

Lamb County Boys And Girls Observe National 4-H Week

Living as Loyal Citizens through 4-H

A Youth Program of Activity Adventure and Achievement

This is national 4-H week throughout the length and breadth of the entire United States, with chapters composed of boys and girls functioning in practically every county of the entire country.

Texas is one of the strongest of the 4-H club states, both in point of activities, as well as in numbers of clubs and individual club membership.

Enrollment figures at state headquarters shows 116,979 active 4-H club members, with boy membership ahead of the number of girls enrolled.

Lamb county is actively interested in 4-H work, and therefore in this national week of observance, due to the fact that the county can proudly point to 831 active 4-H clubbers, with 423 boys and 408 girls making up the county's membership in approximately two dozen community clubs.

It is well to recall at this time what the term "4-H" green and white four-leaf clover really stands for or signifies. Head, Heart, Hands and Health, their usage and improvement, and the service that they may render to their communities and country, through their meetings and courses of study, as well as the projects undertaken and carried out in the year after year club activities.

Lamb county has reason to be especially proud of their own county's activities for many reasons, and for the further reason that a Lamb county 4-H boy, Ray Joe Riley of the Springlake chapter was judged both state and national champion with his record of crop activities, and in the girls division, Dorothy Foltyn of the Littlefield Chapter, won state honors in records of 4-H club work, and was awarded the Santa Fe Railway's all-expense trip to Chicago.

Bill Rodgers, assistant county agent sponsors the boys clubs of the county, while Mrs. Xie M. Collins, county home demonstration agent is sponsor of the girls clubs activities.

The two sponsors have just completed a series of visits to all chapters in the county on Monday, of this week, opening day of the national observance week.

Both were enthusiastic over the high interest apparent and expressed by members of all of the chapters visited.

Mr. Rodgers in summing up the 4-H week among "his boys" for the past year, said: "20 boys competed in cotton yield contest; 552 animals were included in projects; 42 boys have dairy animals; 31 boys have beef cattle; 6 boys have sheep; 163 boys have swine; 47 boys have rabbits; 12 boys operate gardens; 23 grew cotton; 9 grew grain sorghums; 2 boys grew corn; 14 boys worked on farm, shop, and tractor maintenance; 16 participated in Junior leadership contests; 31 boys trained on ten different judging teams. These projects carried out, utilized a total of 130 acres for cotton; 96 acres for grain sorghums; 7 1/2 acres for gardens, and raised a total of 815 chickens. 18 boys entered state contests in judging and two 4-H workers took special training. Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Montgomery of Hart Camp received a telegram from the Air Service Command that their son Lt. Col. J. C. (Jerry) Montgomery was missing in action over Korea as of March 3.

Col. Montgomery went to Korea last June as operations officer for a group of F-84 jet type fighter-bombers and since that time was engaged in bombing and strafing enemy lines and rail and highway transportation behind the enemy lines.

Col. Montgomery was not due for rotation back to the States till next June. His wife and two children live in Fort Worth where they had made their home since the end of World War II. As usual, no further details were given other than the "missing in action."

Local Man Seriously Injured In Truck Mishap Tuesday

W. C. Lightsey, former Lamb county farmer, and employed for the past month by the Texas State Highway department, was seriously injured Tuesday morning, when he suffered a fall from the top of a truck, belonging to the highway department, which was taking on a load of water at the city pumping station east of town.

He was rushed to the Littlefield Hospital, where x-rays and examinations were still taking place Wednesday at noon. Preliminary examination indicated that he had suffered a possible broken neck, fractured skull, and other less serious injuries.

According to the victim of the accident, the accident occurred when the driver of the truck started the vehicle, either not knowing or realizing that Lightsey was still atop the truck. The limb of a nearby tree, brushed him off the top of the truck to the ground or pavement, a distance of about ten feet.

Lightsey is married and the father of two children. The family make their home in Littlefield at 1016 Duncan avenue.

"Skeet" Dillard And Bert Wasson Frustrate Burglary . . . Get Stetsons

Littlefield police department's two night patrolmen, "Skeet" Dillard and Bert Wasson, are getting, and deserve, full credit for the frustration of a burglary of the Morrow Lumber Company office and store department, last Saturday night, even though the pair of men, who were attempting the robbery, successfully made a getaway in the darkness.

The officers seeing a light in the building, while on patrol duty in their car, immediately drove up to make an investigation. The two men inside the building, evidently saw or heard the approach of the car, and made good their escape, probably through a window. The officers distinctly saw two men in the lumber company offices.

A few moments later, after Mr. Morrow had been summoned, fourteen rifles and shotguns, which had been removed from the store, were found outside the building, said to have been of a valuation of approximately $1,000. The burglar-minded pair had evidently removed the guns outside the building, and then returned inside to secure additional loot, when the officers made their surprise visit.

Mr. Morrow was high in his praise of the officers and their diligence, and both are wearing brand-new Stetsons this week—compliments of the Morrow Lumber Company.

Buster Evins Seriously Burned In Gas Explosion

Buster Evins, aged 34, suffered severe second, third and fifth degree burns about the upper half of the body, including facial burns, Tuesday morning at about 7:45 a.m. on the farm which he operates, one-half mile southeast of Fieldton, where he with his wife and three children have lived since January 1.

He was rushed to Littlefield Hospital, where after examination, a hurried radio call was sent out for type O blood donations, and his condition diagnosed as serious if not critical. Reports from the hospital Wednesday, report some improvement, but his condition is still considered critical.

An explosion in the brooder house at his farm caused the accident. The young farmer went to the brooder house, housing about 500 baby chicks, and found that the butane gas jet which supplied heat, had been extinguished. He immediately struck a match to re-light the burner, and the explosion followed immediately, as gas had accumulated in the brooder house.

The baby chicks were a total loss, and the damage was heavy to the brooder house, although the brooder was not heavily damaged and can be repaired. While his condition is reported improved, he will probably be a patient at the hospital for several weeks as the burns, are both painful and severe, covering practically every inch of the front of the body.

High Production Of Asphalt Roofing Seen for 1952

Despite the predicted decline in new home construction, a high volume of maintenance work is expected to make asphalt roofing production in 1952 at least as great as in the record-breaking years of 1950 and 1951, according to the Asphalt Roofing Industry Bureau, a trade association.

Approximately 90 percent of all the roofing material now used in the United States is asphalt roofing. Production in 1951 was about equal to that in 1950, when nearly 87,000,000 squares were shipped from roofing mills. A square is enough material to cover 100 square feet.

Bearing out the opinion that home maintenance and remodeling will continue at a high rate is the National Industrial Conference Board's report that "almost 46 percent" of the homes in the United States are more than 30 years old.

Maintenance and remodeling normally require almost two-thirds of all the asphalt roofing produced. Asphalt shingles are favored by home-owners because of their economy, fire-resistance, color, and ease of application as well as for their long life and weatherproofing qualities.

PMA SECRETARY CLARIFIES CASTOR BEAN PROGRAM FOR LAMB COUNTY

Some further facts and particulars in connection with the castor bean program, first announced in the Lamb County Leader last week, came from James D. Breitling, secretary of the Lamb county PMA at Amherst this week, in an effort to clarify some misunderstanding of some of the essential details of the program.

Mr. Breitling stated that 1440 acres of Lamb county land, principally in the northern part of the county has been signed up for castor bean production this year, but this acreage has been signed up by the Baker Company (who furnish seed) and not by the PMA. This Lamb acreage is a part of the Deaf Smith county project, and will be marketed at Hereford. Actually no Lamb county project has yet been organized, and cannot be, until 1999 additional acres are signed up in this county, which is the minimum requirement under PMA rules for a castor bean project, and the minimum acreage that will be supported by PMA and the Commodity Credit Corporation. There is considerable interest being shown among farmers, and it is possible, if not probable, that another 1,000 acres will be pledged in this county to set-up a Lamb county project. The meeting held at Amherst last week, and another at Springlake strengthened that opinion and belief. Anyone interested should contact the Amherst PMA offices.

The Way of a Maid with a Hat

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Fashion Editor

"Women have their foibles, I fear I must admit.

"Their little idiosyncrasies to which the men submit.

"But of their foolish fancies, albeit international.

"There's one that's most irrational—and that's—hats!"

A young lady named Jane Morgan rapidly is becoming a national celebrity because of her song, "A New Hat from Paris."

In New York she brought down the house nightly as she sang her song and changed her hats at one of the city's fashionable night spots. Now starting a cross-country tour, she is equipped with a new wardrobe of hats, designed by John Frederics to illustrate the light-hearted stanzas of her song.

As Miss Morgan explains nightly to her delighted audiences—

"A woman who is tearful will suddenly be cheerful, "A woman who is sick can suddenly be well.

"So, gentlemen, make note of this and if you'd have your way, "Take the lady shopping for a label that will say . . .

"It's a new hat from Paris—un nouveau chapeau de Paris."

WHAT'S IN A HAT—Pretty Jane Morgan models the strange concoction designed by John Frederics as she sings, "From the cradle to the grave, every woman's a slave to a ribbon, a rose and a veil . . ."

Pancake Sculpture

PANCAKE PAINTING . . . A New Art.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE AP Food Editor

The children in your family will love observing Pancake Day—especially if you encourage them to be busy on the griddle. Pancake Day (Shrove Tuesday) comes February 25 this year.

Traditionally a day of games and festivities, it's quite in order to celebrate it by arranging an Animal Pancake Baking Contest for just small fry. Give them all a chance to bake an animal pancake and award a prize to the young chef whose design comes nearest to resembling the animal he's aiming to reproduce.

Here's a recipe and directions for baking the Animal Pancakes with two delicious toppings as a bonus.

Animal Pancakes

Put two cups of pancake ready-mix in a bowl; add two and one-half cups of milk and stir lightly until batter is smooth. To make animal pancakes, pour batter from pitched or measuring cup with a lip onto a hot lightly greased griddle. Guide the batter with a spoon to make the various shapes. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once. Serve with butter or margarine and syrup.

Spiced Honey Sauce

Heat in top of double boiler, over hot water, one cup of honey, one teaspoon cinnamon, and one-half teaspoon of nutmeg. Serve warm over hot pancakes.

Frosty Whipped Spread

Whip one cup of butter or margarine until very light and fluffy. Gradually beat in a half cup of confectioners' sugar. Chill and serve over hot pancakes.

ANIMAL PARM . . . Hot off the griddle.

EVE STARTED IT ALL—When she wore a fig-leaf in her hair, and said: "It does something for me."

MARIE ANTOINETTE—She didn't mind being dead, but pled: "If you decapitate me, spare my hat!"

MAIN BAIT—Jane picks this as "a hat that does something to a man who'll do something . . . for ME!"

YOUR GARDEN

Start Seeds Indoors To Help Beat Weather

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Newsfeatures Writer

There are two ways of acquiring tender young plants for the garden: obtaining them by gift, theft or purchase, or by raising them from seed yourself. It seems only fair to warn that the latter alternative is a time-consuming, fussy, worrisome—and fascinating—job to most gardeners, who use the "sunny window" system.

The object of starting seeds indoors, of course, is to get a head start on the weather, and the gardener is primarily concerned with the "tender annuals" which usually go into the ground a week or two after the average date of the last killing frost in the particular locality. Some seeds take longer to germinate than others; some grow more slowly and the gardener must take all of these matters into consideration before sowing.

Testing Old Seeds

First step in the preparation of indoor seed-sowing is a look at last year's seed packets. They need not be thrown away, for most seeds live longer than one year. An easy test of your seed's "viability" is to place a couple of dozen seeds from each packet between moist blotters or cloth. Keep them moist and in a warm place, taking a look at their progress daily for about 10 days. If the majority of the seeds have sprouted, they are worth using.

Most seeds, large and small, benefit from a dusting with seed-protection chemicals—there are several on the market—which reduce the dangers from fungus disease. The easiest way to treat them is to drop a quantity of the disinfectant into the packet and shake it well.

How To Plant Them

Almost any kind of a shallow container is adequate for starting seeds. You can use professional flats, cigar boxes, cheese boxes, flower pots or quart berry boxes.

A minimum of two inches of soil is necessary. It need not be rich soil, but it should be light and able to drain quickly, free of pebbles and small sticks (screen to remove these). Drainage should be provided from the bottom of the container, or a layer of stones provided if the box is tight.

Press down the soil firmly, making sure it comes within half an inch from the rim of the container. Water thoroughly and allow it to drain before planting. Mark off the rows with a ruler or short stick about two and one-half inches apart.

Don't plant too thickly, and—for larger seeds—at a depth three or four times the width of the seed. Scatter fine seeds on the surface.

Then scatter finely sieved soil, fine sand or rubbed sphagnum moss over the surface and press it gently into contact with the other soil. Water lightly again, and place the containers in a dark place until the seeds have germinated and start pushing into the light. Cover the flats with glass or newspapers, leaving some opening for ventilation.

Manipulate the Sun

When the seedlings show, place them in a sunny window. Keep the container moist, but not soggy, and turn the box around frequently to keep the young plants from leaning to one side in reaching for the sun.

After they have received a good start, thin out the plants, eliminating the weaklings and transplanting others to give them more growing space. Take care not to disturb the root systems any more than is necessary. They can be transplanted outdoors after they have developed their first set of true leaves—the first leaves are not real ones. As the weather warms, set the plants outdoors a few hours a day to help harden them for the shock of final transplanting. If you have a cold frame, use it for the final hardening-off process.

Throughout this lengthy process—tomato seeds, for instance, take about 10 weeks of indoor develop-

10 Million 4-H Club Members Celebrate National 4-H Club Week

10 million 4-H club members nationwide this week, March 6-12, are observing National 4-H Week. Governor Allan Shivers has placed the spotlight on Texas 4-H members on February 12, 1952, by issuing a proclamation for this same period as National 4-H Week.

4-H leaders of the Texas Extension Service believe that the activities of the week are a special opportunity for checking their efforts to the needs of the community; to acquaint the country with the 1952 4-H theme as Loyal Citizens; to inform all parents of the objectives of the 4-H program; to encourage members to invite young people in enrolling new members to their 4-H work; and to inspire public-spirited citizens as voluntary leaders of 4-H clubs.

4-H leaders learn to do by doing. They gain experience, they are better equipped to lead their loyal citizen. Present programs are not limited to the production of better crops but extend to better ways of life in the home but includes actual participation in studies and programs with international significance. Their International Farm Youth Exchange program is an example.

In addition to their regular demonstrations, Texas 4-H members last year received training in fire and accident prevention, health, recreation, leadership, conservation and various judging contests. They believe in hard work. They attend county and district camps, state and national meetings and are usually well represented at the major livestock shows of the nation. Their income from demonstrations and the value of the things they own amounts to several million dollars annually, say the state leaders.

The members get assistance from their local leaders, parents, businessmen, county extension agents and others. Together this group makes up the 4-H team. The combined efforts of this team are being displayed during the week in the form of exhibits, stock shows, public meetings, special radio programs and with 4-H members appearing as guest speakers before civic clubs, farm organizations and other groups.

President Truman in his letter to the 4-H Clubs of the nation said, "You are doing things that make our country strong in the struggle for peace and understanding. There is strength in our youth, in our soil and in our working together. Our country and the world need now, more than ever before, the kind of work you are doing to unite these pillars of strength in the interest of world peace."

4-H club members invite every citizen to join with them in their observance of National 4-H Week.

Annual Lions Club Minstrel Show Scheduled For March 20 And 21

The date for the annual Lions Club minstrel show at Olton has been set for Thursday and Friday evenings, March 20 and 21.

Practice got underway Monday last at 7:30 at the Legion Hall.

"The Annual Cotton Pickers Convention" is under the direction of I. B. "Doc" Holt, capable production manager who announced last week that a beauty contest will be held in connection with the "convention." Mr. Holt said that entries began pouring in from Rabbin Creek, Possum Fork, Mule Junction and Crippled Cow City, in addition to the many local registrants.

Mr. Holt said that all contest hopefuls should have entries in by March 15 since only a limited number (not over 300) will be allowed to enter. Suitable awards will be presented the judges' choice of the beauty of beauties.

An evening of entertainment, nonsense, fun and excitement is in store for all who attend. The show will be conducted in the usual "clean" way and in a spirit that will challenge future productions if it was promised.

Amherst Senior Class Presents "The Headless Ghost" Friday Night

The annual Amherst high school senior play will be presented Friday night, March 7, at 9 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Admission is twenty-five cents for grade school students, and fifty cents for high school students and adults. The proceeds will go toward the annual senior trip, and the school gift.

"The Headless Ghost," a mystery comedy in three acts has a cast of twelve characters.

Story of the Play

"Ghosts are bad enough—but who would want to spend a vacation with a headless ghost? But strange as it seems Jerry Carlton (Mickey Pickrell), and his sister Nancy (Lou Berry), advertise their new Mountain Inn, as a "headless ghost haven" and get customers!"

"Jerry and Nancy" have just returned to convert the old mansion into an inn. With several hard working friends, George Larkin (Harvey Patterson), and Bill West (Pat Blessing), they manage to complete their plans even though the grim, silent housekeeper, Mrs. Smith (Tish Slemmons), gives them warnings of dire happenings, should they proceed with their inn."

Cadet I. B. Holt, Jr. Graduates From Pre-Flight School

Naval Aviation Cadet Ivey B. Holt, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Holt of Olton, Texas, graduated February 16 from the U.S. Naval Pre-Flight School at Pensacola, Fla.

In addition to a thorough physical training program, the fifteen week Pre-Flight course which Ivey completed includes aeronautical and naval subjects aimed at preparing officer candidates for flight training and eventual commissioning as naval officers.

Naval Cadet Holt graduated from Olton high school in May 1946 and he entered the Navy in 1950 and received his basic training at San Diego, Calif., prior to being selected for Pre-Flight in October 1951.

He is now assigned to the U.S. Naval Auxiliary Air Station Whiting Field, Milton, Fla., where he is engaged in primary flight training. Upon completion of his training at Pensacola and Corpus Christi, Texas, he will be awarded the gold wings of a naval aviator and assigned to duty with the fleet.

Doyle Gibson Injured In Motorcycle-Truck Crash

An accident involving a motorcycle and a truck, which occurred on West 9th street in Littlefield, Saturday morning about 10:30, resulted in sending Doyle Gibson of Lam's Chapel, aged 15, to Littlefield Hospital, where he is reported as doing well, but suffering from a punctured lung, and five broken ribs. He was riding the motorcycle. The driver of the pick-up, Elvin Carter of Littlefield was uninjured, but both vehicles were damaged. Reports from the scene of the accident, tend to place the blame on wet pavement, which prevented proper stoppage of the motorcycle at an intersection, where the truck was reported making a left hand turn. Young Gibson was in serious condition for many hours after being taken to the hospital, but is much improved. He is a student at Littlefield high school, member of the sophomore class, and a star end and valued member of the Littlefield high school football squad.

Amherst School Man To Head TSTA Unit

W. D. Kay, superintendent of the Amherst schools, was elected president of Lamb county unit, Texas State Teachers Association, at a meeting held in Amherst Monday night. Other officers elected include Bernard Wilson, Sudan, vice president, and Fred Gordon, Olton, secretary-treasurer.

Approximately 175 county teachers attended the meeting, and also present were 109 visitors, patrons of Lamb county schools.

Nat Williams, superintendent of Lubbock schools was guest speaker, and he discussed problems facing public education today and suggested ways for public education to fight back, standing ground against private instruction.

(1) Each teacher must be a good personal representative of his school.

(2) Each teacher must do a good job of teaching.

(3) The public school must capitalize on vast resources of good public relations through school children.

Estella Blackwell was born October 27, 1904 at Kingston, Texas, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Blackwell sr. She was united in marriage to A. L. Doshier, January 14, 1923, at Tipton, Oklahoma, where they lived 19 years, until they moved to Littlefield, where they have made their home since that time.

Four children were born to the union, two sons and two daughters. They are Eugene Doshier, of Baltimore, Maryland, Mrs. Joe Pat Hart, Billy Doshier and Mrs. Bill Gray all of Littlefield.

Surviving besides the children, are her parents, who reside here, and also three grandchildren, Jody Hart, Terry Doshier and Dawn Gray, and five sisters and five brothers. They are Mrs. Will Young, Hot Springs, Arkansas, Mrs. Lee Bruce of Vega, Mrs. J. D. Richards, and Mrs. George Hooper both of Littlefield, and Mrs. "Dutch" Brannon of Odessa. The brothers are Joe Davidson, Oklahoma, Sam and W. H. both of Littlefield, J. B. of Dimmitt and Paul of Morton.

Mrs. Doshier was a quiet, unassuming person, beloved by all who knew her. She was devoted to her church, her husband and her children. She was a member of the First Baptist church, and of the Mary Martha Sunday School class. She will be greatly missed in the church and Sunday school, by her loved ones and her many, many friends.

Mexico, effecting the employment of Mexican Nationals in this country have been changed and any farmer contemplating their employment should familiarize themselves with the new rules and take action in conformity therewith.

Mr. Jordan sets forth that there is no shortage of citizen farm workers in this area at this time, which means under the new law that Mexican Nationals cannot be contracted or brought in here at this time.

A shortage of citizen workers is expected to occur during the cotton chopping and harvest, when Mexican Nationals will be needed. Those farmers who anticipate needing laborers should contact The Texas Employment Commission, as 45 days is required for processing of the necessary papers before they can be employed.

The Mexican National program is an emergency program, and foreign workers cannot be legally brought into an area in which a shortage of local workers does not exist. Furthermore, if, at any time, subsequent to date you employ Mexican Nationals citizen workers become available, then according to provisions contained in contract signed by you the employer, you must replace these foreign workers with the local or citizen workers. Which means that after you have gone to expense, etc., of securing Mexican Nationals you may be forced by law to give them up and hire citizen workers.

Ray Joe Riley

(Continued from Page 1) breeder, the youngest in Texas. He holds the state record for the highest per acre yield of sweet sudan seed—2,110 pounds.

Gets 40 Bales on 37 Acres

Ray Joe has acquired many improved methods in his four years of participation in the 4-H cotton improvement program. As a result, in the four years he produced a total of 40 bales of cotton on 37 acres of land—more than a bale per acre. The average yield for Texas during this period has ranged from 167 to 264 pounds per acre.

In 1948 Ray Joe started his cotton demonstration with five acres. By chiseling his land eight inches deep and irrigating, he produced five bales.

Through fertilization, chiseling and irrigation in 1949, he obtained 11 bales from 10 acres.

He plowed his land 12 inches deep in 1950, fertilized with 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre, and irrigated twice. The result 12 bales from 10 acres.

Practices used in 1951 included deep-breaking, application of 50 pounds of anhydrous ammonia fertilizer per acre, two applications of irrigation water, proper cultivation and insect control. Twelve bales were produced on 12 acres of land.

Meeting Opens At Littlefield Drive Church of Christ Friday Evening

Brother H. Norman Gibson, Grand Prairie, Texas is to be with the Littlefield Drive Church of Christ, this city, in a series of evangelistic services beginning this Friday evening. The meeting will continue through the ensuing week with assemblies at 10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., and will come to a close on Sunday, March 16. There will be an afternoon singing on Sunday that the meeting closes. This will be held at 3 p.m.

Brother Gibson is no stranger to Littlefield and Lamb county. Having lived in Amherst for a number of years where he labored with the church of Christ, and being the speaker on a daily radio program over radio station KVOW the greater part of that time, he is well known and highly respected as a gospel preacher of outstanding ability and a very fine gentleman. His friends, and they are many, will want to see and hear him while he is in this vicinity.

In addition to doing the preaching twice daily in this meeting, Norman will be the guest speaker on the daily radio program over KVOW each week-day morning at 9 and on Sunday mornings at 8:45. He has also volunteered to give us a "pre-service" song drill, which will begin at 7 p.m. Brother Roy

Water From Canadian River Project To Be Transported To Eleven Cities

Present and future industrial and municipal water requirements in the eleven Panhandle-Plains cities to be served by the authorized Canadian River Project are shown in the accompanying chart prepared by the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation. The rate of increasing quantities of water needed by the 11 cities through the year 2010 is based upon a report completed recently by the Bureau of Business Research, University of Texas.

The 11 project cities used a total of 56,500 acre-feet of water from drilled wells in 1950.

The University of Texas report predicts that by 1974 the 11 project cities will be using 125,000 acre-feet of water annually.

By 1996, the 11 cities will be using all of the water available to them annually in the Canadian River Project's reservoir, under terms of the tri-state Canadian River Compact, plus 56,500 acre-feet of water from drilled wells.

Municipal and industrial requirements by the year 2010 will draw upon all of the project water available to the cities. A deficiency of 22,500 acre-feet annually.

The anticipated water requirements of the project cities for years 1950 to 2010 can be provided by the project water if the present supply of water from the Canadian River is maintained.

For purpose of illustration, the chart does not show either maximum or minimum yields from drilled wells. The chart shows projected demands upon the project water if the water is employed using well water in 1950.

Water stored in the Canadian River Project reservoir, transported to the 11 cities in a 277-mile-long pipeline to be served by the Borger, Pampa, Amarillo, Lubbock, Dalhart, Levelland, Littlefield, and O'Donnell.

"Great Caesar's Ghost" is a hilarious three act comedy, which deals with the following story: "How would you like to have a pet ghost? A nice, tame one that would be easy to take care of—sleep in your closet, do your work, or frighten people out of their wits—whichever you preferred? It sounds strange, but amusingly different, doesn't it? And that's why 'Great Caesar's Ghost' is one of the funniest, most unusual farces ever written for the amateur stage. For when Phineas Farthingale (J. T. Stewart), comes to visit his niece, Helen Maxwell (Wanda Owens), he brings with him the fun-loving, temperamental protective ghost of an Inca chief whom Phineas once befriended on a trip to South America. The ghost is never seen, but what he does in his humorous way makes him one of the most 'real' characters of the play. For Helen is having trouble

Beautiful maroon and white jackets were received and handed out to the Littlefield Wildcats who lettered in football the past season Tuesday afternoon by Coach Jay Fikes.

Only three of the lettermen are senior but the Wildcats will lose five players all total. They are Joe Walden, Robert Hill, Freddy Howard, Don Dale and Darrell Kennermer.

The lettermen are: Bill Brantley, Glen Hatla, Dwain Hoover, Keith Streety, William DeSautelle, Tommy Shelby, Darrell Kennermer, Douglas Perkins, Jeff Pate, John Terry, Joe Walden, Cam Jordan, Jeff Brantley, Bill Jones, Lloyd Williams, Freddie Howard, R. The Littlefield Wildcats will journey to Muleshoe Friday where they will be entered in a triangle track meet with Brownfield and Muleshoe. This will be the first track meet of the year for the Wildcats and ribbons will be given in the meet for the first, second and third place winners.

Muleshoe will be highly favored to take the meet because of the fact that the Mules have several track stars returning from last year's excellent team. In a meet held last week with Brownfield, the Mules won 11 out of 14 events from the Cubs.

Coach Charles Hester has announced that the following boys will represent Littlefield:

MILE RELAY:
 Keith Streety, Jackie Beckner, Bill Jones and Dan Howard.

440 YARD DASH:
 M. C. Northam, Charles Parrack, R. L. Rhoten and Leroy Williams.

MILE RUN:

over Gil Hodges, Ralph Kiner or Richie Ashburn depending on the position he plays this year.

The rest of the National League team picked by our host colleague finds Jack Robinson on second, Reese on short, Bobby Thomson on third and Carl Furillo in right field. In the American League he has Ferris Fain at first, Nellie Fox at second, Chico at short, George Kell on third, Doby, Gus Zernial and Orestes Minoza in the outfield.

The tip here is that you might watch Andy Pafko of the Dodgers this season. If he recovers his batting effectiveness, he could be the best all-around left fielder in the game, provided Musial doesn't play that position.

Stevens, rather than attempt to rate the pitchers, mentions the 20-game winners. However, on the records, observations and how the managers feel it looks like Robin Roberts of the Phillies, Sal Maglie of the Giants, Murry Dickson of the Pirates and Clem Labine of the Dodgers are, or will be, 1952's best National League right handers. As to lefties, there's Warren Spahn, Preacher Roe, Chet Nichols and Ken Raffensberger.

In the American group the top righties look like Bob Feller, Vic Raschi, Ned Garver, Allie Reynolds, Early Wynn and Ed Garcia, with the best southpaws Ed Lopat, Mel Parnell, Bobby Shantz and Bill Pearce.

Clean Laundry For Strader

By FRANK ECK
 AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor
 NEW YORK—Norman (Red) Strader, is back in football. The popular ex-coach of the now defunct New York Yanks never should have been out in the first place. Red will assist Buck Shaw in coaching the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League. It's a full time job and will take Strader back to San Francisco, the place he loves so well, for he lives across the bay at Berkeley.

Strader was forced to sit out the 1951 season because Ted Collins, who now can be called "an ex-football impresario," ruled that Red was "too sick" to coach. Red really had nothing wrong with him that a few good tackles or a good quarterback couldn't cure. He became run down beating the bushes for football material for the 1951 Yanks. He had driven some 15,000 miles in less than a month.

Booted by Collins
 After he had signed most of the players for Collins he was given the gate. It would have been great had Collins changed his mind and called Red back last season for the Yanks won only one game Jimmy Phelan. Of course, Jimmy came in late and was handicapped.

Strader came to town for the annual National League meeting and a possible settlement on his 1951 contract.

It marked the first time that Strader was off the football field, save for the war years of 1942-45 when he was a lieutenant commander in the Navy. In '45 he coached the Sampson, N. Y., Naval Training Center baseball team that included Mickey Owen, Eddie Yost, Jim Konstanty, Tony Lupien and Huck Geary.

A graduate of St. Mary's College in 1926 where he was a crack full-back for the Gaels and a good enough catcher to get a major league trial with the Cleveland Indians, Strader coached Regis College football for four years. He became an assistant to Slip Madigan at St. Mary's and finished as head coach in 1940-41.

A former pro player with the Chicago Cardinals, Strader coached the football Yanks from the middle of the 1948 season until he was bounced by Collins last August.

In joining the 49ers, Strader will find one of his former Yankee players in camp next summer in Lowell Wagner, a defensive back. When Wagner played here he was a crack right halfback. He played both offense and defense, averaging 45 minutes a game.

That's the way it was with Strader. His Yankees always gave out for him. In the All-America Conference his teams gave the champion Cleveland Browns their toughest battles.

But in the summer of 1951 Strader could see the handwriting on the wall—or was it on the towel? Instead of two hard daily workouts in sweatsuits, orders went out that there was to be only one daily workout in sweatsuits and one in shorts. It meant saving $300 a month in laundry bills. Strader almost bit the ceiling, believing it was unfair to the players and unfair to the promoters who were paying around $20,000 to see the Yanks in exhibitions. This hasn't been written until now and it is mentioned to show that when Strader coached he coached his way. His way brought results.

In 1949 the T coach led a Conference all-star team against the Cleveland Browns in Houston, Tex., for oilman Glenn McCarthy. Strader's team won. On his club were Joe Perry, Frankie Albert and Visco Grgich, presently with the 49ers.

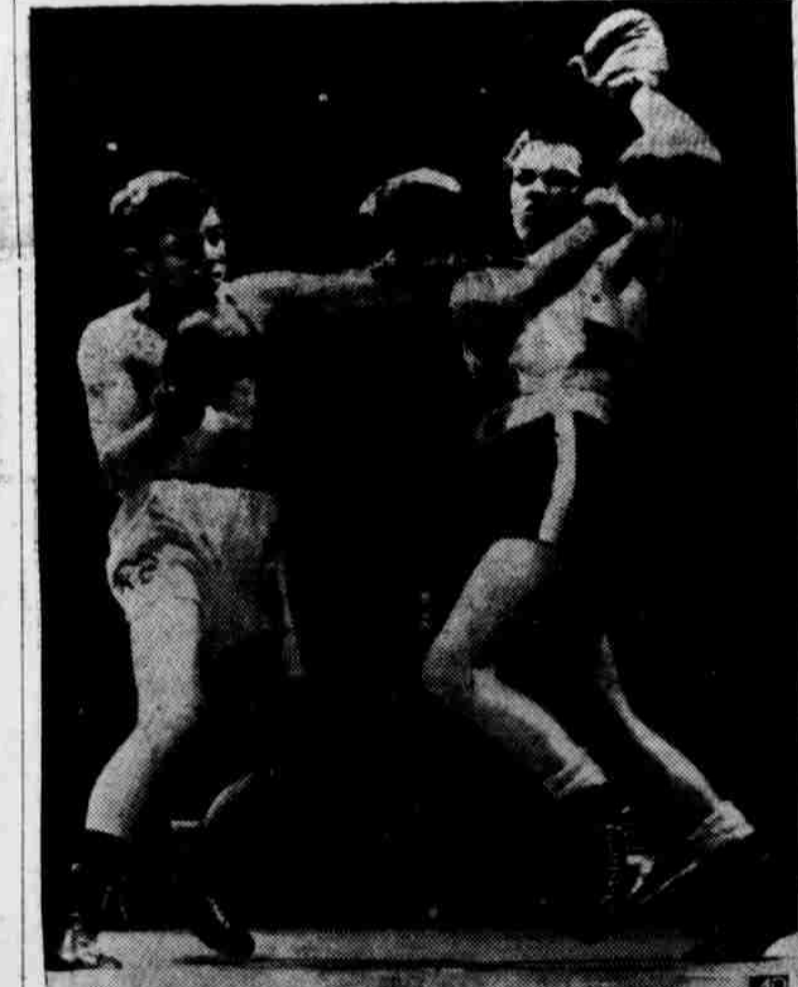

Strader could talk hard and fast to his boys to bring them up for a game. Fellows like Buddy Young, Arnie Weinmeister, Otto Schnellbacher, Jack Russell and Spec Sanders always seemed to go all out for him. When a player made a boner he told only that man, but when one of his boys went well Red told everyone.

They're going to miss the well-stocked Redhead around here more than they miss the football Yanks. As a matter of fact hardly anybody will miss Collins' football. The team averaged less than $6,000 fans per game last fall.

Levelland Lobos Wins Region One Title At Lubbock

Levelland's Lobos, hanging on by the skin of their teeth, edged Canyon's Eagles 56-55 to win the Region 1 Class AA basketball tournament in Tech gym Saturday night, while Dimmitt's powerful Bobcats almost annihilated the Denver City Mustangs, 85-47, to capture the Region 1 Class A Title.

Earlier in the day, the Lobos had squeezed past Quanah, 33-31 to get into the finals.

Levelland will be representing District 7-AA this weekend when the State tournament gets underway in Austin. The other three teams in Class AA to reach the finals are Bowie, Madisonville and French of Beaumont.

Named on the Class AA All-tournament team were Langford Sneed, of Levelland, Ray Burros of Canyon, Harold Phelan of Levelland, John Cary of Snyder and Bob Raliff of Canyon.

To the Class A all-tournament team were named Bill Gregory of Dimmitt, Jim Taylor of Clyde, Richard Souther of Denver City, Wesley Smith of Dimmitt and Bill Cutbirth of Big Lake.

For Normal Driving - It Loafs!

cross over the boundary into another state and there are the posted rules and regulations. Maybe the daytime limit for passenger cars is fifty-five—or "fifty-five." Or, maybe no limit at all... just your own good common sense and general rules of safety. Well, whatever the legal limit, your Golden Anniversary Cadillac is going to "loaf"! Down under its hood is the most powerful engine used in a standard American passenger car. There's more power there than you'll ever need—except for emergency. But don't think that power doesn't work for you even when you're driving within the legal limits! It works for your safety... because a great reserve of power is a wonderful safeguard in most of the driving emergencies that present themselves. It works for your comfort... because no car rides well, or handles so superbly, as when it "coasts along," with a great percentage of its power still under the accelerator. And it works for your peace of mind... for it is unbelievably comforting to know you have tremendous acceleration, should the necessity for it arise. Of course, power has to be harnessed and handled in order to be your friend and servant. So the Golden Anniversary Cadillac has superb new brakes—larger and more efficient—and designed and built to double the span of their endurance. And those who want the ultimate in easy handling may order at extra cost Cadillac's new power steering that eliminates up to seventy-five per cent of normal steering effort. It would take a volume to tell you all the things that have been done to make this a "car among cars." But it will take but a mile or a minute for you to sense what it means in terms of pleasure and satisfaction. It means something wonderful... too wonderful, in fact, to miss! Better come in today—for a look—and a ride—and a revelation.

But Will It Work... We Dont Think So

The constantly reiterated charge against democracies is that they are inefficient, simply because they can move only as the sometimes slow-forming will of the people permits. The converse theory is that dictatorships, because they exercise absolute power, are efficient. The dictatorship portion of the theory now is undergoing critical test in Argentina, with no evidence so far that the theory is going to be substantiated by fact.

Argentina is in the throes of an economic crisis which shows every sign of getting worse before it gets better. Prices are going up. Reserves of gold and foreign exchange are dwindling. Meatless days are the rule in a nation which previously has been one of the world's greatest producers of meat. Wheat production this year is a million tons below domestic requirements, whereas Argentina traditionally has been a heavy exporter of wheat.

Partly the food situation is due to drought, but largely it is due to Peronist policies which put emphasis upon industry and are discouraging to agriculture. Crop plantings have suffered from a policy which buys products from farmers at a fixed low price, sells them at a much higher price, and channels the difference into industry. Higher prices all along the line have brought the country up against the hard fact that industry—even agriculture—must profit if it is to produce.

President Peron has now prescribed a new austerity program to meet the crisis. Beef-loving Argentinians are to eat less meat. Argentine bread is taking on a darker color. And Dictator Peron has threatened to raise wages by 50 per cent and lower prices by 50 per cent.

What the program adds up to is halting inflation by flat and increasing production by the same method. It remains to be seen whether distasteful efficiency is equal to the task of nullifying and reversing all economic laws.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

"It's the Law in Texas," a new weekly feature makes its appearance in today's edition.

It is the first of a series of columns that will appear in this paper each Thursday. The articles will discuss points of law that every person needs to know.

The write-up being published today tells how a person's name should be signed to legal documents. It points out that proper signatures on important legal papers may save both time and money.

Among topics to be explained in other columns are the liability of a homeowner for accidents occurring on his property, the question of who inherits in event a person dies without leaving a will, and others of equal interest.

Distributed as a public service by the lawyers of the state, the weekly column is prepared under supervision of the State Bar of Texas Committee on Public Information. Each statement made will be carefully checked by the bar group to insure conformity to applicable Texas laws.

The rendering of legal advice on specific personal problems is for lawyers, specialists in the field. But "It's the Law in Texas" will give you background knowledge about the law and discuss in everyday terms, legal information that will help you in your daily activities.

Wrong Signature On Legal Papers May Cost Money

Should a married woman sign important documents with her own given name or use her husband's first name? Is "Junior" or "Senior" legally part of your name? Should you sign your middle name or initial? Is "Mr." or "Mrs." part of a legal signature? Lawyers find that people are often at a loss to know how to sign their names to legal documents. And, while signature discrepancies ultimately may be straightened out, the process can be expensive.

In legal effect, a name is used merely as one method of distinguishing one person from another. Under the Common Law, since very early times, a legal name has consisted of one Christian or given name, and one surname which is the family name. Generally, use of both such names is necessary for legal identification.

The law does not pay too much attention to the middle name or initial. However, although the use of the middle name or initial is not required, it is wise to use it since it may be important for identification in some cases.

According to attorneys, married women have more difficulty with their signatures than most other people. When a girl marries she, of course, takes her husband's surname. Thus Mary Lou Jones legally becomes Mary Lou Brown when she marries James E. Brown. But, in practice, she usually does not stop there—she uses his full name as her own, signing herself as Mrs. James E. Brown, instead of Mary L. Brown (or Mary Lou Brown) which is correct.

Can this apparently minor error in Mrs. Brown's signature cause any trouble? Let us assume that the Browns decide to sell their home, which they have owned fifteen years, and move to Oregon. Five years pass, and their former home is now owned by George Smith, who has made a deal to sell it at a nice profit. In checking the title of the property, the name "Mrs. James E. Brown" turns up in Smith's abstract, as it appears on the deed by which James and Mary sold their home.

For the title to be clear, the land records must show that Mrs. James E. Brown who sold the house and lot was the same identical person as the Mary L. Brown or Mrs. James E. Brown whose name appears on the deed conveying the property to the Browns many years before.

In order that the purchaser may be safe, lawyers and courts must not overlook the possibility that they may be two different persons. If so, the first Mrs. Brown may have died leaving heirs who have not yet relinquished their interest in the home. Other possibilities would present serious implications also.

Proof of identity in this case could involve tracing the Browns through several states, or other methods equally or more expensive and time-consuming. While waiting for this proof, George Smith might lose his chance to take a profit. The intended purchaser may have to begin anew his search for a suitable family shelter. The Browns may be out time and money in correcting the discrepancy. In this situation, the "minor" variation in Mary's signature has resulted in trouble for everyone involved.

Perversely enough, other married women feel that their maiden surname is still legal and continue to use it. For instance, a wife may register her automobile in her maiden name instead of her married name. This is not in compliance with the law requiring a car to be registered in the name of the owner. Her maiden surname is gone for good, unless she is divorced and wants to resume the use of her maiden name. Then it may be returned to her by a court order.

The law does not consider "Junior" or "Senior" a significant part of the name, as regards identification. However, it will not be incorrect to add such terms to your signature, if you wish. Similarly "Mr." or "Mrs." are not legally important or necessary.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Know Your House Rock Gran Toughen R

Most home-owners don't it, but little bits of stone most wear-resistant materials are a home's best defense against attacking weather. The roof of a house is that takes the greatest heat of the sun, and the wind. More houses in United States are protected asphalt roofing than by any other material. And asphalt is surfaced with mineral granules which are small pieces of rock, and slag. There are reasons they are used into asphalt shingles: 1. The granules can be by ceramic firing. This asphalt shingles are their full range of blended hues. 2. They increase the resistance of the roofing. 3. They provide an wearing and weathering. 4. Because the granules opaque, they protect the from the impact of the sun.

Injuries to the nose should always be repaired as soon as possible to keep the nose functioning properly as the starter in breathing and smelling. The nose of an infant is often shaved about a bit in birth but repair at that early age is usually a simple procedure of running the fingers down the nose and gently tugging everything back in its proper place.

In later years repair of the nose may be simple or most complex, depending upon the extent of injury to the nose. But the sooner repair work is done after injury the less difficult it is to get the nose back in shape.

Just what the shape of a nose is supposed to be covers a wide range of designs. A so-called Grecian nose in a small round baby face would certainly look out of place and a pug nose on a long thin face would lack harmony in looks though it might be mechanically perfect.

When the plastic surgeons have to undertake repair of the nose, they fit the nose in to the dimensions of the face. As long as your nose is doing the job it was cut out to do, it doesn't matter whether the dimensions are proper or not, but if you want to check up and see how your nose stacks up with the ideas of the nose-repairs, their system is interesting and you can measure your own nasal shortcomings or excesses as they do.

First, you can either taken an old-front-face photograph or make your face off on a mirror with a piece of soap. Draw four parallel lines across the face, one going through the hairline there on the forehead, one across the root of the nose there at the dip between the eyebrows, one through the base of the nose right below the nostrils, and the fourth line touching the bottom of the face at the chin. If your dimensions are "perfect," these four lines divide your face into three equal parts.

To get the lengthwise proportions of your nose in your face, you measure the width of the eye from corner to corner, the space between the eyes, and the width of the nose there at the base where those two wings flare back from the nostrils—all three of those measurements are supposed to be equal, too.

Since you've already either ruined a picture of yourself or messed up a mirror with your soap markings, you might as well go on and try some of the other measurements, too.

Your mouth (closed) is supposed to be one-third of the way from the base of the nose to the chinline. And the length of your nose from root to tip should be slightly less than the distance from the dividing column inside the nose to the chinline.

The proper tilt of the nose is somewhat more difficult to measure but if you think your profile approaches perfection you might be interested in measuring it by plastic surgery's measuring stick. You need either a profile picture or two mirrors for this kind of soap-marking, one mirror to mark on and the other to look at your profile with.

In the first place you're supposed to draw a straight line from the most jutting point of your forehead, usually just above the eyebrows, to the most jutting point of the chin. Then draw a straight line from the tip of the nose, through the highest point on the nose (the hump), and on beyond the root of the nose (the dip between the eyebrows). You may not be able to make a straight line of that, which makes it something of a crucial test.

The angle at which the first line and that second line meet at the root is supposed to be about 30 degrees. You need an angle ruler if you want the exact measure there. That gives you the sticking-outness of your nose.

The bottom attachment of the nose to the face, that angle at which the line between the nostrils meets the dividing line above the upper lip, is supposed to be a right angle, about 90 degrees. A dog's nose will make the angle less than 90 degrees since it hangs down and a real short nose will make that angle more than 90 degrees since it sticks up in the air.

Those are the measurements which are brought into consideration when a plastic surgeon undertakes repair of a badly-damaged nose. They base their figures upon the utilitarian purposes of the nose but also consider the beauty effect such measurements might have. The plastic surgeons are not dogmatic about their formula for proper dimensions, however, pointing out that through the ages not artist has painted a portrait of a beauty with a perfect (medical dimension) nose.

And no matter how far some nose may deviate from those dimensions, some loving person will probably say, "On you it looks good."

TEEN TALK

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP NEWSFEATURES

Do you think you have musical talent? Or maybe it is a friend who toys with the idea of going to a big city—perhaps New York—where she might make the grade.

If it is a good friend who has forced you to sit through a Grade Z performance and then has expected you to break out with bravura and "you're sure to make it" remarks, you know how difficult it is to discourage her.

In a new novel, "Who Did What to Fedalia" (Doubleday) Meredith Wilson provides an interesting answer to that question.

AUTHOR Of the Week

By W. G. ROGERS

Wright Morris' seventh book and fifth straight novel... there were two books in which text and photographs ran along side by side... "The Works of Love." Though his books are short, that makes a long list of publications for an author who was born only in 1910. His birthplace was Central City, Nebraska, and he studied at Pomona College. He and his wife live in Wayne, Pa.

Real talent is an express train of burlesque, unstoppable iron and steel and steam. You can't derail it. Can't sidetrack it. Talent has one-track courage that thrives on hardships and on unflinching day-in, day-out, soul-wearingly, blistering, back-breaking regimes."

And just to prove that honest straight-from-the-shoulder talk often may be the most charitable, Mr. Willson's story has a very, very happy ending.

Everybody, that is, except Adelbert Wixberry.

And Wixberry, program director of the big ABCA radio network, is just the guy who needs to be impressed.

He isn't... As a matter of fact he is brutally frank to starchy-eyed aspirants without talent when they show up for auditions.

And here's the way Mr. Willson (through Wixberry) explains it:

"Johannes Brahms, the greatest composer of music this or any world ever saw, said that the way to stimulate talent is to stifle it, strangle it, choke it, ruthlessly and relentlessly. There are hundreds of thousands of good kids all over the world who've got a lot of poison star dust in their eyes. Somebody's got to be concerned enough about their future to be the villain and try to turn them out of a profession in which they can be less than mediocre at the very best.

"And you don't have to worry about ever cutting down somebody who happens to have real talent either. The percentage who have any honest-to-God-given gift, compared to those who are only stage-struck, is maybe one in a million, and you can't drown that one in a million. They couldn't starve Schubert or browbeat Handel. They couldn't break the spirit of Schu-

SUPER SIZE— Noah Greer,
Crystal City, holds a head of
"just plain old" leaf mustard greens grown in his garden. It measures 4 feet, 8 inches across,
but is by no means unusual.
Greer has given neighbors some of his crop and one plant completely covered a dining table.
In his 50 by 60 foot garden Greer had 12-foot-high bean vines and Irish spud that grew 10 feet tall and cabbage weighed four lbs.

Best of all, he says, his egg plant had at least 12 to a stalk and each head weighed an average of four pounds. Greer has one bad crop. He says he can't grow radishes no matter how hard he

MODERN LIVING IS ELECTRIC LIVING!

From the old open fireplace on through the ages cooking was a grimy, greasy job electric cooking came along. Now, your pots and pans are always bright, always shiny electricity is the cleanest cooking method known. Who ever heard of a dirty kilowatt? No grime on the sides of any pots or pans when you cook electrically either, for there comes to go around the sides and dirty up the pans — and the rest of the kitchen, too.

Facts truck owners should know about hauling bigger payloads

"With our new Dodge, the payload is high, the cost per mile low!"

... says MORRIS SAPIR
Dependable Furniture Company, Oakland, California

"After using Dodge 'Job-Rated' trucks for eight years exclusively, I want to report that your new models are keeping me sold on Dodge."

"No vehicle we have ever seen can give our drivers more freedom in city traffic than our Dodge 1-ton truck. With our new Dodge, the payload is high, the cost per mile low."

WANT to know why you can carry more payload with Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks?

First, they've got better weight distribution. This means that bigger payload capacity is engineered into a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck. Many trucks carry too much weight on the rear axle, not enough on the front. But in a Dodge truck, the right proportion of the load is carried on each axle.

Besides this better weight distribution, a shorter wheelbase provides easier turning, easier parking. Come in and try one of these payload-packing, easier-handling trucks for yourself. Get all the facts about hauling bigger payloads.

Carry more! In Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks, the engine is placed forward and the front axle back — for better distribution of the load. You can carry bigger payloads — without overloading.

Haul faster! Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks are powered by high-compression engines to give you top performance with rock-bottom economy. Big power gives you pull and speed that save time.

Get longer life! There's a Dodge truck that's "Job-Rated" to fit your road and load condition — with load-carrying and load-moving units factory-engineered to stand up on toughest service.

Texas - The Big Livestock State - Has Fewer Cattle Today Than 50 Years Ago

Texas, the big livestock state, has fewer cattle today than 50 years ago.

It has fewer milk cows than it had 25 years ago, fewer sheep than 20 years ago, fewer goats than 30 years ago, fewer hogs than 50 years ago, fewer chickens than 25 years ago.

This does not mean there has been a steady decline in intervening years. The number has fluctuated. But Texas' livestock population has not shown the steady growth recorded by its human population.

A steady decline is evident, however, in the population of work animals—horses and mules. The number of horses in Texas has declined steadily from 1,350,000 in 1900 to only 221,000 in 1952. Mules, below 100,000 for the first time in history, dipped to 96,000 in 1952. In 1925 there were 124,000 mules in Texas.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's annual livestock report shows these figures on Texas livestock:

All cattle—an estimated 8,940,000 in 1952, compared with the record 9,231,000 in 1942, which is also the earliest year in which the 1952 figure was topped. The lowest number on record is 5,950,000 in 1923.

Milk cows—3,055,000 in 1952, compared with the record high of 1,594,000 in 1945. The earliest year in which the 1952 figure was topped was 1926, with 1,064,000. The lowest number on record is 500,000 in 1900.

Stock sheep—6,071,000 in 1952, compared with the record 10,539,000 in 1943. The earliest year in which the 1952 figure was exceeded was 1920, with 5,304,000. The lowest number on record, 2,000,000 in 1904.

Goats—2,999,000 in 1952 compared with record 3,465,000 in 1942. The earliest year in which the 1952 figure was exceeded, 1921, with 2,280,900. The lowest number on record is 1,998,000 in 1920 when USDA began its sheep records.

Hogs—1,645,000 in 1952 compared with record 3,106,000 in 1944. The earliest year in which the 1952 figure was exceeded is 1909 with 2,519,900. The lowest number on record, 1,399,000 in 1935.

Horses—821,000 in 1952, compared with record 1,350,000 in 1900 when USDA records began. The number has dropped each year since 1906.

Mules—96,000 in 1952 compared with record 1,240,000 in 1926, when the number began an unbroken decline.

Chickens—22,992,000 in 1952 compared with record 39,374,000 in 1944. Earliest year in which 1952 figure was exceeded is 1927, with 24,165,000. USDA chicken records date back to 1924, when 20,961,000 was the figure.

She received $10 and the right to compete in the district contest in Amarillo March 8. The winner there will receive a free trip to Washington, D. C., to compete in the national finals.

The Muleshoe Journal sponsored the contest. Judges were Lee Pool, realtor; A. J. Gardner, postmaster; and Mrs. Onard Upton, former teacher.

Dallas Man Is "Missionary For Texas"

UXBRIDGE, Canada, Mar. 2 (AP)—Texas has a missionary in Uxbridge, but he's backsliding.

"Ah've got to speak Canad-yan so well, ah'm gonna stay 'eah," he declares.

He's big, fat, jovial John Wall of Dallas, who came up to Uxbridge for an oil and chemical equipment firm and right off became vice-president of the chamber of commerce.

Uxbridge is a farming town of 1,801 boosters—counting the hearty Texan—some 30 miles north of Toronto.

It has two factories. One makes sheep hides into mouton skins. The other is Wall's—the Canadian branch and the only branch of the Fritz W. Giltsch company of Dallas. It employs 15 local men.

Wall came here from Dallas in May, 1950. Down south he had two main extra-curricular activities—mineral shows and playing Santa Claus.

Up north, so far he's gotten to play belly Santa Claus. He's still going around hoping somebody will show up to ask him to play in a minaretel show, but not too many people here have ever heard about them.

Santa Claus—that's different. Wall got to ride in a real sleigh that year. Had to, in fact, since that's the only mode of transportation when the snow flies deep.

He's a natural for Santa Claus—red cheeks, white hair and appropriate waistline. "But ah'm really gettin' thin," he says. "Ah'm down to 250 pounds now."

He used to play Santa Claus for his church in Dallas every year but had only make-believe sleighs. Down in Dallas, B. W. Berry, chief accountant for the Giltsch firm, says, "Wall has a way of getting on the good side of people. He loves it up there, and they love him. And they've treated him mighty fine, considering that he's a foreigner."

"He's really a missionary for Texas up there."

A colony of 7,500 American flamingos has been reported living on the island of Great Inagua in the Bahamas.

Clinic To Be Held At Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center Monday, March 17

A clinic for the examination of cerebral palsied children will be held Monday, March 17, at the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center, 3502

Avenue N, Lubbock. Orthopedic specialists from Midland, Plainview, and Lubbock, a neuropsychiatrist, pediatrician, eye specialist, and a dentist will be present to examine children.

Cerebral palsy is sometimes referred to as spastic paralysis or birth injury and may be evidenced by the child's inability to sit alone, stand alone, walk or hold objects at the age these things are accomplished by the average child. Research has shown that treatment is most effective if started within the first few months of the child's life although children respond to treatment begun at a much later age.

Parents planning to bring children to the clinic are requested to register the children at the center prior to the date of the clinic. Information regarding the clinic may be obtained by writing Miss Ellnor Guza, director, or calling Lubbock 5-6541.

General fields of discussion will include new trends in sorghum and cotton varieties and production; soil fertility; chemical weed control; and fertilizers in production.

The meeting is not limited to certified seed growers, Dr. Young said. Anyone interested in producing and using better seed is invited.

THIRD GRADE PUPILS IN PROCESS OF PHYSICAL CHECKUP

Mrs. Dalton Teague, school nurse and Dr. Helen Faust are in the process of examining third grade students at the central school at this time.

Mrs. Teague said there are approximately 150 students in the third grade, and about 15 are examined daily.

Students with bad teeth are more numerous than with any other defects. Mrs. Teague said a few children have heart murmurs, and a few have crossed eyes. However, children are not checked for sight defects.

The school nurse said that ear tests will be given every child in school, before the end of the term. An audiometer has been purchased by the school for testing percentage of hearing of individuals.

NO CHANCE FOR ERROR

NEW YORK (P)—L. W. Churchill, farmer near Westmoreland, N. H., hunters report, made doubly sure this season that his cows would not be mistaken for a deer or some other wild animal. He painted COW in large letters on their sides.

NEW—the one fine car deliberately designed for modern living

for 1952

In two incomparable series...

—the Cosmopolitan—the Capri

IN OUR showroom is a magnificently new idea in motoring for the American Road. It is remarkably different; it has a daring spirit that has never been approached in motoring. It is Lincoln for 1952.

Here is a new kind of car—eminently functional, breath-takingly beautiful but honest and sensible in design, created to fit every motoring need of modern living.

Here is a new kind of design—clean, uncluttered from stem to stern. A sizable but maneuverable masterpiece.

And here is a new kind of power—superbly responsive and efficient power—from a completely new overhead valve, high-compression engine. It delivers 160 horsepower and is the pride of the men who have built more V-8's than all other makers combined.

The Lincoln Cosmopolitan and the Lincoln Capri await you in our showroom. We invite you to see their new lines, discover their supreme performance, experience this new and modern concept of the fine car.
