A Physical Education and Health In-Service workshop was conducted Thursday at the Sudan school when Dr. J. F. Dickson, professor in Health and Physical Education, and D. F. Langston, professor in Health and Physical Education at Eastern New Mexico University were consultants. Approximately 65 were present including members of the Sudan school and the Amherst faculty.

The health and physical education is a required state course and is being taught for the first time this year in all grades in the Sudan school.

During workshop sessions the consultant gave information on the physical education and the relationship of health education to physical education.

In grades 1 through 6, Supt. C. O. Gregory said 30-minute classes will be held daily with physical education and health courses alternating.

The purpose of the physical education class is to develop physically as well as mentally. Gregory pointed out. Calisthenics and supervised games will be included in the program and will be beneficial in developing and improving of coordination.

In junior high grades, the seventh and eighth, and in high school, students not participating in sports must either have a supervised PE period or some activity sufficing for the course, as well as the required health course.

Austin, Aug.—With some 900 antelope in the Trans-Pecos area to be harvested this year, there is still an opportunity for hunters to get their names in the pot, according to the Chief Clerk of the Game and Fish Commission.

The season begins October 1. Permits may be had for either buck or doe. Applications should be into the Austin office with the $5 fee by September 1.

There also will be two antelope hunts in the Panhandle area, beginning October 14.

If there are more applications than permits, a drawing will be held to pick the lucky numbers.

These evangelism services have been carefully combined with the traditional method by which the Lutheran Church receives members. Those who wish to become members of our congregation are invited to attend the Thursday night Bible Lectures, beginning September 19 at 8 p.m. Here the chief parts of Christian doctrine are discussed in the open forum method. Upon completion of the course, individuals are invited to make their decision concerning membership in our Church. This type of procedure gives the individual time to make up his mind in leisurely fashion. This Bible lecture series is also designed for those who wish to learn more of our church. Everyone is invited to attend. Attendance involves you in no obligation whatsoever.

The members of Emmanuel Lutheran Church invite you to attend these evangelism services. Come, and get better acquainted with the Lutheran Church.

Cyrus K. Holliday Recalls Pioneer Days of Railroad

Famous Antique Train To Be Shown In Dallas At State Fair of Texas

An antique train reminiscent of the pioneering days of railroading will be exhibited by the Santa Fe Railway at the 1957 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 5-20.

The famous old Cyrus K. Holliday locomotive, a replica of the original engine which hauled the first freight and passengers over the Santa Fe line in Kansas in 1869, will be brought to Dallas along with its two ancient wooden coaches.

The diminutive locomotive has the famous "diamond stack" with a brass eagle figurehead gracing the engine head, a big oil-burning headlight, brass fittings and other paraphernalia of the early days of railroading.

Although the locomotive is but a replica of the original, the present Cyrus K. Holliday ranks as a museum piece in its own right. Built in 1880, the old engine was subsequently downgraded to a switch locomotive and finally withdrawn after 60 years of active service.

Restored to its original appearance, the train has been used many times in movies of the old West. The engine still operates under its own power.

With the Cyrus K. Holliday, the State Fair will have an exhibition train spanning nearly 90 years of rail progress. The Texas & Pacific Railway Company will exhibit its old retired steam locomotive No. 909 and one of its crack modern Texas Eagle streamliners. In addition, the Fair's Monorail line, only such system operating in the U. S., offers a sample of yet another type of rail transportation said to hold great promise for the future.

Optometry: The Art and Science of Visual Care

If you Haven't Done It Yet—DO IT NOW!

If there is a school child in your home, now—with the opening of another school term — make sure that your child's eyesight is in the best possible condition.

In order to read, concentrate and study comfortably, keen, clear vision is necessary not only for adults, but doubly necessary for the growing child. If blackboards and maps are not clearly visible, you generally have an inattentive, listless and seemingly dull child. Remember, a child has no standard for determining the condition of his eyesight, and doesn't realize that perhaps the printed page, figures and objects should be more distinct. That is why the eyes of every school child should be examined—to find out whether aids to vision are needed or not.

Care Of Child's Teeth Is Urged By Health Dept.

AUSTIN — "Pedodontics" is a big word with a simple meaning—the care and treatment of children's teeth. A major part of pedodontics is preventive dentistry, and preventive dentistry for the very young is the one great hope for a realistic solution to our dental woes.

If a child's teeth are properly cared for up to age 13, a strong foundation has been laid for minimizing dental troubles in later years.

At about 6 months of age the four front teeth—two upper and two lower—begin to peek out. These front teeth are incisors, the cutting teeth. By age 7 to 11 months, four more teeth, upper and lower, start to come in. These are the lateral incisors at either side of the central teeth.

Then Mother Nature wisely skips a few spaces in order to properly shape the jaw. In 12 to 16 months, the back teeth or molars come in. Then the canines show to fill in the space between. At about 24 months, the second molars come in.

Up to this point all teeth which have erupted are primary teeth and although temporary they are vital. They help shape the face, help the youngster learn to speak distinctly, and help him nutritionally.

While all this has been going on, the permanent teeth are slowly developing in the jaw bone so they can come forth at the proper time.

The first permanent teeth to erupt are molars—sometimes called "six-year" molars simply because they erupt at about age 6. Because they don't replace the first teeth but come in just behind them, these molars tend to confuse parents who think they are also temporary teeth.

This error can lead to unfortunate consequences. Since the "six-year" molars are permanent teeth, they will not be replaced if lost.

Family dentists strongly emphasize the importance of watching for the six-year molars. They are important to the structure of the mouth. The manner in which they interlock with their opposite teeth will determine the eventual shape of the jaw, facial contour and regularity of alignment of other teeth.

Because of their importance, these first permanent teeth are often referred to as the "keystones of the dental arch."

The strength or weakness of dental health—barring loss of teeth through accidents—can invariably be traced to habits of preventive dentistry learned or left unlearned in childhood. And when it comes to preventive dentistry, the pedodontist is a child's best friend.

Freedom of speech does not mean much to the man who is afraid to express himself.

Toward the end of summer, the outdoor living area may take on a slightly dingy appearance. Seat and dust wafted by summer breezes settle on the window sills, doors, porch railings dulling the color of the paint. But it doesn't take long to restore that "fresh-painted" look. In the cool of the morning, dissolve the special cleaner for painted surfaces and floor coverings in a pail of water. Dip a sponge in the solution, wring it almost dry and wash the grime away. No rinsing is required to make everything sparkle. While the equipment is there, do the garage door, too, the pillars in the carport or breezeway, the children's swings and, of course, the lawn furniture.

Wonderous things will happen in the fabulous miracle kitchen that has been on display across the country. By the mere push of a button the floor will be kept spotless by a mobile cleaner that comes from its nest in the wall to vacuum, wash and wax before returning to its place. It's a lovely dream, but still only a dream. Until it's a reality, today's housemaker need not despair over the way she cleans her floor now. By using a modern cleaner such as Spic and Span, designed specifically for hard-surface floorings and painted surfaces, she can clean her floors in a jiffy. A quick once-over with a mop wrung almost dry, out of the solution, and the floor is clean. No rinsing or wiping dry is needed. It's the next best thing to remote control.

Among your vacation trophies, did you gather some driftwood for making exotic flower arrangements? Here's the easiest way to clean it. Make a solution of the special cleaner for floors and painted surfaces, dip a stiff brush into it and scrub each piece thoroughly. Allow to dry. If you want it a lighter color after the sand and dirt have been removed, brush with a liquid bleach solution. Rinse and dry.

Vegetable Processing Plant Opens At Dimmitt

Dimmitt Producers, Inc., of Dimmitt, Texas, has started processing carrots at week in their new $50,000 plant.

The plant was leased to the Pacific Fruit and Vegetable Co., of Los Angeles, Texas, before the plant's opening and was ready to start processing.

Local business men incorporated the plant in the amount of $50,000 after seeing the need for a processing plant to take care of the carrots, onions, potatoes, tomatoes and other vegetables.

The 200 x 200 foot sheet iron building is equipped with the modern processing equipment and is located north of Dimmitt in truckage where the rail cars can load.

Pacific Fruit and Vegetable Co. will do all of the processing of the vegetables from the Dimmitt territory.

Local growers will either buy or process the vegetables and process the vegetables for the farmers.

There is a large amount of carrots planted in the area that are being harvested at the present time. The market is from $35 per ton.

Carrot planting has been going on since the fall and into the winter.

Growers estimate that it costs $100 to grow the carrots.

The Pacific Fruit and Vegetable Co. bought a 66 acre tract in the field and started the processing. This was only an initial investment.

Growers report that to date there has been adequate labor to process the vegetable crops in the area.

Growers in adjoining counties are also using the facilities of the plant.

"Holiday on Ice" to Show at Tri-State Fair This Year

AMARILLO, Texas, Sept. 4 — Prize products of the Golden Spread will be displayed at the Tri-State Fair, September 16-21, amid the greatest array of flash and glitter, thrills and amusements ever assembled in the Tri-State Region.

The Tri-State Fair — official "show window" of an area as large as the state of Ohio — has grown annually since its inception in 1923 to its present prominence as the nation's largest regional fair and second in Texas only to the Dallas State Fair, the world's biggest.

Twenty-six high school bands from over the Golden Spread will join with Amarillo's musical aggregations to perform at the opening day parade in downtown Amarillo, on Monday, September 16, heralding the opening of six days and nights of sparkling displays and indisputable evidence of the region's energy, enterprise and reward. The parade begins at 11 a.m.

Holiday on Ice of 1957, recently returned from a triumphant tour of the European continent, will present performances each night in Fair Park Coliseum, plus a matinee on Saturday afternoon, closing day of the 1957 exposition. The scores of stars entertain on a giant ice rink, 60 x 120 feet, with superlative lighting, costumes and music.

Free acts, to be given twice daily on the fairgrounds, include Al Antonucci's motion picture performing chimpanzees, veterans of Tarzan movies, Ringling Brothers Circus and such TV shows as "People are Funny," and "Super Circus." In addition to Elizabeth & Collins, a combination of daring acrobatics, Australian whip stunts and trick shooting. This act was featured on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" TV shows on August 13th.

One of the most outstanding spectacles at this year's fair will be the appearance of the world famed Thunderbirds Show, featuring six U. S. Air Force F-100's in the most daring acrobatic flying maneuvers ever witnessed. The Thunderbird Show will be staged high over the fairgrounds on the last two days of the fair. The Thunderbirds are coming to the Tri-State Fair from their home station at Nell's Air Force Base, Las Vegas, Nevada.

Two gigantic midways will feature Bill Hames Greater Shows — biggest railroad show in the Southland, with latest achievements in thrill rides, combined with the age-old standbys of Ferris Wheels and Merry-Go-Rounds. Sensational assemblies of side shows, colored confetti, doll racks, parched peanuts—the sounds and smells which annually attract 900,000 Americans to county, regional and state fairs.

For many persons — 4-H and FFA Club members, county farm and home demonstration agents, rabbit and poultry breeders and women interested in culinary and textile contests — the fair actually will be in progress on Saturday and Sunday, September 14-15, for judging in these and related events will be held on these days.

Beginning early Monday morning, September 16, judges will begin placing blue ribbons on dairy cattle, with judging of Herefords and swine beginning Tuesday morning. Judging of dairy, beef cattle and swine will continue through Thursday. Judging in the Quarter Horse Show begins early Friday morning, with final judging of swine set for Saturday.

A mammoth 4-H and FFA Club talent show has been organized for 10 o'clock Saturday morning, September 21 in the Sports Arena on the fairgrounds. Sponsored by 4-H and FFA Club leaders in every county in the region, this event marks a new chapter in the fair's service to the region's rural young men and women.

This year's fair, according to officers and directors from over the

Ben Lyman Attends U. of Colorado

BOULDER, Colo., Aug. 29 — Ben F. Lyman of 416 W. 2nd, Littlefield, attended the University of Colorado summer session.

The session, which includes two five-week terms, annually attracts students and teachers from every state in the nation. The university is serving more than 6,500 persons during the summer.

In addition to the wide variety of regular course offerings in virtually every field of study, special workshops, conferences, lectures, plays, concerts and exhibits provide an abundance of cultural opportunities.

The university's recreation department sponsors mountain climbs, bus trips, hikes and steak fries throughout the session as a supplement to the academic life. One of the high points of the summer is the nationally famous Writers' Conference during late July and early August.

Tri-State empire, will live up to its "bigger and better" description. All space for commercial, agricultural and livestock exhibits had been assigned by September 1. The flags, banners and welcome signs are being placed in Amarillo, where citizens are joining with those throughout the Golden Spread in anticipation of the region's biggest annual event.

Copy School Days

School days have arrived again, even though millions of youngsters were probably waiting to do just about anything to prevent the fateful day—the first day of the school year—from arriving.

However, in spite of all the pangs of distress and despondency the country's youth will survive another school year and emerge the better for it. What is more important, they will have a great deal of fun during the school year and have the satisfaction of knowing that they are attending the great school system in the world.

It is interesting to note that there are those today who think that school should be a twelve-month proposition. They think that in the current shortage of classrooms and teachers pupils could be accommodated on a twelve-month basis and facilities could be used full time—thereby allaying the shortage.

However, we are inclined to string along with the old nine months of school and three months of vacation.

As the 1957-58 school year gets underway, we expect the school children in our community to apply themselves so they can get the most out of our local schools. We assure them that next June will eventually arrive. At another summer vacation is inevitable—though it may seem long at the present time.

Education Widens Its Scope

The process of education in Lamb County has made tremendous strides since the ancient days when the "three R's" were supposed to compose the curriculum of a modern education. While it is true that the fundamental problems of our education of learning is to give the student a proficiency in the use of so-called tools of the brain, and if pursued long enough to acquaint the mind with the broad outlines of progress from savagery to civilization, the scope of modern school has been widely expanded.

Not only are our schools expected to perform the rudimentary task of educating pupils, but in addition, to train them in democratic processes, to teach them to get along with other human beings, instruct them in a trade for their livelihood and to assume the task of the home and the development of morality and conscience.

When one considers the vastly extended ramifications of the processes of teaching, there is no occasion to wonder at the increased cost of "education." Nevertheless, when the talk of the expense involved, we should also bear in mind that ignorance is the most expensive luxury ever enjoyed by a careless people.

September

It is always hard to believe that Summer is coming to an end and September is upon us—but that day is here and one of the most memorable months of the year is at hand.

One of the most nostalgic things about September is the month of the Harvest Moon. This is the moon which is nearest to the autumnal equinox which comes on September 23rd at 2:27 a.m. this year.

Since the full moon on September 8th is the nearest to the autumnal equinox by just a few hours, the full moon on September 8th rather than October 8th—the next full moon.

The Harvest Moon derives its name from the fact that at this time of the year rises several nights at about the same time, rather than approximately one hour each night as it is customary. In earlier years before the lighted tractors, and so on, this afforded farmers extra hours at the end of the day to gather their crops.

Historically, September has fewer historical anniversaries than most of the other months. President McKinley was assassinated on September 6th, dying eight days later. The New York Stock Exchange closed its doors on September 18, 1929, the famous 1873 panic.

On September 7th, the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis was announced in the Berlin Chancellory, and on September 1st Hitler marched into Poland, touching off World War II.

Alone

It is not to be spent entirely in the pursuit of selfish interests but neither should it be devoted exclusively to the pleasures of the moment.

Each individual must, of necessity, consider the ultimate good of the human race even if the present condition of the human race seems to demand attention to other than eternal objectives.

The organization of society today forces men and women to work for material gains. This pressure often causes them to forget that earning a living, important as it cannot be the sole endeavor of individuals.

Many years ago, it was spoken, "Man shall not live by bread alone," and the application of that admonition in shaping earthly life should be diligently attended to by every man.

Salt Water Is Polluting Some High Plains Wells

Salt-water pollution of the fresh water in certain areas within the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District has reached alarming proportions.

In the opinion of the Water District's hydrologist, W. L. Broadhurst, and others qualified to express an opinion on the subject, this pollution can be coming from surface pits into which oil-field brine is disposed.

According to the District's information, there is no effective regulation over surface salt-water disposal pits, either by the Railroad Commission which controls oil production in the State, or by the State Board of Water Engineers. The matter is left entirely to the discretion of the oil producer and the land owner to come to a common understanding as to the location and operation of the disposal pits.

The theory that the water will evaporate from the pits and leave the salt deposited at the surface is not altogether true. The thing that happens in most cases is that an oil slick forms on the surface of the salt water thereby preventing evaporation and the water together with the salt in solution percolates through the underlying sediments until it reaches the water-table. The acid does not filter out of the water as it moves through the underground formations, and once polluted, the underground water is not fit for domestic or agricultural uses.

Most of the oil producers are attempting to alleviate this salt-water pollution problem by changing their method of disposal. Many have begun injecting the salt water under pressure back into the same formation from which it came through wells which are cased with solid pipe through the fresh water-bearing section. But there are others who are not making any effort to change their method of operation. These companies, by continuing such wasteful practice, show that they have no real interest in our area other than for the immediate dollar that can be taken from it.

Early in August, at the invitation of the High Plains Water District, Judge Otha Dent, member of the State Board of Water Engineers, and Robert Littleton, head of the ground-water division of the Board of Water Engineers, visited numerous farmers in Cochran, Hookley and Lamb County areas, where most of the pollution is occurring. They talked with these farmers about their problems and explained the State Board's position in the matter. They urged the individual to begin immediately taking periodic water samples from their wells and have samples analyzed for pollution. This would offer an excellent check on the quality of the water being used and serve to indicate changes that might be taking place in the chemical character of the water.

Article 7880-3c of Vernon's Civil Statutes of Texas, which outlines the functions of Underground Water Conservation District, defines waste, Subsection (d) under the definition states that waste shall mean:

"(d) the pollution or harmful alteration of the character of the underground water within the underground reservoir of the District by means of salt water or other deleterious matter admitted from some other stratum or strata or from the surface of the ground."

Letters To The Editor

FAREWELL ON A NOTE OF OPTIMISM

This is our last official communication with you and the good friends in your community. There is no need for our staff to repeat the complete story of what has happened. The first part of the story is, of course, that the Adult Education Program of Texas Technological College has been abolished by action of the Board of Directors. The next part of the story, though, is yours. Adult Education will go on in countless communities all over the nation this fall; it will go on in West Texas, and that is where you now play a still more important role than before. Yours is the responsibility of saving in action. "O" course, American need adult education. Nobody can tell us we don't—it was ours anyway from the very beginning.

As you go about the steady business of caring for education among yourselves and other fellow Americans, we want you to know that we are grateful for the privilege of working with you these years. We are proud of thousands of West Texans who showed their concern for freedom and community culture—their total "enrollment" added up to over 13,000 the last five years! But we are most proud of you and deeply thankful that this region has people like you to carry it forward.

So, as we, who call ourselves professional adult educators, say farewell to you with whom we have worked, we want to pass on to you some rather practical and down-to-earth aids and pointers for your many programs. We are doing this in the same spirit of the Adult Education Program from the beginning, knowing that the final carrier of culture, the final adult educator is the ordinary man and woman in the many groups and organizations in the many towns and cities. The job of the professional adult educators in West Texas has been—and will still be—to help the help the adult citizens develop understanding and skill sufficient to make ever better and richer the many programs for which they are responsible in their home towns.

So, here goes, Good luck. We hope that these few suggestions will help you in your town wherever it may be in West Texas.

A phobia is a belief by somebody else that what you like will hurt you.

Almost anyone can plan, but it takes work and intelligence to execute a program.

Sandhills Philosopher's Spirits Soar, Then Drop

Dear editor:

Life is sometimes full of queer turns in the road. You think you're getting something you've been wanting and it turns out it wasn't that at all.

For example, I was out here on my farm yesterday afternoon wandering around sizing up the month of September and figuring what I could get out of it when I hadn't noticed as I was looking off into space at the time and I found by lifting my foot I could pick it up without bending much so I got hold of it and kept going toward the shade tree I was heading for and sat down and read.

The thing that caught my eye immediately was an article out of Washington saying President Eisenhower was recommending that the Federal government give up some of its taxing power.

Now this was just what I have been looking for. Everybody talks about high taxes, the national debt, and more and more spending, but here was a concrete proposal for putting a stop to some Federal spending. If the Federal government stops taking part of our money, it's sure have to stop spending it. Tax relief is what everybody needs. Always have. Probably always will.

But then I read on, and here's what I found out: what the Federal government is proposing is that it stop collecting some taxes and let the states collect em.

Frankly, that's not what I had in mind.

Changing tax collectors ain't my idea of tax relief. I'm sure the state needs more money, and maybe some taxes Washington is now collecting ought to be collected by the state, but that still leaves you and me in the same shape we were in before. Stopping Federal spending, so State spending can pick up, is like patching an inner tube in one place and punching a hole in it in another. It's like cutting down on money for clothes and adding the difference to your grocery bill. Your nose stays to the grindstone, either way.

You mean to say we've got to start this tax relief drive all over again and explain when we mean Federal spending we mean all spending?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

"Christian Responsibility in Human Relations" — with particular attention to the place of the church in dealing with current social problems — is the theme for the meeting which is being sponsored by eight annual conferences of The Methodist Church in Texas.

Presiding bishops have invited representative Methodists from all sections to participate. In addition to the invitation only sessions, there is to be a special meeting for the general public on Thursday at 8:15 p.m., featuring a address by Dr. James K. Matthews, Associate General Secretary of the Division of World Missions, The Methodist Church. Dr. Matthews is responsible for work in Southern Asia and headquarters in New York City.

Highlight of the conference is expected to be the four workshops in which churchmen will sit down together to discuss on a personal basis the questions facing the church today. Conferees will divide into 16 discussion groups to deal with "The Church Serving All the Community," "The Church's Responsibility in Preparing For Social Change," "The Church's Responsibility For Community Problems of Housing," "Employment and Education," and "The Relationship Between Jurisdictions And Things That Can Be Done Together."

Research papers have been readied and materials have been mailed to all participants in preparation for the conference — a first of its kind for Texas.

Around 500 key persons are expected to attend.

Persons Over 72 Years of Age May Get Benefits

You have, no doubt, heard the old saying, "Nothing is certain in life but taxes and the sunrise." Well, there is another thing just as certain — that every sunrise brings another day on which more than 9,000 men, women, and children are awarded benefits under the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance program.

Most women reaching 62 and men reaching 65 can count on OASI benefits, because they or their spouses have worked long enough in covered employment to become insured under the social security law. Complete retirement is not required. Persons under 72 are considered retired if not earning more than $1200 a year and partially retired if earning between $1200 and $2080 per year. Eligible persons past 72 may collect benefits regardless of the amount of their current earnings.

The average age at which workers retire sufficiently to receive benefits is 68, but many of these beneficiaries continue to have parttime earnings within the $2080 bracket, or have months in a year in which they do not earn over $80 in wages or actively engage in self-employment.

Before reaching retirement age, every worker or person with a stake in security should find out "floor of security" requirements. old-age and survivors benefits will be in his hands that he can include in retirement plans.

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be in Littlefield on Sept. 10 at the County Courthouse at 10 a.m. and will be glad to answer matters pertaining to security.

"July or February..."

I have garden-fresh fruits and vegetables in my ELECTRIC home freezer, all the time!" says MRS. ROY QUALLS OF GUYMON, OKLA.

Last year Mrs. Qualls froze over 300 pints of garden-fresh vegetables which, she says, "... really means a great savings in my family food budget all year." In addition to buying meats in season, and in quantity, for additional freezer savings, Mrs. Qualls passes on this tip: "I do a considerable amount of baking, especially biscuits, usually 10 to 12 dozen at a time. I chill them, break them apart, wrap in wax paper and freeze them in my freezer. Then, when unexpected guests arrive, I have hot biscuits in a matter of minutes."
