By NILAH RODGERS

Oh, the things that happen on the way to the altar!

The incidents are enough to turn moans, county clerks and preachers hair gray.

Names will be withheld from this story, for reasons which will be obvious upon reading. But some of the human interest stories about weddings that make the rounds at the Courthouse are just too good to keep a complete secret.

An elderly couple neared their 50th wedding anniversary, and all the children of a large family, now scattered, were coming in for the celebration and open house.

Among other arrangements being made the couple went to the courthouse to obtain a copy of their marriage license for display at the big celebration. Look as they may the county clerk and diligent deputies couldn't find the marriage license. But they did find a record of an application for a marriage license for the couple.

The clerk, trying to solve the riddle of the missing license, quizzed the couple. "Are you sure you got married and that the marriage license was returned?" the clerk asked.

"What do you mean, are we sure we were married? I'll tell you exactly what happened. We came in here on the day we got married and told the county clerk we wanted to get married. He got all the information about us and filled out our marriage papers. Then we signed them, and he handed over our marriage papers and told us that would fix us up," the elderly man told the clerk.

"That's exactly what he said to us: 'This will fix you up,' the man repeated.

They hadn't gone before a judge or preacher, and the license application was never returned with the ceremonial blanks completed. They thought the "fixing up" at the county clerk's office was all there was to it.

Many people who get married today are just as naive as that couple was 50 years ago. Going to the courthouse and taking care of legal matters is entirely foreign to many.

Only recently a couple of college graduates came into County Clerk Mary Beth Wiley's office to get a marriage license. After the couple left the office, one of the deputies found the marriage license had been left on the counter.

Mrs. Wiley went to the future bride's mother and asked where the couple was. "Oh, they've gone to Mexico City on their honeymoon," the mother replied.

"Well, you tell them I need to see them just as soon as they get back," the clerk told her.

When the "honeymooners" came to the courthouse two weeks later, Mrs. Wiley asked them who married them. "Well, you did!" they replied.

Pair Captured Soon After Jail Break

Vernice and Betty McWilliams, residents in the Lamb County Jail, lost their second bid for freedom Friday evening.

Their first bid for freedom was done legally through an appeal to the appeals court for a new trial on their conviction for robbery. The appeal was rejected this week.

The second bid occurred about 5:30 p.m. Friday when McWilliams opened the doors to his wife's jail cell and then opened the doors to freedom with a key made from a table knife. This last venture gave the couple freedom for about five hours before being caught by Sheriff E. D. McNeese.

At the time of apprehension, about 9:30 p.m., the couple was lying in the weeds east of Nipak Fertilizer. They had in their possession a portable radio and a sock containing pennies that had been accumulated over the 18-month stay in the County jail.

Deputy Delmer Beadle, who resides in the jailer's quarters, became suspicious that something may be wrong when he arrived at the jail about 6 p.m. after going for hamburgers. He noticed that an outside door of the jail was unlocked. He checked the second door and found that it was locked, thus leading him to believe that he had left the outside door unlocked.

About 8:45 p.m. the suspense was greater than he could stand, so he went into the jail and noticed that the McWilliams had escaped. After sounding the alarm, the couple was apprehended within 45 minutes.

Sheriff McNeese stated that apparently McWilliams knew their habits as to being away from the jail, as they had a rest period before going into the night watch phase of their day, and McWilliams took advantage of that half hour.

McNeese stated that he would file "Jail breaking" charges against the two. See JAIL BREAK, Page 4

Wedding Day Is One Never To Be Forgotten, And How!

The search became rather desperate when the preacher learned a $200 fine could be imposed for marrying a couple without a marriage license.

The members of the wedding stood around in their formal dresses, pink ruffled shirts and tuxedos while the clerk completed the legal work so the couple could get married. The couple finally repeated their vows two hours after the set time.

Mrs. Wiley thought she had heard of everything, but a new twist turned up last week.

This couple was having a church wedding. Everyone was at the church and the ceremony was about to begin. The preacher asked for the license and the prospective groom handed him the little souvenir marriage license that comes with the gift package given to couples when they apply for a marriage license.

"Where is the license?" the preacher asked.

"At the courthouse," the young man replied.

The preacher thought that was rather odd, but since they had the keepsake license, he reasoned that they had left the license at the courthouse for him to fill out. But when he went to the courthouse the following Monday to complete it, a license had been issued but couldn't be found.

When they found out they'd been on a two-week honeymoon without being married, the bride broke down in tears. "Oh, don't tell my mother," she begged, "don't tell my mother!" The clerk promised not to tell and escorted the couple to the justice of peace office for their marriage.

One of the funniest incidents involves a Latin-American couple. They got their license and were married by the judge. But after a short time their marriage went sour, and the man decided he didn't want to be married to his bride any longer.

He brought his new girl friend to the county clerk's office. "Erase," he demanded. "Erase! Erase wife's name and put her name in," he said, pointing to the woman he'd decided on to replace his wife. "I don't want to be married to the first one any more."

Two weeks ago a couple was having a formal church wedding. When they got to the church the preacher asked for the marriage license. They handed him their blood test report. They didn't know they had to take the report back to the clerk's office. There they were at the church and they hadn't even obtained a license.

The preacher got on the phone and called Mrs. Wiley at home. Within a few minutes, the prospective bride and groom, the mothers on both sides and

Some Merchants Plan Holiday

Some businesses will be closed Wednesday, July 4, to observe Independence Day, while some will remain open for business.

All state and federal offices will close, in addition to the financial institutions in the city, but most other businesses in town will remain open.

Coeds Earning College Funds

College coeds at McMurry, Texas Tech University and South Plains College are paying for their college expenses with the office work they are doing in Littlefield this summer.

Sandra Carter, Georgia Ray and Velva Lee are involved in Federally funded College Work Study Programs. Miss Lee is attending SPC at Levelland and Miss Ray, a Sudan and SPC graduate is attending TTU this fall. They are both working at the Lamb County ASCS Office. Miss Carter is a junior at McMurry in Abilene. She is employed as a deputy county clerk and is indexing civil cases for the district clerk.

The program provides summer employment for the students. They are paid the minimum wage of $1.60 per hour, but instead of the money going directly to the student, payment is made to the college.

Each college has a different contract, but in most cases 80 percent or more of that money must remain in the college fund to pay for tuition, books, room and board.

Depending on the contract, the college mails the students a small percentage of the money in the fund for spending money.

The ASCS Office is in its third summer in the program. In addition to the summer work, Juanita Echevarria Saenz worked 15 hours a week during the school term. She is still working at the agricultural office, but is employed under a county office trainee program now.

After about 12 weeks, most of the students have enough money in their fund to take care of another semester or another year of schooling.

The life had its risks. He was a hunter. He'd go off into the woods and only on what he could kill, going hungry if the hunt was unsuccessful. Nevertheless, I doubt that the idea of changing his life style ever entered his mind.

But there were others who did give thought to it. For one thing, they approved of hunting and really didn't find much redeeming social value in his behavior. For another, they were horrified at the thought that he might be hungry or suffer from a lack of attention or from inadequate

Fortunately, it is a characteristic of morally self-righteous that they have no answer for an answer.

It wasn't long until an effort was made to secure for my friend these "rights" which he evidently valued so highly. The reasoning was that he had been raised in a poor environment where he was deprived of the opportunity to learn the proper outlook.

When in a proper environment, find a useful job, restore to him his "rights," and he'd settle down and come to appreciate his "rights."

They made him an offer he couldn't refuse. He has a steady job now. He works regular hours. He never has to worry about where the next meal is coming from. He has a warm, safe, dry place to live. And he gets free medical care at public expense.

Does he appreciate it? I'm not sure. He never asked him, because I suspect if he replied at all it would be with a angry growl.

You might ask him yourself sometime. You can find him, most days, hanging back and forth behind the bars of his cage, down at the zoo."

A report on two history-making grain movements

Two "Backbreakers" BACK-TO-BACK

- 1. The huge export grain movement
(Santa Fe can report "mission accomplished" for moving its share of grain to Russia — just one phase of the big export job!)
- 2. The largest winter wheat harvest in history along the Santa Fe
(Now getting underway)

Moving millions of bushels of grain is a big job. To move it in a limited time period while the economy is booming and all shippers calling for more cars and service, makes these huge transportation projects "BACKBREAKERS."

Santa Fe is setting records meeting current demands for service, but no backs are being broken. For example, since last August Santa Fe has moved over 150,000 carloads of grain, a 50% increase in shipments. That's a staggering amount, but it's only part of the story.

With no prior notice to the rail industry to make special preparations, the Russian grain movement of 400-MILLION bushels was announced last year with a completion deadline of May 31, 1973. At the same time even many more millions of bushels were also being exported to other nations.

What Santa Fe did. Starting with a transportation system in excellent condition, Santa Fe people put their "know how" and all facilities in full throttle position.

2,000 new jumbo covered hopper cars were added to bring Santa Fe's fleet to 12,000, the largest in the rail industry.

4,100 smaller covered hopper cars were drafted for use, too, as well as regular box cars. Open-top hoppers not normally used for grain were also employed. In addition 64 new diesels are now hard at work moving the record traffic volume.

Even with all of this, special measures were worked out at considerable expense to the Santa Fe for handling cars to minimize port congestion and keep the railroad fluid.

Santa Fe can report "mission accomplished" for handling its share of the grain to Russia, and we still have other export grain to move, but the big job now ahead is moving this year's harvest.

Largest wheat harvest along the Santa Fe, 687-MILLION bushels
The harvest extends from Texas, across Oklahoma, Kansas, into Colorado and New Mexico. It is already started. It is a vast project and the Santa Fe job is to move the wheat to elevators during the brief period of harvest time.

What Santa Fe is striving for principally is more efficient car utilization, faster yard operations and the best possible use of locomotives to move the grain while keeping all freight rolling.

It's a job that can't be done without the help of everyone in the grain industry and cooperation of all shippers. With everyone working together, two of the greatest moves ever recorded in the history of rail transportation will be accomplished... the huge multi-million bushel export grain movement and the largest harvest in history along the Santa Fe. Two "BACKBREAKERS" back-to-back, with Santa Fe putting its best efforts into getting the job done.

Safe Boating Week

GOVERNOR DOLPH BRISCOE has proclaimed July 1-7 Safe Boating Week in Texas, joining with the Texas Safety Association in urging all boaters in the state to observe safe boating practices.

"Each year an increasing number of Texans are spending more and more time in recreational boating in Texas waterways," said the Governor, noting that the number of boats now registered in Texas approaches 400,000.

"OUR STATE is fortunate in having an abundance of lakes, rivers and streams and the Gulf Coast where Texans can enjoy the pleasures of boating," Governor Briscoe said.

However, he continued to say that this increase in recreational crafts, "greatly intensifies the water safety problem."

"IT IS IMPERATIVE that all boatmen observe the basic rules of boating safety if we are going to keep the loss of life and property damage at a minimum," he said.

"The Congress of the United States, in recognition of the importance of such safe boating practices, has requested by joint resolution that the President proclaim annually the week that includes the 4th of July as National Safe Boating Week.

THE GOVERNORS of the states, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and other areas subject to the jurisdiction of the United States also have been requested to join in the observance," read the proclamation.

The Governor closed the proclamation of July 1-7 as Safe Boating Week in Texas by urging all persons, organizations and governmental agencies interested in safety afloat to publicize and observe safe boating week.

THE TEXAS SAFETY ASSOCIATION, in keeping with the theme of the "Safe Boating Is No Accident"—says that planning and study of safety rules are necessary to avoid boating mishaps.

While each boatman will encounter specialized safety requirements for his particular boat and the way he uses it, TSA suggests a group of basics that make up the "Golden Rules of Boating":

1. Know your boat.
2. Don't overload.
3. Keep a good lookout.
4. Operate at safe speeds.
5. Respect the weather.
6. Take sufficient fuel.
7. Keep your boat in shape.
8. Carry necessary equipment.
9. Secure your boat properly.
10. Obey the law.

19 To Die?

COLONEL WILSON E. SPEIR, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, has estimated that traffic accidents in Texas over the July 4th holiday will claim 19 lives.

Speir said the toll should be less than that recorded on previous July 4th holidays because this year's observance falls in mid-week.

THE OFFICIAL DPS count of fatalities will begin at 6 p.m. Tuesday, July 3, and run through midnight Wednesday, July 4.

Speir said all available Department of Public Safety patrolmen will be on duty during the holiday period in an effort to reduce accidents. He said they would be especially watchful for hazardous traffic violations including speeding and driving while intoxicated.

IN ADDITION to stepped-up highway patrols, Speir said the DPS would conduct its special "Operation Motorcycle" program in cooperation with local law enforcement agencies throughout the state.

Fatal accident summaries will be released three times July 4th to help focus public attention on the traffic situation.

THE DPS director urged motorists to make the holiday safe by obeying all traffic laws, avoiding fatigue, and by not drinking if driving.

He also noted that drivers can reduce the severity of accidents and conserve gasoline supplies by reducing their speed under maximum limits.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Duty Does It

By BOB W.

"DUTY" SEEMS TO BE an objectionable. This is very strange, because "duty" is a good word; and that which it conveys to the mind is good and desirable.

The whole idea of "duty" may be one of the most valuable of all human considerations. "Duty" is a "moral or legal obligation"; it is something that must be done, a "task" to perform.

DUTY, SEEN IN ITS true light, is a blessing. Many persons accept this conclusion, but there are others, great numbers, who are very vocal in expressing their dislike and distate for the total concept of "duty".

Judging from what they say, it is concluded that they consider "duty" as being antagonistic to personal freedom. Obviously, their view of personal freedom is shallow and superficial. It is apparently the childish idea of doing as they please, without any regard for what good judgment and the life situation demand of them.

This grossly misconceived notion of freedom which includes no concern for what is best for them and for others.

"NOT LIBERTY, but "duty", is the condition of existence."—Eliot.

THE SLIGHTED and neglected duty is probably the most hurtful and unnecessary loss suffered by mankind. It means that important work is neglected.

If not completely neglected, it is performed with resentment; and, consequently, it is poorly done. This unjustified resentment will overflow into other situations involving resentful person; family, friends and such like will suffer, too.

THE MISTAKEN VIEW of "duty" is widespread, and is the source of other human problems. It causes a seated dissatisfaction with oneself.

This self-dissatisfaction has possibility of sullying every facet of individual's life.

FULLY ACCEPTING responsibility for recognizing performing all duties cheerfully is desirable and recommended personal accomplishment. Next to this is the situation in which there is someone who can and does insist that we discharge legitimate duties.

This is undoubtedly one of the best blessings found in human associations, the associations which, one way or another, helps us to do "duty". We must learn to appreciate people who insist that we meet obligations.

WE MAY NOT ALWAYS clearly our duty, but faithfully doing the duty we do see will help us to develop a better view; we will become better able to do this is one of our greatest accomplishments.

THE GOOD CONSCIENCE and rewarding results produced by the done well will do as much, if not more than anything else to make life worth living.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT, it's just as far back from California as it ever was.—Don't tell any of our creditors, but we DID go.

People seem surprised when we tell them of our trip. First thing they want to know is, "Did you have trouble buying gas?" The answer, is "No."—We did see a good many stations closed, but all the majors are still around.

Do understand that you may have trouble finding stations opened all night for the convenience of night travelers. Rumor has it that if you do, you may find yourself paying premium prices for fuel.—We didn't try.

NEXT QUESTION: "How much did you have to pay for fuel?" Answer: "About an average of forty-two to forty-three cents per gallon."—That's for the regular grade fuels. And another thing, we didn't let our tanks run much below one-half full before we started looking for our favorite stations.

Did pull into one station that allowed as how he was out of regular fuel, and noticed that the premium pump was marked forty-nine and 9 cents per gallon.—Suspicious me, I could just visualize him pumping his entire supply into the premium tank!—I simply thanked him and drove on to the next station.

ONLY STATION WE saw that was rationing gas seemed to feel unkindly toward vacationers. "Limit: 12 gals per customer with camper, house trailers or mobile homes," his sign advised.

You don't get your windshield cleaned as much as you used to.—Simply nobody asks to check your tires. A few volunteer to look under the hood. (Which I like to do myself anyway.)

"What did you drive?" (Since 'Ol' She's been wrecked) "The old smooth-mouthed '62. She's had more experience at making that trip, anyway!" "Was it hot, out there?"—"Yes, it's not hotter than it's been here, the past week!" (Did melt a tire out on a desert, wherever THAT is!)

"Would you like to go back out the next week?"—"NO, nor next month, next year, for that matter!" However, there's no telling what you might do when you've got kids, and grandkids scattered from coast to coast!

DON'T KNOW IF it's the heat or humidity, but seems that a lot of things should be doing these last few days going undone. Didn't even let Turner bait me with his trick questions. Sure that's a new low!

However, I'm sure about three inches of slow rain and about fifteen degrees cooler temperature would make me feel a lot better.

ANYWAY, GUESS I'M pre-occupied with the goings on up in Washington.—Seems Mr. Nixon would do well to 'fess-up and ask for forgiveness in his misbehavior.—That is, unless this fellow Dean is a dilly dilly liar.

This, and while I've been of the idea that a peaceful co-existence with the Reds might be for the better, I'm ready to get real palsy, yet. Seems our apparent friendship with the fellows is having some bad results for the free(?) nations.—Guess they're getting suspicious, huh?

AT ANY RATE OUR prestige sinking to a new low, especially in the foreign market thing. Guess you can put Watergate and our playing fast with the Reds all together, and understand why?

Oh well, tomorrow's another day reckon.

Turn Row COMMENTS

By EMIL MACHA

RIISING FOOD PRICES are of more concern in other countries than in the United States. In most of the industrial nations, the price of meat and other foods is increasing faster than it is here. In Italy, beef prices jumped 30 percent last year; in France beef was up 15 percent.

In the overall food picture, Austria and Japan had a food increase of 3.7 percent in 1972. The United States only increased 4.3 percent in 1972. Germany and Canada had a 6.2 percent and 6.7 percent increase respectively. The food price in the United Kingdom hike 7.5 percent, Sweden 7.6 percent, France 8.0 percent, Finland 8.8 percent and Spain 8.9 percent.

As a comparison of time required to purchase food, we here in the United States still have a bargain. For example, 21 minutes of working time in the U.S. buys a gallon of milk. It takes 39 minutes to earn a gallon of milk in Paris, 68 in Brazil, 100 in Tokyo and 104 in Moscow.

Of course we grip about the cost of food, but an average supermarket shopper spends about 28 percent of his purchases on non-food items, such as cosmetics, records, cigarettes, clothing, magazines, gasoline, and a host of other items that make the food bill seem higher than it really is.

The built-maid service offered by supermarkets requires a large portion of the remaining 72 percent of the dollar. Prepared foods are convenient and have most of the kitchen work already done.

As an example, a turkey dinner to go into the oven costs about 57 cents per serving at the supermarket. The USDA estimates that a serving of the same dinner prepared at home would cost 34 cents, however the housewife are willing to pay about 50 percent more for the convenience.

Virginia Maurer Making Study With Scientists

Virginia M. Maurer, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Maurer of Littlefield, is among the young scientists who are working under the direction of Texas Tech University archeologists and anthropologists who are investigating what many believe to be one of the most important early man locations in North America.

Miss Maurer is an anthropology student at Colorado College in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The scientists, including graduate and undergraduate students, are looking for evidence of Folsom man who lived 10,000 years ago, and possibly evidence of the Clovis culture which flourished 11,000 to 12,000 years ago. It is the earliest culture known in America.

The oxbow-shaped stream bed, now dry and partially cleared by bulldozers, is the Lubbock Lake Site where a research team from The Museum of Texas Tech University is working with funds from local and state sources and from the National Geographic Society. Museum Director Craig C. Black is project supervisor.

The project not only is expected to have tremendous research and historical value, but also educational importance in the training and development of student anthropologists.

DPS Recruiting New Applicants

The Texas Department of Public Safety is actively recruiting applicants to fill the ranks of its uniformed services. Major C. W. Bell, Regional Commander of the DPS, announced that the training school for new uniformed law enforcement personnel will begin September 25, 1973.

The Major noted that the DPS has been increasingly successful in recruiting persons from minority groups to these positions and said efforts in this direction will continue.

Also in keeping with the current trend, female applicants will be considered for these rewarding careers in law enforcement.

Major Bell said general qualifications for DPS officers are these: applicants must be 20 through 35 years of age; height not less than 68 inches; weight not less than two pounds per inch of height; visual acuity of 20/40 correctable to 20/20; and a minimum of 45 semester hours of college credit.

Applications may be obtained by contacting any DPS employee or any DPS office. The completed application form should be taken to offices in Lubbock, Amarillo or Wichita Falls where the competitive examination is given each Tuesday and Wednesday at 9 a.m.

Major Bell said persons selected as cadets will be assigned to Austin for training at the DPS Academy. The salary during training will be $625 per month, upon being commissioned the salary is raised to $719 monthly with the opportunity to advance to $848 per month.

Uniformed personnel receive additional longevity pay for each five years of service to 25 years. They are also granted a monthly uniform cleaning allowance, and receive travel expenses when away from their station.

Uniforms, vehicles, weapons, ammunition and related equipment are furnished.

Arrangements will be made for a physical examination. A character investigation will be conducted and those persons who are accepted for employment will be notified prior to the beginning of the September recruit school.

AREA SERVICEMEN

JOHN PAT ROBBINS

Sgt. John Pat Robbins is among the select few in the 45th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron at Bergstrom Air Force Base to deploy to the Alconbury Royal Air Force Base in England for three weeks of training under the dual-based concept of air operations.

The Bergstrom squadron, committed to NATO, took 18 McDonnell-Douglas RF4C Phantom II aircraft and approximately 300 support personnel to participate in the exercises known as Creek Bee II. In a similar exercise last year, Bergstrom's 91st Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron deployed to Aviano AB, Italy.

Air Force officials said the exercise is designed to evaluate procedures for deploying, receiving and operating the squadron at its European host base and is not a test of deployment speed or rapid reaction.

The RF4C aircraft flew non-stop from Bergstrom on June 13 in a 9 1/2 hour trans-Atlantic deployment which included several serial refuelings by Boeing KC135 Stratotankers.

Sgt. Robbins is the son of Olene Gibson of Littlefield.

HOW LONG HAVE YOU BEEN PRACTICING BLIND FLYING?

PLAN FOR FALL COLOR
Prior planning can mean a brightly colored landscape this fall, says a landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Four popular plants known for their fall brilliance are the chrysanthemum, candle tree, copper plant and Joseph's coat. Chrysanthemums need well-drained soils with ample water and fertilizer. The other three plants also prefer rich, moist soil. Mums should be transplanted in June or early July and terminal buds should be pinched back through mid-July to promote side branching and more blooms.

No damage to the pig." This is the pink pig, and it is up off its tummy.

Gas Company To Build New Lines

Pioneer Natural Gas Company will start work immediately on a construction program designed to add approximately 100 miles of lines to increase the transmission capacity of Pioneer's present system, according to an announcement made by K. Bert (Tex) Watson, company president.

Speaking before a group of business and civic leaders from the Lubbock area, Watson said, "Upon completion, the total project will represent an additional investment of more than $11 million. This figure is in addition to the more than $2 million company expenditure for gathering lines now under construction or planned for the near future in the Anadarko and Delaware basins."

Watson pointed out that while, "Pioneer continues to enjoy a good position with reference to its gas reserves," the company must continue to seek aggressively new reserves and to improve its system to be able to serve adequately current customers as well as to be able to continue to offer service to new industrial customers throughout its service area. He went on to say, "With the completion of this construction on our transmission system, we will be able to add about 100 million cubic feet of gas a day to our present deliveries."

"Work will start on the first phase of this system-wide project as soon as the materials, which are on order, are delivered," Watson said. "The first portion of the project will be the paralleling of about 30 miles of 10-inch line with a like distance of 12-inch high pressure line from a point about 12 miles west of Pampa, to connect with Pioneer's 20-inch line just east of Amarillo. We will install about 2,100 horsepower of compressor capacity at this point, and the gas from this line will go south to our McSpadden Compressor Station just east of Canyon," he said.

"The second part of the program will be the construction of 45 miles of 16-inch line to start at a point just south of Odessa, to more or less parallel our present line north to Tarzan, and the construction of 23 miles of 16-

"All of the transmission lines in this new project will be high-pressure lines, and the construction should be completed by mid 1974," he said.

The second part of the construction is contingent on finalizing amendments to current sales contracts and removal of price restrictions so that the rates agreed upon may be collected.

This meeting was one of a series of such meetings being held throughout Pioneer's West Texas system during June and July. The purpose for scheduling these programs is to give the communities served by Pioneer an up-to-date report on the energy problems facing the nation and Pioneer's position in this situation.

Watson concluded his talk by saying, "In this rapidly changing business we have stayed in a comparatively good gas supply position, and we can foresee a continuation of this position, although there are numerous pitfalls as the nation proceeds through the extreme energy problems in the near term."

Warm Weather

Warm spring weather and water sports go together. But water, and the excellent recreation it provides, is a source of tragedy each year to the thousands who die by accidental drowning.

Last year, 601 Texans lost their lives in water-related accidents. The vast majority of these deaths occurred in the spring and summer months.

Pointing up the problem, in mid-April, two brothers, age 6 and 13, perished in the Colorado River near Austin, despite warnings that they were playing in a hazardous place.

Lloyd F. Palmer, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, said that most water accidents can be prevented by attention to the basic rules of water safety. The Texas Safety

LAMB COUNTY has over 27,000 acres of improved pasture grasses that have been released by the USDA Soil Conservation Service. (SCS Photo)

Association hopes that Texans will take time to bone up on water safety rules as they bring their bathing suits, boats, and water skis out of winter storage. Palmer listed elementary safety tips for swimmers.

SWIMSAFETY

1. Now is the time to enroll any non-swimmers in the family in swimming courses which are usually offered in the summer by the Red Cross, the YMCA or YWCA and various other community groups.

2. Never swim alone. Know the area in which you are swimming. Even a strong swimmer can be undone by strange currents, tides or sudden dropoffs.

3. Supervise small children constantly.

4. Don't swim if chilled, overheated, overtired or if a thunderstorm threatens.

5. If you are in the presence of a person in danger of drowning, DON'T jump in after him unless you are trained in lifesaving. Extend a pole, life buoy, or anything that will float.

About half the drowning victims in the United States last year were reluctant swimmers—they had no intention of going in the water when they set out. Palmer noted that these accidents are easily prevented, if some basic boating rules are observed.

DEAFNESS

Nerve deafness—the most common type of hearing loss, is caused by deterioration of the nerve endings in the inner ear. This type of hearing impairment is not correctable through medical treatment or surgery.

Pasture Grasses Mean More Beef

There's a lot more beef in your favorite grocery store because of improved grasses planted by Texas conservation farmers and ranchers.

In fact, an extra 335 million pounds of beef is produced in Texas every year from grasses released by the USDA Soil Conservation Service. Edward E. Thomas of Temple, state conservationist for SCS, said the figures came from a recent study conducted by his office.

"Our survey revealed that in the last 20 years, 5.9 million acres of land has been planted to new grasses released by SCS," Thomas said.

"Statewide, increased beef production is averaging 56 pounds per acre per year from these grasses. And the average climbs every year," Thomas admitted that he didn't know how much affected the price of beef at the housewife.

"But take away that million pounds of beef a year and prices would be only one way to go—up, stressed."

"In the past 25 years, beef consumption has jumped from about 64 pounds per person to 113 pounds. Meanwhile, our population has increased more than 50 per cent, adds to a gigantic increase in the demand for beef."

Without improved grasses and better conservation treatment of grassland, demand would outstrip available supplies.

Thomas said 23 grasses released by SCS are grown in Texas. Each has its own area of adaptability used to fill a specific conservation need.

Two grasses account for a major share of the acreage planted. Buffelgrass, released by SCS in 1949, has been planted on 1.8 million acres in Texas, increased production from this grass averages 74 million pounds annually.

King Ranch bluegrass, released in 1941, is grown on about one million acres. Other widely planted grasses include Pensacola bahiagrass, El Reno sideoats grama, and weeping lovegrass.

To illustrate how popular with livestock producers, Thomas told of success of Selection Kleingrass.

"We released this grass for commercial seed grown in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, in 1969," Thomas said. "In spite of the fact that seed are expensive and scarce, 132,000 acres have already been established."

And even though much of this land has not been grazed as yet, increased beef production from this one grass amounted to 11 million pounds last year.

In addition to the increased beef production, the survey revealed that the new grasses have increased multiple production by more than 1 million pounds. Smaller increases were noted for mohair, wool, and goats.

Increased beef production only one benefit from improved grasses. Other benefits include erosion control, reduced sediment damage to lakes and streams, fewer dust storms and more abundant wildlife.

Thomas said several other factors also contribute to increased beef production from Texas grasslands, such as better livestock, improved grassland management, irrigation, and increased use of fertilizer.

"Yet it's hard to grow more beef without having more blades of better grass," Thomas said.

The goal of SCS plant materials work is to find new strains of plants that will solve specific conservation problems. Since livestock and wildlife co-exist on the same land, the search extends to grasses, legumes, forbs, and shrubs which have dual value for both wildlife and livestock. Such plants are needed for a wide range seeding mixtures, travel lanes, or wildlife border plantings.

Strains of plants thought to have value for solving conservation problems, are grown and evaluated at the SCS plant materials center near Knox City. After careful selection, promising strains are field tested on farms and soil and water conservation district cooperators under a wide variety of conditions. Selections that prove superior to other plants available commercially are released to seed growers. These producers then grow seed and sell it to the public.

Some of the groups who cooperate with SCS in its work include Agricultural Research Service, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas A&M University, Texas Tech University, Prairie View A&M, Abilene Christian College, U.S. Air Force, U.S. Corps of Engineers, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, and the state's 100 soil and water conservation districts.

Next time you go grocery shopping, think how bare the shelves would be without that extra 335 million pounds of beef.
