Rail Site Available For Plant

Littlefield Industrial Corporation revealed Thursday at its annual meeting that an option has been taken on 100 acres of land with trackage for possible future use by Electricar Corporation.

The land, owned by the Griffin Estate, adjoins a plot of some 30 acres just north of the Santa Fe Railroad tracks already owned by Littlefield Industrial Corporation.

Already located on a part of that 30-acre plot is Keeton Felt and Supply, an industry which opened here in 1967.

The 100 acres under option has almost one-half mile of frontage on the railroad.

Officers of Littlefield Industrial Corporation said its purchase would make available a total of about 122 acres of land with trackage for Electricar's use, if track frontage is a requirement.

The Industrial Corporation already had an option on 175 acres of land now owned by the Finley estate, located south and west of Lamb County Electric Co-Op. This option remains in effect through Dec. 1, 1970.

The option on the Griffin land is effective through Dec. 31, 1970.

"This additional option puts us in a good position to supply whatever facilities may be needed for use by Electricar," said Paul McCormick, an officer and director of Electricar Corp.

McCormick said plans for establishment of a plant for mass production of the Electricar are continuing on schedule, and that this schedule still calls for production to begin here sometime in 1971.

In other activity at Thursday's meeting, stockholders of the Industrial Corporation elected new officers and directors and heard a financial report for the year.

New president of the group is Jerome W. Kirby, Littlefield attorney, who succeeds Kenneth Ware. Vice-president is Doyle Patton and secretary-treasurer is Tom Hilbun.

Hilbun succeeds Mancil Hall, longtime secretary-treasurer who is retiring from the post but will remain on the board one more year.

Hilbun was elected to the board for his first term. He was re-elected for new term.

Other members of the board are Arthur Duggan, I. D. Orstead, and I. T. Short.

'Living Textbooks'

YEAR AFTER YEAR, more Texas public schools are using commercial newspapers in their classrooms as "living textbooks."

A group of leading national education and journalistic associations initiated the "Newspaper in the Classroom" program on a national basis in 1959.

EVEN BEFORE THAT, surveys showed that about 40 percent of the nation's schools were already making extensive use of commercial newspapers for instructional purposes.

Texas schools and Texas newspapers have been among the national leaders in making the most of the program.

A NUMBER of Texas newspapers, school systems, and colleges will be working together this spring and summer in sponsorship of teachers workshops related to the "Living textbook" program.

The "Austin American-Statesman" has developed a 25 minute color slide show of its growing "Newspaper in the Classroom" program; and a "Living Textbook" notebook for teachers.

The March issue of TSTA's newspaper, "Texas Schools," will carry a feature story on this program, how it is being used, and where the instructional workshops for teachers will be held this spring and summer.

The TEXAS OUTLOOK

PAUL HARVEY

Is It Best?

ONE AFTER ANOTHER of our Latin-American neighbor nations have become military dictatorships. When free people grow fat, then grow lazy and have to be forced to work--then they aren't free any more.

Our American-ism worked because we worked. Other nations can't make it work. How long can we?

THREE OUT OF EVERY five Latin Americans are now under military rule. Four south-of-the-border nations have seen their elected governments overthrown by dictators in the past two years: Peru, Panama, Bolivia and Brazil.

The United States is quite properly keeping hands off. The Nixon Administration is revising the "live and let live" foreign policy of our nation's founders.

THOMAS JEFFERSON, outlining U.S. policy in 1793, said every nation "may govern itself according to whatever form it pleases, and may change these forms at its own will."

And that remained our nation's policy for more than a century, until President Wilson began talking to Mexican militarists in 1915.

AFTER THAT AMERICA sometimes used American Marines to intercept Latin American revolutions. Frequently, as in Venezuela in 1951, we backed a loser and we are still harvesting vehement anti-American reaction in Venezuela. We won't again.

Now we have come to realize and accept the fact that the military tradition is more deep-rooted in Latin America than the civilian tradition is in our own country. Latin Americans, since the conquistadors, have been accustomed to authoritarian rule.

THERE ARE IN Latin America today nine military governments.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Glory Of Man

By BOB WEAR

THE GLORY OF MAN is the natural fruit of living, just as the grass is the natural fruit of the flower.

Much of this glory is badly tarnished, and this is to be expected. It is to be expected because humanism is permitted to control so much that is associated with man's glory.

UNTARNISHED GLORY must be our aim. This is glory that is molded, and fashioned, and sustained by altruism, virtue and sincerity. It is truly beautiful to behold. Even the best, however, is temporary. Nevertheless, we are thankful for such human possibility.

OUR TOTAL GLORY IS US and our accomplishments. It is the accumulated results of earthly living, and it is important to us and to others.

It is our success or degree of success in cultivating our personal endowments; in building our homes; in accumulating and using wealth wisely; in winning approval of our fellowmen; in developing skills in arts and crafts, and in the improvement of our environment.

THE BRIGHTEST GLORY is not so much in our accomplishments as it is in us--the fruit of our character. It is in the kind of people we are.

"A man is one whose body has been trained to be the servant of his mind; whose passions are trained to be the servants of his will who enjoys the beautiful, loves truth, hates wrong, loves to do good, and respects others as himself."--Ruskin.

THE GLORY IS WHAT we make it. Obviously, it can be good or bad. With most of us, it is probably a mixture.

Nevertheless, we are obligated to make it the best we can.

If we understand the living experience, we will consider it a privilege to make our glory the best we can. There is too much downgrading of people, their work and their accomplishments. This is loss we cannot afford.

THE GLORY OF MAN is important. It must not be minimized, or treated with contempt, or deliberately sullied and turned to evil purposes.

On the other hand, it must not be made more important than it is. There is a proper place for it, and a right attitude toward it.

OUR GLORY IS TEMPORARY, because our earth life is temporary. It is part of our uncertain and brief time on earth, but this does not devalue it.

In fact, this realization adds to its value: except from the view of the distorted mind. The twisted view may make it either too big, or too little.

"All flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withers, and the flower thereof falls away."--The Bible. This is also known to us as part of our pragmatic knowledge. We can see that it is true as we consider the reality of life.

IT IS WHOLESOME, when properly conceived but becomes very unwholesome when it is perverted. The glory of man must never be permitted to preempt eternal values.

IN ITS PROPER PLACE, it is part of the Creator's established order for life. It reaches its highest level in the glorification of the Creator himself.

Drug Appeal

By JIMMY R. ALLEN

A SOCIETY AWAKENING to the fact that drug abuse by its young is not just across the nation or across the tracks is gradually asking the question "Why?"

Insufficient factual information on the amount of drug abuse by young Texans results in wildly exaggerated claims on one hand and defensive denials on the other.

Hard factual information is gradually emerging. A soon to be released survey of Dallas Public School children will be a major contribution in this area. The picture is not an encouraging one.

Whatever its dimension, the blighted lives of disoriented youth diminished in their effectiveness for living in a real world make the question of motivation extremely important.

THERE IS NO SINGLE motivating factor in the drug abuse picture. One of the real problems in coping with drug abuse lies in the complexity which makes simple "one-shot" solutions woefully inadequate.

However, a Federal Narcotics Bureau official serving on the Texas Advisory Commission on Crime and with his analysis of the drug appeal to the young.

As the Commission was helping the Texas Education Agency plan its new curriculum for Texas school children on the subject, solutions of every kind were offered.

SOME FELT that the need to teach respect for law was primary. Others pointed to the need for eliminating the constant bombardment of drug advertising which creates an illusion of solving every tension through a pill.

J. Wonne Hand, who had been dealing with narcotics problems for over a decade, indicated a basic motivation of young drug-users. Pointing out that law enforcement is an inadequate way of meeting the problem he advised de-glamourizing the use of drugs.

Most kids start experimenting with drugs because it is the "cool, hip, in" thing to do.

TELLING THEM the physically psychologically damaging aspects only adds to the thrill.

Young people do not believe it or they feel a challenge from it. It's like telling a prospective Marine recruit that he will likely get a saber scar in battle and therefore he should not enlist.

THE MOST EFFECTIVE de-glamourization process is done by the young people themselves. For instance, El Paso, Texas, has an effective program of youth participation.

Called S.O.S., for Stamp Out Stupidity, it is doing for drugs what the newest tact of TV advertising is doing to tobacco: puncturing the balloon of social approval by the peer group.

It says that the smart, cool, hip and do is to keep a clear mind and get your kicks in ways that really fulfill your needs.

DR. ERNEST GREGORY JR. says basically the same thing from a Christian perspective in describing his highly promising work with hard core heroin addicts in San Antonio.

"Getting the Monkey off their back (the physical habit) is fairly simple," the physical states.

"It can be done through less damaging drugs in smaller degrees or even by cold turkey." But it is getting the "Monkey Off Their Mind" which is important.

He describes the spiritual emptiness of the user and champions the fact that a real experience of commitment to Christ with supportive Christian relationships allows God to have access to this vacuum.

DRUG ABUSE has many dimensions in its causes and effects. Thoughtful students of drug problems are confronted with the mysteries and struggles of the human mind.

The basic problem is a spiritual and psychological one. While Christians of every persuasion support constructive efforts to meet the problem, we should realize that our unique contribution may be in robbing drug abuse of its appeal by presenting something better.

HONNY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINIS

SOMETIMES I GET to feeling sorry about the plight of the grand old American dollar. In times past it was the status symbol of the "Capitalist U.S.A."

It was respected in every country around the world. To possess this currency demanded respect of it's possessor. But, times do change.

If you think a dollar demands respect, anymore, just take one to the local super market. (Really, it's me that I feel sorry for.)

OUR "PEANUT-SIZED" dollar has lost its former prestige. It's rapidly going the way of the peso. In order to buy a sack of groceries now, you gotta take a sack of money.

No one wants to take the blame for the fall of the dollar. Ask anyone you want and they'll tell you that someone else is to blame. Of course it COULD be our recklessness of spending all of them we can get hold of. (Any other way?)

Poor circulation certainly ain't the blame for our plight. Shux! The way my little coinage circulates, it'd do credit to wife-mates mixer. And, somehow, I always lack that little bit havin' enough to go around, each first-of-the-month!

NO, I AIN'T SAYIN' that money has lost all it's power. (Just look what it's been doin' up in New England!) But, what I'm sayin' is: You gotta have such a pile of it to speak above a whispert.

Some of our economists blame credit for the low estate of the dollar. --Could be they're right. We get credit offers on about everything but groceries these days. Guess groceries make poor collateral.

WE JUST MIGHT find ourselves going back to the barter system. You know, trade a sack of corn for a sack of meal, and that sort of thing. --Could be striking a real blow for the uppin' of the economy. --only thing we gotta pay income taxes on is money.

Of course, Uncle would have to put a stop to that. I doubt he'd let us pay our taxes in cotton, eggs, or hogs.

It'd be like the kid that wanted to sell his dog for $100. No one would buy, but he DID get an offer of two $50 cats for him!

ANYWAY, WE could wind up like that bunch of people down in Oklahoma. 'Twas said they were very poor people but they started trading among themselves, and all wound up independently rich!

Further more, about half of these people migrated to California. This action raised the I.Q. of both states! Looks like we're gonna have to find some kind of substitute for the dollar, cause it's gotten so cheap that George's picture seems to be blushing for shame.

THIS WE DO know, tho, as long as Sam can keep it's value down, along with our generous $600 deduction he allows us, he's really gonna rake in the income tax!

The more I think of it, the better that barter system looks!

THE PHILOSOPHER

Strike Problem

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm considers the strike situation this week.)

Dear editor: According to all the newspapers I've seen out here lately, everybody is in a turmoil over strikes and what to do about them, and I'll get to that later, but first I'd like to point out that things are not all bad.

For instance, when a neighbor asked me why I wasn't at work, I told him I keep up with the news and was fully aware everything was at a standstill on account of the New York mail strike. My hands were tied.

They were tied again when the air controllers fouled up the airplane schedules and by the time this gets into The Leader-News they may be tied by half a dozen other strikes. If I miss any, let me know.

However I realize everybody isn't as adaptable as I am to work stoppages and I notice that the politicians across the country are attacking the problem from every angle you can manage with a speech without ever getting around to an answer.

I have thought the problem over carefully and have a suggestion.

Like things are now, nobody knows when the next strike will break out. Nobody knows in the morning whether his entire activities will be paralyzed by nightfall.

If the airlines aren't struck, it could be the post office, the trucking industry, the railroads, the tractor companies, the public schools, the fire department, the police department, the sanitation department, newspapers, television stations, the long-skirt designers, the kindergarten, the colleges, and maybe even, right in the middle of the season, baseball itself.

Therefore it seems to me what Congress ought to do is to establish a National Strike Week. Set aside one week out of the year, probably in the spring when the sap is rising, when everybody who's going to strike, strikes.

During that week everybody ought to throw his hat in the air and quit, and the last one of the jobs is a rotten egg.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

DEAR EDITOR

What Our Readers Think

Festival 'Beautiful'

Dear Mr. Turner,

First, let me explain that I fully understand that a newspaper's life depends upon its circulation and that all newspapers sell on what strikes the readers interest. I am sorry to say that too much of today's news media makes its living off of violence and controversy.

I was eager to write this letter in response to the interview with Mr. Bill Angel on the matter of the recently held Southwest '70 Peace Festival.

Like the saying goes, "there are two sides to every story." I feel your article did not express both sides of the subject matter involved, though.

After thoroughly reading that article, I felt it my duty to tell the other side of what took place on that dirt field ten miles south of Lubbock.

I myself attended the Festival several days for a lengthy time each day and would merely like to express the uncovered and untold side of that beautiful event.

Mr. Angel stated that many attending the Festival could not be commended for their conduct and behavior shown there. You must understand that it was Mr. Angel's job to single out those whose conduct was unrespectable and in disregard to the laws of our constitution. For it is his duty to protect the law-abiding citizens regardless to their race, religion, age or length of hair.

I am very sorry that Mr. Angel based his opinion of the Festival on that small minority of sixty-one youths who were jailed, compared to the total attendance of some 15,500.

Even in the fact that it took near four hundred police officers on special duty to arrest those sixty-one youths, I still respect and honor all law enforcers who strive so hard to do their very difficult job.

Did you ever stop and think what four hundred policemen could do INSIDE the city limits of a town with a population and increasing crime rate the size of Lubbock? They might put some REAL criminals behind bars!

Yes, there were many underground newspapers distributed throughout the attending crowds, but Mr. Angel neglected to tell just what they advocated. Every piece of literature that I read (and I read and collected merely six different pieces) advocated NOT the overthrow of our government, but urged our increasing faith and belief in Love and Peace and our savior Jesus Christ...yes, Jesus Christ.

I am sure there may have been some subversive literature distributed; but if so, I feel it was only literature read by a subversive mind.

To go still further, one promoter and moderator went out of his way to encourage all the young people as leaders of tomorrow to respect those law officers that were present and to aid them by abiding by our laws.

Yes, there were law-breakers among the crowds. Marijuana smokers, "pill poppers" and drinkers were picked up quite often by the police who were so talentedly masqueraded and disguised and distributed throughout the crowds.

There were also many beautiful and honest people there who were merely doing their "thing." Their "thing" which is expressing free love for their fellow man and brothers. There are too many people in this world today who have forgotten that love is free and does not have a price tag on it: be it giving or receiving.

I have never in my life seen such a wonderful group of REAL people. People who believe in stepping upward with each other rather than stepping ON each other. People who believe in combined success and happiness rather than individual victory or wealth.

Never once did I hear a harsh word spoken between any two people there. I witnessed people sharing their water and food, their blankets and pillows and offering refuge to the cold and needy. There was too much beauty to see any ugliness. That beauty which gives this generation a hope for the future and a power to ban together to achieve through peaceful means a happiness and will great enough to bring all people as brothers back together as one big happy family.

No, the Peace Festival was not a true example of life as it is today; but as it will be TOMORROW. The Peace Festival was beautiful!

A WOMAN'S VIEW

Heard His Voice

By PEARL BRANDON

WHEN WE MENTION having sometime in our lives having heard the voice of God people look at us as if we were a little queer.

But even in this age of skepticism it is possible to hear His still voice speaking calmly through the storm. We hear Him when our needs are great and we listen deeply.

I AM THINKING now of my brother who was a sergeant in the 101st Medical Corp in World War Two. They followed the 42nd Infantry in the 36th Division. They made the Salerno beach head were fighting in Italy near Cassino when he wrote home of his experience.

"THE ENEMY was doing a lot of shelling one night when we were ordered to pick up a wounded man up on the mountain side.

On the way up one of our litter men was hit. We put him on the stretcher and took him back to the aid station.

WE WERE ALL AFRAID to go back after the wounded man, especially the litter boys. Someone suggested we draw straws to see who would go back but they were afraid to do that.

I finally told the Lieutenant if he would send some men along to carry the litter I would do the aid work. He ordered three of the men to go with me.

ONE NEVER KNOWS what it is like to be really afraid unless you go through something like this. A prayer was in my heart all the way. I know God was with me for I soon felt safe in spite of the shells falling around us.

I could really feel His presence all the way as if He was walking with us and the other boys felt it too.

WE FOUND the wounded man. He was hit bad but was still alive and conscious.

He was one proud boy to see us. I gave him a shot of morphine and we put him on the stretcher and took him back.

When we got back the aid station had moved on but left a few supplies. The boys held a flashlight under a blanket while I dressed him and got him ready to send back to the hospital.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT ME. I truly heard God's voice that night and I know He is with me.

Later when the war was over we were to see our brother ordained as a deacon in his church in the little town where he now lives and devotes his time to working with boys.

IN THE MIDST of the battle he had heard His voice.

Pumphrey Gets State Marker

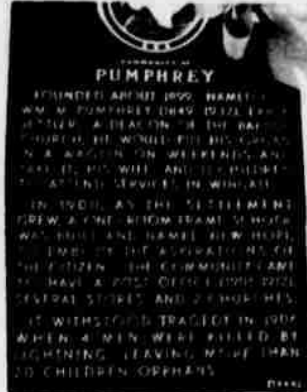

The community of Pumphrey dedicated an official Texas marker during special ceremonies held Sunday, April 5 by the Runnels County Historical Survey Committee.

Located 10 miles northwest of Winters, on FM-1677 the community was founded about 1899 and was named for William M. Pumphrey, an early settler and father of Mrs. R. L. Byers Sr., of Littlefield.

The peak years of Pumphrey were from 1901 to 1914. During this time Pumphrey had two general stores, a drug store, a barber shop, a cotton gin, two blacksmiths, a post office, a school, and two churches, Baptist and Methodist. The cemetery is located one-half mile south of the marker and was started in 1905 on land donated by W. M. Pumphrey and John W. Byers; Mr. Pumphrey, father of Mrs. R. L. Byers, and John W. Byers, father of the late R. L. Byers.

Mrs. R. L. Byers and all 10 of her children attended the dedication. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Adams of Whitney, Z. T. Byers of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hubbard and children of Idalou, Troy Byers and sons of Earth, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Byers, Jr. of Springlake, Mrs. Otis Baker, Mrs. Alma Achee, Mrs. Doyle Bean and Peggy, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Houk and Charlene, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Byers and children and Mrs. Betty Trull and daughter of Abilene.

Six of the 11 children of W. M. Pumphrey attended. They were Charlie, Marvin, and Roy Pumphrey, Mrs. G. O. Hargrove, Mrs. R. L. Byers, and Mrs. Bettie Baldwin.

The marker describes how Pumphrey, a deacon of the Baptist church, would put his organ in a wagon on weekends and take it, his wife and 11 children to attend church services in Wingate, March 3, 1901, with 14 charter members, the Pumphrey Baptist Church was organized.

Spade Methodists Start Revival

The Spade United Methodist Church begins its spring revival this Sunday evening, April 12, at 6 p.m., with Rev. Bruce Parks, pastor of the United Methodist Church of Slaton, as evangelist.

Rev. Parks is well-known throughout the Northwest Texas Conference as a revival leader who speaks to the church and the conflicts of today's world, and as one who is vitally concerned with helping persons find a meaningful faith for daily living.

The song service will be led by Mr. and Mrs. Don Bell of Spade who have been involved in leading song services both locally and in other areas. They have been actively involved with the evangelistic movement of the Lay Witness Mission in Amarillo, Colorado City, Fort Sumner, N.M., and other places.

Services will be conducted each morning from 7:45 until 8:25 Monday through Friday. Evening services will be conducted at 7:30 Monday through Saturday. Revival services will conclude with the evening service Sunday, April 19.

The public is invited to attend these services.

Superintendent of Schools Bill Mann introduced the speaker for the evening.

Downing was not a newcomer to the task at Earth, as he spoke previously for a Chamber of Commerce banquet in 1958.

He talked about the challenge youngsters have in this world today, and of the things they have been left as an heritage. He stated that "as a whole, youth of today have a genuine love for their neighbor, and we can't comprehend what they mean."

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

and get a spiritual lift for the whole week

of course it is, but it brings with it a staggering challenge... the individual responsibility of helping save civilization. The terrible "dark days" following the fall of the Roman Empire would be termed "good days" compared to the period of destruction that would follow the loosing of our hydrogen weapons. We must face it in a manner we must be our own saviour. Then let us kids not quibble. We must cheerfully accept the task. If we keep our eyes fixed on God and our ears tuned-in to His direction center, we can be the deterring force He needs to save the world from destruction. For He said, "Him that lacketh wisdom, let him ask of God." The varied programs of the church offer opportunity to gain this wisdom and understanding of God and His plan of salvation for the world. You have a part to play. Get inside His field of service... attend church regularly. For, "The wise in heart will receive Commandments."

Sponsors of these messages urge faithful church support. Through these pages the appeal is for all men to stand up and be counted... to combat communism on all fronts... to be faithful to God.

Conservation

Reduce Pollution

Locally-led conservation programs have been reduced many forms of pollution and have improved the quality of our environment. According to Joe Blum, Littlefield Soil Conservation District conservationist.

"Air pollution from natural sources isn't as bad as it formerly was," Blum said. "But wind-blown soil from farmland once polished on a grand scale.

"Air pollution of this nature has been a major conservation program. Wind strip-cropping, and management in many ways, keeping the land covered at home--and out of sight--is a conservation program for chemical pesticides, herbicides which are times guilty of air pollution." Graham said.
