JESS. MITCHELL, Editor and Publisher

Subscribers who change their addresses, or fail to get their paper, should immediately notify this office, giving both new and old addresses.
Communications of local interest are solicited. They should be briefly written, on but one side of the paper, and must reach this office not later than Thursday noon of each week. The right of revision or rejection is reserved by the publisher.
Advertising that does not show in its text or typographic that it is paid for must be marked as an advertisement. All local advertisements remain in this paper for the time specified or until ordered out. All notices, if matters not by whom nor for what purpose, if the object is to raise money by admission fee or otherwise, is an advertisement and when sent in for publication must be paid for at the regular advertising rate per line for each issue printed.
Obituaries, cards of thanks, and resolutions of respect will also be charged for at the same rate.
Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of the Littlefield Leader will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the publisher.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Grudge not against another, brethren, lest ye be condemned; behold, the judge standeth before the door. James 5:9.

Foul jealousy! that turnest love divine to joyous dread, and maketh the loving heart with hateful thoughts to languish and to pine. Spenser.

There is no reason why the pecan tree should not become to Littlefield what the orange is to Pasadena, California.

The Littlefield School Board could do no more commendable task than to have the local school ground well laid off and planted with trees this spring. In the years to come both patrons and pupils would rise up to call them blessed.

Last year Littlefield had a baseball team of which many towns ten times her size might well have been proud, with new material added she ought to have better one this year. A good baseball team is well worth all it costs a town to maintain it. Let's get the park in shape and get behind the team this year as never before.

The old time Westerner who a few short years ago looked with pride upon his cattle of a thousand hills, now lies awake at nights thinking how to collect the thousand notes due him for those hills and prairies.

NEW COMERS DAY

It was on May 1st of last year that Malcolm H. Reed, of the Yellow House Land Co., gathered together in the Littlefield school auditorium about 40 real estate dealers from various parts of the State of Texas and explained to them the merits of Littlefield and Yellow House lands. Since that time thousands of acres of this fine land has been sold, hundreds of new settlers have come in to make their homes and Littlefield is four times the size it was then.

It is only about six weeks now until May 1st will be here again, and we have thought perhaps the anniversary of that event might be celebrated in a very fitting manner. Why not have a "New Comers Day" on that date, celebrating the arrival of all new-comers during the past year. Plan for a big barbecue at the noon hour, baseball and other sports in the afternoon, then at night to the school-house for speaking, music and other entertainment. Make it a big get-together event. Both new and old settlers would appreciate it.

PLANT PECAN TREES

The Leader is creditably informed that the pecan tree if properly planted and cared for will grow in practically all parts of West Texas, and they produce not only fine shade, but good fruit as well.

When the old commoner, James S. Hogg, was on his deathbed he begged his children not to erect a monument at his sleeping place, but to plant pecans on his grave, and in the years to come to plant the pecans that grew above his mortal remains, until the state he loved so well was filled with pecan trees. The wish of the old commoner was carried out and now there are many trees bearing pecans around the grave of the ex-governor.

Recently many of the pecans grown on the old commoner's grave were planted in Austin. What a splendid and what an appropriate monument to the great man who served his state so well. A shaft of granite can not do more than mark a resting place, but beautiful trees, tall astory of forethought and service that will touch nobler longings into the lives of those who gaze upon them and enjoy their splendid fruit.

Pecan trees planted now in Littlefield would in the years to come be a monument to those who have passed on into the great beyond.

PIONEERING TODAY

Pioneering is no comparison now with what it was in the days of our grandparents. Then it was a case of real hardships with a vengeance, but

Tax Reductions

We are inclined to believe that the candidate who makes his race for office this year, using "reduced taxes" as his pandwagon, will find himself blowing the little horn when the primary is over. Of course, we do not favor excessive taxation, but the public generally ought to understand that taxes must grow just as our general plane of living grows and out demand for the best thing.

A new country rapidly filling up with new citizens, demanding better schools, better highways, etc., can not possibly be run on the same basis of taxation as it was run a few years ago when that same country was nothing but a broad cow pasture. It takes money to furnish public benefits the same as those of a private kind, and that money must essentially come from the pocketbooks of the citizens.

Money judiciously expended often tends to keep taxes down, and the selection of men for our country offices—men of proven moral worth and business ability is paramount. Efficiency in managing public affairs often offsets a considerable increase in tax rate or valuation basis.

After all, the man who advocates "reduced taxes" is not so ignorant as his platform indicates. He probably knows better, and the public knows that it is the man back of any given platform that really counts. There are yet five months in which the voters may study the platforms of the various candidates, some of which are yet to be made public—five months in which these voters may blow the chaff from the good grain, sort out the spurious from the genuine, and make reasonable decision of that which is for the general good of their home county.

The candidate who would revolutionize our county affairs within three minutes after taking office needs to be shunned, and when any of them come around running off at the mouth with that kind of lingo, the voter should immediately check him from off his prospective list. But the reasonable, conservative, far seeing man, who puts forth a platform that is sane, conservative and judicious, and who will stand behind that platform with a personality of proven merit, is the man who will safely guide our county affairs into an era of future prosperity and happiness.

Installs New Linotype
 Jesse Mitchell, proprietor of the Lamb County Leader, the paper published at Littlefield, has just installed a linotype, a paper folding machine and other modern equipments that go with an up-to-date printing office. This country is developing so rapidly and the town growing so fast that Mr. Mitchell had to put in these modern appliances in order to keep abreast of developments here.—The Crosbyton Review.

MINNIE VEAL
 There was a handkerchief party at the home of Miss Ila McCasland Saturday night, which provided much amusement for the young as well as the old in seeing the show. The most enjoyment came from Mrs. Morris, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Matthews, who furnished the music for the evening.

All the farmers are very busy preparing land for the coming crop.
 Morton J. Smith is beautifying the square by putting out trees and shrubs. Also, there is a nice fence around the square.

Everyone is looking forward to the coming election which will be in March.
 There will be dinner served at the public well the day of the election which will be a great event for all the people of the community.

We are planning an Easter Egg hunt for all the children of the county at some central location which will be decided later.

BAILEYBORO BUZZINGS.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frounce and Mr. and Mrs. Bell of Ralls, Texas spent the week-end with the ladies parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Henderson.

George Henderson spent Sunday with friends in Circleback.
 A number of the Baileyboro folks attended church and singing at Circleback Sunday afternoon.

Linnie Huise was the leader of the kodaking folks who spent an unusually pleasant Sunday evening taking pictures in and around Monument dam.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Applin enjoyed the day in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Horney, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Swanner of Spur, Texas, have arrived in the Baileyboro community where their future home will be.

The Baileyboro school is daily increasing in the number of pupils. We now have seventy-three enrolled and expect to have at least a hundred by the end of this term. If we have a nine months school another teacher will be employed soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Huise arrived home Thursday from a flying trip to Dickens county.

G. L. Blackshear and Vesta Brannen were visitors in the Brannen home Sunday.

Everybody is cordially invited to the candy breaking at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Honey Friday night in honor of their daughter, Lois' 12th birthday.

Mr. Tom Drennen and daughter Mrs. Elsie Denman, arrived at the home of the former, Thursday night. Mr. Drennen has been attending to business matters in Dickens county for the past few days.

H. G. Horney and Claude Kauffman were unable to secure an organ in Lubbock Thursday. It isn't known just what other steps will be taken to secure one.

An unusually large crowd was present for church services Sunday night which were conducted by Rev. Edgar of Littlefield.

All the Baileyboro Basket Ball teams with the exception of the junior boys went to Muleshoe for a game with the Liberty teams to determine the winners of second place in the Interscholastic League games but owing to some misunderstandings no games were played. They are all to meet at Muleshoe next Friday, if everything can be satisfactorily arranged.

TARWATER FOR LEGISLATURE

A. B. Tarwater, who lives near Sulphur, announces as a candidate for the Legislature. He has owned property in Hale county for the past eighteen years, and moved here seven years ago. He graduated from the University of Tennessee, and then, after taking the law examination, entered the federal civil service and was in Washington two years; then for twelve years he was inspector for the pension department and was in the confidential work. He resigned and moved to Hale county to take up farming. He is a student of public affairs, has good ideas on legislation, and if elected will do his best service to the people. In his announcement he says:

"In the brief space at my disposal in making this announcement I will state that I stand for the firm and strict enforcement of all the laws of the state, for strict economy in the management of our state affairs, for the enactment of just as few laws as is consistent with good government and the protection of our citizens, their homes and property.

"As the public debt and tax levy in our state for the past ten years have far exceeded the per cent of increase in our population and property valuation, we naturally feel that our taxes are too high, and if elected to the legislature I shall make a careful study of all proposed tax laws and appropriations of the state's money and use my best efforts to bring about legislation which will reduce taxes, and at the same time not decrease the efficiency of our state institutions, especially our educational system, or prevent necessary public improvements, or impair the enforcement of our laws; and I believe this can be done by carefully enacted laws eliminating waste, unnecessary state officials, bureaus and commissions."

Prairie Dog Poison

The method of mixing the poison is as follows: Mix thoroughly 1 ounce of strychnine (powdered) alkaloid, and 1 ounce of common baking soda (bicarbonate). Dissolve 1 heaping tablespoonful of common laundry starch in a little cold water, add 3-4 pint of boiling water. Boil and stir until a thin clear paste is formed. Slowly sift the mixture of strychnine and soda into the starch paste, stirring constantly to form a smooth creamy mass. Add 1-4 pint of corn syrup and a tablespoonful of glycerine and stir. Add 1-10 ounce of saccharin and again stir thoroughly. Pour this mixture over 13 quarts of clear grain and mix until all grain is well coated.

If alkaloid strychnine is not available, the sulphate form may be used, either powdered or in crystals, but it will be necessary to use the following formula for mixing: Dissolve the strychnine in boiling water before adding the cold starch. After the starch paste is clear stir in the soda very slowly, then add the syrup, glycerine and saccharin as in the above directions and mix with the grain.

For mixing small quantities an ordinary small wash tub may be used. After the grain is thus prepared, it may be sacked and kept for future use.

We have in stock all the ingredients necessary to fill the above formula.

We also carry DR. J. H. BASS' DOG POISON, and CARBON by the Texas Railroad Commission Except for the year 1922 in which seventy-eight were killed, this is the largest number of deaths at railroad crossings in six years. 54 of the deaths and 214 of those injured were due to automobile accidents. The total number killed and injured at crossings for the last six years was 1,369.

Deuce of a Time.

A man arrested for murder bribed a simple member of the jury with a hundred pounds to insist on a verdict of manslaughter. The jury was out a long time, and at last came in with the desired verdict. Afterwards the prisoner had an opportunity of seeing the simple juror, and said: "I'm obliged to you, my friend. Did you have a hard time?" "Yes," replied the man. "A deuce of a time. The other eleven wanted to acquit you."

Dog Meat in China.

The dog meat which enters into the dietary of the Chinese is obtained from a special race, raised for the purpose, of which the characteristic is the color of the tongue. That organ should be of a blue-black color. These dogs are fed on milk and rice for about two months until they reach a certain weight. The number of edible dogs eaten annually in China is estimated at five millions.

Cause of Sun Spots.

If you stir an open fire in a grate and bring fresh coals to the front, it gives out a warmer glow. It is the same way with the sun, says O. G. Abbott, in charge of the astrophysical laboratory of the Smithsonian Institution. The so-called sun spots are produced by a stirring of the sun's outer layer. By comparing measurement of solar radiation with photographs of the sun he has found that there is an increase in heat radiated by the sun on the same day that sunspots form, grow or are brought into view on the visible disk of the sun by rotation.

Seven Tests for Drunkenness.

A police surgeon who is often called in to pronounce motorists arrested for reckless driving, either drunk or sober, has devised the following seven tests: 1, telling the correct name and address; 2, walking a line; 3, touching a spot on the wall; 4, touching the nose with the left hand and then the right; 5, touching the nose with the eyes closed; 6, saying "rural"; and 7, picking up a pin. If the one suspected can do all of these things he is a safe prospect to be pronounced sober.

J. G. BERRYMAN TELLS OF TRIP TO THE SOUTH PLAINS

No doubt many of our readers will want to know about my trip to the South Plains last week. A party of five—Frank Wojtek, Frank Reane, Jess Boykin, Carroll Hunt, of Blackwell, and myself—buckled on our traveling regalia Sunday, the 18th, and rolled out in Mr. Hunt's Ford for Littlefield, Lamb county. At Sweetwater we joined another man with a real automobile and Mr. Wojtek and I took passage with him.

We proceeded on our journey over the state highway leading through Roscoe, Snyder, Post City, Lubbock and thence to Littlefield, with only a slight delay caused by a burned out bearing.

We had a very enjoyable trip, viewing the many sights along the highway and countryside. When we began the ascent of the caprock just beyond Post City I felt much like I fancy a person would feel when emerging from the lower world to the one above. The striking difference will almost justify such a comparison.

The broad, level farms and the neat farm houses present a sight pleasing to any lover of beautiful country homes. I believe that such pleasant scenes cannot be duplicated under the caprock. The Plains all along our journey were alive with enthusiasm and interest, and the wheels of progress are moving steadily in every line.

We arrived at Littlefield about 9 o'clock, p. m., and were escorted to the hospitable home of Wilbur O. Stockton where we were entertained during our stay.

At the proper hour we found a pleasant rendezvous in slumberland. We awoke Monday morning to gaze with delight upon the new world we were in. The air was crisp with Jack Frost's visit but old Sol quickly took away every effect of unpleasantness and we enjoyed a really fine day.

After breakfast two or three cars were "harnessed up" for a country-wide drive. And we certainly did drive, taking our grubbing hoes along to test the soil with. We found nothing but fine virgin soil that will grow anything adapted to a temperate climate with no great amount of rainfall.

With this vast productive territory just on the verge of development surrounding it, Littlefield, as I see it, has a bright future. Moreover it is situated on the main line of the Santa Fe railroad and two highways pass through it, with another crossing the county. She has one of the finest high schools in the state. Three years ago only fifty-four children were in the school, now there are 375 children and eleven teachers. Plans are sufficiently large to accommodate the increasing student body. Of all the good things in this school district the best is the free transportation of every child to and from school. Eight closed in trucks perform this task, going out in each direction six or seven miles and bringing the children in, the district being about twenty-five miles long and fourteen miles wide. When a student leaves the Littlefield school he can enter college any where in the state and get full credit for work done.

An immense business is being done hustling little city. Of the forty-one business concerns I mention the following: two real nice hotels, one good bank housed in a two-story brick building, several brick business houses, all occupied, and I am told that seven or eight brick structures will soon be built. There are two lumber yards at present and three will begin business there in the near future. Three filling stations are operating there, an able manager of one of them told me that he sold about 18,000 gallons of gasoline per week. We may safely assert that the per week sales of the three stations will approximate 50,000 gallons. There is a grain elevator to handle the large grain crops and ice and electric plant is being installed.

The agricultural possibilities of the Littlefield country are indeed great. It is destined, I believe, to take rank with, if not surpass, many of the northeastern states.

WHITE ROBED KLANS MEN PARADE STREETS AS SNOW IS FALLING

Very much unexpected to the people of Littlefield, about 30 Klansmen, robed and hooded in their regalia, amid the falling snow marched down the streets of Littlefield Wednesday night.

It was the first appearance of the Ku Klux Klan in Littlefield, and many were the expressions of surprise that came from the lips of the on-lookers. It had been rumored for some time that a Klan was being organized in Lamb County, but no seemed to know any details regarding it.

In keeping with one of the principal tenets of that order, it is notable that their first appearance in Lamb County was an errand of benevolence and mercy, the paraders marching to the home of Mrs. Effie Wharton, a widow with five small children, and presenting her with a purse of $25.00, which was greatly appreciated by the beneficiary.

Following the parade one of the mysteriously dressed Klansmen appeared at the door of the Leader office and handed the editor the following note with request for its publication:

Littlefield
Dear Mrs. Wharton and Children:
We The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Lamb County Texas, prompted by the high ideals and principals of our great order, wish to present you with this small donation which is very inadequate in expressing our sentiment in your behalf.

You may rest assured that our best wishes and hopes are for your welfare.
May God's richest blessing abide with you now and forever.
Respectfully,
Lamb County Klan.

Card of Thanks

Not knowing who you are, I take this opportunity of expressing my sincere thanks and appreciation to the members of the Ku Klux Klan for their gift on last Wednesday night.

It is indeed gratifying to know that the one may be left in the world practically alone yet there are kind friends who are ready to lend their assistance. Anytime I can render any service to the members of this worthy order, I shall be glad to do so.
—Mrs. Effie Wharton.

SO THEY TOOK THEIR 50,000
wishes for "A home of their own," threw them back into the dream world and made a start. In a very short time it WAS theirs.

Don't pay rent any longer. Own a home of your own. Know that feeling that you are a part of this thriving, building town. Better more than that, it is a saving and an investment which will repay you for all your efforts.

We have everything you need to build that home—everything from plans to paint—the very best the market affords.

NO BUSINESS CHANGE
W. C. Squires has sold his interest in the business to W.A. McCormick, but there will be no change in the system. The business will move right along in the same way, and you will find Mr. McCormick just as anxious to sell you as was Mr. Squires. We are sorry to lose Mr. Squires, but glad he has sold to one like Mr. McCormick.
Now to show you how glad we are to have you continue with us, we are going to put you on a soap deal that will enable you to stock up for the whole year. We are going to sell you
16 Bars of Crystal White Soap
And Give You Two Bars Creme Olive Toilet Soap
And Two Packages of Borax Washing Powder
All for $1.00, A Total Value of $1.30
Come early, this deal lasts until we sell 15 cases.
We are going to cut the price of Flour from $2.10 on Light Crust Flour to $2.00. We do not feel like the prices of other flour justifies us to cut the price on Light Crust, as this brand is in a class entirely by itself, but just to have some fun we are going to do this.
Remember we will continue to sell Groceries, Dry Goods and Farming Implements for less money than you can ordinarily buy them when paying spot cash.
We will give some terms on Implements with a good note on the last payment.
Try us for Ladies Shoes, Hats, Chicken Feed as well as Human Feed.
