On relief rolls a year ago, Braddock reached the throne by outpointing Max Baer here June 13. Braddock is the fourth "James J." to hold the heavy-weight title. The other three were, James J. Corbett, James J. Jeffries, and James J. (Gene) Tunney.

SCHOOL MONEY IS HIKE BY STATE

A $1 hike in per capita apportionment of state school aid for 1935, set Tuesday by the state board of education, lifted the apportionment per scholastic from $10 to $17.50, the statutory maximum. In 1929, was apportionment $17.50. It was $10 for last school year. Except the statutory limit, it could be $19 or $20, the board of education would have apportioned $23,000,000 state funds to schools, it was calculated. In addition, the state provided $5,000,000 for rural aid and school benefit equalization, the largest in its history. Because of limited rural aid funds of last year, about $3,000,000, schools received only about 71 per cent of what they were apportioned to get. "Under the new set-up," said Secretary H. Carl Arnold of the Littlefield district, "schools should get the full amount for which they are approved during the 1935-36 school year." On the basis of 1,655 approved scholastics, the Littlefield district would benefit to the tune of $1,655, because of the $1 hike alone.

Sen. Duggan Discusses Old Settlers' Reunion and Highways

At the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Tuesday noon, Senator A. P. Duggan outlined plans for an Old Settlers' Reunion in Littlefield, which is being sponsored by the Chamber at which all old settlers of this city and territory prior to 1924 will be honor guests. An old fashioned basket picnic dinner, furnished by Littlefield residents, will be served.

Committees for the Reunion were named, the time being left open for the Executive Committee to decide. Senator Duggan also talked to the group on the highway situation in this section.

Mr. Duggan stated that the Highway program called for relief work on Highway No. 51, which is the north and south road running from Center at the north line of Lamb County to Levelland. He stated the plan was not to go as far north as Dimmitt. He suggested that pressure be put behind this project.

Mr. Duggan also reported that the highway department had announced that paving of No. 7 would be completed by August 15.

Mayor L. R. Crockett reported an enthusiastic road meeting in Hale County Friday night, when the East and west highway matter was discussed. Joe Hale, Major L. R. Crockett, Rev. Joe Grizzle and

About fifty were present at the banquet, at which an interesting program was rendered.

According to Mr. Pumphrey, local agent, Mr. Thompson was conductor on the Lamesa branch when he (Pumphrey) was an agent at Lamesa a number of years ago.

CITY IS ON LIST TO GET FEDERAL BUILDING

Littlefield was included in a list of several South Plains towns likely to be given Federal buildings under the second deficiency bill passed Friday by the national house of representatives.

Postal officials here have been trying for some time to get Littlefield in line for a federal post-office building.

With the speed at which the government is working, it is possible that Littlefield might have a completed federal building within two years, it is believed here.

Other towns in the Plains area included on the list, and some of the amounts set aside for their federal

LAGUNA PARK TO BE SITE OF HUGE AFFAIR JULY 15

Basket Picnic to Be Main Feature of All-Day Jamboree

Plans are underway for an Old Settlers Reunion and Basket picnic to be held here Monday, July 15, which promises to be the most outstanding affair ever to be held in this city.

Already, the news, which in a short time has spread far and near, and created much enthusiasm, brings inquiries from many miles as to particulars of the affair, which is being sponsored by the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce.

It is expected that at least fifteen hundred old settlers and their families will be in attendance.

All former citizens of Littlefield and territory living here, or in this vicinity, from the time the town was started up to and including 1924 are invited, and urged to come to Littlefield for this occasion.

One of the main features of the day will be the basket dinner, which will be served from long tables in picnic style, at the City Park. Baskets will be furnished by the Citizens of Littlefield, including the local "Oldtimers", in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce.

Cold drinks, icecream, etc, will be served on the grounds.

Committees appointed to arrange the reunion are: Executive Committee; G. M. Shaw, Chairman, and Senator A. P. Duggan and Mrs. T. S. Sales; Invitation Committee; Mrs. Vernie V. Wright, Chairman, Miss Myrtle Marion Shaw, Bob Smith, Pat Boone, and Mrs. Warren Rutledge; Committee on Arrangements, Mrs. J. M. Stokes, Chairman, Mrs. C. E. Cooper, Mrs. W. G. Street, Mrs. T. Wade Potter, Mrs. Bob Smith, Mrs. Charles Barber; Committee on Grounds; T. Wade Potter, Chairman; Joe Hale, John Porcher, Dr. J. R. Coen and Carl Smith; Program Committee; Mrs. Pat Boone, Chairman; Mrs. E. S. Rowe, Mrs. Arbie Joplin, Sen. A. P. Duggan; and Publicity Committee; Mrs. Morley B. Drake, chairman, John Price and Miss Myrtle Marion Shaw.

There will be a convenient place at which to register, and all visitors will be given badges.

The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce is hoping to reach many of the early pioneers of this section, who have since moved to other parts, through the courtesy of the press, but invitations will be mailed out to all of whom their addresses are available.

Mrs. H. W. Moore is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Odell of Levelland.

HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION

Important and timely suggestions for the further development of this section of the state were contained in an editorial in last Sunday's Avalanche-Journal. The Avalanche-Journal said:

Chairman Harry Hines of the Texas Highway commission, will have performed a great service for his state if, as a result of his visit to Washington, he succeeds in getting a large part of Texas' share of federal work-relief funds diverted to construction of highways.

But even if he accomplishes that service, the task is not done. For if and when the money becomes available there will arise the question of where it shall be spent. If the lions' share of the fund goes to the heavily-populated areas, already paved, in the form of constructing parallel or duplicate highways, then Mr. Hines' service in securing the diversion will be greatly diminished.

As was pointed out here the other day, The Dallas News is beating the drum for construction of another "super-highway" between Dallas and Ft. Worth—a ribbon 250 feet wide—in the "sacred name of the Centennial".

Doubtless leaders at Houston, San Antonio, Austin, Waco and other already well connected points are licking their chops, too, in anticipation of grabbing a great slice of the fund. All of which presents a problem to Texans who unselfishly realize that there are still great sections in the West which are yet to have paved connections and outlets.

One of these sections is composed of important segments of the South Plains, comprising such important points as Lamesa, Levelland, Littlefield, Brownfield, Tahoka, Muleshoe—points which soon will get paving leading in two directions, but which are sorely in need of connections going other ways not yet past the talking point.

As a few examples, Muleshoe should be linked with Big Spring by way of Littlefield, Levelland, Brownfield and Lamesa. Dimmitt then could have a Big Spring connection by way of Littlefield. Another 'leg' constructed from Dimmitt to Littlefield. Another 'leg' from Ralls to Floydada would cut paved distance between the South Plains and Oklahoma, while construction of a highway connecting Lamesa with Hobbs, N. M., by way of Seminole, would be another boon. Further, a connection between Brownfield and Post by way of Tahoka can be called essential.

The above suggestions have been taken at random and there are other routes, too, considerably more important in Texas state-wide highway program than another Dallas-Fort Worth speedway, or any other duplicate route that can be thought of. Doubtless there are areas in the North Panhandle, in the San Angelo country and certainly in the Lampasas country enroute to Austin, which should be considered.

After Mr. Hines reaches his goal as far as federal aid is concerned, he and his fellow commissioners have plenty of planning and straight thinking to do in allocating the funds.

The Avalanche-Journal wishes him success at Washington, then hopes for early news to the effect that unpaved gaps in Texas will soon be a thing of the past.

With Conoco Germ Processed Oil in your crankcase, you KNOW the strain won't hurt your motor!

Tests prove this new alloyed oil has 2 to 4 times greater film strength than plain mineral oils and resists heat better!

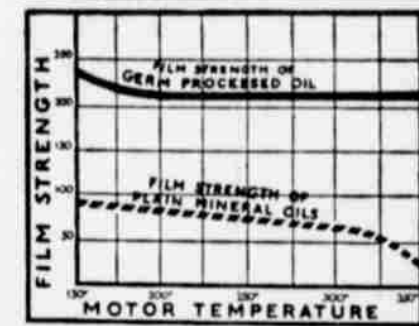

On July 4th or week-end and vacation trips, you'll want to drive far and get there in a hurry. And you don't want that nagging worry of "I wonder if this speed and heat will hurt anything in my motor."

You can't always be sure when you use plain mineral oils, for they have little film strength and oils over-refined by new cleansing processes have even less. Moreover, as motor heat goes up, these oils rapidly lose film strength.

Film strength is the load-carrying ability of an oil, the quality that keeps bearings and cylinders from wearing out. Lack of film strength results in costly damage.

You can drive without a worry when you use Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil! It has 2 to 4 times greater film strength than any plain mineral oil. Heat does not lessen this advantage.*

Supervised road tests—over good and bad roads, at low and high speeds, in all kinds of weather—give practical proof that Germ Processed Oil pro-

Tested in a fleet of cars equipped with the new alloy-metal bearings used in many 1935 cars, a high-quality plain mineral oil permitted 45% more wear on connecting rod bearings than did Germ Processed Oil.

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil is the first alloyed oil—alloyed, much as metals are, by adding concentrated oily essence to highly refined oil. It is the only oil made by the Germ Process. It is the oil with the "Hidden Quart" that stays up in your motor and never drains away!

Road Meeting Held Friday

A road meeting in connection with the east and west highway was held in Hale County school house Friday night, which was attended by Joe Hale, Mayor L. R. Crockett, Rev. Joe Grizzle and Roy Gattis of Littlefield, Hale County Commissioner, and a number of citizens from Abernathy and farmers interested.

Splendid string music was furnished by Spade Community for the occasion.

The purpose of the meeting was to secure the cooperation of the Hale County Commissioners in the pavement of the road from Littlefield to intersect their Highway No. 9 at a point approximately three miles north of Abernathy from their county line.

It is expected that this project can be worked out, and another meeting will be held, according to Mr. Hale, in about a week at Plainview.

 Young Ed Maitland and Speed Malone partners on the trip north Yukon gold fields in '97. When a detach- of the Canadian Northwest Police came riding down the pass and mended the bridge for Speed, there was a truce between him and Fallon and the trail was reopened. Garnet went back to civilization for the winter leaving his ponies and equipment with Speed and Maitland. But the horses disappeared just after the transfer. Lefty, who could hardly get the words out for stuttering, told Speed he'd help him find the horses and led him to a tent saloon where Rose was waiting for him. She seemed to want him and Maitland to do something for her, but his unfriendliness held her off. However, she told him she had rescued his horses for him and that they were waiting outside.—Now go on with the story.

"We'll take the street," said Speed to Maitland, "it's more visible."

The marbled thoroughfare, with its cross stripes of light, opened a chancey course before them when they turned the bend. These alternating patches of light and darkness were an advantage as well as a menace; they exposed the entrance of each resort, while the dark spaces between shielded their approach.

When the sign of The Pack Train saloon appeared ahead, Speed's step became a little more measured. No figures loitered around this entrance; the noisy revel inside was apparently too engrossing. Light, streaming from chinks and seams in the canvas, clearly illuminated the roadway, making it an unlikely spot for an ambush.

They reached the outer radius of the light, entered it, and passed the low bright beam that issued from under the swing doors. Through shadows that flickered over the road from the shuffle of dancing feet, they moved safely toward the margin of darkness.

"Which goes to show—" Speed began. But the sentence was never completed.

He stopped and wheeled with a suddenness that brought the lead bronco's chest against his leg. Maitland heard a double crash; saw a bright flame stab from Speed's gun. Something burned past his cheek. The saloon door behind them was swinging to and fro, throwing blinks of light into the road. In the luminous pool just below it, a man lay crumpled with his face upturned. The features were clearly legible. It was the shell dealer they had seen at Liarsville.

They were in shadow again and had gained the darkness of the trail before the street filled, for The Pack Train was a "last chance" saloon. They joined a scattered line of prospectors who had started on the night trail into the canyon, and no one followed them.

In wary silence the two partners kept trailing till they made camp far up the river canyon.

Over the fire, the outlaw sat in a long study. "I reckon that was a case," he said at last, "of what man wouldn't believe I didn't have you would call 'suggestion.' The gun notched for him."

"What made him think you did?" Maitland asked.

"I followed him one night in Nevada. Got a slant of him then in the light of a saloon door. It just needed one look to see he was on'y a tramp tin-horn. Seems, though, like he had other things to be nervous about; he had friends in the camp and his imagination started guns blazin' . . . When he seen me here he figured I was still after him . . . Like the girl said, the worst risk may be the one you ain't lookin' for."

"I've been figurin' slower since I made that first mistake . . . They's a heap of pretty brunette girls in the Western camps. You can see how easy it is to get mistracked from how wide my guess was about this one and the horses, thinkin' she wanted pay."

"Do you think the gold secret she spoke of was just something sh'd overheard while singing through the camp? Like her tip about the shell dealer?"

Speed looked at him curiously. "Why would you guess she overheard a gold secret?"

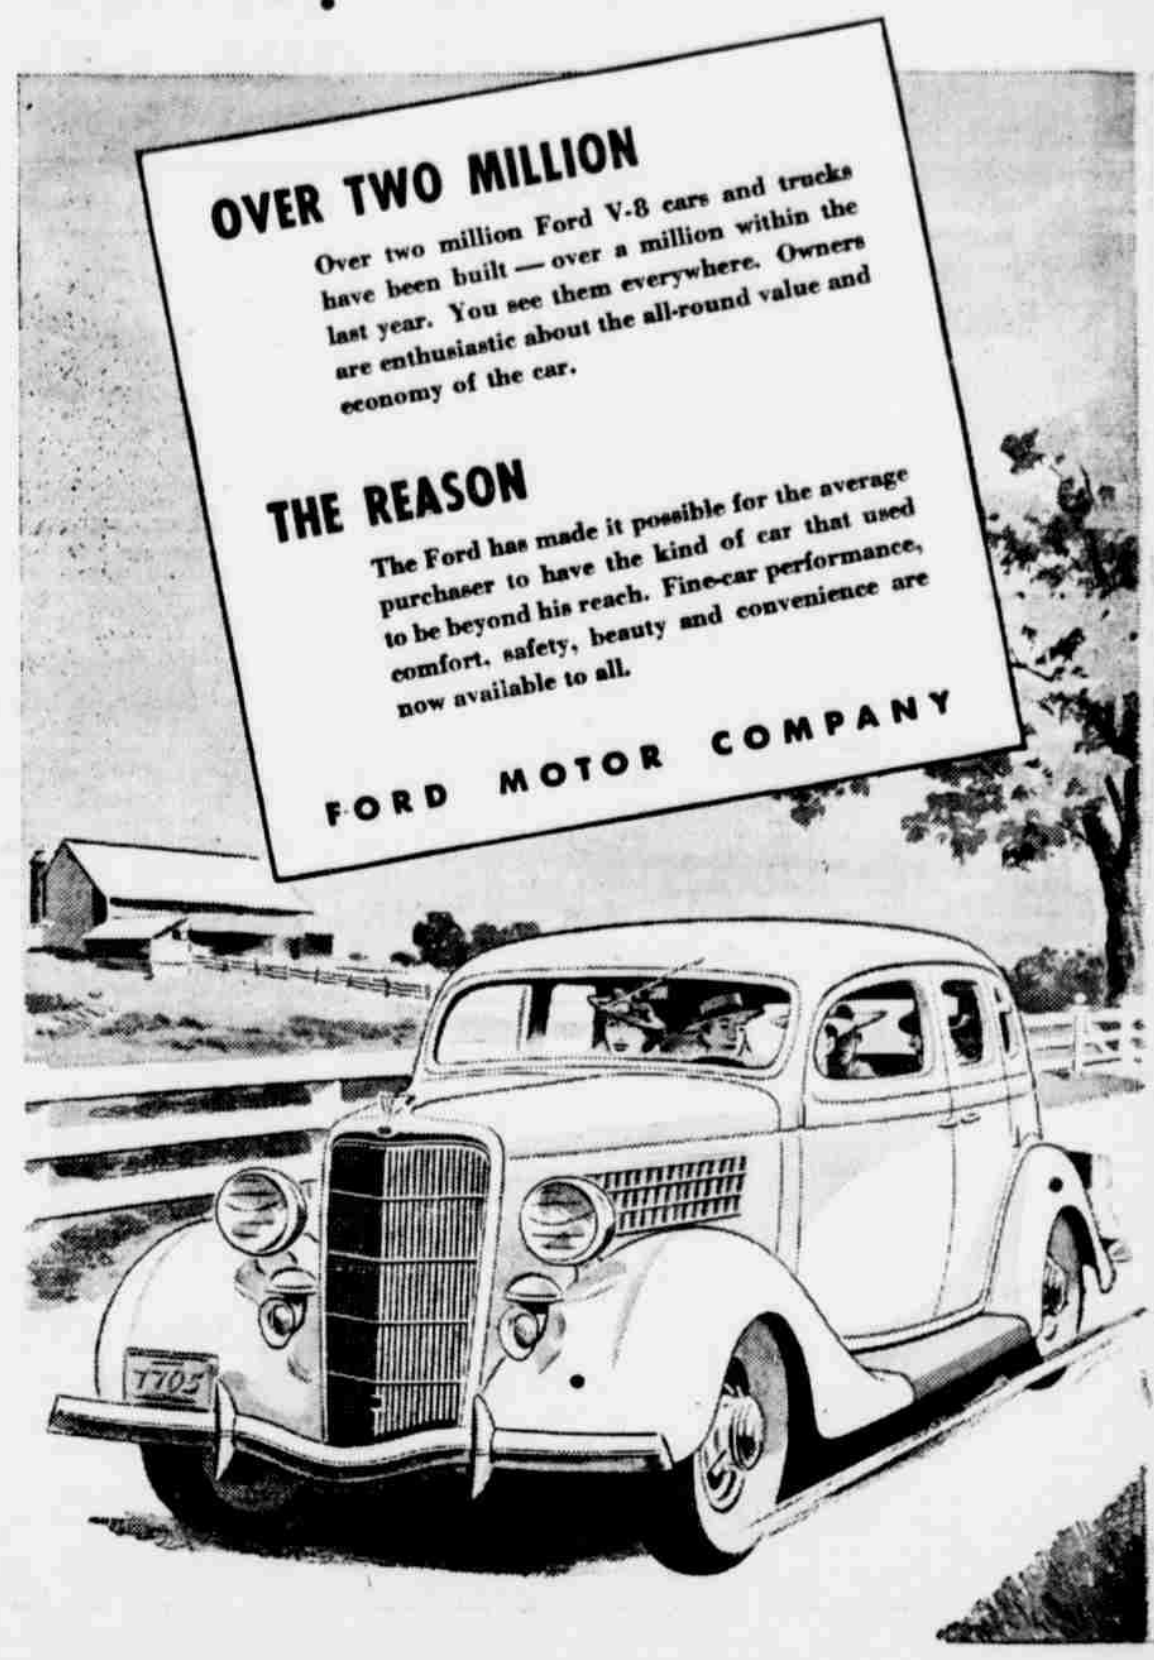

"I don't know," Maitland hesitated. "Something she said the first time I saw her. And then Owens losing his outfit when he was on his way to join a partner in the Yukon . . . Do I imagine, or does that tie together?"

"It ties to her," Speed grunted. "Maybe nowhere else Outfits are gambled and lost right along the trails without needin' a gold secret back of it. What you heard Owens say doesn't count for much. And if this prospected had a gold mine, why wouldn't he record it, thus endin' the secret? Another thing—I'd bank she wouldn't be that much interested even in a gold mine. She comes by gold too easy."

"Then what motive would she have?"

"Motive?" Speed's mouth tightened. "You'd better not guess. Nothin' set a man wonderin' like gold, and the best trick a woman has is to get you wonderin' till you go round her in circles. When she talks of puttin' heads together, whose head do you figure she's interested in? Maybe Fallon and me

Miss Westbrook, Mr. Turner in Addresses At Rotary Luncheon

Littlefield Rotary heard talks by Bernice Westbrook, county demonstration agent, and Don Turner of the county agent's office, as special guests at the club's weekly luncheon last Thursday. J. O. Garlington presided.

Rotarians partook of a delicious luncheon served by the Methodist Ladies and settled to hear the reading of a letter from Rotarian and School Superintendent A. B. Sanders, now in Austin for a part of the summer.

Quoting from a list of compiled statistics, Miss Westbrook revealed figures of a vast food canning program carried on by Texas women in past months. She reported on home demonstration work in the county, and expressed pleasure at the results young Lamb county workers are achieving.

Mr. Turner reviewed the farm situation, both from a national standpoint and as concerns Lamb county. He outlined plans now under consideration for furtherance of activity under the Bankhead program.

Col. James W. Fannin, a Georgian, was a graduate of the United States Military Academy and resigned his commission in the United States Army to lead a life of adventure.
