Young children traveling alone were left in his care. He woke them up in time to get them off at the right stop and kept them standing right there beside him until an adult showed up to get them. If no one was there when it was time for the train to pull out, he turned them over to the station master.

"High balling" the conductor during freezing weather and driving rain are among his memories, too. He still has the latern he used to signal the conductor. His railroad watch is another treasured keepsake.

The biggest train he attended was 23 cars, and there were times when they unloaded 750 people at Lubbock.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Hypercriticism

By BOB WEAR

ONE OF THE MOST BANEFUL, and most widespread practices of our time is hypercriticism. From all areas of the human experience, it seems that "habitual fault-finding" increases daily.

There doesn't seem to be any particular desire to be helpful or constructive. The "undue criticism" seems to be an end in itself, and oftentimes the critics seem to revel in their efforts to outdo each other.

THIS KIND OF CRITICISM is not helping anybody, not even the critic. Of course, the critic would not be so vocal and energetic if it were not for the people who receive his criticisms with feelings of great delight.

We had better take a good look at the workings of destructiveness which thrive on this derogatory approach to life.

LEGITIMATE CRITICISM is made less effective by the enormity of hypercriticism. This means that we lose one of the more useful ways for correcting the wrong things, and upholding the right.

In fact, the social atmosphere becomes so polluted that an accurate perspective is impossible. People are often heard to say to each other, "I don't know what to believe, or what to think."

THIS TOTAL DISREGARD for truth, for integrity, for responsible behavior and for justice hurts everybody.

It threatens everything that is of value, and the things that are most needful to human well-being. It may very well be the biggest adverse influence upon individuals; and is probably the most discouraging one of all.

MUCH OF THE CRITICISM in the political arena is improperly motivated, and belongs in this "hypercritical" classification.

It is not made with a high regard for honesty and for facts. It is not made for the purpose of accomplishing something worthwhile. Some of it is for the dishonorable purpose of destroying someone's character and ruining his good name. The motivation is often selfishness and greed. This hurts all of us, because it damages our way of life.

DO YOU EVER get the feeling that everything is wrong, that nothing is right? This is not an uncommon feeling, but it is not a feeling based on truth.

This prevailing widespread "hypercriticism" is a gross exaggeration of the bad and the undesirable. It even covers up much that would be encouraging and helpful to all of us, and this helps to make the bad seem worse.

THE HUMAN SCENE will never be perfect, and is not likely to be as hopeless as some predict.

Of course, we have problems and there are many improvements most of us would like to make; but the free-wheeling criticism, with the accompanying discouragement and destructiveness, is not helping us.

CAPTIOUSNESS is movement in the wrong direction, because this is the action which stresses faults and raises objections and is designed to confuse and complicate.

Justified, constructive criticism is helpful, but the present-day "hypercriticism" is destructive and discouraging.

HOWDY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

THIS UNSEASONABLE warm weather is causing me some frustration. Had curled up in the ol' lounger in front of the tube for a little nap, then some eager-beaver down the block cranked up a lawn mower!

I'd known that some of the citizens were havin' thoughts of spring. I'd already seen the onion plants out in front of a local store.

IT'S BAD ENOUGH for a guy to try to alibi his laziness, even in cold weather, but when these unthoughtful people start rushin' the season, it's doubly so.

So, come on fellers! Cool it!

FOR THE SAKE OF you youngsters who've been exposed to the "New Jesus Movement," may I suggest that the Bible has NOT been REWRITTEN!

KEEP WAITIN' AROUND for the Supreme Court to rule the income tax unconstitutional. Better hurry it up, fellas!

MUST BE FUN TO be rich. Look at all the fun that feller Howard Hughes seems to be havin'.

WHEN YOU LOOK at the goings on down Abilene way, you're reminded that "politics makes strange bedfellows." Alas! So does greed!

GUESS I'M A little mean, but, can't help but wonder if the welfare department has thought of includin' a generous supply of the "pill" with their staples?

SEEMS THAT the more I hear outta Smith and Barnes, the more I'd like to hear something about that feller Briscoe.

WELL, WELL! Seems we've gotten a pretty nice size bunch signed up for the schoolboard election. I'm sure most of the fellas knew what they were doin', but it's rumored that feller Blevins had gotten mixed up and thought he was standin' in line at the Post Office window!

WIMMEN! — BOUNCED UP from the table this morning, sayin' "Gotta go make myself pretty, and go to work!" Without even lookin' up, the bitter-half says, "Shall I call your boss and tell him you're going to be late?"

WOULDN'T YOU KNOW. . .The price of gold is going up and I ain't got a bit!

'S funny, here I'd thought we were tryin' to curb inflation, and the government is raisin' the price of this metal, "TO DEVALUE THE DOLLAR."

Either I'm settin' on my horse backward, or his head's on the wrong END!

I'd always thought that inflation consisted of "Devalued" money, or the over abundance thereof. Looks like "Phase II" musta got into reverse!

LIVE AND LEARN, I reckon. Still seems like a heckuva way to run a railroad!

DEAR EDITOR

'Thanks' To Troop

Dear Editor:

The library staff wishes to publicly thank Girl Scout Troop No. 433 for a book donation. This was given in completion of "My Treefoil badge."

They had to do a service project to do the completion and we are grateful that the girls chose the library for their project. Mrs. Travis Altman is their leader and we also wish to thank her for encouraging her girls to think of the library.

Sincerely,
s/Mrs. Jack Hicks

Visit Your Schools

Littlefield and area residents have an opportunity to visit public schools during the week of March 6-10. This is an annual celebration called Texas Public Schools Week and affords interested parents a chance to see, during classroom time, the many changes which have taken place since they were in the public schools.

From the physical aspect alone, many schools have changed from a multi-storied warehouse to a one-story complex. On the other hand, there is a return to the "one-room" schoolhouse but with a vast difference. The one room has become a honey-comb cluster of hexagonal spaces without walls between classrooms — where pupils and teachers can and do rearrange themselves depending on the lesson at hand. These unusual concepts of school architecture are the outgrowth of the new educational trend which allows students to learn at their own individual rates.

Texas Public Schools Week is a [illegible] for Texans to go back to the [illegible] while actual classes are in session [illegible] at first hand, exactly what [illegible] developments are, in education [illegible] purpose they are serving.

It is not only an opportunity [illegible] challenge for every parent to [illegible] child's public school during this [illegible]

This, then, is the trend in [illegible] education — to use not only the new [illegible] the best ideas in all fields [illegible] contribute to a better educational [illegible]

It is logical to assume that [illegible] educational teaching methods [illegible] pace with the progressive change [illegible] school architecture. Reading, Science, Mathematics have taken the place [illegible] three "R's" in importance. All [illegible] utilized new teaching concepts which [illegible] baffled many parents and aroused [illegible] degrees of curiosity.

PHILOSOPHER

Reporters' Reports

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm————has been listening to the reporters' summaries of their trip to China, his letter this week reveals.)

Dear editar:

A lot of columnists who didn't get to make the trip to China have been complaining that nobody has found out what actually took place over there, if anything, but they were looking for the big things when they should have been looking for the little things.

For example, on his return, Walter Cronkite, in summing up some of his impressions which didn't include what went on at the summit talks since he couldn't find out any more than you and me what went on there, said he couldn't get over how clean the streets of Peking were, and contrasted them with the streets of New York and other big cities where I understand it's considered unsanitary for children to play hop-scotch.

He pointed out also how 200,000 Chinese turned out one day to shovel the snow off Peking's streets.

Well, I'll tell you. If 200,000 New Yorkers tackled their streets some morning it'd make a difference too.

But what I wanted to know, and [illegible] television reporters never thought [illegible] is, what would those 200,000 able [illegible] Chinese have been doing if they [illegible] shoveling snow? Don't they have [illegible] jobs?

Also, the reporters and the other [illegible] too couldn't get over the immensity [illegible] ancient Chinese Wall, the 20-foot-[illegible] feet-thick monstrosity running [illegible] thousands of miles over mountains [illegible] through valleys and built over 2,00[illegible] ago by 300,000 slaves.

If you'll give me 300,000 slaves [illegible] work for a bowl of rice a day, and [illegible] other slaves who're growing [illegible] delivering that rice at the same [illegible] pay, no telling what I could build. [illegible] a paved highway to every house [illegible] country and a rock fence around [illegible] farm and ranch, provided somebody [illegible] furnish the wheelbarrows and the [illegible]

But that was ancient China. How [illegible] modern China? I don't know a thing [illegible] it, same as the reporters who've [illegible] there, but there must be some people [illegible] there who, looking out the window [illegible] beneath their warm cover on a [illegible] morning, sure hate to see it snow.

Yours [illegible]

REDUCE DEATHS

Every year cancer kills about 22,000 Americans between 15 and 44 years of age. Give to the American Cancer Society and help reduce the toll.

THANK GOODNESS it's Spring is the sign displayed on a window of a Littlefield business. The TGIS is a play on students' old adage TGIF (thank goodness it's Friday).

OBITUARIES

NEWTON WILTON GORDON

Funeral services for Newton Wilton Gordon, 91, retired farmer who died Wednesday afternoon March 1, in the Amherst Manor Nursing Home, were held Saturday afternoon in Sudan's First Baptist Church.

Rev. J. R. Manning pastor and Paul Gordon, a grandson, officiated.

Burial was in the Sudan Cemetery with Hammons Funeral Home of Littlefield in charge of arrangements.

Gordon was born Sept. 16, 1880 in Cedar Mills, and had lived in Lubbock until six months ago when he went to the nursing home.

Gordon is survived by three daughters, Mrs. L. L. Gaulding of Topock, Ariz., Mrs. C. V. Mickael of Portland, Tex., and Mrs. Merle Stuart of Corpus Christi; a son, Waymon Gordon of Sudan; a brother, John Gordon of Lubbock; nine grandchildren; and 12 great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Halbert Harvey, Nolan Parrish, Richard West, Oscar Vinson, Cecil Testerman and Russell Ingle.

SALENA YOUNG

Funeral services for Mrs Salena Young, 69, of Littlefield, who died Wednesday, Feb. 23, in Knight's Rest Home, were conducted Monday, Feb. 28, in the Galilee Baptist Church in Littlefield.

Officiating was Rev. J. J. Josie, pastor, and burial was in the Littlefield Cemetery with McCarty Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Young was born Sept. 2, 1902 at Paris, Tex., grew up in Lamar County and came to Littlefield in 1946. She was a member of the Galilee Baptist Church.

Among survivors are three aunts, an uncle and several nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers were Henry Mann, R. C. Loyd, Henry Jones, John James, Lonnie McDonald and Henry McDaniel.

J.T. FREEMAN JR.

J. T. Freeman Jr., one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Freeman of Rt. 1, Anton, was found dead in bed early Friday morning, March 3, at his home. Justice of the Peace J. G. Greer of Anton ruled the death was due to natural causes.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. today in Roscoe, and burial will be in the city cemetery there. Lemons Funeral Home of Plainview was in charge of arrangements.

Surviving besides the parents, are a sister, Tamara, of the home; grandparents, Mrs. J. R. Freeman of Roscoe, and W. K. Chapman of Lubbock, and an uncle, Kenneth Chapman of the home.

CLEABURN EVANS

Cleaburn Evans, 66, of Leonard, former Littlefield resident, died early Saturday morning in a Leonard rest home.

Funeral services are set for 2 p.m. afternoon in Leonard, with Wilson Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

While in Littlefield, Evans was a farmer and later a carpenter. He moved to Leonard about 10 years ago, and has also lived in Commerce and again in Leonard.

Surviving are three brothers, Clarence Evans of Leonard, Vernie Evans of Modesto, Calif., and Reda Evans of Littlefield; two sisters, Mrs. Bertie Robbins and Mrs. Mabel Henry, both of Littlefield.

TEXAS CATTLE INDUSTRY

Former Pep Priest Has New Book Out

Former Pep priest, Rev. Stanley Crocchiola, who writes under the pen name of F. Stanley, has published a new book, "The Texas Panhandle, From Cattlemen to Feedlots."

The book, which is just off the press, covers well over 700 pages and weighs four pounds in its mailing wrapper.

"I spent more time in getting notes and writing this book than I have on any other," said Rev. Stanley, a leading Southwest historian and author.

"All together, I collected notes for 20 years or so, with intense researching for three years. The assembling and typing took me 13 months," the father said.

"Of course it takes me a while to type, since I use only two fingers," he chuckled.

Rev. Stanley said he intended to use this book as a gauge for his future books on the Panhandle. He chose the Panhandle history because "so little has been written about this area and its history is so rich."

"From Cattlemen to Feed Lots" is a general overview of what happened to the cattle ranches and the rebirth of the industry in the feed lots today.

The book begins in 1880 when the big ranches were forced to sell out because of the railroads and nestors. The ranchers fought the railroad until 1887, when the first train crossed the Panhandle.

The big era of the railroad came to the Plains during the period following 1887. Many trains existed only on paper, but the contractors were funded anyway, Rev. Stanley said.

"If oil had been found back then, the whole story of the Panhandle would have been different," the priest said. "But gas wells were tapped first, and oil wasn't important until 1926.

"The feed lot concept was first tried in South Texas in 1888, but it didn't catch on until the end of World War II," he added. "The pressure for beef animals in the 60s sparked the spread of feed lots from Iowa to California, like wildfire."

Rev. Crocchiola, writing under the pen name of F. Stanley, has written and published in limited editions 36 books and 107 pamphlets. The price of his new book covers only the costs of printing because all of his books are published on a non-profit basis.

Rev. Stanley still works on a 6 a.m. to midnight schedule which includes his priestly duties, painting, research and writing, and plenty of time for reading.

"I like to read four or five books at a time, many newspapers including the New York Times, 28 magazines a month and then there's my painting, too," he said.

Rev. Stanley teaches free painting classes three times a week to adults and children of Nazareth and Dimmitt. "Four or five of my Nazareth students are already selling paintings," he beamed.

But he chose to forego artwork in his huge new book.

Ladder Stole

City police are investigating report of the theft of a aluminum ladder from a building at 620 Hall sometime Friday.

The ladder was left against the building.

Police jailed two men Saturday morning, and charged them with drunk in public. They were fined and released.

Another was jailed Thursday on the same charge, and has been fined and released.

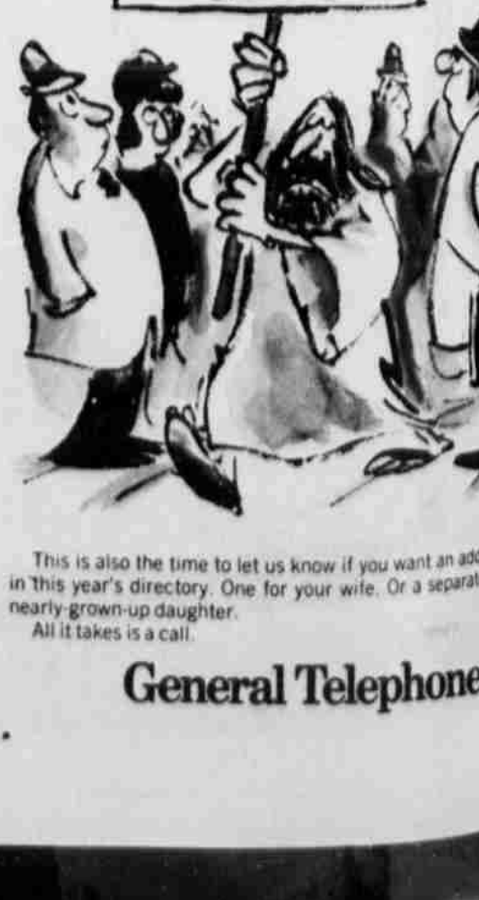
Church Slates Revival Meeting

The Assembly of God Church will begin a six-day revival meeting today, and the services will continue through Friday night.

Services are slated at 7 p.m. nightly at the church's location on the corner of Hall Avenue and College Avenue.

Rev. A. R. Aman of Granbury will serve as the evangelist, and Calvin Price, the church's music director, will lead the singing.

Special musical numbers will be presented every night, according to the pastor, Rev. J. C. Amburn, who also extends an invitation to the public to attend the services.



This is also the time to let us know if you want an additional listing in this year's directory. One for your wife. Or a separate listing for your nearly-grown-up daughter.

All it takes is a call.

Cattle Feeding Leads Expansion Of Small Grains

Expanding cattle feeding operations on the High Plains has renewed interest in production of small grains in this area and has led to expansion of small grain variety tests at the High Plains Research Foundation.

Fifteen wheat varieties, including standard types, experimental selections, and hybrids, were planted November 3 on the Foundation Farm at Halfway.

Winter and spring types of triticale will be tested in small grains production this year. Two winter-types were planted October 10 and at least 10 winter and spring varieties will be planted later this season to provide data on planting dates.

In order to observe small grains on larger acreage, eight types, including two va wheat, two of rye, two varieties, one barley, a wintergrazer, were pla the Foundation Research and Demo Farm east of Plainview acre blocks.

Joe Wright, Fou agronomist in charge grain studies, indica future plans at the Fa called for additional e of these variety te possible cultural studi triticale.

Firemen Make 3 Calls

Littlefield's volunteer firemen answered three fire alarms Thursday and Friday.

They made a run to North Austin street Thursday morning, where a mattress was on fire.

That night, an electrical short in neon lighting at Crescent Park motel, had ignited asphalt shingles.

Friday afternoon, firemen made a run to extinguish a fire in the alley at 308 West First, behind an old lumber building.

City Hall Undergo[es] Over-All Remodeli[ng]

Littlefield is still on a remodeling and improvement binge, judging by improvements that burst out all over during the past year.

Leading the face-lifting activities is the building which houses the city administrative offices. City hall was built in 1930, and used in that capacity, except when used temporarily by county officials while the new Lamb County Courthouse was built in 1954. Modernization and decoration of the red brick building started in April, 1971.

The program is to extend over a 2-year period with $30,000 budgeted for the improvements.

Most of the first floor has been completed. Walls are paneled light oak; ten and a half foot ceilings have been lowered to nine feet, accoustical tiles have been installed in the ceiling.

The building includes the fire department with areas which include fire truck storage and sleeping quarters for the men; the police department, with chief of police's office and dispatch room; water department billing and collection office, accounting, building inspector, tax assessor and collection, city secretary, city manager, city council chamber, municipal court, jail, the Chamber of Commerce, store room, and coffee bar and rest-rooms.

Building permits for the past fiscal year of the City of Littlefield showed a sharp rise. For the year ending Sept. 30, 1970, the figure was $110,000. For the year ending Sept. 30, 1971, they reached $286,185.

Municipal sales tax collections showed a good increase according to Pat D. Bradley, city manager. For the year ending Sept. 30, 1970, they were $84,584.54 while the latest period ending Sept. 30, 1971 showed a total of $96,097.71.

There were no fatal accidents in the city of Littlefield in 1971. In 1970, there were five deaths from automobile accidents. In 1970 there were 198 investigated accidents and in 1971 there were only 186.

The city suffered less than half the fire losses in the past year. At the end of September, 1970, losses were $55,050; in 1971 for the same they were $27,220.

Improvements included $25,000 spent by the city on the local airport, where ... overlaid the secondary ... the taxi-way and the ... apron.

Civil Case Jurors Rule For Church

The 12-member jury returned a verdict in favor of the church Thursday of this week after three days of testimony and almost five hours of deliberation.

The West Texas District Church of the Nazarene brought suit against Southern Lloyds for a claim that the wind storm in April of 1970 caused extensive damage to the church auditorium here.

At the time of the damage, jurors found that the damage could have been repaired for $16,590. Because of the lapse of time, church officials say now that the building is irrepairable.

District Judge Pat Boone Jr. said he has taken the judgement under advisement.

Larry Sanderson was foreman of the jury. Other jurors were Douglas Parish, Mrs. Pat Fuentes Jr., J.R. Scott, Mrs. Thomas F. Hodge, M.J. Cotter, Sena Stevens, John D. Burnett, W.A. DeBerry, Mrs. Sherman Rushing, Buster Owens Jr., and Mrs. George B. Williams.

Two more Littlefield Wildcats have received football scholarships.

Dennis Hartley and Mike Carter signed letters of intent for four-year scholarships to Sul Ross this week.

Hartley received numerous awards in his positions as fullback and defensive halfback. On the 3-AA district winning team this year, Hartley was selected all-district. He was named All-South Plains, and second team All-State defensive back. Wildcat coaches named him Most Valuable Player this year. In addition he got the Most Valuable Player nod his junior year and as a sophomore on the junior varsity team.

Hartley's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hartley.

Carter plays split end and defensive halfback and was picked honorable mention All-District on the 3-AA team. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Carter.

The two were picked by Sul Ross scouts mostly on the basis of films.

Sheriff's Posse Playday Today

Riders will be in competition again today as the Lamb County Sheriff's Posse holds their monthly playday.

Young and old, men and women will compete for ribbons and the opportunity to add more points to their season records.

Razorbacks, Frogs, Hawks Little Dribbler Winners

An 8-3 first quarter lead was turned into a 36-16 win by the Razorbacks over the Raiders, Thursday, in little dribbler's major league basketball.

Rudolph Smith sank 24 points to pace the winners. Darren Richards hit six, Greg Lavo and Dewayne Hayes each bucketed two. Keith McCain and Kenny Williams got one each.

The Raiders scoring department consisted of Larry Whitson with 12, Brent Jones and Van Jacquess each got two.

In other major league action, the Horned Frogs had to climb the hill all the way to dump the Mustangs, 22-21.

The Mustangs led for three quarters before being tripped by the Horned Frogs for a one-point win.

Dennis Jackson took game honors by scoring 11 points for the winners. Jeff Ratliff bucketed seven and Terry Foley and Kevin Gardner each got two.

Bradley Allen scored seven points for the Mustangs, Brent Maddox hit five; Randy Taylor, four; Jamie Gray, three; and Johnny Ortiz, two.

Brady Bradley dumped in eight points for the Chaparrals, all for a lost cause as the Hawks squeeked past the Chaparrals, 17-15, in minor league basketball.

The game was knotted 9-9 at the half and 11-9 going into the final stanza, as the Chaparrals blanked the Hawks in the third quarter before bowing to the winners for a two-point defeat.

Other scorers for the Chaparrals were Tracy Birkelbach and Herbert Spencer with three points each. Tracy Spencer got one.

The winners' scoring department was Jimmy Clayton with seven, Scot Yarbrough with four, and Kerry Pope, Mark Yarbrough and Joe Don Haynes with two each.

A HAZARD

Almost everyone enjoys some type of music. Music should be listened to at reasonable volume levels, because highly amplified music can present a hazard to hearing ability.

hat Profit A Stock Show?

A Demonstration Of Belief In Youth

EDITOR'S NOTE: This copy n the "Farm Journal" was mitted to Associate County nt Bobby Brunson by Mrs. ald Graham of the nyside community. It is ted in its entirety.)

wasn't trying to disrupt the stock sales yard. I simply trying to help my high ol son get a picture of his es. But the man galloping e on horseback shouted as thought me deaf as well as tle dumb: "Lady, get out of alley, or you're going to get !"

other voice bawled over loud speaker" "Thirteen d! Alley one! Pen teen!"

rabbed my purse, camera, the Future Farmer's small her, and started to scram. u can't leave now!" eone yelled. "They're ng down the alley!"

st in time, we shinnied up fence. Thirteen head of wild- steers raced by, their s fanning my ankles.

e made three other mpts to get out of the way; ach time, a bunch of cattle hustled toward us, and we to seek the fence top again. e vent to my exasperation reeching at my 5-year-old: help me, if you ever join or 4-H, don't you expect help from me!"

dn't mean it, of course he oin. And so will the Future mer's other younger her. And I shall remain deep in baby chicks, tables, fat steers, and fed lambs — all those projects necessary to the ng of a boy into a man.

w me the boy who has d merit badges, medals, ribbons, or a trip to a nal meet — or, for that r, a boy who hasn't won ing, but who is ready to gain next year — and ly I can show you a mother should look like a general a chest full of ribbons.

Mom's ribbons and s are not so tangible. They he pride she wears (right on her sleeve) in the mplishments of her boy; er own realization that it's cessary for her to help and rage that boy, as it is for feed him and make him behind his ears.

metimes I wish I were the n whose chief concern Fair time tolls around is Grandma's vinegar cruet ed in the antique section. sometimes I envy the assed poise of my city s who can stroll past the its, assuming that n's combs always shine, and that steers' tails are naturally curly.

But I am a little bit sorry for them, too. They've missed the biggest part of the show, known only to those who enter by the back gates armed with buckets and brushes.

I have taken many projects in my stride in the course of our son's 4-H and FFA career. Scouting, too. I have mastered the Morse code, and I have taken the Five-Mile Hike and eaten aromatic stew out of a can. We — Dad and I — have applauded our son's victories, and helped him starch his spine to stand up in defeat. But often I have wished that I had never met Doris.

Perhaps, subconsciously, I feel inferior to Doris because of her pedigree. My ancestry is a conglomeration of nationalities; but Doris' is untainted by any intermingling of blood lines except the best Holstein-Friesian.

She wasn't a very impressive calf the day she made her debut in our family, shivering cold and unable to stand. But as of today, she has a fistful of ribbons — Junior Grand Champion, twice Grand Champion, and Reserve Grand Champion.

Our life has not been simple, nor dull, since Doris entered it. For one thing, the will power of a mule is mild compared with that of a cow if it decided not to climb into a trailer. The only way I want to cope with that situation is to get behind the offender and whop her with a stick.

But Doris must not be struck, nor scolded, nor yelled at — it would make her nervous. She must be tempted with grain or the best quality hay held temptingly before her. Doris must be coaxed and cajoled, praised and patted, until getting into the trailer becomes her own idea. But once at the fair, she again performed brilliantly.

But as I watched the other youngster's prize animals being auctioned off, I did not feel a part of the bustle and noise of the sales yard. Men were there, with strident voices, and they belonged. So did the boys and girls scrambling around the enclosures, giving final brushings and pattings to their animals. The white-shirted, cigar-smoking business men in the buyers' section belonged there — but not I. Nevertheless I wanted to see this thing through.

Then the bidding began, and I saw a girl weeping into the sleek neck of a steer just sold to the butcher. I saw a boy's face brighten until it glowed incandescently as quarter by quarter, the price mounted on his fat lambs.

I listened as, again and again, the bidding climbed — Going once, going twice. .SOLD to the Bank and Trust. . .SOLD to F. W. Woolworth Company. . .SOLD to Barlow Warehouse!

What profit, I wondered, is there in a business man's paying more than the market price for a pig or calf?

The realization flooded over me that herein lies the profit: This is the American way of showing that our young people are our priceless possession. This is our way of saying to them: "It isn't easy to be young, to learn good sportsmanship and good business practices — whether you win or lose. But we believe in you, and we want to help."

And suddenly I was proud to be a part of it. Sometimes it's nerve-racking, fatiguing, and downright inconvenient to be the unsung helper behind the scenes of my son's projects. But it's also tremendously rewarding — a manly son is blue ribbon enough for any Mom!

Bula GA's Recognized

BULA--Mrs. Johnnie Hall, Girls Auxiliary leader, presented the GA's in a special program Sunday evening at the Baptist Church, in recognition of the girls' completing their required work.

Theme for the program was "What the World Needs Now is Love", with the recording of the music being played softly in the background.

Program opened with Mrs. Hall's reading the Love chapter of the Bible, 13th Chapter of I Cor. She also showed slides of different nationalities of people. Ashel Richardson and daughter, Margaret, sang a special, "The Love of God".

The altar was centered with one huge burning candle and as each candidate came down the aisle carrying a single white candle, they lighted it from the burning candle on the altar, and as they received their collars and badges presented to them by Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Dewitt Tiller, each girl quoted John 3:16, and then placed their candle on the altar.

GA's receiving recognition were Ida and Oralia Davila, Elnora and Ruby Peacock, Janice Tiller, Dora Black and Tammie Green.

Ronnie Green, pastor of the church, gave the benediction.

"I'd take them to the lounge or go to the diner with them and buy 'em some milk or candy. Oh boy, that was swell. They liked that."

Young children traveling alone were left in his care. He woke them up in time to get them off at the right stop and kept them standing right there beside him until an adult showed up to get them. If no one was there when it was time for the train to pull out, he turned them over to the station master.

"High balling" the conductor during freezing weather and driving rain are among his memories, too. He still has the latern he used to signal the conductor. His railroad watch is another treasured keepsake.

The biggest train he attended was 23 cars, and there were times when they unloaded 750 people at Lubbock.

Robinson was on the train that carried President Eisenhower west out of Clovis. The president had "Mr. Gurly's" private car. Gurley was president of Santa Fe. "Oh, boy, that car looked like the White House itself," Robinson said. "It had television and everything."

Robinson was 66 when he retired. He is 69 now. "I've never been drunk or lain out," he said. You last a long time when you stay off that old whiskey and stuff."

UNSEASONABLY WARM February days have allowed fruit trees to burst out in bloom. Lynn Timian, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Timian, 117 E. 18th, sniffs apricot blooms in his back yard. Some fruit trees in full bloom were nipped late this week when temperatures dipped below the freezing mark.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Hypercriticism

By BOB WEAR

ONE OF THE MOST BANEFUL, and most widespread practices of our time is hypercriticism. From all areas of the human experience, it seems that "habitual fault-finding" increases daily.

There doesn't seem to be any particular desire to be helpful or constructive. The "undue criticism" seems to be an end in itself, and oftentimes the critics seem to revel in their efforts to outdo each other.

THIS KIND OF CRITICISM is not helping anybody, not even the critic. Of course, the critic would not be so vocal and energetic if it were not for the people who receive his criticisms with feelings of great delight.

We had better take a good look at the workings of destructiveness which thrive on this derogatory approach to life.

LEGITIMATE CRITICISM is made less effective by the enormity of hypercriticism. This means that we lose one of the more useful ways for correcting the wrong things, and upholding the right.

In fact, the social atmosphere becomes so polluted that an accurate perspective is impossible. People are often heard to say to each other, "I don't know what to believe, or what to think."

THIS TOTAL DISREGARD for truth, for integrity, for responsible behavior and for justice hurts everybody.

It threatens everything that is of value, and the things that are most needful to human well-being. It may very well be the biggest adverse influence upon individuals; and is probably the most discouraging one of all.

MUCH OF THE CRITICISM in the political arena is improperly motivated, and belongs in this "hypercritical" classification.

It is not made with a high regard for honesty and for facts. It is not made for the purpose of accomplishing something worthwhile. Some of it is for the dishonorable purpose of destroying someone's character and ruining his good name. The motivation is often selfishness and greed. This hurts all of us, because it damages our way of life.

DO YOU EVER get the feeling that everything is wrong, that nothing is right? This is not an uncommon feeling, but it is not a feeling based on truth.

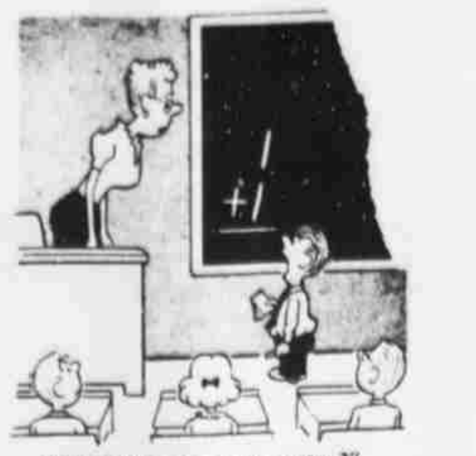
This prevailing widespread "hypercriticism" is a gross exaggeration of the bad and the undesirable. It even covers up much that would be encouraging and helpful to all of us, and this helps to make the bad seem worse.

THE HUMAN SCENE will never be perfect, and is not likely to be as hopeless as some predict.

Of course, we have problems and there are many improvements most of us would like to make; but the free-wheeling criticism, with the accompanying discouragement and destructiveness, is not helping us.

CAPTIOUSNESS is movement in the wrong direction, because this is the action which stresses faults and raises objections and is designed to confuse and complicate.

Justified, constructive criticism is helpful, but the present-day "hypercriticism" is destructive and discouraging.



"Mind if I refer to my notes?"

HOMINY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

THIS UNSEASONABLE warm weather is causing me some frustration. Had curled up in the ol' lounger in front of the tube for a little nap, then some eager-beaver down the block cranked up a lawn mower!

I'd known that some of the citizens were havin' thoughts of spring. I'd already seen the onion plants out in front of a local store.

IT'S BAD ENOUGH for a guy to try to alibi his laziness, even in cold weather, but when these unthoughtful people start rushin' the season, it's doubly so.

So, come on fellers! Cool it!

FOR THE SAKE OF you youngsters who've been exposed to the "New Jesus Movement," may I suggest that the Bible has NOT been REWRITTEN!

KEEP WAITIN' AROUND for the Supreme Court to rule the income tax unconstitutional. Better hurry it up, fellas!

MUST BE FUN TO be rich. Look at all the fun that feller Howard Hughes seems to be havin'.

WHEN YOU LOOK at the goings on down Abilene way, you're reminded that "politics makes strange bedfellows." Alas! So does greed!

GUESS I'M A little mean, but, can't help but wonder if the welfare department has thought of includin' a generous supply of the "pill" with their staples?

SEEMS THAT the more I hear outta Smith and Barnes, the more I'd like to hear something about that feller Briscoe.

WELL, WELL! Seems we've gotten a pretty nice size bunch signed up for the schoolboard election. I'm sure most of the fellas knew what they were doin', but it's rumored that feller Blevins had gotten mixed up and thought he was standin' in line at the Post Office window!

WIMMEN! — BOUNCED UP from the table this morning, sayin' "Gotta go make myself pretty, and go to work!" Without even lookin' up, the bitter-half says, "Shall I call your boss and tell him you're going to be late?"

WOULDN'T YOU KNOW. . .The price of gold is going up and I ain't got a bit!

'S funny, here I'd thought we were tryin' to curb inflation, and the government is raisin' the price of this metal, "TO DEVALUE THE DOLLAR."

Either I'm settin' on my horse backward, or his head's on the wrong END!

I'd always thought that inflation consisted of "Devalued" money, or the over abundance thereof. Looks like "Phase II" musta got into reverse!

LIVE AND LEARN, I reckon. Still seems like a heckuva way to run a railroad!

Visit Your Schools

Littlefield and area residents have an opportunity to visit public schools during the week of March 6-10. This is an annual celebration called Texas Public Schools Week and affords interested parents a chance to see, during classroom time, the many changes which have taken place since they were in the public schools.

From the physical aspect alone, many schools have changed from a multi-storied warehouse to a one-story complex. On the other hand, there is a return to the "one-room" schoolhouse but with a vast difference. The one room has become a honey-comb cluster of hexagonal spaces without walls between classrooms — where pupils and teachers can and do rearrange themselves depending on the lesson at hand. These unusual concepts of school architecture are the outgrowth of the new educational trend which allows students to learn at their own individual rates.

Texas Public Schools Week is ... for Texans to go back to the ... while actual classes are in session ... at first hand, exactly what ... developments are, in education ... purpose they are serving.

It is not only an opportunity ... challenge for every parent to ... child's public school during this ...

This, then, is the trend in ... education — to use not only the ... the best ideas in all fields ... contribute to a better education ...

It is logical to assume that ... educational teaching methods ... pace with the progressive ... school architecture. Reading, Sc... Mathematics have taken the place ... three "R's" in importance ... utilized new teaching concepts ... baffled many parents and aroused ... degrees of curiosity.

PHILOSOPHER

Reporters' Reports

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm————has been listening to the reporters' summaries of their trip to China, his letter this week reveals.)

Dear editar:

A lot of columnists who didn't get to make the trip to China have been complaining that nobody has found out what actually took place over there, if anything, but they were looking for the big things when they should have been looking for the little things.

For example, on his return, Walter Cronkite, in summing up some of his impressions which didn't include what went on at the summit talks since he couldn't find out any more than you and me what went on there, said he couldn't get over how clean the streets of Peking were, and contrasted them with the streets of New York and other big cities where I understand it's considered unsanitary for children to play hop-scotch.

He pointed out also how 200,000 Chinese turned out one day to shovel the snow off Peking's streets.

Well, I'll tell you. If 200,000 New Yorkers tackled their streets some morning it'd make a difference too.

But what I wanted to know ... television reporters never thought ... is, what would those 200,000 ... Chinese have been doing if they ... shoveling snow? Don't they have ... jobs?

Also, the reporters and the other ... too couldn't get over the immense ... ancient Chinese Wall, the 20-foot ... feet-thick monstrosity running ... thousands of miles over mountains ... through valleys and built over ... ago by 300,000 slaves.

If you'll give me 300,000 slaves ... work for a bowl of rice a day, ... other slaves who're growing ... delivering that rice at the same ... pay, no telling what I could build ... a paved highway to every house ... country and a rock fence around ... farm and ranch, provided some... furnish the wheelbarrows and ...

But that was ancient China. ... modern China? I don't know a ... it, same as the reporters who ... there, but there must be some ... there who, looking out the window ... beneath their warm cover ... morning, sure hate to see it ...

Yours ...

Attend Regularly

"I Shall Keep This Lent"

"LENT" means springtime. It is an old Latin word which means a forty day fasting period next before Easter. It begins with Ash Wednesday and continues till Easter, exclusive of Sundays.

It is a time for the conditioning of our soil . . . a time for our Souls to become penitent. It simply means that it is spading up time, the season for planting seeds and for setting blooming trees.

In the realm of the spirit it is a call to get ready for the season of beauty and goodness.

Who amongst us is satisfied with what he is or what he has been? Then let us qualify for the Lenten Season. Let us clear away the rubbish of last year's crop, cut under the old stalks. May we learn from our Lord to give ourselves to good conditioning during Lent. The miracle of Lent is genuine repentance which leads to Newness of Life. A Saintly Keeper of Lent said it well when he spoke the words, "I shall keep this Lent, and hope to refresh my Soul." Amen

TEXAS CATTLE INDUSTRY

Former Pep Priest Has New Book Out

Former Pep priest, Rev. Stanley Crocchiola, who writes under the pen name of F. Stanley, has published a new book, "The Texas Panhandle, From Cattlemen to Feedlots."

The book, which is just off the press, covers well over 700 pages and weighs four pounds in its mailing wrapper.

"I spent more time in getting notes and writing this book than I have on any other," said Rev. Stanley, a leading Southwest historian and author.

"All together, I collected notes for 20 years or so, with intense researching for three years. The assembling and typing took me 13 months," the father said.

"Of course it takes me a while to type, since I use only two fingers," he chuckled.

Rev. Stanley said he intended to use this book as a gauge for his future books on the Panhandle. He chose the Panhandle history because "so little has been written about this area and its history is so rich."

"From Cattlemen to Feed Lots" is a general overview of what happened to the cattle ranches and the rebirth of the industry in the feed lots today.

The book begins in 1880 when the big ranches were forced to sell out because of the railroads and nestors. The ranchers fought the railroad until 1887, when the first train crossed the Panhandle.

The big era of the railroad came to the Plains during the period following 1887. Many trains existed only on paper, but the contractors were funded anyway, Rev. Stanley said.

"If oil had been found back then, the whole story of the Panhandle would have been different," the priest said. "But gas wells were tapped first, and oil wasn't important until 1926.

"The feed lot concept was first tried in South Texas in 1888, but it didn't catch on until the end of World War II," he added. "The pressure for beef animals in the 60s sparked the spread of feed lots from Iowa to California, like wildfire."

Rev. Crocchiola, writing under the pen name of F. Stanley, has written and published in limited editions 36 books and 107 pamphlets. The price of his new book covers only the costs of printing because all of his books are published on a non-profit basis.

Rev. Stanley still works on a 6 a.m. to midnight schedule which includes his priestly duties, painting, research and writing, and plenty of time for reading.

"I like to read four or five books at a time, many newspapers including the New York Times, 28 magazines a month and then there's my painting, too," he said.

Rev. Stanley teaches free painting classes three times a week to adults and children of Nazareth and Dimmitt. "Four or five of my Nazareth students are already selling paintings," he beamed.

But he chose to forego artwork in his huge new book.

Church Slates Revival Meeting

The Assembly of God Church will begin a six-day revival meeting today, and the services will continue through Friday night.

Services are slated at 7 p.m. nightly at the church's location on the corner of Hall Avenue and College Avenue.

Rev. A. R. Aman of Granbury will serve as the evangelist, and Calvin Price, the church's music director, will lead the singing.

Special musical numbers will be presented every night, according to the pastor, Rev. J. C. Amburn, who also extends an invitation to the public to attend the services.

This is also the time to let us know if you want an additio... in this year's directory. One for your wife. Or a separate ... nearly-grown-up daughter.

Cattle Feeding Leads Expansion Of Small Grains

Expanding cattle feeding operations on the High Plains has renewed interest in production of small grains in this area and has led to expansion of small grain variety tests at the High Plains Research Foundation.

Fifteen wheat varieties, including standard types, experimental selections, and hybrids, were planted November 3 on the Foundation Farm at Halfway.

Winter and spring types of triticale will be tested in small grains production this year. Two winter-types were planted October 10 and at least 10 winter and spring varieties will be planted later this season to provide data on planting dates.

In order to observe small grains on larger acreage, eight types, including two wheat, two of rye, two varieties, one barley, one wintergrazer, were planted at the Foundation Research and Demonstration Farm east of Plainview in acre blocks.

Joe Wright, [illegible] agronomist in charge of grain studies, indicated future plans at the [illegible] called for additional [illegible] of these variety tests possible cultural studies triticale.

Firemen Make 3 Calls

Littlefield's volunteer firemen answered three fire alarms Thursday and Friday.

They made a run to North Austin street Thursday morning, where a mattress was on fire.

That night, an electrical short in neon lighting at Crescent Park motel, had ignited asphalt shingles.

Friday afternoon, firemen made a run to extinguish a fire in the alley at 308 West First, behind an old lumber building.

Civil Case Jurors Rule For Church

The 12-member jury returned a verdict in favor of the church Thursday of this week after three days of testimony and almost five hours of deliberation.

The West Texas District Church of the Nazarene brought suit against Southern Lloyds for a claim that the wind storm in April of 1970 caused extensive damage to the church auditorium here.

At the time of the damage, jurors found that the damage could have been repaired for $16,590. Because of the lapse of time, church officials say now that the building is irrepairable.

District Judge Pat Boone Jr. said he has taken the judgement under advisement.

Larry Sanderson was foreman of the jury. Other jurors were Douglas Parish, Mrs. Pat Fuentes Jr., J.R. Scott, Mrs. Thomas F. Hodge, M.J. Cotter, Sena Stevens, John D. Burnett, W.A. DeBerry, Mrs. Sherman Rushing, Buster Owens Jr., and Mrs. George B. Williams.

City Hall Underg... Over-All Remodel...

Littlefield is still on a remodeling and improvement binge, judging by improvements that burst out all over during the past year.

Leading the face-lifting activities is the building which houses the city administrative offices. City hall was built in 1930, and used in that capacity, except when used temporarily by county officials while the new Lamb County Courthouse was built in 1954. Modernization and decoration of the red brick building started in April, 1971.

The program is to extend over a 2-year period with $30,000 budgeted for the improvements.

Most of the first floor has been completed. Walls are paneled light oak; ten and a half foot ceilings have been lowered to nine feet, accoustical tiles have been installed in the ceiling.

The building includes the fire department with areas which include fire truck storage and sleeping quarters for the men; the police department, with chief of police's office and dispatch room; water department billing and collection office, accounting, building inspector, tax assessor and collection, city secretary, city manager, city council chamber, municipal court, jail, the Chamber of Commerce, store room, and coffee bar and rest-rooms.

Building permits for the past fiscal year of the City of Littlefield showed a sharp rise. For the year ending Sept. 30, 1970, the figure was $110,000. For the year ending Sept. 30, 1971, they reached $286,185.

Municipal sales tax collections showed a good increase according to Pat D. Bradley, city manager. For the year ending Sept. 30, 1970, they were $84,584.54 while the latest period ending Sept. 30, 1971 showed a total of $96,097.71.

There were no fatal accidents in the city of Littlefield in 1971. In 1970, there were five deaths from automobile accidents. In 1970 there were 198 investigated accidents and in 1971 there were only 186.

The city suffered less than half the fire losses in the past year. At the end of September, 1970, losses were $55,050; in 1971 for the same they were $27,220.

Improvements included $25,000 spent by the city on the local airport, ... overlaid the secondar... the taxi-way and the apron.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Hypercriticism

By BOB WEAR

ONE OF THE MOST BANEFUL, and most widespread practices of our time is hypercriticism. From all areas of the human experience, it seems that "habitual fault-finding" increases daily.

There doesn't seem to be any particular desire to be helpful or constructive. The "undue criticism" seems to be an end in itself, and oftentimes the critics seem to revel in their efforts to outdo each other.

THIS KIND OF CRITICISM is not helping anybody, not even the critic. Of course, the critic would not be so vocal and energetic if it were not for the people who receive his criticisms with feelings of great delight.

We had better take a good look at the workings of destructiveness which thrive on this derogatory approach to life.

LEGITIMATE CRITICISM is made less effective by the enormity of hypercriticism. This means that we lose one of the more useful ways for correcting the wrong things, and upholding the right.

In fact, the social atmosphere becomes so polluted that an accurate perspective is impossible. People are often heard to say to each other, "I don't know what to believe, or what to think."

THIS TOTAL DISREGARD for truth, for integrity, for responsible behavior and for justice hurts everybody.

It threatens everything that is of value, and the things that are most needful to human well-being. It may very well be the biggest adverse influence upon individuals; and is probably the most discouraging one of all.

MUCH OF THE CRITICISM in the political arena is improperly motivated, and belongs in this "hypercritical" classification.

It is not made with a high regard for honesty and for facts. It is not made for the purpose of accomplishing something worthwhile. Some of it is for the dishonorable purpose of destroying someone's character and ruining his good name. The motivation is often selfishness and greed. This hurts all of us, because it damages our way of life.

DO YOU EVER get the feeling that everything is wrong, that nothing is right? This is not an uncommon feeling, but it is not a feeling based on truth.

This prevailing widespread "hypercriticism" is a gross exaggeration of the bad and the undesirable. It even covers up much that would be encouraging and helpful to all of us, and this helps to make the bad seem worse.

THE HUMAN SCENE will never be perfect, and is not likely to be as hopeless as some predict.

Of course, we have problems and there are many improvements most of us would like to make; but the free-wheeling criticism, with the accompanying discouragement and destructiveness, is not helping us.

CAPTIOUSNESS is movement in the wrong direction, because this is the action which stresses faults and raises objections and is designed to confuse and complicate.

Justified, constructive criticism is helpful, but the present-day "hypercriticism" is destructive and discouraging.

HOWNY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

THIS UNSEASONABLE warm weather is causing me some frustration. Had curled up in the ol' lounger in front of the tube for a little nap, then some eager-beaver down the block cranked up a lawn mower!

I'd known that some of the citizens were havin' thoughts of spring. I'd already seen the onion plants out in front of a local store.

IT'S BAD ENOUGH for a guy to try to alibi his laziness, even in cold weather, but when these unthoughtful people start rushin' the season, it's doubly so.

So, come on fellers! Cool it!

FOR THE SAKE OF you youngsters who've been exposed to the "New Jesus Movement," may I suggest that the Bible has NOT been REWRITTEN!

KEEP WAITIN' AROUND for the Supreme Court to rule the income tax unconstitutional. Better hurry it up, fellas!

MUST BE FUN TO be rich. Look at all the fun that feller Howard Hughes seems to be havin'.

WHEN YOU LOOK at the goings on down Abilene way, you're reminded that "politics makes strange bedfellows." Alas! So does greed!

GUESS I'M A little mean, but, can't help but wonder if the welfare department has thought of includin' a generous supply of the "pill" with their staples?

SEEMS THAT the more I hear outta Smith and Barnes, the more I'd like to hear something about that feller Briscoe.

WELL, WELL! Seems we've gotten a pretty nice size bunch signed up for the schoolboard election. I'm sure most of the fellas knew what they were doin', but it's rumored that feller Blevins had gotten mixed up and thought he was standin' in line at the Post Office window!

WIMMEN! — BOUNCED UP from the table this morning, sayin' "Gotta go make myself pretty, and go to work!" Without even lookin' up, the bitter-half says, "Shall I call your boss and tell him you're going to be late?"

WOULDN'T YOU KNOW. . .The price of gold is going up and I ain't got a bit!

'S funny, here I'd thought we were tryin' to curb inflation, and the government is raisin' the price of this metal, "TO DEVALUE THE DOLLAR."

Either I'm settin' on my horse backward, or his head's on the wrong END!

I'd always thought that inflation consisted of "Devalued" money, or the over abundance thereof. Looks like "Phase II" musta got into reverse!

LIVE AND LEARN, I reckon. Still seems like a heckuva way to run a railroad!

Visit Your Schools

Littlefield and area residents have an opportunity to visit public schools during the week of March 6-10. This is an annual celebration called Texas Public Schools Week and affords interested parents a chance to see, during classroom time, the many changes which have taken place since they were in the public schools.

From the physical aspect alone, many schools have changed from a multi-storied warehouse to a one-story complex. On the other hand, there is a return to the "one-room" schoolhouse but with a vast difference. The one room has become a honey-comb cluster of hexagonal spaces without walls between classrooms — where pupils and teachers can and do rearrange themselves depending on the lesson at hand. These unusual concepts of school architecture are the outgrowth of the new educational trend which allows students to learn at their own individual rates.

PHILOSOPHER

Reporters' Reports

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm———has been listening to the reporters' summaries of their trip to China, his letter this week reveals.)

Dear editar:

A lot of columnists who didn't get to make the trip to China have been complaining that nobody has found out what actually took place over there, if anything, but they were looking for the big things when they should have been looking for the little things.

For example, on his return, Walter Cronkite, in summing up some of his impressions which didn't include what went on at the summit talks since he couldn't find out any more than you and me what went on there, said he couldn't get over how clean the streets of Peking were, and contrasted them with the streets of New York and other big cities where I understand it's considered unsanitary for children to play hop-scotch.

He pointed out also how 200,000 Chinese turned out one day to shovel the snow off Peking's streets.

Well, I'll tell you. If 200,000 New Yorkers tackled their streets some morning it'd make a difference too.

But what I wanted to know, and television reporters never thought is, what would those 200,000
Chinese have been doing if they shoveling snow? Don't they have jobs?

Also, the reporters and the other too couldn't get over the immensity ancient Chinese Wall, the 20-foot feet-thick monstrosity runs thousands of miles over mountains through valleys and built over two ago by 300,000 slaves.

If you'll give me 300,000 slaves work for a bowl of rice a day, and other slaves who're growing delivering that rice at the same pay, no telling what I could build a paved highway to every house country and a rock fence around farm and ranch, provided someone furnish the wheelbarrows and hoes.

But that was ancient China. How modern China? I don't know a thing it, same as the reporters who there, but there must be some people there who, looking out the window beneath their warm cover on a morning, sure hate to see it snow.

Yours

"I Shall Keep This Lent"

"LENT" means springtime. It is an old Latin word which means a forty day fasting period next before Easter. It begins with Ash Wednesday and continues till Easter, exclusive of Sundays. It is a time for the conditioning of our soil . . . a time for our Souls to become penitent. It simply means that it is spading up time, the season for planting seeds and for setting blooming trees.

In the realm of the spirit it is a call to get ready for the season of beauty and goodness.

Who amongst us is satisfied with what he is or what he has been? Then let us qualify for the Lenten Season. Let us clear away the rubbish of last year's crop, cut under the old stalks. May we learn from our Lord to give ourselves to good conditioning during Lent. The miracle of Lent is genuine repentance which leads to Newness of Life. A Saintly Keeper of Lent said it well when he spoke the words, "I shall keep this Lent, and hope to refresh my Soul." Amen

TEXAS CATTLE INDUSTRY

Former Pep Priest Has New Book Out

Former Pep priest, Rev. Stanley Crocchiola, who writes under the pen name of F. Stanley, has published a new book, "The Texas Panhandle, From Cattlemen to Feedlots."

The book, which is just off the press, covers well over 700 pages and weighs four pounds in its mailing wrapper.

"I spent more time in getting notes and writing this book than I have on any other," said Rev. Stanley, a leading Southwest historian and author.

"All together, I collected notes for 20 years or so, with intense researching for three years. The assembling and typing took me 13 months," the father said.

"Of course it takes me a while to type, since I use only two fingers," he chuckled.

Rev. Stanley said he intended to use this book as a gauge for his future books on the Panhandle. He chose the Panhandle history because "so little has been written about this area and its history is so rich."

"From Cattlemen to Feed Lots" is a general overview of what happened to the cattle ranches and the rebirth of the industry in the feed lots today.

The book begins in 1880 when the big ranches were forced to sell out because of the railroads and nestors. The ranchers fought the railroad until 1887, when the first train crossed the Panhandle.

The big era of the railroad came to the Plains during the period following 1887. Many trains existed only on paper, but the contractors were funded anyway, Rev. Stanley said.

"If oil had been found back then, the whole story of the Panhandle would have been different," the priest said. "But gas wells were tapped first, and oil wasn't important until 1926.

"The feed lot concept was first tried in South Texas in 1888, but it didn't catch on until the end of World War II," he added. "The pressure for beef animals in the 60s sparked the spread of feed lots from Iowa to California, like wildfire."

Rev. Crocchiola, writing under the pen name of F. Stanley, has written and published in limited editions 36 books and 107 pamphlets. The price of his new book covers only the costs of printing because all of his books are published on a non-profit basis.

Rev. Stanley still works on a 6 a.m. to midnight schedule which includes his priestly duties, painting, research and writing, and plenty of time for reading.

"I like to read four or five books at a time, many newspapers including the New York Times, 28 magazines a month and then there's my painting, too," he said.

Rev. Stanley teaches free painting classes three times a week to adults and children of Nazareth and Dimmitt. "Four or five of my Nazareth students are already selling paintings," he beamed.

But he chose to forego artwork in his huge new book.

Church Slates Revival Meeting

The Assembly of God Church will begin a six-day revival meeting today, and the services will continue through Friday night.

Services are slated at 7 p.m. nightly at the church's location on the corner of Hall Avenue and College Avenue.

Rev. A. R. Aman of Granbury will serve as the evangelist, and Calvin Price, the church's music director, will lead the singing.

Special musical numbers will be presented every night, according to the pastor, Rev. J. C. Amburn, who also extends an invitation to the public to attend the services.

Cattle Feeding Leads Expansion Of Small Grains

Expanding cattle feeding operations on the High Plains has renewed interest in production of small grains in this area and has led to expansion of small grain variety tests at the High Plains Research Foundation.

Fifteen wheat varieties, including standard types, experimental selections, and hybrids, were planted November 3 on the Foundation Farm at Halfway.

Winter and spring types of triticale will be tested in small grains production this year. Two winter-types were planted October 10 and at least 10 winter and spring varieties will be planted later this season to provide data on planting dates.

In order to observe small grains on larger acreage, eight types, including two wheat, two of rye, two varieties, one barley, wintergrazer, were the Foundation Research and Demo Farm east of Plainview acre blocks.

Joe Wright, agronomist in charge grain studies, indicated future plans at the R called for additional of these variety possible cultural triticale.

They made a run to North Austin street Thursday morning, where a mattress was on fire.

That night, an electrical short in neon lighting at Crescent Park motel, had ignited asphalt shingles.

Friday afternoon, firemen made a run to extinguish a fire in the alley at 308 West First, behind an old lumber building.

City Hall Underg... Over-All Remodel...

Littlefield is still on a remodeling and improvement binge, judging by improvements that burst out all over during the past year.

Leading the face-lifting activities is the building which houses the city administrative offices. City hall was built in 1930, and used in that capacity, except when used temporarily by county officials while the new Lamb County Courthouse was built in 1954. Modernization and decoration of the red brick building started in April, 1971.

The program is to extend over a 2-year period with $30,000 budgeted for the improvements.

Most of the first floor has been completed. Walls are paneled light oak; ten and a half foot ceilings have been lowered to nine feet, accoustical tiles have been installed in the ceiling.

The building includes the fire department with areas which include fire truck storage and sleeping quarters for the men; the police department, with chief of police's office and dispatch room; water department billing and collection office, accounting, building inspector, tax assessor and collection, city secretary, city manager, city council chamber, municipal court, jail, the Chamber of Commerce, store room, and coffee bar and rest-rooms.

Building permits for the past fiscal year of the City of Littlefield showed a sharp rise. For the year ending Sept. 30, 1970, the figure was $110,000. For the year ending Sept. 30, 1971, they reached $286,185.

Municipal sales tax collections showed a good increase according to Pat D. Bradley, city manager. For the year ending Sept. 30, 1970, they were $84,584.54 while the latest period ending Sept. 30, 1971 showed a total of $96,097.71.

There were no fatal accidents in the city of Littlefield in 1971. In 1970, there were five deaths from automobile accidents. In 1970 there were 198 investigated accidents and in 1971 there were only 186.

The city suffered less than half the fire losses in the past year. At the end of September, 1970, losses were $55,050; in 1971 for the same they were $27,220.

Improvements included $25,000 spent by the city on the local airport, ... overlaid the secondary ... the taxi-way and the apron.

Civil Case Jurors Rule For Church

The 12-member jury returned a verdict in favor of the church Thursday of this week after three days of testimony and almost five hours of deliberation.

The West Texas District Church of the Nazarene brought suit against Southern Lloyds for a claim that the wind storm in April of 1970 caused extensive damage to the church auditorium here.

At the time of the damage, jurors found that the damage could have been repaired for $16,590. Because of the lapse of time, church officials say now that the building is irrepairable.

District Judge Pat Boone Jr. said he has taken the judgement under advisement.

Larry Sanderson was foreman of the jury. Other jurors were Douglas Parish, Mrs. Pat Fuentes Jr., J.R. Scott, Mrs. Thomas F. Hodge, M.J. Cotter, Sena Stevens, John D. Burnett, W.A. DeBerry, Mrs. Sherman Rushing, Buster Owens Jr., and Mrs. George B. Williams.
