Band Director, Six Others Hired At Board Meeting

The hiring of a high school band director, plus six other instructors, highlighted the regularly scheduled meeting of the Littlefield School Board of Trustees Monday night in the High School Cafeteria area.

Resignations were also accepted from six instructors.

Tom SoRelle, presently band director at Springlake-Earth, accepted the position after the board went into executive session to discuss two applicants which the board had earlier interviewed.

On a 6-1 vote, with Trustee Mickey Ratliff voting against, the board set SoRelle's salary at $2,350 above the state base on a one-year contract with the total being $10,620. A band director for junior high is expected to be hired in the near future as Superintendent-elect Jack York stated he had several applicants, and SoRelle mentioned he knew some good candidates.

Other personnel employed and their teaching assignments are Mrs. Helen Wheeler, kindergarten; Will Pylant, Elementary II; Linda Harbin, Home Economics at Junior High; Carolyn Hooper, first grade; Linda Evans, fourth grade; and Buddy Comer, freshman coach.

Resignations were formally accepted from Joe Brock, Lucille Hulse, Mrs. Dot Simmons Bruce, Mrs. Evelyn Holt, Mrs. W. H. McCowan and Mrs. Koma Sue Donworth.

In other action, the board voted to reverse a decision made at the May board meeting concerning who is to handle the district's accounting for next year. The board had voted in May to allow the Education Service Center in Lubbock to handle accounting procedures. Calvin Price, local CPA who had the contract for accounting this past school year, appeared before the board and presented a new format for accounting procedures. On a motion by Ratliff and a second by Benny Zahn, the board voted unanimously to retain Price's firm for the '74-75 school year.

The board also touched briefly on exemptions of homesteads that was also discussed at the May meeting.

Carlton Parker, tax assessor-collector, stated that the school could possibly have 500 applicants for the exemption and the dollar amount could reach approximately $20,000.

In other old business, Parker also stated that state laws prevented the First National Bank (the official school depository) from loaning money using delinquent taxes as collateral unless the school district states in an affidavit that the taxes are collectable in a certain period of time. "And if we could do that," Parker added, "we would collect them and there would be no need to borrow the money."

The meeting was attended by a dozen citizens, but as one of them exclaimed, "they (the board) may as well be in closed session all the time because with the roar of the air conditioners, I couldn't hear a dang thing."

Area Organizations To Meet Tonight

An open meeting for all members of the Chamber of Commerce, representatives of all organizations in the county, or any other interested persons, will be held tonight at 8 in the Willy Room of Lamb County Electric Co-op.

Several items of business that would affect Littlefield and the surrounding trade area will be discussed.

Bill Payne Elected To State C-C Board

W. M. "Bill" Payne, executive vice-president of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, was elected to the eight-man board of directors of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Association. The action came during the association's summer meeting in Kerrville.

Payne, who has been the Chamber manager here for three years, also received a 10-year pin as a member of the state organization.

The meeting will be a general report meeting of activities already underway, and some planning for upcoming events will be made.

The current C-C membership drive will be discussed.

Reports will be presented from the various divisions of the Chamber of Commerce, and the new members will be recognized.

Festivities Days and plans for the annual event will be discussed. All organizations that wish to operate booths or present a portion of the program are urged to attend and add ideas to the discussion.

Industry, and prospects for industry in this area will be discussed. Anyone with an idea for industry may present that idea during that portion of the evening's schedule.

Questions will be answered on the new commemorative coins which will be distributed in August. Jim Tucker of Hereford, a member of the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors there, will speak. According to Bill Payne, C-C manager, "The public is invited and we encourage all persons to attend."

ACTION DELAYED

Commissioners 'Study' Agriculture Center

By WADE WARREN

A long-proposed Lamb County Agriculture Center in Littlefield was again delayed in commissioner's court here Monday afternoon due to the "absence of a commissioner."

Commissioners refused to make a commitment on a county-wide agriculture building to be located at the county showbarn grounds in Littlefield. But earlier the same day the commissioners accepted a bid for a $31,000 show barn building at Olton which had not come up in any previous commissioner's court minutes.

Five members from the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture met with the commissioner's court Monday after lunch to submit a plan for a proposed Lamb County Agriculture Center to be built on the stock show grounds in Littlefield.

Commissioners Jack Peel, T. L. "Buddy" Free and Hubert Dykes told C-C directors Rad Richardson, Bert Wallace, Warren Dayton, Tom Tollett and Wade Warren that they hesitated to take any action without all of the commissioner's present.

Olton commissioner A. J. Spain was not present because he had open heart surgery in Lubbock Thursday.

However, the commissioners and county judge had opened bids at 10 Monday morning and accepted the $31,000 bid made by Tusha Buildings, Inc. of Lubbock to construct a county building in Olton. All three commissioners voted for construction of the 75' x 40' Olton facility.

Buddy Free made the motion and Jack Peel seconded the acceptance of the bid.

In not making a commitment to the C-CA directors, the commissioners said they thought all the commissioners should be present, even though three commissioner form a quorum.

None of the C-CA directors were informed of the acceptance of the bid on the Olton facility by the court Monday morning, and no one knew of the action taken by the court until Tuesday when the commissioner's court minutes were filed.

In another motion, commissioners voted to sell at public auction an Army-type barracks building 100' x 20' which is located west of the Olton FFA and 4-H showbarns.

During the same meeting the court voted to pay $10 for the three lots where the present show barn is located and three other lots across the alley from the FFA display building since the county must own property before county funds can be used for construction of facilities.

In a special called meeting in Olton on April 18, eight Olton board of directors of the Olton FFA, FFA and 4-H Stock Show, two Olton High instructors and A. J. Spain discussed the deed of this property and the new building and voted to hire a Littlefield attorney to handle the legal work and necessary signing of papers to close the contract with the commissioner's court.

The Littlefield C-CA directors and representatives have been discussing a proposed county agriculture center with the commissioner's court for many months. The Chamber took Judge Sides to Friona to see the facilities there, and two cars were furnished to take the judge and all the commissioner to Crane and Stanton in early March to check the buildings there.

Proposed facilities for the building in Lamb County call for a 120' x 120' steel pre-fab building with approximately 10,000 feet of usable space with kitchen and restroom facilities. The building calls for a concrete floor and open space which could be used for an arena for stock shows, county-wide or community wide gatherings, chamber banquets, reunions, square dancing or any type meeting or activity such as those held in the community center. Approximate cost of the building is estimated at $175,000.

Chamber directors pointed out that a building with more room than is presently available here is needed for conventions and activities such as Festivities Days. The county agent's office has been wanting such a facility for years so that Littlefield could attract the national hog show and other agriculture shows.

The last plan submitted to the court called for office space for the county agent, assistant county agent and home demonstration agent, a conference room, and kitchen and restroom facilities. The court had asked the C-CA to furnish the equipment for the kitchen and auditorium.

The Chamber directors presented a letter from C-CA President J. L. Marcum to the court Monday afternoon stating that the Littlefield C-CA agreed to promote fund raising activities in connection with Lamb County civic and fraternal organizations and raise sufficient monies to assure adequate furnishings for the kitchen and auditorium for the proposed structure.

Chamber board members who have been working on the proposed County Agriculture Center over the past several months expressed resentment at the Monday action.

One C-CA board member said the commissioner's court didn't hesitate or hassle over spending $31,000 for the Olton facility but wouldn't even talk to them about a facility here which would be used by the entire county.

A commissioner stated that one reason in delaying the action was that "we have to watch our expenses and the little money that we now have." A check of the financial records however, indicates that Lamb County now has $365,703.38 on time deposits alone.

The patient lay limp under white sheets in a hospital bed. A young woman in white tunic and cap felt the patient's wrist for a sign of a pulse and pressed a stethoscope against his chest to listen for a heart beat.

The patient is in reality, a mannequin in a simulated hospital ward at South Plains College. The lifelike object is a learning tool for the students enrolled in SPC's vocational nursing program of which Littlefield hospitals participate in real-life projects.

The vocational nursing program is now in its third year as a pilot project established by the Texas Education Agency and the Texas Vocational Board of Nurses, said Mrs. Helen Brown, program director at SPC. Mrs. Barbara Bennett is assistant director.

The only program of its kind in Texas, the vocational nursing project offers 27 weeks of classroom and laboratory instruction at South Plains College and 23 weeks of clinical experience in area hospitals. Classroom and laboratory work in the program is divided into three phases, with one week of observation in an affiliated hospital following each phase.

The 27 weeks spent in the classroom and school lab is classified as pre-clinical, Mrs. Brown said. Courses in this phase include anatomy and physiology, mental health and mental illness, disease control and prevention, vocational nursing skills, pharmacology, personal and vocational adjustment, nutrition, normal growth and development and geriatrics.

The vocational nursing laboratory, located in the Technical Arts Building on campus, has equipment similar to that found in a hospital. And hot water bottles, ice collars, instant ice packs which become cold through chemical reactions, orthopedic equipment and other supplies fill a storage room in the back of the lab.

Students learn to take temperature, blood pressure, listen to heart beats and other basic nursing skills while practicing on two adult and two infant mannequins. One of the infants has been placed in an incubator, where students learn to regulate the mechanism's temperature control.

There also is a library of films used in lab work on such subjects as bedmaking procedures and an introduction to blood. Students who miss a film or want to review it can watch it in one of two study carrels in the lab. The carrels are equipped with cassette tape players, headphones and a small screen.

After completing their academic work, the nursing students receive their caps and pins and begin a 40-hour work week in one of six area hospitals.

Hospitals served include Cook Memorial Hospital in Levelland, West Plains Hospital in Muleshoe, Cochran County Memorial Hospital in Morton, Littlefield Hospital and Clinic and Medical Arts Clinic, both in Littlefield, and University Hospital in Lubbock.

Through their work in hospitals, nursing students at South Plains College receive experience in medical and surgical nursing, maternity and newborn nursing, pediatrics and administration of medicines, Mrs. Brown said.

Prospective nurses from SPC working in area hospitals may be recognized by their white tunics with blue and orange stripes (the school colors) on one side and a cap emblazoned with the school patch.

Students completing the 12-month program receive a certificate of proficiency from the college. The certificate qualifies the graduate to take the examination given by the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners. Those passing the state exam will be issued a license qualifying them to practice as a Licensed Vocational Nurse (LVN).

Mrs. Brown said that opportunities in the vocational nursing field are opening up in schools and other public institutions. She said that many of the graduates of the vocational nursing program at SPC are now working at medical facilities in Levelland, Littlefield, Lubbock, Lockney and Morton. Some have gone on to become registered nurses, she added.

High school students interested in the vocational nursing program at SPC should contact either the counseling or nursing staff to set up an appointment for a pre-entrance examination. The test is usually given on the first and third Mondays of each month, Mrs. Brown said.

Mrs. Brown will interview each applicant who successfully completes the pre-entrance test and provide them with application forms.

Registration for the fall 1974 vocational nursing class is scheduled for Aug. 26-27 with classes beginning on Aug. 28. Mrs. Brown urged students to apply at an early date if they are interested in the program.

Junior Band Camp Slated At SPC

training in a school band, Nowlin said. Classes for the five-day camp will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building at SPC.

Camp participants will receive instruction in band, music history and appreciation and instrumental music. Twirling also will be offered, as will private instrumental instruction. Supervised recreation also is included in the camp program.

This year, in anticipation of a large enrollment, the camp will be divided into two bands. Band I will be for first year students and Band II will include second and third year students. At the conclusion of the camp, a concert will be presented at 3 p.m. June 21 by all camp participants. The concert will be open to the public without charge.

ENJOY A GREAT WESTERN TRADITION THIS SUMMER.

Food cooked outdoors over an open fire... is one of the West's great traditions. Fresh air, open flame and the aroma of good, hearty food combine to make a meal an experience.

Start your own cookout tradition this summer... with a convenient, dependable gas grill from Pioneer Natural Gas. You get the same delicious, outdoor taste as with a charcoal grill — but without the fuss and bother.

Chances are you'll be spending more time at home... why not arrange to make that time more enjoyable with the addition of a gas grill to your patio. Call Pioneer or ask any Pioneer employee for information on a complete line of gas grills.

A gas grill is a natural for the Natural Energy Home.

By moving the cooking to the patio, you move the heat out of the house and thereby ease the load on your air conditioning system. Consequently, a gas grill can save money and conserve energy.

Olton Lions Sweetheart Making Tour Of Canada

OLTON—Lions Club Sweetheart, Miss Chesna Dickenson, left Lubbock Wednesday morning for a flight to Detroit, Mich., the first leg of her journey to Canada.

Miss Dickenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dickenson Jr., will not only represent Olton Lions Club on this trip, according to Leon Noack local chairman of the Youth Exchange Program for the organization, but "will be a representative of the Olton Community, the people of Texas and the United States of America."

"And living in the home of her Canadian host family, her goal will be to learn how the people live, work and play, and to promote better international relations. For this important mission, our exchange students are very carefully screened and chosen."

At the airport to see her off Wednesday were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dickenson Jr., Lion Boss Doug Goen and a friend, Miss Martha Smyth.

Upon arrival in Detroit about noon, a four and one-half hour charter bus trip, terminating in Blyth, Ontario, Canada, delivered the exchange students to their pre-assigned destination.

In Blyth, Miss Dickenson was met by her hosts, the Ralph Pearson family of Brussels, Ont. Sidetrips and other features of Canadian hospitality will be courtesies of the host family. Miss Dickenson will probably be gone six weeks.

Leslie Holladay Patterson Achieves 'First' Honor

Mrs. Leslie Holladay Patterson, granddaughter of Mrs. R. H. Campbell of Amherst, recently presented a research paper to the Instructional Communication Division of the International Communication Association (ICA) Convention in New Orleans, La.

A graduate student of Stephen F. Austin State College, Mrs. Patterson was the first communication graduate student to present a paper to a national convention.

Papers were competitively judged and selection of her paper, said Dr. W. G. Powers, assistant professor of communications at SFA, "exemplifies a quality piece of scholarship."

Mrs. Patterson's paper investigated the effects of the traditional and learner input approaches to education in student comprehension and attitude toward learning task. Traditional approach utilizes the teacher-classroom method and learner input approach to education provides behavior objectives, alternate learner activities and self-pacing opportunities.

The paper validated some of the concepts in use in education today, in particular, learner input, Mrs. Patterson says.

"There is a lot of noise today for innovations in schools, but none of these have been validated," she says.

Results from her research tests indicated that the learner input approach to education was as effective as the traditional method, but within the limits of her experiment, was not more effective.

Mrs. Patterson concluded from her findings that if current trends in education are towards learner decision making, then researchers need to look more closely at them by experimentally validating these methods.

The group sang "America" and "Faith of Our Fathers."

Mrs. Addie Abernathy, president, presided over a short business meeting. The next meeting will be July 5th.

Linda Williams scored six points for the losers while Christi Mixon tossed in two and Messer and Jamie Lee scored one point apiece. All of Littlefield's scoring came in the first half. Laccasine's coach, who had a team in the finals in two divisions, stated their success in girl's Little Dribblers was the result of a highly organized girl's basketball program in the school system.
