Navy Contract Is Compared With 'Teapot'

Agreements Beyond Those In Harding Scandal, Group Told

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Assistant Attorney General Norman Littell told the house public lands committee today that the contract between the Standard Oil Company of California and the Navy department for joint operation of the Elk Hills (Calif.) petroleum reserve "went beyond agreements involved in the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills oil scandal of the Harding administration."

Declaring the present Elk Hills contract, now being investigated, resulted in a form of "partnership" between the government and Standard, Littell said that terms of the contract conveyed to the company land owned by the government.

"This contract," he asserted, "goes beyond the Fall (Albert Fall, secretary of interior during the Teapot Dome lease) contracts."

Termining the transaction a "pooling" of resources, Littell said it had the effect of giving the Standard Oil company a monopoly on oil production from the reserve for the first five years.

He added that the scope of the contract was so broad as to surpass what he believed to be the intentions of congress in acts it has passed for oil conservation.

Earlier the committee refused to consent to a request of the attorney general to defer its investigation in the contract.

The contract, declared "illegal and invalid" last week by the justice department, has been cancelled by Navy Secretary Knox on the basis of the justice department's investigation.

The decision to press the investigation followed a statement by Representative Lemke (R-ND) that the justice department's request for continued deferment made him "suspicious."

Allied Bombers Start 25 Huge Fires In Naples

By HAROLD V. BOYLE ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 22 (AP)—Twenty-five great fires, one covering an area a mile in diameter, were left blazing in the port of Naples and in the nearby air stores depot of Cancello yesterday by Allied bombers which began their attack before dawn and continued it into the afternoon.

In a similarly timed assault, British and American heavy bombers from the Middle East command raided the Italian toe cities of Reggio Calabria and San Giovanni before dawn and again by daylight, demolishing a harbor mole and scattering destruction in the wake of Allied headquarters warnings that the air war is to be extended widely to Mussolini's factories and inland cities as well as to his ports.

Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle's twin-engine Mitchell also carried out the first medium bomber missions against the Italian mainland, and with their P-38 Lightning escorts blasted the railroad yards and other objectives at Salerno and scored 25 direct hits on railroad sidings and at Battipaglia. Both Salerno and Battipaglia are south of Naples.

The Wellington bombers, the blockbuster carriers, began the onslaught against Naples, Italy's greatest port, Sunday night with their cargoes of high explosives and incendiaries which started a number of fires.

Then an armada of 100 flying fortresses picked up the task by daylight and smashed through the afternoon at the same smoking targets.

Weaving through 80 to 40 enemy planes, two flights of the huge-winged B-17's rained bombs throughout the Naples industrial area, hitting roundhouses, locomotive repair shops, the royal arsenal and torpedo factory, stores and oil dumps.

In a companion assault at Cancello approximately 50 per cent of the railroad trackage was left useless and several buildings were smashed by direct hits.

Operating like an aerial scissor, the Middle East command's American Liberators came in from the south yesterday for the attacks on Reggio Calabria and San Giovanni, dropping nearly 275,000 pounds of high explosives and incendiaries, a communique from Cairo announced.

The Liberators swept in on the heels of heavy RAF bombers from the Middle East who bombed the same targets.

Bad visibility prevented observation of the RAF attack, but the communique said the mole west of the ferry terminal at San Giovanni was demolished, a ferry in a slip was turned over from a direct hit, and heavy columns of smoke sent spouting from the area.

"Our formations met unusually heavy fighter opposition and underwent aerial bombardment," said the Cairo announcement, which said 20 enemy aircraft were shot down and probably eight others destroyed in fierce battles. None of the American planes was lost.

Cairo dispatches said the axis has concentrated heavy fighter forces in the toe of Italy to combat the incessant raids on both sides of Messina Strait, and that yesterday's formations encountered about 50 Messerschmitt 109s and 110s, Macchi 202s, Focke-Wulf 190s and Heinkel 111s.

The royal arsenal and torpedo factory at Naples were left burning by the attack, and aerial photographs showed a belt of flames a mile wide from a hit on an oil dump.

Subsidy compromise seen as possibility

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Possibility of a compromise settlement of the bitter congressional wrangle over subsidies shaped up in the senate today as administration forces renewed classroom efforts to stave off a floor fight.

Speculation was that any agreement proposed would limit the amount and number of subsidies the government could pay out to force down food prices.

Germany Reeling, But—

Russians Call For Second Front

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—Africa. Thus, as a result the German military power has been shaken and a crisis caused.

"But this is not enough for victory, everything now depends on how the Allies will use the favorable situation for a second front, without which victory is impossible."

Reviewed in the two years of the bloodiest struggle in history, the broadcast placed Germany's Russian front casualties at 4,400,000 killed and missing and Russian losses at 4,200,000 in dead and missing.

Germany has lost 42,400 tanks,

36,500 guns, 43,000 planes, compared with Russian losses of 30,000 tanks, 35,000 guns and 23,000 planes, said the communique which was recorded by the Soviet which was recorded by the Soviet Germans have lost the main part of this first-line divisions and described Hitler's defeat before Moscow "as the decisive event of the second world war."

"The special communique said that 'our Allies are increasingly helping the Soviet people with material,' and declared the Soviet alliances with the United States and Great Britain 'have proved their strength during this year.'

Lewis, Ickes Conferring On Coal Dispute

WLB Urges Presidential Intervention To Back Board's Decree

By The Associated Press WASHINGTON, June 22 John L. Lewis and Secretary Ickes conferred again today on the coal controversy, which has closed the mines in a tight strike, even as the War Labor Board was disclosed to be calling for White House intervention.

Ickes, as federal boss of the mines, received the United Mine Workers' leader at the interior department.

An authoritative source, who withheld use of his name, said the WLB had directed its chairman, William H. Davis, to take to the White House a letter outlining the board's position and strongly recommending that the president order enforcement of its decree that the union and operators sign a two-year no-strike contract, minus provisions to meet Lewis' wage increase demands.

Although the WLB decision last Friday was reached on an 8-4 vote, the board was described as unanimously determined that the terms of its decision should be observed.

Lewis responded to reporters' questions only with a smile as, accompanied by John Owens, John O'Leary and Percy Tellow of the United Mine Workers, he showed up at Ickes' office.

Barring some settlement not yet apparent, President Roosevelt was believed to be ready to take prompt action to get the miners back to work. What this action might be was not indicated.

Their latest walkout, third in seven weeks, has already begun to choke the war-vital steel industry; coke production was cut in Alabama and Pennsylvania, some blast furnaces were being prepared to shut down and officials pictured the industry as close to the bottom of the bin in coal supplies.

Unquoted sources said the WLB served notice on Ickes that any understanding he reaches with Lewis must conform to the board's directive.

Besides the old contract terms, the board granted the miners an increase in vacation pay and allowances for equipment which would raise their daily pay about 25 cents. Underground travel pay, the board insisted, contained a "hidden" increase that would not be allowable under the hold-the-line government policy and was a matter for the courts to decide.

Chairman William H. Davis said the miners, on a six-day week, could average $49.80. Lewis said it was a "yellow dog" contract and would have nothing to do with it.

Preparations For Invasion Progressing

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Navy Secretary Knox said today that preparations are moving "right along" for an Allied invasion of Europe.

Knox was asked at a press conference for comment on a new Russian insistence that an Allied army be thrown onto the German dominated continent. The Russian said that while the German army has been defeated several times during the past year and while the military situation is now generally favorable to the Allies there can be no victory without a second front.

Knox said he would make "no comment at all" on the subject of a "second front," a term that he has repeatedly avoided using, however, he said that preparations for an attack on Europe "are going forward right along."

"Obviously, we can't talk in specific terms," the navy secretary added, "but there has been no cessation of these activities."

In response to other questions, Knox said he knew of no Japanese interference with the movement of supplies from the United States to Russia across the Pacific.

The line to Russia still is functioning, he declared, although "whether the Japanese are holding up any of the ships and examining them, I don't know."

US Planes Raid Ruhr As RAF Pulverizes Krefeld

BRITISH LOSE 44 Bombers Out Of 700 Taking Part

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—Flying fortresses flew unescorted into the Ruhr for the first time today to attack the Huls synthetic rubber plant at Recklinghausen while another formation attacked the former General Motors plant at Antwerp, a United States communique said tonight. Twenty bombers were lost, but the fortresses shot down "a considerable number" of attacking enemy planes.

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—United States bombers attacked the German Ruhr in daylight today in swift succession to a pulverizing RAF night raid on Krefeld.

It was the first attack by U. S. bombers on this vital area so often smashed by heavy British night raiders.

More than 700 heavy bombers raided Krefeld, making the attack one of the RAF's heaviest of the year.

The United States bombers also attacked Belgian targets.

It was stated authoritatively that a large force of U. S. bombers attacked the Ruhr.

The bombing operations were supported by United States, RAF, Dominion and Allied fighter squadrons.

The Ruhr is about 60 miles long and 40 miles wide, and it produces roughly about three-fourths of German coal, four-fifths of her coke and about two thirds of her iron and steel.

The British lost 44 bombers—the heaviest for any single attack this year—but the air ministry described the raid as "very heavy and concentrated" and delivered in "great strength."

Fifty-two bombers were lost in the 1,000-plane attack on Bremen on June 25, 1942, and 44 were lost over Cologne on May 30, 1942 in the first of the 1,000 bomber attacks. Two weeks ago 43 bombers of the "greatest attacking force yet sent over Germany"—all four-engine planes—failed to return from an attack on Dusseldorf and Muenster. These were the RAF's greatest losses.

Krefeld is an important textile and railway center 10 miles west of the Ruhr and near the Netherlands border and is noted for its manufacture of special steels for aircraft armor plate and its output of sulphuric acid for explosives.

The raid was the 22nd on Krefeld since the beginning of the war, but the first in 1943. It was last hit in October.

Lightnings Bag 14 Zeros, Jap Bases Raided

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, June 22 (AP)—American Lightnings swooped down upon a large formation of Japanese Zeros over New Guinea yesterday, destroyed at least 14—and probably 23—and came home without a single plane missing.

The 14 Zeros blew up in the air or crashed to the ground in sight of American pilots.

The remaining nine were in flames and losing altitude," a communique from General MacArthur's headquarters said. "Their complete" destruction was most probable.

There were 38 Zeros in the enemy formation with the P-38's, outnumbered about two to one, came upon them over the Lae area.

Cosden Refined No Hot Oil, Declares Superintendent

DALLAS, June 22 (AP)—Defense attorneys said today that the case in which the Cosden Petroleum company, its president and two employees are charged with conspiracy to violate the Connally hot oil act, probably would be ready for the jury sometime tomorrow.

Remaining defense witnesses, they said, would largely be auditors and that the defense probably would require the remainder of today and part of tomorrow.

A group of Big Spring citizens took the stand today to attest the good character and reputation of Raymond L. Tollett, Cosden president, and of his employe, M. M. Hines.

They included: Mayor Grover Dunham, Bob Whipple, publisher, Dr. M. H. Bennett, physician, and Shine-Phillips, druggist-author, Bob Finer, banker, G. H. Hayward, investment, R. E. McEwen, motor car dealer, Ben La Fever, oil man, Harry Miller, oil man, and Jimmie Greene, chamber of commerce manager.

Among other character witnesses was Lyle R. Sproles of Fort Worth, president of the Texas State Association of Certified Public Accountants.

J. L. Le Bleu, superintendent of the company's refinery at Big Spring, was called again today for cross examination and redirect examination of testimony he gave yesterday, when defense testimony started.

Taking the stand in the trial of the company, its president and two employes on "hot oil" charges, Le Bleu contradicted testimony of L. B. Waldrep, former Cosden yield clerk, who testified for the government that on instructions of a superior he had made false entries in pumping reports to cover overage oil that went to tanks.

Raymond L. Tollett, president of the company; R. Waldon Thompson, pipeline superintendent and M. M. Hines, chief gauger, are charged in connection with the case. The trial is being conducted before Judge T. Whitfield Davidson.

Examined by James V. Allred, Tollett's attorney, Le Bleu said that the entries referred to were adjustments to compensate for oil shortages incurred through mistakes in gauging of tanks and under-deliveries by pipelines.

Benjamin L. Roth of New York, a director and a large stockholder in the Cosden company, took the stand as a defense witness in an effort to impeach testimony of Albert P. Groebel of Big Spring, Tex., former director, that a fight Goebel had with Tollett arose from a controversy over hot oil.

The defense contends the fight stemmed from domestic troubles. Both testified that Groebel visited him in New York early in January, 1942, a few days after Groebel Tollett fought outside a Big Spring hotel, and talked only about his personal quarrel with Tollett.

"I told him I was not interested in the Cosden company and its harmonious operation and not in his personal quarrels," Roth said.

"Didn't he say anything about hot oil?" Allred asked.

"He never did," replied Roth.

Oh Joy!—New Control For Radio Static Is Like Car Muffler

AKRON, O., June 22. (AP)—The static which comes in on a radio set is picked up and set to work eliminating its own noise in a new control announced today by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

The static is reduced from thousands of volts to about one-twenty thousandths of a volt, and the result is like a muffler on an auto, reducing static noise to a purr which does not drown out the radio.

The new system is being tested by military forces under conditions where static is a serious obstacle to radar and fighting planes. The announcement was made at a celebration of the opening of a new rubber research laboratory by the Goodyear company.

Gilbert Anderson, the inventor, said the crashing, static noise made by nearby lightning is reduced to about the loudness of the rustle of a sheet of paper.

The static eliminator will not be made for the public until after the war. It is a small device, of electronic tubes, made to plug into any radio set.

Rivers Charges Oil Troubles Stem Out Of Major Control

ELDORADO, Ark., June 22. (AP)—Chairman L. M. Rivers (D-SC), of a house naval affairs subcommittee investigating the oil industry, said yesterday that most of the bureaucratic restrictions complained of by operators "are made by the major oil companies and the majors run the federal government."

Rivers made the comment after his subcommittee heard independent operators and representatives of the state oil and gas commission complain that the state could not make a major contribution to the war effort unless the government gave it production incentives such as increased prices, allocation of materials and alleviation of the manpower shortage.

Rivers indicated his group would recommend a price increase.

How America Bombs The Axis

Yanks Expert In Tree-Top Tricks

(Second in a series on the attack methods of the U. S. Army Air Forces, as explained by instructors at the world's largest bombardier school.)

UP Features

When the news dispatch says, "Railroad junctions, airbases and supply depots were attacked on daylight raids," it means the medium and light bombers have been putting on a show.

For the chores the light and medium bombers use tactics often far different from those of the big bombers, who like to drop their five to seven miles. The smaller planes might pull anything.

Flying low over hills and forests, they offer no targets for anti-aircraft guns. Fighter planes can attack them only from above. A pursuit pilot who tried to follow on the trail of a low-flying bomber would soon pile into some obstruction over which his quarry barely skims.

Low-flying bombers approach their objectives usually with machine guns or cannon blazing at the ground. If they are hitting troop concentrations, airfields or supply columns they will drop clusters of small fragmentation bombs. Incendiary bombs might be used against airfields or buildings. Railroads, bridges, tank concentrations or buildings might be hit with demolition bombs. Shops and docks might be at-

Facts About The Pay-As-You-Go Tax Plan

(Second in a series issued by the Treasury department.)

Q. How much will my employer hold out of my pay?

A. There will be withheld from your pay an amount equal to 20 per cent of the excess of your wages over your family status withholding exemption, or 3 per cent of the excess of your wages over the Victory tax withholding exemption, whichever is greater.

Q. What do you mean by exemption?

A. The amount of your wages which is exempt from the withholding tax.

Q. What does that amount to?

A. On an annual basis, $524.00 for single persons; $1,248.00 for married persons; and $312.00 for each dependent. On a weekly basis, this is $12.00 for a single person; $24.00 for a married person; and $6.00 for each dependent.

Q. How does my employer know how much of my wage is exempt from withholding?

A. Because he gives you a slip of paper called WITHHOLDING EXEMPTION CERTIFICATE. On it you indicate whether you are single or married, how many dependents you have, and so forth. Then you sign the certificate and return it to your employer. From that information he can tell exactly how much of your pay is exempt from withholding, and how much bears the 20 per cent tax.

Q. What if I do not hand in one of these certificates to my employer?

A. Then he is required by law to withhold the 20 per cent tax from all of your wages without any exemption. So it will save you money to be sure to turn one in.

Q. Do I turn my Withholding Exemption Certificate to my foreman, to the payroll department, or where?

A. The Withholding Exemption Certificate must be given to your employer, or some one designated by him to accept it.

Q. Suppose both my wife and I are employed. How does the exemption work?

A. The personal exemption may be divided and each take one-half, or one may claim it all. Each has the same Victory tax withholding exemption.

Q. Suppose I am married, have two children, and earn $54.00 a week—how much pay will I receive after the withholding tax has been deducted?

A. You will receive $50.20 if your employer elects to use the wage bracket withholding table provided by law, or $50.40 if your employer computes the tax at 20 per cent of your wage less exemptions.

Q. If my husband has filled out an EMPLOYEE'S WITHHOLDING EXEMPTION CERTIFICATE and has claimed half of the personal exemption and exemption for one dependent, and after a couple of months is drafted; can the wife claim the full personal married exemption and the dependent child's exemption?

A. The Withholding Exemption Certificate filed by the husband can be changed. Where there is a change of status, a new certificate should be furnished the employer, which may take effect, with respect to any payment of wages made on or after the date the certificate is furnished; but in no event later than the first payment of wages made on or after the following first day of July or Janu-

Domestic Branch Of OWI In Hands Of Palmer Hoyt

WASHINGTON, June 22. (UP)—Palmer Hoyt, new director of the Office of War Information's (OWI) domestic branch, outlined today a policy of giving the American people "straight information about the war" without "propagandizing."

"This means there will be no pamphleteering from this office," Hoyt, publisher of the Portland Oregonian said in a statement which augmented a brief press conference late yesterday.

"It also means that this office will yield to no political pressure, and will serve no political interests."

Hoyt, who described himself as a life-long republican, smilingly remarked he appeared before the reporters as "one who has been abolished."

This was an allusion to the house's action last week in voting to withhold all funds from OWI's domestic branch for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The senate has not yet acted.

The Portland publisher said he had accepted the appointment for six months "because I am convinced that its operations are absolutely vital to the conduct of the war and to the interest of the entire country." He added that he had a clear understanding with Director Elmer Davis that he would have full authority, assuming funds are restored, to operate the domestic branch "according to the free standards of the American press."

Macks Solve Problems Together

Connie Mack Handing Out Some Friendly Advice To Son, Earle

By JACK SMITH

PHILADELPHIA—A hot-headed Irishman sat in the Shibe park stands on a September afternoon in 1911 and permitted himself to come to a slow, sizzling boil.

"Mack catching!" he shouted. "Earle Mack catching! That guy couldn't catch a volley ball at eight paces."

Whereupon young Earle Mack, son of Connie, caught several innings for the Philadelphia Athletics against the New York Yankees, lined out a three-bagger and a single, and acquitted himself behind the plate to the high satisfaction of all.

That was Earle Mack's only experience as a player in the majors—and it's cited here because the incident epitomizes the trouble he will face someday when he succeeds his father as manager of the Athletics.

He bears a magic name, and fans always have expected too much or too little of him, depending upon mood and temperament.

Most famous father and son probably are the most famous father and son in sports—the 80-year-old Connie as boss of the A's and the 33-year-old Earle as assistant manager—and remaining famous as a father and son in baseball entails some problems.

For example, before the ruddy-faced, brown-haired Earle became his father's understudy in 1924, he was in the minors for 10 years and in 1919 went to Illinois to manage Moline of the Three-I league.

Moline was so excited about having a Mack arriving to head his ball club that it sold its five best ball players—to raise money for a reception for him.

A lesser man might have tossed in the towel and turned to something in which the name of Mack wasn't surrounded by a halo. Earle, however, shy and diffident-mannered though he is, settled down to work—and three years later came up with a pennant winner.

Respect and Courtesy
This story, too, gives you an idea of the father-son problems of Cornelius and Earle T. McGillicuddy, the Mack's real names. They solve them by maintaining for each other the respect and courtesy that embellish less-published father-son relationships.

The other day, Connie, 80 years old and aware of the swift passage of the days, confirmed publicly that Earle would be his successor and in the same breath appended, "and he'll be a better baseball manager than his Dad."

Yet a decade ago, Earle Mack, in an interview in Cleveland, said that no one would ever be able to inspire athletes and lead a team like Connie.

Further, Earle has the authority to hire and fire Athletics players—but he never exercises it, his father says, without first extending to Connie the courtesy of talking over the transaction, even though they invariably agree.

"Earle has been a wonderful help to me," Connie says. Earle, on the other hand, says Connie has given him the bulk of his knowledge of the game.

That, incidentally, is plenty. It was Earle in the minors who discovered—and sent on to the Athletics—such baseball greats as Jimmy Dykes, Cy Perkins and Fred Heilmann. His father says he has a keen eye for players.

Perfect Team
Earle and Connie make a perfect team. Earle learned the game at his father's knee and now has Connie's full confidence. Connie has taught him every phase of operating a club.

Generally, they divide the managerial chores. Connie handles business management and Earle works with the players. Connie, of course, directs the team on the field, signalling as always with his scorecard, but he considers Earle a competent understudy.

When Earle finally succeeds his father, he will have served perhaps the longest apprenticeship in the history of the game.

Like Connie, he began playing ball in his childhood on the sandlots of Brookfield, Mass. He played during his one year at Niagara University and then served with the old Atlantic City, N. J., "Collegiate," made up of college players.

At 20, he entered the minors, played first base for Raleigh of the old Carolina Association, then went to Asheville, Charlotte, Harrisburg, Pa., Moline and finally Martinsburg, W. Va., of the Blue Ridge league. As a player-manager in the minor circuits, he won four pennants.

Ration Enforcement Due To Be Extended
DALLAS, June 22 (AP)—Office of Price Administration enforcement officers said their campaign to enforce rationing regulations will be extended to other areas after a week-end in which more than 800,000 coupon miles were confiscated at Paris, Texas.

W. A. Griffin, chief district OPA attorney, said the half million miles were in loose coupons or books that were being used illegally.

With state highway patrolmen, liquor board agents, military police and sheriff's office cooperation at Paris, hundreds of automobiles were stopped and the drivers investigated.

Mormon Leader Dies
SALT LAKE CITY, June 22 (AP)—The Latter Day Saints (Mormon) church today mourned the passing of one of its leaders, 86-year-old Rudger Clawson, president of the Council of the Twelve Apostles. Elder Clawson died in his home yesterday afternoon. He had been ill since June 18.

Cards And Dodgers Continue Hot Race For First Place

The St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers, arch enemies of the National League, continued their life and death struggle for leadership Monday without either giving quarter.

When it was all over, the Cards held a 6-3 win over the Cincinnati Reds while the Dodgers wrote up a 7-1 victory over the New York Giants.

The Red Birds capitalized on a weird sixth inning that meant four runs and went on the win before 16,197 fans. Weather halted the contest abruptly in the eighth.

Larry Ken Cnases debut in the National League was spoiled by the Bums when they cut loose with a seventh inning outburst that netted six runs. Darkness halted the game at eight innings.

There were no other games scheduled in the National loop, nor were there any in the American League.

Gill Hurls First League No-Hitter

First no-hit league game of the season in the Big Spring Bombardier School enlisted men's softball league was tacked up in brilliant fashion by Pfc. Gill as he led the 1047th to a 10-0 conquest of the Mess Company Monday afternoon.

This was not the first no-hitter of the season, however, for Cpl. Leonard Hider of the 3055th did this in grabbing a 9-0 victory Friday while S/Sgt. Flinn Dunham of the 3685th was the first to hold the opposition hitless when he won a 2-0 decision on June 9. But both of these were practice games, leaving Gill's record the only no-hitter in league competition.

His feat was all the more impressive, for he allowed only one walk. One error allowed the man to reach first base that by runner to advance, but he never got around. Gill struck out four. Howell with three singles and Hamilton and Hunter with a brace of singles for the 1047th were leading hitters. The win was the second in three starts for the Guard and the third consecutive loss for the Mess.

North Maintenance came through with a storybook last inning rally to overcome a six run deficit and humble the strong 78th squadron, 13-8. In the explosive seventh, Maintenance chased across 11 runs, four of them when McKee connected for a round trip with the bases loaded.

Maintenance hitting was paced by Browning with two singles and a double, Marsh with three singles and Nicholson with a homer and a single. Barclay and Ramsey each had a pair of singles for the 78th.

Coming awake, the 359th Aviation Squadron pounded out a 11-3 victory over the hapless Medical Detachment, which suffered its third straight reverse while the 359th was amassing its first win of the season.

Pinkston of the 359th had two doubles and Grass of the Medicos had a pair of singles to stand out in hitting.

Return Race For Rice And Haegg Dims
NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—War, which makes the Gunder Haegg-Greg Rice meeting possible, has killed all chances for a second race this summer.

Rice, a chief specialist in the maritime service, has received orders to begin a month's cruise today which virtually precludes any possibility he will have a defeat he suffered Sunday in the 5,000 meter run at the National A. U. Championships.

Haegg was brought over from Sweden to meet Rice in a series of races for the benefit of the army air forces air society.

Their first clash netted approximately $90,000 for the society.

With Rice on the seas Gil Doda, the prancing preacher from Boston, may take up the task of chasing the Swedish fireman.

Merchant Ship Bags Four Enemy Planes
WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—An account of how an American merchant vessel withstood five enemy air attacks in the eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean last January, during which her navy gun crew shot down four enemy planes and two more "probables," is related by the navy.

Despite damage by near misses and by a bomb which penetrated its highly inflammable cargo but failed to explode, the ship was able to keep her position in the convoy and discharge cargo on schedule.

The TIRE OF TOMORROW is here TODAY!

THE WORLD-FAMOUS FIRESTONE DeLuxe Champion TIRE IS NOW BEING MADE WITH Firestone Butaprene THE MARVELOUS New SYNTHETIC RUBBER

JUST as you'd expect, Firestone is FIRST to build the tire of tomorrow for the car owners of America. It is only natural that Firestone should be the leader in working out new processes, in creating new compounds and in building better tires from American-made rubber, for Firestone has always been the pioneer in developing new materials, new methods and new machines that have resulted in tremendous advancements in tire design, construction and performance.

From Firestones have come such revolutionary improvements as the FIRST straight side tire, the FIRST rubber non-skid tread, the FIRST commercial demountable rim, the FIRST patented Gum-Dipping Process, the FIRST balloon tire, the FIRST Saff-Lock Cord Body, the FIRST Super-Speed Construction and the FIRST practical pneumatic tractor tire.

In 1933, Firestones built the FIRST synthetic rubber airplane tires for our armed forces. In 1934, Firestone built its FIRST synthetic rubber passenger car tires. In 1940, Firestone FIRST went into production on synthetic rubber passenger car tires and began the manufacture of its own synthetic rubber, called Butaprene, the same type that was later adopted by the Government. In 1942, Firestone became the FIRST company to produce synthetic rubber in a Government-owned plant and later became the FIRST to make synthetic rubber using butadiene made from grain alcohol. And today Firestone is making synthetic rubber tires for passenger cars, trucks, buses, airplanes, tractors, farm implements and all types of war vehicles.

All of these years of experience, all of the knowledge that made these FIRSTS possible have been called upon in producing the new Firestone DeLuxe Champion Tire made with Firestone Butaprene. It is now ready for the car owners of America as released by the Government. But do not think that the crisis is past. America's greatest rubber supply is still on the wheels of its 27,000,000 cars. So you must continue all of the rubber conservation measures that have been so effective. However, if you are eligible and require new tires, remember this—in mileage, in strength and in safety the new Firestone DeLuxe Champion Tire upholds the Firestone tradition of "Best in Rubber—Synthetic or Natural."

Here's the clincher for me

THIS is my kid.

He's a pretty good kid.

I always used to figure he'd get along all right in the world, the same way I did.

But a war starts you thinking:

Nobody knows for sure just what kind of a world my kid will have to grow up in. But whatever kind of a world it is, a little money behind him will help.

That's why I'm salting money away for him now.

I'm not taking any chances with his future. I'm guaranteeing it in the best way I know how.

Every pay day, nearly a quarter of what I make goes into War Bonds. Not just when I can spare it. But every single pay day—week in, week out:

It's taken right out of my pay, on the Payroll Savings Plan. That way, I hardly miss it. But it mounts up fast.

And every one of those War Bonds will pay back four dollars for three.

Pay it back when my kid may need it most:

Sure, I'd be buying bonds anyway. I know the Government needs money to win the war. And, it's the least sacrifice a guy can make for the country that's been good to him.

But the clincher with me is my kid.

CHANCES ARE, you're already in the Payroll Savings Plan—buying War Bonds—doing your bit. But don't stop there. Raise your sights! Do your best!

How millions of Americans have done their bit—and how they can do better!

Of the 34 million Americans on plant pay rolls, nearly 30 million of them have joined the Payroll Savings Plan. (If you aren't in yet—sign up tomorrow!)

Those Americans who have joined the Plan are investing, on the average, 10% of their earnings in War Bonds. (If you haven't reached 10% yet—keep trying!)

But . . . . .

America's income this year will be the highest in history—about 125 BILLION dollars! In spite of all taxes and price rises, the average worker will have more money than last year—more than ever before!

That is why Uncle Sam has a right to ask us, individually, to invest more money in War Bonds, through the Payroll Savings Plan. He asks us to invest not 10% or 15% or 20%, but all we can!

Real Step Toward Maintaining Peace

The house foreign affairs committee has unanimously recommended to congress a resolution favoring creating of appropriate machinery to maintain peace after the war. The resolution is a model of brevity, consisting of only one sentence; and if congress adopts it, it may well be the foundationstone for whatever system of world peace we may have in answer to the prayers and pleas of almost all mankind.

The work of Freshman Rep. K. W. Fulbright, an Arkansas democrat, the resolution reads:

"Resolved, by the house of representatives (the senate concurring) that the congress hereby expresses itself as favoring the creation of appropriate international machinery with power adequate to establish and to maintain a just and lasting peace, and as favoring participation by the United States therein."

Chairman Sol Bloom of the committee summed it up pretty well when he commented:

"You could write and talk for a week but you couldn't say more than that resolution does."

The author, a Rhodes scholar, is former president of the University of Arkansas.

A resolution of this kind, if approved by congress, would place the world on notice that the U. S. not only believes in organizing for peace, but is ready and willing to shoulder its share of the responsibility in organization and maintenance of the machinery necessary to insure peace. It would go far to remove whatever suspicion may remain in the minds of men that the United States will again refuse to share in organizing and maintaining the peace, as it did at the close of the last war. It serves notice that the American people are determined that this shall be the last world war.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds—

Frenchman Weaves Many Stories Into One Film

HOLLYWOOD—Julien Duvivier is the man who makes four or five movies in one. It is a very thing business, he says, and he is going to take a rest from it. His next movie will be just one movie.

Duvivier is a bright-eyed, neat little Frenchman who drapes his words with gestures. He has that old Gallic charm you read about that liveli interest in things and people and good food and wine.

He began his multiple-movie career with "Un Carnet de Bal" back in France. That told many stories, each stemming from a name on a young lady's dance program. When Hollywood got him, he was the first thought for the many-taled "Tales of Manhattan," and from there he went on to the four-storied "For All We Know." This used to be called "Flesh and Fantasy," and its making sprang from Duvivier's association with Charles Boyer as a star of "Tales." Boyer was eager to get started as a producer, and this was their first choice.

"For All We Know's" four tales all suggest more or less supernatural influences, dealing with "forces" that rule human lives. Duvivier will tell you that he is not superstitious—"oh, not at all,"—but he will also tell you, with gestures, "what I myself know in my own experience." He will tell you that he draws no conclusions, he merely wonders. Afterward, it is easy to understand why he would turn his camera to a story of mysterious forces.

It began 10 years ago (he says). Was an old friend of his, a charming, aged French actor named Camille Beuve, offered to cast Duvivier's horoscope. He returned with a sheet of paper detailing various events which would mark the director's coming year.

"You put it in a drawer, and at years end look at it again," said Beuve.

Which Duvivier did. At year's end, he says, he was surprised to discover that its predictions had materialized.

Year after year, Camille Beuve wrote out a Duvivier forecast, and year after year the director checked with increasing interest. There was one year when the old actor predicted a "big sum of money"—it turned into a windfall of a million francs, from some forgotten stock.

"And match this," says unsuperstitious Duvivier. "In the spring of 1940 I was making a war propaganda film in Paris. Camille said it would not be 'timely' when released. How right he was! At the time also, the government assigned me to go to Italy to confer about a film there—to boost French-Italian friendship. Camille said I would never make it, that I would go to Spain instead, and thence to America. I said that was preposterous. And so, in June, Italy made war on France. France fell, and I was escaping to America—across Spain!"

Since then, Duvivier has not heard from Camille Beuve, so he goes through life not "knowing" what is ahead. Camille would come in handy right now, he says, with a proper title for Duvivier's next movie, about the Fighting French, in which Jean Gabin will star.

They Call It Pacific

by CLARK LEE

Chapter 20

On one of my many trips to Bataan, I made arrangements to go up to the front lines at night to visit the 31st Infantry.

I found my way to the advance headquarters, located in a sandbagged dugout on one of the side streets of Pilar. The commander was a major in the army reserve, who told me he had been a Houston, Texas, schoolteacher before he was called to active duty some months before the war started.

About 10 p. m. a young Filipino officer pushed aside the burlap bags at the entrance and came down the steps into the dugout. He was rubbing the sleep from his eyes.

"Third Lieutenant Gonzales reporting for duty, sir," he said.

The major told him he was to drive up to Abucay Hacienda and was to take a passenger along.

"You probably won't get any shells," he said, "but watch out. Their snipers have been working around here this afternoon and all the way up the road to the front. They are shooting from the treets."

Gonzales stumbled out into the darkness and I went after him, tripping several times on the roots of the big trees under which the dugout was located. The lieutenant found his car parked in an open space between two nipa huts across the street. He awakened the driver, who was in civilian clothes. Gonzales explained to me that the driver spoke a few words of English, a few sentences of Spanish, and for the rest talked to himself in some obscure dialect.

We had trouble starting the ancient Chevrolet sedan. Finally

Washington—

The BSM Is Off To Great Start In The Capital

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — If you have never heard of the Brotherhood of Sensible Men, this may be your last chance. Great movements often die aborning. On the other hand, it could really develop into a sartorial revolution.

As far as I can find out, the idea started with Charlie Planck, at Civil Aeronautics. Washington summers are nothing new to Charlie. Neither is hard work. Nor has he ever been a nonconformist in the matter of male attire. Putting them together, he got an idea.

"Beginning now," he said, "let's start the B. S. M.—an organized revolt, en masse, to throw off the shackles of collar, tie and coats. Let's plant the idea in high places and low. Let's start with cabinet members and get them to promise to wear sports shirts (collarless and tieless) and slacks throughout the hot, sultry days of this Washington summer."

Planck felt that there would be no trouble at all getting Secretary of Interior Harold I. "Curnudgeon" Ickes into the fold. It was suggested that if enough opposition could be raised to the idea, Ickes undoubtedly would want to lead the sartorial emancipation movement.

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard is almost a certain charter member. He might even make the kick-off campaign speech, telling the nation how much more comfortable are "farm clothes" than the toga of cabinet member. Secretary of Labor Perkins is, as Planck points out, already "sartorially emancipated," as are all Uncle Sam's nieces.

By common consent, there will be no proselytizing in the Department of State. While Secretary Hull is not unfamiliar with comfortable attire, protocol would probably forbid his greeting distinguished visitors in anything less than regulation matching coat and breeches. As for Under-Secretary Sumner Welles—well, you might as well ask Toscanini to conduct an all-Brahms concert at Carnegie Hall in a bathing suit.

Vice President Wallace probably would be in the front rank of the emancipated. I'm sure that the idea of going right from the tennis courts to his chair as president of the Senate, without loss of the time it takes to dress, would make a big hit with the athletic V-P.

And the President might almost be said to be the vanguard of the movement. Allergic as he is to air conditioning, Mr. Roosevelt has been in shirt-sleeves almost ever since he came to Washington. Since the war started, there has been very little time that he hasn't had his sleeves rolled up.

Anyway, the B. S. M. is off to a great start and the organizers already are talking in terms of 100,000 tiesless, coatless, beaeked males here by July 1. It could happen.

Capital Comment — Connally Bill Is Emergency Measure

By GEORGE STIMPSON

Herald Washington Correspondent

Congress and the President have rendered the tax bill and now all the people have to do is to pay.

The pipeline dreams of Harold Ickes seem to be coming true.

Kind of gives me the creeps; that odd-looking man over at the next table deliberately smells of every bit of food before he eats it.

Concerning the recently passed anti-strike measure, Senator Tom Connally said: "The cardinal objective, the chief principle, back of the bill from the beginning was not the idea of hunting for some individual in an effort to put him in jail, but the objective was how best we could provide for the continuous operation of plants manufacturing munitions." It is only an emergency measure, he explained; its life is limited to the war period and six months thereafter, unless terminated at an earlier date by passage of a concurrent resolution of the two houses of Congress. Besides, it applies only to "war plants where work is taking place in the production of munitions or supplies for the armed forces."

The best analysis of the labor bill, after it reached its final form, was made in the House by Congressman Ewing Thomason, of El Paso, who, as ranking member of the military affairs committee that handled the bill, was one of the House conferees. He regretted that in a matter of the kind some members had seen fit to inject partisan and political questions into the discussion:

"This is a national issue that affects all of us; it is bigger than politics; it involves more than labor policies; it is an emergency war measure to insure the production of war supplies." It's styled the War Labor Disputes Act; "It doesn't repeal collective bargaining laws and regulations; it specifically provides that a man can strike if he wishes; it is still the right of every man to quit work if he wishes; if you want to know the heart of this bill, it is that in a war like this 'no man or organization is going to interrupt the production of war material.'"

Thomason said he couldn't see how anybody could find serious objections to the bill as temporary war legislation; boiled down, it contains three things: when the President feels there is an interruption or about to be one in production of war supplies, he has a right to go in and take over any plant mine or factory; put teeth into the mouth of the War Labor Board so they subpoena and compel attendance of parties and witnesses in dispute; no man is above the law and every man should be made amenable to it; there is no justification for striking against your government, especially in wartime; innocent and patriotic men will have nothing to fear from this law; in the case of plants producing war supplies but not taken over by the government, Conciliation Service issues orders for elections by employees, following successful practice under the Railway Labor Act, which virtually eliminated railway strikes; leave it to the working men, not labor leaders, whether to strike or not:

Life's Darkest Moment

"It seems to me that this is one of the things we are fighting for in this country—the democratic way of doing things and the will of the majority fairly expressed." "This is a war act; we are in a frightful and dangerous emergency; let us try to get together and keep war supplies moving and try to see to it that there is peace between the employers and the employees. This bill is not aimed at the great body of honest and patriotic labor who are doing a marvelous job; this is aimed at the willful, selfish, and guilty few who defy the government and our commander-in-chief."

Today I received through the mail of Congressman Wright Fulbright's famous matches, each book of which contains a short history of Texas and other interesting information about the Lone Star State; I did not know before that matches could be sent through the mail; package or envelope, containing a number of books, is composed of thick paper lined with something resembling tin foil; on each envelope are printed the words: "This parcel prepared in accordance with Section 558, paragraph 2-E postal laws and resolutions;" I thought perhaps the envelope was made of asbestos or some other fire-proof material, but I touched one of Wright's matches to it and it burned.

It gives me the creeps when I hear senators refer to the House of Representatives, or vice versa, as "the other body;" reminds me of a multiple murder where there is more than one corpus delicti.

Jittery Nazis Figure This
Is "Der Tag" For Invasion

THREE FRONTS. Triple-offensive was launched against Russia at start of war.

TAPERING OFF. Next year, only two spears were driven at the Soviets.

EXPECTED: One more Nazi attempt to cross Don, get to Moscow.

Hitler has already lost one vital month of the fighting weather which has limited German arms each year to offensive operations between May and November. A year ago, on May 8, he started his campaign on the Kerch peninsula of the Crimea. This year, he has let May slip past without a major move.

Caucasus Abandoned

That can be interpreted to mean the Germans will not strike in the south, that they have abandoned, for this year at least, any gamble on getting the riches of the Caucasus, the oil of Baku.

They never have made a serious effort in that direction. Their southern campaign last year was limited to a few divisions, designed as a diversion while they made their main effort to strike north through Stalingrad against the heart of Russia.

That diversion proved fatal to their own plans, because it weakened their own strength in the battle of Stalingrad to a point where the Red army could, and did, check them and throw them back beyond their Taganrog - Khar'kov - Kursk starting point.

One At A Time

They seem to be avoiding that mistake this year, the mistake, as Josef Stalin put it, of "chasing two hares at once."

The Caucasian bridgehead they clung to last winter, and are defending so stubbornly this spring around Novorossiisk, now appears to have left as a decoy for Russian forces. Instead of being used as the spearhead for a German offensive against the Caucasus, it has been kept as a bastion of German defense against Red army attacks.

The Russians have not been deluded into diverting any great forces to this sector at the expense

Govt. Contends End of "Monopoly"
Would Aid Cause Of Free Press

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—A contention that freedom of the press would be aided "by striking down barriers erected by private combinations against access to reports of world news" was before a federal court today in support of the government motion for summary judgment in its anti-trust

The assertion was contained in augmenting briefs filed by the government yesterday as the AP entered more than 80 affidavits, including those signed by officials of United Press and subscribers of International News Service, purporting to show that it is not a monopoly as the government charges.

A majority of the affidavits held that the non-profit, cooperative association is only one of several services supplying newspapers with adequate news service.

In its briefs, the government charged that "monopolization" in the instance of the AP "consists in an ever-repeated series of exclusions of competitors from trade and commerce in particular news items, such exclusions all flowing from a plan and scheme which is written into the very constitution of defendants' association."

The government statements answered a claim of the Chicago Tribune, one of 18 AP members named in the suit, that the injunction sought by the government would infringe the constitutional guaranty of a free press.

The government's action seeks to require the AP to admit to membership all who are willing and able to pay their share of the service's cost.

French Agree On Army Command

ALGIERS, June 22 (AP)—Surmounting the greatest crisis in its history, the French committee of national liberation agreed today for Generals Henri Giraud and Charles De Gaulle to remain in command of their respective armed forces while appointing a subcommittee which ultimately might unify all French forces.

A subcommittee of eight members, including De Gaulle and Giraud and is to be charged with the responsibility of eventually merging the two forces, it was said.

The plan answered the stipulation disclosed to have been made by the United States and Great Britain that Gen. Giraud remain as the supreme authority over the French military establishment in North Africa, a vital base for Allied operations.

De Gaulle and Giraud were reported to have shaken hands heartily after the committee's agreement.

corded from radio Berlin by the Associated Press, said numerous blocks of buildings and two hospitals were destroyed at Krefeld in an explosive and fire raid which caused much damage, "especially in residential quarters."

The Germans said they destroyed 20 bombers.

German planes were said by Berlin to have attacked individual targets in the London zone and on the South England coast last night. The German command also said three British planes were shot down by naval patrol vessels off the Dutch coast.

Preliminary reconnaissance reports from the raid on the Scheffeld munitions plant Saturday night at Le Creusot, 170 miles southeast of Paris, belied German claims that most of the damage was done to the town itself, the British air ministry said. Rolling mills, armor plate shops, the locomotive works and other buildings were damaged seriously, it said.

The cluster of German industrial centers within a 20-mile stretch of the Rhineland, represented by Krefeld, Duisburg and Dusseldorf, has now been visited by a total of 135 catastrophic raids, the air ministry said.

Blast Furnaces Close For Lack Of Soft Coal Supply

PITTSBURGH, June 22 (AP)—First blast furnaces were closed today by iron and steel producers shutdown caught with low supplies of coke and coal. The cumulative result of the three successive miners' walkouts thus hit some sections of the steel industry twice as quickly as during walkout no. 2 early this month.

The Shenango, Furnace Company, operating two blast furnaces and a foundry at Sharpville, Pa., made the initial formal announcement that one furnace was "forced down because of no coal, no coke, no fuel."

Employers Cannot Qualify For Old Age Benefit Funds

Owners and part owners of unincorporated businesses—too self-employed workers—cannot build up credits for old-age and survivors benefits, under the present Social Security Act by reporting their "wages" and paying social security taxes on them, stated Elliott W. Adams, manager of the Social Security Board's Big Spring field office.

The benefits under the Social Security Act are paid only to individuals, or their survivors, who are working in employment for others. As employment is defined under the act, the self-employed worker is excluded.

Any taxes that have been paid by such individuals can, under certain conditions, be refunded by the bureau of internal revenue. Information regarding these refunds should be requested of the collector of internal revenue to whom the tax reports are made.

Wall Street

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—The stock market fiddled with selective and modest recoveries today but the notes were too faint to touch off much of a come-back sympathy.

Slight improvement appeared at the start. Prices soon retreated, however, and by mid-day declines of fractions to a point or so predominated.

Rumors then began to seep into boardrooms regarding an imminent settlement of the coal labor crisis which had earlier depressed issues of companies threatened with fuel shortages. Prominent steels, rails and industrials slowly converted initial recessions into fractional advances. Short covering was said to have been partly responsible for the stiffening of trends.

Attracting support were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Southern Railway, Pennsylvania, General Motors, Chrysler, American Telephone, Western Union, Westinghouse, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester and Oliver Farm. Among laggards the greater part of the time were Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Alcoa Chemical, American Can, Loew's, Paramount, U. S. Gypsum, U. S. Rubber and J. I. Case.

Livestock Men Say OPA Policy Building Big Cattle Surplus

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association said yesterday restrictive regulations by the Office of Price Administration were building up a surplus of cattle which the organization estimated would reach 15,400,000 head by Jan. 1, 1944.

In a statement issued through its counsel, former Judge Joe G. Montague, of Fort Worth, Texas, the association asserted that if one-half of this surplus was slaughtered enough meat would be produced to provide a normal supply of beef for a year to the civilian population, the armed forces and "74,000,000 people in addition."

"xxx In fact, the use of this surplus would be a genuine service since it would relieve our ranges and our feed lots of a severe strain on their resources," the statement continued.

The association, composed of 4,490 active ranchmen operating ranches that range in size from 10,000 to several hundred thousand acres, is headed by C. K. McMan, of Victoria, Texas.

Robert J. Kleberg, manager of the Kings ranch of Kingsville, Texas, and an association director, said the association's findings were submitted to representatives of 113 other livestock organizations throughout the country.

"Without one single exception, as far as we can find," Kleberg said, "they are all in accord with the sentiments expressed in our statement."

He declared that he thought the term "black market" was a misnomer for the thousands of small slaughterers and customers who are asserted were determined not to be deprived of beef artificially by OPA regulations. Kleberg added:

"Throughout the west an increasing number of individuals are buying and storing in freezers whole carcasses of beef, and these people are not comparable with the members of the old prohibition bootleg trade. They are patriotic, but they are determined that they shall not go hungry."

I stayed there for a couple of hours, getting the story of the 51st Infantry, the first and only American Infantry regiment to fight the Japanese in the Philippines. A field telephone connected headquarters with the front lines, and twice while I was there the outposts reported new Japanese attacks. On the second through a party estimated at fifty to one hundred Japs broke through our front line and circled around onto the road behind us.

Just after we received that news, Lieutenant Gonzales said to General Lough, "Sir, I must return to headquarters to report the situation here."

"Okay," the general said, "but keep your eyes open going down that road. The Japs that broke through have probably taken to the trees or dug in along the embankment. Don't stop for anything."

I shook hands with Lough and with Lim, and we drove on down the road through the inky blackness and after a short distance we heard a challenge. It was from a tank parked by the roadside—an American tank.

One of the tank crews shouted a warning: "Some Jap snipers broke through and are on this road. We are looking for them but haven't found them yet. Don't stop for anything until you hit the main road."

We went on down the road fairly fast and finally came to the level portion. The main road was only about half a mile ahead. Suddenly the driver stepped on the brakes so hard that we were thrown against the front seat.

Our front wheels were within a few inches of a tree which had fallen squarely across the road. There were trees on both sides and it was impossible to go around.

"By Santa Maria and all the saints," Gonzales said, "it looks like we have run into an ambush!" I was wishing to Heaven that I'd brought a tommy gun along instead of a notebook.

We told the chauffeur to try to run over the tree. The bumper scraped and jammed and we saw we couldn't make it. There was nothing to do but climb out of the car and move it.

"Wait until I count three," I said, "then all jump out, swing the tree off to the left, hop back in, and get the hell out of here."

It couldn't have taken more than twenty seconds to jump out, shove the tree aside, and run back to the car. Every minute I expected a flock of bullets in my back, but not a shot was fired. I still don't know how that tree got on the road. It might have been knocked flat by shellfire, or the Japs who placed it there may have been driven back before we arrived. We rode on back to headquarters at Pilar and pulled up outside the dugout.

Gonzales said to the chauffeur, "That's all for tonight. You can park here." Almost immediately the chauffeur was sound asleep. (Copyright 1943 by Clark Lee; The Viking Press.)

Tunisia Exploded 'Super-man' Myth, Declares Gen. Marshall

COLUMBUS, O., June 22.—The Tunisian victory exploded the myth of the Nazi superman, says Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States army.

"The superman has had his day," the officer told the 35th annual governors' conference last night. "The democracies have called his bluff."

Asserting that psychological products of the African triumph have been "of immense importance," General Marshall said:

"There has been a rebirth of the French army with a splendid example of courageous and aggressive fighting power. The observing nations have seen selected German troops humbled by an extension and improvement of the technique that brought about the downfall of France.

"The Allies have gained confidence in each other, and the Allied fighting men, and the scales have so tipped that those nations who have been maneuvering merely to be on the winning side can no longer escape the conclusion that there is no victory in prospect for Germany."

Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Russia expressed belief that had not the Red army stopped Hitler's eastern drive "the Germans might have overrun Africa; might have made Tunisia impossible and might have made contact with the Japs in India and on the Persian gulf."

Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the war manpower commission, said in an address prepared for delivery at the conference that "when we are perfectly sure that every last alternative—as measured by the stern priorities of war—has been exhausted, then, and only then," will fathers be drafted. The address was read by Robert C. Goodwin, regional manpower director.

WAR TODAY: Our Problems At Home Make Propaganda Enemy

(While Dewitt Mackenzie is on vacation, this daily column is being written by Max Hill, former chief of the Associated Press bureau in Tokyo.)

Our problems at home—accented recently by work stoppages and riots—are the best propaganda the axis has to use against us.

They are doing their battles with our troops. Neither the Germans nor the Japanese have victories with which to bolster home morale.

But through our troubles at home their adroit propagandists are able to encourage the rank and file to ever more desperate efforts.

It is unfortunate that we continue to feed them ready-made criticism because in the long run the cost is going to be in American lives and materials.

Just prior to the war, a minor strike or disturbance in America was worth between one and two columns of copy in a Tokyo newspaper. The basic theme was that we were divided; that we could not work as a unit. The situation has not changed.

Japan's greatest strength is at home. Her people have been taught that they must cooperate willingly—that the life of the individual is as nothing compared with the state and emperor.

Not many months before the war, preparations were being made in Tokyo for air raid shelters. The program was dropped. It was decided that every man, woman and child in Tokyo's 7,000,000 inhabitants should stay above ground and fight fires should there be a raid.

This is the sort of philosophy we are combatting. The war itself against such determined peoples is difficult enough without a divided home front.

It cannot be that Russia does not know the plans of her Allies. Great Britain and the United States.

Therefore, the special communication broadcast from Moscow must be considered as a trump card in the propaganda campaign which the United Nations now are waging so successfully against the Germans.

She asks for a second front, "without which victory is impossible."

Her contribution is so great that she is more than justifying in her present appeal for a second front in Europe.

It is essential for the welfare of all concerned that we give the Russians the utmost in cooperation and aid.

CANBERRA, Australia, June 22 (AP)—Prime Minister John M. Curtin declared tonight that President Roosevelt had promised Australia enough planes to increase the RAAF's strength by 60 per cent.
