

Burglars, Cowboys Run Riot in Store

WASHINGTON (AP) — A gang of boys entered a toy store at night through a trap door in the roof. They picked up some flashlights out of a showcase to light the way, helped themselves to wristwatches — and then found the bows and arrows.

Morning saw arrows stuck in the walls, a pillar, cardboard boxes, everywhere an arrow would stick. While some of the gang were playing Indian, others apparently were playing cowboy. There was plenty of shot from air rifles underfoot.

Fisherman In a Day

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Clerks are still scratching their heads over a fishing license issued recently to one Glenn Burbank. His application gives this information on him: Hair, black; eyes, blue; height, 23 inches; age, 1 day.

Christmas
is more fun than anything!

... and once again it's Christmas at Hemphill-Wells Co! Last evening after we'd closed our busy doors, a swarm of little men descended on us. They decked our aisles with holly and gold, hung stars from our rafters, and piled our cupboards high with the gayest and most fabulous array of gifts you could imagine. They spared no effort to make Gift Hunting easy and merrily pleasant.

Needless to say, you're invited to visit us, whether to Christmas shop or just to enjoy the handiwork of these little men — who left their calling card in our windows. Have you seen it. It says, "Christmas is more fun than anything!"
