TOO MANY FARMERS 13-Acre Show Building Proves To Small

By JOHN DEITRICK AP Newsfeatures HARRISBURG, Pa.—Pennsylvania's famed state farm show is suffering acutely from growing pains. Keystone agriculture officials little dreamed when the huge 13-acre farm show building was completed in 1931 that it would one day be inadequate to house the annual show. Small Beginning During the years after the big building was dedicated the annual attendance was only a few thousands. But that figure has been climbing rapidly until present shows handle around a half million visitors. Scores of applications for exhibit space have to be turned down, said Miles Horst, state agriculture secretary and farm show commission chairman. One of the complications caused by the large growth of the show is the problem of finding rooming accommodations for farm boys exhibiting animals at the show. Until recently, large dormitories at the show building were adequate for young exhibitors. However, overflow entries now have required the placing of many youths in private homes and other places. Horst attributes the continued growth of the exposition to its big prize pot—it totaled $55,100 this year—and to the growing prestige of farm show awards. Internationally Known The big farm show—largest indoor exposition of its kind in the world—is already internationally known. It also has served as the model for the present farm show in Alabama and for a new show being arranged for Convention Hall in Atlantic City. Each year it attracts visitors from all over the United States.

Creditors Given Notice To File Claim Against Shannon Enterprise

A representative for the court-appointed receivers for the O. L. Shannon Cotton Compress and Elevator interests at Sudan, was in Littlefield Friday morning, making arrangements for legal publication of a notice to all creditors, or all having claims against Shannon or the Shannon enterprises, to file claims prior to April 21 with the Federal District Court in Lubbock. The properties have been in the hands of a receiver for more than two months. The government is alleging a shortage of grain stored with the Shannon corporation at Sudan, said to involve thousands of bushels, and in the neighborhood of $100,000. The case has been publicized throughout the state and throughout the nation. Only a few weeks ago, Life Magazine sent a reporter and photographer to Sudan, and in a recent issue devoted a page or more of space to photographs of Shannon and his family. One of the pictures portrayed Shannon with his wife and their two sons sitting atop of a bicycle. Another shows Shannon inspecting a reel of motion picture film, said to have been under production by Shannon and titled "The Thief of The Cross." A third picture showed Shannon in costume, portraying a role in the film, and the magazine added that the script has been turned down in Hollywood. A (Continued on Back Page)

SUPER SECRETARY

ALL ALONE BY THE TELEPHONES—Eula V. Ray of Chicago has 48 to keep track of each day.

By EDWARDS S. KITCH
AP Newsfeatures
CHICAGO—Miss Eula V. Ray is a bachelor girl waiting for a call on 48 telephones.

Each of the telephones on her desk gives a different ring or buzz. Miss Ray has trained herself to recognize the individual signals in conducting her secretarial business. Among her clients are lawyers, decorators, accountants, business machine repairmen and salesmen.

Miss Ray says she started her super-secretarial service in 1928 when, due to the slack times, secretarial work was scarce. A former employer then suggested she start her own service by telephone.

"So I decided to take a gamble for six months," she said. "I began with one telephone and a desk. After the six months were up, they broke out a wall to give me more office space."

How she keeps tab on 48 telephones, her clients and their customers is a marvel even to her clients. She keeps inventory records, order sheets and catalogues at hand for a few of them. Customers can order goods by telephone and pay by mail. Miss Ray often handles the invoices and deposits checks at the bank when clients are out of town.

The secretarial telephones are connected to the same lines of the clients'. After the third ring, she answers by repeating the number and client's name. If a phone doesn't ring for a period of time, she checks to see if it is operating correctly.

Professional men find they can conduct business although they are away from the office on business or vacation. Miss Ray now is taking calls for an architect who is spending his vacation in Florida. The architect calls her once a week to learn who has called him.

Food Protection And Sanitary Measures Needed To Control Dysentery Epidemic

meating on the unusually incidence of dysentery in Texas the present time. Dr. Geo. W. state health officer, described it as being an infectious disease characterized by diarrhea, in the abdomen, and toxemia caused by a specific bacteria form. These germs cause inflammation of the lining of the intestine which produces pain throughout the abdomen and the passage of many loose stools that contain blood and mucus. Toxemia results from absorption of the poisonous substances by the germs.

The germs gain entrance to the through the mouth," Dr. Cox said and then make their way to the intestines in the same manner which food does. When they find the intestines they find conditions favorable to their growth. Here they establish themselves at the expense of the person infected and produce their harmful effects.

Dr. Cox warned that dysentery is more serious than adults, frequently resulting fatally; however, it is usually more prevalent during the summer season, and the great number of cases now being reported are unusual for spring.

The germ is always expelled from the system of persons sick with dysentery and may continue to be excreted for some time after the patient recovers from the disease. These persons who still disperse the germs after they recover are called carriers, and they occur frequently in this disease

Cookies For St. Patrick

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Gay shamrocks, pipes and hats—all made of cookie dough—will make crisp eating on St. Patrick's Day. Serve the cookies with an easy-to fruit compote of canned fruits—cherries, apricots, and pears. Try this recipe for Marble Cookies, too, if you want something new. Both these recipes call for cake flour and that means they have an extra-tender texture.

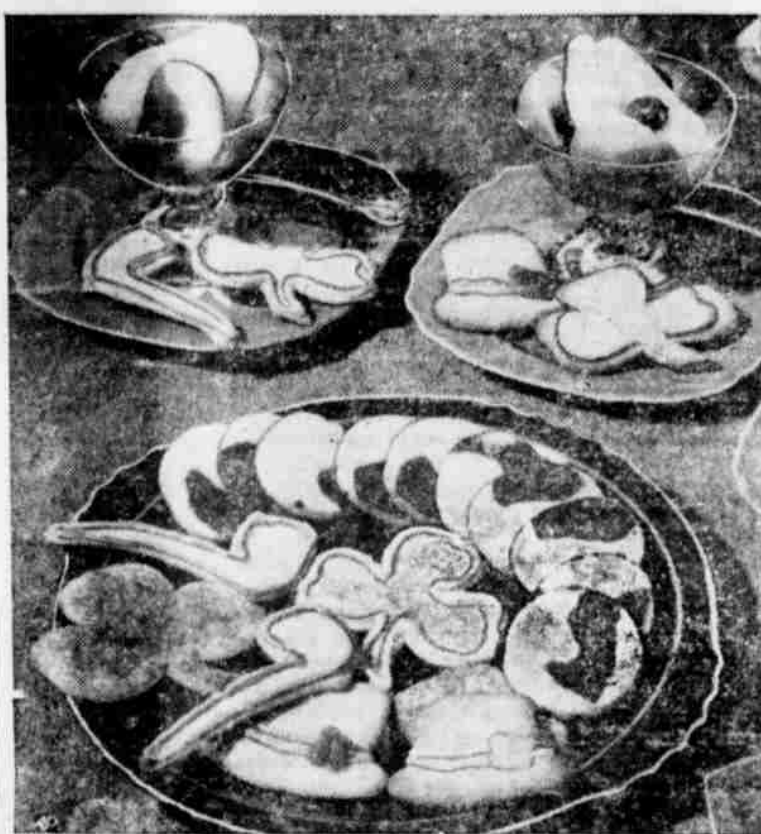

ST. PATRICK'S DAY COOKIES

Ingredients: 3 2/3 cups sifted cake flour, 2 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2/3 cup butter or other shortening, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 5 teaspoons milk.

Method: Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Cream shortening and sugar. Beat in eggs thoroughly, one at a time, with vanilla. Add flour, alternately with milk, mixing well after each addition. Chill. Roll dough 1/4-inch thick. Cut out cardboard patterns of shamrocks, pipes, and hats. Place floured patterns on dough and cut around each with a sharp knife. Bake on greased baking sheet in hot (400 F.) oven 9 minutes or until baked through. Cool on cake rack. Decorate cooled cookies with tinted confectioners' sugar frosting, colored sugar, and green gumdrops.

MARBLE COOKIES

Ingredients: 2 cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup butter or other shortening, 2/3 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon milk, 1 square (1 ounce) unsweetened chocolate (melted).

SHAMROCK COOKIES—Serve 'em with ice cream

Method: Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Cream shortening and sugar. Beat in well egg and milk. Add flour, a small amount at a time, mixing well after each addition. Divide dough in two parts. To one part add chocolate and mix well. If necessary, chill until firm enough to roll. Shape chocolate and plain dough into separate rolls, about 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Place rolls together and twist to give marbled effect. Roll in waxed paper and chill until firm enough to slice or overnight. Cut in 1/4-inch slices. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in moderate (375 F.) oven 10 minutes or until baked through. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

Teen Talk

Girls who have no trouble with kid brothers are girls who have no kid brothers. If a girl has a little demon around the house, chances are he'll kick up plenty of fuss.

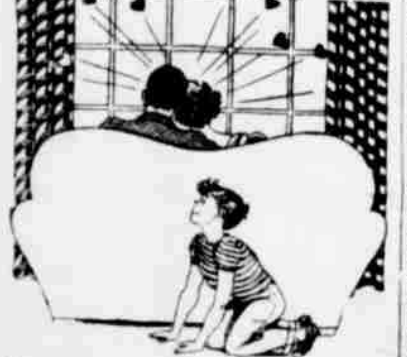

Little brothers fall into one of two categories: patient and impatient.

Patient little gentlemen do not pull Sis by the pigtails when they get mad at her. They bide their time—gather up an old frog or a dead mouse or even a live lobster and bury it in her bedsteads. This type of torture is considered much more effective by this particular breed of brother than any other plan, and he can get satisfaction from sister's reaction whether it is a little squeal or big screech.

The "impatient" little imp is a swindler at heart. He believes in the pay-off method and will sell out for dimes or dollars instead of a trip to the circus in the future. He'll take his bird in hand. This little brother who loves hush money pops up everywhere . . . for instance . . .

1. When Sis is wearing lipstick against the family's wishes.

2. When she is at the Saturday or Sunday movie matinee with a date when she is supposed to be at Mary's house.

3. In the corridor when her boy friend is bidding her good night.

4. He's behind the sofa or with his ear at the door when the gang is in for a dance session.

Smart little pests collect twice on the same deal. They get Sis to smooth their palms before a date arrives, and then hang around until the boy shells out. A date who comes to the house prepared with jelly beans or ice cream is in for trouble. Little Johnny wants cash, and he won't settle for peanuts.

Sometimes these little goons will make you so mad you'd like to catch them in a butterfly net and paste them to a wall like a decal. But there is seldom a young brother who doesn't have the loving protection of Mom, Pop and all the aunts. His halo fairly whirls when other members of the family are present, and if there are complaints from the one he has singled out for intensive heckling she is considered a bad sport by the family, who think of little Johnny as having "a wonderful sense of humor."

You can get even with him, of course, in a nice way, not because you are not mature enough to ignore the little monster or that you need the satisfaction of reprisal. He must be taught a lesson for his own good, we always say.

1. If he annoys your boyfriend, warns the way beforehand by telling him your prospective caller is an FBI man, detective or a transient officer.

2. If he insists on being paid off at once, mention casually that the sweater who gave you the change looked as if she had smallpox.

3. When he's all smooth and clean looking, and you suspect he's trying to make an impression on a girl, tell him he looks a little ill as if he were coming down with scarlet fever or something.

4. Be unco-operative about help with his homework lesson.

5. Tell him you turned down an air pistol which a friend wanted to give you for him because you didn't think he'd want it.

6. Let him know that you saw him drop in a nickel instead of the dime he got for the church collection basket.

If you worry this little prankster occasionally, he'll think twice before he pulls your leg in the future. It is a good idea, also, after you've played your little joke on him, to

Say It With Flowers To Suit Your Taste

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

There are as many different kinds of flower gardens as there are people who grow them. Some people grow flowers to produce a series of colorful sights. Other people are hobbyists and bend all their efforts toward specimen blooms. Some people garden endlessly to paint with flowers and foliage a subtle picture with blending shades. To other it's the sculptured shape of their garden that counts.

But the best gardens—regardless of what particular thing the garden has in mind—are the ones which start with a plan. I'm sure we're all bored with this constant preaching about a plan, but no matter how you approach the problem, in the end it turns out that preliminary work with pencil and paper is the most efficient and satisfactory road.

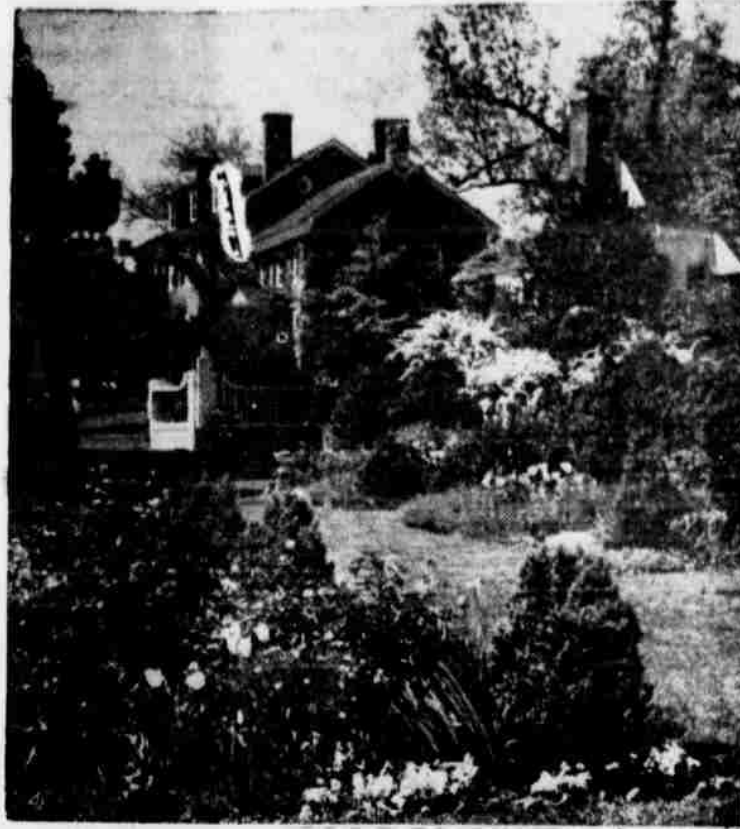

The size of the flower garden depends entirely on the people who will have to do the work. In the case of the new home-owner, it's much simpler to start off with a very modest garden and lots of lawn. It is easier to turn law into garden than vice versa, if you decide later you can bit off a bit more.

HANDY RULE

Another safe rule for anyone to follow during this house-bound time of the year is to make a garden plan containing everything you'd like to put in. Then tear up the plan and make a new one approximately one-fourth as ambitious. This second attempt will probably be better suited to your time and strength.

Most gardens are planned in consideration of color, and height and season of bloom. It's all very well to appreciate the brilliant drifts of spring daffodils, but if that's all you've got, the summer and fall is going to be pretty dull around your premises.

Gardens are built in terms of annuals, whose life span is a single growing season; perennials which live from year to year, and biennials, which are planted from seed one year and bloom the next. Most of us make the sturdy backbone of our garden the dependable perennials (and some gardeners who want as little work as possible grow them alone). Then we fill in the gaps and the between-bloom periods with the annuals and biennials.

A LOOK AHEAD—Plan now if you want this by summer

Endless Possibilities

Possibilities are endless. Some of the popular and useful perennials are bleeding heart, forget-me-not, hardy primrose, columbine, coral-bell, lily-of-the-valley, peonies, day-lilies, Oriental poppies, phlox, Jacob's-ladder, campanula, foxgloves, lupine and chrysanthemums.

Annuals, which generally are showier than perennials, come in every size, color and suited to every purpose. Probably the four most popular garden flowers in America are zinnias, marigolds, petunia and portulaca. Zinnias—easy to grow and rugged—come in a range of colors which almost uses the whole spectrum, and range in size from dwarfs to great enormous blooms. So do marigolds.

To obtain an early display, seeds of most annuals (there are some which hate being moved and are best planted where they are to flower) should be started indoors during March in the temperate zones—earlier in warmer climates.

Study Planting Instructions

In planning for the garden, study the planting instructions on the seed packets to make sure you haven't spotted a sun-loving plant in semi-shade. Be particularly careful to note the height to which the plants grow. It's distressing to make a mistake which will put a great tall row in front of a row of ground-hugging plants.

Biennials—hollyhocks, pansies, canterbury bells and Iceland poppies, for a few—should be planted outdoors in summer and transplanted in late September or October into the spot where they are to bloom the next year.

There are books of garden flowers in color, and seed catalogues frequently show the blooms, too. Both are good courses of information to help the gardener decide just what he wants and where.

The late winter and early spring months, when there's not much to be done outside, are good times to get in required reading—boning up on the growing habits, problems and tastes of each plant.

'Roz' Russell's Show Packs 'em In on Road'

By SAUL PETT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK—Rosalind Russell's voice had all the electric excitement of a Vassar graduate making her debut in summer stock.

"The road is wonderful, exciting, thrilling, stimulating!" she said in a rush of words during a telephone interview from St. Louis.

Miss Russell is now on tour with "Bell, Book and Candle," her first play in the 17 years since she migrated from Broadway to Hollywood. Variety called her the "Cinderella Girl of 1952" and said she "appears to be the hottest legit box office attraction to hit the hinterlands this year."

Surprised by Receipts

Miss Russell also was plainly thrilled by the gross. She said the show did $99,000 in three weeks in Philadelphia, broke box office records in Cincinnati, averaged almost $30,000 a week in Pittsburgh and Cleveland. With a percentage of the gross, the actress earns about $5,000 a week on the tour, which ends in Chicago in May.

"Before we opened in Philadelphia," she said, "I was scared stiff. This was my first play since 1935 although I had done some 'singles' for Army shows during the war.

"At first, the concentration threw me. In movies we need to concentrate, but only for short periods. On the stage, I found myself using muscles I hadn't used in years. I had to learn all over again.

Aids Technique

"It's wonderful for ironing out the kinks in your technique and no Hollywood actor should miss a

Not only the box office receipts but the intelligence of the audience prove, Miss Russell said, that the road is very far from dead.

"These people know good theater," she said. "This is a very hot play but they don't miss a nuance."

Many visitors She said she gets many visitors back stage. "I've met a billion and one people. I seem to have gone to school with every other woman in the audience."

In the spring, Miss Russell plans to return to Hollywood for a picture. "Never Wave at a Wave" is a picture she hopes to appear in. New York in a new play John van Druten is writing for her.

Unless early announcement is made of reserve officer recalls, the Army faces a serious shortage this summer and fall. Under current policies, reserve officers are given a four months advance notice of calls to service and after reporting to duty they are normally given three months refresher training. Thus, with thousands of officers recalled from non-drill pay status slated for separation in the spring and summer, it is obvious that a new recall order will have to go out soon if requirements are not met.

A total of 2,333 enlisted men have been commissioned as second lieutenants in the National Guard during the past 18 months as a result of having successfully completed the Army extension course program.

Officials in Washington have stated that no recall plans exist for the five remaining Air National Guard wings. Most of these wings members will participate in two weeks active training this summer, however.

Texan's Miller Is Rabid Fan

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
AP Newsfeatures

DALLAS—The man who is bringing professional football to Texas is a frustrated football player but a rabid fan.

Giles Miller, the 31-year-old textile executive who heads the syndicate which bought the New York Yanks for Dallas, prefers not to talk about his athletic background. He played at Terrill Prep, then attended the University of Texas in 1938 and played with the ineligibleibles. He lost a tooth. That ended his grid career.

Later he obtained a law degree at Southern Methodist University, but he doesn't care to talk about that either. His law practice, it seems, consisted of handling one man's case—a traffic violation.

"I won the case for him," Miller says. "I paid the fine myself."

And he coached a YMCA football team once. They were third graders. He says the only game the team won was when he was in California.

But despite these attempts to de-

Two Local Men Awarded Badges

WITH THE 45th INFANTRY DIV. IN KOREA—Two Littlefield soldiers have won the Combat Infantryman Badge, symbol of the front line fighting man, while serving in Korea with the 45th Infantry Division.

They are Pfc. Walter W. Herring, whose wife, Mary, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Herring, live at 912 E. Sixth st., and Pfc. Royce W. Jennings, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Jennings, 919 W. Third st.

The badge shows a tiny Revolutionary War flintlock rifle mounted against a blue rectangle which is surrounded by a wreath.

The Oklahoma National Guard Division left the U.S. early in 1951 and trained extensively on the Japanese island of Hokkaido before it was committed to Korea in December.

Both men are members of Company K in the 189th Regiment and both entered the Army in November 1950. Herring is a cook and Jennings a radio operator.

and McKinney, Texas.

A native of Dallas, he's the great-grandson of a Texan who was wagon-master for General Sam Houston at the battle of San Jacinto when Texas won its independence from Mexico.

Miller is a "stocky, black-haired young family man of Scotch-Irish-Welsh extraction. He has three sons and he hopes they'll be football players.

He is confident that big-time pro football will click in Dallas where SMU averages about 50,000 a game in the Cotton Bowl. One year SMU drew almost a half-million for eight games.

Many efforts have been made to bring pro football to Texas but it remained for Miller, working almost a year, to get it. He says he wouldn't have gone into it if he hadn't thought it would click.

If there are about 50,000 others in this area who love football as he does there'll be no question about it making the grade.

Atomic Bomb

Atomic bomb to be exploded in the later this year has been not only the British but also a well-kept secret.

The British A-bomb are being publicized. One is the report that it is smaller and less powerful than the bombs detonated so far by the United States. Another is that the detonating mechanism is more efficient than any other one produced previously.

Up To Congress

Senator Robertson of Virginia come to his rescue. "The Federal Reserve Board," said Senator Robertson, "can tell us the dangers of inflation, and the military can tell us the dangers of getting our brains beaten out. Then we can make up our minds what we want."

That about sums up the situation. Congress can receive advice from all available sources. It can weigh the money needs of the government, and especially of rearmament, against the dangers of overspending. But in the last analysis it is the members of Congress themselves who must make up their minds how much spending there will be, where there will be cutbacks where they would be least hurtful or rising federal deficits.

It is Congress which holds the pursestrings of the country, a fact which it sometimes seems strongly reluctant to face.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

Waiting until the last minute to file your 1951 Income Tax return? Even if you have already filed, some tax savings may be possible.

While there are few bright spots in the tax picture for the average taxpayer, lawyers say that some lucky individuals may be able to take advantage of certain relaxed provisions of the 1951 Revenue Act. For example, you may now claim an exemption for a dependent whose gross income during the year was any amount less than $600. Previously, an income of $500 or more by the dependent barred your claim for an exemption on his account.

If you sold your home during 1951, you may avoid being taxed on any profit made in the transaction by purchasing and occupying a new home within one year. The new residence must cost as much or more than the sales price of the old one. However, you may include notes and other liabilities forming part of the consideration in figuring the cost of your new home.

Suppose you bought a home in 1945 for $5000 and sold it on July 1, 1951, for $8500, making a profit of $3500. If you buy and move into a new home not later than June 30, 1952, costing as much as $8500, no tax will be due on your $3500 profit. This is true even though you may pay only $500 or less as a down payment on the new home and the balance of the purchase price is represented by a note and mortgage.

However, the Bureau wants a record of your transactions, even though no tax is due. If you have already repurchased, both your sale and your purchase should be shown on separate Schedule D and attached to your tax return. If you have not bought your new home as yet, but expect to do so before the one year limit runs out, report the 1951 sale on Schedule D anyhow. But, enter the word "None" in the Gain or Loss column and add a short explanation that you expect to purchase or rebuild. Then, when you do replace, write the collector giving him full details on the transaction. If you plans for replacement should fall through, an amended 1951 return would be necessary.

Another new feature which may save taxes for some people is the removal of one limitation on medical expense deductions for all persons over 65. They are no longer limited to the excess over and above 5% of adjusted gross income. The limit still applies to all taxpayers under 65, unless their husband or wife happens to be 65 or older. In this event, both husband and wife may deduct medical expenses without reference to the amount of adjusted gross income. However the general limitation of $1250 per individual still applies in all cases.

If you have passed up any of these savings, an amended return may pay dividends.

The new Self Employment Tax is causing extra tax return headaches for some people this year. If you had net earnings of $400 or more derived from a trade or business which you conducted during 1951 as a sole proprietor or as a partner, this new tax may apply to you. Public officials, railroad workers, ministers and various professional people are excluded from the application of this tax, as are non-resident aliens.

Similarly, income derived from farming, interest and dividends from securities, and gains and losses resulting from sale or exchange of capital assets are excluded. Rentals from real property are excluded except in the case of a real estate broker.

This new tax covers many people newly added to the list of those covered by the Social Security Act, and is imposed to help finance the benefits they may later receive. If you are liable for the Self Employment Tax, you should obtain separate Schedule C and file with your regular tax return.

Applying in many instances where no regular income tax is due, this tax will also force some people to file returns even though their gross income of less than $600 would not otherwise require a filing. Suppose you operated a very small business and grossed only $590 in 1951. Under the old law, no return would be required.

However, under the 1951 Act, the Self Employment Tax is carried from Schedule C to Form 1040 and collected as a part of your total income tax liability. If your net income from this small business was $401, you would be required to file a completed 1040 return along with Schedule C in order to comply with the law.

(This column, based on Federal law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Russia claimed a total steel output in 1951 of about 35 million tons, just about equal to that of the U.S. Steel Corporation.

The Tasmanian "tiger," actually a marsupial wolf, is one of the rarest of living animals.

Big discussion after the Grange meeting Friday night. Tik Anderson was arguing that hogs were lots more affected by the hot weather than cattle. Skeeter Morgan declared that it wasn't so—that he never saw any hogs bothered by the hot sun like his cows were.

I was glad when Rusty Robinson stepped in.

"Boys," he says, "don't get so riled up. It all depends on what color the livestock are. Hogs or cattle, the ones with light-colored coats absorb less heat from the sun's rays than animals with dark coats. So you're both right!"

From where I sit, so many useless arguments could be avoided if a person would remember he doesn't have all the right on his side. Reminds me of folks who insist that coffee, for instance, is the only drink, forgetting that other people have a right to a glass of beer now and then. If we wouldn't get so "het up" about our prejudices—we'd all be better off!

Texas Conscientious Objectors To Take Physical Examinations

Plans are going forward at state selective service headquarters to send 150 conscientious objectors for physical and mental examinations in April.

This action follows receipt of new regulations which require draft boards to order religious objectors to serve 24 months on civilian jobs contributing to maintenance of national health, safety, or interest.

"These men will be given the same tests as men who enter the armed forces," General Paul L. Wakefield, state selective service director explained. "If they fail the tests, they will be classified 4-F, just as men being examined for military service."

Texas only has a total of 160 religious objectors who oppose any kind of military service on religious grounds. Other men have claimed to be conscientious objectors, but their claims have not been sustained.

Employment which conscientious objectors may perform under the new regulations are work for the federal or state governments and non-profit organizations engaged in charitable activity for the public or a program for improvement of public health or welfare.

Graph Of Major Crops and Employment Dates On Display At TEC Office Here

A graph or chart of major crops grown in Lamb county and in this area, has just been completed and is on display in the offices of the Texas Employment Commission here, which will probably prove as a definite advantage both to the employees and employers, who are concerned with any and all phases of crop production.

The graph shows the high, low and intermediate weeks and months of employment in cotton, sorghums, wheat, alfalfa, tomatoes, beans and potatoes.

It clearly shows at what dates more farm laborers are ordinarily employed or needed, and in reverse, the low point dates for such employment.

While the chart is primarily for the information of the office, and farmer patrons of it, it can also be consulted to advantage by all types of business houses, and others—for valuable information on the labor phases of crop plantings and harvests.

The graph plainly shows that the greatest need for cotton chopping labor is between June 25 and Sept. 10; cotton harvesting, Sept. 25 to Jan. 1; wheat, July 15 to August 15; grain sorghums, Oct. 1 to Nov. 15; alfalfa, late April to late September; tomatoes, September; beans, late July through August 7; potatoes, late June to July 10.

J. B. Jordan, manager of the local office, added that he has on file now applications from employers who wish to employ year-round farm hands and irrigation men, with several such jobs now open. Auto mechanics, cooks and waitresses are also in demand here with several jobs open, as well as for wool pressers and silk finishers.

He also has some good openings listed at Borger for high school graduates seeking jobs.

Boris Besmertny On Mission Program

Boris Besmertny of Paris, France, who spoke in rallies in the Plains area last summer and fall, is to be on the program for the World Mission Rallies sponsored by Wayland College, March 17-21.

Vice-President of the Simultaneous Crusade for Christ in France, Besmertny is publisher of "Juenese Four Christ," a French religious publication. He was a co-worker with Evangelist Billy Graham in France and interpreter for both Jess Moody European Evangelistic Tours.

Besmertny, who is of Russian-French parentage, says, "The real need of Europe today is not a new political set-up nor a better economical or social drive, but a spiritual awakening."

"The five million Communists in France could very well take over the key positions in that land and bring the Communist border to the Atlantic unless American Christians realize the spiritual needs of western Europe, a civilized paganism, and fill the vacuum that Soviet Russia has been filling in Europe so far."

This young Baptist missionary evangelist has been referred to many times as a "Firebrand for God." Recently he conducted 31 campaigns in France, England, Ireland, Germany, Corsica, Norway and North Africa. Over 800 decisions were reported from these campaigns.

The 28-year-old Frenchman, who worked in the French underground against the Nazis in World War II is a personal friend of many of Europe's leaders.

Dr. Graham Will Appear At World Vision Rally

Dr. James R. Graham, Presbyterian missionary in Formosa, is to be one of the program personalities for the World Vision Rallies sponsored by Wayland College, March 17-21.

Dr. Graham, who was born in China of missionary parents, was educated in the United States and served in the Marine Corp during World War I. After the war he returned to China as a missionary. Through his work as an educator, evangelist, Bible lecturer and summer conference director, he made many contacts with the Chinese Nationalist leaders and won many of them to Christ.

Returning to this country, he spent several years as professor at Wheaton College, a Bible Conference leader and a pastor. In 1950 he returned to the Far East and took up mission work in Formosa, where the government of Free China has its headquarters. Dr. Graham says, "The remnants of the culture and the stable elements that can get there, have fled to Formosa in hopes that some day there can be a re-conquest of the mainland. The discipline of suffering that the people from the mainland have undergone, has made them especially receptive to the gospel and there has been an ingathering of souls into the Kingdom of Christ much greater than in any similar period on the mainland."

Dr. Graham has worked with all denominational groups on Formosa and he has seen thousands confess Christ under his ministry. The mission work has received much help and encouragement from President and Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, with whom Dr. Graham is personally acquainted. Both abroad and at home Dr. Graham has been closely associated with the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association and has spoken in rallies with Billy Graham.

The missionary to Formosa is scheduled to speak for World Vision Rallies in various towns in the Plains area on March 13, 14, and 15. He will be on the program for the Sunday afternoon rally, March 16 on the Wayland campus.

Livesay Case - of Amarillo, in connection with the slaying of Josh Bloucher aged recluse, last August 11, at his home at Progress, ten miles west of Muleshoe.

The trial of the two men charged was separated. Stevens was tried at Muleshoe, and received a death sentence penalty in December.

The case against Livesay was moved to and set at Farwell, due to wide publicity in the case, which would make it difficult to secure a jury in Bailey county. However, the court failed to secure a jury at Farwell, and the case was ordered removed to Tulla for trial. In Tulla, where a panel of 180 prospective jurors were summoned this week, again it was found impossible to secure a jury, and Judge Bills decided that the case would have to be, should be, removed to another jurisdiction for trial.

Upon his return, Judge Bills stated that it would probably be 30 days before decision would be reached as to where the case will be transferred, and as to whom would preside at the trial.
