Lawson stopped me
this week to make a proposal to the head we had on the football story Sunday.
He told me I was poor
writing. . . and I agreed.
Ever, when I objected to the story before we went to press, he told me I just didn't use football terminology. . .
then a team failed to score and he said "skunked."

Some one of my pet peaves

is that the adults behave

Don't Tell Anyone, But

BY MAXINE CLARIDA

We got a bang out of the crop forecasters. We went out and interviewed dryland farmers. One would paint a very bright picture, while the fellow on the next farm just didn't see it that way at all. Then over to irrigated land one would hesitate to predict and the next one was anxious to let the whole world know what an excellent farmer he was.

Aren't we all that way? Predictions are up to the individual. Some of us are optimists and some are pessimists. But pessimists have no place in West Texas.

As we have said so many times, "We have been waiting for another year won't hurt us, so another year won't hurt us. We do hope that the freeze is a late one for the sake of many, many people who will be hurt if it is otherwise."

We have been looking all over for two small boys who need boy scout suits. They are the smallest size and have never been washed. Just dry cleaned. We have a Cub suit, too. We would be happy to trade them for any kind of stamps. So if your boys need a suit call 439 any night.

Cotton Root Rot Control Hints Offered

College Station, Sept. 19.—Losses from cotton root rot can be reduced if a planned program involving a combination of practices is carried out on infected soils, says Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist. Currently, Smith says, the plant diagnostic lab is receiving specimens of cotton plants infected with root rot from every section of the state except Northwest producing areas.

The fungus causing the disease is a tough customer to control but Smith offers three suggested practices which have proved effective in holding losses from the disease to a minimum. The fungus may be killed by drying out the infected soil. The land should be plowed to a depth of 6 to 8 or more inches in the summer or early fall. Smith points out that the fungus has been found as deep in the soil as cotton roots go and that plowing to this depth is recommended for some areas. The important thing is to turn the soil and expose the fungus to the hot sun and drying. Replowing at regular intervals during the summer and early fall is recommended.

A second practice, starving the fungus by reducing its host plants or food supply, has also proved effective. Smith suggests planting surghum, corn, oats, wheat, barley or grasses for 1 to 4 years before cotton. The severity of the infestation should determine the number of years the nonsusceptible crops should be grown. Too, summer fallow and deep tillage should be practiced on idle land to control weeds susceptible to the fungus.

Thirdly, Smith says plowing into the soil large amounts of organic matter will aid the growth of beneficial micro-organisms in the root zone and apparently these organisms prevent the fungus from spreading. The growing of a cool-season adapted legume as a green-manure crop or the addition to the soil of cotton burs prior to planting cotton has proved successful in many areas of the state.

The remainder of the Freshmen schedule for 1957 is as follows: Sept. 26 - Levelland, Here. Oct. 3 - Plainview, Here. Oct. 10 - Dimmitt, Here. Oct. 17 - Hereford, Teher. Oct. 24 - Open. Oct. 31 - Oton, Teher. Nov. 7 - Levelland, Teher. Nov. 14 - Plainview, Teher.

Harvest hands are arriving in Littlefield and Lamb County daily. County Agent Bill Kimbrough thinks there will be less harvest hands here this year than in previous years, but says that this remains to be seen.

Merchants report an increase in sales of hot plates, electric kettles, irons, and tin cooking utensils. All of these items are usually bought by the transient workers. Littlefield merchants enjoy a good business in these items and expect this season to be no exception.

The merchants think it will be around the first week in October when the laborers have been paid for a week or so before the full effect will be felt by business men.

Implement dealers, lumber yards and hardware stores have been busy supplying farmers with repair items for their harvest machinery such as cotton strippers and combines.

The cool nights have lessened the effect of insects and worms in most cotton fields.

So if Lamb County can get a late freeze the picture is very bright. Old timers predict that the first freeze will be two months, or sixty days, from the first northern. That will make the freeze on November 14. Let's hope they are correct!

DRESSING RIGHT FOR COLLEGE

Going off to college for the first time is an experience that produces mixed feelings of independence and uncertainty in any young fellow. Naturally enough, he wants to do well and he wants to have the feeling that he "belongs" in his new surroundings.

An important part of belonging is being dressed right — wearing the clothes that fit in with his new situation and his home away from home.

For the most part, reports the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, Ivy styling has climbed to unprecedented heights on campuses across the country and the Ivy tradition which got its start at colleges in the Northeast is now securely anchored to halls of learning from coast to coast.

Though subtle differences exist in university clothes in the various sections of the nation, the university men pictured here are dressed right in this assortment of Ivy-type campus favorites. Note the slim-legged pleated slacks, the button-down collar shirts and the striped sports jackets. Favorite shoes include plain toe bluchers, moccasins and wing tips.

In the Northeast section of the country, while a few differences do exist, the choices of slacks, sports coats, suits, shirts and ties are much the same from campus to campus. Here, as in many other sections, high schoolers are fast to adopt the fashion standards of their college-age brothers.

University men in the South have adopted the new neater look in a big way, striving for a smart yet sensible appearance in contrast to an almost-sloppy look that was the rule just a few short years ago.

In the Southwest, where denim riders and frontier pants were the rage, most students have switched to the Ivy-type duds of their Eastern cousins.

From walk shorts to formal wear, there is little to distinguish the clothes of the Midwestern college man from those in the East.

On the West Coast, climate accounts for some variation in the type of clothes worn on college campuses, but the Ivy influence has finally made the transcontinental migration to the shores of the Pacific. One basic difference is the inclusion of swimwear in the basic wardrobe of college men in this area until well into November.

Agriculture Station Will Hold Annual Field Day

The Annual Field Day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station of Lubbock will be held on October 8. Farmers, ranchmen and business men are cordially invited to attend. The program will begin at 9:00 A.M. when tours will be made in tractor drawn trailers under the guidance of County Agents to view the experimental plots and exhibits of latest developments in agricultural research. In the afternoon, following a lunch furnished by a catering service at $1.00 per person, the high lights and new developments at the Lubbock Station and from outlying tests conducted at 13 locations in the Southern High Plains will be discussed by personnel of the station. The visitors will have ample opportunity to view and discuss the influence of water management, different levels of irrigation, and fertilization on the yield and quality of cotton and sorghum hybrids, and special crops such as soybeans, sesame, and castor beans. Some of the latest developments that will also likely interest farmers include the "W" planter with press wheel attachment, production of native grass seed, control of nematodes, insects and plant diseases. In addition, information will be available on the influence of fertilizers, cotton burrs, crop residues, and cropping systems including legumes on the yield of cotton and grain sorghums under irrigation and also under dryland conditions. Studies on simulated hail damage, dates of planting, and performance of leading cottons and sorghum varieties also may be observed.

Some of these persons have had their checks suspended, while others have had them arriving each month, depending on how much they estimated their 1957 earnings to be. Rain — too much or too little — and other workings of nature may have caused their original estimates to be too high or too low. As a result, some of these persons who have had no checks this year could now get them, and others who have been receiving their checks should have them stopped.

This comes about, stated Mr. Hutton, because of the earnings restriction for beneficiaries not yet 72. If net earnings for the year are $1200 or less, the claimant can collect all twelve retirement checks from Social Security for that year. If net earnings are between $1200 and $2080.01, some benefits may be payable for the year. If earnings are expected to exceed $2080.01, some benefits may be payable for the year. If earnings are expected to exceed $2080.01, generally no social security checks would be payable for that year since such persons are not considered "retired" within the meaning of the Social Security Act.

Retired People May Obtain SS Information

Now would be a good time for some South Plains farm and ranch operators in the area serviced by the Lubbock Social Security Office to take a long look at their earnings prospects for 1957, according to John G. Hutton, District Manager of the Social Security Administration.

The articular farmers referred to are those who have filed claims for social security payments and were under age 72 on January 1, 1957.

Some of these persons have had their checks suspended, while others have had them arriving each month, depending on how much they estimated their 1957 earnings to be. Rain — too much or too little — and other workings of nature may have caused their original estimates to be too high or too low. As a result, some of these persons who have had no checks this year could now get them, and others who have been receiving their checks should have them stopped.

Management Will Get Most From Poultry

College Station, Sept. 20 — High production, long period of lay, low death loss and good feed efficiency are the "bread and butter" of the present-day egg producer. If any of these are neglected, the result is a lower profit, point out extension poultry husbandmen. The modern hen they say, is bred to lay at a high rate, but skillful management must be practiced to gain maximum profits.

Only healthy pullets should go into the laying house. Give them ample ventilation and fourteen hours of light a day to increase egg production.

Health is important. If a disease appears, a prompt and reliable diagnosis should be made. Carefully check some birds each week for external parasites, and if found, begin treatment at once. At the first sign of cannibalism or feather picking, debark the birds. Cull sick or injured birds for four or five months after birds are in production and dispose of dead ones by completely burning or using a disposal pit.

Gather eggs at least three times a day and if possible store them at 55 degrees F. to help preserve egg quality. Keep a good set of records. They are so important that an operation may fail without them.

Sanitation must be practiced in a floor operation. The best prevention of disease and parasites is clean and sanitary living conditions. Use about three inches of litter on the floor and give each bird about three square feet of floor space. Provide four to six inches of feeder space and one inch of water space for each bird. Furnish one nest for every four hens and keep non-layers out of the flock. Do not mix young pullets with old hens.

A hen in a cage depends on the producer for food, water and proper living conditions. Remember this and give them the care they deserve in regard to sanitation, ventilation, feed, water and distance from Lubbock are reminded that social security representatives visit all counties, following a schedule which is available at your local post office. A representative will be in Littlefield, Texas at the County Courthouse on October 3, 1957, at 9:30 a.m.

New Irrigation Ditch Lining To Decrease Costs

A number of Texas farmers may be able to profit from a newly-developed asphalt and burlap material designed for use as an irrigation ditch lining.

Already in limited use and expected to be on the market next year, the new lining process consists of two layers of specially treated burlap sandwiched between three layers of a special asphalt material. Developers claim the new development will lower lining costs by forty-five percent below concrete, used to prevent seepage of water flowing through canals on its way from the reservoir to the farm.

Another possibility for the new burlap inner-liner is its similar use as a seepage-preventor in artificial tanks and ponds. However, it might meet fairly stiff competition here with another more natural type of sealing agent already in use.

Some Texas farmers and ranchers are calling their leaky tanks with a special type of dirt which, when mixed with porous soil, produces a hard self-proof bottom. The big disadvantage here is that the water has to be emptied and the soil dried completely before this transformation can take place.

On the other side of the water-retention problem—evaporation—other Texans are using a chemical "cover" of "fatty alcohols" which, when applied to reservoir surfaces, hold evaporation to a minimum.

All of these developments, and others as well, are at least worth a fair try in the constant search for answers to our water problems.

and importance of the problem. 2. The self-sufficient belief of the individual, that he is able to take care of situations that arise on his own property.

3. A lack of organized approach on a scale that is comparable to the successful efforts of industry.

4. The absence of regulations applying to home safety, such as industrial safety codes. "As with all other areas of accident prevention," Musick concluded, "the initial step must be taken by the individual before any program can be successful. Until persons at the grass-root level become safety-minded, the accident toll will continue."

28,000 Americans Die In Accidents At Home In 1956

AUSTIN, Sept. 19 — "If you want to be safe—leave home!" This startling remark was made today by J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, who added:

"Accidents in the home accounted for the death of 28,000 Americans, in 1956, and 4,200,000 injuries. This places the home second only to motor vehicles in accidental deaths, and makes the home the most hazardous area known for injuries."

Musick made his statements in conjunction with the announcement that TSA, working with the National Safety Council, has just completed mailing the 1956 Home Safety Inventory reports.

The Inventory is a nationwide accounting of home safety activities conducted by various local safety organizations throughout the United States. Texas, for example, had a total of 132 returns to Inventory questionnaires in the 1956 report — Fort Worth and the largest response from safety groups of any city in the state.

From these reports, TSA and NSC are able to evaluate the Home Safety Program in Texas and determine the program's weak and strong points.

"In spite of the high death and injury toll of 1956, some headway in the field of home accident prevention is being made. This is reflected by the fact that home accidents were two percent below the 1955 figures—and this didn't come about accidentally," Musick said, using a slight play on words.

He also said that professional safety men are frequently asked why greater strides haven't been made in the prevention of home accidents.

In answering the question, he called attention to the fact that safety education has been handicapped by several outstanding factors and gave the following four reasons why progress has been slow:

Amherst Band Makes First Appearance In Fair Parade

The Amherst Band made an excellent showing in the parade opening the South Plains Fair in Lubbock Monday morning. It was the first appearance of the band, organized last year.

The royal blue uniforms are trimmed in white. The blue caps have white tops and bills and a white plume adorns each cap. White sashes complete the uniforms.

The colors in the drum majors' uniform are reversed from the others. Judy Angeley is drum major.

The majorettes' uniforms are blue with circular skirts edged a lam line with white fur. They wear white boots. Majorettes are Marie Brandstatt, Lyndia Morrow, Linda Trulock, Joy Long, and Gayla Ann Batsan.

J. H. Pean is band instructor and director.

The Amherst Bulldogs play a conference game at Texas Friday night, September 27.

WTSC To Play Texas Western Friday Night

EL PASO, Texas. The struggle for Texas Western College's Border Conference football championship will begin in El Paso Saturday night, when the champion Miners and West Texas State meet in a game that could determine the new champion.

Both teams are unbeaten, but the manner in which they secured their victories is quite different. Texas Western defeated a 2000 North Texas State team, 14-0, last Saturday to open its football season, but had to throw a 67-yard scoring pass in the fading minutes to pull back from near defeat.

On the other hand, West Texas State has proved to be "the team to beat" for the championship in its first two games. The Buffs opened McMurry, 20-7, in their first game and ground Texas Tech into submission by a 19-0 score Saturday night in Lubbock. So convincing were the Buff victories that the West Texans are rated "at least as good" as any team in the conference.

Saturday night's conflict shapes up as a contest between the speed and sheer power; Texas Western's speed was the difference against North Texas Saturday as swift halfback Don Maynard of Colorado, City, Texas, returned an intercepted pass 48 yards for one touchdown and gathered in a pass from Quarterback Bob Lariba for a 66-yard scoring play.

Texas Western scouts report that West Texas uses less subtle means of gaining its victories. "They just dare you to stop them," Coach Dale Waters said. "They can take the ball and run it down your throat and you can't do anything about it."

With that in mind, Coach Bob Collins—a former West Texas State halfback himself—plans to work overtime on fundamental this week. "We've got to improve our blocking and tackling—especially our tackling," Collins said.

The Miners came through the North Texas fray without serious injuries and all players are expected to be ready to go this week. Collins said no lineup changes are anticipated.

By Collins, who began his college football career at West Texas State almost 20 years ago, does not look forward with pleasure to seeing his alma mater in action this week end.

Collins is in his first year as head coach at Texas Western College, and his Miners begin defense of their Border Conference championship against the powerful Bulldogs here next Saturday night. The game will be the first conference clash for either team.

Collins' lack of anticipation is based on advance scouting reports which indicate that the skills of Frank Kemmerer are "much stronger" than last year's team that lost only two games and won the Tangerine Bowl post-season contest. It also recalls that the Miners had the seeds of their lives in defeating West Texas last year, when a last-second field goal put the El Pasoans ahead, 16-13.

Collins was a little All-American tailback for West Texas in the late '40s. He was second in the nation in rushing and scoring his final year for the Buffs.

He has been on the Texas Western staff for 11 years, and succeeded Mike Brumbelow as head coach this year when Brumbelow moved to an administrative job.

I speak truth, not so much as I would, but as much as I dare; and I dare a little thus more as I grow older.—Montaigne.

Tech To Play Texas A. & M. Saturday Night

LUBBOCK, Sept. 23 — Texas A&M, in the top ten of all major national rankings, meets Texas Tech before an anticipated sell-out in Jones Stadium here Saturday night.

All reserved seats have been sold for three weeks, and at the first of the week only 2,000 end zone seats remained on sale. Despite the Raiders' loss, Tech Coach Dewitt Weaver was encouraged by several phases of the Raiders' showing. "They never gave up and hit hard throughout," Weaver said of the team. Although Tech got only to the one-yard line in the last second of the game, the Buffs' offense functioned well for a opening game—even surpassing the Bulldogs' yards-per-play in rushing.

Unfortunately for the Raiders, of the 18 times they gained possession, only once did they avoid a fumble or a penalty. The Buffs set up their three touchdowns on a pass interception and two fumble recoveries. West Texas showed the best passing it has had in recent years, mainly on the arm of fleet Ron Mills of Wadley, Texas. Halfback Milton (Bobby) Vaughn of Littlefield, with a twisted leg muscle, and center Jackie Henry of Floydada, with a knocked out tooth and facial lacerations, were the only casualties. Both are expected to play.

1000 Persons Attend Opening of Lumsden - Perkins Gin

Thousands of persons consumed pounds of catfish Friday at the formal opening of the Lumsden-Perkins Gin, five miles from Littlefield.

Months have passed since the careful Easter Sunday when the gin was completely demolished by the tornado. Nine cars that sought refuge were pinned to the debris. Fortunately the occupants of the cars were not injured. Observers of the damage say that the huge gin was disintegrated when it was sheeted from building and then machinery.

The gin has been re-built into electric gin with the latest equipment. The gin's equipment was on display to all who attended the opening. Representatives of the manufacturing companies, who supply machinery, attended the opening. They were from Dallas, Lubbock. Visitors from all surrounding towns attended.

A huge array of fall flowers, by wall-wishers, decorated the gin offices.

Wesley Perkins and Ross Lumsden, owners of the gin, in all of their old customers to see, as well as any others who have moved into that section.

No pleasure is comparable to standing upon the vantage point of Truth-Bacon.

A novel and pleasant way to display greeting cards and make sales was initiated at Sudan last Friday when members of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority called prospective customers and invited them in for coffee and to see their card display. Guests were entertained at the home of Mrs. George Lambert and coffee and cookies were served those calling to make selection of cards. Pictured above is Mrs. C. E. Nichols, second grade teacher in the Sudan schools, and Mrs. Guy Walden, housewife, as they view the cards being shown them by Mrs. Dexter Baker, president of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha. (Scott Photo)

SP Cotton Growers To Back Grain Sorghum Legislation

The Board of Directors of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., in a meeting September 20 voted to endorse the general ideas of the Grain Sorghum Producers Assn. legislative plan which ties in with the present cotton legislation being pushed by the PCG.

Wilmer Smith of New Home, vice-president, who presided in the absence of W. O. Fortenberry, president, who was ill, explained that the grain sorghum bill will fit in to an overall farm program just as the PCG-backed cotton bill.

Frank Moore, Plainview, presented the grain sorghum producers bill. Moore told the directors that the grain sorghum group was organized in October, 1955, for the purpose of promoting grain sorghums as a feed grain and for industrial purposes.

The sorghum organization serves an area which produces 60 percent of the Nations grain sorghum. Moore explained that the outstanding feature of the grain sorghum plan is that all commodities are supported at the same level.

"We feel strongly that the idea of supporting one commodity higher than another is indefensible. We would like to add that a high percentage of our membership have allotments of wheat or cotton or both," Moore explained.

The plan also provides for a percent of the cultivated acres to be retired from production. This is to prevent acreages diverted from the basic crops causing a surplus of non-basic ones.

"There would be no discrimination among farms, as each farm could have the same percentage of price supported crops. Land values would not be determined by the allotments but by true value of land," Moore said.

The plan is called the Surplus Reduction Farm Plan. Moore explained it would permit other commodity groups to get together and work out their own individual commodity plans yet the overall program could operate.

He added that the grain sorghum producers group have hopes to get the plan drafted in the form of a bill and later introduce it into Congress.

Moore was to attend a meeting of various commodity groups in Washington Sept 25 - 26 at which time he planned to present the grain sorghum program.

In other PCG action directors heard Smith report on a meeting of the American Cotton Producers Associates held September 19 in Memphis at which time the group voted to reaffirm its position back of the ACPA legislative plan.

This plan, in bill form, is scheduled for hearing January 15, 1958 by the House Agriculture Committee. Smith explained how much work by the ACPA and PCG officials had been done to try and get this bill out of the committee before Congress adjourned last month. However, the bill was not voted out.

Directors also heard Dr. Harold Loden, head of Paymaster Farms at Aiken, report on cotton variety tests conducted the past few years at Paymaster. Dr. Loden assured the directors of his help in collecting any data to try and improve High Plains cotton.

Dan Davis, head of the Plains Cotton Co-op Marketing Assn gave a report on light-spotted cotton price differentials for the 1957 season. George Pfeifferberger, Executive V.P., told the directors that a quality survey for the 1957 crop has been worked out with the U. S. Department of Agriculture officials and that the survey would be made this year.

Directors also voted to try and hold some future meetings at night in view of the busy fall season ahead.

DEAR GOD

Is something wrong with your life—an inner restless dissatisfaction? The answer to every human problem comes only from God our Maker. He alone can forgive and reassure.

Through the church God has committed the provision and proclamation of His forgiveness and redempting love. Without a church relationship no one is securely related to God.
Everyone should be in the Church and the Church is everyone!

Dear God... that's how this boy begins his prayers. How do you begin yours? Is God dear to you and near to you, or are you a wayward son who has strayed so long from home that you have forgotten your Father's address. No mind, He has not forgotten you, nor ceased to care for you. "Fear not, for I have redeemed you; I have called you by name, you are mine." We may forget this, but He never does.

He invites every straying son to come home today and learn again to say, "Dear God?" Go while it is day to His house and claim your sonship for the night cometh in which no man can find the way.

This Church Feature is made possible by the following individuals and Business Firms with the hopes of getting more people to church and for a more church minded community

This is a country where boys and girls come back to live after school days.

Graduates May Enroll In TV Course

College graduates, and especially those interested in teaching, have the opportunity to enroll in a new course in teacher education to be presented weekly by 17 Texas television stations starting at 7:30 a.m. on September 28.

Any graduate of an accredited college or university may apply for enrollment.

Teaching permits valid during the 1957-58 school year will be renewable for three additional years will be issued by the Certification Division of the Texas Education Agency to persons employed as teachers on the basis of their enrollment in the "Adventures in Education" television series.

The course is offered by the Texas Education Agency in cooperation with more than 40 Texas colleges and universities.

Only the first five programs in the series will be presented from 7:30 to 8:00 a.m. Beginning November 2, stations with NBC facilities will present the lessons from 8:30 to 9:00 a.m. Five stations which operate independently or are affiliated with another network will use kinescope recordings which will be scheduled at the hour most appropriate for the local station.

"The Texas Project in Teacher Recruitment and Education by Television is designed to help Texas school superintendents find teachers by encouraging capable college graduates to enter the teaching profession," explains J. W. Edgar, Commissioner of Education. "There also are indications that the project is serving as the basis for in-service education. Many fully certified teachers, by becoming enrolled, can add this educational television experience to their professional qualifications."

The employment of Dr. Arthur H. Moehlman, a nationally known professor with broad teaching experience, means that "Adventures in Education" will be comparable to the best teacher education instruction offered by colleges and universities. Dr. Moehlman was granted a year's leave of absence from The University of Texas to conduct the course.

The college graduate who is accepted for enrollment in the television course will be eligible to receive a valid, legal license to teach in Texas. In order for him to receive permanent status in the profession, he is encouraged to take the additional college work needed to qualify him for permanent certification.

Some colleges and universities are opening enrollment in "Adventures in Education" to college seniors under a special plan whereby the students will become eligible for a teaching permit immediately after graduation. This will be helpful particularly to the liberal arts college students who discover, as they approach graduation day, that they would like to enter teaching. They are unable, however, to complete the professional preparation and their degree programs at the same time. This plan enables them to make the transition into teaching without disrupting their degree program begun in some field other than education.

Emergency teaching permits were issued to more than 2,000 of the 70,000 Texas teachers employed last year. Many of these teachers were not college graduates and had less formal education, therefore, than those made eligible to teach through the television project. After studying each teacher vacancy in his schools, a superintendent can determine to his own satisfaction whether a college graduate enrolled in this course is the best qualified person he has available to fill a specific vacancy. "Adventures in Education" should contribute materially toward the goal of reducing to a bare minimum the number of non-degree persons teaching in the public schools of Texas.

The following Texas television stations will present the 26-week "Adventures in Education" series on a public service basis:

- KFDX-TV, Wichita Falls
- WPAP-TV, Fort Worth
- KWTX-TV, Waco
- KTBC-TV, Austin

All hearings are open to the public, but only those who are members of the church are permitted to speak. Those wishing to speak are to send Dr. Harold A. Bosley of First Methodist church, Evanston, Ill., who is chairman of the panel, their names, address, church membership, and whether they are a member of any General or Jurisdictional Conference.

Announcement of the hearings is made by Dr. C. C. Bell of Lynchburg, Va., executive director of the General Commission to Study the Jurisdictional System. This commission of 70 persons was created by the 1956 General Conference of The Methodist Church. It was instructed by the conference "to make a thorough study of the jurisdictional system, with special reference to its philosophy, its effectiveness, its weaknesses, and its relationship to the future of The Methodist Church; to carry on studies and conduct hearings in all the jurisdictions on racial segregation in the Methodist Church, and all other problems related to the jurisdictional system; to develop courses of action directed toward greater interracial brotherhood, and the spirit of Christian love."

Dr. Robert E. Goodrich, Jr., pastor of First Methodist church, Dallas, is secretary of the commission of 70. There will be no debate at the hearings. Panel members will make evaluations for the commission, which in turn will make recommendations to the 1960 General Conference. No one can serve on a panel in his own jurisdiction. Dr. Bell is asking that whenever possible, those who appear before the panel prepare a typed manuscript.

Panel members for the hearings involving Texans include: Bosley, Leonard Slutz, Cincinnati, O., vice chairman; Leonard Cochran, Macon, Ga.; Bishop Bromley Oxnam, Washington, D.C.; Mrs. George Marple, Medford, N.J.; O. Olson, Cleveland, O.; Larry Essery, Montgomery, Ala.; Bishop Marshall R. Reed, Detroit, Mich.; C. M. Luster, Houston, Central (Negro) Jurisdiction; Mrs. Frances Swayze, Tacoma, Wash.; and Thomas Payne, Missola, Montana.

ALL NEW—Nancy Morrow (left) of Littlefield and Sandra Shields of Waco, are among the 376 Texas Tech coeds who are beginning the new academic year in a new dormitory. Here Nancy shows a necklace she's placed in her built-in chest of drawers. Sandra is sitting on Nancy's bed, which becomes an attractive couch when adjusted into the wall. All of the girls' furniture is built in, making housekeeping easier, a real boon to busy coeds who like to keep things neat. (Texas Tech Photo)

Insects No Longer Pose Problem in Cotton Fields

Cotton has reached a stage of maturity where insects no longer pose a problem in many fields. Late planted cotton or that irrigated late is still in an attractive stage of growth. Leafworms, cabbage loopers, and bollworms are still active in some of the fields.

Leafworms, where reported, generally found in light to medium infestations. Although cotton may appear sufficiently advanced to suffer little damage from the insect, control of heavy infestations may prevent excessive trash and staining of lint.

Bollworms were reported in heavy infestations in Floyd and Lamb Counties. The worms were present in light to medium infestations in scattered fields in most localities where cotton remained succulent. Since a majority of the worms were inside folded blooms or small bolls, poor control was often reported. Such infestations will require repeat insecticidal applications to effect satisfactory control.

Cabbage loopers were found in most fields, with very heavy infestations reported in some fields in Lubbock County. Poor to excellent control was reported following the use of recommended insecticides.

Damaging spider mite populations appeared in occasional fields. Heaviest infestations were reported in Lubbock County.

Dana X. Bible To Be Honored By Ex-Students

AUSTIN, Sept. 23.—The University of Texas Ex-Students' Association will honor Dana X. Bible, who has gone on modified service as athletic director, at a Nov. 8 Homecoming testimonial dinner. Bible was head football coach from 1957 to 1946, and served as athletic director from 1937 until Sept. 1. He now acts in an advisory capacity to Athletic Director Ed Oile.

The dinner will be a feature of the University's second annual Homecoming, which also features a Nov. 9 football game between Texas and Baylor University. Herman Jones of Austin, Ex-Students' Association president, will be toastmaster.

Dinner reservations, at $5 per person, may be made through the Ex-Students' Association, Union Building 211, University of Texas, Austin 12.

4-H Livestock Experts To Compete For Scholarships

Expert sheep shearing and judging livestock will pay big dividends this fall to 4-H Club members in the form of college scholarships, U. S. Savings Bonds and other prizes, according to the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work. Awards are offered on a national basis in the 4-H sheep shearing program sponsored by Sunbeam Corporation, and the livestock judging contest supported by Armour and Company. Both events will take place during the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago.

In sheep shearing the contestants will be judged on technique, quality of workmanship and speed. The top ranking national winner will receive a $300 scholarship, and the second place winner a $150 scholarship. In addition $50 U. S. Savings Bonds will be given to six red ribbon winners. A specially designed 4-H championship belt will be presented to the state winner. Sunbeam contributes all of the awards.

The three divisions in the livestock judging contest are beef cattle, sheep and swine. To the highest scoring individuals in each classification will go a $400 scholarship provided by Armour.

Experts Warn Of Grazing On Frosted Sudan

Cattle owners to-day were warned that the time of year is approaching when livestock may become poisoned from grazing Sudan grass which has been frosted. The American Foundation for Animal Health, which issued the warning, pointed out that Sudan grass normally is excellent forage. However, when affected by frost, certain chemical changes sometimes occur in the grass, and it develops a content of prussic acid, or hydrocyanic acid. Cane and several other common forage plants can be equally dangerous under some conditions of drought or frosting. The poison acts quickly, and can kill an animal within a short time after the damaged Sudan grass has been eaten. It includes an appearance of nervousness, difficult breathing, feebleness in standing, and a poisoned animal can be found dead upon how quickly the animal can get to it. It involves injecting antivenom into the blood stream. Sudan grass can also be poisonous sometimes by effects of drought or frost weather, the Foundation
