

County Tax Board Caught Between SWPS, Farmers

There is no wrath like a farmer who's just had his taxes raised as evidenced by the number who met with the county tax equalization board Tuesday morning.

Last week property owners received tax notices and schedules of the equalization board meetings beginning Monday and lost no time in registering their protests.

Lamb County commissioners A. J. Spain, Thurman Lewis, Jack Peel and Hubert Dykes and County Judge G. T. Sides, who make up the board of equalization, met Monday with some 20 utility and industrial executives representing nine oil and gas companies facing a 10 per cent increase in evaluation.

The largest taxpayer in the county, Southwestern Public Service Company, reportedly left unhappy and threatening to force a county-wide professional re-evaluation. Judge Sides said the commissioners' court took such a step into consideration in deciding to double the evaluation of land so that farm and ranch property would be more equal with industrial interests.

Warren Dayton, manager of the Littlefield SWPS office, declined to comment because he had to leave the hearing before his company's six and one-half million-dollar evaluation was considered.

Approximately 150 farmers lined the County Courthouse halls Tuesday morning as hearings began for farmers who had had their rural land valuations increased 100 per cent.

The tax rate itself—95 cents per $100 assessed valuation—was not changed.

"All of the farmers were mad at me, personally," said County Clerk Mary Beth Willey, "because my name, as secretary of the commissioners' court, was the only signature appearing on the notices. And I didn't even have anything to do with the re-evaluation; it was just my job to notify the taxpayers."

In June commissioners voted an overall evaluation increase of 27 per cent to cover an $81,280 needed in additional revenue brought on by an increase in operating costs.

Many of the land owners evidently read about the 27 per cent increase and didn't read far enough into the newspaper account to find that their land valuation had been doubled, according to Mrs. Willey, who said the farmers were "real upset" when they got their notices.

Taxes, nor evaluations that raise the taxes, had not been increased on the county level since 1955. But during this 15-year period, school taxes and other property evaluations have been increased several times.

But taxes are taxes, and many came complaining that their taxes had been raised only last year or two or three years ago.

The late County Judge O. J. Mangum said in 1967 that the county was needing more revenue, and Judge Sides said he has been fighting increased costs since he took office.

One hundred and thirty-five land owners had registered to see the commissioners and the county judge through Tuesday, and appointments had been set up for every 15 minutes, accommodating approximately 30 persons per day. The board will be in session until all taxpayers have been seen.

The general consensus of the landowners seemed to be that they felt a 100 per cent raise was unfair, especially when, for most, another 10 per cent was added to that for irrigation wells, underground pipe and all other improvements.

The main point the board tried to make to those appearing was that if farmland evaluations weren't upped, the utility companies were going to force the county to hire a professional appraiser who would appraise land at its actual value, thus causing an increase of more than 100 per cent, plus costing the county $70,000 or $80,000 for the appraisal.

Farmers complained of the valuation being doubled when the See COUNTY TAX, Page 13

Gas Line Cut, Area Guarded

A county maintainer cut a gas Phillips line about noon Wednesday and for several hours almost everything near the site, located eight miles north and two miles west of Littlefield, threatened to be blown sky high.

At 3 p.m. Wednesday the unrefined mixed gas, running in a main line from Hobbs, N. M., was still spewing unchecked. Lamb County and city police units blocked off the area about a mile in every direction and five volunteer firemen and the emergency vehicles stood by all afternoon.

All electrical irrigation motors in the vicinity were shut off to prevent a possible explosion.

Gary Lightfoot, Lamb County sheriff's deputy, said the gas shot so high in the air for so long that the vapor condensed and liquid petroleum was running down the bar ditches.

Lightfoot said the vapors seemed to be maintained in the low lying areas there, but added that so much gas had escaped that the area would be under surveillance all day Wednesday and possibly through the night.

BOARD EMPLOYS BAND DIRECTOR

School Sets Budget Hearing

Littlefield school board Monday night set a date for public hearing of a $1.3 million budget for 1970-71 and employed seven teachers, including a new band director.

The budget, which calls for total expenditures of $1,297,616 in the next school year, will be heard and final approval will be given at the August board meeting—Monday, Aug. 10, at 8 p.m.

The board employed John McGee, 30-year-old graduate assistant at West Texas State University, as the new band director to succeed Phil Anthony, who has taken that post at Lubbock Coronado.

Action on McGee came after the board interviewed four applicants for the post.

McGee has previous experience at Marfa and El Paso Burgess high schools, and at Las Cruces Junior High School. He resigned at Marfa to go to West Texas State and complete work toward a master's degree. Other teachers employed were:

Tom Hollingsworth, who has been at Pryor, Okla., as counselor, succeeding Mrs. Joann Jordan.

His wife, Mrs. Ann Hollingsworth, for a sixth grade teaching position.

Nathan Wilson, who has been teaching at Claude, for high school chemistry and science. Sam Burnett, of Sublette, Kans., for a sixth grade spot. Mrs. Neil (Carolyn) West, for kindergarten.

Miss Joella Lovvorn, of the Leader-News staff, for high school journalism.

Resignations were accepted from Phil Cates, junior high math; Mrs. Barbara Cates, kindergarten; Mrs. Majorie Lasister, Mrs. Margie Hurst, and Mrs. Wanda James, all sixth grade; and Mrs. Edwina Davis, first grade.

In other activity, the board approved student insurance offered by Southwestern States Agency. Cost will be $8 per student on non-deductible insurance. Insurance per football boy will be $20 for a $10 deductible policy, which is paid by the school. If parents prefer a non-deductible policy, the parent may pay an additional $10.

Supt. Paul I. Jones was re-appointed the school's representative to the Educational Services Center.

In other action, the board voted a $100 per month pay increase for Business Manager Sid Hopping, to bring his salary more closely in line with other school districts. Annual salary for that position is now $11,200.

Historical Newspapers May Turn Into Money

By NILAH RODGERS
Leader-News Staff Writer

A few years ago Mrs. Lowell Fulton stuck back a few newspapers. The copies are now turning yellow and getting brittle with age, but the yellowing and more brittle they get, the more they are worth.

Mrs. Fulton said she hadn't thought about selling them until she saw an article in the paper recently telling how some old newspapers with historical significance were bringing high prices.

Some of the papers Mrs. Fulton has saved include Dec. 8, the 1941 war extra of the Los Angeles Examiner.

The Fultons were living in California at that time, and later Fulton worked on radiators of P-58 planes. "During the blackouts when they would sound the sirens," Mrs. Fulton said, "we'd have to turn the lights off and darken the windows."

Mrs. Fulton kept the Los Angeles Daily News war extra published Dec. 15, 1941 when President Roosevelt gave the inside story on the Japanese war. A friend in Hawaii sent her the Honolulu Star Bulletin in April, 1945 after Germany surrendered.

The Fultons were back in West Texas when FDR died, and Mrs. Fulton saved the Lubbock edition of the pictorial record of Roosevelt from 1931-45 and the headline story of the nation rallying around the new president, Harry S. Truman.

Mrs. Fulton also saved the Lubbock paper following the unconditional surrender of Germany.

Since that time, she has saved papers concerning President Kennedy's death, and the copy-righted picture of Oswald being shot. She put back papers of the Apollo shots, also.

She feels that these papers will be big in the future of her grandchildren.

Tom Mahoney, a collector of old newspapers, recently said in a copy of "Antiques Journal" magazine that newspapers of recent vintage can bring a tidy sum.

At a recent auction, a November 3, 1948 Chicago Tribune with the eight-column head: "Dewey Defeats Truman" brought $150 at an auction, and collectors are already paying money for Dallas newspapers printed the day of JFK's assassination.

Woman Escapes Assault Attempt

A Littlefield woman was the victim of an attempted rape when she was forced off the highway northwest of Lubbock as she was returning home about 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

She said a Mexican-American man beat on her car window and threatened to kill her. After gaining entry to her car, the woman said the man drove it onto a nearby dirt road and told her to stay there. When he went to move his car, the woman ran to a nearby farm house and was later driven to Lubbock by the elderly couple living there.

The man was described as about 25-years-old with a small mustache. The woman said he was driving a maroon Ford Torino with black vinyl top and that the car had a dent in the right front fender.

The description matched that given by an 18-year-old Lubbock woman who was accosted earlier Monday by a man who forced her to the curb as she approached her residence in Lubbock.

INTRAPPTIONS THAT resemble a pipe in a metal and a bee hive on legs, at the Pioneer Gas Company sub-station on the Levelland Highway, are official measuring instruments of the United States Weather Bureau. Percy Edwards, chief clerk at Pioneer Gas, is in charge of sending rain and temperature reports to the Lubbock Weather Bureau. Jerry Oham, Pioneer general plant supervisor, shows how precipitation is measured. The lower photo shows the "bee hive," which measures temperatures.

Youth Charged in Vandalism

Seventeen-year-old Terry Wayne Jackson of Littlefield was jailed Monday and his bond set at $2,000 after he admitted breaking out four plate windows on the east side of the Crescent House Restaurant Sunday night. The windows were reportedly smashed with a broom handle and damages were set at $400.

Other youths were jailed Sunday night Jackson and three other youths had been taken to the restaurant. The boys were picked up for loitering following the vandalism, but only Jackson was charged.

Polio Outbreak Not A Worry

Although polio has become a concern for some in South Texas, Dr. J. R. Fain, Lamb County health officer, said this area is not facing a polio epidemic and that such an outbreak is not foreseen.

For anyone under 40, Dr. Fain said he is not telling them to do so but that they could take trivalent oral vaccine by mouth. Anyone over 40 need not worry about anything, Dr. Fain added.

Children whose parents have followed their doctor's recommendations in an immunization program are already protected, he said, and a booster, as directed by their own doctor, is all that is necessary.

CHINESE ELM TREES almost as old as Littlefield were uprooted this week in the name of progress. The 44-year-old shade trees were set out along First Street and Westside Avenue in 1926, according to Mrs. Pat Boone. The trees were pulled up this week because the roots were tearing up sidewalks, curbs and streets. "That's progress," said Russ Blevins, who lives on the tree-lined street. "It kinda makes you want to cry!"

STRIPE-HUGGER

Girl, 4, Loses 'Driving License'

Melanie Dawn Cheshier may get her wheels taken away from her at the tender age of four.

Melanie is just learning to ride her bicycle with training wheels, and her first expedition away from home was quite an experience—for several people—including the local police.

While Melanie's sister wasn't paying too much attention to her Saturday morning, Melanie decided to go to her "BFW Christmas party place" and to shop at "her store."

She hopped on her bike at her home at 529 Beach and pedaled the six blocks to the Clovis Highway, then crossed over to the railroad tracks.

"But you can't ride a bicycle on railroad tracks," she later told her mother, Mrs. Tommy Cheshier.

Melanie's parents had taken her to a Christmas party at the VFW last year and since that time she had referred to the building as her "BFW Christmas party place."

With her make-believe party over before it got off the ground, Melanie decided to go to Pay & Save Grocery for a little shopping. In typical woman driver's style, the four-year-old took her half of the road out of the middle, riding the bike down the center stripe most of the way.

She said a man stopped and told her to be careful and she told him she would, then proceeded

COTTAGE CHEESE

Cottage cheese is one of those foods that's good in everything from salads to desserts. It's a palate pleaser at breakfast, dinner or supper. The cheese is low in calories, yet a four-ounce serving supplies about the same amount of protein as a medium serving of fish, poultry, lean meat, three eggs or three slices of cheddar cheese. Cottage cheese is especially delicious with peaches, bananas, grapes, apples, plums and pears.

2-Car Collision Occurs Sunday

Highway Patrolman Weldon Parson investigated a two-car collision Sunday evening involving cars driven by a Springlake woman and a Levelland man.

Celia Ruiz Bueno, of Route 1 Springlake, was traveling on U.S. 385 two miles north of Springlake when she attempted to make a left turn onto a county road. The '67 Chevrolet station wagon she was driving collided with a 1970 Oldsmobile that was attempting to pass.

Chris Longoria, a passenger in the station wagon received minor bruises and a possible injury to his side.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Purity Pays

By BOB WEAR

THERE IS NEED FOR PURITY, and the need is urgent. It seems that this need is generally recognized in the world of things, but not in the world of people.

Environmental pollution is a condition of very great concern, and is receiving widespread attention. The message is that it must be corrected.

THE POLLUTION of human thought, speech, writing, art, entertainment, and actions is the most threatening pollution. It is impurity, in and among people, that proclaims the inevitable demise of everything that is of value in the human experience.

Impurity is self-destruction, because it is the most insidious of pernicious influences. It tears down, it blinds, it perverts the course of life, it dissipates the vital forces of the life principle and it corrupts the perspective of life.

THE WEAKEST JUSTIFICATION for impurity is in the faulty view that it is the epitome in freedom of expression. If it be freedom, it has in it the seeds of self-destruction. This strange kind of freedom has nothing to recommend it. The truth is that it is a miserable kind of bondage.

Why the disparity? Why is there such concern about purity in things, and such obvious and deliberate efforts to expand impurity among people? It just doesn't make any sense.

WHY THE INVERSE priority? We want the medicines prepared for us to be pure; we demand that the water and food we use for human consumption be pure.

Purity among people should have first place. When we take note of the observable fact that impurity and weakness go together, but purity and power go together; we have sufficient reason to give purity pre-eminence.

"PURITY HAS GONE out of style" is one of the current comments about the general behavior of our times. Purity may not be popular, but it has not gone out of style.

There is power in purity. Purity of thoughts, words and deeds causes a significant concentration of all the vital forces of human character and personality. It activates, for full use and application, all potential life forces so that they form a field of perpetual, personal power.

THE SPACE FAMILY ROBINSON

PAUL HARVEY

Lawlessness

STUDENT RADICALS seize a university and get paid off to pull back. Rioters riot against a city and win concessions.

Then how can you blame a mailman for striking against the law and against the nation when he sees so many others thrusting their noses at authority and profiting from it?

LAWLESSNESS BEGETS lawlessness.

Washington, D.C., has ordered brighter lights for the triangle complex of federal buildings because, they say, it will beautify them, and because, they admit, it may make the area safer at night.

Ogden, Utah, police are loaning local home owners etching tools for engraving identification on their belongings -- thus to try to reduce a rising rate of burglary.

CRIME IS INCREASING 11 times faster than our population is increasing. Among 14 modern nations, the United States is now "first in crime."

If lawlessness begets lawlessness, how do we retard and reverse that contagion?

In much of Latin America, "authority" is so corruptible that most merchants and many people employ their own protection: paid private policemen.

THAT PRACTICE is on the increase in the United States. With vandalism chronic and bombings acute, there are now 25% more private Pinkerton police than five years ago. There has been a similar increase in Burns' detectives and other lesser-known private guards.

A few months ago, anti-gun crusaders were convinced that we needed only to pass new laws to restrict sales and possession of firearms.

But they ignored more menacing sources of explosives and the other day a Lansing, Michigan, couple demonstrated that they could walk into a hardware store and buy a dozen sticks of dynamite just like that; no identification, no questions, no explanation.

HISTORICALLY, traditionally, any country's official ambassador was supersafe anywhere. Now diplomats, particularly in Latin America, are a worse insurance risk than a nearsighted crop-duster.

Only Argentina and Guatemala tried a hard-nosed response to these gangster methods, refusing to release political prisoners as "ransom" for the kidnaped diplomats. In both instances the detained diplomats were subsequently safely released.

CANDA, SEEKING answers, abolished the death penalty three years ago. The number of murders since has gone up, up, up.

If leniency is not the answer, perhaps toughness is. That's one thing we haven't tried lately.

THE PHILOSOPHER

Ditto! Ditto! Ditto!

(Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reviews the tax situation this week in his own peculiar way.)

Dear editor: Government officials are always hunting for new sources of tax revenue, in fact one state is offering a reward to anybody who comes up with a new idea for more money but I doubt if it'll be paid as the only source of taxes so far in the history of the human race has been people and I don't see any prospects for any change in the system.

Therefore the problem narrows down to a matter of timing -- when does Congress for example figure the people can stand a little more taxing without changing Congressmen, and the best method of gauging this was proclaimed by a Congressman in an article I read in a newspaper last night.

According to him, this is no time to increase taxes because "the people are in no mood for it."

Now if Congress at any time is in doubt about the mood of the people for more taxes, I'll be glad to take the contract at a fair price to conduct a nation-wide opinion poll, with more accuracy than any other poll, including the British ones.

I'll guarantee that without even leaving the front porch of my house on this Johnson grass farm I can tell you exactly what the mood of 95 per cent of the people is, in this country or any other on earth, on the question of raising taxes. Furthermore, while I'm conducting the survey, for an additional fee I can determine how 95 percent of the people feel about increasing governmental services. I can even narrow it down to any particular city you name. For example, my survey will show that New York city wants less Federal spending on nonessentials and more Federal spending on New York, Cincinnati? Ditto. Chicago? Ditto. You name the town or city and I'll supply the ditto.

Yours faithfully, J.A.

DEAR EDITOR

Thanks Police

July 14, 1970

Dear Editor,

We would like to express our thanks to the law enforcement officers in our city and county.

Our son's bicycle was stolen on Monday of this week sometime between 2:15 and 4:00 p.m. He was a very sad little boy. At approximately 10:30 p.m. that night, the city dispatcher called and asked if we could come to the police station to identify the bicycle. They had found it, and it was returned to us in less than 6 hours after it was reported missing.

We feel that perhaps sometimes law enforcement officers are not given the thanks and appreciation they deserve, for a job well done, as they go about their routine duties day after day.

DOWN TO EARTH

Future Investment

By JIMMY R. ALLEN

THE NEWLY signed and soon to be court tested law allowing 18 year olds to vote has created great anxiety. Persons who view youth culture through the TV tube of campus violence or the image of hippie defiance of the society's value system worry about what the massive youth vote will do to our national political picture.

It is obvious that a nation which has accented youth in every other facet of its life inevitably had to open its polls to youth voting.

THE CULT OF youth has been produced by a technological age in which growing old has usually also meant that skills become outdated by new developments. Advertising has centered its appeal to youth.

Parents have not only become permissive but have become captured by eagerness to please their young. Youth voting was inevitable, but the question remains as to whether it is wise.

Some very encouraging facts about responsible behavior of youth are emerging from the world of religion. Religious idealism has always had a special appeal to the young.

THERE HAS BEEN an era in which the young have been "turned off" by the self interest of organized religion. Many of them still are in this cycle of disenchantment. However, the churches are re-discovering their mission of service and their message of hope, and youth are responding in tremendous fashion.

Some of this response is taking contemporary forms which alien to adults. The religious movement, in which eternal message of Christ is combined through with a youth beat, at times offends persons accustomed to anthems and stained glass windows, but youth understands its message.

THE OPPORTUNITY to go to where the needs of men are peals to action-oriented scores of young persons, sweating the hot sun of Texas summer day camps for economically depressed children, speak of responsible action.

Young people volunteering services to teach in literacy tutoring programs sound this of encouragement. Youth disdains a mere profit motive, as they seek for a calling which is meaningful in life, reflect this idealism.

ACROSS TEXAS there are a of reviving religious response young people. The enthusiasm which they are receiving the message of Christ and translating concrete action may reveal that will be the evangelistic force of future of American religion.

Should these young people be allowed to vote? Religious idealism does not guarantee good judgment. However, since youth reflects a degree of information about political issues, are usually idealists, their desire to help men, and behave very responsibly when the chance, it just may be that new element in the political cess will be a saving element. It will tell. What we do to youth toward God may decide future.

HOMINY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

I DUNNO WHO the sneak was that snuck down and took the picture of the mess I made on Hall Avenue a few days back, but I do know I've got a buzzard to pick with somebody!

I didn't even know they were there, to say nothing of offering help!--even the small fry are in on the needle! "You can't drive very good, can you?" This, from an eight year old, less than four hours after the paper was out!

Life was miserable enough around the shop after the incident: "Want a Coke, Russ?--It's the going thing!" Either singing or whistling "Things go better with Coca Cola, things go better with Coke!"--Then: The picture!

NOW I'VE NEVER driven a bottle truck very much, except for road testing the vehicle, but I was well aware of the possibilities. Every little bump and turn you could hear those bottles rattling around.

I'd seen guys that drive them for a living handle them like a hot-rod. They never seem to have trouble with dumping them!

I thought I was being careful with this thing.--Just a rock and roll kind of thing as I was entering the intersection, but the truck suddenly snapped left like a catapult, and that's when the big noise all started!

HAVE YOU EVER felt lonesome and all alone?--When I stepped out of that truck and saw the wreckage in the street, I felt like every eye in Littlefield was looking at me!--It was embarrassing!

I figured that there must be at least a million broken bottles, to say nothing of the wrecked cases and cartons!--And Coke, running down the gutter!--It was ONE SWEET MESS!!!

Luckily the city came to my rescue, with a trash truck and workmen, also a certain, grinning police sergeant, that directed traffic around us.--There were other volunteers, also, especially some negro lads, that were of very much help. (My thanks to them!)

BUT FOR THE LIFE of me, I can't remember any help being offered by a news photographer!--And as far as I know, he hasn't been any help 'TIL YET!!!

It won't happen again, mainly because I'm not road-testing any more of those tricksters.--But, and if I do, and such should happen again, you can bet your sweet bippy I'll just dismount the thing, stroll over to the curb, and ask all who gather 'round: "Wonder who was driving that truck?"

TWO BAND STUDENTS from Littlefield High School get some special attention at the annual Texas Tech University band camp from Judy Penn, a member of the band camp faculty. The students are, seated, Annette Henry and standing, Ann Coffman. The camp will continue through Friday, July 24, and is being attended by more than 600 junior and senior high band students from a wide area of Texas and New Mexico.

COUNTY TAX

price per acre of farmland is going down. O.L. Tomlinson was typical of farmers who felt their property is depreciating while taxes are going up. "You know us farmers are in a bind," Tomlinson said. "My farm has washed away until it isn't worth as much as it used to be."

Few farmers, if any, left satisfied with the board's answers, but many, like Tomlinson, said "I don't want a tax raise, but if everyone's raised, I will try to carry my part."

Frank Daugherty from Oilton didn't like the rate set on his grassland, saying that the sandhills are unimproved "just like when Columbus came to America." Daugherty's allotted 15 minutes stretched into one hour while he argued for a fair market value.

Lillian Green didn't like 100 per cent valuation increase on her land and only 10 per cent on industry. "Your (the county's) operation expenses are higher," she said, "but you've failed to think about the farmers' income being down. What about the county cutting down like the farmers have had to do and let us all live? I think you're putting too much of a load on the land owner."

W.C. Stacy of Anton thought the county should cut expenses, too. "The county must be getting in awful shape to have to double the staff," Stacy complained.

Mary Britt of Amherst didn't like her 80 acres with weak wells classed as the best irrigated land.

And on and on it went, and on and on it will go until all of those who wish to have their say-so among the 5,596 who received notices are through questioning and talking.

This is only a portion of the taxpayers with the remainder being those who did not get notices because they did not sign a rendition. Under law, those who do not render their taxable property do not have to be notified and evaluation on this property can be set without notice to the taxpayer.

The decision to equalize tax valuations rather than make an across the board tax increase was made by commissioners after considering the issues for several months.

Studies by the commissioners and a tax consultant showed that rural land in Lamb County was evaluated below that of many other types of property, such as farm improvements, residential and industrial concerns, which they said were fairly well in line.

The court decided to increase assessed evaluations on the lowest dryland from $4 per acre to $8 per acre, and on top irrigated land from $16 to $32 per acre, representing a 100 per cent increase on all classes of rural land.

For all other types of property, including farm improvements, city, personal, and industrial, assessed valuations were increased 10 per cent. With the 100 per cent increase on rural land, Lamb County will figure comparably to surrounding counties with the same tax rate of 95 cents.

In Deaf Smith the assessed valuation for the lowest classed farm land is $8.40 per acre. It is $42 per acre for the best irrigated land.

Castro County's low is $9 and the high is $27. Bally County has a low of $10 and a high of $30, and Hale has $16 per acre for its low and a high of $24.

Be Prepared 16 LJHS, LHS Band Students At Tech

Going boating without the proper equipment isn't just foolish, it's against the law, according to the Water Safety Services Division of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Craft up to 16 feet operated on Federal waters must carry proper lights and a fire extinguisher--if of closed construction; craft from 16 to 26 feet long must carry in addition a hand whistle or horn audible for at least one-half mile.

Larger pleasure craft, up to 65 feet long require a hand or power operated whistle.

Most states have similar equipment requirements.

Other items of equipment aren't mentioned in the regulations, but common sense dictates carrying them--anchor, line, paddle, first aid kit, flashlight, tool kit, extra can of fuel, compass and distress flares.

Sixteen young musicians from Littlefield Junior and Senior High schools enrolled for Texas Tech's annual Band Camp which began Monday (July 13) and will continue through July 24.

Registration for the camp was conducted Sunday with audition continuing through Monday morning so that the pre-college musicians could be placed in one of several bands and ensembles for training and instruction.

Director of the camp, Tech's Dean Killion, said the school was open to young public school musicians who have had as much as a year of band experience. Francis McBeth of Ouachita University, Arkadelphia, Ark., will serve as guest conductor and clinician for the camp's first band and will teach a class in conducting and rehearsal techniques in a band workshop for directors.

The curriculum offers a variety of electives, including twirling, drum majoring, theory, improvisation, rhythm, ensembles, stage band, conducting, twirling etiquette and marching.

"I feel guilty loafing. We ought to be out picketing... demonstrating... protesting..."

Pickups Collide At Delano-Hall

Pickups driven by a Lubbock man and an Anton man collided at E. Delano and Hall about noon Monday.

A 1970 Ford pickup driven by James Luther Turner of Lubbock was traveling east on Delano when a 1968 Chevrolet pickup driven by Paschall C. Caldwell of Anton went through a yield right of way sign in front of the Turner vehicle.

Damages to the right front fender and hood of the Turner pickup were estimated at $140, and the left front door and fender of the Caldwell vehicle were damaged about $160.

In addition, a young former narcotics addict and ex-convict will relate the tragic story of his life as an addict and criminal. He is Richard Pedrigo of Dallas, who is associated with HIP (Help is Possible), an organization dedicated to the prevention of delinquency and drug abuse among teenagers.

Purpose of the seminar is to give the student a better understanding of the American system and way of life. Emphasis will be placed on the economic, moral, and social aspects of the American society. Instruction will consist of lectures, films, and panel discussions.

Four Lamb Students To Attend Seminar

Four high school students from Lamb County will travel by chartered bus Tuesday, July 28, to Baylor University in Waco where they will attend a Citizenship Seminar July 28-31 conducted by the Texas Farm Bureau.

They are Kay Campbell, Amherst; Johnny Kelley and Jack Allison of Earth and Don Harper, Sudan.

The Lamb County Farm Bureau is sponsoring the local students at the four-day training school. Some 457 students from 156 counties across the state are expected to attend the session.

Four outstanding, nationally-known lecturers will address the Waco training school, according to Elroy Wistian of Springlake, president of the Lamb County Farm Bureau.

They are Dr. Clifton L. Ganus, Jr., president of Harding College, Searcy, Ark.; Dr. C.

PEACH BROWN ROT Although peach brown rot may have already hit early-maturing varieties in Texas, there is still time to save the late crop by tree spraying. Prompt treatment can protect such late maturing varieties as Ranger, Loring, Jefferson, Redskin, Dixieland and Redglow. The disease causes peaches to take on a brown, rotten appearance. Best time to spray is about two weeks before ripening and again one day before ripening.
