Besides an activity-filled afternoon of games for children, and cake walks, eating and square dancing for everyone, the holiday events hopefully will add substantially to the Littlefield Schools Memorial Tennis Court Fund. Initially the tennis court fund was established by the plaintiffs' lawyers in the train-school bus suit as a memorial to the Littlefield students who lost their lives in the crash.

All proceeds for all of the events will go into the fund, according to Tommy Brawley, overall chairman.

The pit cooked barbecue of 500 pounds of boned beef and the benefit square dance will bring in the most money, but other events for children will be free and just a fun way of celebrating the Fourth of July.

Starting this afternoon, Jay Bridwell, Lloyd Jacquess and others on the barbecue committee will start pit cooking the beef donated by Littlefield Feeders.

The barbecue will be served from 4:30 until 7:30 Friday. Tickets are being sold by various organizations and can be purchased at the door. Price of the barbecue is $3 for adults and $2 for students. The beef will be served with beans and all the trimmings. Rotarians, Early Risers and Noon Lions and all civic clubs are participating.

Then at 8 p.m. Cliff Smith will be calling a square dance. There is no charge, but donations will be accepted at the door. Spectators are invited to watch, and all area square dancers are welcome to participate.

Members of "We, The Women" are holding a cake walk during the afternoon. All members are asked to bake a cake and have it at the building by noon Friday.

All sorts of fun activities are planned for the 6 through 14 years old at the Little League Ball Park. Johnny Reber from the Early Morning Lions is chairman.

Games start at 1 p.m. with a bicycle race with T. J. Reed chairman, sack race with Don Stubbs chairman, egg and spoon race with Barton Spencer chairman, and three-legged race with Ronnie Fisher chairman.

At 2 p.m. there will be a washer pitch with Jimmy Drake chairman, a football kicking contest with David Jones chairman, a baseball throwing contest with Craig Ratliff chairman, and a horseshoe pitching contest with Toby Smith in charge. Beginning at 3 p.m., Orville Bassett is in charge of a sit-up contest; Babe Banner is in charge of a push-up contest; Kenneth Reel is in charge of a broad jump contest; and Toby Smith will judge a bicycle decoration contest.

Board To Meet

The Executive Committee of the South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) will meet at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, July 8, at Clark's Restaurant, 429 Phelps in Littlefield, and the Board of Directors of SPAG will convene at 1:30 at the same location.

Directors will consider 15 items on the business agenda. Ribbons and prizes will be awarded to the best contestants at 4 p.m. preceeding the barbecue.

There will be no charge made for any of the games.

There will be a concession stand open during the afternoon. of Public Safety has estimated that traffic accidents in the state over the July 4th holiday weekend will claim 54 lives.

Colonel Wilson E. Speir said his department expects travel will be heavy in Texas over the holiday period "particularly in and around recreational areas" such as lakes and beaches.

He added that the estimate coveres a 78-hour period starting on Thursday at 6 p.m. and counting until midnight Sunday. Last year during a 102-hour Independence Day celebration, 46 persons were killed in traffic mishaps in Texas. Speir also pointed out that highway traffic deaths are about 25 per cent over the total at this time one year ago. "This higher speeds," he added.

In a concerted effort to help keep deaths down, the DPS and local law enforcement agencies will be cooperating in the all-out effort to make the streets and highways as safe as possible. All available DPS troopers will be on duty, Speir said, and they will be especially watchful for drinking drivers, speeders and persons driving in a reckless manner.

In addition, the DPS will be working with the news media in a special public education program termed "Operation Motorcide" which focuses public attention on where and why fatal accidents are occurring during the holiday.

Speaker Of House Bill Clayton Gets High Marks On Opinion Poll

Speaker of the House Bill Clayton is lauded in the July issue of TEXAS MONTHLY in a preface of an article "The Ten Best And (Sigh)... The Ten Worst Legislators."

In the opening paragraphs, the writer launches into the performances of Lieutenant Governor Billy Hobby and Speaker Bill Clayton. The article said all too often Hobby did little more than occupy the podium, making no attempt to RUN the Senate and leaving it to flounder like an orchestra without a conductor.

Thus unleashed, senators seemed to vie with each other to see who could pass the most special interest legislation; the result was a massive outpouring of bad bills which slipped through the Senate virtually undiscussed and unnoticed. Hobby either didn't know or didn't care; neither speaks well for his leadership. CLAYTON MADE NO such mistake; indeed, his forces killed bills with the zeal of true believers. Clayton is a High Plains cotton farmer from Springlake who did his best to live up to the philosophy that the legislature should pass as few bills as possible. Early in the session, virtually the only bills considered by the House were blatant special interest legislation; at the end, the crush of major issues- school finance, utility regulation, appropriations- monopolized the calendar and left little time for anything else. Along the way a lot of bills, good and bad, were interred in committee graveyards- something that happened by design rather than by accident.

In some ways Clayton represented a discouraging throwback to the dictatorial speakerships of Ben Barnes and Gus Mutscher. He contemplated barring the press from the House floor, tried to shut off public access to members' expense accounts, and secretly monitored legislators' newsletters. He also twisted the House rules to his own benefit by broadening the Speaker's power to stack committee membership.

Perhaps his biggest mistake was in opening the appropriations process to all committees- allowing, for example, the Health and Welfare Committee to recommend appropriations for state hospitals, and the Higher Education Committee to set expenditures for colleges and universities. On the surface the idea seems a sound one. Why not let those committes determine how much money is necessary in their area? In practice, however, by giving virtually every representative a chance to participate in writing the appropriations bill, the new rules stimulated an unprecedented surge of pork barrelling, logrolling, and tradeouts.

Still, Clayton gets high marks in a number of areas: for making a public disclosure of his finances, even to the point of releasing his federal income tax return; for running the House firmly and fairly; and, above all, for allowing debate on controversial issues to take place in an atmosphere largely free of arm-twisting and threats. Within the framework of his inherently suspicious attitude toward new legislation, Clayton did a good job of grasping the statewide significance of the issues which dominated the session. Under his leadership, conservatism in the House sometimes took on a philosophical meaning; in the past, it often meant nothing more than protecting the special interests and following the lobby. This session, the House actually assumed the role of legislative watchdog- a good thing, too, considering what the Senate was doing.

alcoholism counselor's aid, will hold the session. Bill Watson, counselor and a minister of the Gospel will help lead the session.

"We hope everyone in the Black community will come out to this session. We are not trying to stop anyone from drinking; but we are trying to help people know the danger of the abuse of alcohol," Luckey said.

"The alcoholism study session for Black people in Littlefield is an effort to present a message of hope to an ethnic group which has not had an opportunity to hear and accept this kind of message of the nation's fourth largest killer disease— ALCOHOLISM!," he continued.

There will also be a rap session.

There is no charge, and coffee and refreshments will be served.

Bicentennial Double Header

THE HAND flips a coin. Heads I win. Tails you win.

The eyes light on the head of a colonial drummer. Did you win or lose the toss? You won!

That head is really a tail.

YOU CAN TAKE the word of Mary Brooks, director of the U.S. Mint. She's our nation's coinmaker and says the colonial drummer was chosen in a national design competition to appear on the back of the new Bicentennial quarter. George Washington, she in sists, still heads the coin over a new date-1776-1976- and it was all done to celebrate our country's 200th birthday.

"I know big decisions, like whether or not to walk the dog in the rain, rest on the flip of a coin," Mrs. Brooks says, "and I want to warm the nation's big decision makers about the coming big change in their small change."

In all, the Mint is changing the designs on the backs of three coins in honor of the Bicentennial. Along with Washington on the quarter, those famous faces of Kennedy and Eisenhower, with the new twin date, still head the half dollar and dollar. Again, it's the backs that carry the new Bicentennial designs. Independence Hall won its place on the back of the half dollar. And the moon and Liberty Bell was chosen for the dollar reverse.

By July 7, 1975, your friendly neigh borhood bank should begin receiving the first of the circulating Bicentennial coins to be released- the Kennedy-Independence Hail half dollar. Before the end of the year, the Federal Reserve System will have had the time to supply the nation's commercial banks with the newly redesigned quarter and dollar.

"To me, these coins- like all our coins- are symbols of our nation's 200 years of freedom," Mrs. Brooks says. They are small links with our historical and cultural heritage that will touch the hands of every man, woman and child in America.

"'Liberty!' was the rallying cry of the American Revolution- and 'Liberty' has been proclaimed and inscribed on each and every coin since the creation of the U.S. Mint in 1792."

Launching a national coinage was a big step in the formation of our young nation. "Now," Mrs. Brooks says, "we are launching the most significant coinage change in the history of the mint."

The new coin designs are expressions of the patriotic sentiments of grassroots America. Under the sponsorship of the Treasury Department, they were selected in a national $5,000 award competition and each of the new designs bears the winner's initials.

The winning design on the back of the quarter is the work of Jack L. Ahr of Arlington Heights, Ill. Seth G. Huntington of Minneapolis, Minn., executed the reverse on the half dollar. And Dennis R. Williams, a sculpture student at the Columbus College of Art and Design, Columbus, Ohio, designed the dollar reverse.

Special 40 percent silver specimens of the Bicentennial coins are also available. For details, write to the Bureau of the Mint, 55 Mint Street, San Francisco, Calif. 94175.

Dear Editor:

Do you know about the big change in your small change?

June 23, 1975

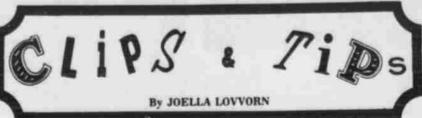

If you don't, perhaps your readers don't either. So I hope you will help me get word out to the public that those famous faces of Washington, Kennedy and Eisenhower quarter and dollar are scheduled for release before the end of the year.

The Mint sponsored a national competition to select the new reverse designs for these historical coins. Soon you can flip a quarter and if it comes up tails you'll see a colonial drummer. Independence Hall will greet you on the half dollar. The Liberty Bell and moon on the dollar.

Enclosed is a photo of the Bicentennial coins and additional information that I hope you will find useful to acquaint the public with the availability of the Bicentennial coins. If you have any

JULY 4TH MEALS are fun- but make them safe, advises Mrs. Dorothy Powell, County Extension Agent.

"A picnic in the park or supper in the backyard can make the holiday one to remember, but prepare and serve the food safely to be sure the memory is a pleasant one," she emphasized.

Good poisoning bacteria thrive in temperatures between 50-120 degree F. So consumers can start right from the grocery store to make the food safe for picnic or barbecue, she advised.

She suggested buying ground beef a day or two before the holiday unless it can be frozen for a longer time. Shop in a store that displays meat and poultry in a clean refrigerated area. Avoid packages that have been broken or have punctured wrappers, she said.

"Thaw frozen meat in the refrigerator to prevent bacterial growth. Don't allow this meat to stand out unrefrigerated for more than an hour at the most.

"And be sure to cook hamburgers and hot dogs in batches small enough to be used quickly so they don't stand, allowing bacteria to grow."

Also, cleanliness in preparing food is always important- but especially with hamburgers. Always wash hands thoroughly with soap and hot water before and after handling raw meat. Baked beans is another dish that shouldn't be kept at room temperature for more than two hours.

"Bacteria grow well in eggs at room temperature. Leave boiled eggs out of potato salad with eggs the same day it is to be served," she said.

Turning to exact directions for avoiding food-borne illness, she said, "Keep perishable foods cold, at or below 40 degrees F. Foods in this category are cream pies, seafood and dishes made with eggs, fish, meat and poultry.

"Or keep the perishable food, such as seafood, poultry and cooked meats, hot- about 140 degrees F. Bacteria grow best in lukewarm foods so never let these food stand at room temperature for more than two hours," Mrs. Powell cautioned

Often foodborne illness is mistaken for a simple "bug" or virus. The real cause may be that the food wasn't properly handled, prepared or served. This can be prevented by serving hot foods hot the human experience.

ALL OF US DESIRE a satisfactory life, and there are many things we can do to help make this desire a reality. Of course, we will not be able to have everything just exactly as we think we want it to be, but this condition is not essential to a meaningful life. At the very best, we will have some problems and difficulties.

OUR HOPE FOR THE BEST of living is in preventing many of the harmful states of mind; unwise actions; and negative attitudes which can do so much to spoil what could be an effective life. We do have the power to determine what our state of mind shall be; we can manage our behavior; and we can fashion our attitudes as we wish. We also have the privilege of using these capacities and abilities in the very best ways.

"AVOID THE DOWNDRAG" is the guideline we must follow. We know the things that can drag us down below the levels of profitable and productive living. We can identify these.

In fact, they are very well known. We know what unkind and hateful words can do to us; we know the miserable feelings of envy; and we know that permitting ourselves to be irritated is a certain "downdrag". Failing to see and be thankful for our blessings will do the same thing.

There are other perverse attitudes and actions which are easily identified, and just about as easily avoided. If we wish to live on a level of life at its best, we will studiously prevent these from controlling us. We will thus "avoid Besides coaching this year's Senior Babe Ruth team, he has practically single handedly, kept the ball park in shape. The team started well, but, when the nitty-gritty came into focus, many of his team suddenly lost interest. No one seems to know why, but by no stretch of the imagination, can the coach be faulted. They looked like league winners the first few games. IN SPITE OF THIS, Mike kept trying, recruiting any available player that thought he wanted to play. THOSE LITTLE WHITE blooms on the High Plains' chief crop- cottonwill be appearing much later than usual, says a USDA Agricultural Research Service agronomist in Lubbock.

Dr. J. D. Bilbro, who is based at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock, cites a recently completed three-year study measuring the relationship of maximum and minimum air temperatures and first bloom dates for High Plains cotton for his conclusions. "Even if there were no other complicating factors the sub-normal temperatures we have had this spring have delayed the blooming of May-planted cotton by at least six days," Bilbro reports.

"Add to that the delaying effects of hail, blowing sand, diseases and insect attacks, and we have a total delay of about 10 days to two weeks,"

A medium-maturing variety of cotton planted on May 1 can be expected to bloom by July 7 in an average year, according to Bilbro's research data. But this year it will probably not bloom before July 17 to July 21 and cotton planted about May 20 probably will not bloom before July 25 to July 29.

Any delay in the growth and development of cotton is of concern to producers because the growing season on the High Plains is often too short for cotton to reach its yield and fiber quality potentials anyway, he adds. Delay in development of the plant simply increases the odds of additional financial loss if an early frost does occur.

Bilbro says his study supports the long-held theory that in years whet crop has been delayed for any recare should be taken not to apply much irrigation water or fertilizer. applies particularly to the firigation, where timeliness been more crucial with longer delays.

Two Littlefield tennis buffs captured crowns this weekend in the Olton Tennis Tournament. Troy Gardner won the men's 35-year old and over division, and Mark Coffman was the 14 and under winner. Both played three matches en route to the championship.

The Gardner family placed two more members in the finals, too. Tonie finished second in the women's open field, and Kevin was runner-up in the 16-year old competition.

Troy Gardner met Duane Jones of Earth in the first round. He dropped the first set 2-6, then came back strongly to defeat Jones two straight, 6-2, 6-1. Joe King of Nazareth fell to Gardner in the second round 6-1, 7-5, which put him in the finals against Charlie Hill of Dimmitt. Kevin smothered Tommy Debbie Thomas of the finals. Miss The Kern of Nazareth 6-2, 6-0, then gained a berth in the finals by 7-6 beating Larry Romakers, also of STOP SMOKING Nazareth, 6-3, 6-2.
