Thai Teen Adapting To Texas Life

By ANDY ROGERS

Although Pipop Laocum arrived in Littlefield from his native Thailand only a week and a half ago, already the Americanisms have started creeping into his speech and appearance.

Meeting a new friend, his bright eyes flash out of the olive-skinned face and with a flawless smile he says, "How's it goin'?" And although only 5'2" with straight, jet-black hair and Oriental features, he could still pass for almost any Littlefield teen-ager when dressed in his Wrangler slacks, sport shirt and tennis shoes. He even likes to play the guitar, enjoys listening to Elton John and the Carpenters and is crazy about hamburgers. One almost expects to find a WIN button on his Texas Longhorn T-shirt and baseball cards in his billfold.

Pipop (pronounced Pe-pope Lou-cum) is staying with the Troy Gardner family in Littlefield and will attend high school this year as a foreign exchange student. He is sponsored by the Student Council, who went through the American Field Service to bring him over.

"I really like Texas, especially Littlefield," Pipop said. "The people have been so friendly to me, much like in Thailand, which is sometimes called the Land of Smiles. I like the high school, too, and though we had many American fashions and practices in Thailand, it is very exciting to see these things happening all the time here."

Pipop is from the village of Pongfang in the province of Sukhothai. Pongfang is the home of about 900 farmers and small businessmen. There is no electricity in the village, though Pipop had a mini-bike and his father owns a gasoline-powered rice mill. Pipop helped his father with the mill and farmed, aided by two cows for plowing and a small tractor owned by his cousins.

Sukhothai is located in northern Thailand, about 300 miles north of the capital city Bangkok. Forty million people live in the Southeast Asian country that borders the Indian Ocean, Laos and Cambodia. There is a king, though technically the government is a constitutional monarchy with a bicameral parliament.

Because there wasn't a school in his village, Pipop lived in a town 30 miles away with another family. He studied English for eight years, but never thought of coming to America until one of his teachers encouraged him to fill out an AFS application. That was three years ago.

"It was very hard to wait so long," says the 17-year old Thai. "The thought of leaving home didn't bother me too much because I'd lived away while at school, but I knew I could always see my family if I wanted to. It's different now."

Pipop has one sister, 20, who plans to become a teacher. His father makes his living with the rice meal and his mother keeps the house, which is built several feet off the ground in typical Thai custom born of necessity. In Bangkok, the average yearly rainfall is over 50 inches.

BETTY HALL AND LADY

Former Littlefield Woman Enjoying New Dorm

When the sun's rays diminish and the wind settles down on an evening, Betty Hall, a former Littlefield resident, gets out her bicycle and calls to Lady.

Most of the time, Lady, a sleek 10-year-old weimaraner, doesn't need much coaxing for the pair's evening exercise together. The canine bounds happily along as her red-haired mistress pedals to keep up with her.

The evening ritual is a familiar sight on the campus of South Plains College, especially to the young men of Magee and Frazier Halls. Betty is dorm director of Magee this summer and served in the same capacity last spring at Frazier.

Her day, however, begins as a student in an 8:30 a.m. English class at SPC. Betty is completing the last of four semesters of required English courses. After class, she hurries to her full-time job as secretary in the vocational nursing offices at the College.

Although many women find their work day ends at 5 p.m., Betty's last leg of work is just beginning at Magee to supervise 15 young men residing there. Betty has found them all "very nice."

Betty went to SPC last December, first as temporary dorm director at Frazier Hall, and then director on a regular basis. She succeeds Maxine Merkhord, who had undergone surgery. Betty was moved to Magee this summer since it is the only boys' dorm open during the summer sessions.

Presiding over a dormful of boys brings no surprises to Betty, who has reared two sons of her own and served as house-mother to countless other boys. "Many is the time I have awakened in my house and almost stepped on a boy who had made his bed on the floor for an overnight stay," Betty recalled. "A friend said I had been dorm director all these years—I just didn't have the title," she laughed.

"My sons were mannerly but mischievous," she noted. So she doesn't expect her current charges to be perfect angels. "If they were, I would think they had some deeper problems."

Except for a stint attending Commercial College at Lubbock, where she received certificates in typing and shorthand, Betty had not been in a classroom since her high school days at Amherst. She had spent 17 years "working out," as she put it, as legal secretary, bookkeeper and in the office of a certified public accountant.

So it was rather fearfully that she decided to enroll in two extension courses being offered by SPC a few years ago at Littlefield. That semester proved to be the beginning of a new life for the mature, attractive woman.

"It was a scary move to enroll in the English and history courses because I was older than the other students," Betty said. "However, I thought it would be foolish not to take advantage of the opportunity. My home in Littlefield was only a few blocks from the place where the extension courses were being offered," she explained.

She enjoyed the courses and decided to enroll fulltime at SPC the coming fall. While standing in the fall SPC registration line, "I felt ridiculous," Betty said. Encouragement from her younger peers helped her over the bad moment and she stayed in line to complete enrollment.

Betty now has 39 semester hours behind her at SPC and has made the Dean's Honor List with a 3.58 grade point average, just shy of all A's. She is majoring in secondary education, with biology and math teaching fields. She plans to attend Texas Tech to complete four-year requirements.

Betty will soon be a mother for the first time. Older son, Jim, an emp. Lamb Co. Electric Co. Coop in Littlefield, and Linda, are expecting the child in September.

Betty's father is Robert Strickland, who lives west of Whitharral. Her grandmother is Mrs. Strickland of Levelland. Jim and Linda, who live in Littlefield, keep an eye on the dog, Duke, a six-year-old weimaraner, and two cats, Loverly and Dickens, who manage to tolerate the heat. With long white hair, Loverly thinks she is and coal-black Dickens to her reputation of being as the dickens," Betty said.

Betty's younger son, 21, commutes daily from Littlefield as a majoring in biology.

Betty laughed as she read out a letter from her mother addressed to "Maw," a former Frazier resident. That's the nickname her charges have given her, she likes it, she says.

Many former residents stop by for a visit. Homecoming as well as Betty said.

The Frazier residents pay the highest compliment in spring when they nominate for SPC Woman of the Year of the highest honor as to women students on campus. Frazier Hall president Dockrey wrote: "We as a group have more admiration and respect for Betty Hall than any other woman on campus. Whether she receives the title or not, we know that she has shown her a little gratitude for the help she has given us. Dockrey noted. "We also know that any woman who can be in Frazier Hall and be should receive some award."

Betty thought a moment couldn't have helped them as much as they helped me said. "They showed me a certain kind of respect and helped me at a time I needed it... They were a group of young men."

Aptitude Exam Set Monday

Canning Procedures

Presented By Agent

MATHY POWELL, Extension Agent, will be peach season. You have surplus or purchase them at a low price? You have them any time by canning them. If you haven't canned before? Here is how:

Wash and peel them just as you would for eating. Prepare them to be fresh or plunge them in water for 2 minutes or less. They can be sliced. Pack the jars clean jars, leaving 1/2 inch at top of jars. Cover with syrup made with 2 cups water. If using a sweeter syrup, add 1/2 cup. Wipe off the sealing of the jar and close according to the type of lid being used.

Place the jars in a water bath canner which is a large container with a rack in the bottom to hold the jars about one inch from bottom. It should be tall enough to have space to over the jars with about one to two inches of water and about the same amount of space above the water.

The water should be hot but not boiling when you place the filled jars in the canner. Place lid on canner and bring the water to a rolling boil, reduce the heat just to boiling. This prevents the juice from being drawn out of the jars.

Boil pint jars 25 minutes and quart jars 35 minutes.

Remove the jars from the water bath and let them cool.

Pre Foods Properly Outdoor Activities

Make picnic foods safe to eat. Check if the right foods are selected and stored properly.

Remember that perishable foods should be kept cool. Do not use newspaper as an excellent insulator for hot and cold foods. Use containers wrapped in plastic or waxed paper. Use thicknesses of 1/2 inch and tied or taped to the ends and prevent food from escaping will last for three to four hours. Use an insulated bag or vacuum jar, it is best to take along with you. Do not need to be kept in main dishes prepared meat, fish, eggs or cheese must be kept hot to prevent spoilage and food poisoning.

Sandwiches can be prepared in advance and individually wrapped or the "makings" carried in plastic containers to make the sandwiches just before eating.

Butter might be substituted for mayonnaise as a picnic sandwich spread to insure safety of the sandwiches for a longer period of time.

Ingredients for vegetable salads can also be carried in separate containers and made just before eating.

Baked goods such as cakes, cookies and brownies travel and keep well, posing few storage problems.

Beverages are best kept in thermal containers to keep them at the proper temperature.

Texas Hospitals Forming Insurance Company

Texas hospitals can no longer afford the luxury of adequate and overpriced practice insurance. Stuth reviewed the role of Boon-Chapman as consultants and managers of this THA sponsored hospital insurance company. He said "We will manage and operate this company for the benefit of the hospitals of Texas. We will bring together the best minds and knowledge available to make sure this company is soundly operated and in full compliance with all insurance laws of Texas."

THA President Hurst went on to say "a part of the operation of this company will be fully utilize hospital safety engineering to prevent claims and emphasize legal defenses to fight fraudulent or excessive claims. The Association presently offers membership services that include engineering and legal services.

"If we can make hospital professional liability insurance more available and at a reduced cost, such savings will be immediately passed on in the form of reduced daily charges to the patient using our hospitals. Once again, Texas hospitals are demonstrating innovative 'do it yourself' programs to help contain and reduce health care costs."

The Texas Hospital Association is the statewide trade Association of hospitals in Texas. More than 675 hospitals and other health care institutions are members of THA. Headquarters for the Association is in Austin.

MICKEY BREWER, standing, spoke Tuesday noon to members of the Olton Lions Club, when he presented a colored slide program on the new cotton denim mill being constructed here. Brewer is personnel manager for the mill, and he informed the Lions that job applications are now being accepted at the Texas Employment Commission in Littlefield. (Photo by David Roden)

Over 500 Year Old Prophecy Tells Much As It Was And Is

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. W. H. Robison brought this clipping of an old prophecy that was published in the Monahans News in April, 1965— but which was written more than 500 years ago. We thought it would make interesting reading.)

Mother Shipton, author of the following prophetic poem, was born in Norfolk, England and died in Clifton, Yorkshire, 1449 A.D.; 43 years before Columbus discovered America.

How many of her prophecies have come true can be checked readily by the most casual reader. How many are yet to come true remain for the future to disclose:

A Woman's Prophecy

A carriage without horse shall go,
Disaster fill the world with woe,
In London Primrose Hill shall be
Its center hold a Bishop's See.
Around the world men's thoughts shall fly
Quick as the twinkling of an eye.
And waters shall great wonder do...
How strange, and yet it shall come true,
Then upside down the world will be,
And gold found at the foot of tree.
Thro towering hills proud man shall ride,
Nor horse nor ass move by his side,
Beneath the waters men shall walk,
Shall ride, shall sleep and even talk;
And in the air shall men be seen,
In white, in black, as well as green.
A great man then shall come and go,
For prophecy declares it so,
In water iron then shall float,
As easy as a wooden boat.
Gold shall be found in stream and stone,
In land that is as yet unknown.
Water and fire shall wonders do.
And England shall admit a Jew,
The Jew that once was held in scorn,
Shall of a Christian then be born,
A house of glass shall come to pass,
In England... but alas! alas!
A war will follow with the work,

Where dwells the pagan and the Turk,
The States will lock in fierce strife,
And see to take each others life;
Then North shall thus divide the South,
The eagle builds in the Lions's mouth.
Then tax and blood and cruel war,
Shall come to every humble door.
Three times shall sunny, lovely France,
Be led to play a bloody dance;
Before the people shall be free,
Three tyrant rulers shall she see;
Three rulers, in succession be,
Each shrung from different dynasty.
Then when the fiercest fight is done,
England and France shall be as one.
The British olive next shall twine,
In marriage to the German vine.
Men walk beneath and over the streams,
Fulfilled shall be our strangest dreams.
All England's sons shall roam the land,
Shall oft be seen with book in hand.

The poor shall now most wisdom know,
And water wind where corn did grow;
Great houses stand in far-flung vale,
All covered O'er with snow and hail.
And now a work in uncoth rhyme,
Of what shall be in future time;
For in those wondrous, faroff days,
The women shall adopt a craze,
To dress like men and trousers wear,
And cut off their locks of curly hair.

They'll ride astride with brazen brow,
As witches on a broom stick now.
Then love shall die and marriage cease,
And nations wane as babies decrease.
The wives shall fondle cats and dogs,
And men live much the same as hogs.

In Nineteen hundred twenty-six,
Build houses light of straws and sticks,
For them shall mighty wars be planned,
And fire and sword shall sweep the land,
But those who live the century through,
In fear and trembling this will do.
Flee to the mountains and the dens,
To bog and forests and wild fens—
For storms shall rage and oceans roar,
When Gabriel stands on sea and shore;
And as he blows his wondrous horn,
Old worlds shall die and new be born.

...money to the American Cancer Society? Think about these facts.

Over the years, cancer strikes two of three families in this country.

More than 300,000 Americans die of it every year.

Medical science and research are making great strides towards the day of victory over this killer.

CLIPS & TIPS

By JOELLA LOVVERN

MRS. LaGRANGE, our correspondent at Amherst, sent this recipe she received from her friend from Iowa. Since there are lots of cucumbers in the country, this might be handy.

ICE BOX PICKLES

Bring just to a boil and cool:
2 cups sugar
1 cup vinegar
3/4 Tbsp. celery seed
3/4 Tbsp. mustard seed
Add to:
8 cups thinly sliced unpickled cucumbers
1 cup celery, firmly cut
1 cup chopped onion
1 green pepper, chopped
Sprinkle over this mixture, 2 Tbsp. salt.

Let stand 1/2 hour with salt, then drain. Then pour the sugar and vinegar mixture over cucumbers and stir well. Store in jars or large covered bowl in refrigerator. Makes about 4 pints. They are crisp and good.

WHEN YOU WANT something a little different for your next luncheon, consider corn bread. It has a flavor all its own that your guests will welcome. Combined with a spicy beef sauce, it makes a tasty entree.

A fresh fruit salad is the perfect partner for color, texture and taste. Everything can be prepared in advance; arrange fruit on lettuce leaves and place corn bread on a broiler pan to toast all together while the beef sauce is reheating. Your hostess duties are few for this menu so you can enjoy your guests.

SPICY BEEF SQUARES

CORN BREAD:
1 cup enriched corn meal
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/4 cup sugar
4 tps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 egg
1 cup milk
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted

SAUCE:
1/3 cup chopped celery
1/3 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 tsp. paprika
1/8 tsp. pepper
1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
3 cups milk
1 1/2 tps. Worcestershire sauce
One 4-oz. can mushroom stems and pieces, drained
1 cup cooked green beans
One 5-oz. jar dried beef, torn into bite-sized pieces

For corn bread heat oven to hot (425 degrees F.). Sift together corn meal, flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into bowl. Add egg, milk and melted butter; mix until smooth. Bake in greased 8-inch square baking pan in preheated oven (425 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Cool on wire rack. Cut into 6 pieces. Split each piece in half horizontally. Toast corn bread pieces until golden brown.

For sauce, saute celery and onion in butter until tender, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and blend in paprika, pepper and flour. Return to heat; gradually add milk, stirring to combine. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Stir in Worcestershire sauce. Add mushrooms, green beans and dried beef; stir to distribute ingredients evenly. Warm over low heat.

To serve, place 1 piece of toasted corn bread on each plate. Spoon sauce over corn bread. Top with second piece of corn bread and more sauce. Serve immediately.

IF YOU PRESERVED foods in "loud mouth" jars that keep "talking" all year on the pantry shelf, help is at hand to prevent it happening again.

Mrs. Dorothy Powell, County Extension Agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, pointed out these "talking" jars often spell spoilage.

She cited reasons jars don't seal and suggested some solutions.

—Small particles of food left on rim of jar.
Remedy: Wipe off top of jar with clean damp cloth before placing lid on jar.

—Sealing compound or lid doesn't seal.
Remedy: Lids may be old. Usually, they last five years. Some may have a year date on them, such as 1-75, to indicate the lid was manufactured in the first quarter of 1975 and should be used before the end of the first quarter of 1980. It's a good idea to mark date of purchase on the box lids.

—Bent or rusty rings.
Remedy: Bent or rusty rings can cause the lids not to seal properly. Always remove rings when jars have cooled thoroughly and seals are tested.

Rings are necessary for the processing, but are not needed after the seal is made. Rings left on can rust and become difficult to remove—so store them in a dry place in a container that prevents them from being bent out of shape.

Examine rings before the start of each canning season and discard rusty or bent ones. Never use lids more than once, because they are designed for a one-time seal.

—Rings screwed on "too tight" or "too loose."

Remedy: Rings which are screwed too tightly on the jar do not allow space for venting (escape of air from the jar). This makes pressure build up in the jar, causing the lid—and sometimes even the top of the ring—to buckle.

Rings not screwed on tightly enough will not seal, because the compound is not pressed firmly enough against the top of the jar.

The agent said that the main point to remember is to follow manufacturer's directions. Do not use lid tighteners recommended for zinc caps. Two-piece lids don't require tighteners, she said.

TIPS AND TIDBITS:

DID YOU KNOW that you can make a terrific wood putty just by mixing Elmer's Glue-All with sawdust? Use it to repair loose joints—for example, to secure a wobbly chair rung. Or, use it to fill in joints and seams in planking; apply it with a putty knife and sand it down, then stain or paint, if desired.

A NEW TREAT

Mix dry onion soup mix with soft margarine to go on your corn on the cob. A tasty treat!

TO GET THE MOST

To get the maximum number of slices from every pound of meat (with no crumbs), cook the meat at a low temperature. A roast crumbles only when cooked at too high a temperature.

To The EDITOR LETTERS

To The Editor:

Recently, an article appeared in your paper captioned, "Report Shows Cloud Seeding Nil". There are a number of very serious questions regarding the validity of that report, some of which the general public rightfully ought to become aware of to prevent people from being misled further.

Texas Water Development Board Report #193 is entitled, "An Evaluation of Weather Modification Activities in The Texas High Plains". This report is an attempt, by researchers at Texas A&M, to determine what effects cloud seeding produced both within the hail suppression area and the surrounding non-hail suppression counties. Data from the period 1970-1973 and the three-year period immediately prior to beginning cloud seeding were compiled and compared in various ways.

The resulting analyses contained in the report came from the following data sources: (1) USDA (through ASCS information), (2) Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, and (3) Crop-Hail Actuarial Association.

Quoting the report regarding the limitations acknowledged to be inherent in the data from the USDA (ASCS), "The ASCS data reflect total crop losses due to weather, while the loss due to hail alone is unknown."

In the scientific analysis of the data from the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, resort was made to use estimates of cotton lint losses as the best method of examining hail damage. Interestingly enough, the lint losses (presumably from hail) inside the hail suppression area decreased by 81 percent during the time period comparison while outside the area it dropped 32 percent for the same period.

Of additional interest in the report is that in 1969 the three county hail suppression area listed in the report had insured more cotton acreage than the combined 9-county group surrounding them; however, by 1973 the acreage insured inside the hail suppression area had decreased 45 percent from the 1969 level, while outside the area there total cotton acreage insured had increased 13 percent. Curiously, during nearly the same time, from 1971-1973, the number of harvested acres of cotton inside the hail suppression area increased while outside the area it increased percent! (No statistical significance attached or intended for the numbers generated from the trends which appear to have within the hail suppression area.)

The authors of the report value from the Crop-Hail Association data and provide to-liability comparison which indicate anything really odd enough, an independent of these same data was several months previous by a from the Illinois State Water Survey results suggested strong evidence there had been an approximate percent reduction in both damage and in total number of inside the hail suppression area Lamb and Hale for that four-year period.

Perhaps the worst thing about the report is that the researchers completely overlooked just which were really involved in hail damage and which were not. Listed in as belonging to the hail suppression were the counties of Lamb, Floyd. The truth of the matter Floyd County at any time never more than 10 percent-15 percent total county area involved in hail suppression activity.

It should also be added that Farmer, and Hockley counties small portions of their counties in hail suppression during the time period for which the report written, however, these counties among the nine total number of listed as being outside the hail suppression area.

It should be made clear to all conclusions found in TWDB Report have been based upon the assumption the researchers that all three were completely in the hail suppression area when such was not the case. Primarily for this reason Report cannot be accepted as a valid weather modification activity purports to evaluate.

ago. He took a train to Bangkok, and stayed 10 days there with an American family to begin his acquaintance with Western living. From there he joined 50 other Thai foreign exchange students on a plane to Manila, Guam, Honolulu and finally San Francisco. After another day of orientation, he and another Thai student flew to Lubbock where the Gardners picked him up last Saturday. The other Thai, a girl he calls Jip, will attend Floydada High School.

The Gardner's daughter Tonie, who was on the Student Council last year, got her parents interested in the program. "Tonie said they were desperate for a family and the deadline was getting close," said Mrs. Gardner. "So we decided to apply, got the forms from Tom Hilbun (who is in charge of the AFS program in Littlefield) and were accepted."

"We think we'll learn a lot from Pipop. He's very bright. Three days after he arrived he offered to help me put up the groceries, and he already knew where everything went."

Pipop will be enrolled as a senior at LHS, although he graduated from high school in Thailand this spring. His class. His ambition is to attend at Chulalongkorn University in Bangkok and become a lawyer. He'd like to come back to America to study after his degree, then start his own business.

Tonie graduated from LHS but Kevin, 15, and Mikel, 6, still live home, and they've been of Pipop's American education. "He has problems with the language so been with people talking to getting names straight. "A names," says Pipop, "are very hard for me to remember."

Turn Row COMMENTS

By EMIL MACK

MANY ARE PREDICTING high food prices in the future. They could be right, because in some instances there is a shortage of various types of food items.

Pork for instance will likely average 18 to 20 percent below last year at this time and well under 1972-74 average for the month.

Beef will be more adequate. Production rates are expected to be about 5 percent above August, 1974 and will be moderately ahead of the 1972-1974 average for August.

Turkeys are adequate, but the new crop marketing forecast is 14 percent below August, 1974 and 16 percent under the 1972-74 average for August. Cold storage holdings are well below record stocks of August 1974. Maybe your Thanksgiving and Christmas will be a little higher.

Milk and dairy products are on the decline.

Most fruits will be below last year with the exception of peaches. It is estimated the new peach crop will be up about 15 percent.

In the nut department (with the exception of Cornball) there will be an increase over last year. Peanuts up 31 percent, Walnuts up 22 percent, almonds are expected to be because of the carryover from last year.

SPEAKING OF CORNBALL, pose the only increase in production can get from him is the — he will notice the comment he made in his last effort!

SOME WISE MAN said that doesn't have to be a bigamist to wife too many.

Crinkle Gauze Is Big Fall Fashion News

BROTHY POWELL, Extension Agent of fall fashion's biggest will be the crinkled gauze. Fabrics such as duck crinkled surface to give effect, and sheer materials that imitate gauze available. Polyester chiffon will give its appearance in crinkled. Variation on gauze fashion comes with a 3-D look alternating solid and stripes. Also double-woven smooth on one side and textured on the other—adds to texture play a role in fall fashions. Use of ribs, slubs and nubs will continue, as will blending in fur or rabbit hair for a soft look. One of the newer looks is shiny flecks and lines made by using very shiny yarns periodically in a dull fabric. Lightweight synthetic yarn knitted to look like terry cloth will be available too. Both knitted and woven fabrics will be lighter in weight, continuing the soft look of summer. Traditional weaves, such as twill, gabardine and poplin will be seen. Prints continue important, too. Pointillistic dots are used for landscapes and florals, and calico prints and art deco geometrics are still news. An addition to these is the "marbled" print in monotonous and tricolor combinations.

"The saints of Caesar's household salute you." (Philippians 4:22)

A lily pad near my boat caught my attention. A delicate blossom, eight to ten inches across, rested on the bosom of the dark fetid waters of the Okefenokee swamp. It had made its way up from the miry bottom, and then, at the call of the sun, opened in all its pristine purity and beauty.

"Saints in the house of Caesar" came to my mind in a flash. It's not what you are in, it's what is in you. The lily root in the warm mud had a destiny—up, up, up, to the sun. Unseen and unmeasured power drove it to its goal. Once there, it fulfilled its urge to blossom.

The men and women who served Caesar were living in the heart of the ancient world's paganism period but something within them responded to the warmth of the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ—and up, up, up, they rose to meet the warmth of the love of God. So for all time they would be described with those wonderfully powerful words, "saints, even in the house of Caesar."

God's plan for your life supercedes the circumstances in which you find yourself. A blind Fanny Crosby, a poor Dwight Moody, a mute Helen Keller—each rising up, up, up to full blossom by following the call of God in their hearts.

Uninsured motorists involved in traffic accidents resulting death, personal injury or property damage in excess of $250 may be subject to suspension of their driving privileges and vehicle registrations under a revision to the Texas Safety Responsibility Law.
Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said the new law—which was enacted during the recent Legislative session—requires DPS to evaluate traffic accidents (meeting the above criteria of seriousness) to determine if there is a "reasonable probability of judgement" against one or more of the drivers.
If such a finding is made, and if the driver or owner has no liability insurance meeting the state's minimum requirement of $10,000/$20,000/$5,000, then the DPS must require the uninsured motorist believed at fault to satisfy the security provisions of the law. This may be done in one of the following ways:
—By submitting a written release signed by the other damaged parties.
—By filing an installment agreement made with the other damaged parties involved.
—By depositing security in a sufficient amount to take care of damages sustained by others and maintain proof of financial responsibility for a period of five years from the date of the accident.
—By filing copies of civil damage judgement obtained against other parties involved in the accident, or a judgement of non-liability.
When the security provisions of the law are not met, the uninsured motorist operators, and the law provides that the probability of judgement against such persons following provisions become applicable.

—A written notice driver license and registration suspension forwarded to such certified mail. Such a hearing granted upon request.
—Upon receipt of a hearing, the DPS will appear before the judge in their residence, and it will be responsibility of the judge to determine whether there is a "reasonable probability of judgement" if so, the amount of judgment deposited with DPS uninsured persons.
—Any suspension in the DPS in motor vehicle cases of this type stayed by a request until such time as the finally resolved through ministrative hearing courts.
Speir said the new enacted to enable to comply with a U.S. Court decision. The decision invalidated portions previous Texas Responsibility Law because of "due process" in the old law.
Speir said the new signed by the Governor 20, and uninsured involved in accidents 21 can be affected provisions.

Bicentennial Events Book Available For Scheduling

It is afternoon, April 19, 1775. A line of British soldiers marches down the battle road on their way to Concord. However, as they try to cross North Bridge into Concord, they are stopped by a large group of armed farmers and town people—the Minute Men.
No one is sure what happened next, but that day, the "shot heard round the world" was fired and the American Revolution began.
Weekends this summer, Minute Man companies will recreate the life and customs of 1775 in Concord, Mass., as part of the National Park Service's nationwide bicentennial celebration. You can learn the dates of a wide variety of bicentennial activities in the National Park Service's booklet, "Bicentennial Events 1975." This 27-page booklet lists festivals, demonstrations and celebrations scheduled from now until December 31 and is available free from Consumer Information, Dept. 40, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.
After visiting Minute Man Park, travel west to Tuzigoot and Montezuma's Castle in Camp Verde, Ariz. This eerie grouping of prehistoric ruins, burial grounds, and Pueblo cliff dwellings recalls how Indians lived almost before time began. On weekends, June 1 to Sept. 1, the park will have cultural demonstrations showing the native Indian arts of 200 years ago.

Bicentennial Events Book Available For Scheduling

It is afternoon, April 19, 1775. A line of British soldiers marches down the battle road on their way to Concord. However, as they try to cross North Bridge into Concord, they are stopped by a large group of armed farmers and town people—the Minute Men.
No one is sure what happened next, but that day, the "shot heard round the world" was fired and the American Revolution began.
Weekends this summer, Minute Man companies will recreate the life and customs of 1775 in Concord, Mass., as part of the National Park Service's nationwide bicentennial celebration. You can learn the dates of a wide variety of bicentennial activities in the National Park Service's booklet, "Bicentennial Events 1975." This 27-page booklet lists festivals, demonstrations and celebrations scheduled from now until December 31 and is available free from Consumer Information, Dept. 40, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.
After visiting Minute Man Park, travel west to Tuzigoot and Montezuma's Castle in Camp Verde, Ariz. This eerie grouping of prehistoric ruins, burial grounds, and Pueblo cliff dwellings recalls how Indians lived almost before time began. On weekends, June 1 to Sept. 1, the park will have cultural demonstrations showing the native Indian arts of 200 years ago.

When Rattlesnake Strikes, Pack The Bite With Ice

BOOKMOBILE SCHEDULE

When a rattlesnake strikes, pack the bite with ice.

Contradicting presently recommended methods, this snakebite first aid advice for laymen comes from a San Antonio physician and surgeon, who has studied the causes and effects of venomous viper bites the past 15 years.

Based on his own experiences in treating more than 200 snakebite victims, Dr. Thomas G. Glass, Jr., contends cold ice packs and constriction bands are far safer and more practical first aid measures than the more drastic "cut and suck" method, which has been widely used in Texas since early frontier times.

A clinical professor of surgery at San Antonio's University of Texas Medical School, Dr. Glass claims the presently advocated one-quarter inch long and one-eighth inch deep cross cuts are ineffective when the venom has been deeply injected into the muscle, and unnecessary when the victim receives no venom at all, which occurs in three cases out of ten, according to his studies.

Dr. Glass doubts cutting is beneficial in any case, except with professional guidance, and argues that the laymen's chances of cutting a nerve, artery or tendon are too risky to be undertaken at all, and can cause greater harm than the snakebite itself.

Instead, he suggests that for any venomous bite, whether from a rattlesnake, cottonmouth, copperhead or coral snake, the layman should (1) apply constriction bands lightly both above and below the bite, where possible; (2) place crushed ice in plastic bags over the bite area to cool the venom and slow down its movement to other parts of the body; and (3) remove the victim to a medical facility in a rapid and safe manner.

San Antonio's Emergency Medical Services was among the first to adopt Dr. Glass' first aid techniques with EMS technicians now carrying constriction bands and chemical ice packs in their ambulances as standard equipment.

Based on his recommendations, San Antonio's Amerex Laboratories has developed a first aid kit, appropriately named, "Snakebite Freeze", which can be stored and used where ice is not always readily available.

The kit contains two plastic bags of non-toxic, non-caustic chemicals, that are activated by squeezing an inner bag, producing "instant" cold down to an estimated 18 degrees. The kit comes with two constriction bands and a neoprene insulated wrapper for holding the ice pack in place.

To clear up what he terms the "public's unwarranted and needless fears and lack of understanding of snakebites", Dr.

Glass has published a 26-page booklet, "First Aid For Snakebite" in which he explains the first aid measures laymen can safely undertake.

The booklet distinguishes between the first aid, which Dr. Glass describes as the care given the victim at the scene of the bite, and the treatment, which he explains, is the attention and care the victim receives after arriving at a hospital or other medical facility.

Information on obtaining a copy of Dr. Glass' booklet or the Snakebite Freeze first aid kit is available by writing Amerex Laboratories, 307 E. Nakoma, San Antonio, Texas 78216.

Nitrogen Deficiencies Current In Sorghums

Following the use of lower than customary rates of fertilizer under this year's sorghum crop, nitrogen deficiency symptoms are showing up more frequently in the area, according to James Valentine, soil chemist who heads the Texas Agricultural Extension Service's soil testing laboratory at Lubbock.

"The best way to evaluate nitrogen needs this late in the season is the appearance of sorghum," says Valentine. "If it's turning yellow, it probably means nitrogen shortage."

"Lower leaves yellow first and when these leaves burn at the tips with a yellow or dead v-shaped area pointing up the center of the leaf toward the stalk, extreme nitrogen deficiency exists."

Valentine says nitrogen applied to nitrogen-deficient, irrigated sorghum can be expected to increase yields significantly.

"Rates of 40 to 60 pounds of actual nitrogen can take up a lot of slack," he adds. If a ground rig is used the nitrogen, regardless of source, should be placed in the soil, preferably in the middles to avoid root pruning, the soil chemist explains.

Ammonia and nitrogen solutions can be applied through furrow irrigation systems, but the operator should be aware of the possible hazard of pipe scale formation when using anhydrous ammonia. Nitrogen solutions containing urea and ammonium nitrate have not been reported to cause scale problems and are ideal for use through sprinkler systems. Broadcast applications of solid nitrogen carriers can cause burning in the whorl and on leaves.

"Time is now a critical factor," Valentine emphasizes. "While profitable response from nitrogen applied as late as the bloom stage has been observed, the sooner it is applied after it is six weeks old the better."

Annual South Plains Fair To Feature Quarter Horses

Some of the area's top quarter horses will be vying for $2,350 in premiums on closing day of the 58th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair in Lubbock this fall.

Steve L. Lewis, general manager, said the popular event is slated on Sept. 27, with $1,550 in premiums tabbed for halter classes and $800 earmarked for performance classes.

Billy G. Allen of Scott City, Kan., will judge the show. Doyle Warren will be show superintendent and will be assisted by Mack Heald, Alan Fires and Jimmy Vanstony. Bob Middleton will serve as ring steward and D'Lynn Whitten secretary.

Several new events have been added for the 1975 fair, which begins an eight-day run on Sept. 20. An open horse show also is set for that date.

The quarter horses will compete in Fair Park Livestock Pavilion.

Halter class competition includes 1972, 1973, 1974 and 1975 stallions, stallions foaled in 1971 and before, with a grand and reserve grand champion to be named; 1972, 1973, 1974 and 1975 mares, mares foaled in 1971 and before, reserve and grand champion; youth activities mare; 1972, 1973 and 1974 geldings, geldings foaled in 1971 and before, reserve and grand champion; youth activities gelding (all ages); showmanship at halter (13 and under); and showmanship at halter (14 to 18).

Sunflower Crop Nearing Maturity

Sunflower crops across the High Plains are taking a final bow, marking the end of the bloom period. The worst seems to be over.

All that remains now is a period of grain filling and the harvesting operation, says Dr. James Supak, area agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. But farmers will have to be careful not to stop plant growth too quickly with harvest-aid chemicals because it could have a drastic effect on seed yields.

"These producers did an excellent— almost unbelievable— job of establishing and maintaining a crop that most had never even considered growing until about seven months ago," Supak says.

"Planting rates and plant populations worked out satisfactory for most producers. The crop made excellent growth and weed control in most instances was not a serious problem. Due to favorable rainfall, even the dryland plantings never really stressed for moisture in most areas."

Supak says the dreaded carrot beetle infestations which were expected never materialized, and although pressure from the sunflower moth was terrific, most producers managed to control the pest with minimal crop damage.

"There is still some concern regarding a possible outbreak of diseases such as rust, but the pathologists feel that the early planted crop has a good chance of escaping any serious damage," he adds.

One of the most important considerations now is the length of the grain filling and curing periods. The agronomist observes that with the cool, damp weather now prevailing on the High Plains it will take four to six weeks after completion of bloom for seed to reach full maturity.

By that time, he points out, the back of the head and stalk should be lemon yellow in color and most of the leaves will be dead or appear to be dying. The triangular shaped bracts on the outer edge of the head will be brown or turning brown and the seed in the center of the head will be black in color and quite firm.

Band Twirlers Attend Camp

SPRINGLAKE— Ranae Winder, Tammy Davis, Daneen Wilson and Susan Clayton, 1975-'76 twirlers of Springlake-Earth High School Band, attended the band camp last week at Southwestern State University, Weatherford, Okla.

Also attending the camp were Springlake-Earth freshmen Lisa Pittman, Petra Lewis, De Ann Clayton, Rosie Lewis and Laurenda Bulls.

are noted, the seed is mature but the fleshy head base (which when cut open with a knife looks somewhat like a sponge) will not be sufficiently dry for combining operation, the head base must be dry, Supak cautions.

Several weeks may be required for the head base to dry naturally. During this period seed will begin to shatter and some yield will be lost. The best alternative is rush the final drying process through the use of a harvest-aid chemical.

"Unfortunately, at this time (July 25) none of the available harvest-aid chemicals are cleared for use on sunflowers, Supak reports. Efforts are under way by the agricultural chemical industry, producer groups and public institutions to obtain a label for at least one such chemical by the time it is needed in the field. The establishment of a federal residue tolerance level for this harvest-aid chemical has senatorial priority in Washington and industry spokesmen are hopeful this petition will be acted on shortly."

Once a harvest-aid chemical is applied, the crop will be ready to harvest in 7 to 10 days. A combine equipped with a flower header attachment will be immediately available in terms of seed loss, and bird feeding. The harvest-aid chemical will be used on sunflower non-selective desiccant. It will kill any plant contacts including sorghum and other adjacent fields. Chemical is a potentially serious pest, Supak says.

Since desiccation will, cases, be done with a producer should train an aerial applicator pick a crop for the spraying operation. Aerial applicators can be equipping their aircraft with new types of drift nozzles such as "Rainbird" by using drift reducing additives will probably reduce the costs of spraying operations. In the long run, however, there is danger of adjacent crops.

As usual, Supak says, toughest part now is waiting during the next weeks.
