10-Year-Old Tells Council How To Control Pigeons

By JOELLA LOVORN
News Editor, Leader-News

Ten-year-old Rick Harvey, son of City Councilman Chester Harvey, appeared before the city council Thursday night to plead his case on the city's pigeon situation.

As Rick doesn't like to see pigeons killed, he had made a research on eliminating pigeons and came up with an answer he thought would be satisfactory.

He read an article from "Nature and Science" magazine which recommended feeding the pigeons chemical treated food which would result in sterility and birth control. The chemical, SC-12937, when fed to the birds periodically over a five year period, would eliminate the birds altogether.

Councilmen decided to put the situation under advisement.

Hubert Henry appeared before the council to discuss the employe hospitalization insurance program.

If the present policy, which is to expire June 1, is renewed, rates would increase 69 percent for city employes. Reasons for the increase were: (1) a number of claims were turned in last year, and (2.) the increased cost of medical care in hospitals.

Councilmen discussed the insurance situation at length and after studying the city charter, decided to take bids for a policy with specific coverages included.

Councilman Paul Carmickle was asked to work with City Manager Jim Shearer and Hubert Henry in establishing the specifics, which would be guaranteed for a three-year period.

In other matters of business transacted, councilmen:

1. Voted to take out memberships with Water, Incorporated and Lamb County Water Association.

2. Decided to send a representative to the Governor's Conference on Industrial Expansion in Austin May 7. Governor Preston Smith will deliver a major address and will present the Governor's Industrial Expansion Awards to five Texas companies that had significant expansions in 1968.

3. Discussed the Omnibus Crime bill study in the region and discussed the meeting to be held the following morning in the County Judge's office, concerning regional law enforcement.

4. Submitted names to be contacted for appointment to the tax board of equalization.

5. Discussed a few discrepancies of the city sewage treatment plant. Eight of the diffusers were changed to another type and were found to be working better than the original equipment. Two other minor problems were discussed.

LARRY SANDERSON, president of the Lamb County Coin Club, holds a $20 gold piece to be given away with a $5 gold piece, at the Second Annual Coin Show Sunday, May 4, in Littlefield Community Center.

PROPERTY DAMAGED

Vandals, Looters Strike Community

Vandals and looters were rampant on the city Friday night and early Saturday.

Fourteen homes in the Creech Park addition, situated on 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th Streets and Crescent Drive, reported incidents of obscenities spray painted on sidewalks, doors, cars, trucks, pickups, sides of homes, garage doors, signs and posts, and several other forms of vandalism.

One home owner found his garden hose cut into pieces, another found sheetrock broken up in his garage and cans of spray paint were missing.

The same night, 23 recapped tires of assorted brands were taken in a burglary of McCormick's Service Station.

Entry to the station was gained by breaking a window in the back of the building.

Several items were taken in a burglary of Luce & Nelson Implement Company sometime during the same night.

Among items taken were: a ThermoFax statement machine, Model 47DG, serial number 20436; a Victor electric adding machine, serial number 2700-411; a typewriter; a Burroughs manual adding machine; a Victor manual adding machine; an Emerson radio; assorted new crescent and lifetime tools; and a bronze tool box with tools.

Jimmy Drake who lives 14 miles west of Littlefield on Highway 84 reported a theft Wednesday. Taken from his home was a 21 inch R. C. A. color television set in an Italian provincial walnut cabinet. Also taken was a blue-green quilted sateen bedspread. E. D. McNeese and V. J. Smith investigated.

A. H. ... reported someone threw a rock through the storm-proof plate glass window the apartment house at 519 E. 7th. The vandalism was reported to city police Wednesday afternoon.

A 12-volt White's battery was taken off a parked tractor east of Brownlee on 20th. James Adair reported the theft Thursday.

Friday, Mrs. Lonnie Perkins lost a white gold ring with a diamond solitaire surrounded by four smaller stones. She had the ring in her lap and forgot about it when she got out of her car on a city street.

Spelling Champ

"Measles" was the word that decided the Lamb County spelling championship for Diana Gonzales, a 13-year-old Spade eighth grader.

Gay Ellis, 12-year-old seventh grader from Springlake-Earth school missed the word and took runner-up position in the 500-word spell down in District Courtroom of Lamb County Courthouse Saturday afternoon.

Cost Of Parenthood High In County

What is the price tag on the average child in Lamb County? How much do parents spend over the years in raising him from a gurgling baby to a young adult?

Parents have even a remote idea of the amount. They have never thought of children in those terms. All they know in a general way, is that they have a costly and priceless child.

When they paused along the line, they would tally up the bill, they would be astounded. They would have to list their expenditures in the 18 years well into five figures. For the family, nationally, it came to latest figures on the cost of child-rearing, from the Department of Health and others, show that income and other factors, in most cases, determine how much is spent by an individual in bringing up its children.

Net income is between $6,000 and $10,000 per family, as is the average in Lamb County, the outlay per child is approximately $25,100 to age 18.

The major part of it is for food. The amount adjusted for price changes, show that the average child consumes about $7,300 worth during the 18 years.

Fortunately, this cost, as well as most others, are spread out over the years.

One that cannot be handled in that way, however, is the initial one, in connection with the birth of the child. Medical fees, hospital bills and baby equipment call for an outlay of about $700, on average.

The subsequent, growing up expenditures include clothing, $3,000, transportation, $3,950, medical and dental, $2,000, and personal care, $900.

There is also the portion of housing costs attributable to the child, as well as incidentals ranging from dolls to baseball bats and bicycles to lipsticks.

For the 530 or so boys and girls in Lamb County who are reaching 18 this year, how much of an expenditure do they represent?

Based upon the average amount per child locally, the grand total is $13,303,000. And that is only up to the point at which they are ready to enter college.

THE FIRST TELEPHONE office had two positions or boards and serviced about 200 phones. Five operators worked two-day shifts and one night shift. One man took care of all the repair and installing.

Littlefield's phone company went ultra-modern in 1938 when it moved to a new building at Littlefield Drive and Fourth. The common-battery system, and a switch board that lighted up replaced the drop-out numbers. Phones were numbered consecutively from zero up.

Operators were required to memorize all the numbers, the party lines, and who had what ring.

"We knew everybody and everybody knew us," Thelma Hukill said. "We knew who we were answering when the light came on."

As service improved, the number of phones increased to 250 or 300.

There still wasn't a specific operator for "information". Operators knew everyone's number and didn't have to look them up.

UNTIL ABOUT 1942, or '43, fires were reported to the operators.

"Different ones would pick up the phone and ask where the fire was when the fire whistle went off," Mrs. Hukill said, "and we would tell them."

LUCY ROBISON
Operator Number 2

Littlefield residents used to set their clocks and watches by calling the operator and asking for the time.

Fire calls go directly to the city hall now. Operators don't know where the fires are, even if allowed to give this type of information. And operators no longer give you "the time of day."

Mrs. Hukill said she has had some strange requests. "One time," she said, "someone called up and asked, 'could you tell me how to make biscuits?'"

An information desk was put in the Littlefield office in 1945, and an "information" operator, giving information alone, began about 1949 or '50.

MRS. HUKILL has 37 years' experience, and is operator number one because of her seniority. Her sister, Mrs. Iva Throop, was chief operator for several years. Mrs. Hukill became chief when her sister resigned in '38.

Lucy Robison is operator number two, with 29 years of service. She didn't work when the telephone office was over the

What The Leader-News Thinks

Expert-Type Business

That situation which has been described as a "tempest in a teapot"—the quail season—will be discussed in a hearing at the state capitol Monday night.

The bone of contention is whether control of the season on quail should be left in the hands of the county commissioners' court, or whether it should be returned to the control of the Parks and Wildlife Commission.

We felt two months ago that it should be returned to the control of the Parks and Wildlife Commission, and we haven't changed our mind.

Lamb County Commissioners voted 3-2 to leave the season under the county's jurisdiction, favoring a minority petition of landowners over a majority petition of hunters.

WHAT IS SO MYSTIFYING about the whole thing is that the court voted unanimously last June to return the season to jurisdiction of the Parks and Wildlife Commission.

It reversed itself on Jan. 31, ignoring the earlier petition signed by 662 persons and deciding in favor of one signed by 57.

County Judge Truitt Sides cast the deciding ballot after a 2-2 split on the court, in which Commissioners Peel and Dykes voted for, and Lewis and Spain voted against.

Explanation for the vote was that the court felt the local quail season should be kept under local control.

The court also said it is concerned about the property rights of the landowners.

IT IS OUR OPINION that property rights are not a valid issue, because they are protected by law regardless of whose jurisdiction the county quail season is placed under.

Under which control the situation should be placed is the main thing to decide.

TWO measures will be under consideration at the Monday night hearing. One, House Bill 21, would leave the season under regulation of the Parks and Wildlife Commission.

The other, House Bill 558, would place the authority with the county.

We don't think the fact that Lamb County had a 20-day season last year, as opposed by an 83-day season in adjacent counties, is a main issue either.

The experts on setting the quail season are members and employees of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission.

All of the local squabble could have been avoided had the county accepted a majority petition and left the decision on dates with the experts.

THE BURNING ISSUE is the fact that the county really has no business being in the quail business.

Has A Point

School board member Jack Barton has pointed out to us what he considers an error of omission in the Thursday Leader-News.

We reported that the board voted 6-1 to employ an assistant band director, with Barton voting against.

This was correct. Barton has no quarrel with that. It was what we didn't say that bothered him.

During the discussion of the proposal, Barton offered an amendment to give Band Director Phil Anthony an $800 raise instead of hiring an assistant.

In the cold light of print, the story was simply 6-1, with Barton voting against.

It is fitting that, in the cold light of print, we admit he has a point.

He felt his motives could easily be misconstrued without an explanation, and he wants it understood that his quarrel was with hiring an assistant band director, and not with the band program itself, or Phil Anthony.

It proves again to us that complete reporting of the facts at hand is always the best policy, especially so in controversial issues. We are sorry for the oversight.

OWNER'S REPORT Mineral Survey

By BILL TURNER

Approximately two years ago, an industrial consultant, F. J. Spencer of Houston, completed a survey which recommended a county mineral survey.

His survey aimed at possibilities of the county having good deposits of minerals both in the southwest corner of the county and in the sandhills.

Our recollection was that when Spencer appeared before the commissioners' court, the late Judge O. J. Mangum judged the idea to be a good one.

The court, however, decided against helping finance the project, and it was charged by some Littlefield people that the rest of the county didn't want to help in a project which was thought would help Littlefield most.

We never checked out that assertion.

The question came up again Monday night, when it was asked "Why can't the county help finance the survey?" No one knew the answer, and no one asked Judge Truitt Sides, who attended the industrial meeting, "How come?" Friday, Gene Pratt and I went to see the judge, and told him how the county and the judge were receiving criticism for a seeming lack of interest on the project.

We asked him that if the survey could be made county-wide, and handled by the county to be certain all parts of the county received the same treatment, "Would the court be interested in helping?"

I was floored when the judge told us why. Because I should have thought of it sooner.

Judge Sides, incidentally, had done some checking into the matter, and together with County Attorney Curtis Wilkinson determined:

It is illegal for the County to participate.

At any rate, we checked with District Judge Pat Boone and learned that he had the same opinion. He could not see how the county could help legally.

The result of these visits leaves Littlefield with an unfinanced mineral survey.

If the community wants it badly enough, it will have to come from donations from individuals and businesses.

It's a gamble that could pay off in huge dividends if enough gypsum, hadite, etc. were found.

Then it might turn out to be $5,000 or $6,000 flop.

How Come?

By LIBBY MUDGETT

SINCE WE ALREADY have inflation anyway, why can't we just print all of the paper money that people need? (or for that matter, want?)

If the meek really were to inherit the earth, just how long do you think they'd get to keep it?

IF KOREA is only a fourth rate power like everybody keeps calling her, how come we keep letting her do us like she does? Or is that why?

Since the Bible mentions gluttony as much as drunkenness, wonder why we never hear any sermons about overstuffing ourselves?

WHY DID THE POWERS that be gang up on car owners so in April, via the inspection sticker and license tags? It's enough to make you get a bicycle, except who has enough money left after all that?

If the moon really does become populated one day with cities and all, will it dim our moonlight nights?

WHY DOESN'T CONGRESS take all that money it uses financing committee and subcommittee field trips investigating hunger in the USA and just buy all the hungry something to eat? It'd be cheaper.

What's the difference between antiques and junkie? Why is common sense so uncommon?

Have you ever noticed that the woman that complains the loudest about her girdle being so tight insists she only wears one to keep her hose up? But if you ask her why doesn't she go barelegged, she says she needs her hose to keep her girdle down.

SINCE WE SUPPOSEDLY elect our Congressmen and our Presidents, why can't we supposedly elect the whole judiciary arm also? (I don't want any mail about that word supposedly, either—you know very well what I mean.)

Whatever happened to the CIA? Did they go underground?

How did the image of the cowboy wearing pistols ever get started when in reality the majority would have shot off their big toe trying to clear the holster?

WHAT'S YOUR GUESS as to why all those Cuban skyjackings really and truly are still going on?

And while we're on the subject, how come the facts have never been aired about the Bay of Pigs?

Why do the same people that swear the sound of the wind blowing makes them nervous rave over the sound of the surf breaking?

CAN YOU TELL ME in twenty-five words or less exactly what a Communist is or believes?

If pollution really is the problem that it's supposed to be, where are those electric cars we kept hearing about?

Why don't we get to vote on whether we go on Daylight Savings Time? Who but a politician would think you could save daylight anyway?

CAN YOU TELL ME in 25 words or less exactly what is the difference between a Republican and a Democrat?

I can understand why women lighten their hair, darken their lashes and brows, and color their lips, but whoever heard of naturally red fingernails?

Do you suppose the reason men are now growing beards and mustaches is because that's one of the few things left that they can do that women can't copycat?

IF RAIN WATER really is gathered up from the oceans and delivered to us by clouds, why isn't it salty?

At what point does resting cease and loafing begin?

If you don't have anything better to do than to read this column, how come not?

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Community Creed

By BOB WEAR

THERE ARE MANY WAYS in which we are dependent upon each other, and we can help each other. It may be that this interdependence is not always as obvious as it has been in earlier periods of time, but it is just as real.

The fact that the need may not be readily and clearly seen compounds our difficulties.

IT IS TOO EASY, nowadays, for us to feel smug and snooty, as if we were self-sufficient. This feeling is not justified, and is a certain dissipater of our community strength.

There is a sense in which each one of us must fully assume personal responsibility. It may be nothing more than encouraging and cooperating with our leaders and with each other, but these two activities are among our greatest accomplishments.

WE CAN NEVER AFFORD TO

ignore or forget the interdependency which is essential to our well-being. Everything we do and say to encourage, build up and help each other is for the good of all. This should be our community creed.

In the present technological advancement, it is difficult to see the participation of our fellowmen in many of the actions upon which we depend, and by which we are blessed.

This has led to some loss of the realization that we actually need each other.

WE MUST REVIVE THE SPIRIT of mutual dependence by conscious and deliberate efforts to do so. There are so many ways by which we can help one another, and, as a result, strengthen our community. This will also improve the lot of everybody.

We must remember that strife, jealousy, distrust and indifference are feelings and actions which weaken community structure. Of course, no one expects complete unanimity in our association and our work, but we, for the sake of our common good, must find effective ways to work together. We can disagree without impairing success in our common task, and this is exactly what we must learn to do.

WE CAN PRESERVE our justified differences without paralyzing our united efforts to accomplish our community purposes. It is not necessary that differences which exist in some areas be permitted to separate us in the areas of common interest.

There are numerous spheres of interest and need in which we must stand together and work together.

We can do so and retain every meaningful difference in viewpoint and basic conviction. It is tragic when we permit our differences, those to which we are entitled, to separate us to the extent we are unable to unite for community good.

IT IS BEST that we let our differences serve as adhesions to hold us together in the many instances of mutual concern. Mortar separates the bricks in a building, but it is also the mortar that holds the bricks together.

If we keep remembering that we have the same general interests and the same general needs, we will have less difficulty working together for the good of all.

WE MUST BE CONSTRUCTIVE, and make sure that what we say and do are stepping stones, not stumbling blocks. Let us use every opportunity we have to encourage and build up one another.

Our community life is endangered if we become so absorbed with our differences that we lose sight of our necessary oneness. We must work together for the common good, and do so with a spirit of mutual appreciation and good will.

Let this be our community creed.

Disgusting Scene

1200 W. Littlefield, April 16

Dear Mr. Turner: This happens to be all I have in the house and I refuse to write, but this we witnessed a disgusting scene.

We were waiting for our Scout troop to reach the house so that we could begin regular meeting. As we looked the window to see if they were there, we noticed a large group of children gathering.

There were Anglo, Mexican Negroes. We went out and what was going on and informed they were having a party. It sounded like a party. All fussing and name calling.

Mr. Fitzgerald drove up and we had started after him for help. Needless to say the children scattered but soon gathered up smaller groups. He finally sent all on their way.

Parents, small incidents such as this starts bigger trouble. We want to have in our town destruction other towns have. We don't know that you don't, so let's try to see if possible we can show our children how to live.

Some adults were sitting in cars watching as this was all place; wonder what they have done in case of real trouble.

We are very proud and happy say that none of them were our Scouts. They had all come out to the Scout house.

Thank you for letting us be our steam.

PAUL HARVEY

Remember Pearl Harbor

IT'S DIFFERENT when you are the President.

Take the ABM. It is easy for you and me to say that the antiballistic missile, intended to intercept enemy missiles, is already obsolete, is too expensive, is not needed.

And we pray it is not.

BUT A PRESIDENT has to give us—spelled U. S.—the benefit of any doubt.

History has retagged that lesson many times, sometimes painfully. Angel and I were in Hawaii when it looked like the travel folders, prior to the Big War.

I REMEMBER seeing our Pacific fleet ships stationed at staggered intervals outside Pearl Harbor as a routine precaution.

It was mostly Navy wives, wanting their husbands more convenient to shore for social activities of an evening, who pressured the admiral.

"A foolish precaution," they insisted. "Nobody is going to dare attack Pearl Harbor."

THE ADMIRAL who refused to budge was replaced. When Adm. Husband E. Kimmel took over, he brought the ships of our fleet into the harbor where they were lined up, side by side, when the Japanese warplanes attacked that unforgettable Dec. 7.

In several subsequent investigations attempting to affix the responsibility for our unpreparedness, Adm. Kimmel was roasted over an open fire.

THE COST TO US of being unprepared at Pearl Harbor was devastating. In a nuclear war, it could be decisive.

Our NIE and CIA and DIA and our State Department unconvinced that the Russians have any plans to strike first.

OUR INTELLIGENCE concerning Soviet intentions, however, does not have an impressive track record. Our military intelligence was grotesquely inadequate in Korea, Cuba and in Vietnam.

Defense Secretary Melvin Laird has testified, "With their tonnage warheads, the Russians are going for a first-strike capability. There is no question about that."

IF THE RUSSIANS are really coming after us, his critics insist then the ABM is not nearly enough preparedness. We should be going all-out with a "thick" missile defense, beefing up our offensive forces, digging air-raid shelters.

Again, expensive and expensive recommendations are easy for critics to make, but it's different when you are the President who have to balance a deficit budget against a calculated risk.

UNDERSTAND, Secretary Laird has never said that the Russians have any first-strike "intentions" he says they are developing first-strike "capability"; there's an important difference.

Similarly, we are not going to buy maximum protection for $12 billion worth of Safeguard missiles to protect our Minuteman silos. But that much can insure us against a second-strike "capability" that we have kept the Red bear from through a succession of some irresponsible Soviet dictators.

Maybe war is now a real menace. You and I are eager to forget Pearl Harbor. But our President, when he gambles with our lives, dares not.

FOURTH IN A SERIES Mormons Believe Marriage Lasts Throughout Eternity

STEVAN MESERVE
Elder, Mormon Church

(Editor's note: This is the fourth article in a series on Littlefield churches and religious beliefs of area residents. This week's article was written by elder Stevan Meserve of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints).

Mormons Believe 4-361-2

In the year 1820, there was a young boy living in the state of New York near present-day Palmyra. It was a time of religious upheaval in the area, and young Joseph Smith, the first prophet like many others, was caught up in the fervor of numerous revivals and imbued with a desire to join one of the established churches of the day. As he visited the different sects, however, he found much confusion and contention among them. In his own words:

"While I was laboring under the extreme difficulties caused by the contests of these parties of religionists, I was one day reading the Epistle of James, first chapter and fifth verse: 'If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him.'

"Never did any passage of scripture come with more power to the heart of man than this did at this time to mine. It seemed to enter with great force into every feeling of my heart.

"At length I came to the conclusion that I must either remain in darkness and confusion, or else I must do as James directs, that is, ask of God... So, I retired to the woods to make the attempt."

JOSEPH'S ACCOUNT GOES on to describe how he knelt in a secluded grove of trees near his father's farm, where he poured out his heart to God in humble prayer. In answer to his prayer, he saw a pillar of light directly over his head, which descended gradually until it fell upon him.

When the light rested upon me I saw two Personages, whose brightness and glory defy all description, standing above me in the air. One of them spake unto me, calling me by name and said, pointing to the other—"This is My Beloved Son, Hear Him!"

Thus was the silence of centuries broken. The heavens were opened again to man, and Joseph Smith stepped forth as the first man since the end of the apostolic era to have seen and conversed with God, the Eternal Father, and with His Son, Jesus Christ.

FURTHER REVELATION BROUGHT numerous heavenly visitors, including John the Baptist, Peter, James, and John, in fulfillment of many Biblical prophecies (Matt. 17:11-13; Rev. 14:6-7; Acts 3:19-21; etc.) Of these visits, Richard L. Evans, one of the modern Apostles of Christ wrote:

"To a point, the Latter-day Saints accept the position that the 'Protectors' and 'Reformers' and historians of the post-apostolic period have taken—that there was a departure from the principles and practices of the Primitive Church after our Savior and His Apostles left the earth. But the Protectors and Reformers, sincere though they were, could not give what they didn't have. And so the world had to wait for a "Restoration" of what was lost.

"IT IS THE POSITION of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, that such a "Restoration" did occur in the early 19th century, with the opening of the heavens and the restoring of the keys of the kingdom by those who held them in the dispensations of the past. And thus 'the dispensation of the fullness of times' (Ephesians 1:10) was ushered in."

The young Prophet Joseph Smith led the Church from its organization in the year 1830 until his death at the hands of a mob in Carthage, Ill., in the year 1844. Just before he went to his death in Carthage, Joseph said to the Twelve Modern Apostles: "....The Lord is about to lay the burden on your shoulders and let me rest awhile; and if they kill me, the kingdom of God will roll on, as I have now finished the work which was laid upon me...."

THE WORK DID ROLL ON after the death of the Prophet; and today, after many trials and hardships, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints is the fastest-growing religious body in the world. The "Mormons" are an industrious people whose most striking characteristics are a daily application of religious teachings, and an abiding faith in the modern works of a living God.

Many times people ask, "Are the 'Mormons' Christians?" The name of the Church itself unequivocally says they are—The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints—and so does the heart of every Latter-day Saint, as expressed in the first Article of Faith: "We believe in God, the Eternal Father, and in His Son, Jesus Christ, and in the Holy Ghost." "Mormons" without reservation accept Jesus Christ as the Savior of the world and the "one mediator between God and man. (1 Timothy 2:5) Indeed, the belief in the divinity of Christ is the foundation of all "Mormon" religious belief.

THE LATTER-DAY SAINTS believe that Jesus Christ Himself called Joseph Smith and his successors to be prophets in the same literal sense that Moses, Abraham, and others were called of God. These men are not worshipped, but are looked upon as leaders of a special kind—men who have conversed face to face with the Living God as did the leaders of Israel in ancient times. (Gen. 32:30; Num. 14:14) The teachings of the Church are, without exception, the words of God as revealed to men through His chosen prophets throughout recorded history.

WHAT DO "MORMONS" THINK OF THE BIBLE? The Latter-day Saints accept and use the Bible as the word of God; however, they do not believe that the Bible contains ALL of the words of God. "We believe all God has revealed, all that He does now reveal; and we believe that He will yet reveal many great and important things pertaining to the Kingdom of God."

While there is no "Mormon Bible," they use as scripture three other books revealed by the Lord in our own times. The Book of Mormon, history of the ancestors of the American Indians, is to America what the Bible is to Israel—a record of God's dealings with its people.

The Book of Doctrine and Covenants contains many of the revelations given to the Prophet Joseph Smith, and the Pearl of Great Price contains the visions of Moses and Abraham as revealed by the Lord to Joseph Smith as well as Joseph's record of the establishment of the Church. The four above-mentioned books, known collectively as the "Standard Works" of the Church, are equally accepted and used as the true word of God.

We believe that through the atonement of Christ all mankind may be saved by obedience to the laws and ordinances of the Gospel." This includes both faith and works, for as the Apostle James wrote: "Faith without works is dead." (James 2:20). "SALVATION" IS UNIVERSAL in the sense that all men will be raised from the dead. As Paul said: "For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive." Yet Paul also recorded that there are many degrees of glory in the resurrection. (1 Cor. 15:40-42; II Cor. 12:2) While "salvation" is universal, the highest degree of glory must be earned by obedience to the laws of God as well as by faith and good works.

As to the question of marriage and family life: the family is the most important thing in the life of the Latter-day Saint. The "Mormons" believe that there could be no happiness in the next life were he separated from his family.

Therefore, marriages performed only for "time" or the duration of life, but for all eternity, are a power of God given to the Latter-day Saint when Christ said to Peter: "whosoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven; and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven." (Matthew 16:19).

POLYGAMY WAS AT ONE time practiced by Mormons in the way it was known to have been practiced by the ancient patriarchs of the Bible: Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. The few "Mormons" who practiced plural marriage did so, as a New YORK TIMES book review recently remarked, "with Puritan consciences." They honored their wives and families, and did so believing that marriages were Divinely sanctioned. Federal laws, however, forbade the practice; and when the constitutionality of such laws was upheld by the Supreme Court of the United States, Wilford Woodruff was then president of the Church, he issued a manifesto forbidding plural marriages. This communication from the Church imposed the penalty for the practice of polygamy.

The "Mormons" are a people as shown in their law known as the "World of Wonders" revelation to the Prophet Joseph Smith, the Lord revealed that certain things which men do to their bodies daily which harm them physically. Long ago the Surgeon General released one of his reports connecting lung and other diseases with smoking. The Lord had forbidden His people of tobacco. Also proscribed were the use of alcoholic beverages and "hot drinks" defined by revelation as coffee, tea, and cocoa. As a result of living commandment, the Latter-day Saints have the lowest per capita death rate of any group of people in the world.

THE LATTER-DAY SAINTS are taught to know and understand the doctrines of His Church. There is "paid clergy" in the Church; the Church is governed by the Priesthood which includes all males and is not confined to select individuals. The principle of "Free Agency" emphasized in the church, the Latter-day Saints are taught the right of choice is a God-given principle of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. We believe in individual freedom of choice, strong desire and a willingness to sacrifice to preserve it for all Latter-day Saints ready to serve in the support and defense of this principle. Many "Mormons" fought and died in support of the Constitution of the United States, while others have held high positions in the government.

THE "MORMON" PRINCIPLE of FREEDOM and deep meaning of faith, and is always anxious to help with others. For this reason there today nearly 15,000 self-supporting missionaries who serve for two or more years from home to all world-wide missions among all people. The belief of the Church of Christ of Latter-day Saints is summed up in the Thirteenth Article of Faith: "We believe in being true, chaste, benevolent, virtuous, in doing good to all men; indeed, we may say we follow the admonition of Paul—We believe all things, we are all things, and hope to be able to do all things. If there is anything which is lovely, or of good report, praiseworthy, we seek after these things."

bank, but recalls water dogs coming in the other building after a big rain.

"And mice would run across the floor at night," she said, "and I'd put my feet up in a chair."

There were about 300 phones when Mrs. Robison began working. She knew who she was answering by the light.

"Sometimes kids would wake up in the morning and be bawling," she said. "Of course we knew who they were and where their parents worked and we'd ring them."

Older children used the phones to play pranks. A favorite was calling someone and telling them to put towels over their receivers, that the phone company was going to blow the line out.

Mrs. Robison was at the board by herself the night Dr. Hunt was murdered. "I was so scared I was in tears," she said. "I called Thelma and got some help down there. That day and week was the busiest there has ever been."

Mrs. Robison has been with the phone company from the time operators were local, long distance and information. She compares this to the present when more than 100 information calls per hour are received.

MRS. EULA MOORE started her career in '37 when the telephone office was over the bank, but she was out seven years, leaving her third in seniority. The Littlefield phone company has had three different names since Mrs. Moore joined it.

All phones were cranked to get the operator and numbers would fall out showing who was calling.

When she left the company in 1941, there were few phones in Littlefield. There were 20 numbers per row and she knew them all.

"You'd work your arm off, too," she said, "reaching up and plugging them in. You'd have to test for locals to see if the line was busy. And you had to do your own ringing on the rurals, remembering who had a long or short or just what kind of ring."

"Once I forgot to test before ringing," Mrs. Moore said. "The woman was talking when the phone rang. She said, 'Oh my, that went plum down my leg.'"

Since Mrs. Moore came back in 1948, there are 15 towns to answer.

TELEPHONE OPERATORS have their own language. They say L. D. for long distance, B. Y. for busy, and D. A. for doesn't answer.

"When Bell Telephone went on strike, men manned the switchboard," Mrs. Moore said. "I was trying to make a long distance call from here."

"The man on duty said 'A.T.' "That was a new one to me, and after all the years I'd worked, I said 'A.T.? What's that?'"

"Ain't there," he replied.

"Ain't there" hasn't replaced "doesn't answer." But "information" is out and "directory assistance" is in. When you ask for information in Littlefield now, the sweet-voiced operator intones, "d-i-r-e-c-t-o-r-y a-s-s-i-s-t-a-n-c-e."

Instead of writing down the calling number and information, now operators mark bubbles on cards which are fed into computers. "There are 20 bubbles to mark just on a station call," Mrs. Moore said.

"Mechanized service is taking the personal element out, and with it goes a lot of laughs."

Since operators no longer have to ring their own numbers, Mrs. Moore will probably never again be asked for "Muleshoe" instead of Muleshoe.

"There is still one woman in Littlefield who says, 'hello, Central,' but I hardly ever get her any more," Mrs. Moore said.

Progress is necessary, but impersonal. Gone are the days of "hello, Central," "number please," and kids bawling. "I want my mommy."

This is the day of area codes, microwave and direct distance dialing.

Lfd. Woman's Club Hears Mayor Speak

Littlefield Mayor J. E. Chisholm was guest speaker at the April meeting of the Littlefield Woman's Club when they met Wednesday in the Flame Room.

He was introduced by Mrs. D. C. Lindley.

"Progress In Littlefield" was topic of his report and he mentioned some of the main projects the city has carried the past few years.

Among them were:

1. The Water Bond Project—Littlefield brought water in from the sandhills at an approximate cost of four million dollars—enough to supply Littlefield 50 years.
2. The downtown improvement project.
3. The free camping site.
4. Airport improvement and paving project.
5. City paving project—18 blocks of residential area were repaved, Delano was curbed and guttered.
6. Sewer expansion project—Cole addition, 14,000 feet of sewer lines were installed and a new disposal system built—large enough to take care of a town of 25,000.

7. Street lighting improvement—new vapor lights installed and new lighting on Delano. All old street lights will be replaced gradually with brighter lights.

8. Migrant Health program—financed by the federal government and set up especially for those who have not lived in the community long enough to be eligible for local aid.

9. Delapidated housing project—128 houses have been condemned and are in the process of being removed and lots cleaned up.

10. Street maintenance project—70 blocks will be resurfaced this year and more in additional years. The project is currently suffering from lack of funds.

Also mentioned in his report was the fact that after June 1, no trash can be burned by the city at the dump grounds. All burning is to be replaced by the sanitary landfill method of garbage disposal, whereby all refuse has to be covered by at least six inches of dirt each day.

Mayor Chisholm stated that Littlefield will have an opportunity Aug. 5 to vote for support of the water project, and urged citizens to vote to support and finance this project.

DARLA CRONE

Housewife Has Little Time To Read Books

Mrs. Frank (Darla) Crone likes to cook, sew, read and do handicrafts. "I love to read, but I can never find the time to read as much as I would like to," said Darla.

Darla is wife of Frank Crone, and mother of a daughter, Debra, who is eleven months old.

She is active in Beta Sigma Phi, and is publicity chairman for the organization.

Darla is president of the Adult I Sunday School department at First Baptist Church, and sings in the church choir.

Mrs. Crone spends some of her time as Intermediate GA's leader. She has worked with GA's several years.

Darla attended Littlefield High School and graduated from Littlefield High School. After her graduation she attended Texas Tech at Lubbock one year.

During her high school years she took Home Economics which helped prepare her for cooking in later years.

One of Mrs. Crone's recent handicrafts is making artificial flowers out of colored burlap material. The flowers resemble large sunflowers in assorted colors. "I really enjoyed making them, and plan to make some more soon. The ones I plan to make will be more in the shape of a rose," said Darla.

"The recipes I am presenting for publication are quick and easy. The coffee cake is a good recipe when you need something sweet in a hurry—it's quick and most people have the ingredients on hand all the time in their kitchens," said Mrs. Crone.

1 large can evaporated milk.
1 202 can tomatoes (remove hard sections)
1 flat can chopped green chilies with the juice
1 medium sized onion, chopped
2/3 of a two-pound loaf of Velveeta Cheese
Set this mixture aside.

Take two dozen tortillas and dip in hot grease to soften, but do not fry. After softening all tortillas, place fried meat inside the tortillas and roll up. Place these in a deep baking dish and pour cheese mixture over them. Place in a warm oven until ready to serve.

Social Security Relieves Many

"Most people think elderly people and retired means financial security," commented Latimer, social security representative for Lamb County.

Social Security does provide retirement benefits, but it means financial security for the younger worker by providing monthly benefits to survivors of deceased workers and to disabled workers and families.

Many changes have been made in the social security disability program since it began.

Now if a person has a disability which is expected to last 12 months or more, may qualify for monthly benefits.

Amendments signed into law in 1968 reduced the requirements for persons disabled before age 31.

Although those disabled age 31 or later must have worked under social security at least 5 out of 10 years with the date the disability began, a young person can qualify for disability work, and those disabled before age 24 with at least 1 1/2 years work in the 5 years before you become disabled.

Any Lamb County resident who needs further information about the new disability requirements or any other of the social security program may contact Latimer.

He is at the Courtroom in Littlefield Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

TODAY'S DEVOTIONAL

The Christian's Witness

By KEN JOHNSON
Missionary Baptist Church

IF A PERSON compares the witness of Christians in the early days of the New Testament to the witness of the 20th century Christian, he will find an amazing drift from the original ideals.

Today's churches seem to be places to eat, drink and be merry rather than worship God, pray, and win others to the Saviour.

- It is reported that of every 100 persons who are members of churches in America
- 5--Cannot be found
- 20--Never pray
- 25--Never read the Bible
- 30--Never attend Worship Service
- 50--Never go to Sunday School
- 60--Never attend Sunday night services
- 75--Never give to Missionary work
- 85--Never have a family altar
- 95--Never win a soul to Christ.

Thus it would appear the practice of our churches is producing a product other than that of Bible example.

IN ACTS of the Apostles is recorded the work of Christians who truly had a witness. May we consider a break-down of one verse which describes their work and compare our practice of soul-winning with those who witnessed in the days of the apostles.

Daily in the temple and in every house, they ceased not to teach and preach Jesus Christ. (Acts 5:42).

DAILY--speaks of how often these PRACTICED THE PROGRAM of soul-winning. It is a miracle if we find one real soul-winner in any given church. We seem to have fallen from the plan of God which reveals we are witnesses of that which we possess. Maybe that is the answer veiled in robes of profession. We don't have enough Christianity in us to brag about.

IN THE TEMPLE--speaks of the LOCATION OF LOST souls. We need never expect lost people to drive into the church begging for an opportunity to hear the gospel. Remember, men are dead in sins; they do not know nor understand the spiritual side of life (1 Cor. 2:14).

IN EVERY HOUSE--Reveals these SAINTS UNDERSTOOD SIN in its universal condemnation. All have sinned therefore all stand in the perilous need of a saviour.

We must talk to neighbors, family, friends, and all concerning the nature of sin. All come short of the glory of God thus we must give them Christ the sacrifice for our sins.

THEY--speaks of MEMBERS BEING MASTERED by Christ. Every member was a witness. Too many times we as saints began to look from Christ to man and are led by what others do rather than what Jesus reveals.

Why don't we stop, why don't we declare: "I'll follow man nowhere but Jesus everywhere?"

CEASED NOT--declares the PEOPLE WERE PERSISTENT in what they did.

They were not "fair-weather saints." They stood when the chips were down. They were determined to continue.

TO TEACH--This is the VOCATION OF VICTORS. "Who is he that overcometh the world but he that believeth that Jesus is the Christ." (1 John 5:5).

It is our job to spread the Word of God by teaching the Word of God (see Mt. 28:19).

AND TO PREACH--reveals the SERVICE OF THE SAINTS is the work of proclaiming Christ. Paul told Timothy to "Preach The Word."

The Bible is the key to Christ and Christ is the key of the Scriptures.

JESUS CHRIST--This would prove NO OTHER NAME is given to present by the soul-winning and witness. This name brings peace to a soul, purpose to a life, and peace with God.

We need no other purpose but that which this name implies. JESUS--"Saviour", and CHRIST--"The Anointed of God." Let us give the world a witness, THE CHRISTIAN'S WITNESS.

STRENGTHEN YOUR FAITH

Through Regular Church Worship

Have Faith in yourself, your fellow man, your country, your church. Whenever you and I doubt either God or man, we would do well to think of Jesus.

Life becomes a radiant thing for people of Faith. Faith can overcome the most miserable circumstances... overcome despair. The universe opens its heart to eyes of faith; closed doors swing ajar when faithful steps approach; loving spirits smile their welcome to trustworthy souls; latent powers blossom in the presence of fidelity. God waits to shower His blessings on men who can be trusted... MEN OF FAITH.

AMHERST--The Junior Class of Amherst High takes pleasure in presenting "It's Great To Be Crazy" written by Donald Payton and published by the Hener Publishing Co. of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

This play will be April 24, beginning at 7:30 p.m., in the high school auditorium. Price will be $1.25 for adults, 75c for students.

This is a three-act farce play about a family called the "Maxwells" and their friends. John Maxwell is the head of the family and gets a letter from Atlantic Institute of Geneology, New Haven, Mass. He finds out he is kin to Lester the Leach, Lady MacBeth and Jack the Ripper. He now tries to convince his family he is a sane man.

PIONEER SEEDS

Choose this brand and you still have plenty of choices

For yield power where it counts, Texas grain sorghum producers have been choosing Pioneer varieties year after year. Such Pioneer hybrids as 846 have been breaking yield records from the top of the Panhandle to the South Plains. Besides popular 846 here are five other top performers from Pioneer:

828
This new full-season hybrid frequently yields above the five-ton level with plenty of water and ample fertility. Texas A&M tests and farm reports show 828 to be one of the highest yielding hybrids you can plant.

820
An old reliable, 820 has been a favorite on the high plains for six years, turning in some of the top yields in Texas year after year. This full-season variety is medium height with outstanding stalks and roots.

845
Another new Pioneer brand hybrid, 845 is a medium-maturity variety that yields with most full-season varieties. In the 1967 Texas A&M performance tests, the highest official yield for any variety, any maturity and any test was recorded by 845—a whopping 10,570 pounds per acre.

848
This medium-maturity hybrid rates exceptionally well for standability and easy harvesting. Short, uniform plants have very strong stalks and roots. Open heads are loaded with heavy, red grain. An outstanding yielder for its maturity.

866
A medium-early hybrid, 866 yields along with many later varieties. Its uniform height and good head exertion make it easy to thresh. 866 performs well under dryland or irrigated conditions.

Pioneer has many other high yielding grain sorghum hybrids. Pioneer also has performance-proved seed corn hybrids for grain and silage. See your Pioneer dealer now and pick the variety that's best for you.

Time To Plant Grass

By B. T. KISNER
Soil Conservation Service

If you are planning to plant any grass this year, either for pasture use or in waterways, it's time to get it down.

There may be some question as to what kind of grass to plant and how to plant it.

There are several improved native and imported grasses that are well adapted and suited to the soils and climate of this area—either for dryland or irrigated pasture use.

There are other factors to be considered.

1. The soils and types of grass that are best suited to produce the most forage with minimum treatment.

2. How should it be planted and how much seed is needed to get an adequate stand?

3. The treatment and care of the grass needed until it is established well enough for pasture use.

Each species of grass requires different care during the establishing period.

The big thing to consider is, after the grass is established, how do you graze it and maintain a good stand, and at the same time get the maximum use from it?

Each variety of grass requires different management during the grazing season.

To plant grass you need a good, firm seed bed, a dead litter cover or residue left on the soil's surface for protection, and adequate irrigation arrangement to water the grass until it is established.

Normal planting depth for grass is from 1/4 to 1/2 inches deep, whether it is drilled or planted in rows. The planting date varies from Jan. 1 to July 1, depending on the type of grass and whether it will be irrigated or on dryland.

Information on seed bed preparation, what kind of grass is best suited for the soil, how to plant it, how to care and treat the grass to receive the most from it, may be received by contacting any of the personnel at the Soil Conservation Service office in the courthouse.

LIONS CLUB speakers Wednesday were two outstanding Texas Tech Red Raiders who will be graduating this spring. They were Jim Moylan, left, and Robert Junnell, center, talking with Clem Sorley. The two athletes spoke on the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, to which they belong. Members of the 1969 Wildcat football team were special guests to hear the pair.

COMPUTER AGE
More than 38,000 computer systems were being used in the United States at the beginning of 1967.

Brush Control Campaign Launched

A group of Lamb County farmers and ranchers last week in Lubbock heard the grim facts about brush and its control. Brush now infests more than 82 percent of the state's rangeland and can be aptly labeled as "a green giant choking our land to death."

The Lamb County group, members of the County Livestock Committee, attended the half day session to become more familiar with the new Brush Control and Range Improvement Association which was recently formed to fight brush on a statewide basis.

Attending were: W. E. Mitchell, Johnny Murrell, B. T. Kisner, County Agent Buddy C. Logsdon and Asst. Agent Bobby Brunson.

They will request every farmer and rancher in the county to invest in this intense effort to control brush and improve Texas' rangelands. The investment asked is one cent per acre per year for five years. Any contribution made to the new brush control program is tax deductible.

County Agricultural Agent Buddy C. Logsdon, in describing the new Association, said, "It was formed last November in Abilene as a nonprofit, tax-exempt organization, whose working members (22 directors) will receive no compensation of any kind. It is the result of long-time thinking by directors of the Texas Farm Bureau, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, Texas Farmers Union and Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association as well as by hundreds of farmers and ranchers across the state."

"Much research has been done in controlling brush and improving rangelands," said Logsdon, "but the need is urgent now for cash funds to support additional basic research. That research will be aimed at new breakthroughs in control. And any type of brush that has become an economic liability in our county or in any other county of the state will be studied so that we may learn how to control it."

For administrative purposes, Association directors have chosen the 12 Districts comprising the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of Texas University.

Association directors of District 2 which is composed of the 20 counties of South Plains is W. A. Waldrip, manager of Spade Ranch at Comanche, as chairman of the Association's Range Evaluation Committee. President of the Association is John Matthews of Abilene.

According to Logsdon, money invested in the Association's attack brush will be spent:

To increase productivity.

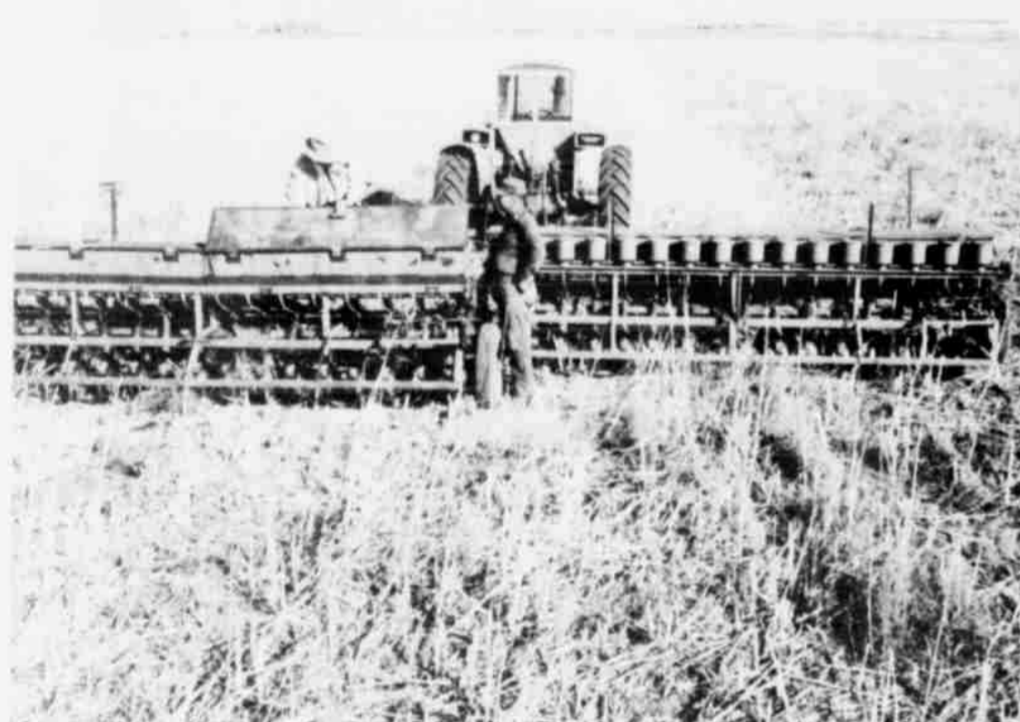

To reduce operating expenses of farms and ranches.

To increase the water to the land and storage facilities throughout the state.

To create more work for the people and the governing bodies throughout the state.

To aid in education of landowners in the management of their rangelands.

The Association's will be made available to universities, research companies and foundations for their research projects that have been approved by the organization's Range Evaluation Committee.

EATING OUT COSTS
Americans spend about $30 billion a year for food and beverages served away from home. About $18 billion of this is spent in restaurants, cafeterias, lunchrooms and refreshment stands. Another $6 billion is spent in institutions such as hospitals, colleges, homes for aged and children and camps. Hotels and motels account for $3 billion and another one billion goes to such places as drug and department stores, delicatessens, movies, private clubs and factories.

Pork Production Studied At Research Foundation

Economics of limited pork production for small operators will be studied in the swine research project initiated this past week at High Plains Research Foundation.

The pork research study indicates the amount of interest that has been generated in pork production on the High Plains area. "And it is hoped that through this study, area bankers and other lending agencies can establish guidelines for advancing necessary financing to aid small area farmers obtain more profit from their sorghum crops", Dr. Tom Longnecker, Foundation director, said in announcing the study project.

The two-fold research study will collect economic data on the operation of the portable, slatted floor pens being constructed by several area firms; maintaining a disease-free environment in a semi-enclosed area and comparison of a feeding ration using the by-products of grain sorghum as a base compared to a straight grain sorghum base ration.

The study will be conducted in two raised, slatted floor pens, one 50-head capacity and a 25-head pen, furnished for the study by the Hamby Company, Plainview, and Central Supply Company, Borger. Purpose of the raised slatted floor is to aid in maintaining sanitary control.

The pigs, 75 head, are from the Jimmy Dean Pig Parlor SPF herd. On date of receipt, they averaged 40 pounds each and were about nine weeks old.

The pens are divided to hold 25 pigs each and, with removable panels on three sides, can provide protection from winter weather. For the summer months, the panels are removed and sprinklers installed under the roof will provide cooling for the feeders.

A problem in controlling disease is to maintain strict patrol of persons visiting the project. This is being accomplished by an electric fence around the perimeter of the area.

Dr. Longnecker said the study was developed to see if a small farmer could increase his grain sorghum profits by feeding pigs in a small operation.

Longnecker said farmers should be able to increase potential sorghum profits $40 to $60 per acre on all grain fed through swine. However, there have been two problems already seen. "One," Dr. Longnecker said, "is the problem of obtaining disease-free pigs and the second problem would be maintaining a disease-free operation."
