Local savings reach $4,028,000 per year

Residents of Lamb County saved a record amount of money in the past year, they are in financial shape now than they have been for some time.

They salted away a greater proportion of their income than normally, much of it into savings banks, bonds and the like.

Considerable part of their unspent money, also, toward reducing their consumer debt, thus insuring their financial stability still

The amount of new money that the Lamb County population stowed away during the year in the various types of savings came to an estimated $4,028,000.

The finding is based upon national data gathered by the Federal Reserve Board, the Conference Board and others and upon income and spending figures for each area of the country.

The reports show that, for the United States as a whole, personal savings during the past year amounted to nearly $91 billion, or about 8.3 percent of disposable income after taxes. This compares with $74 billion the year before, when the rate of saving was 7.5 percent.

The large nest egg of savings in the hands of local families represents a treasure trove of additional spending power. When their confidence in the stability of the present economic recovery returns and they decide the time is right, this pent-up money could spark a big buying surge.

Just how much a family saves or can save depends upon its income, its needs and the amount it has left after taking care of the essentials.

Those with very small incomes find it difficult to save anything. Families with $7,500 left after taxes have been putting away about 3.5 percent, on average, those with $12,000 net, 7.4 percent, and those with $15,000, close to 8.6 percent.

In Lamb County, in line with the general findings, the amount saved came to an estimated $660 per family, based on average earnings in the local area in the past year.

Irrigation gas users need area farmer participation

Backers of an alliance of irrigation gas users couldn't decide recently on a name, but they agreed to the need for a national group to represent the farmers' interests in Washington.

With that in mind, the framework for such an aggregation was formed during a meeting in Amarillo. Backers of the new organization hope for participation from all irrigation user groups in the country, although only the Southwest Natural Gas Users Association, North Plains Energy Consumer Association and the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association had representation at the session.

Much of the controversy centered around a proper name for the newly formed organization. The organization committee recommended the "National Federation of Irrigation Farmers." That, some said, excluded dryland farmers, while others wanted the word "consumer" somewhere in the group's handle.

Primary concern of the group, the organization committee agreed, should be obtaining an uninterrupted energy source at a reasonable price.

There was, however, no decision on whether the group would be a corporation or an association, or the structure of the board of directors.

All those decisions, made later by the executive committee will be announced when the group meets in November.

As for financing, that committee recommended a tentative goal of raising a minimum of $25,000 as seed money. A percentage of the necessary funding will be apportioned to each individual group joining in the national effort.

The publicity committee agreed that the first concern for spreading the word should come by expanding farmer participation in the individual gas users' associations through local newspapers. With that expansion, the national organization's voice would be strengthened.

Following opening remarks by State Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo, U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower told the group of the need to move toward deregulation. "I wish I could tell you that Congress has addressed itself to the solution," Hightower said, "but what has been done is not getting the ultimate and final solution."

Deregulation, the congressman said, would provide an incentive for production and provide an abundant supply for the short fall.

K. B. "Tex" Watson of Amarillo, president of Pioneer Corporation, said a large percentage of Pioneer's customers, responding to a survey by West Texas State University, were more concerned about competitively maintaining a good gas supply than with higher gas costs.

About 80 per cent of those surveyed by the WTSU Center for Business and Economic Research ranked the availability of gas over price, while more than 80 per cent show a belief that the danger of governmental field price ceilings is a risk of shortage.

"The real subject is wellhead or filed cost of gas, which accounts for 80 per cent of Pioneer's irrigation price, and that percentage is projected to increase further," Watson said, explaining that the pump in price is projected to average two cents per month into next year.

For the past two years, he said, Pioneer has been able to buy more gas than it has sold.

Noting that a higher price would mean more gas, Watson said that in all fields, but particularly multiformation areas, each increment of price has some increment of additional supply. A number of areas of the Anadarko Basin in Texas are not subject to SS- Head, chairman of the Medical Education Subcommittee, has announced that his group will hold a meeting in Austin on Sept. 8.

He said, "Those of us who are concerned with making sure all people have access to good quality health care both in rural areas and in reserved urban areas, want to make sure adequate facilities are available for educating physicians, nurses and other health care personnel in many small towns and rural areas. We state are suffering mightily for lack of a doctor," Head pointed out. "We are hoping to encourage more doctors to locate in rural areas and in reserved urban areas.

"We can talk about methods of recruitment and spending, issues of public health education and adequate equipment, all of which are very important, but when people are sick and have no doctor to treat them, most of these issues become much less important than the securing of medical personnel."

How does all of this affect the community?

To attract new, young doctors to the field in the future, we must have a hospital, and the doctors must be able to open their practice without a costly outlay of cash to buy into a hospital. Most doctors want to practice in a town and not run a hospital.

It is fortunate enough to have 11 hospitals. But where will we be in five years? Without a new hospital? Let's get on it."

City Council meets tonight

Littlefield City Councilmen will meet at 7 p.m. tonight in the council chamber of the city hall for their first-of-the-month meeting. Included on the agenda are three items of business:

Heart Association raises $390 in sales

The Lamb County Division of the American Heart Association is attempting to raise $1,000 for teaching equipment, and during their recent bake sales at Littlefield and Olton, a total of $390 was raised toward the goal.

Littlefield's sale of 45 cakes and several cash donations amounted to $338.50, while the Olton sale netted $51.50. The bake sale at Sudan was postponed until Sept. 11, due to a conflict with the Hotel Fund.

According to Brenda Denton, the Association will conduct other projects during September in an attempt to reach the goal, and she emphasized that cash donations will be accepted.

The equipment, a Resusci-Anne,

Resusci Baby and a Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation teaching film, will be loaned out to various organizations to teach life saving techniques, and will be used with certified instructors who will teach the use of the equipment and show the teaching film.

The life-size and life-like manikins will remain in Lamb County for use locally by any organization or group who desires it.

The board of the Lamb County Division will meet again Thursday, Sept. 16, to discuss other projects for fund raising.

Other cities in the county who wish to help with the fund are invited to contact Mrs. Denton, 385-6197, or the chairman, David Jones, 385-4311.

Cancer Society earns Golden Achievement

The Lamb County Unit of the American Cancer Society has been awarded the Golden Achievement Award from the Texas Division of the ACS, for reaching an all-time high in contributions this year.

This is the third consecutive year Lamb County has received the Golden Achievement Award—once under the chairmanship of Melvin Rape of Olton and twice under the chairmanship of Joella Lovvorn of Littlefield. Mrs. Lady Clare Phillips has served as campaign chairman, and directed the county-wide collections all three years.

Mrs. Phillips reports this year's collections amounted to a total of $9,742. Included in that amount were $8,193 in crusade funds and $1,549 in memorial donations.

Mrs. Phillips had received notification from Austin in early August that the Lamb County Unit had received the Award of Merit, the next highest award, for achieving 41 cents per capita in collections.

Commissioners' Court in end-of-month session

Lamb County Commissioners' Court met in a lengthy session Tuesday, with several hours spent in closed session.

On items discussed and action taken during the opening meeting, Officer Ray Cannon's request for a camera for the highway patrol's office was granted.

A lengthy session concerned county personnel asking for their checks early. Commissioners passed an order that county payroll checks for personnel paid semi-monthly would be delivered by the county treasurer on the 15th day of the month and on the last working day of the month no sooner than noon. If the 15th falls on a weekend or holiday, checks will be delivered by the county treasurer no sooner than 4 p.m. on the day before. No exceptions will be made except for final checks on job termination.

Officials were also ordered to get their payroll affidavits in three days before the pay periods.

General Telephone was granted right of way for buried cable north of Sudan and north of Springlake.

Santa Fe Railway Co. was paid

$1,925.28 for labor and materials used in construction of the crossing gates east of the depot.

Potts Insurance Agency in Olton was paid $3,763 for an increase in insurance coverage as contracted earlier, and the monthly bills were approved for General Telephone.

In final action, a request for two filing cabinets and overselves were approved for purchase from A&B Office Supply.

The next meeting is scheduled for Sept. 13.

Earth deputy sheriff quits

Deputy sheriff Elmer Hall resigned, effective Tuesday. Hall has been the deputy at Earth three years. No one has yet been named to replace him.

Hall is taking the position of assistant manager for the White's Auto Store in Earth. Hall replaces Virgil Grey who is retiring and moving back to Olton.

'Cats improving as opener nears

While most area high school football teams kick-off their season Friday night, the Littlefield Wildcats are enjoying an open date.

The Wildcats showed a big improvement in their defense Friday night and tied Post 1-1 in the final scrimmage. The outstanding performance against a rugged Post crew, sent Wildcats hopes soaring for the upcoming season.

Coach Jerry Blakely praised the defense for improvement and added

Five arrested by officers

Activity at the sheriff's office and county jail was fairly light over the weekend.

A Littlefield man was charged with forgery and released Saturday. A Friona man was charged with theft by check Saturday.

Early Sunday morning a Whitharral woman and man were charged with driving while intoxicated and drunk. Highway patrolmen also charged a Spade man with DWI.

Barry Bearden of Amherst reported the theft of a citizen band radio and a box of tapes taken from his pickup while it was parked in front of his house Sunday night.

The Amherst Drive-In reported vandalism Saturday. Ketchup, mustard, etc. were poured all over the floor.

that the 'Cats played with much more reckless abandon. "We concentrated all week on improving our defense. Our offense slipped a little because of this but it will come back," Blakely said.

Defensive standouts in the line included Tony Cowan, Jack Speck, Ronnie Milligan, Donnie Green, Richard Soria, and Lewis Willey. In the secondary, Terry Foley and Jay Lee turned in outstanding performances.

On offense, Blakely was pleased with the passing game. Led by quarterbacks Rudy Ayala and Eddie Elms the Wildcats completed seven of 11 attempts. Rudolph Smith, Ralph Mendez and Lee hauled the bulk of the aerials. Lane McKinnon and Cowan performed well on in the line while blocking on passing downs.

This week Blakely said that Littlefield will concentrate on trying to improve as a team. Next week the 'Cats will begin to prepare for archival Levelland.

Bull Lake to close

September 12

Bull Lake, managed by the City of Littlefield, will remain open through Sunday, Sept. 12, according to City Manager Jim Blagg.

The gate will officially close at midnight before Monday.

Cleaver says Communists count on internal revolt

IN AN EXCLUSIVE series of prison interviews with sociologist Dr. Laile E. Bartlett, Black Panther revolutionary Eldridge Cleaver says of Cuba and the U.S.S.R.: They take for granted that they can count on certain elements inside the United States. This is part of their perspective; that they are eventually going to conquer and destroy; that they will win."

Portions of these interviews appear in the September Reader's Digest.

Cleaver, who voluntarily returned to the U.S. last year after a seven-year flight from a parole violation, spent much of his time in Third World and communist countries. After this experience he says, "I'd rather be in jail in America than free anywhere else."

WHILE HE NOW says he is devoted to reform from within the system, Cleaver's revolutionary credentials in exile were impeccable, and he was frequently invited to meetings where other countries planned the destruction of the U.S.

The strategy, as Cleaver tells it, was for community countries to "liberate" Third World nations and outnumber the U.S. in weaponry; meanwhile, internal unrest in this country would hasten a decline in power and prestige. Isolated and outnumbered, the U.S. would then succumb to revolutionaries from within.

Lengthy stays in Cuba and Algeria plus visits to North Korea, North Vietnam and China helped alter Cleaver's views on revolution.

In Paris, his final stop, he was forbidden to engage in any political activity.

CLEAVER BEGAN seriously to revise his thinking:

"I came to see that there is a fundamental mistake contained in the Marxist-Leninist ideologies, where they make this distinction between idealism and materialism. Everything dealing with the spirit or with religious subjects is lumped under 'idealism' and condemned as being 'the opium of the people.' I came to feel that there is not only room but a necessity for us to address ourselves to morality and the relationship between people."

CLEAVER, deeply concerned over communist plans to defeat the U.S., says we can't afford race hatred or class war.

Black Americans need "to recognize that they have the same equal rights under the Constitution as Ford or Rockefeller, even if we have no blue-chip stocks. But our membership in the United States is the supreme blue-chip stock, and the one we have to exercise."

STAR-SPANGLED HISTORY

HISTORICAL DRAWINGS BY JOSEPH BOGGS BEALE 1841-1928

"THE PONY EXPRESS"

On April 3, 1860, the first Pony Express relay rider left St. Joseph, Missouri, on the first leg of the 2,000 mile route to Sacramento, California. The entire trip took only 10 days and later trips were made in as few as eight days. Each rider rode 75 miles at a time, day or night, in all kinds of weather, making it possible to cover as many as 250 miles a day. The Pony Express became outmoded with the advent of the nation-wide system of the telegraph, and as a result was ended October 24, 1861. During its 19-month existence, the mail was lost only once. # CLIPS & TIPS

By JOELLA LOVVORN

WHILE I was visiting my mother last week during vacation, she gave me this recipe, noting it would be good for a breakfast snack.

GET THE EDGE on sleepy taste-buds with a dazzling new cake—Spicy Sausage Cake. This unusual addition to breakfast and brunch menus is one that won't go unnoticed.

This moist and hearty creation is great for snacking, too. Pack it along on warm weather outings. Since there is no sticky frosting, it's a "no-mess" dessert or snack.

Cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice and cloves supply the flavor, while the combination of sugar and sausage add moisture. Enriched flour contributes essential B-vitamins—niacin, thiamin and riboflavin—and the mineral, iron, as well as protein and carbohydrate. Add it all up and you're serving one terrific cake.

Plan to bake Spicy Sausage Cake the day before you serve it. Then the flavors have ample opportunity to blend. If yours is a small family, put half the cake in the freezer. It stores well and keeps for up to two months. Allow the frozen cake to thaw in the aluminum foil or plastic wrapper.

For shorter storage, refrigeration is recommended. But storage should be the least of your worries. Its versatility and flavor make it just right for all occasions.

SPICY SAUSAGE CAKE

10 to 12 servings

- 2 cups enriched flour
- 1 tbs. baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/2 tsp. allspice
- 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
- 1/2 tsp. ground cloves
- 1 lb. bulk pork sausage
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1 cup evaporated milk
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- 1 cup seedless raisins

Stir together flour, baking powder, salt and spices. Beat sausage and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in vanilla. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Thoroughly blend flour mixture into creamed mixture alternately with milk, beginning and ending with flour. Fold in nuts and raisins. Pour into greased and floured 9-cup mold or bundt pan. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven about 60 minutes. Invert and remove from pan. Store refrigerated.

THERE HAS BEEN ADVICE galore this summer about how to can and preserve fruits and vegetables to make them safe as well as savory.

Now, near the lull of the home-canning storm, families are being reminded that safety precautions should not end when the last jar lid pops. The signal that a firm seal has been established on your goodies!

At least 8,000,000 home gardens were tilled, planted and harvested in America this year, partly to counter inflation, and the produce from many has gone into larders in jars and freezer bags, along with tons of fruits and vegetables bought at the height of the season.

This canning boom has prompted the Department of Safety and Research of the Combined American Insurance Company to urge that as much care be taken in consumption as should have been taken in production.

Of particular importance is the deadly botulin toxin that can lurk in low-acid vegetables such as beans, corn zucchini, cabbage, carrots and peppers—particularly when they have not been cooked under pressure.

To help promote dinner table safety, experts recommend a few simple precautions, including:

—When someone gives you the home canned results of a backyard garden, do not hesitate to inquire if the jams, preserves or vegetables have been subjected to boiling water baths after being placed in jars. In the case of vegetables—even tomatoes, which are sometimes low in acid—they should have been cooked under pressure. If the answer is "no," thank the donor and throw out the gift later.

—If home canners follow the advice of Agriculture Department authorities they will have used self-sealing caps with screw bands. They bands may be set aside for future use when the seal is set, but the lids should be discarded as soon as they have been removed.

—Examine each jar before opening. If there is a bulging lid, a break in the seal, any sign of mold or indications of fermentation bubbles, boil the contents for about 20 minutes before taking a sip, and then if you have any doubts, throw the jar and contents into the garbage.

—Do not be concerned about a black deposit that may develop on the underside of the lid. Some foods contain elements that cause these stains even in a well-processed, thoroughly sealed jar.

—The odor of preserved food should be the same as it was before it was placed in the jar. If it does not smell just right, if it seems soggy, cloudy or spurts when you make a hole in the lid, throw it out—and in a place where no human or animal can touch it. Wash your hands thoroughly, as well as the utensil you used to open the jar. Scrub the surface on which you were working. Botulin may be present.

Storage of canned goods is important, too. Combined's safety experts recommended they should be kept in a dark, dry place at a temperature of 70 degrees or less. Refrigerated foods should be held at a maximum of 40 degrees, while frozen fruits and vegetables are best at 0 Fahrenheit.

"Remember, above all," said a member of Combined's safe cooking corps, "that just because produce from your garden was canned as soon as it was harvested does not automatically mean that it is safe."

What YOU DO TO IT is what makes it safe—or dangerous.

Making it safe requires not only proper preparation but careful handling until it appears on the dinner table.

FROZEN DESERTS were brought to France from Italy in 1533 by Catherine de Medici and her retinue of cooks and servants when she left Italy to wed the future French king, Henry II. Alexander Dumas in his book about Catherine reported that a different flavor ice cream was served each of the 34 days of her marriage festivities.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Our sufficiency

THE MAJORITY of us, it seems, want more than we have. We seem to think that there is a significant insufficiency in our life structure.

From the standpoint of perfection, and, even consideration of the possibility for each person, there may be some deficiency.

Nevertheless, the general condition is not undesirable; and we are creating an unwanted life situation, if we take the attitude that insufficiency is our problem.

INSUFFICIENCY IS NOT our problem, even though we may, be the very strictest calculations, admit that some aspects of life are not complete. The real problem is in our failure to make the best of what we are and what we do have.

"Our sufficiency" is much better than many of us realize. At least, the potentials and the possibilities are realities. Our task, then, is to make sure that we recognize and appreciate "our sufficiency".

WE CAN WASTE much time and effort, and, in fact, much of life wishing for something that may be out of our reach; but, more often than not, it is something within the area of our potentials and possibilities.

With most of us, "our sufficiency" in both the actual and in the possible is greater than we think it is.

IT MIGHT BE BETTER if we could have more, and be more than we are; but if we are not doing the best we can with what we have, and with what we are there is no reason for thinking we could do better with more.

It is entirely too convenient to excuse ourselves by saying that life, or fate, or circumstance has been unfair with us. Frequently, we do not recognize "our sufficiency" for what it is. Oftentimes, much better than we think.

"THE QUESTION for each of us to settle is not what he would have had more money, time, intelligence, educational advantages; but what he will do with what he has."

WE HEAR AND READ about shortages, and the possibilities of national shortages; and some are accompanied with alarm which may not be justified.

Nevertheless, we must be concerned about "our sufficiency" in both the individual and collective, and the wisest possible use and application we can practice. This is done, while we are busy with ways to increase our resources and supplies.

WE HAVE MORE than we realize. This is true, both from the standpoint of self and of material resources.

Even so, we have nothing to be proud of or to brag about. We are better off than we think. "Our sufficiency" is greater than we realize.

THE LIFE BALANCE, therefore, is the full appreciation and wise care of what we have. Seek both increase and improve.

HONEY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

WAS QUITE SEVERELY reprimanded for the wise crack I'd written about the questionable odor out around the city sewer. And to add to the thing, may have been mistaken.

"Just why don't you get a few facts together, before you put some stupid thing in the paper, like you did last time?" I was asked. "Besides that, you don't even know what you're smelling, do you?"

"Er, well, I thought I did," I offered. "Just what do YOU think I'm smellin'?"

"YOU'RE SMELLIN' that dye, from the mill?" was his answer, "and if you don't like it, you can just stay away!"

"Well, I didn't know that," I answered. "Maybe you're right? But anyway, I like your last point, the best." End of conversation.

"WELL, PERHAPS I was wrong." (I kept thinkin' to myself "If I was, then I need to be able to say so.") So I took another drive out by the place in question. "It's all in your head" I kept tellin' myself. "You've just got to think 'DYE', instead of that other word."

So, I opened the ventilator on the ol' bus and started sayin' to myself. "Dye, dye, dye, dye!" suddenly, I lost my voice, and had to close my mouth, I stepped on the gas, while rollin' the window down. After a mile or so, the air began to clear inside the car. "I must have done something wrong", I muttered.

SUDDENLY, I remembered what the guys up at the feed yard said about the odor around that place. "Just think of it as smelling like new money!" they always say. "So maybe that'll help." I decided.

So, I turned around and started back toward town. (I must admit I closed all the vents on the car.) "Money, money, money, money!" I kept sayin' to myself, while steppin' on the gas. Do have to say I made it in the end. Guess that's the answer to the whole problem? However, I recommend you roll up the vent on your car, and close the ventilator.

FINE THING, don't you think? I'm the only writer to put former editorial page. And, I mean, I thought I'd put together a good set of thoughts.

However, I guess you can't do that aforementioned page but a few inches shorter, I'd have the whole thing!

KIND OF GIVES you an idea to how you rate, I reckon. I suppose they're tryin' to do something??

Oh, well, being a mild-mannered guy, and of such sunny disposition could only sulk through one of them. Perhaps I don't recognize good journalism. Eh?

Anton school hires firm

ANTON— In 1975 the Texas Legislature enacted legislation whereby every school district without our State must pay locally 30 cents on each $100 of the full market value of property within the school district for the tax year 1975-1976. In the 1976-1977 school year the district must pay 35 cents on each $100 of the market value of property in said district. These values were determined by the State.

In 1964, the Anton ISD hired McMorris and Co. to appraise all real estate in the district. Since that time values have changed considerably. The oil companies have been appraised each year, and have cautioned the Board of Trustees that they will not take any more increases until real estate in the district has been updated to a market value figure as is required by law.

In view of the above, the Anton board of trustees has employed McMorris and Company to re-appraise all of the real estate in the Anton school district. This is being done to obtain equal and uniform values as required by law.

The company is at work reappraising property now and the project will be completed by June 1, 1977.

Each property owner may ask questions when the appraisers visit the property. In July, 1977, each tax payer will receive a letter advising of the appraised value of the property. At that time the property owner may meet with the appraisers and discuss the appraisal.

In the event the owner and the appraisers cannot agree on the property value, the owner has the right to appear before the School Board of Equalization to present evidence as to the market value of the property in question. The Board of Equalization will be local property owners, appointed to the Board by the Board of Trustees.

Regarding agricultural lands, McMorris stated, "It is necessary to know how much water is being pumped from each irrigation well, since the schedule of values shall be dependent in part on what the irrigation wells will actually pump. For example, a well pumping 4" water will cover more land than a 3" well, therefore, to insure accuracy, we would appreciate very much receiving accurate well information.

In the event the appraisers miss any tax payer please advise Mrs. Erelene Webb at the School Tax office the amount of water each irrigation well on each tract of land is actually pumping.

King-Perry wedding solemnized in Sudan

MRS. MORRIS PERRY

SUDAN— Miss Elaine King and Morris Perry exchanged double-ring nuptial vows at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 14 in the First Baptist Church of Sudan.

The ceremony was performed by Benny Benjamin of Sunset Church of Christ School of Preaching in Lubbock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. U. J. King of Sudan. The bridegroom is the son of Betty Bruggeman of Portales, N.M. and the late Rev. Leon Perry.

Vows were exchanged before a bridal arched candelabra and kneeling bench flanked by spiral candelabra and decorated with huckleberry foliage carnations, babies breath and blue ribbon.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white chiffon with white flocked flowers over bridal satin which was made by her sister, Mrs. Tresa West of Brownfield. Fashioned with a bodice fitted above the natural waistline, the gown featured a sheer tucked yoke accented with pearls and a wedding band collar. A satin band joined the bodice to the softly-gathered skirt with a scalloped-edged chapel-length train attached just above the natural waistline in back. The dress and train were hand sewn with more than 1,000 seed pearls. The full Bishop sleeves were loose pleated and cuffed with a six-inch satin cuff accented with the tiny pearl buttons. Completing her ensemble was a satin and pearl capelette with a tiered bouffant illusion veil accented with lace and pearls and fell below her waistline. She carried a tapered bouquet of blue and white stephanotis and babies breath and a liftofit white cymbidium orchid atop a white Bible.

Following tradition, her gown and veil were "something new"; "something blue" was the blue satin and lace garter; "something old" were pennies minted in the years of the couple's births; and "something borrowed" was her sister's Bible.

honor. Bridesmaids were Carolyn Carpenter; Stephanie Sims, cousin of the bride from Seagoville; and Skokie King, sister of the bride. They wore floor-length identical dresses fashioned of baby blue chiffon flocked with flowers. They featured gathered skirts attached to the bodice just above the natural waistline with blue satin ribbon, a rounded neckline, and short sheer puffed sleeves. They carried parasols matching their dresses.

Blue candles were lighted by Ricky King and Gwenna King, brother and sister of the bride. Ricky wore a black tuxedo with blue ruffled shirt and black bow tie. Gwenna's dress was identical to bridesmaids. She wore a wrist corsage.

Heather West, Brownfield, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress was fashioned after the bridal attendants. She wore a blue satin ribbon and flowerlets in her hair and carried a parasol upside down filled with flowers.

Groomsmen were Kenneth Fender, Muleshoe; Eddie Perry, brother of the groom, Lawton, Okla.; Shelby Oliver of Lubbock. Best man was James Abston of Hereford.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with black pants. Groomsmen wore black tuxedos and blue shirts.

Guests were seated by Howard Manasco of Muleshoe and Eddie Perry of Lawton, Okla.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Janette Hill, of Hereford, pianist, and sister of the groom. "The Wedding Prayer" was sung as the couple knelt at the kneeling bench.

The bride presented a long stemmed white rose to her mother with a kiss as she was escorted to the altar, and to her mother-in-law as she left the altar with her husband.

Debbie Perry of Portales, sister of the groom, presided over the registration table as guests registered in the bride's book.

The mother of the bride chose a floor-length dress of pastel pink topped with a lace coat of the same color and an orchid corsage. The groom's mother wore a floor-length dress of blue and white and an orchid corsage.

The reception following the ceremony was held in the church fellowship hall where the bride and groom, and their parents greeted their friends and relatives. The bride's table was laid with a tiered white lace cloth over satin and centered with a silver candelabra holding blue candles and surrounded by miniature blue parasols. The traditional three-tiered white wedding cake was decorated with white grapes and topped with white satin wedding bells and white doves. White sherbet punch in a silver punch bowl, nuts and blue mints made by Billyc Doty were also served. Presiding were Tresa West and Mary Lou Boone of Portales, N.M., sister of the bride and groom.

The groom's table was laid with a white linen cloth. A two-tiered chocolate cake decorated with chocolate grapes topped with a silver cross with interlocking wedding bands and coffee from a silver coffee service, and nuts were served by Angela Evins and Donna Perkins of Friona, also sisters of the bride and groom.

Valeri Bruggeman, sister of the groom distributed rice bags shaped like roses of baby blue and white satin, from a rose tree.

Members of the houseparty were Billyc Doty, Evelyn Ritchie, Ruth Ham, Madge Beauchamp and Marge Cardwell.

Following the wedding trip, the couple is at home in Sudan. The groom is employed at American Cotton Growers Denim Mill in Littlefield. The bride is employed at Sudan Beacon-News.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Betty Bruggeman and children of Portales, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Perkins and children, Friona; Mrs. Janette Hill and Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Vogler and children, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Vogler, Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dean Goetsch and Mike Goetsch of Farwell; Mr. and Mrs. Byron West and Heather of Brownfield; Mr. and Mrs. Terry Evins and Spencer of Fieldton; Miss Stephanie Sims of Seagoville; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Perry of Lawton, Okla.; Janet Kelly of Muleshoe; Kay Burge of Littlefield, Mrs. Dewayen Phillips and Christi of Lubbock; Shelby Oliver of Lubbock, Kenneth Fender of Muleshoe, and James Abston of Hereford.

The rehearsal supper for the King-Perry wedding party was held at the fellowship hall of the Sudan Church of Christ and hosted by Mrs. Betty Bruggeman of Portales, Mrs. Donna Perkins of Friona and Mrs. Janette Hill of Hereford, mother and sisters of the groom.

Mary Geistman honored on 90th birthday

Mrs. Mary Geistman was honored on her 90th birthday Sunday afternoon in Knight's Rest Home in Littlefield, when 32 friends and relatives gathered for punch and cake to help her celebrate.

Former Littlefield artist returns for one-man show

Leila Brashear Orr, Houston artist who got well underway in the art world while living in Littlefield, will be conducting an art exhibit in the Security State Bank in Littlefield Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, Sept. 8-10, during regular banking hours (10 a.m. to 3 p.m.).

Mrs. Orr, wife of Dr. W.N. Orr, former Littlefield dentist, is a versatile artist who paints both landscapes and people. "According to Art Writer Margaret Taylor Dry, who wrote about Mrs. Orr in the Austin American-Statesman, 'Her landscapes are mostly impressionistic in the manner of Gisson and usually have children or people in them. She calls herself a 'people watcher' because people and their activities interest her and usually find a place in her art.'"

Mrs. Dry continued, "but, although her landscapes with their delicate coloring are lovely, the paintings that I feel are most unusual in the collection are what she calls 'Shivas,' which have as their subject matter the indistinct form of a girl or perhaps two girls together."

"These derive their names from the fact that she uses a shiva undercoater that dries to a rough surface and adds a rougher texture to the finished work. She lets this undercoater dry for six weeks before she starts the painting in oil using only two colors, burnt umber and green. The result of this work is hard to explain, they simply have to be seen," Mrs. Day explained.

Mrs. Orr was born in East Texas in Texarkana on the Texas side, and was greatly impressed as a child by excursions through wooded areas near her home where she was always on the lookout for something unusual—a bird's nest, colorful insects and the way blades of grass caught the light or the greenery and coloring of trees. Her first remembered drawing was done at about six years of age when she drew the tree which was just outside her playroom window.

After she was grown, her first attempts at art were drawing portraits of her two sons, and she started studying art books, and finally took instruction from Frederick Taubes; Dr. Emilio Caballero; Helen Van Wyk of Rockport, Mass.; Ramon Froman of Dallas; Harry Worthman of Houston; Emily Guthrie Smith of Fort Worth; Ruth Tears of Dallas; Henri Gadbois of Houston; and A. D. Greer of Austin.

In 1958, Mrs. Orr won her first, second and third award ribbons in china painting during the Lamb County Fair. In 1967, she won first and second art award in Brownfield for her paintings, and took the top award in the Lubbock South Plains Membership Show; and that same year she took first award in the Conservative Arts Show in Houston.

In 1967 she won the top award with the Lubbock Art Association, and designed and painted the draperies at First Methodist Church of Littlefield.

In 1970, she won best of show awards with "Homeplace", in Conservative Arts show; first award in the Texas State NLAPW at Fort Worth; showed works in the NLAPW 25th Biennial Art show at Salt Lake City, Utah; and the Art League Juried Show.

Her exhibitions and awards in 1971 included the Best of Show (portrait) in the Brenham Art Show; Gamma Phi; a one-man show at the Paint Box in Houston; a one-man show at the Conservative Arts in Houston; and the Texas Gulf Coast Show at River Oaks Bank.

In 1972 she showed in a one-man show in La Porte, was selected winner at the Texas State NLAPW in Houston, showed in the NLAPW's 26th Biennial in Washington, D. C., exhibited in the Art League of Houston's juried exhibit, and Gamma Phi.

She is listed in the Intercontinental Biographical Association, World Who's Who of Women, Art on the Texas Plains at Lubbock, International Platform Association, Artists/USA for 1972, '73, '74, and '75, Personalities of the South, 2,000 Women of Achievement in 1972 (England) Dictionary of International Biography, National League of American Pen Women, and the American Artist Professional League of New York.

She has won numerous awards with her shows throughout this year, and is presently studying with Lajos Markos of Houston. She is also president of Conservative Arts of Houston for 1976-'77.

She invites all her friends and others to view her exhibit.

LEVINA PARROTT was given a surprise birthday party Friday while at work at Gibson's Discount Center. The party was a shock to Levina who quit having birthdays a few years ago.

Super Boll 700

Featuring Macha Seed Farms

Macha Seed Farms, formerly Macha Seed Company Inc., of Plainview now of Littlefield, rounds out its cottonseed program with the new Super Boll 700.

The Super Boll 700 is a close fruited cotton that has proven to be able to produce exceptionally high yields under dryland conditions. Like all other of the Macha cotton varieties, the Super Boll 700 is quick maturing and has the capability of grading and miking in the premium price range.

Macha Seed Farms adds this new variety to their already-proven Macha 1100, which according to many area farmers is second to none, especially under irrigated or tight soil conditions.

Other varieties that are growing in popularity are the Macha WR-2, a dependable wilt-resistant variety that is noted for its production under extreme wilt conditions as well as its stormproofability, and Macha M-57, a large storm-proof cotton that was bred for sandier soils and rolling land.

Experimental No. 11T1 is a new cotton that will be released on a limited basis this fall. This cotton is believed to be an extremely high producer with an average or higher mike. It is quick maturing and has small bolls.

On the drawing board, so to speak, is another cotton that will be available to cotton producers in a few years, and that is a new insect and disease resistant variety of cotton. It has been noted that this new stormproof variety has held up under extreme wilt and insect conditions and produced an above average yield of quality cotton.

Other seed available from Macha Seed Farms are the Macha 9173 and Macha 9173 GBR milo varieties. Both varieties have short thick stalks with high yield capabilities. This milo is very versatile, as it will produce high under dryland or irrigated conditions. It has been noted that farmers who planted Macha 9173 GBR (Greenbug resistant) exclusively did not have to spray for greenbugs this past season.

For the farmers and ranchers who plant a highbred sudan grass, Macha introduced the Macha Cow Craz about five years ago. This particular variety is a two-way cross that can be grazed or baled.

This will be the first year for Macha to sell corn seed. Up until this year, the seed was given away to corn producers throughout the cornbelt. It has been accepted and now Macha Seed Farms feel they can compete in the cornseed market.

Springlake-Earth Board adopts budget

— The Board of Trustees of Springlake-Earth Independent School District met Monday evening in regular session. The board voted to adopt the budget of $961,235 which is 2,994 higher than the 1975 budget. The increase in budget is caused by rise in cost of insurance, higher cost of utilities and higher cost of local share of educational expense. Supt. Bill Mann announced that 733 students have enrolled in Springlake-Earth schools. There are 177 in elementary grades, 209 in junior high and 187 in high school.

Olton community planning buy Girlstown pickup

— The Olton Community has a project underway to purchase a new 1976 pick-up truck to be presented to the U.S.A. at Whiteface. Contributions from local organizations and individuals have been made with this in mind. Any amount paid to the Olton Bank is tax deductible. Donations may be left at Olton Bank.

Spade P-TA to meet — The Spade P-TA will meet Thursday, Sept. 2, 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium. Introduction of the new members will be included in the program, besides other business matters.

Couple on trip following wedding

— Miss Teresa and Benny Akin were married Saturday night in the First United Methodist Church with Rev. Carlton Johnson of Plainview, District Superintendent, officiating the double-ring ceremony.

— Mrs. Dwayne Wilks and Mr. and Mrs. Akin of the Circle Lake area are parents of the bride and groom. The newlyweds are graduates of Olton High School. The bride is a graduate of Texas Tech University and plans to do graduate work at West Texas State University.

Food Service Society to meet in Lubbock

The Texas HIEFSS (Hospital, Institution and Educational Food Service Society) will conduct its annual meeting Friday, Sept. 10, in the South Park Inn in Lubbock. Officers will be installed, and among them will be Mrs. Gayle Simpson, dietetic assistant of the Littlefield Hospital, who will be installed as president.

Bettye Thompson of Fort Worth will be installed as president-elect; Bettye Baker of Floydada will continue serving as secretary; Coquese Reid of Fort Worth will return as treasurer; and Ruby Clark of Muleshoe will serve as the news letter chairman.

A report on the annual National HIEFSS meeting in St. Paul, Minn. last week will be presented by Sibyl Spielman, state chairman of advisors from Big Spring; Ethel Pringle, state president for 1975-'76 from Big Spring; Mrs. Simpson and Coquese Reid.

During the St. Paul convention, the president, Amelia Matthews, and president-elect Robert McNutt, were interviewed. Mrs. Matthews stated, "It's the goal of our organization to prevent what happened recently after the American Legion convention in Philadelphia, where hundreds became ill and many of them died."

"HIEFSS, sponsored by the American Dietetic Association and organized in 1960, strives to upgrade food serving techniques and nutritional quality in hospitals, nursing homes, schools and other institutions."

"The end result we want," said McNutt, "is for every patient, or student resident to get a good meal and eat it."

"This takes education of a variety of people," according to Matthews. "She said Americans still are eating too much and getting too little nutrition from it. They need to be educated by parents from childhood to choose a good diet. School and other institutions need to provide better diets and food processors should be more aware of human nutrition needs and encourage good eating habits by offering appropriate products.

She said it costs no more to eat properly than it does to eat poorly, giving the potato chip as an example. The food company first refines the potato, changing it to powder form, at the same time destroying much of its nutritive value. Then it is reformed into the chip form.

Obviously, it's cheaper to buy a raw potato than a processed one, but what about offering a hot potato? McNutt explained vending suppliers could easily make use of microwave ovens and make baked potatoes available. And Matthews suggested they could offer more fresh and canned fruit.

HIEFSS also is concerned with seeking the highest possible standards of safety and sanitation.

And the group believes every institution serving large numbers of people should have trained personnel, including a dietician. McNutt said in his experience he has often found that administrative people and board members are satisfied as long as they have low paid staff members in food services. "Often the people in decision-making positions have nothing at all to do with the food product. Each should have a competent person to write specifications so that quality of products is considered as well as prices when receiving bids."

"Recently the federal government has watched our progress and they've helped our cause," Matthews added. She said a law now requires that any institution should have at least one individual who has completed at least 150 hours of training meeting HIEFSS standards in order to qualify for Medicare or Medicaid.

GOD'S FIVE MINUTES

"CLOSE CALL"

I stood on the decking of an oil well drilling rig in southern Oklahoma one day talking to the "tool pusher," the chief deck hand. I turned to go, bidding my friend goodbye with a wave of the hand. I took about three steps across the platform when, simultaneously, I heard the warning shout and the thunder of a piece of equipment hitting the very spot on which I had stood only seconds before!

Whatever it was, was heavy. It had crashed through the heavy deck timbers and buried itself deep in the mud under the deck. I had moved out of its way even as it was falling! Everyone smiled, shrugged, said goodbye again, and as I departed, my friend's lips formed the words, "Close call!"

It sure was! But life's full of them. The important thing, after a close call, is to be reminded that you were spared for a purpose. Don't simply smile, shrug your shoulders and talk about "fate" and "luck." Talk to yourself and others about an experience you and God shared one day. When certain death brushed by your shoulder with only an inch to spare, remember how your heart instinctively looked up and formed the words, "Thank you, Father." And He smiled back at you. You were spared for a purpose. Don't fail to find it!

Mark Barton chosen 'Athlete of the Year'

EARTH—Mark Lee Barton has been selected as Prep Track and Field 'Athlete of the Year' for 1976. This announcement is made by editors of Coach and Athlete Magazine and Barton's former coach, Tom Phelps, now of Lubbock.

Barton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ardis Barton of Earth, competed in state track and field events this year. He is a senior of Springlake-Earth High School, a member of the Wolverine football squad of the varsity basketball team. Early this spring, track field coaches throughout the nation were invited to nominate the outstanding athletes of their team. Barton's name will be included in the edition of prep track and field athletes of the year published in September, and presented to National Track and Hall of Fame, Charlottesville, Va. where it will be displayed.

T. O. MOTE holds a 10-pound Channel Catfish that he caught Monday morning in Lamb County. The huge fish is believed to be the largest ever caught in the County. Mote lives near Spade. [Leader-News Photo]

SUDAN'S HORNETS will be long on experience this season, and this batch of returning all-district selections is expected to keep Coach Jackie Stewart happy. In front from left are James Graves, Lonnie Williams, Terry Swart, Haldon Messamore and Steve Richards, who will comprise the offensive line this season, and behind are Stewart and backs Jerry Williams, Craig Pickett and Kyle Martin. ### Battle of sexes looms in PPP

A gigantic "battle of the sexes" is shaping up as the Leader-News Peerless Pigskin Prognosticators begins in the issue.

The panel of experts includes Sarah Tollett, Pat Yarbrough and Sherry Campbell. Joining this trio will be Kip Cutshall, Emil Macha and Jerry Tidwell.

Fourteen games will be picked each week for the Leader-News' merchant-sponsored contest, and the same games will be used for the PPP guessers.

The winner of the contest will win a weekend for two to Whittier's Corner.

Chamber plans trip to game

The Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a bus trip to the Dallas-New York Giants football game on Nov. 7.

The bus will leave Littlefield Saturday morning and return after the game Sunday afternoon. The tickets are being procured through the Irving Chamber of Commerce in order to get choice seats.

The round-trip costs $55. Reservations may be made by calling the Chamber office.

District 3B have come out almost unanimously in favor of the Sudan Hornets, and a look at what's coming back from last year's 8-4 district championship team tells why.

Coach Jackie Stewart can look to five linemen and three backs, practically his entire offense, who are not only returning starters but also returning all-district selections. "We've got a senior ball club, no question about that," smiles Stewart. "There'll be 15 on the team, and nearly all of them have been playing a lot the last few years."

Holding down that line are two real standouts: 180-pound tackle James Graves and 157-pound guard Lonnie Williams. Graves was named to the All-state team on offense, while Williams was the only Class B player named first team All-South Plains two ways.

Gone is leading rusher Danny Williams, a big fullback who gutted it inside for almost 1,500 yards in 1975. But the other two backs return, and what will be missing on inside power will be made up for in outside speed.

Kyle Martin, 160 pounds and an All-South Plains line-backer, ran for 1,260 yards as a halfback and has run a 10.3 in the hundred. A couple of steps in front of him is Joel Williams, a 9.9 sprinter who will be a prime receiver out of the flanker position. Jerry Williams, a 10.1 runner, will fill out the backfield, while bringing experience to split end in senior Edgar Tamplin.

Throwing the ball will be Craig Pickett, a better than average passer according to the coach. "The last two years our running game has been strong enough so that we haven't had to pass. But this season the big running back is gone, and we're gonna have to set up our outside running attack with a better passing game."

Where the strength last season was in the rush, Stewart thinks the defense this year will lead the way. "It'll just be a matter of getting things to jell. We've got the kids back—we've just got to get a little more aggressive. The last two years the kids have been learning the defense we've put in. Now I think they've finally got it figured out, and they'll be able to hit without having to think about it first."

Only one defensive end is missing off that front line, and six athletes are trying for the opening. That kind of depth marks the Hornet line. The tackles are both proven performers in 180-pound Steve Richards and 220-pound Roy Don Duggins. The returning defensive end is all-district selection Haldon Messamore.

The entire secondary is back in Pickett, Joel Williams and Jerry Williams. And leading the linebacking corps in Martin, the "team leader on defense," says Stewart.

Last year the Hornets were 1-3 going into district play, but reeled off seven straight wins to wrap up the title. "We're geared this summer to have a better early season start," Stewart said. "We draw Valley there in our first district game, then follow two weeks later with Motley County, probably the two toughest teams we'll play. We've got to get ready early."

District: 2B. Mascot Hornets. Colors: Black and gold. Returners: 17 lettermen, 4 backs, 13 linemen.
