Local Firemen Serve Barbecue At Girlstown

Littlefield Volunteer Firemen will serve 2,400 pounds of barbecued beef this afternoon at the 22nd Anniversary Open House Celebration of Girlstown, U.S.A.

Guests from throughout the area are expected to visit the foster home for approximately 87 girls, located nine miles south of Whiteface on FM road 1780.

Girlstown moved to the Whiteface location in July of 1949, after a beginning at Buffalo Gap.

More than 1,000 girls from infancy through maturity have made Girlstown their home, and many of the former residents will be returning to the campus for a reunion with "family" members.

Expansion of the home's facilities include campuses now at Borger and Austin. A total of 130 girls can now be cared for by the three homes, and girls from Borger and Austin will travel to the Whiteface campus for the annual event.

The Whiteface home is located on farm land and provides a rural home-like setting for girls from throughout the United States.

Tours of the facility will begin the program at 2 p.m., and at 3:30 p.m. the new "Miss Girlstown U.S.A." will be selected from five candidates.

Candidates are Sundai Ford of Beaumont; Shanna Holland of Pampa; Kathy Stull of Cisco: Debrah Kildow of Monahans; and Dawn Bowman of Baltimore, Md.

==FEATHERED 'HOE HANDS'=

Work Free 'Til Sundown

By NILAH RODGERS Leader-News Staff Writer

Several farmers north of Littlefield have about 200 hoe hands each that like to keep weeds out of cotton crops so well that they work from sunup until sundown-for free.

While most farmers are searching for hoe hands and paying a dollar an hour for less than enthusiastic help, Johnny Feagley, Doyle Tapley, Ledford Enloe and other farmers north of town have several hundred hoe hands that go to work as soon as they can get out in the morning and have to be driven out of the fields at night. And the fact that the hands like grass and consume hundreds of joints a day is one of the things the farmers like best. These hard-working birds are geese, and the grass they go for is the root Johnson

Hail Suppressors Need More Money

More money is needed for continued operation of the 1971 hail suppression program in Lamb County, according to H.L. Messamore, treasurer of Lamb County Better Weather, Inc.

Messamore said $2,600 more is needed to continue the program through Oct. 1. Enough money has been collected to continue the program through August. Frank Moore, president of the Plains Weather Improvement Association, said the Plainview area needed more money to continue their program, also.

Officers of the association said farmers had lost interest in the program because there hadn't been any clouds, therefore no threat of hail.

Moore said the association must pay Atmospherics, Inc. as promised this year or the 1972 program will be in jeopardy, grass that plagues many farmers in this good irrigation district. Using geese to keep fields clean isn't anything new with these farmers. Reno Rochelle pioneered the idea years ago, and after some of his neighbors watched his feather-brained hands operate in 1958-59, they decided geese for hoe hands wasn't as far out as they first thought.

Rochelle has been gone from this area several years, but Feagley, Tapley, Enloe and others who've tried the geese continue to use them.

The main purpose of the geese is to keep down the root Johnson grass.

Before getting the geese, they all practically lost their feed crops because of the Johnson grass and growing cotton in Johnson grass was out of the question. Now Johnson grass in the bar ditches is the only evidence left, and not a sprig of grass can be seen in the fields where the geese go about their "hoeing. 'I got laughed at when I told someone that three or four big geese could eat as much grass as a cow," Tapley said. "It seems that way. It's amazing how much they eat." Instinct sends the geese down one row and up another, like regular hoe hands. And like hired choppers, the geese start the next day where they left off the day "They're awfully dumb when they're little," Mrs. Feagley said. "They'll stand out in the rain with their heads up until they drown. Tapley said the geese are messy when they are kept penned up in the winter, too. An electric fence about 10 inches off the round is usually put up around a stalk field where they are left to winter and eat the wasted grain. Everyone in this area is not completely sold on the idea of year after year use of See GEESE, Page 6

GEESE ARE grass eating dudes. Alvin Ray Mills Jr. looks over a pen of young geese belonging to his neighbor, Johnny Lee Feagley, Feagley, Doyle Tapley, Ledford Enloe and other farmers north of Littlefield prefer geese over herbicides to keep their land free of weeds and Johnson grass.

THINKING OF REMODELING at your house? Good, let me give you a few pointers. You'll be glad I volunteered the information

Really, there's nothing to it. The main thing is to get past that first impulse to put it off. Once you've started, you'll be glad

SINCE YOU'RE going to do the work yourself, don't bother with that highpriced special equipment. After all, savin' money is what you're interested in in the first place.

Now, for the walls, be sure you get paneling. It's a snap to put up. Just slap it on the walls and start nailing. It's fast, it's cheap, and it's clean!

DON'T BOTHER MOVING the furniture out of the room. After all, it'll only take a short time to put the stuff on. And, oh yes, you can use the dining table for your fitting and cutting table, but keep it covered with a spread, as you won't want to scuff the face of the panels.

Now, you're ready to go into action! You lay the first panel on the table and start takin' measurements. Oh, that's too bad, it lacks only a couple of inches fitting between the corner and the window.

VERY CAREFULLY, NOW, you measure the wall and window, and make the corresponding measurements on the back side of the panel. Finally, you have the design drawn to perfection on the panel and you reach for your saw

SAW?-Oh yes you MUST have the saw. It's down in the tool room. So you go off in search of the saw. No, it's not there. Then you remember-that for some reason-you had spotted it riding in the back of the car some time back

YOU GO OUT to the car to procure this important tool, then you remember that the better half is somewhere downtown in this vehicle.-You wait.

Finally, you do get the saw, and after you have a like search for an extension cord, you're in business! You cut your design to perfection.

NOW WE SLAP that piece of board on the wall!-It's a perfect fit, the only thing being, that the wrong side faces the room! On, well, we can use the thing some place else. Let's keep our cool, now

So? We get another panel and this time we mark it from the opposite side. We don't need to re-measure the wall, because we remember the measurements from the time before. I suppose we're a little flustered because of our boo-boo the time before, and we're a little careless about the spacing of the panel on the table.

Sage Advice

IF THAT'S not the reason, how come we let the saw catch the tablespread and start pulling it up through the cut? We untangle the saw and move it over a little. Finally, we're ready for another try at put-that panel on the wall.

We set the board against the wall, stand there and wonder just how that window went about moving up a couple of inches while we were cutting this second panel. After a while it dawns that we swapped ends with the panel when we made the new measurements! Cool, is the key word.

OH WELL, WE'LL need more than just two panels to do the piecing-out with! So back to the drawing board! This time we check and double check. Eureka, IT FITS! Well, nearly! All we need to do is trim the thing, here and there, and thus and so. Since we're using these new fandangled nails that hide themselves in the color of the panel, and since the instructions say: "Don't put the nails in your mouth." And since we don't have a nail-apron, we've put the nails in our pocket.

NOW WE'RE UP on the step-ladder holding that panel in place with one hand and trying to get the nails out of our pocket with the other. Finally, we're successful in our endeavor to free the nails from our pocket, but, sd ldg ghd board slip. We grab for the board and lose our balance and have to jump off the ladder, letting the panel fall into the chandelier and practically wrecking the table with our backside.-Keep cool!

Don't give up the ship now! We go back up the ladder, work the panel into place. This time we have the nails in our hand.

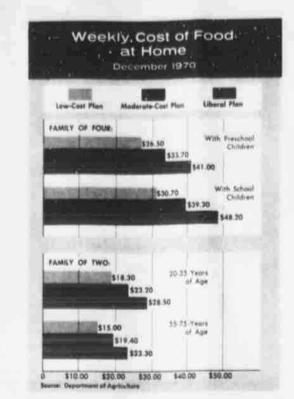

OH YES, the hammer. There it is on the floor, over on the other side of the room! We look around for help. Not another person anywhere around! We test the panel to see if it will stand by itself 'til we can get that hammer. Maybe, just, maybe.

Quickly now, down the ladder, across the room, grab that hammer and back to the ladder. Just in time to be met head-on by that falling piece of panel! Oh well, it's time for a coffee break anyway.-Cool,

AFTER A WHILE we get up slowly, go pick up that piece of board,-hammer in hand-kick the step ladder out of the way, place the panel against the wall, and drive an EIGHT-PENNY NAIL right throug the middle of it!--If THAT don't hold it, NOTHING will.

There, now, only eighteen more panels to go! -Simple isn't it?

THAT'S WHAT I SAID: "Anybody can do it!!!"-Just keep your cool.

Increases Expected In Food Prices

HOUSEWIVES CAN EXPECT to pay more for grocery store food again in 1971.

However, the outlook isn't as gloomy as it was in 1970. An estimate made by the Economic Research Service of the Department of Agriculture and reported in the May issue of "Finance Facts", a monthly newsletter on consumer financial behavior published by the National Consumer Finance Association, predicts food prices to average 1 per cent to 2 per cent higher in 1971.

This is down noticeably from the 5 per cent increase in 1971.

BUDGET-MINDED families will probably be eating at home instead of out since food eaten away from home is expected to cost substantially more in 1971 With the increase in the cost of food eaten away from home, the total 1971 food price index is likely to be up 2 per cent or 1 per cent

ON THE HAPPY SIDE, housewives can look forward to lower-than-average prices for pork, poultry, eggs, potatoes and some fresh vegetables.

For those who especially enjoy fish dairy products, cereal products, sugar and processed vegetables, the outlook is unhappy-higher prices are indicated

NO ONE WANTS to be a failure in life, and no one need be. Of course, it is impossible for all of us to do the same things and have the same things; but personal failure. success does not require this.

Success is something different to different people, and, in this fluid view of success, it is impossible to establish a clear-cut definition. From the human view, there are many different opinions about success, and, in the true sense, most of them are probably wrong.

WHAT PEOPLE POSSESS is perhaps the most commonly used measure of success, but "what people are" is thought, by many, to be a better measure of success. "Character is the real foundation of all worth-while success."-Hammond.

Anthony Manager managers in staying abreast a Wins Jamaica Trip

Charles Barrett, manager of Littlefield's Anthony store, has won a 10-day, allexpenses paid trip to Jamaica as a national winner in the Anthony chain.

Barrett and his wife, Joyce, will leave July 21st from Oklahoma City for the prized trip.

The local Anthony store was first among 40 stores in its group in percentage and dollar gain over last year's sales during the contest period.

herbicides, either. And while herbicides will keep the weeds down in cotton, grass is still a problem.

Feagley has never used any kind of weed killer on his home farm. He bought the place in 1961, and that first year Johnson grass nearly choked him and his crop. He got geese the following year and now has a clean farm and hasn't even run geese on it he past two years.

Feagley went to Las Cruces, N. M. to buy geese when he first started using them, and later bought them at Abernathy for $2.25 each. But to cut expenses the farmers started gathering their eggs and another neighbor, L. J. Roberson, hatches the goslings in his incubator.

Tapley said they get poor hatches on dry years and geese are short this year because of the drouth. Several neighboring farmers tried to buy geese at Abernathy this year, but were unable to get them.

While the geese save some money over the cost of putting down pre-emergence weed killers and paying hoe hands to clean fields, there isn't a big savings.

Feagley, who received the Fort Worth Star Telegram "Conservation Award" in 1967, prefers the geese to the use of weed killers in the event he is hailed out and has to come back and plant feed crops for his cattle. Feed crops won't grow behind cotton land treated with weed killing chemicals.

Tapley finds that enough chemicals to kill grass restricts cotton production some, and he likes the geese better than chemical program

When the farmers first started using geese, they didn't pen them up at night. But after some heavy losses to coyotes and stray dogs, they began penning them up before dark and letting them out during

The Feagleys lost 40-50 geese in one night when coyotes left dead geese scattered all over a field. The short electric fences that keep the geese in a field keep coyotes out pretty good, but don't scare dogs much. "And once dogs or coyotes get in and kill some of the geese, you lose a year's work," Mrs. Feagley said. "The geese won't work very good after a bad scare." Geese work best early in the morning and late in the evening on hot days. During the heat of the day they find shady places under trailers or take to a playa lake to keep cool. They like to work on moonlight nights, too," Tapley said. "And we used to leave them out at night until we found 50-75 dead geese scattered.

Feagley has a hired hand who drives his geese in every night, turns them out each morning and keeps an eye on them through means you and me

If they're smart, they'll just turn the country around and not say anything about it. If they let it get in the newspapers, and 15 years from now the new crop digs through the back issues and puts the responsibility on them for the mess the country may be in, they'll wish they'd thought up some way to classify the papers as Top Secret. They need to be in a position to say "We didn't make this mess, we inherited it." Most of the time, when a country is turned around, most people wind up with the same problems they had before, but nobody expects 18-year-olds to know that

By the way, speaking of Classified Top Secrets, how did Attorney General Mitchell think he could suppress a whole string of newspapers when he's got his hands full trying to suppress Martha?

Yours faithfully,

PENTAGON DOCUMENTS yet to be revealed are likely to rot your socks! The most shushed news of this war relates to atrocities by our allies

The whole truth of this dirty war has been shaded, else Main Street might well have decided the South Vietnamese do not deserve rescue. THE WORLD GOT a brief peek at the filthy tiger cages in which "our side" was confining political prisoners. Now and then the "security curtain" would spring a leak and South Vietnamese would be caught in some barbarous act.

. - "ficial documents which have surfaced are nothing compared to what correspondents and GIs have confided.

WHEN THE Vietnamese war spilled over into neighboring Cambodia, Americans erupted with indignant wrath against a wider war. President Nixon withdrew our troops and promised he would not send them into Cambodia again.

But Cambodia is in trouble; serious trouble. The capital city, Phnom Penh, is off-and-on under attack, surrounded on three sides, cut off from the sea

AND WHERE our President dared not again send GIs to the rescue, South Vietnamese were sent over into Cambodia while our troops covered for them back

Historically, Cambodians hate and fear than they hate and fear Communists.

AND THIS FACT came uncorked when Cambodia's foreign ministry, in desperation, appealed to us and to Saigon please to stop the "savagery" of South Vietnamese soldiers against Cambodian civilians.

In four pages of particulars, the Cambodians cite specific acts of assassination, theft, harassment, pillage and torture-12 acts in four provinces in one month!

OUR GIs' assigned to direct the military efforts of South Vietnamese mountain tribesmen were required to participate in barbaric pagan rites involving animal torture and mutilation. Our war-front reporters talked to captive children, 11 and 12 years young, who admitted they had worked for the Communist Cong-who were worked over by South Vietnamese interrogators.

"NOT A MARK on them!" the South Vietnamese police insisted.

But the children described how their interrogators had forced water up their nostrils and used electric shock to elicit confessions. The head of the secret police at Da Nang says, "We use little fish to catch big fish.

WE MIGHT HAVE been in this war on the other side, you know. Ho Chi Minh appealed to us to help him fight the intruding French-he appealed to us eight times-before he turned to Moscow for

When the inside story of this unworthy South Vietnamese-maybe a little more was has been turned inside-out we might reflect on that-and wonder.

School Boy Football Magazine Sales Slated

For the second year, a magazine devoted entirely to high school football in the West Texas area will be released, and the Littlefield Varsity Cheerleaders are sponsoring the sales.

The magazine, "West Texas High School Football," is scheduled for distribution in mid-July, and will cover more than 150 area teams in all four classifications.

The magazine is to be a colorful, comprehensive preview of the fastapproaching football season.

Compiled by the leading sportswriters in the area, "West Texas High School Football" is edited by Carlton Stowers, formerly of the Amarillo Globe-Times and current biographer of Randy Matson. In its 176 pages, the magazine presents an indepth view of all the teams in 26 districts, from A to AAAA. Schedules, results, and several pictures accompany each story.

In addition, feature articles highlight the Super Seniors from across the area, Coaches Jim Carlen of Tech and Gene Mayfield of WT, Darrell Royal's West Texas-oriented coaching staff, and the drama of recruiting a blue-chip schoolboy player. The colorful cover phin memorates Brownwood's Gordon Coach of the Year. An exclusive it with Coach Wood lends insight winning ways of Texas' most sa

Parks And Wildlife Changes Hunting Laws

There are some important new "do's and don'ts" for the Texas hunter. The Parks and Wildlife Commission has enacted several statewide changes, and the 62nd Legislature added numerous other modifications to existing hunting

Two of the new changes might be con-sidered "liberalizations" of present lawsbut they still carry certain limitations. One allows the removal of shot gun plugs to give the hunter more than three shots in succession. However, the three-shot limit will still apply to migratory birds. These include ducks, geese and doves So if a hunter's main targets are doves or waterfowl, it probably wouldn't be worth his money to have a gunsmith remove the plug. The other change allows hunting from cars. But this does not mean that hunters are allowed to shoot from public roads, rights-of-ways or other prohibited areas. Hunters may shoot native game animals and birds from a car on private property. but they aren't allowed to take migratory birds with this hunting method.

Hunting from aircraft is prohibited by a provision of this law One legislative bill makes it unlawful to take deer, elk, antelope, wild aoudad sheep caliber jetgun and rocket gun in general law counties. This change, in effect, makes this prohibition statewide, as the two cartridges already were outlawed in counties and wild desert bighorn sheep with .22-

Some of the changes doubtless won't affect the average sportsman. One of these is a law prohibiting the shooting or taking of wild turkeys from the roost. Most hunters avoid molesting the birds' roosting sites, and landowners usually try to protect them.

now under the department's regulatory

Another change repeals the requirement that a permit be obtained from the Parks and Wildlife Department before killing a buffalo (bison). This change was prompted by the feeling that all the buffaloes in the state are actually domesticated and confined to fenced enclosures.

All the changes in game laws will be compiled in the department's annual Hunting Guide, which should be available to hunters before the 1971 hunting seasons get underway.

A careful check of regulations in the particular area to be hunted is always a good procedure for any sportsman who wants to make the most of his hunting trip.

Insect Situation Is Near Normal

High Plains insect situation is normal, similar to this time in 1970, according to a report from the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board.

Mites are present but very light and in localized areas.

The report warns that research data does not show benefits from spraying for corn leaf aphid although subsequent mite or corn earworm buildup may pose a more serious threat based on observations in 1970.

But, in 1970, the problem was ess severe in fields tha received only one application of insecticide, the report said.

If corn earworm and or fall army worms are present, they generally make the plants looks rough, but damage does not usually result in yield loss. Controls largely are ineffective since the insect is located deep in the whorl and is not accessible to chemicals.

The report added that systemic granulars should be incorporated within 36 hours if applied to fields where middles are not shaded.

Homeowners' rates rose 25 per cent along the seacoast (hit by Hurricane Celia last August) and in tornado-struck northnorthwest territory of the state. Central area homeowners' rate jumped 22.1 per cent, too.

State Insurance Board staff recommended an average 2.8 per cent statewide passenger car insurance rate hike effective Sept. 1.

Board heard recom-mendations at a public hearing here June 30 and indicated a decision will be made about mid-August.

Industry, which won a 14 per cent boost in rates Jan. 1 after asking 27.7 per cent, is asking 9.8 per cent increase (average statewide) on passenger car coverage.

Seven state legislators and the state AFL-CIO president argued that a decline in accidents justifies lowering rather than raising rates. Since rates are fixed by territories, not statewide, some areas under board staff recommendations would receive reductions in certain lines of coverage.
