BOONE SUCCEEDS HARRIS RESIGNED FROM COMMISSION

Wm. J. Harris resigned last Saturday as a member of the City Commission, and Pat Boone was appointed in his stead. The change came about through Mr. Harris' connection with a concern furnishing some of the material entering into the present paving work, Mr. Harris willingly granting his resignation when his attention was called to the fact that some of the citizens thought it advisable.

MUST STUFF TEXAS TURKS IF MARKET COMPETITION MET

It is still nearly three weeks before the turkey market will open in earnest, but present indications, according to a local buyer, are that Texas raised turkeys are due for some strong competition this year.

TURNER-BREWER OPEN LUMBER YARD AT ANTON NEXT WEEK

The Turner-Brewer Lumber Co., who recently sold their Littlefield yard to Foxworth-Galbraith Co., this week began laying foundation and erecting sheds for a lumber yard in Anton.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Bible Study, 10:00 A. M. Preaching, 11:00 A. M. Preaching, 7:30 P. M. Many strangers are attending our services. We are glad to welcome you. We are looking forward to greater things. Don't think for one moment that you are fulfilling your obligation to the Lord when you make your excuse for not doing your work. A quitter has no place in a progressive society, business, or church.

TRIPLETS? NOT MUCH CHANCE!

New York.—Triplets are born about once in every 10,000 births and twins occur about once in 98, according to a study of the birth statistics of thirteen-non-municipal, general and maternity hospitals.

ANOTHER WAY OF GETTING A MEAL

A man dropped into a local restaurant one day last week, according to a story going the rounds, and asked if he could wash dishes for something to eat.

The proprietor, a big hearted man, advised the hungry visitor that he had plenty of help in the kitchen, but if he was hungry and had no money he would give him something to eat.

The man sat down to a regular 50 cent meal, which he appeared to heartily enjoy, and was quite profuse in his thanks to the proprietor.

The room was rather warm with heat from the kitchen, and as the man stood at the counter thanking his benefactor, he pulled out his handkerchief to wipe the perspiration from his brow. As he did so a $10 bill dropped onto the cigar counter. The proprietor's eyes growing large in astonishment that he had been gyped, he grabbed the bill and returned the man $9.50, plus a piece of his mind.

But it is said when the restaurant man went to deposit the $10 bill he was told it was counterfeit.

Vamping Him

By Albert T. Reid

"THEN SHALL BE BREAKING THE FULLNESS OF OUR DAY."

"When every farmer in the South shall eat bread from his own fields and meat from his own pastures, and disturbed by no creditors, and enslaved by no debt, shall sit amid his teeming gardens and orchards and vineyards, and dairies, and barnyards, pitching his crops in his own wisdom, and growing them in independence, making cotton his clean surplus, and selling it in his own time and in his chosen market, and not at a master's bidding—getting his pay in cash and not in receipted mortgages that discharge his debt, but do not restore his freedom—then shall be breaking the fullness of our day."—Henry W. Grady.

United Charities Now Organized With Office Located in City Hall

At a meeting held at the First Baptist church last week a charitable organization was formulated, to consist of active membership representatives from each church, fraternal organization and club of the city, the following officers being elected: T. S. Sales, president; Arthur Jones, vice-president; Mrs. J. S. Hilliard, secy-treas.

A Board of Directors was chosen as follows: Mr. Burt, representing Retail Merchants association; S. J. Farquhar, representing Masonic fraternity; Mrs. W. G. Street, Eastern Star; Mrs. Colard, Rebekah lodge. Representatives will also be chosen from the Rotary club, Odd Fellows and Rainbow girls. Ministers of the various churches are members of the Board ex-officio.

Receptacles have been placed on the various cigar counters of the town at theatre ticket windows, and other places, where the public is asked to drop their contributions. It is also planned to observe a "Tag Day" in the near future. Headquarters have been established in the City Hall where those in need may apply from 2:00 to 3:00 p. m. each afternoon from Monday to Friday, inclusive.

While the residents of Littlefield proper are generally in self-sustaining circumstances, it is stated that such an organization has been deemed advisable because of the many coming in here for cotton picking and other forms of labor, whose condition are often pitiful.

NEGRO MEETING SUNDAY

The meeting of Littlefield negroes, to have been held last Sunday afternoon, was called off on account of the rain, and will be held next Sunday afternoon, at the skating rink, according to E. J. Hoffman, in charge of affairs.

The meeting is for the purpose of organizing a Baptist church for the colored citizens of this vicinity, to be located on a tract of land to be secured north of the Santa Fe railroad. It is understood white people are invited to attend the meeting.

FUN AND FROLIC WILL BE FEATURE HALLOWE'EN NITE

Everything is all set for "Spook Night" tonight, (Thursday) and all the witches, wizards, fairies, gnomes and other mysterious creatures are praying for it to not rain so they can cut up all the capers they desire at the big party to be pulled off on Main street under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers association.

Attractions various and galore have been prepared for the interest and amusement of those attending. Several booths are to be erected on the vacant lots opposite the First State Bank, and much of the street in that block will be given over to the various stunts and attractions listed for exhibition on Halloween night.

The coronation of Littlefield's Queen, accompanied by her kingly escort and royal retinue will take place in the Palace theatre, at 9:30 p. m., and Manager Chesher has also arranged for an especially attractive and appropriate movie picture to be shown. It is entitled "The Terror," and is reported to be in full keeping with its name.

Everybody is urged to attend.

FIRST STATE BANK OPENED SATURDAY DO GOOD BUSINESS

"We are certainly well pleased with the public response on our opening day last Saturday," said Hugh Sullivan, cashier of the First State Bank, the new financial institution opening for business in Littlefield last week.

"In fact, it was considerably better than we anticipated," continued Mr. Sullivan. "We had a nice line of deposits, several of our customers being among the substantial business men and farmers of the town and community, and with the opening of this week several other names are being added to our accounts."

Mr. Sullivan also announces that O. O. Martin, of Throckmorton, has been employed as bookkeeper, and Miss Vesta Henson, of this city as assistant.

SLIGHT BLAZE SUNDAY

Fire breaking out in the home of County Treasurer Jimmy Brittain, Sunday morning, occasioned by improper action of a water heater in the bath room, did about $100 damage to the home.

The prompt action of the Fire Department quickly subdued the flames preventing destruction of the property.

Mr. Brittain, through the Leader, expresses his sincere appreciation to the fire laddies for their quick response and efficient service. The loss is covered by insurance.

Another evidence of the value of aviation to big business is found in the trans-continental tour of the Continental Oil Company's six-place Travelair cabin monoplane, "Conoco No. 2," leaving Denver on October 25 on a trip that carries it through the Rocky Mountain states, across the middle-west, to the Atlantic seaboard and back to Denver—a total of over 8,000 miles.

The tour is planned for the purpose of acquainting the Continental Company's sales forces with the details of a new oil, prior to public announcement of the product, which will be known as "Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil."

The ship is being piloted by Ray C. Shrader, chief of the company's aviation sales division. Passengers are J. E. Moorhead, sales promotion manager; Frank Moore, special representative, and G. K. Ludwig, marketing engineer.

Stops for the plane are scheduled at Salt Lake City, Butte, Great Falls, Chicago, New York, Richmond, Kansas City, Lincoln, Ponca City, Wichita Falls, Albuquerque and then back to Denver.

THE OLD BUM

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

I REMEMBER that old bum,
Every day he used to come,
Shiftless, shaveless, collar gone,
Take his coin and shuffle on,
And the coin he always got,
Something, if deserved or not,
When a mendicant he came,
For I knew not whose the blame.

Had a woman made him this?
Had the lips that used to kiss
Learned to scorn him? Had a son
Or a daughter been the one?
Had, perhaps, some trusted friend
Proved a traitor in the end?
Had some fortune that he knew
Faded like the morning dew?

Or had he, a pawn of sin,
Played the game no man can win?
Looked too long upon the glass,
Or upon some painted lass?
Was it he who broke the trust,
And had lost, as traitors must?
Now, in beggary, in shame,
Had he but himself to blame?

Well, the old bum comes no more
Cringing at my office door,
But when tempters beckon me
Down the road of revelry,
When extravagance or pride
Beckon me to turn aside,
When the day's temptations come,
I remember that old bum.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

THOSE hopeful persons who continue to expect good fortune, better conduct the gold and purple in society, and possibly exalted leadership in their particular spheres of endeavor, will discover sooner or later that it is quite necessary always to pay strict attention to the passing hours.

There is nothing so elusive as time, though it awaits our bidding constantly. It respects neither prince nor pauper as it proceeds steadfastly on its way to be abused, pushed rudely aside and wantonly rejected.

All of our great aspirations are borne to us on the silent wings of golden hours and unless we give immediate attention to the inspirations which are placed at our disposal we are likely to find that we have missed a precious opportunity. It is a falling of ours to live in a delicious vagueness of what we shall do at a later day to astonish our friends, when we finally settle down to carve our wonderful monument.

We have not yet confided our secret resolution to our most intimate friends, who in their solicitous admonitions have frequently hurt our sensitive souls by reminding us that the 24 hours of yesterday were thrown away, as were the importuning hours of the dead and buried yesterdays of the long ago.

It would not do to discuss this matter. It is not an agreeable subject, for the reason that it would bring to us an unpleasant realization of our faults. We have promised that our sins of yesterday should be our last, but here we are today among the old transgressors unable to reform.

When we were twenty we started bravely; at twenty-five we began to let an hour or two slip away; at thirty, to be quite frank, the habit of squandering time had taken so strong a hold of us that we yielded to it without a murmur, still dreaming of the great things we should do when the spirit moved us.

At forty we became so monstrously overwhelmed that we cried "too late!" and slipped quietly back in the rear ranks. Those of our friends who had with wisdom apportioned their 24 hours to dutiful work, proper rest and recreation are now among the leaders where they rightfully belong, and where they forced themselves by sheer industry from the beginning of their triumphant career.

TABERNACLE BAPTIST CHURCH

Showers of blessings fell outside and inside the church Sunday and two presented themselves for membership. We are soon to have an adequate building in which to preach and teach the word. It will be dedicated to none other than Elijah's God. Sin in high and low places will be named and condemned without fear or favor. Struggling, sinning, fallen humanity, from every walk of life will be welcome—a real soul winning institution.

Our "city of opportunity," is growing rapidly; pray that we may hold up a high standard of righteousness until God shall say its enough.

BREAK UP CRAP GAME

Six whites and two negroes met with the tolls of the law last Sunday afternoon when Sheriff Len Irvin and Deputies Walraven and Cobb raided a bunch of crap shooters on a farm about 15 miles north of Littlefield.

They were taken to Amherst where the Justice of the Peace assessed each a fine of $13.70.

For Meditation

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

RACE PREJUDICE

A social worker in one of the industrial institutes in a large Eastern city recently reported two instances of race prejudice which came under his personal supervision. The first case was that of a boy eighteen years of age who had secured a position under an assumed American name of Henry Armstrong. The social worker telephoned for Mr Swinski, but was informed that no such person was employed there.

He discovered later that Mr. Armstrong and Mr. Swinski were the same person. When asked for an explanation the boy remarked that had he applied for a position under the name of Swinski, he would have been given a menial job, but as Henry Armstrong, he was offered a position that gave promise of advancement. The other case was that of a boy of foreign parentage who spent his leisure time in boxing. He registered for a contest under the name of Bert Powers, while his real name was Boloski. His explanation for the act was as follows: "Had I registered for the contest under the name of Boloski when my name was called, the crowd would have yelled, 'Kill the wop,' but when Powers was announced the same crowd yelled, 'Atta boy!'"

Incidents like these occur frequently in the business and social world. The enthusiasm and pluck of many a boy is smothered for the reason that before he can even get a chance to demonstrate his ability he must first overcome a deep race prejudice. If he is a foreigner, that is has a foreign name though of American parentage particularly Italian and Polish, he is at once assigned to servile work, while the other fellow, even though he may have less ability, is given the position of trust and opportunity. In the social world wealth may in some instances overcome the barriers set up by race prejudice, but without this as set the world of social and cultural values is practically closed to the Swinskis and Boloskis. In spite of the fact when we desire to enjoy fine music, we must go to hear the produce of Italian schools and for art and many cultural ventiles we are dependent upon talent other than that which our own country produces.

Theoretically we claim that all men are born equal and have an equal right to the opportunities and advantages this country affords; but, does it work out in practice? The elimination of race prejudice does not argue for the equality of advancement regardless of ability, but it does plead for an equality of opportunity for all who claim the privileges of American citizenship.

These are the Oakland features which make driving

a real delight

Today's Oakland All-American Six embodies many basic advantages which are combined in no other car at its price. In addition, it offers a number of features of a supplementary nature—which make driving a real delight. Foremost among these is the Cross-flow radiator. Foot-controlled headlights represent another. It is such features as these, combined with Oakland's impressive performance, distinctive style and exceptionally long life, which make Oakland ownership an uninterrupted experience in motoring enjoyment.

Oakland All-American Six, $1145 to $1375, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Spring covers and Loo-joy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers and rear fender guards extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.
Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values. . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

Proof that Oakland is America's Finest Medium-priced Automobile

The following facts were obtained from a comparison of the Oakland All-American Six with 20 other medium-priced automobiles. All told, 878 individual comparisons were made. Of these Oakland proved to be distinctly superior in 451 or 51.37 per cent. The 20 cars combined were at best equal to Oakland on 382 or 43.50 per cent. And 13 of the 20 were higher-priced than Oakland.

CROSS-FLOW RADIATOR
Only Oakland in the entire field has the Cross-flow radiator or anything similar to it. All other cars use the down-flow radiator.

FOOT-CONTROLLED HEADLIGHTS
Only Oakland and one other higher-priced car in the field offer this convenience. Eleven more expensive cars fail to provide it.

DAY & NIGHT SERVICE STATION EAST SIDE TOURIST PARK
WADE'S TOURIST PARK RED BALL FILLING STATION, Fieldton

In the tests that were conducted at the Colorado agricultural experiment station, potatoes proved to be particularly valuable fed with grain and alfalfa to fattening lambs. A ration consisting of grain, alfalfa and two pounds daily of chopped raw potatoes showed a feed replacement value of $8.54 per ton for the potatoes used. Fed to fattening beef calves at the rate of nine pounds per head daily, the raw potatoes had a feed replacement value of $5 per ton. Potato silage made by cutting the potatoes into a silo with a 2 per cent addition of cornmeal gave practically the same net results. The only advantage gained in ensiling the potatoes was the ability to store the ensilage for an indefinite period.

Starch is the chief constituent of the dry matter of potatoes and there is very little crude protein present, consequently a good protein feed is necessary to properly balance any ration where potatoes are used.

Raw potatoes may be safely fed to live stock if the daily ration is not too large and the feeding period not too extensive, according to E. J. Maynard of the Colorado experiment station. They are best not fed, however, to pregnant stock on account of their acid taste and tendency to increase the flow of digestive juices in the stomach and intestine.

Raw potatoes should be gradually introduced into the ration and if taken away, this should be done by degrees.

Feeds, such as beet molasses and beet tops which tend to irritate the digestive tract, should not be fed at the same time. Although potatoes should be chopped up, they may also be fed whole. If fed whole, it has been found worth while to feed them to cattle in low bunk under a pole or beam. This method tends to prevent choking.

A low-priced root cutter, either hand or motor driven, is available, which has given good success at the experiment station.

Cattle are least sensitive to raw potatoes. Large quantities have been fed in fattening rations with no bad effects. It is safest, however, not to feed too great an amount.

Sheep also do well on raw potatoes. It is best to feed lambs not over two pounds per head daily.

Horses are more easily affected by raw potatoes but small quantities, three to five pounds per head per day, may be used.

It is usually better to cook or steam potatoes for pigs. Experiments show that about 420 pounds of cooked potatoes equal 100 pounds of corn in feeding value if fed in a properly balanced ration. Raw potatoes proved to be only two-thirds as valuable when fed to pigs. If cooked the potatoes should be suited and the water in which they are cooked should be thrown away.

Blood Separators for Cholera Serum Useful
Production of clear anti-hog cholera serum for use in preventing the disease which has cost American farmers $30,000,000 annually for the past 40 years has recently been materially cheapened by the use of centrifugal blood separators. Not only do these separators reduce the cost of the product, but they also increase the percentage of recovery of serum and eliminates waste.

After the hyper-immunized pig has been bled, one separator removes the heavy corpuscles from the blood and another takes out the light, fatty substances. It is necessary to remove both the heavy and light material to produce a clear, colorless serum.

The blood separators used are similar to the ordinary centrifugal cream separator. Similar separators are also used to clean and reclaim used oil from automobile and tractor crank-cases.

Lambs Neglected
Lambs are often considered the main source of income from the farm flock, but they are frequently undervalued and little attention given from the time of birth until they are sold. If they have done well and made fair gains the seller is satisfied. When lambs are thus thought of as the main income from the flock it is evident that extra care and thought must be given to them if greater returns are to be received.

Good Beef Calves
Mating an Aberdeen-Angus bull with Holstein cows would result in a very good grade of beef calves. The Wisconsin experiment station has conducted two trials in which they have used groups of steers representing high-grade Aberdeen-Angus and cross-bred Aberdeen-Angus-Holstein. The results have shown quite favorably for the cross-bred steers. Prof. J. G. Fuller at Madison, Wis., would be happy to send you a copy of these reports.

LAMB COUNTY LEADER

Published every Thursday afternoon at Littlefield, Texas.
Subscription: $1.50 per year; 75 cents for six months.
Advertising rates given upon application.

No. Entered as second class matter May 24, 1923, at the post office 27 at Littlefield, Texas, under the Act of March 3, 1897.

JESS. MITCHELL, Editor and Publisher

Subscribers who change their addresses, or fail to get their paper, should immediately notify this office, giving both new and old addresses. Communications of local interest are solicited. They should be briefly written, on only one side of the paper, and must reach this office not later than Wednesday noon of each week. The right of revision or rejection is reserved by the publisher.

Advertising that does not show in its text or typography that it is paid for must be marked as an advertisement. All local advertisements remain in this paper for the time specified or until ordered out. All notices, it matters not by whom nor for what purpose, if the object is to raise money by admission fee or otherwise, is an advertisement and when sent in for publication must be paid for at the regular advertising rate per line for each issue printed.

Obituaries, cards of thanks, and resolutions of respect will also be charged for at the same rate.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of the Littlefield Leader will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the publisher.

In case of errors or omissions in local or other advertisements, the publisher does not hold himself liable for damage further than the amount received by him for such advertisement.

WHY THE DIFFERENCE?

Two men meet, or one man passes another on the street, and inadvertently bumps into the other. Both smile and they beg each other's pardon, men, and because even those who men, and because even those who are not gentlemen try to make it appear that they are when they are out in public.

But have you ever noticed how differently it is when men are riding in an automobile? Let there be a collision, no matter how inconsequential, and they growl at each other like a couple of bulldogs. "Why in the blankety-blank don't you keep your eyes open and watch where you're going?" yell both of them in unison. Then they get out and while writing down names and numbers each tells the other what a dumbbell he is and promises to have his license taken from him. Lodge pins count for nothing. The more serious the damage, the greater the flow of profanity. Even if there is no damage at all, the verbal exchanges are anything but complimentary. The other fellow is always in the wrong.

But the point we are trying to make, and the impression we are trying to leave with Littlefield motorists this—if a man is a gentleman while afoot why can't he try to be a gentleman when he is in an automobile? The answer to it may set some of our local drivers thinking, and it also may serve to remove a feature of motoring for which there seems to be little excuse—the loss of temper over little things.

The ideal man exists only in the mind of the woman who never had a husband.

LOWER LIVING COSTS

Plans to reduce the cost of living are easy to discuss, but as Mark Twain once said about the weather, "Nobody seems to be doing anything to change it."

Now comes good news, news that certainly will be welcomed in every Littlefield home, to the effect that the Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America, comprising 230 leading manufacturers of grocery products, intend to do more than talk. They have embarked upon a world-wide investigation looking toward the reduction of distribution costs in their industry for the direct purpose of benefitting the consumer. They realize that the cost of distribution is what makes living costs high, and they feel that if they can lower this it will mean direct saving to the consumer of all food products. A low price creates a larger volume of sales, so naturally both the producer and the retailer would, in the long-run, profit by a reduction in distribution costs.

The grocers are starting on a worth while campaign, and one in line with the modern idea of lower prices through mass production. It deserves to succeed, because it will, if sufficiently successful, bring relief to the dinner tables of millions of American citizens. If this group can lower living costs by a reduction in the cost of distribution, then maybe the clothing industry can do the same thing. There is an abundance of reason for wishing them success.

Why is it that when you are still poor you can't afford the kind of food you like and when you are rich the doctors won't let you have it?

BOONE APPOINTED

The Leader commends the members of the City Commission in their selection of Pat Boone as Commissioner succeed Wm. J. Harris, resigned.

It is our belief that in Mr. Boone the citizens of Littlefield will find a gentleman of high honor and integrity, and eminently qualified to fulfill the duties required of that office.

It is indeed regrettable that the present paving operations have given rise to so much controversy, and it is trusted that such are now at an end. Criticism is an easy matter, though sometimes entirely proper, especially if such criticism be of a constructive nature. Tax-payers are generally interested in the expenditure of their money, and they have a right to be, hence the importance at all times of selecting representatives in office who have both the disposition and qualifications of performing such duty in an efficient manner.

Disagreements, such as arose last week sometimes produce ill feeling; but it is trusted that the principles involved, rather than the personalities were uppermost, and will be so considered by all parties concerned.

If the farmer is the backbone of the nation, as we are told, it's about time Uncle Sam was making a few spinal adjustments.

AS TO OUR WAGES

The Ministry of Labor of Great Britain has been making a world-wide study of wages, and in a report of its research, now going the rounds of the daily newspapers we find something that probably will astound every man around Littlefield who depends on a pay envelope for his existence.

If the figures had been sent out by our own Department of Labor, we would all be apt to charge that it was biased. But it comes from a foreign country, without any axe to grind, and must be accepted at face value. It takes into consideration not only the average wages received but what is even more important the buying power of the wages in the various countries compared.

In making the comparison the average wage and its purchasing power in England is counted as 100. On that basis the average wage in Germany is 65, in Italy, 45; in France, 55; in Canada 143, and in the United States, 179.

No one has ever explained to us why it is that when we kill a fly a dozen others come to the funeral.

USING OUR HEADS

An old water-filled stone quarry on the outskirts of Sandusky, O., full of goldfish from a start of 25 years ago, gave Ed Hinkley an idea.

So numerous were the fish the water was red with them at times. He leased the old quarry, put a half-dozen fish in each of several jars filled with water, placed them on a stand beside the highway and put a sign on them reading "A Dollar a Jar." Results have been all he could ask for. In fact, he is getting rich selling fish to motorists and although he has been at it all summer the pond seems to be as full of fish as ever.

Twice a week he feeds them two dozen loaves of stale bread which thus keeps them fat and propagating rapidly. All of which proves, in a new way, what a little headwork will do.

In this day of wood alcohol some men get 60 miles on a gallon and others get to the cemetery on a pint.

OFTEN FATAL

This is the season of whooping cough, one of the oldest of child diseases, and one about which many Littlefield parents have the wrong

The numerous customers patronizing this store will testify to the economy of their purchases and the courtesy accorded them in all their dealings.

It is not our custom to offer "leaders" but we guarantee Quality and Low Price on EVERYTHING you buy.

B & M CASH GROCERY & MARKET

idea. They regard it as a disease that every child must have and take little trouble to guard their children against exposure, regardless of age. But that is what makes the death rate from whooping cough greater than that from scarlet fever, measles and infantile paralysis combined.

It has been estimated whooping cough is 20 times as fatal for children under five years of age as for those beyond that age. Thus approximately 95 per cent of the deaths from this disease occur among children under the age of six. In time of epidemics, health authorities warn, children should be kept in the house, and not permitted to mingle with other children. If the older children get the disease, isolate them until several days after the whooping ceases.

Don't make the mistake of believing that whooping cough is not fatal because it often results in death.

SOLVING A PROBLEM

Where is the Littlefield motorist who hasn't at some time or another wondered what actually becomes of automobiles after they reach the point where human ingenuity can't coax them to run an inch farther. We've wondered ourselves, and now that we have read of Henry Ford's plan to dispose of worthless flivvers, we want to pass it on.

Ford is building a plant away up in the northern edge of New York City. It will be equipped to separate the metal in old machines worth saving from the waste material; to reclaim the hair in cushions and bale it for further use; to smooth out such metal sheets as can be salvaged and to melt up such as cannot. In a word, it will be a modern flivver reduction plant, and will solve New York City's problem of what to do with worthless junk that once rolled over the streets as autos.

But that still leaves us wondering what will become of the millions of others annually falling into that class in other parts of the country.

Virtue always has its own reward. You can always find a lot of parking space near a church.

OUR WEATHER SHARKS

For some unknown reason our amateur weather sharks are several weeks behind with the predictions of "a hard winter." This doesn't often happen. As a usual rule they have long before this come forward with their reports on the thickness of the corn husks, the unusual amount of moss on the north side of the trees, the birds starting to the tropics earlier than usual or the fur on members of the animal world being heavier than usual. And these are the signs and portents they use to back their claim that "it's going to be a long, hard winter."

We don't want to discourage home-talent weather prognosticators around Littlefield of which there are a considerable number. But they will have to do better than this if they want to beat Uncle Sam's weather experts. These latter gentlemen are already contending that there is no reason to believe the winter just ahead of us will be any more severe than the average winter—possibly not nearly as severe as last winter. Of course they are wise enough not to commit themselves too freely, because no professional weather man wants to be reminded a little later on how far he missed it. But they do say that up to this time there is no indication that over the country generally we will have as much snow or as low temperatures as we had last winter.

All of this is comforting, but it still doesn't answer our question and relieve our anxiety as to what has happened to our own home-talent weather sharks.

SOME SNAP SHOTS

Maybe the reason some people stick to the straight and narrow path is because there isn't so much traffic on it.

They say the Chinese make better soldiers since discarding their pigtails. Maybe it makes them harder to catch.

In Russia the Soviet has abolished Sunday as a day of rest. The auto and golf did that in this country long ago.

LITTLE LEADERS

It doesn't take a Littlefield father very long to determine that a boy and his mother constitute a majority.

Any Littlefield man who has chased his hat in a high wind ought to be able to understand the strain of an endurance flight.

When opportunity knocks these days the average Littlefield boy is apt to think it's his engine.

It might be a good idea for some fellows around Littlefield who buy anti-knock gasoline to pour it into themselves instead of the car.

What has become of the old-fashioned Littlefield boy who used to look for a white horse every time he saw a red-headed girl?

And again this season we find ourselves unable to get any comfort out of listening to a Littlefield man tell how much colder our winters used to be than they are now.

There's this much to be said in favor of the Littlefield cigarette smoker—you don't have to buy him a cigar.

PAVEMENT PICKUPS

L. H. Bates says, "Never explain the cause of a black-eye, you only add to your misery by being taken for a liar."

Prof. Harrison observes that a college can tack a degree to the end of a man's name, but it won't keep him from being a poor speller.

Homer Hall declares that sometimes a fellow can get such a bad case of swelled-head that his hat looks like a label on him.

Bill Der Says

The running expenses keep father out of breath.

The ultimate builders, who have employed these contractors, know that our building material is better and costs less—and is delivered more promptly.

COLLEGE NEWS

The college is expecting six new students who are due to arrive next week and who will finish up their first semester's work, which was begun elsewhere, in order to enter the second semester's work.

We received word from R. O. Conner, our business manager, who is in the field, that his family, including his wife, daughter, son, and married daughter, planned to leave Dallas Saturday for Littlefield to make their home.

Rev. G. E. Turrentine, pastor of the Methodist church, gave an interesting, inspiring, and helpful address to the faculty and student body at assembly last Wednesday morning. We are always glad to have the pastors and others of the town speak to us at our assembly meetings.

R. O. Brannan of Winters, is visiting on the campus, on his way home from New Mexico, where he has been engaged in evangelistic work for the past month.

E. K. Kitching spent last weekend in Turkey in interest of the college.

Mrs. J. T. Kirk, Mrs. O. K. Kirk, and Miss Weldon, of Floydada, spent Thursday on the campus attending to business.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Kitching, their daughter, Karroll, Miss Thelma Warren, and Miss Fields spent Saturday in Lubbock.

Mrs. Varbel and two sons, E. Q. and O. C. Varbel and families from near Brownfield were weekend guests of Mrs. Rosa Mickey.

Birthday Dinner

On Friday evening, Oct 25th at six o'clock, Miss Mary E. Robertson was entertained with a lovely birthday dinner at the College Cafeteria. As this was a complete surprise to the guest of honor, great merriment was enjoyed throughout the evening. After partaking of the delicious three course dinner, the party enjoyed a theatre program at the Palace theatre. The hostesses were: Misses Finney, Fields, Simmons, and Strange.

"On the Carpet"

That which is "on the carpet" is under consideration or discussion. The original phrase for reprimand was "to walk the carpet." As to the origin of the phrase, it is to be traced to the French "sur le tapis." It was first introduced into English literature about the year 1700. The phrase "to walk the carpet" dates from 1827.—Literary Digest.

Rabbit Varieties

There are 18 breeds of domestic rabbits recognized by the National Rabbit Federation as being distinctive in type. In some instances there are several varieties of a breed, alike in size and type but with a wide range in color variation. These breeds and varieties are divided into two separate classes, or groups, known as "utility" and "fancy."

Where Alligators Abound

More alligators are found in the Amazon river, South America, than in any other stream in the world. The average age at which they are killed for their hides is about fifty.

Osa M. Blalock, of Electra, was here last week visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Blalock.

Mrs. Ella Hodges, of Slaton, is here visiting her nephew, Mr. Hodges, of the Hestand-Kimbell Grocery Co.

"In Business For Your Health"

WHEAT IS HELPED BY RAIN FIRST OF WEEK

Sunday was a dark, dank, dreary drizzly day in Littlefield and environs. Beginning early in the morning with a slight misty rain, it continued throughout the day at increasing intervals and in larger quantities, until by nine o'clock that night the roads were thoroughly muddled, ditches standing in water, and most people remaining indoors.

Cotton picking will be held up for a day or so; but the rain has been quite beneficial to growing wheat, and to the winter cover and pasturage crops planted in large acreage in this vicinity by dairymen and those producing cream for the markets.

Cotton, as well as other crops, mature much earlier this year than last, due to the extended dry weather, about 30 per cent of the cotton now being gathered. While there has already been some frost, yet there is no indication that real winter weather will come any earlier than it did last year.

There was more rain throughout Tuesday, continuing throughout the night. Wednesday morning, there was a considerable drop in temperature, and snowing throughout the day.

POULTRY

WATCH INCUBATOR WHILE HATCHING

While many successful poultry growers are now buying day-old chicks for replenishing their flocks and for raising early broilers and pullets, there are still a great number of small incubators used on farms.

"Directions for operating these machines come with them," says Allen G. Oliver, poultry extension specialist at the North Carolina state college. "yet in most cases these directions apply only to the mechanical operation. We would not attempt to give specific rules that would work well under all conditions. The first hatch may be made when atmospheric conditions are ideal, resulting in an ideal hatch of strong chicks; the next hatch may give poor scrawny birds, even though the incubator ran perfectly. There are some few points to consider, however, in hatching out the early chicks this spring."

The normal time for an egg to hatch is 21 days, states Mr. Oliver. Too much heat means a hatch in about 19 days, and too little heat, in about 22 to 23 days. The temperature at the center of the eggs ought to be kept at 100 degrees. Moisture is next in importance. The amount of evaporation in the egg determines the size of the air cell at the end and the quantity of food left for the chick when it hatches. This also determines the size of the young bird. The operator of the incubator should watch the size of the air cell as the hatch progresses and add such moisture as is needed.

Ventilation is also important, states Mr. Oliver. This brings in pure oxygen and takes out the carbon dioxide. The egg is a factory with the materials in the shell as the raw product. By carefully regulating the heat and watching the size of the air cells it is possible to supply enough fresh air and the correct amount of moisture so that there will be little danger from lack of ventilation.

Turning the eggs stimulates the hatching chick to action and gives it exercise and strength.

Value of Hen Depends on Prices Prevailing

A hen may produce more eggs in a year than any bird in the flock, but yet is not as valuable as some other hen that produces less eggs. The hen that produces the largest number of eggs during the seasons of high prices will have the advantage in egg values over another bird which is idle at that period, and which may produce more eggs during the year. The real value of a hen will depend largely upon the persistency as well as intensity of production. Definite records have been kept at the North Dakota Agricultural college of the good laying hens.

"As an example, one hen produced 203 eggs in 1925, which were sold for $6.75, while another produced 219 eggs which brought $6.50. The second hen had laid 16 more eggs, but the eggs sold for 16 cents less due to the fact that this hen did a greater proportion of her laying during the spring and summer when eggs were cheap."

STATE TAX COLLECTOR IS DOING BUSINESS IN W. T.

Those who are living and doing business in Littlefield and have state occupation taxes due and have not paid them, had better do so promptly, according to information sent out by the Comptroller's office at Austin.

R. A. Patton, representing that department, is this week in the Panhandle section checking up on unpaid taxes, and says charges are likely to be filed against those who have been delinquent.

The occupation tax, which goes to the school and jury funds, is said to be applicable to every class of merchant from the itinerant peddler to the big business man, varying according to the size of the business, and is due annually, beginning with the time the business is opened.

Cigarette dealers and vending machine operators are included.

AMHERST HAS A HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

At a meeting of a number of women, held in Amherst Tuesday afternoon of last week, a demonstration club was organized by Miss Ruby Mashburn, county demonstration agent.

Mrs. J. M. Whitfield was elected president; Mrs. J. N. McCrory, vice-president; Mrs. J. S. Cassell, secretary; Miss Virginia Pointer, reporter. The club will, in the future, meet each first and third Wednesday of the month, the next meeting being at the home of Mrs. Whitfield, Nov. 6, when the Agent will discuss with the members the making of salads of different kinds.

JACK FROST HERE MAKING OVERCOATS AND FIRE GOOD

Jack Frost arriving last week, apparently is hanging around here for keeps, there having been several light frosts during the past week.

However, there will be little damage following his arrival, as cotton is all made and practically all feed has matured, the most of it now being in the shock.

The lowest temperature recorded was 28 degrees.

THE SHERIFF MAKES MANY ARRESTS VARIOUS CHARGES

More than 60 arrests have been made by the Sheriff's department during the past three weeks, according to Sheriff Len Irvin, who states he has extra men on the force to take care of the increasing population due to cotton picking, and that he is using every means possible to maintain peace and order.

laws, according to information available.

STANDARD RECIPES THAT MAY BE USED

By MISS RUBY MASHBURN
County Home Demonstration Agent
CHILI SAUCE

1 gallon chopped ripe tomatoes; 2 cupfuls chopped white onions; ½ cupful chopped green sweet peppers; ½ cupful chopped red sweet peppers; ½ cupful brown sugar; 2 tablespoons ginger; 1 tablespoon cinnamon; 1 tablespoon mustard; 1 nutmeg (grated) 1 quart vinegar; 5 tablespoons salt; ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper.

Peel the tomatoes and onions. Chop the onions and peppers fine. Boil all the ingredients except the vinegar together for two hours or until soft and broken. Add vinegar and simmer for one hour. Stir frequently. Bottle and seal while hot in sterilized jars, using 1 pint or ½ pint glass top jars.

SWEET CUCUMBER PICKLES

3 cups pure apple cider vinegar, 1 cup water, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup salt, 2 pieces celery (sliced ½ in. long), 2 peppers (chopped), 2 slices onion.

Wash and dry cucumbers. Cut in ½ inch slices and soak in cold water over night. Drain, press out water. Fill the jar with cucumbers adding celery, peppers and onion. Make a syrup of the pure apple cider vinegar, water, sugar and salt, boiling for two minutes and pour over the pickles. Use sterilized jar ½ pint and pint jars are best suited. Allow to stand for two weeks before using. Pack jars solid with pickles before pouring over the hot pickle dressing.

CHOW-CHOW

1 peck green tomatoes, ½ dozen onions (large), 2 medium heads cabbage, 1 dozen green peppers, 3 red peppers, 1 cup salt, 2 lbs. sugar, ½ cup horseradish, 1 tbsp. black pepper, 1-3 tsp. cayenne pepper, 1-3 tsp. white mustard, 1-3 tsp. celery seed, Apple cider vinegar.

Chop fine tomatoes, onions, cabbage and green peppers, mixing in a large earthen pan or enameled lined kettle and mix in the cup of salt. Let this mixture stand 10 or twelve hours then drain off the salt water. Make a dressing of sugar, horseradish, black pepper, cayenne pepper, white mustard and celer seed and combine with the chopped vegetables. Cover this mixture with pure apple cider vinegar and boil 1 ½ hours. A standard chow-chow should have the vegetables finely chopped. Seal chow-chow in sterilized jars and ½ pint glass jars.

THROUGH DUSK OR DAWN

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

HAS God forsaken you, or you Forgotten God a little while? He did not promise all life through That we should smile. Is He a God, or is He none, This God of yours? Or is He one To praise in Joy, to seek in pain, To follow through the shining sun And through the rain?

Yes, when He leads us through the vales, Then shall we fall to follow Him? The night is not all nightingales And cherubim, How poorly we esteem a friend Who loves us only when we spend; And what of those who turn aside From God when pleasure's at an end, Some Joy denied?

I pray we have a better faith Than just the faith of happy days— To love through life, to love through death, Through all our ways, Just why we do not always know, But if the vale's the path to do, I hope that we shall follow on, Yes, through the roses or the snow, Through dusk or dawn. SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

MAKING A CAREER

THERE are some artists who think that prizes and such things do no good in their profession. In fact, one large body of American painters and sculptors, calling themselves "Independents" always announce their annual exhibition as "without a jury and without prizes." But even those who believe in allowing the individual artist to make his own way without assistance would be rather stricken by the romance of Frank Schwarz, a starving boy of twenty, who had served in the camouflage service in the war, and was living from hand to mouth in New York until a short time ago.

There had been a knock at his door and he was holding a notice in his hand, telling him that he would have to give up his garret—he owed a month's rent, $12, which he was unable to pay.

Face to face with impending disaster he heard the postman's call in the street below.

More out of habit than in any hope, he dragged himself down the four flights of stairs to receive an official letter, notifying him that he had won the Prix de Rome, that he had given up all hopes of having come his way.

He rushed off to find the secretary of the American academy in Rome. Not only was it all true, but there was another happy shock for him.

Barry Faulkner, in charge of the Tiffany Foundation for Artists at Oyster Bay, had recommended that he be admitted to the summer course there, as an additional prize for his picture "A Tribute to Heroism."

So instead of the dreary grind in the East Nineteenth street tenement, Italy and Rome with all their treasures were waiting for him.

The academy arranged for his passage and supplied him with a studio and living quarters abroad.

To show that there is some truth in the old proverb that it never rains but it pours, the father of young Schwarz arrived at the house almost as soon as the son had left it carrying a clipping from a newspaper.

The family had been separated for years and the announcement of the award was the first clue to put the other man, a waiter in a big hotel, on the track of the younger who had gone his way from the Middle West to make a career.

It all reads like an exciting moving picture story of art life. All the contrasts are there. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Former Pitching Star Is New Yankee Manager

He was called "Bob" Shawkey when he pitched for the Yankees. Now he's been named successor of the late Miller Huggins as manager of the Yankees, and more than likely it will be Robert John Shawkey in the future. Colonel Ruppert, in announcing the appointment, said Huggins himself had recommended Shawkey as a possible successor.

Mystery of the Rose
 In all flowers there is a mystical quality which attracts and captures man, while he cannot understand it. Whence comes the rose's fragrance? What is there in it that can stir fluttering memories of unidentifiable things? It speaks some strange and poignant power that summons to the heart of humankind elusive deep emotions.

Properties of Sleep
 A particularly vivid dream or a "nightmare" indicates that the mind is largely awake, though the rest of the body sleeps soundly. Somnambulism indicates that the mind is asleep, though the muscles and spinal cord are not. Thus, one part of the body will sleep more soundly than another.

Community Building

Benefits in Community Foresight Are Outlined

It pays a city, just as it pays an individual, to look ahead and plan its future. Most of the larger cities of America have accepted the idea. Some have been applying it with good results; others have been inclined to lag. In the latter class Kansas City must be included.

A few days ago a promising move for regional planning in this metropolitan area was started. In the city proper, planning is a familiar topic. Yet Kansas City remains without a comprehensive program for development through a period of years, with definite projects listed for attention in the order of their urgency, as nearly as can be determined in advance, says the Kansas City Times.

That it is penicible to frame such a plan has been shown by other cities, notably Chicago and more recently Detroit. In the latter a ten-year program has been devised, with improvements listed and their approximate cost and the necessary tax rate determined. Another example, of a somewhat different type, is furnished by Philadelphia. It is announced that construction there, much of it private, will involve an expenditure of $400,000,000 in the next five years. Through co-operative effort, the aim will be so to distribute the work through the years that employment and other conditions affected may be reasonably stabilized.

The program is only in the stage of serious consideration, but it invites attention through its obvious possibility and benefits. It is said that unemployment in the city is only about 5 per cent. Thus to provide work for all who might desire it would be neither difficult nor burdensome. On the contrary, it would be sound business procedure.

It suggests the feasibility of the Hoover proposal for stabilizing employment by orderly planning years ahead, with a reserve of construction projects and funds. In its public and private undertakings, the country will have to come around to this better way of doing business. The cities, especially, are in position to exercise foresight and lay their plans for orderly, businesslike development.

Painting Brick Needs Correct Color Choice

Chief among the reasons why brick is often painted is that paint brings color variety to this material. Of course there are a number of technical and practical reasons why many people prefer to have their brick homes protected with paint, but it is safe to warrant that color advantages play a strong and prominent part in influencing their decision.

"Can brick be painted, though, and just what effects may be obtained?" many people ask.

To the first part of the question the answer is, of course, "Yes," while the second half requires elaboration.

The fundamental principle underlying successful painting is to adapt the type of finish to the material used. So, although brick may be painted nearly any color of the spectrum, it is wiser and in better taste to paint brick as brick and not try to make it look like something else. It is conceivable that under certain conditions a brick house might be painted white or cream with green trim, but since that color scheme is irrevocably associated with colonial houses with clapboard siding, it is not in the best of taste to advise this color scheme unreservedly.

Ornamental Shade Trees Are Most Desirable

Indianapolis used to be one of the most beautifully shaded towns in the country. Perhaps it still ranks high in this particular. But it is fast losing this distinction—and it was a real distinction. Perhaps private and voluntary effort can do something, says the Indianapolis News. Certainly property owners could, in many cases, plant trees in front of their homes. But we are not now thinking of ways and means, but only of the desirability of the end to be reached. Cleveland used to be known as the Forest city, and it was a proud name. There ought to be many forest cities in this country, and Indianapolis should be one of them.

Home Entrance Important

The entrance should be hospitable and so placed as to help the harmony of the building—not necessarily in the exact center of the front wall, but in harmony with the other features of the house. One too frequently seen fault of modern houses is that the doorways are small. The fine, big doorways of some old-fashioned houses frequently reach well up to the sill of the second-story windows, and seem to extend a hospitable air of welcome to the incoming guest.

Growing City's Needs

Clean and well-paved streets, hand-somely kept parks and boulevards, well-ordered private property, clear skies and pure air will contribute greatly to the growth of the city, and what is at least as important, to the health, comfort, and pride of the citizen.

In this radionic analysis clinic, using the perfected machine of Dr. J. Franklin Blanchard, Omaha, Nebraska, is an electric device which has challenged the attention of the entire thinking world, and which astonished thousands by the results of its test analysis work, as conducted by Physical Culture Magazine.

The theory is simple. It is a deeply scientific application of the principle of radio vibrations, under the established theory that every disease has definite electrical reactions which are the appropriate curative wave.

It definitely "Tunes" to the particular disease the patient may have. These readings are established, and the machine makes no mistakes. Then it is simply a matter of treatment according to the radionic indications and Chiropractic adjustments.

For an introductory period the services of this clinic will be free to all who call at our offices in the Palace theatre building in Littlefield.

The fullest investigation is asked, understanding perfectly well that the machine upsets all the precedents and accepted code of physical analysis. The most obscure and difficult cases are courted, together with comparison with all analysis by the usual methods. We will be glad to answer questions at any time.
