Meeting Slated To Settle Fate

By NILAH RODGERS
Leader-News Staff Writer

A complete hail suppression program for Lamb and Hale Counties now hangs by a time and money thread, and the fate of this year's program will be decided at a county wide meeting in the district court room at 7:30 p.m., Monday, March 16.

Twenty-three from Lamb County traveled to Plainview Thursday night to learn more about how 1970 crops can be saved from devastating hail storms. Members of the Plains Weather Improvement Association report the hail to reduce hail is really rolling in this area, Monday night 25 from the Earth area went to an organizational meeting in Olton. Thursday night, Hale County had already collected two-thirds of the total money needed to insure a cloud seeding program for that county.

This means that following the meeting set for tomorrow night (Monday) Lamb County residents will vote their wishes on going into the program and rates to be assessed.

If enough interest is shown, a drive will begin immediately to insure protection against hail. Hail filled clouds throughout the crop growing season this year.

Time is vital to these decisions. Fund raising is time consuming. At least 30 days will be required to secure a state license, and the company doing the seeding operations will need time to set up operations.

Thomas Henderson, president of Atmospherics, Inc., of Fresno, Calif., outlined his company's plans at the Thursday meeting in Plainview.

Using twin engine planes and silver iodide pyrotechnics (firing devices) attached to the back of the plane wings, the seeding will be done in cloud updrafts.

Pilots will fire the silver iodide at will by an electrical mechanism, and each plane will carry enough chemicals to last three hours.

Each pyrotechnic tube costs $15 and will last five to six minutes. Fifteen to seventeen minutes will be required to suppress a hail-filled cloud.

Henderson explained that after suppression a cloud can build back up to its original intensity in 12-15 minutes. This is the reason the whole county, and not just portions of it, needs to be included in the program, he said. As an example, if a cloud over Littlefield were seeded to suppress hail, the cloud could be back to its original size and be filled with hail again by the time it reached Spade or another portion of the county.

One-fourth of a cloud's damage occurs in the first 10 minutes, Henderson said.

Three planes will be employed to cover Hale and Lamb Counties. Clouds over a 200-mile range will be watched by radar. The largest radar set will be in Plainview and additional radar devices will be mobile.

Radar systems will keep check on squall line clouds and those of the air mass variety. The air mass clouds build quickly and there are usually several. Henderson lists this as the reason that the 50-70 per cent reduction in hail isn't higher when clouds are seeded.

Two time periods for the program are being considered. The first will span from May 15 through Oct. 15 and will cost the two counties approximately $127,500.

An alternate program would add 15 days to each end of the time period, lasting from May 1 through Nov. 1, and an additional $8,000 will probably be needed to cover the extra month of coverage.

Hale County is asking farmers to pay 32 cents per acre and any community or part of the county that doesn't pay their share will be excluded from protection. Businessmen and residents in Hale are being asked to contribute their share also.

The price per acre for Lamb County will be set Monday. A lower rate will possibly be set for dry land farmers than for those with irrigated land. Town residents and businessmen are urged to attend also.

Atmospherics, Inc. has been associated with Colorado State University in northeastern Colorado for the past five years, treating an average of 220 clouds per year with a 50 to 70 per cent reduction in hail.

MRS. JENNIE ATEN of Littlefield has been appointed crew leader for the southeastern quarter of Lamb County for the 1970 Census of Population and Housing. James Winders of Earth will be crew leader for the rest of the county and both will have about 15 enumerators working under them. The census is a part of a nationwide effort which begins April 1.

Crew Leaders Announced For 1970 County Census

Mrs. Jennie Aten of Littlefield and James Winders of Earth have been appointed crew leaders for the 1970 Census of Population and Housing in this area, according to R. L. Butler of the Census Bureau's census office in Amarillo.

Mrs. Aten and Winders are to be the two key personnel in the field operations of the 1970 census for Lamb County, which begins April 1.

Each will have approximately 15 enumerators working under them to cover the county.

Enumerators will be assigned to an enumeration district, and the crew leaders will review the work of each and see that it is correct. The crew leaders will also handle problems of difficult enumeration.

Ten years of change in Texas as population and housing will be measured in this, the Nineteenth Decennial Census, to be conducted throughout the nation in April, and the new statistics will update information last collected in the 1960 census.

Lamb County was organized from an unorganized County of Lamb in 1908, and the 1910 Census reports there were 540 citizens in the county then.

According to census records for 1890 there were four citizens in the unorganized county and by 1900 the population had grown to 31.

By 1920, there were 1,175 citizens; by 1930 the population had increased to 17,452; by 1940, 17,606 were living here; by

MRS. HARRIS RETIRING 30-Year Teacher Plans Final Farewell In May

A Littlefield third grade teacher, Mrs. Jewel Harris, gives her students a farewell kiss when school dismisses for the summer.

"I always kiss my kids goodbye," Mrs. Harris said. "After living with them nine months, I hate to see them go," she added, and her grey-green eyes brightened with the threat of unshed tears.

Mrs. Harris, who is retiring at the end of this term, will be hugging her last classroom students when school dismisses this May.

Mrs. Harris has been teaching 30 years, and 16 of these years have been in Littlefield schools. Two of these years her son, Beryl Harris, was over her as principal. "It was alright for us," Mrs. Harris said, "but it was a little touchy working for my son and having teacher friends. I couldn't really feel close."

Mrs. Harris and Beryl Harris both came to Littlefield schools from Levelland Public Schools. "Beryl taught his brother at Levelland," Mrs. Harris said.

Mrs. Harris began teaching in the early 20's. Her first job was in Hollis, Okla. "I was determined I wasn't going to teach in my hometown," she said, "but I was inexperienced and couldn't get a job anywhere else until I had a year of teaching behind me." She was paid the grand sum of $75 a month that year.

The following year she moved to West Texas with her family and was hired to teach the fourth and fifth grades at Meadow. "They paid $100 in Texas, and I felt pretty rich," she said, "and I only had nine students."

"When I first saw West Texas as I thought this was as far west as anyone could go, I asked my mother if there was anything west of Meadow, and she said, yes, Seagraves."

Following her third year of teaching, Mrs. Harris married and didn't teach a day of school for 15 years.

In addition to teaching school,

Sudan School Head Retires, Nobles Named

E. Hancock, superintendent of the Sudan schools for the past 10 years, announced his resignation Monday night.

Board members named Kenneth Niles, present high school principal, to replace Hancock effective June 30 of this year.

Superintendent Hancock is retiring following more than 42 years of teaching.

Niles is a 16-year teaching man and is completing his 10th year as principal. He came to Sudan from Amherst where he taught nine years.

MRS. JEWEL HARRIS is retiring at the end of this semester, closing out 30 years of public school teaching. Mrs. Harris' 16 years in the Littlefield system includes seven years as a fourth grade teacher and nine years in the third grade.

He Always Heals

A robust man you are today. Full of vigor, vitality and vim; But through some common stroke of fate, Now, you must depend only on Him. Yet, when your stretcher rolls into your ward, The great physicians will do their best; Their skills and tools will work in rhyme, But to really heal, "It Takes God Every Time." Ancient man believed demons and unclean spirits caused our ills and they, along with us, believe that only a great and good power can drive out these evil things. Our hats are off to physicians, surgeons, nurses and all the wonderful healing fraternity. They are God's assistants, but they would be the first to join the Psalmist of old in saying, that it is God, "who healeth all my diseases." We must have God. We might find Him in the little church on the corner. Have you tried? To really Heal, It Takes God Every Time.

You In The Church

Use Of Wrong Tables May Cause Overpayment

So far this year 1387 taxpayers in North Texas have used the wrong tax table or rate schedule in computing their 1969 Federal income tax, according to a report from Internal Revenue Service.
Not only have refunds been delayed but many taxpayers have overpaid their income tax as a result, said Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue for North Texas.
The problem occurs, Campbell said, when a married taxpayer filing a joint return uses the tax table for either married couples filing separately or for single persons. Frequently, single taxpayers use the tables for married taxpayers by mistake.
There are separate tax tables for single persons, unmarried heads of household, married couples filing jointly and married couples filing separate returns. Campbell urged North Texas taxpayers to use the right one to avoid mistakes.
Computation from the wrong tax table results in the wrong tax due. Some taxpayers, as a result of the error, receive a smaller, or larger refund and others receive a bill for additional tax.
Another major reason for refund delay is the failure of taxpayers to include their correct Social Security number, Campbell added.
So far this year, 396 refunds have been delayed in North Texas because of incorrect or missing Social Security numbers, he reported.
Other refunds are being held up for a variety of other errors or failures to follow instructions that are included with the returns.

Now Is The Time To Plant Grass

"Conditions are very good at the present time, if you are planning to plant grass this spring," according to B. T. Kiser, of the Soil Conservation Service.

"The moisture conditions are the best this spring than they have been in several years," he reports.

Planting time for grasses on dryland is from January until June 1, but if the grass is to be irrigated, the planting date for warm season grasses may be extended until August 1, Kiser says.

"The best planting date for Bermuda grass, which is to be irrigated, is from March 15 until Aug. 1, and should be planted with a sprigging machine, covered well, and followed with one or two irrigations the first two or three weeks," Kiser emphasized.

He continued, "Warm season grass should be planted on a firm seedbed and in a dead litter cover if it is on dryland, but a clean, firm seedbed will work if the spread is to be irrigated. For best results, a grass drill should be used so that the seed is not planted too deep--best depth is from 1/4 to an inch."

He reports that "One or two close shreadings or mowings should be planned for the first year, to eliminate weeds and other plants until the young grass has a good root system established."

Further information on grass planting, grazing use and treatment--according to the species of grass--may be received from any of the personnel at the Soil Conservation Service. The office is located in the basement of the Lamb County Courthouse.

Fess Parker, NBC-TV's popular "Daniel Boone," is the American Cancer Society's 1970 National Crusade Chairman. As the Society's key volunteer this year, Mr. Parker will visit a number of cities in behalf of the cancer cause. she said, "Every day is so exciting, it's been a very exciting life."

Mrs. Harris qualified for her retirement in '61, and since that time has been drawing her lump salary in May and drawing retirement in the summer. "And every year since then I've been intending to retire," she said.

Future plans include some travel, reading, knitting, crocheting and fancy work. "I know I'll spend hours at the piano," she said. "And I'm not saying for sure, but I may do a little piano teaching...."

involved in hail suppression work and research in South Dakota, Nebraska, North Dakota and Kenya, Africa. This company is also involved in rain stimulation projects in California, and in cooperation with the Utah State University and the Bureau of Reclamation, Henderson is heading a snowpack research operation in Utah.

Henderson is a meteorologist who has been involved in weather modification work since 1948. His company was formed in 1960 and has about 65 project seasons of experience and approximately 700 man-months in program operations.

"Our biggest success has been the hail suppression project in Africa where we have data to prove a 60 per cent reduction of hail in an area where it hails an average 220 days out of the year," Henderson said.

"In the past 28 months we have seeded more than 1,600 individual thunderstorms," he stated.

Henderson said the size program outlined by directors of the Plains Weather Improvement Association is adequate to do as much as man can do to control hail.

Most of the advancement in technology and understanding of weather modification has been made since 1965, and even with this extension of knowledge, many scientists refuse to approach weather modification.

H. L. Messamore is president of the Lamb County chapter of the hail suppression program, Messamore is also a director of the Plains Weather Improvement Association. Vernon Qualls is vice president of the Lamb County chapter and Cecil Mason (Slick) Johnson is treasurer.

These officers ask cooperation in securing a representative number from the county at the Monday night meeting.
