FRENCH FLIERS REACH MAINE COAST

High Speed Is Maintained On Ocean Flight

Coste and Bellonte Make Successful East-West Hop

BAL HARBOUR, Maine, Sept. 2.—Residents of Hancock Point, just east of here, reported that a plane believed to be the New York bound "2" of Captain Dieudonne Coste passed over at 3:55 p. m. (EST), holding southwest. The plane was one half mile up and traveling at high speed, they reported.

BOSTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—Coast guard headquarters here reported that the station at Great West Island on the Maine coast at 1:55 p. m. (EST) had sighted an airplane believed to be "2" with Captain

TO VISIT DALLAS
DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 2 (AP)—Should Coste and Bellonte land safely in New York from their Trans-Atlantic flight, arrangements will be made immediately for the second half of the Paris-New York-Dallas project, according to George F. Smith, Snyder newspaperman, who said he represented Colonel William Easterwood Jr., who offered a $25,000 prize for the achievement. Colonel Easterwood is now in Paris and called Smith and others that he had contracted with the Frenchmen for the Dallas end of the flight.

Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, French fliers, bound from Paris to New York. The coast guards on the island said the plane was flying west. Great West Island is off Bar Harbor. Commander Munter of the local coast guard district said the Great West Island report indicated the French fliers were following the Maine coast line. Such a course would place the craft within striking distance of Old Orchard where landing facilities were available if necessary.

PARIS, Sept. 2 (AP)—Paris abandoned practically all forms of work early this evening when broadcasts announced that Captain Dieudonne Coste and his flying mate, Maurice Bellonte, were speeding down the coast of Nova Scotia on the last leg of their brilliant flight across the Atlantic to New York. The city began its preparations for a great celebration in honor of France's beloved ace and his comrade.

Workers officially got through with their day's tasks at 6 o'clock but long before that hour the place de La Concorde had heard the gl-i news and throngs were eagerly scanning the bulletins and listening to thousands of loud speakers. The French people heard with gratification that the fliers had been sighted at St. Pierre, Miquelon, the little twin islands of the St. Lawrence Gulf which are the last remaining colonies of France in North America.

Cheer after cheer went up as the excitement mounted when the fliers were reported over Cape Canso, N. S. The populace eagerly snapped up the extra editions of the afternoon newspapers all of which announced that they would continue to publish hourly editions until the Quetton Mark had landed safely at New York.

Forsan Is Scene of League Play-Off Game

More than 500 people were expected to witness the first game of the season play-off series of the Howard-Glassecock oil field league at 5 o'clock this afternoon on the Magnolia field at Forsan between the Magnolia and Merrick-Bristow clubs. Each team had won a half of the season championship schedule for the right to enter the play-off for the season's flag.

LIQUOR CHARGE

A charge of unlawfully selling an intoxicating liquor has been filed in Justice of the Peace Cecil Coaling's court against Charlie Moore. The complaint was signed by Deputy Sheriff D. D. Dunn.

The charge followed a raid on a place "several miles from Big Spring." DR. BARCUS RETURNS
Dr. J. R. Barcus, of Bivings and Barcus Hospital, has returned to Big Spring after a short visit with his mother in Fort Worth. He returned Sunday night.

BODIES OF PIONEER EXPLORER AND AIDE RETURNED

After having been in the ice and snow of the Arctic for more than thirty years the bodies of August Andree, upper left, and a companion, were discovered by Gunnar Horn's Norwegian exploring party early last month and Tuesday were brought to the mainland of Norway on their ship. The Andree balloon expedition's beginning is shown in the pictures above.

Body Of Explorer Returned By Ship

Cunningham Presides Over Local Court

TROMSOE, NORWAY, Sept. 2 (AP)—The sealer Bratvaag, Dr. Gunnar Horn's expeditionary ship, bearing the remains of the Andree exploring party found on White Island, arrived here this forenoon. There was no official reception but large crowds gathered at the harbor. Norwegian and Swedish experts went aboard the Bratvaag somewhat before she made this port to carry out preliminary investigation of the evidences of the Andree tragedy. Various objects were found in the canvas boat which was marked with Andree's name. The investigators reported that they found many evidences that the discovery was authentic. "Among the objects we found," said their statement, "was photographic apparatus marked 'Andree's Polar Expedition No. 1, two ice sledges, a pair of high boots, instruments, an aneroid, a star map and a piece of canvas which possibly was part of a tent. Some bones also were discovered but we have not yet ascertained if they were human."

Julian Wins His Oil Suit

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 2 (AP)—The state supreme court today refused to grant a request from the state corporation commission for dissolution of a temporary writ of prohibition barring enforcement of its prorator rules against the C. C. Julian Oil and Royalty Company. At the same time the court postponed a hearing on the attack of the company against the constitutionality of the commission's oil conservation powers until next Tuesday. The court's action permits the Julian Company to produce a well on a tract of less than one-fourth acre at full capacity until next Tuesday. The decision was announced after the court had heard J. Berry King, attorney general, appearing for the commission, denounce the Julian suit as having been filed after company officials had agreed with state authorities not to institute the action, and a retrial for failure to enforce its prorator orders "equitably."

KILL LARGE RATTLER

Elmo Morgan, accompanied by Claude Harper and G. C. Choate discovered a large diamond rattlesnake in the hills south of town Tuesday and after Elmo had killed it with a small rifle it was found to be 5 feet 9 inches long, with fifteen rattlers and a button.

EARNINGS
NEW YORK, Sept. 2 (AP)—Rio Grande Oil Co. in the first half earned $1.80 a share on 1,296,270 shares, compared with $2.48 a share on 1,218,000 shares in the like period of 1929.

W. R. Hearst Is Expelled By French Govt.

American Publisher Gives His Idea of Reason For Action

PARIS, Sept. 2 (AP)—William Randolph Hearst was served with an official request to leave France and has complied. The surete generale—the French Scotland Yard—made known the fact of the American publisher's expulsion today. Upon the arrival of Mr. Hearst in Paris yesterday morning agents of the republic called upon him at his hotel and informed him that it was the wish of the government that he should leave France before this (Tuesday) evening. Mr. Hearst left for London last night.

At the surete generale the Associated Press was told today: "The French government has always expelled foreigners who are consistently hostile to France."

"Mr. Hearst is a Franco-Phobe and we prefer that he should do his criticizing outside of France. The Hovan affair of 1928 formed only a part of the reasons why Mr. Hearst was asked to leave."

"The publisher arrived in Paris at 9:30 a. m. Monday and left at 1:00 p. m. for London without waiting for the expiration of the 36 hours grace accorded him under the expulsion order."

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 (AP)—The International News Service today pointed the following dispatch from its London office:

"William Randolph Hearst issued the following statement here today: "I have no complaint to make of the officials were extremely polite. They said I was an enemy of France and a danger in their midst. They made me feel quite important. "They said I could stay in France a little while longer if I desired, but that they would take a chance on nothing disastrous happening to the republic."

Leaves
"But I told them that I did not want to take the responsibility of endangering the great French nation that America had saved it once during the war, and I would save it again by leaving."

"Furthermore, I was like the man who was told that he was going abroad, and who said he did not mind, as he had seen everything anyhow."

"Similarly, I had seen everything in France, including some very interesting governmental performances."

"Then I asked Mr. Tardieu's emissary to express to Mr. Tardieu my immense admiration at his amazing alertness in protecting France from the peril of invasion, and we parted with quite elaborate politeness."

"It was a little bit foolish, but extremely French."

"The reason for the strained relations—to use a proper diplomatic term—was the publication of the secret Anglo-French treaty of 1929 ago by the Hearst newspapers, which upset some international 'appreciations,' but informed the American people; and of course that being the reason, the French government was entirely right in leveling its attack at me, and quite wrong in its action toward Mr. Hovan, who was only my agent."

Reason
"I think, however, that the general attitude of the Hearst press in opposing the entrance of the United States into the league of nations, or any protective pact to involve our country in the quarrels of European powers, is mainly responsible."

"Also, there might have been some slight irritation at the occasional intimations in our papers that France, now being the richest nation in the world, might use some of the German indemnity to pay her honest debts to America, especially because if she had not been for America she would not be paying indemnity instead of receiving it."

"If being a competent journalist and a loyal American makes a man persona non grata in France, I think I can endure the situation without loss of sleep."

"In fact, the whole affair reminds me of the story of the rather effeminate young man who went to call on his best girl and found her in the arms of another young man."

FRENCH ACE CROSSES ATLANTIC

Dieudonne Coste, above, veteran French aviator of 19 years' experience, with his companion, Maurice Bellonte, had reached the coast of Maine at 3 o'clock this afternoon in their airplane flight from Le Bourget field, Paris, where Lindbergh landed, to New York, where Lindbergh started. The ship was making good speed and indications were the pair would be the first to negotiate the east-west passage without a stop between Paris and New York.

BUSINESS MEN DISCUSS RAIL PLANS AT ROTARY LUNCHEON; MUST OBTAIN RIGHT-OF-WAY

Big Spring Rotarians devoted Tuesday's session at the weekly luncheon in the Crawford Hotel to discussion of the situation into which the Texas & Pacific Northern Railway proposition has emerged after eight days of work since its initial announcement.

Dr. G. T. Hall, C. W. Cunningham, L. S. McDowell, E. A. Kelley, J. Reagan and C. T. Watson were heard. The program for the day was in charge of Mr. Watson. Guests included Mr. Bliss of the Golden Oil Company marketing department, Judge Perkins of Sweetwater, Wilburn Barcus and Wendell Heideck.

Remarks of Dr. Hall and Mr. Kelley, both members and the latter chairman of the railroad committee, indicated no time would be lost once the T. & P. determines the exact route it proposes to follow with its railroad in calling upon the citizens of Big Spring to underwrite the cost of that portion of the right-of-way which owners of land will not relinquish for the purpose without adjudication of alleged damages.

Plan
The plan is to have the underwriting agreement so framed that no individual will be called on to stand good for more than he is able individually to pay if necessary. Big Spring is expected to obtain the right-of-way from the city northwest to the Martin county line and also across the northeast corner of Martin to the Dawson county line.

Mr. Kelley said he expected to have information within a few days that would inform the committee of the exact route to be followed and that this would place the committee in a position intelligently to tackle the job of obtaining the right-of-way.

"It is my personal belief nothing has ever been offered us that promises so much. The railroad committee is faced with the problem of buying the right-of-way in this and Martin counties. It is of vital interest to every resident whether he owns property or not for this proposition to go through," said Dr. Hall. "We are going to have to give, perhaps, even until it hurts. We are going to try to arrange things so that when the time comes to pay off no one will be involved in any big blanket obligation. Before the day passes I believe the form of the instrument to be signed by those underwriting the matter will have been framed."

Mr. Cunningham
"For several months the local press has been printing much about a north and south railroad. Now that this offer has been made like a bolt out of the clear sky it is up to us to sit up and take notice and do our part," said C. W. Cunningham. "The sooner construction can be started on the road the better, for many men would be employed and that would improve business conditions. We should get out and talk to the people who live along the proposed route. I believe most

HOME TOWN TALK

By Betty

The community of Big Spring faces an exceedingly important task in making right-of-way for the Texas & Pacific Northern Railroad from here to the Dawson county line.

The Chamber of Commerce, which is the community clearing house and which, by the way, is already being heavily depended upon by the Texas & Pacific officials in their drive to list public opinion as the most powerful of arguments for right to build the road, faces a tremendously important problem.

To make this problem more knotty, to make it more difficult for all things that ought to be done to prosper, the railroad proposition comes right at a time when financial conditions of the Chamber of Commerce are in a rather bad way due to reductions in membership fees by business houses and individuals.

It may be necessary for some to give until it hurts a little, but without the price it would be cheap compared with prospect of not successfully putting over the new law. This is a time when all should sacrifice if necessary to provide the funds with which the Chamber of Commerce may work efficiently.

The budget for this year was fixed originally at $22,000, but only about $19,500 was subscribed. This necessitated cutting out some things that should not have been cut out. Then, as business conditions became somewhat quieter and seemed even more quiet because it had so happened that a sort of boom had been experienced here, Chamber of Commerce members, a few of them found it necessary or felt it was wise or expedient or put lacked vision of the importance of supporting the chamber of commerce and as a consequence reduced their monthly membership fees.

Business is a little quieter with everybody in all lines of business, including the newspaper business. But the Herald has not reduced its membership fees to the Chamber of Commerce and does not expect to unless things get a lot worse and we do not believe that will happen.

Many Listen To Sermons

The revival in progress at the First Christian Church continued last night with Dr. Arthur Long delivering a powerful message to an audience which again filled the house to capacity. The subject of his message was "The Increasing Church." He said "the church that is a spirit filled church is an increasing church. A church is either an increasing church or a dying church. A church by its very nature must increase or die."

Following the sermon, Rev. Paul Campbell brought a message with an illustrated drawing. In three minutes he drew a beautiful picture of the Rock of Ages, telling of what it meant to him as he drew each feature of the picture. He announced that tonight he would draw a picture of "The Church in the Wilderness," and that he would give the picture to the person bringing the most people to the service tonight.

Following the message last evening there was an impressive baptismal service. The subject of the sermon announced for tonight was "The Swelling Of The Jordan." The revival will continue for two weeks, with services beginning at 7:30 o'clock each evening.

Famous Cooks Of History

Louis XIII of France, Napoleon and Alexander Dumas Among Them

Mark Anthony gave a favorite cook an entire city of 35,000 people as a premium for an especially delectable salad prepared by this early Roman chef. Henry VIII of England, bestowed an estate and a baronetcy for the discovery of a new boudoir. Frederick the Great of Prussia wrote a poem in praise of his favorite cook. Similar instances might be recounted in great detail as evidence of the esteem in which the early masters of the art of culinary possibilities were held.

Not only did the royal chefs of the past bestow largesse in the form of estates and baronetcies, but they were also chefs of ability. Louis XIII not only killed but prepared his own meals, broiling his salted between layers of less than a foot in order that the savory juices of the piece de resistance might not be lost.

Louis XV often gave dinners in which each courtier was called upon to prepare a course. Even the mighty Napoleon the First, conceived himself a master of cookery, and frequently appeared in the royal kitchen to test out some recipe he had run across while on his major military maneuvers. Rossini, the great composer, probably best remembered for "William Tell" and "Stabat Mater," frequently left the labors of symphonies to develop some equally intriguing culinary masterpiece in his own kitchen.

Alexander Dumas, the author of "Monte Christo," and "The Three Musketeers," prepared as his last last volume, a cook book embodying recipes from the four corners of the globe—listing among other items, fifty ways for preparing an egg, exclusive of omelets. Many of our greatest American figures, both in the field of letters, statesmanship and military activities have been cooks of renown.

For many centuries, the subtleties of the kitchen were presupposed to be too much for the humble feminine mind to understand. It remained for Madame Du Barry, the favorite of Louis XV to bring her sex into their proper recognition by devising a meal for her royal master, as a result of which the famous Order of the Gordon Bleu was established to be bestowed on the most accomplished artists of her sex.

Today, while masculine chefs preside in the kitchens of the most famous caravan series of this and other modern countries, the sum total of their efforts is but an infinitesimal fraction of the tremendous amount of food daily prepared in the kitchens of the average home. In too few instances, however,

PANTHERS SWEEP DOUBLE BOUT WITH SPORTS

Dove season is ended in Howard County. Not legally, of course. You can still hunt doves, but the fact is dove season doesn't necessarily mean you'll find any of the feathery tribe gliding over the soil. As a matter of information, confirmed information, Samuel E. Brown, Bruce B. Nesbitt, and one, self, with the emphasis on the last, woke up cooling this a. m. All Howard County doves, at some time during the day, floated nonchalantly before our battery and got a slug in the beaver for their trouble. If there is a dove left in the county it's the one with the cracked wing. The telephone post got in the way just in time with the winged little birdie was reading sports. Telephone companies should see to it that such menaces are relieved.

The Mexican Tigers, in a roundabout manner, held up the Big Spring baseball banner Sunday and Monday, taking the Carlbad, N. M. Lions for a couple of brace cleanings. Lopez, Lobez and Subia held up the hurling honors for the Sunday and Labor Day battles. Which just about clinches West Texas baseball honors for this city. A Big Spring aggregation has just about whipped every contender that has ventured into the portals of this City Beautiful. Our only summer regret is that such outstanding aggregations as San Angelo and Texon saw fit to cancel scheduled games and seek whiter meat. Had those two crews been able to visit the West Texas metropolis the year would have been complete. But they weren't. For some reason, they were not.

Hey, hey, what's Eastland been up to these summer months? Has Coach Joe Gibson, found that the only way to get football players, is to bring them in from the rural to the urban? It seems so. It does. Pipe the glittering information as it appears in the Eastland Telegram: "Most promising of the new material seems to be Rex Clark, backfield, George Stahls, backfield, Earnest Reese and the two Big Justice boys from Flatwood; Jones of Peacock Military Academy and possibly Milton Barker, flash track man of Olden, and Jimmie Morris, captain of the Gorman team of 1929."

We take back everything we've said about Eastland. It seems that that school too, has seen the advantage in invading the country and benefitting the city. Incidentally, Joe Gibson, the Maverick Mentor, refuses to comment on the football race. He admits, however, the Mavs will probably do a lot better than the average fan expects. Eastland is always a dangerous aggregation. Eastland is always the underdog. And any underdog team is like to turn and bite the hand that pulls its appendage. Ranger learned about Eastland in 1927. And that was before 11 Bulldogs were declared ineligible at one whack.

We imagine that Max up at the Crescent Drug Store, doesn't feel so well today. Monday he had a bad attack of the Fort Worth Panthers, and at last accounts he wasn't enjoying it any too well. The Felines, by rapping the Sports twice in a twin bill just about clinched things in the Texas League. About all the Kittens have to do now is take the Spudders into camp and teach them a few little tricks about baseball. Ought to be pretty easy matter to borrow a couple of hundred to Fort Worth from here on out.

The Steers, after plenty of hot days of training, will go into things hotter and longer this week. As a hot sun beats down, the aggregation upon which Big Spring is pinning her gridiron hopes will get at it with the proverbial hammer and tongs. Morning practice has been eliminated, but the four to seven o'clock afternoon grind will continue. Their first appearance will be Friday afternoon when they meet the exes at the new athletic field. The game was moved up a notch from Saturday, Sept. 6.

America's Polo Team Plays Final Match

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 (AP)—America's international polo team today played its last trial match before the Westchester Cup series with Great Britain, starting Saturday.

The American varsity will have Eric Pedley of California at No. 1; Earle A. S. Hopping, No. 2; Tommy Hitchcock, No. 3, and Winston Guest, back. For the Reds, or junior varsity, G. H. (Peter) Bostwick will be at No. 1; Cecil Smith of Texas, No. 2; Stewart B. Eghart, No. 3, and Elmer Boesch of California, back. There is a possibility that Eghart may not get in to action. He was badly shaken up in a spill yesterday while playing with Old Aiken against the United States Army four.

PHILADELPHIA — Lost, strayed or stolen; steam shovel, 40 feet long with steel bucket and other apparatus; weight 10 tons. A construction company has reported the matter to the police. All of it vanished from a sewer job.

Panthers Four Games Ahead Of Pack In Texas League Race

BY GAYLE TALBOT JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

Ten thousand wild-eyed Fort Worth fans welcomed their Panthers home yesterday and tried to tear Lagrave field loose from its foundations as the Cats whipped Shreveport in both ends of their crucial Labor Day doubleheader, 8 to 5 and 3 to 0.

The twin killing probably decided the second half race in the Texas League. Today the Snydermen were four games in front of Shreveport and Wichita Falls, tied for second, with only six to play.

All of the leaders' remaining bouts, however, were on the road.

Again it was Whitworth and Stoner as Fort Worth swept to victory almost without help the two right-handers have pitched all opposition dizzy for the last fortnight, in which Fort Worth has won 10 out of 12 starts.

Handicapped by wobbly mound work, Wichita Falls could get no better than an even break with Dallas and lost an opportunity to take second place. The first half champs pounded Tatchler and Meadows hard to win the first, 12 to 10, but caught a wallowing in the nightcap, 10 to 3, when Grady Adkins limited them to four hits.

Nine homers featured the bill.

Houston lost its last mathematical chance at the second half by splitting their nocturnal program with Waco, dropping the first (11, 2 to 1), and capturing the midnight fray, 5 to 8.

In the one Labor Day program that mattered not at all, San Antonio lapped Beaumont twice, 6 to 5 and 9 to 1.

Jean Borotra Beats Sutter

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 (AP)—Jean Borotra, at 32, thinks he is getting a bit too old to sell gasoline pumps with one hand and play tennis with the other, but tennis followers who watch the "bounding basque" take three out of four sets from one of the best of America's young players, Cliff Sutter, will be from Missouri after the national championships, beginning Saturday.

The most famous pump salesman in two continents gave himself Labor Day off and celebrated the occasion by trouncing Sutter to the tune of 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2 in an exhibition match at Forest Hills.

To the naked eye that made Borotra look pretty good, as Sutter is the antitonic intercollegiate champion an dhas broken even in two recent matches with Big Bill Tilden.

Yet, as he strolled from the court, one arm thrown consolingly around his young opponent's shoulder, Borotra made it clear that he is just a tired business man who despairs to mixing pump-selling with racket swinging for fear of making a mess of both.

"One cannot be an amateur business man and make a success of it," he said in a sort of unconscious Labor Day address.

"No," he reiterated with a shake of his head and a trace of Parisian accent, "competition is too keen these days for any amateur business man to make good. You have to work hard and out take a lot of time off to play tennis."

"It is very difficult to wind up business deals at 3 o'clock, rush to the subway and stand up-rush to the Pennsylvania Station and catch a train—and stand up some more—and then play good tennis in a national championship tournament."

"Maybe I could do it once but now I'm too old."

This United States title is the only one of the big three—French, English and American that has escaped the rapier racket of the D'Artagnan of tennis, His fellow musketeers, Henri Cochet and Rene Lacoste, have won all three but a jinx has pursued Borotra in his particular tournament.

Wood Again Boat Champ

DETROIT, Sept. 2 (AP) Gai Wood, the silver haired pilot, is speedboat champion of the world for another year.

His Miss America defeated the best the British had to offer in the Harmsworth trophy race and in the second and final heat yesterday two of them—Miss America IX, driven by Wood, and Miss America VIII, driven by his brother George—bettered the record for a 30-mile heat.

The Miss America IX averaged 77.200 miles an hour yesterday compared with the former record of 75.287 made by Gar Wood in the Miss America VIII last year. The eighth averaged 77.233 yesterday and turned in the fastest lap at 79.185.

Miss Marion Barbara Christians must return to England without the trophy although she has spent about $500,000 in efforts to acquire it. This was her third attempt to lift the trophy held by Wood since he won it at the Isle of Wight in 1920. Miss Christians has the distinction of being the first challenger ever to finish a heat in a Harmsworth race against Wood's hydroplanes.

In the first heat Saturday the Estelle IV, piloted by Miss Christians, finished although three miles behind Wood's Miss America IX. The Estelle V, faster of the two British challengers and piloted by Bert Hawker, was forced out of that heat after its fuel tanks burst. Miss Christians sent Hawker out to the helm of the fourth yesterday, believing he might drive a better race than she, but the Estelle IV was forced out for the same reason as the fifth.

Miss Christians announced that the huge cost would prohibit any future attempt to take Wood's title so far as she was concerned.

YOUNG IN OFFICE

BOSTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—Roy A. Young, newly appointed governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, assumed the duties of his new office today as successor of the late W. P. G. Harding.

In a statement issued when he arrived at his office, Mr. Young said that credit was now easy as compared to some months ago and that the condition of the federal reserve banks was excellent throughout the country.

UNIQUE FIREPLACE ATTRACTS TOURISTS

HOLYOKE, Colo. (INS)—An enormous fireplace, its parts gathered in all parts of the world, by 200 persons, is an attraction in the Hotel Burge here.

Said to be the only fireplace of its type in the world, German helmets, Philippine coral and a piece of the ruins of King Solomon's Temple went into its construction.

A petrified tooth of a prehistoric mammoth, Indian arrowheads, and tomahawks, gray rock from Peru and black rock from Australia, all have gone into the collection of trophies which have been worked into a useful article by a master mason.

The mantel is one piece of Vermont marble weighing more than 300 pounds, above it is a bronze plaque bearing the names of 200 persons who contributed to the fireplace, which has been dedicated to the "knights of the grip."

Seventeen and one-half tons of sand and gravel were used in the construction work, in addition to the brick, stone and trophies which form the face. The chimney, resting on a large concrete base stands 35 feet high.

P. F. Burge, proprietor of the hotel, with cooperation of friends and patrons, spent two years in assembling the parts of the fireplace after having it constructed.

Cardinals Out For National League Honors

St. Louis Crew Looms As Threat To Chicago Cubs As Leaders

Labor Day efforts having failed to do much for the way of securing the National League pennant problem, the senior circuit swings into the last month of the 1930 season with the Chicago Cubs holding a near game lead over the Giants in the top place but with the Cardinals looming as the most serious threat only a half-game further back in third position.

St. Louis was the only one of the four leaders to win a double-header yesterday, the Giants and Robins dropping both of their encounters. As the result the Cards jumped in to third place, showing the Robins back into fourth and left the league standing like this:

Chicago	77-53	593
New York	72-56	563
St. Louis	73-58	557
Brooklyn	73-59	553

In moving ahead of the Robins, the Cards walloped the Pittsburgh Pirates 11 to 6 in the morning and then repeated with 5 to 1 trimming in the afternoon.

Red Lucas and Benny Frey put together a pair of neat pitching performances to deal the Cubs' pennant hopes a stunning blow, the Reds taking the opener 5 to 0 with Lucas pitching three-hit ball, and the nightcap 2 to 1 as Frey set the champions down with five blows.

The Cubs had the second game won 1 to 0 with two out in the ninth, when Sukeforth's hit to center bouncer dived over Hack Wilson's head for a triple, scored Stripp and Crawford.

The Giants were cracking the ball at a terrific clip, getting 27 hits in two games but they lost the nightcap to the Phillies 4 to 3 after taking the opener 8 to 4.

Wally Berger's thirty-second home run was instrumental in dropping the Robins into fourth place, the circuit drive accounting for three of the Braves' runs that beat the Robins 5 to 3 in the first game. Hollis Thurston pitched good ball and drove in two runs with a double to give Brooklyn a 4 to 2 decision in the second contest.

While lacking much of the color of the National League race, the Philadelphia Athletics and New York Yankees drew a crowd of 72,000 into the Yankee Stadium to see an even split in the feature games of the American League.

The world champions took the opener 3 to 2 because of Al Simmons' thirty-second home run but Charlie Ruffing set them down with two hits to give the Yanks a 2 to 0 victory in the second. Ruffing fanned Simmons three successive times in the second game.

The Senators cut the A's lead to five and one-half games by taking the Boston Red Sox into camp twice, 2 to 1 and 6 to 3.

Wesley Ferrell won his twenty-fourth victory of the season and his thirteenth in a row as the Cleveland Indians downed the St. Louis Browns 13 to 8 and 9 to 5. Ferrell hurled the second game.

The Chicago White Sox were the victims of Detroit's wrath, the Tigers talking both ends of the holiday bill, 6 to 5 and 4 to 2.

Fake Cures For Summer Colds And Hay Fever Hokum

By
Morris Fishbein,
M. D.

One scratch is made... for each kind of pollen that might cause the trouble... and the patient's reaction tells the story.

After applying 17 remedies... the patient gets well... though he probably would anyway.

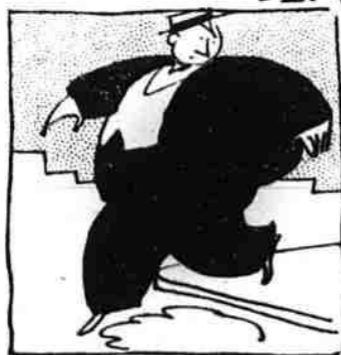

Common sense about the worst two maladies of dog days is given you here by an eminent medical authority

TO most people a running nose... running nose and that is the end of it. Modern medical science has given the subject a good deal of attention. It differentiates a good many causes for inflammation of the mucous membranes that line the nose, for the red and watery eyes, the nose that pours out fluid, the fits of sneezing and shortness of breath, the pain in the cheeks, and the other symptoms associated in the series. Among the conditions that may bring about a flock of symptoms like these are infections of the sinuses—the air spaces that surround the nasal cavity—hay fever, the common cold, acute rhinitis and a number of rare infections.

Unfortunately no one has as yet determined a single germ that is certainly the cause of all of the common colds. From time to time announcements appear to the effect that the little invader has at last been discovered, but months pass and the results of the investigators are not confirmed.

Then a new announcement is made and the old announcement is forgotten by everyone except the cautious bacteriologists with historical background who are exceedingly cynical about new announcements of this character.

Almost every medical scientist believes, however, that the common cold is contagious, because it acts like a contagious condition, and because most of the experimental evidence points in that direction. There seems to be no doubt that chilling of the body, sudden cooling after exercise, the wearing of wet shoes and clothing will precipitate the onset of a cold, but these things alone will not do it. Apparently some other factor—probably a germ or a body smaller than a germ called a filterable virus—is the necessary item.

Keep your feet dry

It is not quite certain just how the changes in temperature or exposure bring about the infection. The general belief is that these changes and exposures influence the circulation in the mucous membrane of the nose and that in its depressed condition the germs find it easier to take hold and to propagate and to dominate the situation.

Then the lining of the nose begins to itch and to burn a little and to swell a little. The head feels stuffy, the voice gets thick, the sneezing begins, the thin fluid begins to accumulate, the patient gets uncomfortable, and the family hunt for cover. If the infection is sufficiently severe there may be a little fever, aching of the body generally, coldness of the hands and feet, a slight chill, and even intestinal upsets. Usually in from three to five days the patient gets better.

Almost everybody has a cure for a cold. The patient can gargle antiseptics and spray his nose with them. If there is a little oil and menthol in the spray the sensation is cooling and the oil film protects the inflamed places. This is relieving, but does not really cure the cold.

Sometimes the patient takes widely advertised tablets of a sedative character. They make him feel a little better because they help to keep the temperature down and they decrease the sensation of pain and discomfort, but they do not cure the cold.

Not infrequently the person afflicted bathes his feet in hot water, drinks hot lemonade or gets what is now generally called a "prescription," puts a mustard plaster wherever he feels a mustard plaster will be decorative, puts a bukeye in his back pocket, ties a bag of asafetida around his neck, lets a manipulator pull his legs or punch him here and there, and after three to five days he feels better. These things also have not cured his cold.

The tendency of the cold is to get well in from three to five days unless the person gets a whole lot worse and develops secondary complications affecting his ears, his throat, or even developing pneumonia.

THERE are apparently few hardening procedures which will make a person more resistant to colds. The human body develops little permanent resistance, because it is possible to get a new cold the next week after one has just recovered from an old one. Thus the common cold differs from measles or scarlet fever, in which one attack develops so much resistance in the body that the person is not likely ever to get those diseases again. But colds go on forever.

COMMON colds affect athletes as often as they do the chorus. About all you can do to protect yourself is to keep your feet dry, your bowels open, wear suitable clothing, avoid excesses, and keep away from the chronic sneezer, cougher and spitter. Then if you are lucky, you will probably have fewer colds than otherwise. Do not get the impression, however, that the common cold is a light and easily disregarded condition. Its effects are sometimes so severe that it is highly desirable for the patient to take a vacation in a warm, dry climate, so that he may recover fully and not get secondary complications affecting his heart, or secondary infections in his sinuses or ears, that will create permanent disability.

There are various periods of the year when one may have hay fever. These are the spring, the summer and the fall. There are a few cases that seem to have symptoms all the time. These are called non-seasonal cases and are apparently due to some substance to which the sufferer is sensitive and which is always present in his surroundings.

Because of the nature of the symptoms, hay fever was long called rose-cold, and so closely was it confused with the common cold that cases were called allergic coryza, the common cold being called acute coryza, or they were called vasomotor rhinitis, while the common cold was called acute rhinitis.

The symptoms of hay fever are very much like those of the common cold. It differs in its permanence and in its strict limitation to the seasons when the pollens which cause it are prevalent in the air. Thus the spring type of hay fever begins at the end of March and runs to the end of May. It is due almost always to the pollens of the oak, elm, birch and hickory. Sometimes, in some sections of the country, the grasses also get in on the spring type of hay-fever.

In the summer type of hay fever, the grasses are almost altogether responsible, including particularly timothy, red top, June grass, orchard grass, sweet vernal and plantain. The fall type of hay fever is almost altogether related to the pollens of the ragweed. It usually begins in August and ends with the first frost, accompanied by sighs of relief and prayers of thanksgiving on the part of the hay fever sufferers.

Cases of hay fever that seem to go on all the time are due to sensitivity to the proteins of dandruff from animals, cosmetics, flour dusts and similar substances. There are also some people who have the bad luck to be sensitive to several varieties of pollens and they get over one season only to start in with a new pollen in the next season.

In fact, more than half the total number of people who are sensitive to one substance are also sensitive to others. It takes a good deal of scientific detective work to locate exactly the ones causing sensitivity in the particular case.

A protein is a constituent of material in the same way that a sugar or a fat or a salt substance is a constituent of material. Protein is, moreover, the essential substance in living material. Biologic chemists have determined that the proteins are the substances in the pollens, the dandruff or the foods which create the sensitivity reaction.

Sensitivity means that when the person so afflicted gets some of the specific protein into his system, or on the membranes of his nose, he responds with the typical reaction.

IN a hay fever reaction he gets itching, burning, sneezing, redness and watering of the eyes, inability to stand sunlight, and the other symptoms that now are so widely recognized by everyone. Sometimes he reacts by a breaking out with blisters and sometimes by a general reaction including nausea, dizziness, and fever with prostration. The latter symptoms are particularly associated with sensitivity to various foods.

The scientific detective finds out which pollens produce the reaction in his patient in a simple scientific manner. He makes a little scratch on the skin, rubs in some of the pollen, and waits 24 hours to see what will happen. To have a basis for comparison he makes another scratch near the first one and into that scratch he rubs a little salt solution or water. If the patient is sensitive, the scratch containing the pollen will be red and inflamed, whereas the other will not. If he is doubtful about a lot of pollens or proteins, the investigator will make one scratch for each of them. If he determines the specific pollens he then has several lines of treatment to suggest which are extremely helpful.

It is possible to desensitize a considerable number of sufferers from hay fever by injecting them with small doses of the extracts of the pollens for a period of about 10 weeks previous to the time when the attacks usually begin. If the patient cannot be desensitized he can get relief by going to some district where the particular pollens to which he is sensitive are not prevalent.

The non-seasonal types of hay fever are due to a number of excitants of various types. There are the danders of horse, cat, dog, rabbit, goat, cow, chicken, goose and a variety of small animals; powders of orris, rice, corn, wheat, cottonseed, kapok, flax, and the dust of hay and straw, house dust, and the proteins of various foods.

Around the home there are innumerable substances that produce dusts which are inhaled and which in the sensitive individual produce the typical attack. Of course, the most certain method of handling such a case is to find out the specific substance to which the person is sensitive and then to eliminate that substance from his environment. One of the most beautiful demonstrations in medicine is the prompt recovery of a long-suffering patient thus freed from torture.

Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Atlanta, Ga. During twenty years of increasing usefulness the council has demonstrated the practical values of unity for common service. It combines in the name of all of its member churches for beneficial work which cannot be done by a single church and embodies an ideal of spiritual brotherhood independent of doctrinal or ritualistic differences.
