Littlefield And Olton To Battle For District 3-AA Championship

entlement and electricity by the Littlefield Wildcat-... game creates an at-... that is second to none on any... high school football— and it... many college rivalries. ... which are in abundant... both Lamb County cities, the coffee-... rant pep rallies, the coffee-shop quarterbacking, the emotional build-up— all go to make this a truly classic game. This would be true if both teams were to go into the contest winless, but when the district championship is on the line, when neither team has been defeated in district play—and one not at all— and when the teams have a combined season mark of 15 wins, 1 loss and 1 tie, well, it takes on bigger-than-life proportions for all involved. And this is what it boils down to as the undefeated Littlefield Wildcats, sporting an excellent 8-win, 0-loss and 1-tie mark, host the Olton Mustangs who own a 7-win, 1-loss mark. The Wildcats will be out to avenge last year's 40-6 loss to Olton, while the Mustangs will try to live up to their pre-season ranking of number one in District 3-AA.

Mathematically, the Dimmitt Bobcats also have a shot at the championship if they win their last two games, as they have lost only to the Wildcats so far in district play. But this would involve a Littlefield loss Friday night and a Dimmitt victory over Olton next week. But, as head coach and athletic director Jerry Blakely stated, "as far as we're concerned, this game Friday night is for the district championship!"

A Littlefield win would give the 'Cats an undisputed championship for the district, with a perfect 4-0 record and a regular season mark of 9-0-1, topped by only a handful of teams statewide.

In speaking of the Wildcats' opponent, Blakely said "Olton has a fine football See WILDCATS, Page 5

FRIDAY is 'Beat Olton Day' in Littlefield, and the day has been proclaimed by Mayor J. E. Chisholm in a special document witnessed here by Kim Daniel, Carrie Ware and Lori Wilkinson. The Olton Mustangs, with a 7-1 mark, will face the undefeated Littlefield Wildcats in Wildcat Stadium Friday night. Both teams sport unblemished district marks and this game will decide the District 3-AA championship. The football fever is running at an all-time high for the Wildcats. (Staff Photo)

Electric Engraving Pen Used To Mark Valuables

An electric engraving pen is the only tool you need to participate in the Littlefield Police Department's Operation Identification Program.

Operation Identification is a program designed to prevent burglaries by marking property.

To deter burglars, valuables are permanently engraved with a traceable number— driver's license numbers are preferable— and the owner displays warning decals outside his home or business.

Littlefield Police Chief James Cox said, "the engraver is very easy and safe to use. You follow a few basic steps of operation. It works from any standard 110 volt electrical outlet. Steps for its use are simple."

Before operating the machine, be sure hands are dry and work area is well lit. See ENGRAVING, Page 4

JUNIOR HIGH BAND WINS FIRST PLACE TROPHY.

Students Take Backpack Trip

Beef stroganoff can be served anywhere. Just ask Jim Blassingame.

The biology teacher at South Plains College in Levelland dined on such delicacies as beef stroganoff last weekend in the midst of the Guadalupe Mountain National Park, far from any kitchen, restaurant or grocery store.

Joining him for the three-day backpacking trip to the wilderness areas were six other members of the Naturalist Club at South Plains College—Homer McLean, associate professor of physics at SPC; his son, Randy, a junior student at Levelland High School; Kenneth Tillman of Levelland, Ken Knebluck of Anton, David Demel of Pep and Sue Nitengale of Lubbock, all SPC students.

"The beef stroganoff was one of several freeze dried foods we carried for the trip, such as beef stew, chili, beef and rice, even bananas," said Blassingame, who is an associate professor of biology at SPC and a co-sponsor of the club. The foods were easy to prepare. "All you do is add boiling water, wait 10 minutes and dinner is ready."

The hikers heated the water on portable gas stoves weighing no more than a couple of pounds each. Gear, such as pack frames, sleeping bags, tents, air mattresses, food and water, had to be kept as light as possible for the steep hike through the mountainous Texas wilderness, about 60 miles southwest of Carlsbad, N.M. Packs varied in weight from 30 to 45 pounds. "It took us two and a half hours of hiking to reach the high country," Blassingame said. "We started at 5,000 feet and went to 8,000 feet of elevation in a distance of three miles. That's a pretty steep climb," he added.

"We first hiked to McKittrick Canyon, where the fall foliage of the maple trees ranges from bright yellow to blood red," Blassingame noted. "We later hiked to an area called 'The Bowl,' where stands of ponderosa pines and Douglas firs 150 feet high are reminiscent of many areas in Colorado and New Mexico."

The hikers pitched camp the first night under fir trees at Pine Top Campground, awakening the next morning to 35 degree temperatures and a thick cloud cover draped over mountains and hikers both. "It was really beautiful," Blassingame said, but the group were forced to break camp because of the cloud cover and move to another campsite.

On the jaunt down from the high country, Demel, Tillman and Randy McLean took a separate route through Bear Canyon and took time off to climb Hunter's Peak, third highest peak in Texas with an elevation of more than 8,500 feet. The rest of the party trooped through Pine Canyon and met the trio at the campground.

"Everyone was pooped and sore when we got back. It was quite a strenuous trip," Blassingame said. However, the hikers were experienced at backpacking and no major problems cropped up.

Looks like the club members enjoyed their trip. They are planning another backpacking trip Nov. 8 to Big Bend country.

Old Wills Show Humor, Satire, Love

By NILAH RODGERS

It's a shame people don't write their own wills any more. Sure, wills lawyers draw up cause less probate problems. But they lack the ingredients that used to bring tears of laughter or remorse, the warmth, wrath or the gamut of emotions family members used to display when they gathered together for the final reading of the last will and testament of a dear, departed relative.

The formal, stilted, legal wording of present day documents can't hold a piece of parchment paper to wills like those found in old, yellowed probate files.

One of the most amusing wills ever probated was written by an old German named Herman Oberweiss who had quarrels with his family which he described in most fluid terms.

This is the will he left to posterity. It was actually probated at the June term of county court in 1934.

"I am writing of my will mineself that des lawyer want he should have to much money he ask to may answers about the a family. First think i want done i dont want my brother Oscar to get a god dam thing. I got he is a minser and he done me out of four dollars fourteen years since.

"I want it that Hilda my sister she gets the north sixtle akers of at where I am homing at now I bet she done get that loafer husband of hers to brake twenty akers next plowing. She cant have it if she lets Oscar live on it i want i should have it back if she does.

"Tell mama that six hundred dollars she has been looking for ten years is berried from the outhouse about ten feet down. She better let little Fredrick do the digging and count it when it comes up.

"Paster Licknitz can have three hundred if he kisses the book he wont preach no more dumhead talks about politiks. He should a roof put on the meeting house with the elders should the bills look at.

"Mama should the rest get, but i want it so that Adolph should tell her what she should do so no more slick irishers sell here vaken cleaner they noise like hell and broom dont cost so much.

"I want it that mine brother Adolph be my executor and i want it that the judge should please make Adolph plenty bond put up and watch him like hell. Adolph is a good business man but only a dumpho would trust him with a busted penning.

"I want dam sure that Schleiminal Oscar dont nothing get. Tell Adolph he can have a hundred dollars if he prove judge Oscar dont get nothing; that dam sure fix Oscar.

(Signed) Herman Oberweiss"

The records don't show any legal hassel over the probate. It isn't clear just how old Herman intended to take back his farm he left to Hilda if she let that no good loafer husband of hers live on it. But it's a good bet that he sure fixed Oscar, which was his prime intention.

While there may be fewer legal problems involved with a will drawn up by a lawyer, it is nevertheless quite legal and binding to write your own will. If any portion of the will is typed, the signature must be witnessed by two persons. If the entire testament is handwritten, no witness is necessary.

One will probated in Lamb County is written on a paper sack. The writer of the will had a wreck in his Model T. Injured and near death he scribbled with a pencil the simple statement that "I leave everything to my wife."

Many of the early probate cases are signed by the late county judge R. C. Hopping, and seals bear the name of Guy Willis, county clerk.

Long, long lists of personal property show the way things used to be done. One of the earliest cases on file in Lamb County is the estate of L. E. and Lola Silcott filed here in 1915. The list of belongings include 320 acres, 34 grown cows, nine head of two-year-old heifers, 11 yearling heifers, 16 heifer calves, four hard-working mules, five head of mares, two saddle horses, a yearling and two colts, 60 chickens, 17 turkeys, 22 hogs, 10 brood sows, one boar, 16 small pigs. The land was valued at $5,440 and equipment was valued at $5,000. In contrast, they valued their household goods at $75.

Wills of persons who die and have cases probated in other counties are in the Lamb County deeds records if land in this county is involved. Some such interesting and sometimes fabulous wills filed here include those of Ewing Halsell, George W. Littlefield, and Alice Higginbotham Lang.

Mrs. Lang left 680 shares of prestigious stock to her heirs, including 80 shares of Higginbotham-Bartlett Company. She was quite concerned and specific as to who got her jewelry. She left to her granddaughter Alice her diamond circle pin, the large stone in which was given to her by her mother and father when she was 16. To her grandson Joe she left her diamond wedding ring and diamond solitaire. Another granddaughter got her pearls, and she spelled out which jewelry was to go to her daughter.

The George Littlefield estate is one of the largest probated in the state. Littlefield left bequeaths left and right for $100,000, $200,000, $250,000, and $500,000. He held bonds for $700,000 in exchange for the Littlefield Building, and the University of Texas wouldn't be what it is today if Littlefield hadn't been concerned for education.

Yet one of his first directives in his will was that his old war servant Nathan Littlefield Stokes be paid the sum of $2 for the rest of his natural life—but he wasn't to be paid until Saturday night of each week. In addition, the old servant was provided with a home, medical expenses and Littlefield directed that the old man be buried on his cemetery lot and a suitable headstone be erected over his grave.

Among Ewing Halsell's holdings were thousands of acres in Lamb and Bailey Counties. Among persons named to receive money in Halsell's will are familiar names of Lamb County residents.

One of the largest wills probated in Lamb County was that of the ginner Lynn Irvin. The millionaire's will named two step children. It was contested in court by two first cousins, three children of first cousins, an adopted child of a first cousin, and the surviving wife of a first cousin who thought they had more right to his estate than the children of Irvin's wife by another marriage.

It isn't necessarily the wills of the affluent which make most interesting reading. More people will delight in reading Herman Oberweiss' will than in reading Halsell's or Littlefield's.

The following will was written in French and translated into English when it was probated. Even if it lost something in translation, it remains one of the most beautiful wills on record.

At the top of the page, the woman simply titled it "will," and wrote:

WILL

This is my will: Having my mind perfectly free and sound, I formulate today my last wish. Our humble fortune consists in a farm on which my husband and myself have worked hard and have suffered a great deal. Having him and me but one object for our children and God knows, and with what courage we have fought against hard times in order to give them their daily bread, but never succeeded to give the children an education which is indispensable to young folks.

If one of the old folks die first, it will be by all justice the last one left will continue to have all right on the other children, having in his head and conscience always the same ambition or their property. My dear husband George Caillet after my death same as when I was living, can sell this whole farm and or part, to do with money as he wishes to do as he think is just, and advantageous for his old age and the future of the children and that is what I want, this is my last wish.

Now pass to the moral, before God, whom I implore on my knees, I conjure to be united one with the other by sentiment, real of affection as a brother which a love gives the life less better and gives some dignity. I exhort my children to be the consolation of their father who will be deprived of his old company to have for him all respect and kindness to him. It would be the most ingratitude what I ask and if ever a quarrel of interest was to become between you. You are all my children of my heart and that heart even in death would suffer great pain. Then love you one another, that no one will be a stranger to the tears and trouble of his brother for the good of you all be always just and honest in everydoing.

Signed/Eugenie Caillet

Whether the old wills were left by bitter, aged hermits like Herman who wanted to get someone or by gentle women like Eugenie Caillet who wanted to leave something dear, one fact remains.

People just don't write wills like they once did. And we've sacrificed some beautiful, succinct language for lawyers' archaic lingo that reads like "she resided and had her domicile before her death; at the time of her death she was seized and possessed of personal property."

Being of sound and disposing mind and above the age of 21, I do make the publish that last wills and testaments aren't as interesting as they used to be.

CLIPS & TIPS

By JOELLA LOVVORN

BEING AS THANKSGIVING is coming later this month, I thought you might like to have these recipes to help with your meal.

This is also a new idea to help you with the leftover problem—especially if your family is small.

Turkey is considered a good food-dollar value this fall, and you can save by having the butcher saw your bird in half at the meat counter. That way you can roast only half a turkey and save the other half for later.

ROAST HALF TURKEY-HERB STUFFING

- 4 Tbsps. butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/4 tsp. thyme leaves
- 1/4 tsp. savory leaves
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. ground black pepper
- 1 egg, lightly beaten
- 4 cups day-old bread cubes

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Make up stuffing. Heat 2 tablespoons butter in large skillet and saute onion, celery and green pepper about 8 minutes, stirring frequently until vegetables are tender. Stir in thyme, savory, salt, pepper, egg and bread cubes. Toss until well-combined.

Rinse turkey with cold water and pat dry with paper towels. Turn turkey cavity side up and fill with stuffing.

Cover bottom of turkey and stuffing with large sheet of foil. Turn turkey and foil cavity side down, crushing foil around turkey to make a border. Place turkey on rack in foil-lined roasting pan.

Heat remaining 2 tablespoons butter until melted and brush it over entire turkey half. Cover turkey loosely with a tent sheet of foil and roast 2 1/2 hours or until juices run clean and turkey leg is soft when squeezed.

Makes 6 servings

GOLDEN GRAVY

- 2 Tbsps. butter or margarine
 - 2 Tbsps. flour
 - 1/2 cup turkey drippings
 - 1 cup water
- Heat 2 Tbsps. butter in medium saucepan. Stir in flour smoothly. Gradually add drippings and water, heat to boiling, stirring constantly.

Makes 1 1/2 cups gravy

HERB DINNER BISCUITS

- 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 2 Tbsps. wheat germ
- 3 tps. baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 1/2 tps. caraway seed
- 1 1/2 tps. dried minced onion
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 3/4 cup milk

Heat oven to 450 degrees F. Measure flour, wheat germ, baking powder, salt, caraway seed and minced onion into bowl.

Cut in shortening thoroughly with a pastry blender or two knives, until mixture looks like coarse meal. Stir in almost all the milk. If dough is not pliable, add just enough milk to make a soft, puffy, easy-to-roll dough. (Adding too much milk makes dough sticky, not enough milk makes biscuits dry.)

Turn out dough on a lightly floured board. Knead lightly about 10-15 times, about 1/2 minutes. Roll 1/2-inch thick. Cut with a floured biscuit cutter. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake 10-12 minutes, or until golden brown.

Makes 16 biscuits
For Drop Biscuits: Increase milk to 1 cup. Drop dough by spoonfuls onto greased baking sheet.

CINNAMON STREUSEL CAKE

- BATTER:
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
 - 3/4 cup shortening
 - 3 large eggs
 - 4 1/2 cups flour
 - 1/4 tsp. salt
 - 1 1/2 tsp. baking soda
 - 2 Tbs. baking powder
 - 1 tsp. almond extract
 - 1 Tbl. vanilla
 - 1 Tbl. lemon extract
 - 4 tsp. butter flavoring
 - 2 1/4 cups buttermilk
- STREUSEL:
- 1 cup sugar
 - 4 tsp. cinnamon
 - 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
 - 2 Tbs. margarine, softened
- GLAZE:
- 5 tsp. milk
 - 1/4 tsp. almond extract
 - 1/4 tsp. vanilla
 - 1/2 tsp. lemon extract
 - 1/2 tsp. butter flavoring
 - 1 1/2 cups confectioner's sugar, sifted

BATTER. Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Cream sugar and shortening. Beat in eggs one at a time. Sift and measure flour; sift again with salt, baking soda and baking powder and set aside. Add almond extract, vanilla, lemon extract and butter flavoring to buttermilk and blend well. Add milk to batter alternating with flour; beat until smooth. Pour 2/3 of batter into a 10-inch stem pan that has been lightly greased but not floured. Crumble 2/3 of streusel over batter in pan; cover with remaining 1/3 of batter and 1/3 of streusel. Bake one hour or until a toothpick inserted in the center comes out clean. Allow cake to cool 30 minutes before removing from pan. Turn cake out and invert to streusel side up.

STREUSEL. Combine sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg. Blend in softened margarine. Crumble as directed in batter directions.

GLAZE. Combine milk, almond extract, vanilla, lemon extract and butter flavoring; add to confectioner's sugar and blend well. Drizzle over cooled cake.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Not Difficult

ONE OF THE STRANGEST and most un-called-for actions of which we human beings are capable is in making our selves difficult to get along with. There may be a number of different causes for this unwise behavior, but none of us have to be this way.

All of us can be more congenial, and most certainly more desirable persons. This would be one of the biggest of all improvements in human relationships.

THERE IS NOTHING to be gained by being difficult. Of course, for one reason or another, in some instances, difficult people are permitted to have their way. It is obvious, however, that no one ever gains anything by ugly behavior.

The concessions made to such people are made because of some other important consideration. On the other hand, difficult persons are often opposed just because they choose to be so difficult.

SOME PEOPLE actually say, "I don't intend to be pleased." They thus make themselves very difficult, perhaps impossible. Of course, we cannot understand why they assume such a posture. Different people probably do so for different reasons, but there is no justification for it.

Some people seem to make themselves difficult for self-protection; some because of great insecurity; some because they feel so inadequate; and some because they are childish and want their way all of the time. There may be other causes for this ugly and destructive conduct, but there is no justification for it.

UNFORTUNATELY, there are some who get along quite well with everybody; except those who are close to them. With family members sometimes with close friends they themselves difficult. They are as difficult as the man who told me that he wanted two eggs, one for one boiled.

When the eggs were served, he could see that her husband was displeased. She wanted to know why he was unhappy. His reply was a shocker. He said, "You boiled the one." Yes, there are people who are difficult. What a loss!

THE DIFFICULT PERSONS are miserable and ineffective, and just become more and more so. One sad aspect of such a life is that these people think all of their troubles are caused by other people. They usually refuse to take responsibility for themselves, from bad to worse. They could be both their attitudes and their behavior. Some do change, and all could.

IF WE ARE DIFFICULT, we cause the misery we cause ourselves. Misery we cause is not limited to ugly behavior may not affect people with whom we are associated but it will surely hurt our families. We will have little success in our ships, and may eventually lose our ones.

THERE IS NO REASON for being difficult.

HOMINY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEY

ABOUT A WEEK AGO, I put a sheet of paper in the typewriter, gave it a heading, sat and stared at it awhile, got up and went to bed. I inspected the paper quite frequently, but seemingly, typewriter had absolutely nothing to say.

It was quite puzzling, to say the least, simply because there seems to be so much to comment about. Maybe, there's the problem! Typewriter may be as befuddled as I am, to say nothing of being plagued with a wandering mind.

FOR INSTANCE, which of the middle east countries is it that's blackmailing us for peace? Is it Egypt and Israel, Syria and Arabia, or the Turks?

Whatever be the case, it seems that Lebanon and Portugal are trying to get on the list. Not far behind may be Spain. It's plain to see that, if Kissinger still has a job, his wife may be a candidate for Lonely Hearts club!

And what about Pore Ol' New York City? (They're the ones with the $15,000 per year garbage collectors.) Is the president so unfeeling as to chuck all their votes down the drain? Of course, Congress is about ready to throw in the sponge (Green, that is) and help them out. Albeit, it's gonna be hard to be a hero, in either case.

AND DETENTE? About the same old thing. We're playing the game right along with the Russkies, while abiding by their rules. Have they changed their minds about their conquests? No, but they've learned to play the game better!

And what about the new station? Well, it's too late for that. May as well admit, I'm again in your start tossing something aside been tried, and is sound, you'd be sure of what you're putting in it's (And I ain't!)

THAT KIND OF reminds me of our modern religious leaders. They've thrown the Bible away started thrill seeking. Some of ideas may have come out of an oven of opium, or some related drug, reminds me, whatever became of TWO, and their fellowers? Do spacecraft actually come, or are changed to some kind of animals. The cruelest of all villains are those that play and toy with the unstable! Truth seems so cold and unexciting.

WHICH MAY HAVE something with the fact that we're having some of our public offenders in room in our prisons for the new. One journal seems to advocate we're gonna have to come up with softer judges, or have the police shorter shifts. The alternate being we'll have to dig for money to build prison space.

I'm of the opinion we can build prison space cheaper than we can fences around ourselves! (If that it takes, so be it.)

lighted, clear of debris and steady.

Quickly get the feel of the engraver by writing your name a few times on a piece of scrap material. There's no need to press down on the engraver—just move your hand slowly and steady the vibrating point do the work. The knob on the end of the engraver controls the depth of the cut. Therefore, the width of the line marked. Turning the knob clockwise will lengthen the stroke, widen the mark.

The use of the engraver to mark items with the owner's Texas license number makes stolen property harder to "fence" and, thus, less likely to be stolen.

The identification program allows law enforcement agencies nationwide return recovered property to its owner.

"The more property that gets here then the fewer burglaries, thefts we are going to have." Engravers can be checked out from the police office in city hall.

their defensive secondary," Blakely noted, "with three of their four members being over six feet tall."

Blakely summed up the Olton defensive unit by simply stating, "they have a tremendously balanced defense."

In summing up the game Friday night, Blakely said "We have a great deal of respect for the entire Olton football team, but we feel we've got a team that can match them. We anticipate a tremendous football game Friday night."

Game time is at 7:30 p.m. at Wildcat Stadium.

The game will be preceded by a pep rally at the high school gym at 3:30 and all Wildcat fans are urged to attend.

In reflecting back over the 'Cats' 24-11 win over Friona, Blakely stated: "it was real tough for our team to get mentally ready for that game, considering Olton was next. We made a lot of mental mistakes, but we can contribute that to looking ahead."

Steve Cruz, who Blakely describes as making great progress the last month, Ronald Parmer and Bill Turner drew the praises for the coaches for their offensive backfield efforts in the Friona game and center Ronnie Milligan, Brad Banner and Randy Hall for their offensive line efforts.

Defensively, Lonnie Twitty, Rudy Ayala, Reginald Payton, Cruz and Layne McKinnon drew the coaches' praise.

"Wildcats Of The Week" are Layne McKinnon, Jack Speck, Tony Cowen, Ron Barnard, Jasper Colbert, Jay Lee and Robert Hall.

Adkins Takes First Place

Lewis Adkins took the $10 first place prize in this weeks Leader-News Football contest by virtue of a perfect 10-0 mark and by picking the tie-breakers almost to perfection. Adkins missed the Littlefield-Friona game by only one point and the Texas-SMU game by only 4 points.

Lamar Pollard also had a 10-0 mark but his tie-breakers were just a little off for top money. Connie Comer had a 9-1 mark and the winning tie-breakers to capture third place and others with a 9-1 include Max McLelland, Jimmy Clayton, Jimmy Randolph, Steve Pollard, Robert Moore, Chris Myers, Loyd Hood, Orville Haynes, Tony Hall, Rickye Parker and Curtis Archer.

Those entrants who were also close with an 8-2 tally includes Doug Walden, Dennis Jackson, Brenda Davis, William P.

The Sunday Leader-News will list the top twenty contestants in the contest.

Farmers Reminded Of Soil Testing

Having the soil on your cropland tested now can save you time and money later, says Buddy C. Logsdon, Lamb County agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

That's why the Extension Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the Fertilizer Institute have launched a campaign to encourage soil testing this fall. Theme of the campaign is "Soil Test in '75, Profit in '75."

A soil test is an analysis of soil that measures nutrient levels, acidity, and the amount of soluble salts in the soil. It pinpoints deficiencies in the soil and can help you determine how much lime and fertilizer to use next year.

And, a regular testing program is important as it provides a field history that is much more useful than a single test.

Logsdon recommends sampling all fields at two to four-year intervals or sampling a fourth or half of a field annually to help determine changes in fertility levels and to adjust fertilization and liming practice for profitable production. Annual testing may be necessary where high rates of manure or fertilizer are applied.

"Testing early is just good management sense," says Logsdon. "Knowing how much lime and fertilizer the soil needs gives you more time to make decisions and order the right amount of fertilizer now. Furthermore, both under fertilizing as well as over fertilizing reduce profits."

If you wait until spring to test soil, it could take longer to get results because testing labs are usually much busier in the spring, adds the county agent.

"So get the jump on the 1976 crop year by having your soil tested now," advised Logsdon. Materials for submitting soil samples are available at the county Extension office.

Lettuce Arrived Early Lettuce, one of the oldest vegetable crops, was introduced into America from Europe soon after the first colonies were established.

Wildcat Pavilion Planned In Future

By JERRY SCHULZ

The Student Council members of LHS voted to sponsor a long-range project at their Oct. 21 business meeting. The project is called the Wildcat Pavilion and will serve to beautify the campus and to provide a place for students to gather before school and during the noon hour.

The project is to consist of sidewalks which will crisscross and extend from corner to corner across the area between the main building and the gymnasium. In the center of the area will be a concrete platform, approximately 8 to 12 feet square, which will display a mosaic Wildcat tile. Benches will also be placed in the area and trees, shrubs, etc. will be planted for beautification. The project is in the planning stages now as members of the fifth period drafting class are drafting plans, and then the council members will accept the best plan.

The project will extend over a time period of at least two years and possibly more. It is hoped that the construction of the sidewalks can be completed this year.

The project will be financed through fund raising campaigns such as charity volleyball games and other special events. The project will need community interest to succeed and is a public endeavor in which many people can get involved. Anyone wishing to help with the work, make donations of trees, shrubs, etc., or help in any way is encouraged to contact Mrs. Reast or a Student Council member.

The Littlefield JV was in scoring position with seconds showing on the clock in the final quarter of the game. But time ran out and Littlefield ended the game on Idalou's ten yard line.

The Littlefield JV rushed for a total of 200 yards. Head JV coach, Eddie Hopper singled out Mike Gregg, Duff Reel and Lewis Wiley as the Offensive Wildcats of the Week. Stan Jackson and Larry Heller were the Defensive Wildcats of the Week. The Littlefield JV will meet the Olton Mustang JV Thursday, October 30, in Mustang Stadium.

The Littlefield JV traveled to Olton Thursday, October 30, to battle the Olton Mustang JV. The Mustang JV shutout the Cat JV 14 to 0.

The Mustang JV hit pave dirt first in the second quarter with seconds remaining before the half. The Mustang JV took a 7 to 0 lead into the dressing room at the half.

The Olton Mustang JV scored their last TD in the final quarter of play. As time ran out the Olton JV handed the Littlefield JV a 14 to 0 loss. JV Head Coach, Eddie Hooper said that the game was a tough defensive battle. Coach Hooper singled out Duff Reel and David Goen as the Offensive Wildcats of the Week. The defensive Wildcat of the Week was Jeff Birkelbach. The next JV game will be Thursday, November 6 against the Friona Chieftain JV.

PROPOSED WILDCAT PAVILION will occupy the area shown here which is between the main building and the gym. The Pavilion is being sponsored by the Student Council.

JOY EDDINS, a new student at LHS is shown here with Miss Wanda Cotter. Miss Cotter, a Littlefield graduate, teaches history.

Teacher, Student Featured This Week

By TODD STAFFORD

Ms. Wanda Cotter is another new teacher for LHS this year. She grew up in Littlefield, attended college in Canyon at West Texas State University and returned to Littlefield this summer to begin her teaching career this fall at LHS.

Ms. Cotter teaches world history and one class of freshman American history. Her favorite class is sophomore world history. After being asked about her likes or dislikes about LHS she answered, "I really enjoy teaching at LHS. It is really a challenge to come back to my home town school. Also, I like my students, they're unpredictable but great to work with."

While Ms. Cotter attended WT, she was a student teacher, so this is her first experience at the teaching profession.

Ms. Cotter's pastimes are reading, being the leader of a girl scout troop, and being with friends. Her hobbies include bicycling, growing plants, writing poetry, and water skiing. Ms. Cotter's favorite foods are spaghetti and Mexican foods, and her favorite color is blue. Ms. Cotter says, "I am a Pisces, and they always like blue."

Ms. Cotter sponsors the Varsity cheerleaders, J. V. cheerleaders, and the pep squad.

Joy Eddins, a 17 year old senior from Waynesboro, Virginia, moved to Littlefield the last of September. The name of the school that Joy attended was Stuarts Draft High.

Joy likes to travel, and in her spare time, she enjoys reading and bicycle riding. Her favorite color is red, and her favorite foods are steak, baked potatoes and hamburgers.

Miss Eddins likes LHS and plans to go to Texas Tech after her graduation. When asked which town there were more activities in, she replied, "Waynesboro was a little bigger than Littlefield, so it had more things to do. I think Littlefield is a very nice town, and I think I will enjoy living here very much."

Joy has been very active in past school activities. The different ones include: from 8th grade to her junior year, she was a cheerleader and in the Pep Club; from her freshman year to her junior year she was in a Science Club and a Latin Club; and last year she was vice-president of National Honor Society and in a French Club.

Joy's subjects this year are trigonometry, physics, English, government, home and family living, and world history. Her favorite subject was French, but presently she likes all her subjects about the same.

Students Take PSAT

By JULIAN SAENZ

The PSAT test was given to junior students Saturday, October 25, 1975. The PSAT measures verbal and mathematical abilities important in college work and is recommended for use in counseling high school juniors who plan to go to college.

By taking the PSAT students can enter the annual scholarship competitions administered by the National Merit Scholarship Program for Outstanding Negro Students. Students who meet program eligibility requirements and who take the 1975 PSAT will be considered for recognition in these programs and for scholarships to be offered in 1977.

The students who took the 1975 PSAT will also have the opportunity to enter the College Board Student Search Service.

Students whose PSAT Selection Index scores are high and who meet all requirements for participating in NMSC programs will be considered for recognition and scholarships. To be eligible for such recognition and to compete for NMSC scholarship to be offered in 1977; a student must take the 1975 test and be a U.S. citizen or plan to obtain U.S. citizenship as soon as qualified to do so; be enrolled as a full-time secondary school junior, be making normal progress toward completion of secondary school in 1977, and plan to enroll in a regionally accredited U.S. college in 1977 as a fulltime student in a course of study leading to one of the traditional baccalaureate degrees.

Leaf Projects Turned In

Students in Biology B classes have been collecting leaves since the first week of school. They handed their leaf collections in on October 28.

Mrs. Reast said, "The students are very interested this year in leaf collecting. Most of them really got involved in their collections."

Mrs. Reast graded the collections based on the number of leaves, accuracy of identification, neatness, originality and mounting. The students needed to have 50 leaves correctly mounted and identified in their collections to receive a grade of 70.

Out of the 42 Biology B students, the collections receiving the highest grades were submitted by: Dallas McCurry, Sheila Goss, Kathy Lence, Irene Hernandez and Randy Taylor.

Mr. Harris was here in order to allow the Seniors of 1976 to order their caps and gowns as well as their calling cards and invitations. Prices for these and others were: calling cards $4.95 for a box of 100; invitations were 19 cents each; thank you notes were a box of 25 for $1.75; money books were $2.75 each; and a laminated diploma was $1.50.

Career Day Held At LHS

Career Day was held Monday, November 3, from 9:00 to 4:00 at the high school. The opening assembly featured the South Plains Country Band from South Plains College. There were seven sessions beginning at 9:55 and ending at 3:20.

Some of the institutions and businesses were the Armed Forces, Draughon's Business College, Tech Law School, Tech Med School and Aero Technical School which featured a talk on airplanes.

The areas covered were modeling, merchandising, interior design, banking, court reporting, floral arts, and financial aid.

The colleges making the trip to Littlefield were Southwest Business College, Wayland Baptist College, Texas Tech, South Plains, McMurry, Western Texas College, Hardin-Simmons, West Texas State and Lubbock Christian College.

A ten minute break was allowed between each session.

FOUR MEMBERS from South Plains College who are majors in country-western music sung for career day at LHS. These members were part of the blue-grass portion of the program.

Perrin's Points

More weeks of high school football are left before playoffs start. Some teams will be looking for that first win while others are trying to clean up the slate. Most are looking forward to the next game that will make it or break it.

Some teams lost hopes of a title by having a loss in the first district. This happened early in the year between two class 4-A teams, Bryan and Killen.

Bryan was ranked number 1, Killen was number 2. Bryan beat Killen 28-12. Killen's hopes of a title went down the drain.

The Cats are still undefeated and ranked in the top ten of the AP selections. Have you seen that all of the state-ranked 2-A teams on the South Plains have been beaten? The week of the season showed which was No. 5, lose to a team with a score of 11-8. Many thought this was an upset but Tulsa was later rated as one of the 10 top teams in 2-A.

Tulsa was knocked out of the top 10 by Idalou 21-9. Tulsa then clobbered Tulsa 35-14. It is better that Tulsa be in the top 10 than not listed at all.

It is time next week the Cats are putting their gear up or going to play their bi-district game. The game between Tulsa and Littlefield has been one of the things one would want in it, an undefeated team and a team with a seven game winning streak square off. To emphasize the game, this one is a "make it or break it" game.

A game such as this one, a game that could mean the whole season, is a home field advantage and have a little effect, but each such people all over South Plains will pour in to see the game.

Who will find their running game a little faulty this week so they will have to fill the air with the pass. If the Cats can stop the game and generate a passing game, they can pull it off. It should be a defensive game unless the passes find a receiver. The kicking game will play an important part.

Who have never seen the stadium packed full of fans? The stadium only then on Friday and witness it with your own two eyes.

Department of Highways To Reduce Personnel

Inflation, declining revenues and a slow down in major construction has made it necessary for a reduction in personnel and the consolidation of some offices in the Lubbock District has been announced by George C. Wall Jr., District Engineer of Lubbock, of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Wall said 55 employees of the Lubbock District payroll of 571 persons have been asked to find other employment prior to the end of this year.

The resident engineers' office in Floydada will be combined with the Plainview office on Nov. 1, and the work will be consolidated with the Plainview Residency under Merlin Bennett. The Lamesa residency was closed previously and all work in that area will be handled by Herschel C. Brown, resident engineer in Brownfield.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN

Did you ever walk through an empty house? Remember how hollow your footsteps sounded? How cold and damp it seemed?

Then someone moved in, and you returned for a visit. How different everything was! In the playground a piano could be heard. Upstairs model airplanes were being built and high plans made for flying them. The smell of cookies and cakes came from the kitchen made by the hands of a laughing teenager.

For a single second I recalled the hollow footsteps of a few days before and the old house winked at me and smiled.

What was the change? And what is the point?

Being inhabited by God's Holy Spirit makes that same immense difference in a human heart. I've seen men before they met the Savior--and afterward. And it's the difference between night and day--and more!

No wonder Jesus said of Himself, "I am the way, the truth, and the life." (John 14:6) He is the only way to genuine happiness. The only truth in a deceptive world. The only life in a dying society.
