Of the acreage, according to reports he assembled, approximately 759,000 will ton Smith, who gave up the work bebe irrigated land. This is a 64 per cent increase over the 462,000 irrigated cotton areas last year.

He estimated the dryland acreage this year at 2,257,000. Here are his first 1949 crop forecasts, his figures qualified by the conditions which may prevail during the growing season—meaning, primarily, whether July and August are dry, medium or

If conditions are poor, 1,031,000 bales If they are average 1,661,000 bales. If they are favorable 2,188,000 bales On the basis of present conditions, cotton authorities were inclined to accept Clapp's highest forecast as conservative. Such a crop with the 27-cent government support price would bring close to $500,000,000 into the South Plains.

Even his lowest estimate exceeds any previous record for production. The record was set at 959,000 bales, from about 1,500,000 acres, in 1937. A million-bale crop would be worth around $200,000,000 this year.

Clapp's expectations as to yield per acre, based upon conditions during the growing season, follow:

For irrigated land-if conditions are poor, three-fourths of a bale; if average, one bale; if favorable, 1.25 bales.

Mrs. Mickey Ratliff has taken over the duties of Secretary of the First Baptist Church. She replaces Mrs. Lenwhich the work demanded. Mrs. Smith did an excellent piece of work for the church, and will continue to help when extra work is needed.

Clapp's survey also showed a continuing increase in the drilling of irrigation wells. According to his count, 2,638 wells have been drilled since last year, increasing the number in the area to 12,693

The largest increase in drilling activity ,he reported, occurred in Lubbock county, where 500 new irrigation wells boosted the total number to 2,000-the most of any South Plains county.

Swisher county, with 400 new wells stepped into a second-place tie with Hale county, the previous leader, in total number. Each was shown with 1,-850 wells. The Hale county increase last year was 100.

Lubbock and Hockley counties were shown in a tie with the largest cotton acreage, each with 400,000. The increase for Hockley county over last year is 65,000 acres and for Lubbock 50,000. However, 217,000 acres of the Lubbock cotton land are irrigated as compared with 100,000 in Hockley. The present indications thus far are that Lubbock should retain the position it has held for two years as the No. 1 cotton producing county of Texas.

Among other counties in the area for which large scale increases are shown, as compared with last year, are the fol-

Bailey, from 115,000 to 220,000 acres; Cochran, from 75,000 to 125,000; Crosby. from 110,000 to 210,000; Dawson, from 225,000 to 325,000; Terry, from 140,000 to 225,000.

Among other larger cotton producing counties, the acreage in Lynn has increased from 300,000 to 335,000 and in Lamb from 270,000 to 300,000 acres.

The increase in Hale County was from 80,000 to 100,000 acres. But of the 1949 acreage, 20,000 is irrigated, indicating Hale again will be one of the top cotton producing counties of the South.

Odds N' Ends

When the work starts for the farmers around these parts they have to really get in and stay with it. Ex-cept for the short pause after the rain when they couldn't get into the fields, they have been at it steadily for the last month. First was the irrigation before the rain, and not that it has come and the ground is drying to where they can work, they are be-ginning to get ready for the plant-ing season. In two months this counwill be as green and fresh looking with its growing plants as any place in the country.

DONKEY POPULAR-

There are conflicting reports as to exactly what Brown did, and more particularly the words he used an expressing his opinion as to the anerits or demerits of the faithful little animal, which carried Harry S. Truman into victory, and another by mame of Dewey into semi or complete oblivion last November, but the editor of this paper, as one of the Brown's close neighbors, is willing to state on and under oath, that Mr. Brown's looks were not exactly inappy, and the words he used were largely unintelligible, which in this case means also unprintable.

But in the Brown home are two juvenile Jaycettes. Tramp's two little daughters, Betty Jean aged 3 and Tina, aged 5, took an entirely different viewpoint. In fact, for the first zime in their lives, they realized that the fact that daddy was a Jaycee was really sumthin'; they fell for the donkey and in love with him in every and a big way.

They loved that donkey as only little girls can love an animal, and a pet. No they went much furtherthey worshipped him (or her) and took him for their own, not realizing that his stay was only for a week's

Came the next Lion's day meeting, and Jaycee Brown armed with one ranch petted Donkey marched toward the Legion Hut vowing better attendance, but, alas, nothing could erase from his mind, the tear-stained faces of his two little daughters who had lost their beloved pet.

This particulara Jaycee donkey mow has a new home, having been consigned to the care of one Jim Crump, who also plays hookey from meetings, and for one week will minister to the wants of the donkey.

But back at the Brown home, the zears, and the sobs of two little girls was just too much for one Jaycee Brown and maybe, if he can find one, the two little Brown girls will have a brand new donkey of their very own-we repeat if one can be found. can be found.

If you have or know of someone who owns a donkey, any model, we're sure you can make a trade or a deal with Tramp Brown,

And you can win the unending gratitude of two beautiful, sweet little girls who are ready and willing to forsake their dolls and their toys-for a donkey.

Bull Lake Philosopher Alarmed Over Lawsuit Brought Against Farmer For Not Farming Right

his Johnson grass farm on Bull Lake call a lazy farmer. This thing has a -seems a little alarmed this week, although probably unnecessarily. Dear editar.

On account of my neighbor being a non progressive stuffed-shirt and threatenin to report me to the post office department for takin his newspaper out of his mail box, which goes to show it don't pay to tell the truth, I didn't have to admit I took it last week, and besides he wouldn't get far in court accusin me of stealin a copy of the Lamb County Leader business as efficiently as they could, wouldn't no judge believe it was who ain't as energetic as they might his mail box alone this week and am happy to report newspapers have been turnin up just the same providin you skip a point and call yours a defend you? newspaper, but there was one paper that turned up which I had just as soon it hadn't. Ruined my day.

In this paper I discovered where one farmer out in West Texas was another for lettin sand blow on his farm, claimin if he had farmed right at never would have happened.

We got to put a stop to that sort of thing right now. Ordinarily I don't get disturbed over what other people de or what they think about me, but if we have reached the point where what blows off my farm, the end of freedom ain't far off. If we have reached the point where a man can be sued for not farmin right, you see where this leaves freedom and me both. What if some neighbor decides blowin over on his farm? What if Donaldson of Washington, D.C. he decides I ought to get the weeds out of my cotton?

on who is squirmin. Don't think this ville, Texas, before returning home.

Editor's note: The Philosopher on | thing applies just to what you like to lot of possibilities. What if you're in the grocery business and a neighboring groceryman claims you ain't runnin your grocery store right and as a consequence its drivin customers out of that end of town, This thing could apply to all kinds of enterprises. I ain't callin no names, but I know of lots of people, business men, lawyers, doctors, teachers, maybe one or two preachers, who ain't runnin their exough to call a theft. I been leavin be and if they're gonna be subject to lawsuits, you can see where the thing will lead. Why I know lots of editors-you get a good lawyer to

Soil Conservation Season Here Says Board Of Supervisors

C. H. Messer, Chairman, Board of Supervisors for the Lamb County Soil Conservation District, has released for publication the following warning to the farmers of this area: "Lamb County Soil Conservation District representatives call your attention to the fact that now is the season to start doing something about the land that will be blowing next year while we have time and moisture is available."

The Board of Supervisors are asking each land owner and operator in the county to observe any land in their possssion that has been a blow hazard in the past and make some effort to prevent it from blowing this coming year."

"Although the cotton acreage will e high in Lamb County it is believed that much of the dust storm hazard can be eliminated by careful planning. One of the chief areas of blowing on most farms is around the farmstead and along turn rows and road ditches. The Board recommends for turn rows and bad blow, areas spring planting of sudan and mowing to leape a good stubble, and then the planting of small grain in the stubble next fall to protect it through the winter. For small blow areas around farmsteads and buildings permanent grasses should be seeded or in the case of bermuda use sprigs or so where irrigation or farmstead well water is available.

"A little time spent now may lessen the time and effort required in house cleaning next spring."

The headwaters of the Gila River The headwaters of the Gila River are inaccessible except by foot or horseback, for there are no roads through this wild wilderness, and there probably never will be. There's an abundance of native Gila trout in these mountain streams, and plenty of rainbow, too. The state department of Game and Fish has planted the rainbow in this area, and these cowboys catch a "mess of fish" in no time at all. One cowboy from this area says, "I never tried any flies out here—always caught all I want with grasshoppers! These trout can't resist hoppers!"

How We Licked The Parking Problem

For a while it looked like we'd have to put up parking meters. Folks working in town-including some of the store owners-were taking up all of the space along Main Street.

Farmers coming in to shop never found a place to park, and sometimes had to lug stuff a half mile or so. Some started to do their buying in other towns. Finally, store owners and farmers had a gettogether-with the result that the empty field near the depot was fixed up for all-day parkers.

Now farmers get their shopping done comfortably, and the merchants have a better place to park than they had before. Just took a little friendly co-operation to make everybody happy.

From where I sit, most differences can be ironed out by just talking things over-maybe with a, cup of coffee or glass of beer-and seeing the other person's side of it. Next time you have a problem or, a little difference to settle, why not try just that?
