

Food production items freed from sales tax

Farmers and ranchers no longer have to pay sales taxes on purchases to be used in the production of food and fiber. Effective July 20, the Texas sales tax will exempt Lamb County rural producers from sales tax on such items as baling wire, supplies, and machinery and equipment," points out Buddy C. Lamb, County Extension Agent with the Texas Agricultural Service.

"However, a state farmer or rancher does not automatically qualify for exemption from the sales tax," notes Logsdon. "Producers must file an exemption certificate with each firm or business with which they deal. These certificates are available from the Comptroller of Public Accounts in Austin or from local branch officer of the Comptroller. To qualify for an exemption, the item purchased must be used exclusively on a farm or ranch. A farm or ranch is defined as land used entirely or partially in the production of crops, livestock or other agricultural products. Home gardens are not considered a farm," explains the Agent. Certain items are exempt without the use of an exemption certificate. These include feed for farm and ranch animals, fertilizer, seeds and annual plants, and animals. Items requiring the use of an exemption certificate include fungicides, herbicides, defoliants, desic-cants, all medications for farm and ranch animals, and machinery and equipment used in food, grass and feed production, including such expendable supplies as hand tools, baling wire, fence wire and posts, gates and storage facilities for bulk commodities. Natural gas or electricity used on farm or ranch is also exempt with the appropriate certificate if used for pumps for livestock or irrigation water, dairy barn operations, welding machines, electric fences, and lights for barns, pens and poultry houses. To request exemption certificates, producers may write or call the Sales Tax Division, Comptroller of Public Accounts, 111 East 7th St., Austin, Texas 78774 (800-292-9687; after Aug. 1, 800-252-5555).

Schultz-Lauer team wins golf tourney

Bob Schultz and Dick Lauer teamed for a blazing seven-under par 64 Sunday to lock up the championship of the Littlefield Country Club Summer partnership golf tourney. The pair from Lubbock shot a first-round score of 66 over the par 71 LCC course to take a six-stroke win over Ed Barnes and Mike Crone of Clovis, who shot 70-66-136. Schultz and Lauer made only one bogey in their two rounds of play. It was the first time the duo had played in a golf tourney together, but both said they planned to team up more often. There was a playoff for third place in the championship flight between Ken Burgess-Roger Thompson of Olton and Alvin and Steve Webb of Littlefield, who both turned in 137 totals. Burgess sunk a 15-foot birdie putt on the first extra hole to win third prize money. Dick Vanlandingham and Scott Massie of Levelland won the first flight with a 75-67-142. In a three-way playoff for second, Glenn Short and Keith Bumpass parred the third hole to beat Rick West and Ronnie Miller of Hale Center. Sandy Wallace and Randy Thomas of Morton dropped out with a bogey on the first hole. All three pairs had 143 totals. Richard Rogers and Andy Rogers of Littlefield captured the second flight with a 76-70. Radney Nichols and Kip Cutshall out of Littlefield were second with a 149, and Littlefield's J. R. Chamberlain and Doc Bowman were third with a 151. The third flight was won by Robert Phillips and Bob Thomas of Levelland with a 155. Brad Johnson and Bill Smart of Morton were second at 156, and winning the playoff for third was Bill Healy-Earnest Mills (158) of Littlefield. They parred the second hole of their playoff with Kenneth Wyatt and Buel Melton of Tulia. The Earth twosome of Bobby Angeley-Eddie Jones won the fourth flight with 162. Benny Hall and Jim Reagan of Littlefield were second at 165, followed by Steve Nieman and Ron Bartley of Canyon at 167. In all 50 golfers were entered in the two-day tourney.

COMPARED TO GRAIN SORGHUM

Angeley says there's more profit in corn

By NILAH RODGERS
Hundreds of Lamb County and area farmers are turning from grain sorghum to corn production. A little simple arithmetic will show why. Corn seed costs more than milo, and harvesting is higher. If you're like Jack Angeley who lives northwest of Earth and has a contract with Frito Lay, that corn has got to be a little dryer (14 percent moisture) so there's a little more chance of it falling. And there is a little additional hauling expenses when he takes the corn to Hereford. But with a guaranteed $6 per hundred price for the corn, that's a pretty good incentive over grain sorghum that sells for $4.55. And with corn usually making at least 1,000 pounds more per acre than sorghum and bringing 15 to 20 cents more per hundred on the open market, it is easy to see why corn production is up so much on the High Plains. If another reason is needed, add the problem green bugs in sorghum has created the past several years. "Green bugs have about run the maize growers out," Angeley said. Angeley made the switch from sorghum to corn seven or eight years ago, and he has been contracting to Frito Lay for five years. He says it doesn't cost any more to grow corn than it does sorghum if you're trying for high yields. The corn grows off fast and keeps down Johnson grass, and it threshes cleaner. Neighbors point to Angeley as a typically successful farmer. Angeley grew up on a farm and worked for Oliver Tunnell the first year he was married.

CORN MAKES more profit per acre for farmers who traditionally grew grain sorghum until a few years ago. After several years of greenbug problems, many farmers opted for corn and quit growing milo. Here Jack Angeley adjusts his irrigation system. [Staff Photo] See ANGELEY, Page 2

At the end of that year, he borrowed money to buy an M Farmall tractor and rented 160 acres. The Angeleys now live in a lovely brick home, and own 320 acres of the 1,000 acres of good irrigated land they farm in the Lazbuddie community. Angeley says he does not consider himself a minimum tillage farmer, but he does conserve water. Even in this portion of Lamb and Castro Counties the water table is dropping about three feet a year. Angeley says the cheapest water he can pump is with his lake pump. He waters 25 acres of corn with runoff rain and tail water that goes into a playa lake northeast of his house. Because the water is warmer than underground water, the crop doesn't slow down. He has run as many as 30 rows at a time, and it takes very little fuel to pump the water 10 to 15 feet compared to bringing it up from 230 to 240 feet to the surface. Originally Angeley ran the water back underground through a regular irrigation pump, but this pumped so much sand it wore the bowls out in three years. Because of this expense he decided to put in the lake pump. Except for perforated pipe and the weeds and the grass that grow in the lake, the water isn't filtered at all. All-Stars beat Morton

Two explosive innings carried the Littlefield Little League All-stars to a 10-3 win over Morton Tuesday night. Littlefield will host the winner of the Borger district tournament next week. The game has tentatively been set for Monday night. The winner of the contest earns the right to advance to the state tournament. The Wildcats tallied five times in the opening frame and added four more in the fourth to salt away the victory. In the first inning Mike Williams reached base on an error. Todd Butler followed with a single. Bobby Martinez and Scott Yarbrough were issued free passes. Kerry Rainbolt and Clark Pylant got on on errors. James Randal and Williams singled before Morton could retire the side. With the five run outburst Littlefield took control of the game. The four run rally in the fourth inning gave the 'Cats a 9-0 advantage and settled the issue. Randal and Mike Williams singled and Randy Healy walked to load the bases. Butler knocked in two runs with a single and Martinez also plated two runs by slapping a double off the rightcenterfield fence. Morton scored all its runs in the fifth inning. Bracker opened the inning by blasting a home run. Rainbolt hit the next batter before giving up a single. A pop-up near second base was misplayed putting Littlefield further in the hole. A single netted Morton their third run of the inning. With one out and runners on first and second, the batter bounced to shortstop Healy. Healy fielded the ball near the baseline, tagged the runner headed for third and then fired to second to complete the inning ending double play. Randal socked a home run in bottom of the fifth to up the score to 10-3. In final frame, Healy again made a defensive gem. The lead-off batter grounded a ball between second and third. Healy made a great stop and fired off-balance to the first baseman Brian Gregory. Gregory took the off-target throw six feet from the bag and dove to first for the put-out only inches ahead of the batter. Rainbolt retired the last two Morton batters without difficulty. For the night Rainbolt struck out nine.

Occupational Safety and Health Administration, under the United States Department of Labor, is in the process of writing regulations whereby working on farms and ranches to have toilet facilities within a five minute walk of where they are. An average sized person can walk 1/4 of a mile in five minutes. This means that on a 30 section farm you would have to build 120 toilet facilities complete with septic tank and proper storage. They will also have to provide proper toilet paper holders and have the doors to insure privacy. I think it would be necessary, for ranches covered with brush, to have a flag pole at the toilet site so that a worker could zero it in on his way back. Otherwise, he might get lost and be fined for noncompliance. The fact that all of this will cost a big pot of money--no pun intended--I am worried about some aspects. It seems to me that this is to discriminate against short-legged people who can't walk a third of a mile in five minutes. Will the regulations have to work the short-legged people closer to the toilet, or will it be necessary to have a walking stick or crutches before you hire a new worker? Can you gauge just how far a worker can walk to a toilet? See further complications in the next issue. Some of the crew may be getting water and come up with some gyp. See SHOOTIN', Page 2

Hail Suppression project fails at Boulder, Colo.

BOULDER, Colo. — U.S. scientists are dissatisfied with their attempts at breaking up crop-damaging hailstorms and are reducing their efforts after four expensive years of testing.

Scientists from the National Center for Atmospheric Research (NCAR) in Boulder spent $15 million in cloud seeding over "Hail Alley," an oval-shaped area where Colorado, Nebraska and Wyoming state lines converge. The area reportedly has the heaviest hail in the nation.

Clouds were saturated with silver iodide chemicals in an attempt to break them up or convert hail particles to rain.

But it turned out that on the average more hail fell from clouds that were seeded, rather than less, data indicated.

In 1972, four times as much hail fell from seeded clouds as from unseeded. In 1973, researchers were more optimistic, because hail was cut by half. But in 1974, three times as much hail fell from seeded clouds as unseeded.

There wasn't any regular seeding in 1975, and there isn't any regular program this summer either.

"After fighting this for several years, frankly, we're a bit discouraged," said John Firor, director of NCAR.

"We don't know if we made more hail, and we don't know if we made less," he said.

Hail causes an estimated $700 million in damage, mostly to crops, each year nationally.

Hail suppression has been a controversial topic between South Plains dryland farmers and farmers with irrigated property for several years.

Dryland farmers claim hail suppression efforts reduce rainfall, while farmers with irrigated land support suppression efforts to fight crop-destroying hail.

The argument has been carried to the courts and to the state Water Development Board.

In 1974, 127 dryland farmers took the issue to the 154th District Court to attempt to stop cloud seeding operations in West Texas. The farmers lost their suit after a lengthy trial.

Several months ago another group of farmers gave vehement testimony at a Texas Water Development Board hearing concerning permit applications by two companies seeking to modify weather over the South Plains.

The board granted the permits for one year.

Firor said one hailstorm may naturally produce 10 times more hail than another, and scientists can't predict yet which ones will be the most damaging.

"Let's say we don't seed one storm and it turns out to be small, without much hail. Then maybe we'll seed the next one. Perhaps it started out to be four times bigger than the first. And we seeded it and it laid down only three times as much hail. We would have done a good job, but we have no way of knowing that," Firor said.

NCAR's computer studies show only there is a 95 percent probability the scientists didn't reduce hail by more than 60 per cent or increase the amount by more than 500 per cent.

He said if 100 storms could be seeded, or better yet, 1,000, scientists could be confident of their results, but even in Hail Alley there are not that many seeding opportunities.

Firor confirmed that Soviet scientists claim 80 to 90 per cent reductions in hail using the same method in a similar climate region. But he pointed out that hailstorms on the high plains are significantly different in the way they begin. Soviet hail begins as a frozen raindrop, and is tossed about in storms until it grows as a stone. High plains hailstones often start as snowflakes, Firor said.

It may be, he said, that the difference in the process means that the seeding has to be done sooner, more often, or at a different place in the cloud.

"It's back to the drawing boards for us," he said.

The U.S. program caused hours of debate among researchers last fall. David Atlas, former director of the hail project, quit in frustration over seemingly endless debate and lack of research action. He remained at NCAR as a scientist, however.

Donald Veal was named to replace him, and is leading a broad study of thunderstorms now, with nothing more than occasional testing seedings.

At times 100 workers have taken part in the hail suppression projects, including university researchers.

Angeley favors corn

the water to smell when he first starts pumping, but Angeley finds this the only drawbacks.

Angeley says farming has become a 13-month job that must be crowded in 12. He runs a shedder and discs right behind the combine, then spreads 200 pounds of 5-30-10 with a spreader truck and discs this in. He breaks 10 to 12 inches or chisels eight to 10 inches, lists, pre-waters until the tops of the beds are wet, and plants.

He plants 26,000 seed per acre and aims for 21 to 22,000 plants per acre. After planting he puts on 250 pounds of nitrogen per acre in anhydrous ammonia form, runs out the water furrows and sprays with one and one-half pounds Lorox at the base of the stalk to fight crabgrass. Previously he was using Atrex but this didn't control grass at the low one pound rate he used. "And I'll have to wait and see if the Lorox keeps the crab grass out of the middles after we water," Angeley added.

This year he put on Furadane systemic insecticide when he planted. When he doesn't use the systemic, he sprays it on when the corn is in the whorl or when it starts tasseling. Rotary hoes and a rolling cultivator keeps the crop clean. He usually over the crop four times after planting. "I try to keep the crop from getting out," he said. "I usually irrigate more times after pre-watering than the first time just before it tassels. I water the last time at the last. This keeps the stalks sturdy. It makes it combine better. If you get dry after the hard dent, the mites will sap the moisture out of the stalk and it will fall."

Angeley is like most farmers who comes to the increasing amount of money he spends doing paper work. He has to keep books to know what stand financially so you can give information to your banker. "I use a CPA, but I still spend 30 days at my desk doing paper work each month. Some months I'm spring and fall I have to spend weeks out of every month or two added."

Besides the required paper work Angeley plots each field and uses fertilizers applications and farming practices for his own information.

"I learn from trial and error, year after year," Angeley concluded. "This year is different."

CLIPS & TIPS

By JOELLA LOVVORN

THESE ARE some additional recipes which were given to me by Marjorie Smith, instructor of the Expanded Nutrition Program in Littlefield, who is teaching the program to help homemakers stretch their budgets while serving nutritious meals.

CALIFORNIA CARROT CAKE
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. salt
2 tps. ground cinnamon
1 1/2 cups vegetable oil
2 cups sugar
5 eggs
3 cups shredded carrots, firmly packed
GLAZE:
2 lemons
1/2 cup confectioners' sugar

Preheat oven to 350°F. Grease 10-inch Bundt pan; dust lightly with flour, tapping out excess. Set aside. Sift together into medium bowl flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and cinnamon; set aside. In large bowl, combine oil and sugar. Beat until blended.

Add one egg at a time, beating well after each addition. Add flour mixture, one third at a time, stirring well after each addition. Stir in shredded carrots. Spoon batter into prepared pan. Bake 70 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Top will be firm and spring back when lightly touched; edges will have begun to pull away from sides of pan. Let cool in pan on wire rack for 15 minutes. Loosen sides of cake from pan with knife; remove. Let cool on wire rack.

TO MAKE GLAZE: Squeeze enough lemon juice to make two tablespoons. Combine juice with confectioners' sugar until smooth. Spoon lemon glaze on cake and let drizzle down the sides.

BEAN CHOWDER

For 6 cups Chowder, you need:
4 cups water
1 cup dry pea [navy] beans [other dry beans or split peas can be used instead of pea beans]
1 tsp. salt
2 medium-size carrots
1 small onion
1 tall can evaporated milk [13 fluid ounces]
Few drops hot pepper sauce, if you like
Salt and pepper to taste
1. Wash beans. Add to water.
2. Bring to a boil. Boil 2 minutes.
3. Remove pan from heat. Cover pan. Let stand 1 hour.
4. Add salt to beans. Cover pan. Cook beans slowly until almost tender, 45 minutes to 1 1/2 hours.
5. Slice carrots thin and chop onion. Add to beans. Cover pan. Cook 15 minutes longer.

FOOD TIP

This bean mixture can be cooked through step 5 the night before, cooled, and then stored in the refrigerator.

The next day the remaining ingredients can be added (Step 6) and the Chowder heated for serving.

6. Add a few drops hot pepper sauce, and if you like, and add salt and pepper to taste. Stir in evaporated milk. Heat, but do not boil.

FOR VARIETY

Choose dresses with multiple possibilities for different looks. Uncluttered necklines are adaptable to various scarves and jewelry, while undefined waistlines can be changed with different belts and scarves. Layer dresses and jumpers over pants, T-shirts, blouses, turtle-necks or other compatible dresses.

Two local County youths attending 4-H Congress

Texas' 1976 4-H Congress, now underway in Austin, has attracted two 4-H members from Lamb County, says Buddy C. Logsdon County Extension Agent.

Participating are Rodney Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Landon Smith of Olton and Debbie Spencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barton Spencer of Littlefield. Approximately 600 participants were expected.

Local 4-H'ers and others around the state will actually get involved in the law-making process, Logsdon adds. Highlighting the Congress will be a tour of the State Capitol Building and involvement in presenting a bill before the Texas legislature, as well as discussions by a special panel and addresses by two keynote.

Theme for 4-H Congress is "We The People..."

"To orient the 4-H members to the legislature process, delegates will be divided into a senate group and a representative group, and will actually simulate how legislation takes place," Logsdon explains.

"Youth delegates will discuss various issues dealing with youth and will draft bills, debate and vote on them. The bills will be forwarded to the Governor for signing," adds Logsdon.

Keynoters for the Congress will be Reagan Brown, special assistant to Governor Briscoe, and State Rep.

Sarah Weddington of Austin.

Panelists who will discuss "Three Pillars of Texas State Government" will include Secretary of State Mark White, State Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris and Judge Thomas M. Reavley of the Texas Supreme Court.

Concluding the 4-H Congress will be installation of the Texas 4-H Council for 1976-77. Members include a chairman and vice chairman of each of the 14 Extension Service district councils plus four delegates-at-large.

State 4-H Council members serve as the governing body of 4-H and provide leadership for programs and activities.

Letters to the editor

I would like to offer the other side of the story to the "Bicentennial blow-out." It wasn't actually as bad as your paper made out that it was. It was an enjoyable night up until the time we were asked to leave.

The incident of the lady being hit was the only incident that I thought spoiled the night for a lot of people who were enjoying themselves. Beside the fact that we were being treated like convicts. I personally knew nothing about anyone skinny dipping, or saw anyone with a weapon, beside the police. And as for being able to "smell dope a quarter of a mile off," the festival was held on the far north-eastern edge of the lake, and the wind was out of the south. Mr. McNeese must have been misunderstood. He must have meant you could see them smoking that dope for a mile off or something!

I would like to say, Mrs. Sawyer, I'm sorry you got hit, and I'm sorry that we weren't allowed to have a good time.

I would also like to say I thought it was mishandled. What would have happened if there would have been a riot. Seem like you don't play with fire. Thank you the "police" for not killing anybody.

Truthfully yours,

Gardening experts point out that one of the commonest faults is mowing your lawn too seldom. In such cases the grass suffers a much greater shock because so much more is cut off at one time.

Moseley-McLarty vows repeated in ceremony

Double-ring wedding vows were pledged between Rhonda Kim Moseley of Slaton and Randy Edgar McLarty of Rt. 1, Littlefield Sunday evening, July 25, in the First Baptist Church of Slaton.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Moseley of Route 2, Slaton and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McLarty of Anton.

Officiating for the reading of the vows was Rev. J. L. Cartrite, pastor of the Slaton church, as the couple stood before an altar centered with a large candelabra of 50 candles which was draped with English Ivy and Smilax with 56 candles on ivy-intertwined candelabras cascading down each side and at the base of cathedral effect were two spiral candelabras of 34 candles. The eternal candle stood on the "Remembrance of Me" table.

Edward Moseley presented his daughter for marriage. She wore a floor-length white Victorian gown of white organza and chantilly lace, designed with a moulded bodice featuring high wedding band neckline edged in Chantilly lace flowerettes. The deep V yoke accented bodice was enriched with Chantilly lace. Her long puffed sleeves were gathered at the wrists, and her full dundrell skirt fell from crescent waistline. The entire hemline was encircled by two deep ruffles and the skirt swept to form a full chapel train. A Chantilly lace capulet with three tiers of imported silk illusion, each edged in Chantilly lace flowerlets, fell to form an altar-length veil.

She carried a cascading bouquet of white bridal wreath blossoms and yellow silk roses with cascading white pekee ribbon with love knots.

Rheda Moseley of Slaton was maid of honor and Mrs. David A. Roberson of Slaton served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Trena Parsons of Dallas and Shannon Wallace of Lubbock.

They wore full-length gowns of yellow and white dotted Swiss, with long full sleeves and stand-up collars trimmed in lace. They carried nosegays of yellow silk roses.

Kristi McLarty of Lubbock and Nedra Bray of Lorenzo were flower girls.

Sam Wallace of Lubbock was ring bearer.

Serving as best man was Alan James of Anton. Groomsmen were Harvey McLarty of Anton, Ronald McInroe of Levelland and Rick Corley of Lamesa.

Ushering the guests to their pews were David Robertson of Slaton, Jack Parsons of Dallas and Danny Fisher of Lubbock.

Among musical selections presented was "The Lord's Prayer," with Cecil Bolton of Lubbock playing the organ and Kevin Lancaster of Amarillo playing the violin.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Moseley wore an aqua blue full-length dress with long full, sheer sleeves and a white inset in front.

Mrs. McLarty wore a full-length, pastel dress featuring a V neckline, short bell sleeves and full skirt.

Following the wedding, a reception was served in the fellowship hall of the church. Joy Cartrite of Slaton was in charge of the reception. Serving the cake was Tyra Carter of Lubbock, and at the punch bowl was Conzada Bray of Lorenzo.

For their wedding trip to Orlando, Fla., the new bride chose to wear a red and white knit sun dress.

The bride is a student at Texas Tech University, and the groom graduated from South Plains College in 1973.

They will reside on Route 1, Littlefield.

Mrs. H. Watson CF chairman

"Little more than a decade ago the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation was working to keep C/F youngsters alive long enough to start school. Now we are trying to help some of these same patients, who have grown to young adulthood, enter college or find jobs."

These encouraging words came from Mrs. H. Watson, of Springlake, as she accepted the chairmanship of the 1976 "Kiss A Baby Campaign." "Longevity has increased every year because of earlier diagnosis and progress on research and cure", said our chairman. "It is efforts such as these that we support by volunteering for and contributing to the Kiss A Baby Campaign." This year's campaign begins with a Door-to-Door march in September. When a C/F marcher knocks on your door, give as generously as you are able," she said. Remember that even today, with the improvements research and care have brought, there is no cure for this inherited, genetic disease. It is still destroying lungs, digestion and lives."

The bride's table laid with white cloth was centered by a silver candle arrangement encircled with white carnations with greenery and baby's breath. The three-tiered heart-shaped cake, iced in white, was decorated with blue flowers.

Mrs. John Dayton of Springlake, Mrs. Randy Kelley of Farwell, and Mrs. Becky Washington of Austin served cake, punch and coffee from silver appointments.

For a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M. the bride selected a three-piece beige pant suit, with beige accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Springlake-Earth High School and West Texas State University. For the past three years she has been employed as Special Education Teacher at Friona.

Myers is a graduate of Muleshoe High School and attended West Texas State University. He is employed as auctioneer at Muleshoe Livestock Auction and Tulia Livestock Auction and is associated with his father in the cattle business.

The newlyweds are at home in Muleshoe.

Kelley, was complimented with a pre-nuptial courtesies Saturday, July 17, in the home of Mrs. M. G. Kellar.

In the receiving line were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Gene Gaston, and Mrs. Guy F. Kelley, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Miss Roberta Gaston and Miss Kim Kelley registered guests at a table covered with a floor length white lace cloth. The table was decorated with an arrangement of pastel flowers.

The grandmothers, Mrs. Roberta Beck, Mrs. Guy Kelley and Mrs. Bud Gooch were presented with corsages made by the hostess from flowers out of her garden.

The bride-elect, Mrs. Gaston and Mrs. Guy F. Kelley were presented corsages formed from ribbon rosettes and kitchen gadgets.

The refreshment table was laid with a floor-length white lace tablecloth. The centerpiece was formed by an arrangement of multi-colored daisies and gladiolas, blue candles and a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Akin Dhirapartna and Misses Doris Schwertner, Pam Holland and Kleta Haberer served punch and individual cake squares iced in white and decorated with miniature rainbows. Crystal appointments were used.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Roberta Beck of Munday, Mmes. T. L. Gleason, Eulan Parham and John Neil Agee, all of Lubbock; Mrs. Dick West of Sudan; Mrs. Jack Seay and Lu Layne of Lubbock and Miss Doris Schwertner of Floydada.

SPOTLIGHT ON BUSINESS

LITTLEFIELD...THE TOTAL CITY
PATRONIZE THESE LITTLEFIELD BUSINESSES

FEATURING THE CACTUS SQUARE RESTAURANTS

Offering Littlefield and area residents a double choice for top-notch dining enjoyment, the Sagebrush Inn and Chaparral Restaurant are quickly becoming a local eating favorite.

just too much for him to pass up."

The Sagebrush Inn was built from scratch, while remodeling turned the old Dairy Mart into the tidy little Chaparral.

It was Mike's idea to start the buffet line that has become the Sagebrush trademark. For $2.39 on weekdays (except Mondays, when it is closed), customers are treated to all they can eat from a list that could include steak, pork chops, chicken, meat loaf, fish, stew, a choice of four or five vegetables, a salad bar, hot rolls and fruit cobbler. The Sunday buffet is slightly more expensive, but features ham, turkey and dressing and beef tips.

Each week night a different main dish is served "all you can eat" style. On Tuesdays there's chicken, Wednesdays a Mexican food selection, Thursday is steak night and Friday, of course, there is fish and shrimp. Weekends are varied and orders cooked to please.

A staff of 30 offers quality service. The chef is Earl Henry, who has worked in restaurants in Littlefield for many years and knows just what local tastes desires.

There is a party room in the Sagebrush Inn that will seat 28-30 and is available upon request. Hours for the Sagebrush are 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 5 to 10 p.m. The Chaparral is open 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. and closed Wednesdays.

The Sagebrush Inn is known for its excellent buffet and nightly specials, as well as a first-rate steakhouse.

The Chaparral Restaurant is more on the line of a short-order cafe, specializing in hot and cold sandwiches, steak fingers and a complete fountain. There is also a handy drive-in window for quick service without leaving your car.

Frank Sharp brings 35 years of experience into the twin businesses, located side-by-side at 1020 W. 10th across from the high school. He has been an institutional food salesman that length of time—the last several years working out of Lubbock.

"It was always Dad's dream to own a nice, classy steakhouse," says son Mike, who manages the Cactus Square restaurants. "When things opened up in Littlefield, it was

GOD'S FIVE MINUTES

"CREDO"
I believe that any man's life will be filled with constant encouragement and unexpected joy if he makes up his mind to do his dead level best every day at every responsibility his maker assigns him.
I believe that the real joy of success comes only when we reach toward the highest possible ethical behavior in all our dealings with God and man.
I believe that my welfare in this life and in the next depends entirely upon my relationship with others and with my God.
—Paul M. Stevens
