

Lighty Maroon Seeks Third Win Against Floydada

A. WARREN
The history can repeat itself, but this time it is the Littlefield Wildcats who are the underdogs. The Wildcats had better come early and strong Friday night at Wildcat Stadium.

Blakely said early in the week, "and they will give us the biggest challenge offensively and defensively that we've come up against."
The 'Winds have a better balanced ballclub than any of the 'Cats' first four opponents, but also have several outstanding players in key positions.

Fullback Melvin Collins, hb Kelvin Ratliff, quarterback Mike Vickers and end Donzell Minner were the offensive stars in Floydada's win over Olton. Minner, who is tabbed by Blakely as the "Most exciting receiver we've faced since I've been at Littlefield" caught two of Vicker's passes for touchdowns and also ran back a kickoff for 95 yards to account for three of Floydada's scores.

Described as a "well-coached football team and an opportunistic team", the 'Winds have what is described by the Wildcat coaches as "the best offensive line they've had in the last three years."
The Floydada defense is traditionally strong and this year is certainly no exception. The 'Winds return 8 defensive starters from last year's district championship team. The line is big and aggressive and their secondary is led by two-way performers, Ratliff and Minner.

Blakely summed up the encounter by stating, "I feel the 'Cats will play well against Floydada and I also expect Floydada to play well against us."

The tentative lineup is listed on the Booster page in this issue and the only doubtful starter will be Rick Hopping who suffered a knee injury against Muleshoe. Buddy Jungman will take Hopping's place on offense and Jerry Soria will fill in on defense if Hopping doesn't play.

The kickoff is at 7:30 p.m. Friday and a large crowd is anticipated as both Littlefield and Floydada fans are expected to turn out in force.

Reflecting back on the victory over Muleshoe, Blakely stated that he and his staff were "extremely proud of the way the team played a full 48 minutes of football." They played well at the beginning and played exceptionally hard near the end when they had to. It was a tremendous defensive effort by the team and we were especially pleased pleased by the way the defensive team played after Hopping (the defensive captain) got hurt."

Blakely stated that he as a coach "became a little too conservative offensively after going ahead 3-0 because of so much faith in the defense. Because of this, we didn't stay with our offensive game plan. We had planned to open up more offensively, but the object of the game is to win—whether by 8 or 28 points.

Offensively, Blakely singled out the play of Doug McCain and David Blevins for their line play. Jungman, who was seeing action for the first time since the Cooper game, and Stanley Patterson, who did a fine job of catching the ball in a crowd, also drew the praise of Blakely.

On the defensive side of the ledger, the 'Cats had the game in control most of the ball game and the only real spark that Muleshoe saw on offense was aided by a 15-yard penalty against Littlefield.

The defensive play of Doug McCain and Soria drew good marks as did the play of Ben Farmer, who was also seeing action for the first time since the Cooper game. Steve Cruz was noted as having several big defensive plays to his credit as did Patterson.

"Wildcats of the Week" are Steve Cruz on defense and Buddy Jungman on offense.

Antifreeze Shortage Blamed On Double Knits, Pantyhose

RODGERS
The antifreeze shortage is for real in Littlefield, because there are no merchants don't know where to receive another shipment, much it is going to sell for when they do get it.

Friday noon, Gibson's Discount Center was one of only two Littlefield businesses contacted that had any anti freeze. "We only got in 15 cases," Dwight Funk said, "compared to at least 300 cases we usually get."
Gibson's was selling Prestone II for $5.95 a gallon and even at that customers were snapping up the two gallons allowed and griping about the store's limit.

Gibson's didn't know when they would be receiving another shipment. "And I'm betting it will be $6.50 a gallon," Funk added. Until this year, Gibson's have handled four brands, but the one brand is all they received this year.

John Richey at Richey's Shamrock had a short supply Friday afternoon. "I do have some," Richey said, "but none to wholesale and only enough for my customers."

Richey was selling his supply at $7 a gallon and said he couldn't get any more. "Our suppliers tell us it will be $10 a gallon before frost," he added.

Edna Pryor at Gebu's just laughed when she was asked if they had any antifreeze. Gebu's received 70 cases of Durex Wednesday and had sold out by Friday noon.

There was no anti freeze at Goodyear, Perry's Variety, Furr's Supermarket, or Littlefield Supermarket. All had ordered supplies, but none knew when nor if they would get a shipment.

G&C Auto didn't get any antifreeze last year nor this year. They were handling DuPont, the company which has pulled out of antifreeze production.

Until DuPont quit making antifreeze, it was one of the two biggest antifreeze producers. The reason for the antifreeze shortage and the reason DuPont quit making it lies in the thick, colorless liquid called ethylene glycol. This is the basic component of antifreeze.

At one time this substance was the bottom of the coffeepot. It was the residue from plastics and the market was small. Now ethylene glycol is used in a number of synthetics. Double knit fabrics, pantyhose and sweaters are all made from this product.

It isn't improbable that persons may be wearing a gallon of antifreeze.

There is economic logic behind DuPont's leaving the antifreeze field. The chemical can be shipped in tank cars to be used in nylon manufacture cheaper than it can be bottled in small containers and sold as antifreeze. They make more money with bulk sales.

Scarcity breeds higher prices, and there are dealers who say the customers are bringing on yet another shortage by scare buying.

One service station said its present normal allotment would be enough. But with car owners coming in earlier and in a panic, they are running short even before cold weather sets in.

Prices were from $1.50 to $1.70 a gallon this time last year and the supply was somewhat short then. But there was a carry-over supply last year, and the winter was fairly mild.

This year there is no carry-over inventory. In addition to rumors of exports of antifreeze to Canada and Alaska, the shortage is aggravated by this being the second year in succession for a short supply.

The scarcity may be even greater in private than national brands. Don't be concerned if you must switch trade marks. A DuPont authority said virtually all antifreezes contain ethylene glycol plus a rust inhibitor. Some brands may have additional additives, but the brands sold by reputable dealers and manufacturers have basically the same ingredients.

ROBERTS and Ann Mackey select supplies for decorating the car that will enter in the annual homecoming parade Thursday night, Oct. 10, in homecoming activities Friday, Oct. 11. All school organizations as well as downtown merchants and individuals are invited to place entries in the parade. Following the parade, a bonfire and pep rally will be staged near the stadium. Theme for this year's parade, chosen by the Student Council, is "Wildcat World". (Staff Photo)

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. To Elect Producer Director

County cotton producers and businessmen will elect a producer director to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. at a meeting Thursday, Oct. 10, at the Tasty Taco Restaurant in Littlefield and PCG will host a breakfast meeting with the election committee.

Donald Johnson, executive vice president of PCG, will be on hand to discuss the current cotton situation and to answer any questions concerning the organization's activities and objectives.

Smith emphasized that directors to PCG are the men who determine the organization's policies and actions on legislation, research, promotion, finances and other matters so vital to the cotton economy of Lamb County, and that all cotton people should make every effort to be on hand for the election.

Smith and Bennett said all interested parties are urged to attend and that both farmers and businessmen are eligible to vote in the election.

Persons Wishing To Vote Must Be Registered

Secretary of State Mark W. ... has issued a reminder to any persons wishing to participate in the Nov. 5th General Election, that they must be registered by 5 p.m. Friday.

A voter registration application may be obtained at the County Tax Assessor-Collector's office in the Lamb County Courthouse, or in the applicant's county of residence.

The Tax Assessor-Collector's office or any of the branch offices in Lamb County should be contacted for specific information.

Secretary White noted that a registration is valid for three years and is automatically extended for the succeeding three-year period by voting in a primary or general election. Consequently, many voters who have participated in prior elections need not make application to renew their registration.

R. Duvall Wins Football Contest

Raymond Duvall of Amherst was the only pigskin prognosticator to choose 12 out of 16 contests correctly in the Leader-News Football contest, and wins himself $5.

Duvall missed his four by picking LSU, Oklahoma State, San Francisco and Dallas.

Steve Pollard, Roy Jackson, Walter Liles, Ray Ivey, Jill Yarbrough and Tommy Hood each missed on five picks, but Pollard's tie breaker was good enough for second place and Jackson's earned him third place.

Of the six mentioned who missed five, only one of those chose the Texas Tech victory over Texas.

Lamb County is (was?) certainly Dallas Cowboy Country as every entry received picked the Cowboys to whip the New York Giants.

The leaders at this point in the contest who will win two tickets to the Cotton Bowl to see Texas Tech play in the New Year's day classic plus $25 expense money are:

- (1) Jeff Birkelbach, 43-17;
- (2) Roy Jackson, Jr., 43-17;
- (3) Lamar Pollard, 43-17;
- (4) Lloyd Pollard, 43-17;
- (5) T.W. Bryson, 42-18;
- (6) Kim Hill, 41-19;
- (7) Ray C. Ivey, 41-19;

DR. EMIL PROHL of Tahoka, Rotary District Governor, is making his official visit to the Littlefield Rotary Club, and will be speaking at the regular Rotary Club meeting at noon today in the Lamb County Community Center. ## City Is Seeking Cotton Industry

The Chamber of Commerce and the City of Littlefield have made a presentation to the Plains Cotton Cooperative Association, inviting them to look at Littlefield for possible placement of an open end spinning textile mill.

Littlefield is one of 20 cities in the South Plains being considered for the location, and representatives from the Chamber of Commerce and the City have been working on getting the industry for Littlefield.

Telephone Rate Case Again In District Court

Testimonies were continuing Wednesday at presstime in Judge Pat Boone Jr.'s District Court on the General Telephone vs. the area cities rate case.

Three witnesses for General Telephone Co. were heard Tuesday, as they presented facts and figures on their case, in an attempt to have the cities enjoined from enforcing the new rates they passed in July.

The new rates went into effect Sept. 1, and the company is seeking to have the rates increased more than they were allowed in action by the cities in July.

The case is a continuation of the old suit filed by the cities, enjoining the company from enforcing higher rates than were approved by the cities. The case was taken to the Supreme Court of Texas, which decided that the cities have the right to govern rate increases.

Now, General Telephone has filed a counter suit, and the case is again being heard in District Court.

Witnesses for the cities testified Wednesday.

Lfd. 4-H Club Schedules Meeting

C-C To Sponsor Cowboy Game Trip

Tickets for a Dallas Cowboy football game and trip are being sold by the Chamber of Commerce on a first-come, first-served basis.

It'll be the Dallas Cowboys hosting the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday, Nov. 3, and area residents can be there in person for the kickoff as a result of a special project of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

There is a slight possibility that this game will be played Sunday, Oct. 13 in Dallas due to a stadium conflict with the baseball Cardinals. If this happens, the trip will be moved to this date with all details remaining the same. If the baseball Cardinals do not win their division championship, there will not be a date change.

For reservations and further details, contact the Chamber of Commerce.

Massive Tragedy

By JIMMY R. ALLEN
San Antonio
MASSIVE TRAGEDY usually boggles our minds. We can empathize very deeply when one person is killed or one family is hurt. We feel the compassion of spirit toward a child or a parent who walks in grief.

When natural disaster strikes and massive numbers of people are hurt, we find it so overwhelming that we often withdraw from any personal feeling of responsibility.

The fact is however, that more than 9,000 people are dead in Honduras. More than 55,000 are homeless in the wake of a hurricane that swept that small country to the south of us.

EVERY STATISTIC is a human life. A family is grieving. A child is orphaned. A farm is devastated. A house is destroyed.

The massive damage comes out in a pathetic picture. Doctors with no equipment with which to work because the food water have ruined x-ray machines. Farmers surveying fields that were planted and ready to grow completely gone. People with broken limbs and no braces or splints.

DR. ROBERT HINGSON of Brothers Brother Foundation stirred many in San Antonio with his description of the health needs of other countries in a visit this year.

He now calls the attention of Christians to the needs for elemental response of very simple things that to be registered in order to vote in the upcoming Nov. 5th General Election.

As Chief Elections Officer of Texas, I am attempting to work with all organizations, groups, and individuals in an effort to have all qualified persons registered to vote. I respectfully request your assistance in informing the people of Texas of the necessity for registration as the first step in exercising the right to vote.

The newspaper has traditionally been a leader in dissemination of public service information, and I am confident your help will be invaluable in increasing participation of Texas citizens in the democratic process.

If this office may be of assistance to you in any manner, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Yours truly:

AgriCulture? HOW'S YOUR?

THE IDEA OF ARTIFICIALLY RIPENING TOMATOES CAME FROM AN ANCIENT JAPANESE CUSTOM!

GENTURIES AGO THE JAPANESE FOUND THAT STORING PERSIMMONS IN AN OLD SAKE CASK REMOVED THE FRUIT'S "PUCKER" AND MADE IT SWEETER...

WORKING FROM THIS IDEA, U.S. AGRICULTURAL SCIENTISTS LEARNED IT WAS ETHYLENE GAS IN THE CASKS THAT CAUSED PERSIMMONS TO RIPEN...

BY USING OTHER SOURCES FOR ETHYLENE GAS THEY DEvised A NEW WAY TO SPEED THE RIPENING OF TOMATOES!!!

CLIPS & Tips

By JOELLA LOVVERN

ADMIRERS of the culinary arts of long ago will have an opportunity to sample recipes from the Old West when the five-trailer Marlboro Chuckwagon caravan arrives at the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 5-20, in Dallas.

The Marlboro Chuckwagon, literally a kitchen on wheels, will be serving authentic Western food, handed down from chuckwagon recipes, to thousands of fairgoers daily.

Tempting Marlboro Country dishes will include son of son-of-a-gun stew, "Texas Red" chili, cowpoke beans, black barbecue beef and Sunday cobbler for dessert.

DUE TO a lack of space this time, my column is going to be shorter than usual.

HERE'S A RECIPE my co-worker, Niah Rodgers, says she likes to fix when she's going to have company.

STRAWBERRY LAYER SALAD
DISSOLVE 1 large package strawberry Jello in 2 cups boiling water. Add 1 lb. package of frozen strawberries and 1 cup crushed pineapple (1 flat can).

Pour half of this mixture into oblong pan (9x12) and allow to congeal partially. Spread 1 cup sour cream on mixture and then pour remainder of Jello mixture on top of cream layer.

Sprinkle top with 1/2 to 1 cup chopped pecans and press pecans into Jello. Allow to congeal completely. Cut in squares and serve on lettuce leaves. Makes 12 to 15 large squares.

TIPS AND TIDBITS:
DID YOU KNOW? Mild cheese refers to the degree of curing (or ripening) and the term is generally applied to cheddar cheese. Sharp or "aged" cheese is cured longer and held at a specific temperature and humidity.

PLAN SOME "freeze it" meals. Cooked turkey or chicken casseroles are good to freeze. In fact, any type of cooked meat used in combination with vegetables will freeze well. Flaky pastry makes a good topping before freezing.

Survivors include his parents; a sister, Sulema of the home; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Catalina Mendoza of Littlefield, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Adela Soria, also of Littlefield.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE Injuries Fade

ONE WAY OR ANOTHER, all of us suffer injuries, in the rather complicated interactions with our fellowmen. Some of these will be deliberate, but many of them will be unintentional; and, in some instances, we will not know which it is. When they occur, whether deliberate or unintentional, we must do something about them.

What we do about injuries should be of greater concern to us than the injury itself, because what we do can help us or hurt us.

THE DEGREE OF INJURY will probably affect our decision about what we do; however, regardless of the degree, we must be very careful in making our decision.

When we receive an injury, we will usually be disappointed, or our feelings may be hurt, or we may become angry. Because of this upset condition, we must be especially careful about deciding what to do. We must never be hasty in deciding.

WE CAN RETALIATE for injuries we receive, but are we sure that this is the prudent action? Is this the action that will be best for us?

We can "return like for like"; or "repay in kind"; but this action is not productive, and it usually expands some form of ugliness that will be harmful to everybody involved.

It is better that we maintain our stability, and let the "injuries fade".

WE MUST BE CAREFUL about the state of mind we form as the result of injuries done to us. We may suffer enough not to retaliate, but we must move in and capturing our feelings become hate. It is much to be charitable, and handle our "injuries fade".

"IF MEN WOUND YOU" with their hands, we must not think and the intention of getting even, such behavior keeps the injuries. Regardless of what we do to get even, it will fail. Why keep alive that should be permitted to "fade away"?

In trying to get even, we run the risk of hurting ourselves more than we hurt by the original injury. We are certainly making trouble for ourselves and this is exceedingly foolish.

IF WE RESTRAIN ourselves, we remain in command of our feelings. We can turn the injuries done to us to our benefit.

We can let them be part of the process; our understanding is enriched; our strength for living increases; and our peace of deepens.

By CORNBALL BLEVIN

I'M SURE GLAD our Wildcats made that second field goal last Friday night.—Who'd believe a football score of 5 to Zip?

Our guys really showed character—PLAYED all four quarters! WE'RE REALLY proud of 'em.

SPEAKIN' OF FOOTBALL between the Dallas Cowboys and a balky lawnmower, my last Sunday afternoon was practically ruined.

The Cowboys looked like a bunch of rookies that were only interested in drawing a paycheck, and hearing the final whistle of the game.

—No Spirit at all. Do believe Texas U could have beaten them!

I COULD HAVE spared myself a lot of consternation if I'd spent all my time with that no-name lawnmower!

The mower? It finally started after I'd knocked it in the carburetor, but then, it was too late to MO-DE-LAUN. (Dot's Frinch fer, "Cut-da-grass")—Anyway, it kept my mind off politics!

INFLATION takes it's toll in different ways. It robs our businesses of the incentive of competition, and causes them to fear expansion. Maybe we have the idea that our customers are bringing their business to us, and we have to be satisfied with our service and or goods we want to have!

WE MAY HAVE the false idea that our customers are loyal enough paying for first class service merchandise, when we're doing third class, in both categories—

In other words, if we're charging more money for a smaller pie, we'd better be sure it's served with a smile!

HELOISE says you can always find the guy in that owns his own store. You usually find him around the store.

True—how true?

UPTIGHT ABOUT the proposed increase in gasoline taxes? Let it worry you. It's all for your good!

IT'S NOT SO much that we miss the "Second Mile"; it's just that so tired of others expecting us

Turn Row COMMENTS

By EMIL MANN

IN THE MINDS of a good segment of the American population, editors, newspaper publishers and reporters are supposed to be "instant experts" on just about any subject under the sun.

After all, they have direct access to enormous amounts of information flowing in from every part of the globe, through a multitude of communications channels.

Surely, this should enable the members of the press to have the answers to just about everything.

Monday afternoon in the Oakwood Baptist Church, with Rev. Stan Blevins, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Resthaven Memorial Park with Sanders Funeral Home in charge.

She had been a Lubbock resident since 1946, and had lived near Littlefield 20 years.

She was a member of Oakwood Baptist Church in Lubbock.

BUT, AS ALL newspaper editors are aware, that "ain't necessarily so" as an illustration of this fact, Ed Wilborn of the Mid-South "Pro Farmer" magazine recently quoted Mann, an Arkansas cotton picker who spoke at a meeting of the Farm Forum in Memphis.

And, in so doing, Editor Wilborn said "This is not meant to cast any doubt on the publications and organizations mentioned. Everybody was predicting 1973 crop prices."

WHAT LON MANN had said try to keep reasonably well informed about the markets. But, after all, really in a quandry. If a farmer subscribed to the Kiplinger Agricultural Service, Doane Agricultural and the "Wall Street Journal" probably sold his 1973 soybeans at $4 a bushel and his cotton at 30 cents a pound. If he didn't sell to any of these and spent his time fishing or playing golf, he sold his beans for $5 a bushel and his cotton for 50 cents a pound. If he read or wrote, he probably sold the experts anything and he sold his beans for $6 a bushel and his cotton for 75 cents a pound.

WELL, WE NEWSMEN do all the answers to everything, we try to bring you various information that may be of interest to some of us. We trust that along with taking time for fishing and golfing, you some value, as well as pleasant comments we endeavor to bring with each issue.

Littlefield Coins' Namesake Has Interesting History

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of several articles about George W. Littlefield and the Halsell Ranch in connection with requests for historical information from interest in commemorative coins issued through the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce.)

Littlefield's first medal in the George Littlefield series is creating a good historical and numismatic impression among coin and medal collectors. The man for whom Littlefield was named for 61 years ago was quite a man by the standards of any period.

He lived in a free-wheeling period of history as a gallant soldier, an astute cattleman, an astute businessman, a devoted public servant and philanthropist who gave millions of dollars to the cause of education—a cause which he held almost in his hand. Littlefield was a man who had trouble with simple words, but no trouble with business facts and sizing up a situation in a day when business was fraught with special perils. He was in Washington, Mississippi, on the 21st of Panola County, Mississippi, on Oct. 31, 1842. When eight years old he moved with his parents to Gonzales County, Texas, a proper setting for a Texas career of note.

Only 14 years before most of the men of the village of Gonzales—32 of them—had ridden away to join the beleaguered forces at the Alamo, there to die with them in glory.

It was Gonzales which had fought the first battle of Texas Revolution, in November, 1835, when the Mexican government demanded from the village a 4-pound cannon it held.

Back went the message "Come and take it," and when the Mexicans responded they were turned back, and the first battle of the Texas Revolution was fought.

George Littlefield grew to manhood in this area of glory. He grew up faster when his father died in 1853, and Mrs. Littlefield— from a distinguished plantation family— ably took over management of their Gonzales plantation, with the help of her sons.

The spirited young man studied with a plantation tutor, attended school at Gonzales and for awhile at Baylor University, then at Independence, Washington, County.

But responsibilities of the family business curtailed his school career. In later years, Major Littlefield was to lament his lack of formal education.

But thousands of Texas students have benefitted from Major Littlefield's generous and substantial gifts to education.

The Civil War came when George Littlefield was just 19. In August, 1861, he joined a company headed by Capt. Isham B. Jones and assigned to B. F. Terry's regiment. The unit had horses and became cavalry when it entered the Confederate army.

George Littlefield, second youngest man in the outfit, became second sergeant.

Terry's Texas Rangers, as they came to be named, were assigned to the Army of the Tennessees under Gen. Albert Sidney Johnson.

They saw heated action in Georgia, South and North Carolina. When a company officer fell ill and resigned, Sergeant Littlefield was elected Second Lieutenant Littlefield.

The new shavetail found himself in command of the company as Johnston's army backed up agonizingly from Kentucky, screened time and again by the hard-riding Texans of the "Come and take it" tradition.

L. Littlefield commanded his company at Shiloh, when the Confederates almost ended the career of a rising Union general Ulysses S. Grant.

Within weeks, through casualties in the company, including the battlefield death of Captain William A. Harris, Littlefield advanced to captain and company commander.

He protested this move to his commander, who however sided with Littlefield's company in naming him captain.

Captain Littlefield had not yet reached his 20th birthday. But he was a man, and a courageous one, dedicated to the cause of the South.

His letters home to his mother sometimes reflected grief at absences of troops and officers from the battle zones. He feared for the Confederacy, but he fought for it steadfastly and bravely.

Littlefield's troops wrote their part of the victory history of Confederate cavalry. He fought at Chickamauga, one of the bloodiest battles of the Civil War, where his troops distinguished themselves in bloodily defending a crossing of Chickamauga creek.

Near the battle's close, Littlefield's company joined a contingent that completely encircled the enemy forces at Chattanooga, harassing them, destroying many supplies and gaining important information. When the battle finally closed, his Rangers had been almost continually in the saddle for three weeks.

The carnage of Chickamauga, the sight of hundreds of wounded and dying troops in the area where he rode in action, were to remain a poignant memory with Major Littlefield all his life.

In this period, the young officer was home once to seek new recruits for the men of his company who had been lost.

In January, 1862, he found a few days to marry his longtime sweetheart, Alice P. Tiller of Houston. In three weeks after the wedding, Littlefield was back in battle.

By 1863, Captain Littlefield was a veteran soldier, a cool and able commander who had led many charges, faced often what he called the "s-s-s" of enemy rifle balls. He fought in the battle of Lookout Mountain in the Eastern Tennessee campaign, almost daily skirmishing with the enemy.

Late that year his Texas luck ran out. While serving as regimental major on December 26, he was struck by an enemy shell fragment that smashed his belt cartridge box on his left side.

This set off shells that tore a deep gash into Captain Littlefield's hip. While he was prostrate on the ground and receiving aid, Gen. Tom Harrison rode up and said "I promote him to the rank of Major for gallantry on the field of battle."

Major Littlefield was attended by his faithful man servant, conveyed to an ambulance and taken four miles to the rear to a hospital. The sight of his wound, nine by 11 inches, led a division surgeon to declare: "Just give him a little morphine, he will die before morning."

This was seven hours after the major had been wounded and die he might have but for the arrival soon of Gen. Harrison who sent for the surgeon and had Littlefield's wound dressed.

(To be continued at a later date.)
