

Front its Area nce Again

Snow and ice coated the Littlefield area late Saturday and Sunday even before the snow melted. Wednesday and Thursday snows covered the area with five to eight inches of snow.

Wednesday, new icy conditions and a chorus to the same song, same old weather medley.

Temperatures in Littlefield dipped to 27 degrees Wednesday morning, and winds of 15 miles per hour sent the chill factor to eight above zero.

Difficult driving conditions were reported Wednesday morning for portions of the county, especially north of the city. The forecast at press time called for more snow Thursday with temperatures in the low 20's.

Accumulation last Wednesday through Thursday measured 1.02. Farmers were had-mouthing the weatherman, additional moisture predicted to come from 25 to 50 Thursday adds to the late fall harvest.

More than 10 per cent of the area cotton has been harvested. With no let-up in the cold weather predicted in the near future, the 1970 harvest will extend into January.

ck Roads use Wrecks

Difficult road conditions created by heavy snow which covered the area Saturday and early Sunday morning contributed to a two-car wreck at 2:20 a.m. Sunday morning.

The collision occurred five miles north of Littlefield at the intersections of U. S. 385 and a 1964 Ford, driven by Edward Weidel of 1401 Weidel in Littlefield, and a 1970 Cadillac south in the snow. Ethridge said he did not see the Cadillac until the impact. The right front of the Cadillac hit the left rear of the Ford. Highway Patrolman Bill Angel investigated the accident.

The wreck on the highway caused an accident on the highway south of Spade about 7:45 Saturday. Juanita Dudley Holland of Dallas was driving a 1969 Pontiac on FR 168 when the car struck the animal. Weldon owned the animal. Weldon worked the accident.

Colored Brochure

A new color brochure is being published for the city of Littlefield, and delivery is expected sometime in January.

The publication is a joint effort of the Board of City, Development and the Chamber of Commerce.

County Payrolls Reflect Increases

Lamb County seems to be a good place to have a business, judging from the number of them that are flourishing in the local area.

According to government data, just released, there are more business establishments locally, in proportion to population, than in many sections of the country.

The report, issued by the Census Bureau in cooperation with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, gives details on the economic structure of every county in the United States.

It provides information on local industries, on the number of people they employ and on the size of their payrolls.

The data was compiled chiefly from tax reports submitted under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act.

Listed in Lamb County are a total of 381 business firms that employ one or more persons. Not included are the so-called "Mom and Pop" enterprises that are self-operated.

Of the total, 237 have 3 employees or less, 78 have from 4 to 7 and 48 have 8 to 19. The rest are larger.

As is the case generally throughout the country, small and moderate-size businesses predominate in the local area. Most of them are holding their own despite the competition from larger firms.

The figures show that approximately 95 per cent of the businesses have fewer than 20 employees.

Throughout the United States as a whole there are 87 percent in this category.

As to the amount of employment provided for people in the area by Lamb County's businesses — small, medium and large — there were a total of 2,072 on their payrolls in the past year in jobs covered by social security.

Not covered were self-employed people, farm workers, government employees and domestic workers.

Wages and salaries have been rising steadily in the local area, keeping payrolls at a high level. The report shows that they totaled $8,728,000 last year, or 14.1 per cent more than three years ago, when a similar survey was conducted. The total at that time was $7,652,000.

The increase was registered despite the fact that there were more unemployed people in the year than there were in 1967.

"This program dares a church to be greater," said Watson. "It challenges it to strengthen its total program. It is the only program of its kind offered to touch every aspect of a church's life."

He pointed out that eligible churches—there are more than 2,000 in Texas eligible to participate in this program—and their pastors making outstanding achievements during the year will be honored by the Llanos Altos Baptist Association and at the annual convention of Texas Baptists next year in Abilene.

Pastor Ronnie Green, will lead the church to adopt goals for advancement in the areas of a better local church, a better community, and a better world.

A record of progress notebook will be compiled by church members and will serve as the basis for evaluation among all participating churches. No church may enter the program if its community's population exceeds 2,500 persons.

Good Records Reduce Taxes

Good records can save tax dollars at income tax filing time for North Texas taxpayers.

Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue in North Texas, said good records help you get all the deductions and credits you are entitled to.

A good system for keeping records is to label envelopes or folders according to the types of income and deductions you have, Campbell said. Bills and receipts should be put in the appropriate folder as they are paid.

Taxpayers who itemize their deductions on Form 1040 must have available cancelled checks, receipts, statements, and other material to support the claimed deductions.

Campbell said that, in addition to saving tax dollars, good recordkeeping makes preparation of the tax return a much easier task.

You're talking to a friend on the phone. Suddenly, click—you're talking to yourself.

What happened? Fuses can blow, electromechanical equipment burn out or a switch may malfunction. If your conversation is interrupted call repair service. Your report will help us find the trouble. And help prevent its recurrence.

However, if your line goes dead we want you to know that a great many disconnects are caused by unpredictable acts of man or nature. For example: a tree falls and takes your phone line down with it; lightning strikes and burns up your conversation; or a builder excavating a site accidentally pulls up a line cutting off hundreds of calls at once.

Unfortunately these things can and do happen occasionally.

When they do our men are out rain or shine, day or night getting your lines back in service as fast as possible.

"NEW YEAR'S NOSTALGIA"—In the mood of auld lang syne, we find a bit of "New Year's Nostalgia" in a gentle, elegant style reminiscent of the mid-forties. The face is framed in curls, lightly brushed and highlighted with delicate color shadings. The side areas just above the ear are adaptably close, formed in waves and curls. Again, the pompadour appears, here separating sides from the top. A small wiglet of curls can be added to the style for a more festive occasion.

"CANDLELIGHT MAGIC"—"Candlelight Magic" is created with imagination, flair and the versatility of a quick change artist. The basic style is soft and curly, butterfly light and airy. A pompadour created on the sides and slightly cushioned enhances the facial features of the wearer. A very small wiglet of airy, soft curls added to the crown creates another version. For formal wear, a 24" fall is folded into a very large braided effect at the nape of the neck.

"CANDLEGLOW CLASSIC"—The "Candleglow Classic" has the delicate air of a Dresden doll, a fragile femininity created with wispy spiral ringlets on the sides and crown. In a variation of the style, downward flowing wave movements curl about, caressing the face in a soft look that is pure "Classic". Yet another style version is created by adding long braids ending in thin, soft spiral puffs. "Candleglow" is a bit coy, a bit demure, and a lot of elegance.

Hairstyles Return To Romance For The Holidays

Fashion is courting the American woman this season with an elegant invitation to return to the romance of "dressing up". With glamorous evenings in the holidays ahead, the official hair fashion committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, the hair fashion authority of the beauty profession, provides for milady a romantic trio of hairstyles designed to crown in glory her most glamorous holiday ensembles.

range from approximately five to eleven inches. A candlelight softness is reflected by shadowing the hairstyle design with warmer tones of two or more colors—lighter shades on dark hair, darker shades on light hair. The flattering glow of the candle's gleam falls on a richness of rare new shades in makeup this season—bright, clear, primary colors accenting the cheeks, lips and eyes. The touchable texture of the romantic styles requires some tender loving care—the gentle support of a permanent wave professionally engineered for the individual's needs; a natural shampoo for all scalp and hair types; a natural rinse that soothes, stimulates and moisturizes the hair; a setting lotion with conditioner built in; and a final hair spray that holds the set without build-up.

A quick brush through the hairstyle, a glittering rhinestone band added around the head and neck, and presto "Candlelight Magic" achieves the height of glamour for the holiday wear!

WITH MORE END CURL movement, the collection has action, wear and durability. When time is of the essence, a wardrobe of hair goods can produce the magic of fast changes from one gala event to another. Curls framing the face are styled for the mood of fashion, for the occasion, and especially for the individual. Hair length on the neckline will range from zero to seven inches. With the addition of hairpieces, lengths may be adapted to suit the individual's needs, and will vary in length from three to seven inches. Hair length in the crown will

IT IS SAID nothing so flatters a woman as candlelight. For the romantic and festive season ahead, "The Candlelight Collection" offers every woman a very personal flattery all her own.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Despair Deadens

By BOB WEAR

WE MUST NOT GIVE WAY to despair. Certainly, there are problems, difficulties, and imperfections; but we human beings can do better than sink in the quicksand of despair.

Life is not easy. Many things go wrong, but some things turn out right. Even when we seem to be losing, we must continue trying.

Sometimes wrong things can be made right, or, at least, they can be partially corrected.

DESPAIR DEADENS the basic life principles if we submit to its power. Therefore, we must not submit. Once it begins to get hold of a life, it can work very fast, and it is devastating. We will always be better and stronger when fighting it, even when we gain only a partial victory. This is better than total defeat.

DESPAIR IS LIKE froward children, who, when you take away one of their playthings, throw the rest into the fire for madness.—It grows angry with itself, turns its own executioner, and revenges its misfortunes on its own head.—Charron.

We will find many causes for despair, if this is what we desire. If we want to be miserable, and feel hopeless; we will. Unfortunately, we can easily justify this choice. On the other hand, if we want to live in the light and strength of hope; we can find sufficient basis for this meaningful life.

HOPE AND GOOD CHEER can and will do much, much more to animate and sustain us than despair and gloom. We do have a choice.

We must not give up. Many persons, with courage and patient endurance, have been victorious over the same challenges and difficulties which overcame others who viewed them with a feeling of despair.

Of course, there are many threats to us and our well-being, but it is foolish to assume a state of life in which we feel and behave as if all that threatens us has already happened. This is exactly what we do when we choose despair as our daily companion.

"DESPAIR IS the offspring of fear, of laziness, and impatience; it argues a defect of spirit and resolution, and often of honesty, too."—Collier.

This is a strong statement, and a true one, too. Interwoven in this fear, laziness, impatience, defective spirit and resolution; we find a faulty value system, and inadequate guidelines. We can do better than this.

WE WILL HAVE SOME feelings of despair about some things, some situations, and some people. If we are realistic and honest, we must admit some hopelessness about some things.

We, however, must not transfer these feelings of despair to our own lives.

WE CAN ADMIT THAT some situations are hopeless without letting hopelessness become part of our lives.

WHEN LOSS OCCURS, we must admit it; we must accept what we cannot change; see and rejoice in all that is right and good; but never surrender to despair.

It's Doubtful

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm must have been clearing off his desk, his letter this week indicates.)

Dear editor:

The trouble with reading newspapers is that every once in a while when you're not thinking much about anything something you read a few days before pops into your mind and makes you wonder if you read it right.

For example, I remember reading the other day that a movie actress announced she is now a vegetarian, won't eat any meat. "I want to be able to look a cow in the eye from now on," she said.

It just occurred to me, I hope she wasn't looking down at her feet when she said this, if she was wearing leather shoes.

A public opinion survey has revealed that the voting records of 10 Congressional leaders of both parties have not reflected their home folks' views on some of the major issues of the day. The voters sided one way, the leaders the other.

No wonder. Congressmen can't hear from the folks of the cheek any more. The Army Engineers have covered it up with a dam.

I wasn't disturbed when Red China got a

I EXPECT YOU should read in detail the goings-on in the INDO-PAKISTANI disagreement.—Then you'll understand the beginning of WW III, another Korea, or Vietnam, and just how it came to be that WE became involved.

HAD A LESSON in economics this past week. Was fortunate enough to be treated to a tour through the Arlington Assembly Plant.

I can now testify as to just how inflation works.

FIRST YOU START a big operation. Next you unionize your labor, then just let nature take its course.

I was amazed at the number of workers in the plant that had nothing more to do than just stand and rubber-neck at us rubber-necks that were passing through!

YOU SAW THEM in little groups taking a smoke and bull session break. You didn't pass a refreshment stand but had two to eight men sitting and talkin' over their snacks.—Yet, we were to understand that the plant was operating at near capacity!

Really, it seemed, the only person that was in any kind of a hurry was the guide that took us through the part of the plant they'd let us see. For the most part, we proceeded in a running walk, and over what must have been no more than one fourth of the plant!

I'm reminded of the late Henry Ford, as he was showing one of his friends through HIS assembly line.

"TIS SAID THAT the friend was more than a little impressed with the magnitude of the operation.

"Henry" he asked: "How many men work here?"

After a little hesitation, Mr. Ford answered: "About half of them, —I think!"

ANYHOOD, MULTIPLY this operation several times and you come up with the answer to the inflation thing.—Double pay for about half the labor—expensive products!

I EXPECT OUR police envy the Manila cops for their freedom of law-enforcement. Direct, and to the point!—OK?

RECEIVED an anonymous missive, probably from a FORMER reader, concerning my downgrading the Demos for their lack of regard for the taxpayers monies.

The person inclosed a clipping from a likewise nameless paper of a statement made by another nameless person, berating Nixon, Mitchell and Rogers for their excessive spending in caring for the servicemen and their families, abroad.

"BE FAIR" they admonish, "Tell both sides of the thing.—The Republicans spend the taxpayers' money too!"

Was a little flattered to receive this bit of attention. I might mention that a number of scathing retorts came to mind that I might print in reply.

HOWEVER—I will only answer that the things I write are my own thoughts which I write under my own name, and I INITIAL EACH ARTICLE.—Nuff said.

Might just mention that the same day, I received a very nice phone call from a lovely lady in a neighboring town, encouraging me to keep up the "Good work." Guess the day came out about even.

JET-AGE SEWING
Sewing Bias

By FRANCES

GARMENT SECTIONS are often cut diagonally across the cloth. It is attractive, especially in checks and plaids, and strips cut bias can be shaped around a curve without pleats or puckers. True bias is not just any diagonal line across the cloth so never try to cut it freehand. It is a line at a 45-degree angle to a thread of the goods. The starting point may be either a lengthwise or a crosswise thread.

Two easy methods are given here for locating a true bias line.

1. BY FOLDING the cloth: make one edge grain true for a distance of several inches. Do not trim the cloth into a square or a rectangle. This is unnecessary and it wastes cloth. Bring the grain true edge up and lay it over until it runs true with a right angle thread.

Let's say you made a crosswise line thread true for a distance of 8 inches. Bring the 8 inch line over until it follows true with a lengthwise thread. The resulting crease is a true bias line. Open the cloth and cut strips or sections as needed. If you are cutting a bias yoke or pocket, place the grainline mark of the pattern true with this line. A.

2. BY USE OF measurements: first trim a corner of the cloth to make it true in both directions for a few inches.

From the corner, mark down one side a certain distance (say 4 inches) and mark down the joining side (from the same corner) the same number of inches. Draw a line with a ruler joining the marks. This line is true bias. B.

Joining bias strips correctly requires special attention the same as in the cutting. First, trim the ends of the strips to make them thread true.

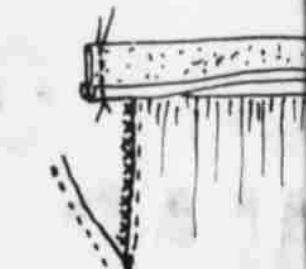

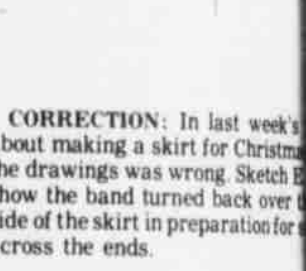

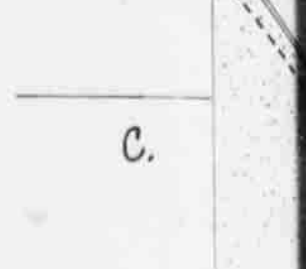

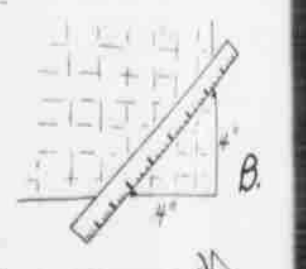

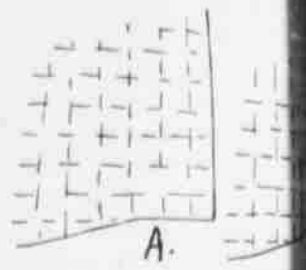

For best results trim on the lengthwise threads rather than crosswise. Place one strip on the table right side up and place a second strip over it, right side down with ends together. This brings right sides together in preparation for the seam. Notice that the strips form a right angle and that the points are not matched. This is correct. C.

MAKE A NARROW SEAM, only about 1/4 inch in width. The sewing begins where the sides of the strip meet.

Press the seam open to distribute bulk and trim the extending points. Notice that the seam runs in a diagonal line and not straight across. This is also correct. The seam is more inconspicuous this way. If you make a mistake in joining bias strips, simply cut the mistake away, retrim the ends and make another seam.

Always allow extra length on bias bindings and facings for corrections—surplus can always be trimmed off at the ends. If the strip is to be sewn around a curve, press it in a curve before you apply it to the garment.

THE MORE YOU improve in handling

Journalism Honor Society Organized

For the first time in at least twenty years, Littlefield High School has a Quill and Scroll chapter, an international honorary society for high school journalists. Sixteen new members were inducted into the society Nov. 22 by Bill Turner, publisher of the Leader-News.

Members are Carol Chisholm, editor of the Katalyst; Cathy Nelson, editor of the Skat; Debra McAnally and Cynthia Adair, co-editors of the Wildcat; and Carla Owens, Wanda Cotter, Pam Brandt, Tina Russell, Mary Shotwell, Mary Davidson, Anthony Pierce, Karol Terry, Kathy Turner, Cathy Giles, Druanne Wilkinson, and Timmie Campbell.

Carol Chisholm and Mary Davidson are second-year journalists, and Debra McAnally, Carla Owens, Cynthia Adair, and Mary Shotwell are second-year annual staffers.

Each member received a pin and membership card, then refreshments were served by the editors for the parents and friends attending.

Advisors are Mrs. Amy Turner and Mrs. Lucille Betts.

In order to be eligible for membership in Quill and Scroll, a junior or senior student must rank in the top third of his school class, be active in some form of journalistic work, be recommended by an advisor, and be approved nationally.

Stories Of Civil War Fascinate Sophomore

By CATHY GILES

Everyone has interest in the Civil War—including Tandy Talburt, LHS sophomore. The only difference is that she has liked it since the age of four or five years when she was taken by her family on a tour of the Southern states and major Civil War battlefields.

"I could hardly wait to see Shiloh. It was the bloodiest battle of the War and I thought that the river would still be red with blood. It really disappointed me when it wasn't," Tandy commented.

Tandy has read "Gone With The Wind" about two or three times and seen the movie twice.

The story of the Civil War really fascinates Tandy and she has read a lot of books and stories about it.

"I think that it is interesting to see which side hates the other the most." Tandy's grandfather also has an interest in the study of wars and especially likes the Civil War.

Among Tandy's hobbies, other than study of the Civil War, are water skiing, horseback riding, swimming, and tennis. Her bassett hound, Fredrick Bartholomew Bassett, occupies her time, along with Tarzan, her horse, and Domingo, her donkey. Football is her favorite sport and blue really rates in her line. She is a member of Kat Klub, FTA, YWA's, Girl Scouts, and is a Candy-Striper. Tandy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Talburt.

CIVIL WAR FAN—Tandy Talburt, LHS sophomore, reads one of her favorite books, "Gone With The Wind." Tandy has more than a passing interest in the war novel.

Fruitcake Sales Will End Today

Fruitcake sales for the Wildcat Band end today. The cakes will be ordered from the Manor Texas Fruitcake Company in Dallas and will arrive in time to be delivered for Christmas. The money from this project will go toward a band trip this spring. The Manor Company designed and packaged the cakes especially for fund raising projects.

This year the company presents two new sizes. The two-lb. bar sells for $3.90. Also available are the cakes in the two-lb., three-lb., and five-lb. tins. All Wildcat Band members are participating in the sale.

Senior Girls Take Betty Crocker Test

Littlefield High senior girls participated in the 50-minute written knowledge and attitude Betty Crocker Examination which was given during third period Tuesday, Dec. 7.

The Search is sponsored by General Mills and it is the only national scholarship program exclusively for high school senior girls.

Following grading, which is conducted by Science Research Associates, Chicago, a Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow will be named for the high school here. She will receive a specially designed award charm and will remain in the running for state and national honors.

State Homemakers of Tomorrow—one from each state and the District of Columbia—will be awarded $1,500 scholarships, with their schools receiving a set of Encyclopedia Britannica from Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc. A runner-up in each state will be awarded a $500 educational grant.

This year a special $1,000 nutrition scholarship has been added to the Betty Crocker Search. It will be awarded to one girl who is planning a college major in nutrition or a related field if she scores among the highest in her state on the overall Search examination and achieves the highest score among those first two criteria on the examination's nutrition items.

Rough Ride At NMMI For Rodeo Club Members

New Mexico Military Institute's Thanksgiving high school rodeo was held Nov. 25 and 26. Brad Nace and Marc Payne competed in the bull riding event of this rodeo with Nace also competing in the calf roping.

Neither of the boys scored on their bulls, but Nace said, "It was a good rodeo with a lot of rough stock and even more pretty gals."

Nace drew a bull called "Applejack" and rode him about six seconds before he touched the bull with his free hand. Payne drew a little black bull named "Teddy."

"That's the smallest bull I've ever been on, and I believe he's the meanest one too," Payne commented.

Mike Todd from Valley High School in Albuquerque won the bull riding with a score of 58, with Jim Davis of Amarillo High School running second with a score of 55.

The livestock products rodeo were Jim (NMMI) and the Holiday Company. The judge, Charlie Strickland, is Weldy.
