

City appoints marshal; passes flood ordinance

In their regularly-scheduled meeting Thursday night, Littlefield's city council appointed Bill Cox as fire marshal and named Leon Durham assistant fire marshal; passed a Flood Plain Management Ordinance; and authorized the city manager to go into a study with a planning consultant concerning the 701 Planning Grant Program.

Fire Marshal Leon Durham had requested that someone else be designed as fire marshal, and that he would continue to conduct a large portion of the duties as assistant fire marshal.

The Flood Plain Management Ordinance establishes FIA flood hazard map, regulates construction in special hazard areas as designated on the map; provides for review of all building permits and subdivision plans; and provides a penalty for violation of the ordinance.

City Manager Jim Blagg explained the entire ordinance and the council passed it.

City Attorney Ted Sansom and Councilmen Paul Carmickle were not present for the meeting.

Blagg explained that the 701 Planning Grant Program will take into consideration two things: Land use study and analysis for future, along with land use control; and a housing study.

He explained that a resolution is needed in order to file an application for the grant program. The council authorized his going into a study with an engineer and consulting firm for "updating land use planning" to go with the city's prospective growth.

The council will decide whether to pursue the project during their Thursday, June 17, meeting.

Police activity light this week

Police officers and highway patrol arrested four and city officers arrested two the latter part of the week.

At the county jail, two Tulsa men arrested on drunk charges and $175.00 each. A Littlefield man charged with check law violation in Cleveland and Plainview. A man was given 60 days in jail for failure to pay child support. Police had reports of three cases of vandalism. A delivery truck driver was arrested and $60.70 was missing from the truck and collection for chickens.

An Oldsmobile reported the theft of a car valued at $400 taken from Jerry Reagan's chest. Four windows were broken out on a vacant building on W. Delano.

Frank Reed reported the theft of an automobile. He sold the car to a subject and he left without paying.

CConnell's sells, ending 34-year

Littlefield career

Ernest and Thelma Connell have sold Connell's Office Supply to A&B Office Supply, closing out 34 years of business in Littlefield.

Connell has been in this line of work for 42 years, starting out at the age of 17.

From 1934 until WWII, Connell traveled around Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma repairing typewriters and locks and making keys. When gas became too scarce to continue traveling, he opened his first Littlefield store in a little building across from the Post Office where the Texaco station now stands.

In 1946 the Connells built a new house and business on 10th Street where he remained until he opened Connell's Office Supply on Phelps Ave. in 1967.

He and Thelma have been working together as a husband and wife team for 28 years.

Connell said he hadn't even thought about selling his business until he was approached recently. He said he leaves with mixed emotions a little like the guy whose mother-in-law ran off the cliff in his new car.

"We aren't leaving Littlefield," Connell said. "We have a new home, and we are staying here. We haven't had a vacation since 1959, so we'll take a vacation before we decide what we'll do. Then I'll work for someone or maybe put in another business. You don't work 42 years and turn it all off like a faucet."

Prevented planting application run this week almost a certainty

Wednesday night's showers were welcome, but they weren't sufficient to stop a run at the ASCS Office here Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Unless there is a good general rain, approximately 900 prevented cotton planting applications are expected in Lamb County. Applications can be taken only during the four-day period, so ASCS personnel advises farmers to "come early and bring their lunch."

All producers who hadn't planted by Saturday, June 5, are advised to sign up, even if they plan to plant late cotton this week.

If they make application and then plant, this will be considered planted cotton acreage.

This may be a trying year for ASCS committee members. In many cases, the committee will have to adjust payments and take into consideration whether or not a farmer could have planted May 5 through June 5.

Prevented planting was set up for helping those who could not plant due to reasons beyond their control.

If a farmer had limited irrigation and could have planted May 5 through June 5, plants following those dates and suffers a low yield, it will be up to the committee to adjust payments on the yield due to the late planting.

Similar considerations will be taken for farmers who are in a dryland area where there was not enough moisture to plant by June 5th.

Bill Farris, county executive director, said the committee is not allowed to go so far as to say such things as expense of irrigation was beyond a producer's control.

"This is one of those areas where it's hard to make a blanket statement to cover everyone," Farris added. "Situations this year vary from farm to farm, and depend on individual situations. What's true for one is not true for another."

Farris said Wednesday's rains weren't enough to prevent a run on applications this week. "The most moisture we heard of Tuesday was about an inch," he said "and even where they got an inch, they needed a good four-inch soaking rain."

The filing starts at 8 a.m. June 7 and ends at 5 p.m. Thursday. The filing is further complicated by a new form which wasn't designed to sooth frazzled nerves. So the ASCS office asks farmers to help by being prepared to furnish the following information:

1. Kind and date of disaster. Also describe any efforts to prepare land for planting.
2. The number of acres and location of land intended for planting.
3. Know the farms for which application will be filed.
4. Know the acres, location, and date of planting for 1976 crops that have been planted on each farm for which an application will be filed.

5. Kind and amount of supplies such as seed, chemicals, etc. purchased for use in producing a crop of cotton.

Due to pending legislation which would do away with all disaster payments after '76, perhaps farmers can be thankful for small favors.

Some say that legislation proposed by the Ford-Butz administration to shift out of payments into insurance would leave the farmer holding a bag where insurance payments would be the equivalent of losing a crop every four years.

Tax dollars would be saved, but somewhere along the line consumers are going to have to pay the difference when the government subsidizes the butcher, baker and candlestick maker and doesn't guarantee or back the producer of the raw products.

If farmers didn't get planted by Saturday and make application and plant after the June 5 date, this cancels out the prevented planting payment and land would be considered planted cotton acreage. Then if the cotton production is down enough, cotton acreage will be eligible for low yield payments.

Readers can help with special issue

Staff members of the Leader-News are busily preparing stories and pictures for the big July 4 Bicentennial issue, and we are asking our readers for help in this huge task.

Because we are shooting for 76 pages, we need as many articles, stories, pictures, etc. as we can get our hands on. The issue will primarily be a history of the Lamb County area and its people, and anyone with such material is asked to bring it into the Leader-News office by the end of next week this coming June 11.

We are convinced that with our readers' help our Bicentennial issue will be a fitting tribute to America's 200th birthday.

Area schoolers are reminded of the Leader-News essay contest with prizes of $25 U.S. Savings Bonds. Contest rules are listed on page 2.

JUST A LITTLE BOY

He stood at the plate with his heart beating fast;
The bases are loaded; the die has been cast.
Dad and Dad cannot help him; he stands all alone.
At this moment, would send him home.
The ball nears the plate; he swings and he misses;
There's a groan from the crowd, some boos and hisses.
Thoughtless voice cries, "Strike the bum."
They fill his eyes; the game's no more fun.
Remember, he's just a little boy who stands all alone.
So open your heart and give him a break.
It's moments like this a man you should be.
Keep this in mind when you hear someone forget.
He's just a little boy and not a man

A day in June

"What is so rare as a day in June? Then if ever, come perfect days." What is so rare as the whole of June? June is the year at the altar-a bride with a bouque of roses and forget-me-nots, veiled with morning mist and jeweled with dew, gowned with sunrise and romantic as a full moon.

June is a cornflower blue and daylily gold and white lace of daisies in a field. June is bridal wreath and orange blossoms and the sweet scent of honeysuckle on the garden fence.

June is strawberries, red and juicy, tantalizing to man and bird, June is peas in the garden, lettuce and baby beets, string beans, and corn. June is a wren outside the window in the early dawn-a wood thrush at evening. June is iris and a lazy bumblebee and a thunderstorm and a small boy chasing a butterfly. June is soft laughter in the silken dusk and soft starlight over a world of lush growth.

June comes with its own tranquility, predictable as sunrise, reassuring as the coolness of dusk. We are knee-deep in June, as coolness of dusk. We are knee-deep in June, as James Whitcomb Riley put it.

"Sunset and evening star" - How good to look out into the night after a rainy day and see that the sky is clear, the stars are gleaming in their accustomed places.

Work is done by sunlight; but dreams are dreamed by starlight. No night is so dark as one without stars and no life is so drab than that of one who never pauses to look up into the sky and realize the immensity of the heavenly purpose. Give any man a star to steer by and he can reach as far as his imagination points the way, with his faith in the Creator to sustain him.

Here is a fresh reminder of God's abundance-of sunlight and water being turned into food-of growth and plenty-so abundant that the world seems hardly able to contain it all. The fundamental laws of nature only serve to demonstrate the omnipotence of God, as the very nature of earth itself showers plenty, not scarcity; production, not destruction; growth, not stagnation.

Walk a county mile and you will probably see a country boy fishing-a boy and a brook-vivid portrayal of man and the elements in perfect harmony-he could tell you that fishing is only one part fish-you may learn the other components if you ever catch the look in his eyes.

June comes with such intensity- no matter what the year, it is all the Junes we ever knew lumped together. It is a remembering, a knowing and a recalling, a time that was and is and always will be- a timeless time. The roses that bloom on our fences are remembered roses, and the bird songs are all the songs that have sung in the human hearts since hearts first sang.

June is hoped-for truth and longed-for beauty that will remain as long as hearts are forever young.

It is a good time to examine our values- to become newly aware of the beautiful in life- to strive for elegance in refinement rather than in fashion- a time to seek worthiness, not wealth- a time to think quietly, talk gently- a time to look at the stars and listen to the birds- to work cheerfully, suffer bravely, attain patience.

Emerson wrote, "Though we travel the world over to find the beautiful, we must carry it with us or we will find it not."

Agriculture, big business

Approximately one out of four jobs in private employment is related to some phase of agriculture—from actual farm production to supermarket sales.

Farming alone provides employment for 4.3 million operators and workers—as many as the combined payrolls of transportation, the steel industry and the automobile industry.

Between the farm and the dinner table, agriculture required the services of several million people who either store, transport, process and merchandize the output of farms, or provide farmers with supplies.

The meat and poultry industry, including meatpacking, prepared meats and poultry dressing plants, is one of agriculture's largest employers.

It employs 315,000 workers and has a payroll of over $2.7 billion.

Similarly, the baking industry, which includes plants for making bread, biscuits and crackers, employs 254,000 workers and has a payroll of $2.3 billion.

The dairy industry with manufacturers of fluid milk, concentrated and dried milk, cheese, butter and ice cream employs 187,000 workers at a cost of $1.6 billion.

Canned, cured, and frozen food plants employ 227,000 workers with payrolls totaling $1.6 billion.

These and other food processing industries employ about 1.7 million people; textiles and apparel manufacturing, 1.9 million.

Other manufacturing related to agriculture employs 1.7 million; agriculturally related trade and transportation, 7.7 million; and resource based industries and services, 1.8 million.

STAR-SPANGLED HISTORY

HISTORICAL DRAWINGS BY JOSEPH BOGGS BEALE (1841-1926)

"DEFENSE OF THE ALAMO"

Because they were upset with the Mexican government, the people of Texas decided to declare their independence from that country during the winter of 1835. A 182-man garrison of the Texian Army, under the command of Lt. Col. William Travis and including Davy Crockett and James Bowie, was stationed at the Alamo, a mission fortress, in San Antonio. On February 23, 1836, the 5,000-man Mexican Army, under the command of Gen. Santa Anna, lay siege to the Alamo. The Texans bravely held off the Mexican Army, but eventually ran out of ammunition. On March 6, 1836, Santa Anna's forces scaled the walls and took possession of the fort. The Battle of the Alamo stirred the fires of independence in the hearts of Texans, bought the extra time Gen. Sam Houston needed to build up the Texian Army, and gave rise to the battle cry, "Remember the Alamo!" From the collection of American National Insurance Company, Galveston, Texas.

A Woman's View

PEARL BRANDON

AS WE STUDY the life of Jesus here on earth, we find great crowds everywhere He went.

Among these people were all kinds of afflictions, among them the blind. He would find them on the wayside crying out to Him for help. "Master! Master! hear my plea," and Jesus would heal their eyes, then they would leap for joy and praise God.

UNLESS YOU have lost your sight some time, you can't imagine how great it is to be able to see.

My brother had been almost blind for many years. He stuck a knife in his right eye when he was six years old (He is 68 now) then got glaucoma in the other eye as well, as cataracts in both eyes.

He went to Dr. Little in Oklahoma City who has operated on both of his eyes and even gave him sight in his right eye that he hadn't been able to see out of since he was six years old.

He hasn't been able to read or drive a car for years.

The day before we left Ada (where he lives) last week, he read a book half through.

He can drive and make a garden. He said he sees things around their house he didn't even know they had.

WHAT A GLORIOUS feeling, and he is so happy!

They operated on my right eye in February, but got back into the hospital and missed my appointment for my left eye until two weeks ago.

I still can't see very well. I hope Joella will be patient with me on this column, as I can hardly see the lines.

I HOPE to be able to read again soon and am sure I will.

I want to thank Dr. Armistead for getting these appointments for both my brother and myself. He had never seen my brother, but got the appointment for him.

GETTING BACK to Jesus' healing the blind.

He said in John 14: "The things that I do, shall you do also, because I go to my Father."

He went back to His Father, but He sent the Holy Spirit to assist men in doing the things He did when He was here on earth. I believe He heals through doctors and medical people who have studied and trained themselves to help others.

HE WORKS through us now. Why not? He created us in His own image and provides the power if we only take advantage of it.

That is our purpose in life, to carry on His work until it is spread all over the world.

I wish to thank everyone who has been so good to us through all our sickness, but most of all I thank the Most High God.

GOOD USES the hands of humans. So work His will and so it may be to hands of a doctor. He calls to serve or do. Through a day that's stormy, Or through a night that's wild, To heal the heart of a mother, And save the live of a child.

Cong. George Mahon listed 'Number 1 Best'

TEXAS MONTHLY has rated Texas Congressmen from top to bottom and labeled them "The Best," "The Worst," and "Fair-to-Middlin'" in this month's issue.

Current dean of the House and congressman for the 19th District, George H. Mahon, is listed number numero uno, the very first and uppermost among "The Best."

This is what the publication has to say about him:

George H. Mahon, 75, conservative Democrat, Lubbock, 19th District, 21 terms.

The case for George Mahon can be put quite simply: he is one of the half-dozen most powerful men on the Hill, and he does his job, with fairness and integrity, as well as it can be done.

With the death of Wright Patman, the six-foot-two cotton farmer has become the dean of the Congress, the most senior of its 535 members. As chairman of the House's largest committee, Appropriations, he has kept his power and effectiveness when others around him were losing theirs. At the age of seventy-five, he is, says a fellow Texas member, "at the height of his intellectual capacity. I note no decline in his ability." He is honest, straightforward, a gentleman, never an obstructionist, reasonable, and shrewd. He is also hardworking; he is a familiar sight in the House cafeteria at lunch on Saturdays—and unlike most of the other diners, he is on his way back to work that afternoon.

Power and ability aside, Mahon is an endearing human being whose personal traits and simple tastes make him irresistible to nearly everyone. He shuns all the benefits the Pentagon showers upon favored congressmen, refusing to ride in their chauffeur-driven limousines. In a recent TV appearance with a fellow Texan congressman, he wore an attractive suit purchased back in 1942 and now, he noted cheerily, once again in style. When he plays golf with President Ford at Washington's exclusive Burning Tree Club, he has been seen on occasion bringing his lunch (a sandwich) in a brown paper bag.

"He has probably never said an abrasive thing to a fellow member in his life," observes a Texas colleague,

"and yet he's not a weak man. He works most often used to describe is 'courtly.' He writes poetry will never rival Milton, but he has house down when he reads it. He loves classical music, and, in his own words, 'literature and beautiful language.' A former White House now living in Washington swimming with Mahon one afternoon in the late Sixties at the LBJ Ranch quoted a line from a poem by worth, and Mahon very finished out not only that stanza the next two or three. We go discussion about his favorite and he just flopped over on his back and floated around reciting a and fifty lines or so from Byron Juan. The chairman of the Appropriations Committee stared at him with incredulity.

Needless to say, Mahon's conduct is based on something astutely political than all these qualities. Unlike Bob Poage and late Wright Patman, Mahon stood early-on that he had to maintain his position as chairman and accordingly. He says, "Nobody orders from anybody anymore, you know?" In the past he has quietly kept free-spending off the committee and was autocratic than he is now; in the year he has proven flexible in that his continuation in the chair role seems assured for at least a term. In 1974, nearly all the members of Mahon's committee were dropped the public; in 1975, less than the public; in 1976, less than the cent were. He is scrupulous, even when they diverge from own; he is not one to employ parliamentary tricks to get his (Though he opposed federal New York City, when it was apparent that the House favored Mahon shepherded it through committee briskly.) Nor does he his power to twist arms outside his own area of strength; for example, strongly opposed, but carefully lobby against, a crippling amendment to the natural gas deregulation.

Often overlooked is the fact Mahon has one of the best congressional services in the delegation.

EVEN THOUGH Americans ate fewer poultry products last year, total cash receipts from poultry were up.

In Texas total cash receipts from poultry products were up $39 million from that of 1974 and $8 million above the previous high of 1973, point out Dr. David Mellor and Marshall Miller, poultry marketing specialists for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cash receipts totaled $343 million in 1975 in Texas, which accounted for over 5 per cent of the total poultry industry in the U.S.

Texas ranked sixth in the U.S. in cash receipts received from poultry products and was seventh in total egg and poultry production.

Ahead of Texas in total cash receipts from poultry products in 1975 were Georgia, Arkansas, California, North Carolina and Alabama, they note.

Texas ranked fourth in turkey production and in cash receipts received from turkeys in the U.S. The state was ninth in total egg production, seventh in broiler production and in cash receipts from broilers, fifth in the production of egg type chicks, and fourth in the production of turkey poult.

As far as consumption is concerned, the average person ate nine fewer eggs in 1975 as well as less broiler, chicken and turkey meat. However, Mellor and Miller expect broiler and turkey meat consumption to rise in 1976.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Presented by Hammons Funeral Home

In times past, people sought answers to questions just as we seek answers to more and more complicated questions in today's faster pace of living.

It seems the more answers we get, the more questions come up. We wonder if the answers are actually answers or merely temporized explanations. More and more people seem to be going to psychiatrists couches for answers, explanation and help.

At best, psychiatrists can only point out that the answer to an anguished problem lies within the individual.

Centuries ago, even a Man from Galilee uttered a question on the cross, "My God, My God, why has't Thou forsaken me?" Just as He, in experiencing anguish and pain, knew the question wasn't really a question, the same uncomplicated answer to individual despair awaits us; ours to accept, where and when we will.

MRS. LOUIS EUGENE PENNINGTON

Jennings-Pennington vows read in LaPort

In a double-ring ceremony officiated by Rev. Earl Dawson of Houston, Miss Cynthia Bernice Jennings and Louis Eugene Pennington pledged marriage vows Thursday evening, May 20, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Rogerson in La Port.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Jennings of Littlefield and Mr. and Mrs. Herb Deveraux of Mills, Wyo.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride selected a formal-length gown fashioned of pure white lutesong. The six-paneled skirt was softly gathered to an empire style bodice accented with a bow, rounded neckline. The bodice was trimmed with rows of soft lace. The long bouffant sleeves were gathered at the wrists and accented with a ruffle. Her bridal gown was highlighted with a veil of silk illusion attached to a Juliet capelet. Her gown and veil were specially designed and made by her mother. She carried a tapered bouquet of stephanotis and carnations entwined with babies breath.

For "something old," the bride wore a lavilier belonging to her maternal grandmother. "Something new," was her wedding gown and veil, "something borrowed," was her sister's pearl earrings, and for "something blue," she wore the traditional blue garter. She wore pennies in her shoes.

Mrs. Harlen Gilley attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a formal-length gown of baby blue eyelet. The dress featured long bouffant sleeves and a low-shouldered neckline. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue, purple, yellow, green and pink carnations accented with simlax.

James Rogerson of La Port served as best man. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jennings wore an ivory dress accented with a belt and a pastel beaded necklace. She wore a white carnation corsage.

Following the wedding ceremony, guests attended a reception in the dining room in the Rogerson's home. The table featured a pastel blue embossed runner. Centering the table was an arrangement of daisies, blue tinted babies breath and carnations adorned by two white candles.

The bouquets of the bride and of the matron of honor complemented the table.

A bride and groom topped the two-tiered wedding cake decorated with blue sugar rosettes from which cascaded sprays of smaller rosettes to encircle the cake. Mints and nuts were served from a blue crystal dish.

Guests were served from crystal appointments by Mmes James Rogerson and Frank Rogerson.

Lee-Moore wedding solemnized in Tulia

Miss Kathy Ann Lee became the bride of Robert Lee Moore in an impressive ceremony Saturday night, May 29, in the First Baptist Church of Tulia.

Officiating for the ceremony was Rev. Gerald Tidwell, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Seminole; former pastor of the First Baptist Church, Tulia.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Lee of Tulia. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Moore Jr., also of Tulia.

Vows were repeated before a cathedral arch candelabra bearing white tapers and entwined with huckleberry foliage. This was flanked by two spiral candelabras and two seven-branch candelabras, both entwined with huckleberry foliage and accented with pink gladiolus. Completing the setting were votive candles surrounded by huckleberry foliage in the windows and on the baptistry ledge, piano and organ rails.

Escorted by her father and presented in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight English net, styled with a Victorian neckline and long fitted sleeves, completely appliqued with heavy Venice lace roses. Clusters of pearls formed the center of each rose and accented the lines of the gown. Lace and pearls circled the hemline of the dress, which ended in a chapel train. Her headpiece was a matching lace and pearl encrusted cap, attached to a veil of candlelight illusion, which formed a cathedral train.

For "something old," the bride wore a diamond and pearl pin belonging to her paternal grandmother, Mrs. J. D. Lee, Plainview. For "something borrowed," she carried a sheer linen handkerchief with lace insets, belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. G. C. Reed, Tulia. Her wedding dress was her "something new," and she wore the traditional blue garter for "something blue." In her shoe, she wore a lucky six-pence and a penny minted in 1954; the year of the bride and groom's births.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of pink and white sweetheart roses, white daisies, stephanotis and gypsophila. The bride presented her mother and the mother of the groom each a long stemmed pink rose from her bouquet.

Mrs. Ivan Merritt of Rosenberg was matron of honor. Bridesmatron was Mrs. Gary Cook of Aiken, sister of the groom. Bridesmaids were Miss Leah Beth Edwards of Tulia, and Misses Pam Hilton and Pat Runnels, both of Dallas. Miss Melissa Cox of Plainview, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

The attendants' gowns were a pink floral print of sheer polyester, styled with a scooped neckline and a solid pink cummerbund sash at the waist. Ruffles encircled the hemline and neckline of the dress, forming a sleeve over the shoulder. They also wore pink picture hats with crushed bands which matched the sashes on the dresses. Each of the bridesmaids carried a single long stemmed pink rose. The flower girl carried a small white basket containing an arrangement of spring flowers.

Mike Ewing of Tulia was the groom's best man. Groomsmen were Gary Cook of Aiken, brother-in-law of the groom, David Titus of Plainview, cousin of the groom, Don Jackson and James Stout, both of Tulia. Dony House of Tulia, cousin of the groom, was ring bearer. The groom wore a tuxedo of muted pink with a candlelight ruffled shirt and burgandy velvet tie and vest. The groomsmen, ushers, and ring bearer wore black tuxedos with pink ruffled shirts and black velvet ties and vests.

Nuptial selections were played by Mrs. Pat George, at the organ. Mrs. David Jones, soloist, sang "Sunrise, Sunset" as the mothers were being seated. Other selections sung were "One Hand, One Heart," "More," and "The Wedding Prayer." Mrs. Jones was accompanied by Miss Carolyn Foreman at the piano.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lee wore a floor-length gown of fuchsia chiffon styled with a v-neckline and full-length panel sleeves. She added gold sandals. She wore a small carnation accented with baby's breath in her hair. The groom's mother wore a floor-length gown of blue knit with a pleated skirt and a white lace jacket. She added white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Guests were registered by Miss Sue Boston of Tulia. Seating guests were the groomsmen and David Lee of Aiken, cousin of the bride, and Joey Gamble of Tulia, cousin of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor. The bride's table was covered with a white chiffon cloth overlaid with lace and draped with white satin bows. Appointments of silver and crystal were used.

Serving at the bride's table were Miss Roberta Burrow and Miss Vickie Gore of Tulia, and Miss Lucretia McGee of Arlington.

The groom's table was covered with a cloth of beige eyelet. Silver and china appointments were used. Serving the chocolate cake and coffee were Misses Jeannie Kincaid and Brenda Gamble, both of Tulia, cousins of the groom.

Misses Tamra and Paige Thompson of Dallas, cousins of the bride, passed out memory roses to the wedding guests. Other reception assistants were Mmes. L. S. Foreman, Murry Vise, Calvin Galvan, Dick O'Daniel, Neil Wells, W. D. Inglis, and Rae Thornton, also, Misses Dawn Jones, Emily Foreman, Judy Nelson, Kristi Ewing, and Melaynee Latham.

For traveling, the bride changed to a pink two-piece suit, accented with pink and white checked collar and cuffs. She added white accessories. Her corsage was of pink miniature carnations. The bride is a 1972 graduate of Tulia High School and a 1976 graduate of Baylor University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing. She will be employed at Medical Arts Hospital in Littlefield. The groom, also a 1972 graduate of Tulia High School, is employed by Carlisle-Oldham Ford Co. of Littlefield. After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home at 1106 South Wicker, Apt. 31, Littlefield.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner Friday night at The Kitchen.

A bridesmaid's luncheon was held Friday at noon in the home of Mrs. Galon Cox of Plainview, cousin of the bride.

Hostesses for the luncheon, along with Mrs. Cox, were Mrs. Phillip Short of Plainview and Mrs. W. J. Lee of Aiken, aunts of the bride.

Out-of-town guests other than those in the wedding party included Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Short and Quinton, Mr. and Mrs. Galon Cox, Mrs. David Titus, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Carnes, Mrs. Grace Swannengen, Mrs. Mary Kimball, and Mrs. Bill Webb, all of Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. Wm J. Lee and Mrs. Tedena Cook, Aiken; Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Lions roar twice

ROAD RUNNERS 7
The Road Runners won only two runs in three games. In the first game, the Lions built an 11-1 lead and won easily.

PIONEERS 13 CHIEFS 10
In a rare five-inning game, the Pioneers kept the Chiefs at arm's length and pulled out a 13-10 win Tuesday.

The team slugged it out all the way, with both scoring five in the last inning to up the final score.

Donny Vaughn, Lloyd Champion, Randy Vaughn, Steve Castillo, Carrell Horne, Corey Stovall and Bill Cooper each hit for the Pioneers, now 5-1 for the year. Castillo picked up the win.

Byron Magruder, Billy Cowen, Brent Heffington, Raymond Mooney, Tim Boomer, Kevin Pearson, Brad Heffington and Ricky Bush contributed at the plate for the Chiefs.

LIONS 15 FIREBALLS 8
Paul Mendez twirled a four-hitter Thursday as the Lions built their winning streak to seven with a 15-8 win over the Fireballs.

It was the Fireballs' second loss of the season against five wins, and it puts them in third place behind the Pioneers.

Scoring five runs in each inning, the Lions were led by Leo McCarty with a homer and single, Paul Mendez with two doubles, and Dale Bradley, Mike Pierce, Kerry Jones, Mike Montgomery, Scott Tapley, Paul Castillo and Scott Montgomery with singles.

Ray Puente, Larry Sierra, Phillip Ristvedt and Tommie Reed all cracked hits for the losers.

A CATCHER'S WORK IS NEVER DONE! Leader-News catcher George Davis seems to let out a sigh as he bends over to pick up his mask after chasing a foul ball. In the background is Security State's Oscar Torres, who's team won the minor league game Thursday 15-9. (Staff Photo)

League season is bursting at seams

In anticipation of a very successful Little League Baseball season about to burst upon the scene, Little League officials at the Texas State Headquarters at Waco have announced plans for the fourth annual Summer Camp program.

The Summer Camp program at Waco, on the campus of Baylor University, is quite naturally oriented to baseball and the correct way to play the game, according to Jan Cochran, Coordinator of the camp program.

However, she noted that the program also offers a variety of recreation such as swimming, basketball, volleyball, table tennis and other team and individual activities. "We also stress the point that a boy need not be a member of Little League to attend our summer camp," she said.

Open to boys 9 to 15 years of age, the camp sessions are supervised by carefully selected and experienced instructor and counselors, many of whom are chosen from the ranks of college coaching staffs, the field of physical education and from school guidance personnel, Little League Officials said.

Campers are housed in air-conditioned dormitory units and meals are served in fully modern dining room facilities amid the intellectual and academic influence of beautiful Baylor University Campus.

According to the coordinator, three camp sessions will be held: June 20 to July 2; July 4 to July 16 and July 18 to July 30. Applications are being accepted on a first-come basis.

Girls' clinic set at SPC

If you are a girl who would like to know more about basketball, but don't know who to ask, you are in luck.

South Plains College again is offering a one-week basketball clinic for girls, scheduled July 12-16 in the SPC Women's Gym. Cost is $17.50.

C. W. Dukes, associate professor of mathematics at SPC and clinic instructor, will stress basketball fundamentals, such as dribbling, passing, shooting, seeing, defense, offense and rebounding.

Participants, who must furnish their own gym clothes and shoes, will be assigned to classes according to the grade they will be in this fall. Each group will meet two hours daily.

The schedule includes: third and fourth grades, 8-10 a.m.; fifth grade-10 a.m. to noon; sixth and seventh grades-1 to 3 p.m.; and eighth and ninth grades-3 to 5 p.m.

Registration is underway now through July 12 in the Continuing Education Office of the SPC Technical Arts Center. For more information, contact the office of Don Yarbrough, dean of continuing education, at 894-4921.

A similar clinic for boys is scheduled July 19-23.

Woodmen short LCE

WOW rushed across seven runs in the bottom of the first inning Tuesday and coasted in with an 8-4 win over Lamb Co. Electric in a major league game.

The Woodmen victory upped their record to 5-3 on the year, tied with LCE for third place in the major race.

WOW got their eight runs on a multitude of Electrician fielding errors, walks and steals. Only three singles were turned in by Scott Yarbrough, George Brockington and Scott Lewis. Randy Healy fired a five-hitter on the mound.

James Randall collected three hits for LCE. Jimmy Sexton and Brad Richardson both cracked singles.

BIRKELBACH 16 ROTARY 2

Birkelbach exploded for eight second-inning scores Thursday and went on to blast Rotary 16-2.

The win put Birkelbach, 6-2, a half-game in front of Fire

Dept. and in first place in the major league.

Bobby Martinez slugged a home run and single to pace the winners. Rocky Bowman blasted another homer, and Jim Burks and Todd Butler slapped a pair of singles each. Mike Williams held the Rotarians to just two hits.

Raymond Sierra and Pat Torres ripped singles for Rotary.

Local teams remain in Dribbler playoffs

The three local girls Little Dribbler squads entered in the West Texas Playoffs in Dalhart this week were still in the running for championship berths as of presstime Friday.

The Littlefield senior league squad lost a first-round game to Dalhart Thursday 41-23, but stayed alive in the double-elimination tourney with a 32-16 trouncing of Bovina Thursday.

They were to play Anton at 7:15 p.m. Friday night, with the winner of that one advancing to the semi-finals Saturday.

The Sudan major league girls won their first game and played again Friday night for a berth in the finals.

Sudan's junior girls lost their first outing, and also had a "make-or-break" game Friday afternoon with the loser being eliminated.

Against Dalhart Thursday, the Littlefield girls were buried by their opponent's balanced scoring. Carla Vickers led the winners with 10, while her teammates popped for nine, eight, seven and seven.

Bridgett Twitty led Littlefield by pouring in eight points. Sandra Healy added five, Jamie Lee hit four, and Sally Wilkinson, Gloria Brockington and Robin Messer scored two each. The locals trailed 18-8 at the half and just never got a rally going.

Things changed against Bovina Thursday. Ahead at the half only 11-10, the Littlefield all-stars dumped in 13 points in the third period and got out ahead 24-13. Eight tallies in the fourth finished off Bovina.

Scouts start body

The fathers of the Boy Scouts in Littlefield Troop 641 met May 25 at the Tri-County Savings and Loan Building to form a troop committee.

The meeting was led by Wayne Willis, the troop's committee chairman, for the purpose of lightening the heavy load on the volunteer Scoutmasters.

The troop committee consists of various groups in charge of different phases of scouting activity. They plan to meet the last Tuesday of each month.

Tom Hilbun was elected to the office of institutional representative. His duties are keeping the sponsoring organization award of the troop's progress and the troop needs.

Claude Burnett is serving as relations committee chairman. He will provide publicity for the troop when recruiting new boys, and will supervise parent's night.

The treasurer of the com-

Sandra Healy ripped the cords for eight to lead Littlefield. Bridgett Twitty and Jamie Lee notched six each, Linda Glover and Geanice Ward scored four, and Sally Wilkinson and Gloria Brockington hit for two.

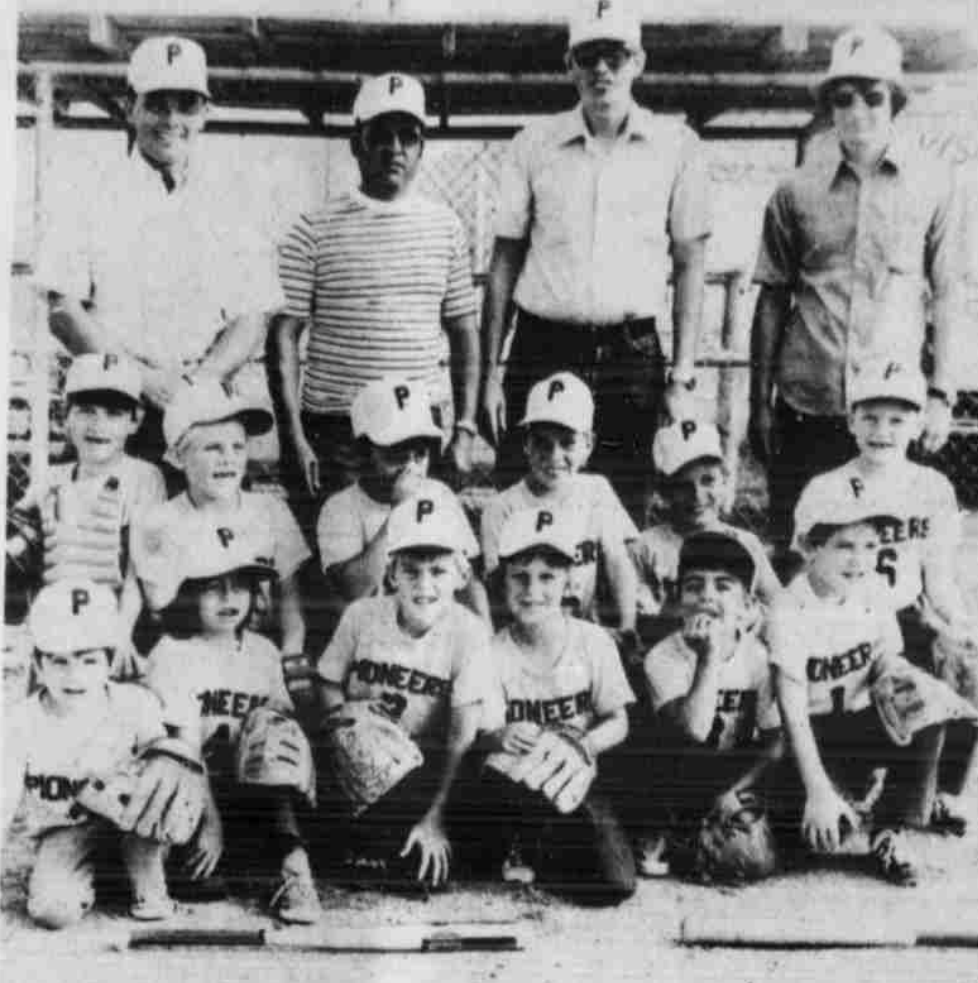

mittee is Rhea Bradley. His duties include working with the troop scribe and seeing that all bills are paid.

The outdoorsman committee is headed by Carl Davis, who will oversee transportation and arrange camping locations.

Jimmy Stueart will chair the advancement committee with Tony Zahn and Ricky Bennett working under him. Their duties include arranging review boards, keeping records and arranging Court of Honors.

Mickey Ratliff will head the moral and community service committee with help from Otis Bennett. They will promote church work and stimulate good turns and service projects for the community.

Troop 641 invites anyone interested, even those outside the troop who would like to serve on the committee or give their help as merit badge counselors, to contact Tony Zahn at 385-6028.

Three species added to endangered list

Everyone knows of the plight of the southern bald eagle, whooping crane and other endangered species which have received much public attention.

But how many have ever heard of the Leon Springs pupfish, Amistad gambusia of San Marcos gambusia? One species, the Amistad gambusia, is extinct in the wild and only a handful of specimens is kept in aquariums at the University of Texas at Austin and the Dexter, New Mexico, National Fish Hatchery.

As the result of a petition submitted by Dr. Clark Hubbs of the University of Texas, Dr. Anthony Echelle of Baylor University and other noted zoologists, Texas Parks and Wildlife added three fish to the state's endangered species list.

All three fish seldom reach more than two inches in length and are not readily distinguishable by laymen from common "minnows."

Leon Springs pupfish are found only in a small stretch of Leon Creek north of Fort Stockton. It was thought to be extinct until rediscovered in the 1960s. The pupfish has been the subject of joint efforts by the P&WD and state zoologists to keep it from extinction through hybridization with an introduced species of pupfish in the creek.

In February 1976, pupfish and other aquatic life were collected from a stretch of Leon Creek and held for later return to the stream. The same portion of water was reteneoned to remove the introduced species and any hybrids of the two.

After the rotenone cleared, the Leon Springs species was reintroduced to the creek. Some individuals also were transported to the Dexter Hatchery.

With impoundment of Amistad Reservoir on the Rio Grande, Amistad gambusia vanished from the wild when the big lake inundated their only known habitat in Good-enough Spring. All remaining fish are held in captivity. According to Dr. Clark Hubbs, the Amistad gambusia is the most endangered vertebrate in the United States.

San Marcos gambusia, a species of mosquitofish, are known only in the San Marcos River in the vicinity of Interstate 35. Growth of the City of San Marcos along the river poses a threat to the tiny fish.

There are no captive specimens and at no time have large numbers of the fish been found in the river.

Three other species of fish also were proposed by Hubbs for inclusion on the Texas Endangered Species List: Devil's River minnow, wide-mouth blindcat and toothless blindcat.

The two blind catfish were not added to the endangered list because, according to Bill Brownlee, P&WD endangered species program leader, very little is known of the fish.

"Both live in the Edwards Aquifer beneath the City of San Antonio," said Brownlee. "They were discovered accidentally when pumped to the surface. Only three specimens of the wide-mouth blindcat have been found and it must be considered rare."

One-hitter stops Newsmen 15-9

Eric Dumoss fired a one-hitter at Leader-News Thursday and his Security State teammates gave him adequate batting support as the bankers won 15-9 in a minor league outing.

Brian Killough was the pitcher.

It was the Newsmen's third straight loss of the year, while Security State got its second straight victory.

Charles Jackson's two hits led the Banker attack. Benny Davis, Dumoss and Jimmy Ratliff each pitched in singles.

Orville Haynes got the only hit for Leader-News, a single.

B&C Pump takes pair

B&C Pump won two Jr. Babe Ruth games by a combined total of 47-2 to keep their seven-game unbeaten streak alive.

First, they walloped Anton 26-2 behind the combined one-hit pitching of Joe Rodriguez and Mark Newton.

Then they used 13 runs in the third inning and got a one-hitter from Lester Wormly to blank Starnes Construction-L&H Durocs 21-0.

In the other Jr. Babe Ruth game, Anton won its first game of the year by surprising Starnes-L&H 11-10.

B&C 26
ANTON 2

With innings of five, eight, seven and six runs, B&C Pump had little trouble with Anton Tuesday and pulled out a 26-2 win.

The game was called after 4½ innings because of the 10-run rule.

Alvin Contreras slapped a triple and two doubles for B&C. Also pitching in with key hits were Jimmy Clayton, a double and two singles; James Johnson, three singles; Mark Newton and Luis Cristan, a double and single each; and Joe Rodriguez and Lester Wormly, a pair of singles apiece. Rodriguez was relieved on the mound after four innings by Newton.

Arthur Amallo got the sole hit for the losers, a single.

B&C 21
STARNES-L&H 0

B&C broke open a 7-0 lead after two innings Thursday, scored 13 in the third and throttled Starnes-L&H 21-0.

Alvin Contreras again had the hot bat, this time with two doubles and a single. Richard Soria slugged a double and single, Roy Mendez and Lester Wormly both popped doubles, and Jimmy Clayton and Eddie Gregory singled.

Lewis Flores ripped a single for S-L&H.

ANTON 11
STARNES-L&H 10

A tight game between Anton and S-L&H last Saturday turned into a real duel in the last inning.

Trailing 9-6 going into the top of the sixth, S-L&H rallied for four runs to take a 10-9 lead. But Anton came back in the bottom of the inning to score twice and escape with an 11-10 win.

Tim Oakly picked up the win and collected three singles. Sam Martinez blasted a home and single, and Thomas Decker added a double and single.

Bradly Bradley banged out four hits for the losers. Steve Jackson, Ruben Torres and Dan Johnson each chipped in a single.

Proper trotline tags needed

"Game wardens have taken more than 1,000 miles of illegal trotlines from Central Texas lakes over a one-month period," says Henry Burkett, director of law enforcement for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, and the crackdown will continue.

"The trotline tag requirement was passed to keep one person from hogging a good fishing spot indefinitely, and also as a safety factor to permit the removal of abandoned hooks and lines from the water," said Burkett.

Game wardens are required to destroy illegal, unclaimed fishing gear.

"Trotlines not tagged with the owner's name, address and the date the line was set are illegal, and fishermen who have improperly tagged lines stand a good chance of losing their line or paying a fine," Burkett said.

According to Burkett, a trotline may be tagged with a metal tag, plastic lettered strips or with the information printed on a plastic bottle. Some people even put their address on a piece of paper in a small medicine bottle tied to the line. All these methods are satisfactory.

Game wardens will pull any untagged lines; those that have been in the water more than 90 days; or one that is illegally constructed, such as having too many hooks, Burkett said.

How to lose your fish

Only a few of the fishermen catch most of the fish.

That point has been emphasized in fishing surveys conducted by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

What are the rest of the anglers doing wrong?

Many times it is the little oversight that leads to a fisherman's downfall and lets a trophy fish escape the hook. Here are a few ways to lose a fish:

—Old line: Neither braided nor monofilament line last forever. Long periods of disuse as well as constant action and excessive heat can weaken a line and cause it to break at the wrong time.

How often an angler needs to change his line depends on how much he fishes and the type of water he fishes in. Long hours of fishing in water with a lot of underbrush might call for a line change every few trips. As a general rule, the average freshwater angler should change his line once or twice a year. And at the same time, reels should not be stored where line is exposed to direct sunlight or excessive heat.

—Frayed line: Abrasion is probably the single greatest threat to fishing line. The bass angler who constantly fishes the underwater forests of Toledo Bend and Sam Rayburn should be particularly alert to line abrasions.

A wise fisherman should scan his line carefully or lightly run it through his fingers to check for rough spots before each fishing trip. Some make it a habit to strip off and discard the first few feet of line before a fishing trip. Check rod guides for rust or rough spots which could damage line.

—Damaged hooks: Dull hooks mean lost fish. Either sharpen dull points with a whetstone or replace them.

Some fishermen make the mistake of reusing hooks which have been spread open. Bending the hook back into shape weakens the metal. And, of course, rusty hooks should be replaced.

—Littered boat: A bass guide relates this story: "I had this old 'bucket-mouth' bass wallowing at the side of the boat. I reached for the landing net and it wasn't where it was supposed to be. I turned around and my client had his feet tangled in it. I lost the fish before I could get the net out."

Radiologic technology course planned at SPC

Today is the date of an entrance examination for students planning to enroll this fall in the radiologic technology program at South Plains College.

There will be no fee for the 8:30 a.m. exam, to be given in the guidance and counseling office, located in the SPC Administration Building. The six-hour exam will cover aspects of verbal reasoning, math, space relationships and deductive reasoning.

Students completing the two-year program in X-ray technology will receive an associate of arts degree in applied science with a specialization in diagnostic radiologic technology.

In order to be eligible for the program, students must be at least 18 years old and have either a high school diploma or the equivalent. They also must complete application forms to both SPC and the radiologic technology program and have a spine x-ray, according to Doyle Davis, program coordinator.

Plains Associated Consultants in Radiology of Lubock will perform the spinal x-ray for the cost of the film alone, as a service to the SPC program, Davis said. Students should plan to make an afternoon appointment with the facility.

For more information, contact Davis at 894-4921, ext. 227.

Cattlemen's Association to convene

Delegates, members and guests from all corners of Texas are expected in Austin July 15-18 for the second annual state convention of the Independent Cattlemen's Association.

ICA President T. A. Cunningham of Goliad said the convention will serve as a launch pad for goals the association will pursue during the coming year in marketing, legislative, and organizational programs.

"The convention is a time for unifying our efforts and renewing our determination to work for the betterment of the Texas cattle industry," Cunningham said.

SUDAN NEWS

By BILLYE DOTY

MISS MONICA MINYARD, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Minyard of Brownwood, recently visited here with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Williamson while her father, Pat, was here on business. His grandmother, Mrs. A. W. Ormand returned to Sudan with him.

DARYL ROBERTS and Tracey Bowling were at A&M during the weekend to visit the university. They are contemplating attending there in the fall.

Pioneer Days

By V. M. [Pete] PETERMAN

EARLY FARM LIFE

In the early 20's in Lamb County, nearly every family was a large one with several children. A week's livelihood went something like this.

It's Saturday morning with no school today, thus mom and dad and all the kids sleep a little late.

But about 8 a.m., everybody's up and at 'em.

One of the older boys makes a fire in the cookstove. Kindling that was prepared the night before is placed on top in the woodbox. As soon as the fire is going good, and the house is getting warm, mama gets up and gets one of the big kids to help make breakfast.

Now, everyone has a job to do.

Dad usually goes to the barn to feed the mules. Several big arm loads of bundles, and a tub of maize heads soon gets that job done.

Saturday morning, while the kids are all there to help, a lot of weekly things have to be done. After the milking is done, and the milk separated, the pigs fed, and chickens turned out, and all the farm chores finished, then something else—corn must be shocked, nubbed and shelled to take to the mill to be made into meal. Corn bread is a must to feed the family.

While back at the house, mama makes a big batch of biscuits and slices and fries a platter of dry salt bacon and makes a big pan of thick gravy, and a pot of coffee.

While mama is doing this, one of the girls does the churning, and soon breakfast is ready.

After all the activities of the morning are about through, one hungry bunch gathers around the table and after a short blessing, everything on the table is soon eaten, and the dishes washed.

On Saturdays, before time to go to town, everyone has to take a bath.

So an abundance of water is placed on the stove, and the wash tubs are brought in. Boys in one room, and the girls in the other. Soon everyone is decked out in clean clothes, and ready to go. The big kids even wear shoes to town.

Saturday is cream and egg day, and without it there just wouldn't be groceries next week. The cream can, the egg case, together with the sack of corn for meal, takes up a lot of space in the Model T., so in order to have a place for everyone, some must sit in the others' laps.

Anyway this happy family goes to town and scatters like birds.

Mom and Dad take the cream and eggs, sell them, buy the groceries, get the corn milled into meal, and do a little shopping and visiting.

A small portion of the produce money, whatever they can spare, is divided among the children. They go to the evening matinee show, and as soon as the show is out, they all get together, and hurry home to do the chores.

Sunday morning chores are done, they get together, and go to School and church. Sunday evening, a usually gets together for a song feast, a picnic, or ever happiness they can get. Often the big boys talk of the car, and go court neighbor girls.

Monday morning the chores and stock pen must be done before Lucky are the kids who ride the school bus. school in the evening, are always the chores and wood carried in the next day.

These children and way of life were not as they often exchanged work for one another, so allow a lot of freedom chances for happier end.

A great portion of the citizens of today were brought up under these circumstances and are carrying on the betterment of America that's the way it was.

smaller rewards in the which she had received winner of the little drift contests.

No doubt this will be great influence on this life in later years, to do any work that she will attain.

While earthly rewards tarnish and fade away, has promised an eternal reward, a crown of glory, fadeth not away, for His faithful servant. This is His way of saying 'well done, thou good faithful servant'. This is incentive to 'fight the fight of faith'.

Thought: Eternal life gift; faithful service will be rewarded.

Baylor President speaks to 1,100 graduates May 14

Baylor University President Abner V. McCall told the university's more than 1,100 graduates Friday morning, May 14, "now is the time for you in the best world that ever has been."

McCall presided during the university's 131st annual commencement program in the Heart O' Texas Coliseum, delivering a brief charge to the degree candidates, including two from this area.

Graduating with honors, cum laude, was Markeeta S. Leonard, who earned her BS degree in nursing. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Leonard of Spade.

Mary G. Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron J. Williams, received her BA degree in history.

"Pay no heed to the older generation and the tales of the 'good old days,'" he said. "Contrary to the belief of some, the 'good old days' never existed. They figments of the distorted memories of the older generation.

"Any day is a good day when you are young and healthy and bursting with energy and curiosity about life," he continued. "When you are old and aching with a tired back, tired feet, indigestion and a migraine headache, even a day in Utopia does not seem too good."

To those who soon will be going out to seek permanent, full-time jobs, McCall said he could "hardly claim with truth that the world is eagerly awaiting your coming."

Conditions are not as good as they could be, he admitted, citing conditions of recession, high unemployment and an economy suffering from inflation.

"The only segment of our national life which continues to grow is the government," he said, "particularly the federal government.

"A multitude of new federal agencies, commissions, authorities, offices and bureaus continue to issue reams and reams of regulations which confuse and irritate everyone and hinder our economic recovery."

Wars and rumors of wars abound in the world, which is beset by problems of population growth, food shortages, pollution, authoritarian oppression, violence and crime, he said.

"It is a far from perfect world into which you go," he continued. "However, in my opinion it is a better world than the one which awaited my class when we graduated from Baylor in 1938.

"The economic depression was worse and World War II was looming on the horizon. As a matter of fact, the conditions in the world today and the outlook for your future are probably better than they have ever been in history."

McCall told the graduates that in joining a work force of 90,000,000 Americans, they will be among the 15 per cent who have a college degree and the definite advantage of extra education that has given them information and cognitive skills other workers do not have.

"Your graduation today is evidence that you have developed habits of responsibility and successful performance," he said. "You have a proven track record. No matter what the condition of the world is, 90 per cent of whether you succeed or fail depends upon you personally.

"Your own personality, character, habits and abilities will largely determine how you prosper. You have done well so far. There is no reason why you cannot continue to do so.

"No matter if the world is far from perfect," he continued, "you have every reason to be confident as to the future. I am confident you will in your time leave a better world for your children when they graduate from college than you inherit today."

McCall was assisted by the deans of the university's various schools in conferring 988 bachelor's, 53 master's, 10 doctoral and 52 juris doctor degrees to candidates.

Honorary doctor of laws degrees were conferred upon Ross M. Sams of Waco and the Rev. Travis S. Berry of Plano.

Also cited during the commencement program were recipients of special faculty awards that were announced for the first time by Dr. Herbert H. Reynolds, Baylor executive vice-president and dean of the university.

Named as Most Outstanding Baylor Teachers for 1976 were Dr. Harold W. Osborne, a professor of sociology and a member of the university's tenured faculty, and Mrs. Rachel Hunter Moore, an English department lecturer on the faculty.

Named as first recipient of the Most Outstanding Baylor Scholar award was Dr. Ray Summers, professor and chairman of religion.

Also presented for the first time was the Most Outstanding Baylor Creative Artist award to Dr. Richard Willis, composer-in-residence in the School of Music.

Each received a citation, an inscribed loving cup and a check for $1,000.

Graduates specially recognized during the program were the highest ranking students in the various schools, including Mack Edward Sawyer, School of Music; James Reginald Oliver, Hankamer

Santa Fe wins safety award

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway won the top railroad employe safety award, May 20, for the fourth year in a row—A year in which fatalities in all rail-related accidents reached an all-time low.

In a ceremony at Department of Transportation headquarters in Washington, the Santa Fe and three other railroads received gold Harriman Memorial Awards for the best employe safety performances in 1975. Santa Fe's award was for railroads whose employes worked 20 million man-hours or more during the year. The award was accepted by John S. Reed, Santa Fe president and chief executive officer.

The presentations were made by Federal Railroad Administrator Asaph H. Hall, who noted that, while a number of steps have been initiated on the federal level aimed at reducing rail accidents of all kinds, "they don't address the fundamental problem, which is money."

He declared that the Railroad Revitalization and Regulatory Reform Act, passed earlier this year, "should alleviate this chronic ailment and provide the entire industry."

Citizens Band radio rules are available

You CB'ers. You have sent in your license application and have your temporary permit so you can go on the air right away, but have you gotten the rules and regulations that apply to your citizens band radio?

The Federal Communications Commission requires that you have these rules. So they have just put out a new lower priced booklet that lists only the "Citizens Band Rules and Regulations" (part 95). Copies are available for $1.50 from the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 21, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Some of the rules and regulations are rather technical and relate to the power of the transmitter, height of antennas, and so on. But some are very practical and relate directly to your use of the CB on the air.

For instance, channel 9 is to be used only for emergency communications. It should only be used for calls to help save lives, protect property, or render assistance to a motorist.

And channel 11 should only be used to call other CB'ers with the idea of moving to another channel for your talk.

"Citizens Band Rules and Regulations" ($1.50) is one of more than 240 publications made available by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration. For a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog listing these publications, write the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.
